When the law was passed it was applicable to up-country districts on 1st July, 1920, and to the cities and Lower Mainland and Vancolver Island districts on 1st January, 1921. It did become effective in the Okanagan Valley and Kootenay districts a year ago, but owing to the necessity of changing street cars and the equipment, the Government decided to delay bringing the Act into effect in the cities until the first of next year, in compliance with the request of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, which operates street car systems in Vancouver, Victoria, and New Westminster. It was agreed that the law would become operative before the New Year but the Government now announces a further delay until after the first of the New Year.

The British Columbia Electric Railway Company is faced with the greatest problem in connection with the "turn to the right" plan. The company finds it will have to spend one million dollars to alter its equipment to meet new conditions. Of this amount, however, the Provincial Government has agreed to contribute $350,000.

Complicated changes in every one of the three hundred and nineteen cars owned by the company must be made. In addition, cross-over switches must be replaced, new electric switch points installed, and all trolley wires shifted. Alterations to the cars are now under way. The company has 366 miles of trackage.

TWO-PARTY SYSTEM ABANDONED, ALBERTA

EDMONTON, Alta., July 8. — (Canadian Press).—Alberta apparently has followed the example of Manitoba and has abandoned the old system of two-party politics. In the general election which is to be held on Monday, July 18, the political campaign which is being waged by the United Farmers of Alberta is a factor of much uncertainty and of great importance. There are 48 rural constituencies, and while many conventions are yet to be held, it is expected that the Farmers will have candidates in most of them. The Conservative party also is carrying on a brisk fight, and in many constituencies the government will be faced with two opponents. There are thirteen urban seats — five in Calgary, five in Edmonton, two in Medicine Hat and one in Lethbridge —making up the membership of 61 which will comprise the fifth legislature, an increase of three over the last House which was elected on June 7, 1917. Proportional representation has not been adopted by the province, although it has been considered, and the cities are to choose their members for a free-for-all. Calgary expects about twenty starters, and the five with the largest votes will be elected. Edmonton will have almost as many. Liberals and Conservatives will run a full slate of five in each city, and Independents and Labor nominees will swell the total.

The United Farmers appear to be divided from the Stewart government by no broad issues, and it is said to be probable that in some constituencies they will unite with the government on joint candidates. There is no formal Provincial political organization designed to elect a U.F.A. Government, but the local units themselves decide whether or not they will enter the lists. H. W. Wood, president of the United Farmers, himself will not be a candidate. The Farmers' movement in itself at this stage is described as being rather a spontaneous effort of the agricultural population to express at the polls their political ideals than an attempt to take over the duties and responsibilities of carrying on an administration.

Hon. Charles Stewart, himself a farmer at Sedgewick, where he may be re-elected by acclamation, succeeded the late Hon. A. L. Sifton as Premier on October, 1917. In the Legislature just dissolved he had 34 members out of the 58, the Opposition of 24 comprising eighteen Conservatives, two Soldier and two Non-Partisan members, one U.F.A. member and one Labor. A. F. Ewing, Conservative leader, may seek election in Edmonton. The Conservative party is attacking the Government's financial record and policies and its administration in general.

At least five women will be numbered among the several scores of candidates. Mrs. Nellie McClung, the well-known writer, is a Government candidate in Edmonton. Mrs. Langford, who is on the Liberal slate in Calgary, is a daughter of the late Prof. Burwash, of Victoria University, and widow of Rev. Fred. Langford, at one time pastor of Central Methodist Church in Calgary. She is chairman of the Calgary School Board, and active in women's work in the province. Mrs. Annie Gale is expected to run as an Independent candidate in Calgary. Mrs. Louise McKinney, former nonpartisan member for Claresholme, has been nominated by the U.F.A., and Mrs. W. D. Ferris has been selected as one of the five Conservative candidates to contest the consolidated Edmonton riding.

W. M. Davidson, editor-in-chief of the Calgary Albertan, and a member for that city in the last Legislature, is not seeking re-election. At the Liberal nominating convention, when he declined to let his name stand, he gave his reasons. "I have not lost faith in new Liberalism," said Mr. Davidson. "It is because of my faith in it that I decline to be a candidate. I can have more influence in advocating progressive views through my newspaper without being a member than I can by being a newspaperman and a member at the same time. Being a legislator interferes with your influence as an editor. Being a newspaperman interferes with your influence as a legislator. I can do better work for the cause in which I am most interested, as a newspaperman."

YELLOW FEVER TAKES HEAVY TOLL IN PERU

LIMA, Peru, July 8.—Nearly 1,000 deaths occurred from yellow fever during the last nine months in the departments of Lambayeque and La Libertad, in Northren Peru, according to statements published here attributed to Doctor Henry Hanson, an American Physician, who is in charge of the sanitation campaign directed against the fever by the Peruvian government and the Rockefeller Foundation.

The Rockfeller Foundation contributed $20,000 to fight the epidemic which is now reported to be decreasing as a result of the campaign and the approach of the winter season. It was estimated there were about 10,000 cases in the affected area. The feature of the campaign has been the war against the stegomyia mosquito and the closing of water containers and stagnant pools in which mosquitos breed.

Doctor Hanson's staff is composed of three supervising inspectors, five Peruvian physicians and 100 inspectors. It is believed the affected districts will be entirely rid of the fever by the end of the year.

The common lilac was not known outside of Persia until the 16th century.

ROTARIAN GAMBOL AT RICE LAKE PROVIDED FUN FOR BOY CAMPERS

RAN INTO HEAVY RAIN STORM ON THE WAY BUT AFTERNOON WAS UNMARRED.

Eight or nine cars of Rotarians with ladies of the households, or of other households, as may be drove to the Boys Camp, shore of Rice Lake six miles east and south of Keene on the Elmhurst Farm. Those of the party who left the city early in the afternoon were treated to a specialily boisterous storm of rain and hail, with liberal lightning and thunder. For nearly an hour it poured, a welcome irrigation of the crops, now in many fields approaching harvest under the excessive heat All cars exposed to the downpour were well washed.

The boys camp proper is at the shore of the lake at a spot convenient for bathing and swimming. Meals are served in an old but capacious log homestead on a hill back of the camp. This, arrangement makes for diligence and promptness, and besides the sleeping camp is very neatly kept for the garbage man never calls on his rounds. Between thitry and forty boys were closing up the week end, the camp closing down, for those there at end of this week. Mr. Loomis of the Y. M. C. A. staff in charge, Mrs. James taking care of the feeding arrangements. Now, feeding is right. Considering that the lady baked, just as a casual supply 31 pies during the hot morning. And for tea had cut and buttered 82 slices of bread. Heaps of it.

Heaps of Ice Cream

Besides the Rotarians unloaded lashins' and lavins' of provender. The ladies of the party arranged the tables and placed the boys in a decous row on the benches and followed one delicacy with another until all had enough. A hungry bunch, but there was ample. Going down Chris Graham had about the most unwelcome passenger, in the shape of a tank of ice cream which had been promised to the boys. When the auspicious moment arrived Rotarian Albert Fowler undertook to dispense the concentrated coldness using a cone filer. He had one job, but stinted none. Supper was well worth taking a hand in and there was a plenty. Mrs. Elmhirst and Mrs. Fox enjoyed the hospitality of the camp during the outing.

Rotarians and friends repaired to the lake for a half hours bath and swim and enjoyed the immersion. Swimming races for the boys and ladies were exciting and ludicrous. After supper a base ball contest, no, that is insufficient, it proved to be wrestle was put on between the boys and Rotarians. There are skilled men in the Rotary ranks but their deftness doesn't incline to the game. Except seasonsed accomplices like Rotarian Chris Graham and Reg. Turner, most of the others handled the bat same as a cow would a musket. The match was a powerfully demonstrated one. Rotarians could chase a ball down hill to the edge of the edge of the lake, but the racing back, oh boy. In deference to the occasion the teams and scores are identified. Rotarian Frank Dobbin was selected for umpire on ground that he knew nothing at all about the game but they found some one who knew less about it and took him in preference. There is a fine sense of discrimination in these Rotarians, when they nick a winner.

Too Much for the Crows.

The gallery sat in almost silence. The casualties were heavy. Until Mrs. Fred Roy came along and said that the thing deserved some pep being put into it. Pep was right. Then everybody yelled their heads off. A flock of crows, sheltered in the shrubbery below the fatal field took alarm and started for the other side of the lake actually driven from home.

That the intimate records including disasters, of the Rotarian entanglements be complete; the teams and score, For the Rotarians nearly all were inculpated including Pitcher Reg. Turner, catcher Chris Graham, both of large and incredible activity and members Bradburn Killaley, Rogers, Huycke Asa not Judge Huycke), Fowler Roy and Crane. These were disposed over the diamond, anywhere they thought they would be useful and not harmed. The Boys under the able censorship of Dug. Loomis, and having had two weeks incessant practise, were out to win. The team included Youths McNeely, Martin, Rae, Sims Allen, McDonald, Richardson and Stacy. The score resulted as for Y. M. C. A. 11 Rotarians 6. None of the latter will be mentioned in the despatches, though Caude Rogers, Reg. Turner and Chris Graham deserve the Military Cross, if not some thing else.

Another Rotarial Outing may be held of an after noon further on in the summer, seeing that the first gathering was a whale of a success. A social afternoon is quite in line with Rotarian principles and brings away from office and counter and shop men who deserve to hve an afternoon ff, just as a relaxer. Besides the ther half of Rotarial households have the opportunity of seeing that old boys will be boys, just for the fun of the thing.

PROVINCE TO GET $400,000 OUT OF ENGLEHART MONEY

$2,057,000 ESTATE EXPECTED TO YIELD ABPROXIMATELY THIS AMOUNT.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

TORONTO, July 8. — The Province of Ontario expects to collect through the medium of succession duties about $400,000 out of the $2,057,000 estate left by the late J. L. Englehart, formerly chairman of the T. and N. O. Commission.

Just what proportion of this each of the numerous beneficiaries will have to pay, it is at present impossible to compile, owing to the manner in which the bequests were devised.

Among the legacies definitely specified in the will, the sum of $40,500 bequeathed to various hospitals in Ontario will be exempt from taxation. A bequest of $75,000 to the Rector and Chimer of Christ Church, Petrolia, together with one of $25,000 for the maintenance of a family plot and mausoleum would both be assessed at 35 per cent., yielding a total of $3,500.

The same rate would apply to the legacies of $100 each left to Arthur Deacon and to six nieces and nephews of his wife, producing a total of $2,450.

Had the $30,000 left in trust for the deceased's brother Joseph been a straight and unconditioned bequest, it would have been assessed at 19½ per cent.

The general rate, 35 per cent., will be applied to the 2,970 shares of Imperial Oil stock bequeathed to relatives and friends. Assuming their value at par, they would net about $7,245.00.

FOUR OUNCE EGG MEAL IN ITSELF

LAID BY BLUE ANDALUSIAN HEN OF CONSTABLE STRATTON'S FLOCK.

A large egg which has reposed in R. Denne's flour and fed store window has attracted considerable attention. The egg weighs 4 oz., is 7 3-4 inches 'the long way round" and 6 1-4 the other diameter. The egg is laid by a police hen. The hens wears the blue as well as her owner T. G. Stratton, Provincial Police Officer. It is a Blue Andalusian raised by P. C. Harry Young of the local force.

The hen has been fed a national diet of feed from the shop, where the egg has been on display since Tuesday when it was laid. Buckwheat and wheat mixed have been its chief feed with bran shorts and table scraps for luncheon and sour milk if possible.

After its effort on Tuesday the hen appears quite normal although still self-complacent.

Voice of the People

SUNDAY BATHING.

Mr. Editor,—Please insert as to Sunday bathing. Any one that goes quietly and takes a bath and goes away, that is all right. But for a couple of Sundays at Inverlea it has been terrible, as to yelling and running in park in bathing suits. Also a big number get upon Smith Street Bridge and jump into the water, and then, hear the yelling! It is no use to go down to the park to read and have a quiet time. Some of the same boys are in the park until twelve o'clock and after, making noises. Some nights they will stand and throw stones at the electric lamps until they break them or put them out. Some of the parents would be surprised if they knew. It would be a good thing to get a boy detective and arrest some of them. Look at Smith Street Bridge lamps. Talk of making the city beautiful — not with those hoodlums at large. If there is any more noise on Sundays at the park, the police are going to be called up. It would be a good idea to put up cards, "No Noises, etc."—Yours, Observer.

JOCKEY CLUB OFFICER FINED FOR B.O.T.A.

CASE AROSE OUT OF FIVE CONVICTIONS FOR DRINKING AT WOODBINE.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

TORONTO, July 8.—A conviction was registered in the Police Court to-day against W. P. Fraser, secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Jockey Club, on the charge of keeping liquor for sale.

Magistrate Cohen said the fine would be $1,000, and costs, with the option of three months' imprisonment.

James Haverson, K.C., for Mr. Fraser, intimated that his client would pay the fine, but he wanted time to get the money.

"Oh, let us have your cheque," suggested Crown Attorney McReur. "We will accept it."

On the request of Mr. Haverson the case was adjourned until to-morrow to give his client an opportunity to bring the cash along.

The case arose out of the conviction of five men on the charge of drinking liquor in the members' stand of the Woodbine Race Track on 27th May. Section 53 of the O. T. A. provided that any club or association shall be presumed to have liquor for sale if any of its members are found drinking liquor on the premises.

DROWNED IN POND ON PONTYPOOL FARM

WENT IN SWIMMING TOO SOON AFTER EATING HEAVY MEAL

PONTYPOOL, July 8. — Frank Marlow, aged 21, of Toronto, going in for a swim after eating a heavy meal, on Tuesday evening, lost his life by drowning in a large pond on the farm of his brother Sydney at Pontypool, on the Peterborough Road.

The only witness of the tragedy was a little girl, who gave the alarm that she thought a man had gone down. All efforts at resuscitation after the body had been located at 12.30 on Wednesday morning were futile.

The unfortunate young man was married as recently as last February to Miss Eva McFadden, of Toronto. He had recently gone to Pontypool, with his bride, to assist his brother in working the farm on terms of partnership.

Judge not your neighbor harshly; he may be on the jury when it is your turn to face the judge.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, July 8.—(Canadian Press).—The feature of the stock market at the dull and heavy opening of today's session was United States Rubber common, which fell 4 3-8 points to the new low price of 49, as a result of the postponement of dividend action. Mexican Petroleum, American Sugar and International. United Fruit and Bethlehem and Crucible Steels comprised the other backward issues, with several of the motors and affiliated specialties. A few obscure issues made slight gains.

As the session progressed increased heaviness was shown by most leaders on comparatively moderate offering. Prominent industrials and specialties lost one to almost 5 points. American Sugar, United Fruit, Harvester, Mexican Petroleum and several of the Motors, Steels and Equipments were under marked pressure. United States' Rubber rallied slightly only to fall below its early quotation. Trading in Rails was desultory and without material change, although Canadian Pacific and some of the south and south-western issues were heavy. Call money opened and renewed into next week at 5 1-2 per cent.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 8. — (Canadian Press.)—Down turns in wheat prices resulted to-day from opinions current that the government crop report would be only moderately bullish and that the declaration of the spring crop would be offset in a measure by the advance in par basis for the month. July delivery, however, showed relative strength as rains were said to have delayed threshing in Kansas and Nebraska, and country offerings were only fair. Opening quotations which varied from 3-4 lower to 2 cents advance with September 119 3-4 to 121 and December 123 1-2 were followed by set-backs all around to well below yesterday's finish.

Corn eased off with wheat, although a transient bulge resulted from export sales of 750,000 bushels. After opening unchanged to 1-2 cent lower, including September at 60 to 60 1-4, the market scored gains but then underwent another sag.

Oats were governed mainly by the course of other cereals, starting unchanged to half a cent lower, September 38 to 38 1-4, and developing but little power to rally.

Indications of export demand for lard gave firmness to provisions.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, July 8.—(Canadian Press.)— Sterling exchange steady; Demand 370; Canadian Dollars 11 31/32 p.c. discount.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, July 8.—(Canadian Press.)—The market remained quiet all morning. Abitibi did not vary from its opening figure at 25 1-2. Brazilian was also unchanged, while Brompton closed fractionally weaker at 21 3-4. Dominion Steel was down a half point at 27 1-2. Laurentide strengthened an eighth of a point and closed at 73 1-2. National Breweries remained unchanged at its opening quotation. Spanish River was weak, going down 1 1-2 points to 47 1-2 points.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, July 8.— (Canadian Press.)—Trading was almost at a standstill this morning on the local stock market, Brazilian being the only stock in which transactions reached three figures. Where any price changes were recorded during the morning they were with on exeption downward. C. P. R. lost two points, closing at 126 3-8. Brazilian was off 1-4 at 26 3-4 and Burt sold off from 100 to 99. Wayagamack lost all of yesterday's closing at 40 1-2, or 3 1-2 points under the last sale. Ex-dividend to-day; Spanish River and Steel of Canada common.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY'S ADDRESS TO REV. C. J. PHELAN

The beautiful hand-lettered address which was presented to Rev. C. J. Phelan by the Executive of the Children's Aid Society yesterday afternoon at a supper at Hooper's Palm Parlors, reads as follows:

The Rev. Charles Joseph Phelan, Chancellor of the Diocese of Peterborough, and Rector of St. Peter's Cathedral.

Dear Father Phelan,—The news of your removal from Peterbrough has been received by us with feelings of the deepest regret.

Ever since your appointment as Rector here, you have taken the greatest interest in the work of our society and the cause of neglected and suffering children generally.

For several years you were vice-president of the society, and during the past two years you have been our president.

As a member of the Executive, you have always set an example of punctuality, sound judgment, faithfulness and Christ-like charity, your first and only consideration being the needs of children in this community who have become victims of neglect and poverty, and without regard to class or creed you have been the staunch and true friend of every wayward and neglected child whose case has been brought to the notice of the society.

We, moreover, are not forgetful of your many and varied activities in

PITTSBURG PIRATES AND INDIANS LOOK LIKE THE PENNANT WINNERS

NEW YORK, July 8.—The Pittsburg Pirates and the Cleveland Indians, close to the middle of the season, seem to be almost sure winners in the two races.

Both clubs are going along playing steady, easy ball, taking the breaks well and getting the best out of their talent.

George Gibson has been getting good pitching all season and his club is playing a great defensive game as well as packing a good punch in the pinches.

The world's champion Indians have been leading the league just because they possess the stuff of which champions are made.

Tris Speaker has had a lot of bad luck all season. His pitchers—Coveleskie, Bagby and Mails—who ought to win a pennant alone, have been awfully slow in getting away, and he had a tough break to overcome in the accidents that deprived him of Bill Wambsganss and Steve O'Neil.

The two New York clubs look like the runners-up.

The Giants, afflicted by their ancient malady, infield trouble, are just moving along in second place. John McGraw's great pitching staff turned into an "in-and-outer" and the club generally has been a disappointment.

The Yankees, possessing the greatest wealth of material in the major leagues, cannot make a million dollars' worth of stars do ordinary work. Miller Huggins has a great ball team except for his outfield, his catching department and three or four pitchers.

He has the great Babe Ruth and a lot of prima donas. Babe wins a game now and then with a homer, but he loses just as many with his terrible work in the field. Wally Schang, who ordinarily ought to be a first-class catcher, has been no better than the relegated Truck Hannah.

The Boston Braves are proving the surprise of the National circuit, and the Cards, after getting away to a bad start, are rounding into some of the form that was predicted for them before the start of the season.

Washington goes right along in the American League winning games, and the Tigers are being kept in the first division by Ty Cobb, who is helping Tris Speaker to show that a player can do things besides play. The Browns, with all their hitting talent, can't get along without pitchers.

Y.M.C.A. WIN FROM HAMILTON'S

RED TRIANGLE CREW HAD THEIR BATTING TOGS ON IN CITY LEAGUE FIXTURE.

In the City League fixture at Riverside Park last night the Y.M.C.A. team defeated the Wm. Hamilton outfit by 9 runs to 3, thanks to one big innings in which they put over 8 runs. The Y.M.C.A. nine had their batting togs, and of their 13 safeties, 6 were doubles. Dickson did the heaving for the "Y" and held the Hamilton crew to 7 safeties.

The teams:

A DRAW AT LINDSAY

Sixteen members of the Peterborough Golf Club journeyed to Lindsay for a match with the Lindsay Club. It was hot enough to satisfy a salamander but the argument which the Lindsay gave the Peterborough turn-out made it warmer still. The results were in doubt until the last men turned in their cards. The match ended in a draw.

BATHING SCENE IN THE CAPITOL BILL

MACK SENNETT COMEDY AND DOUGLAS MACLEAN IN "ONE A MINUTE"

The programme at the Capitol for the last three days of the week provides a good evening's entertainment, in a cool theatre. The Snub Pollard and Mack Sennett comedies are good examples of mirth-provoking situations at the beach, and Davis and Wilkinson offer an excellent double vaudeville act of rapid-fire dancing, talking and singing of popular numbers. The gentleman is a remarkably good Swiss yodeler, and was loudly encored last evening.

Douglas Maclean, in "One a Minute," gives a fine presentation of a young law student who inherits the rundown drug business of his father, a gentleman who had spent most of his life in searching for a universal panacea. The young man, seeing that strong opposition in the drug business is going to force him to shut up shop very shortly, pretends to discover his father's lost remedy, and concocts a terrible-tasting powder from ginger, pepsin, powdered charcoal and fuller's earth. This sells at $2.00 a powder, and will cure everything, from lumbago to deafness. He gets into legal difficulties through the artifices of his chief competitor, who relents, however, on swallowing a powder and discovering that his dyspepsia vanishes immediately. The case being in the hands of the law, comes before a sour-minded judge, and everything looks blue for the young hero, until the judge takes a weak spell and recovers only after partaking of one of the magical powders. And, as is the way in "movie" land, the chief character comes off with a million and a half in the bank and a young and charming bride.

PETES OFF TO-MORROW FOR BIG BELLEVILLE BATTLE

Two of the most important games in the first round of the Central Ontario League are scheduled for to-morrow, when the Petes meet Goyer and Co. in Belleville, while Lindsay invades Oshawa.

For the Solomon crew it is their last chance in the first half. If they lose to Belleville they will be out of the running. If they win they have a chance for a four-cornered tie provided Oshawa and Lindsay break even on their series and both win their games in Cobourg, while the Petes have to beat Port Hope twice. On the other hand, if Belleville win to-morrow they are sure of at least a tie in the first round and cannot be beaten out if Lindsay and Oshawa each take a game from each other.

The standing is as follows:

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Belleville	7	2	.778
Lindsay	5	2	.714
Oshawa	5	2	.714
Peterborough	4	3	.571
Cobourg	1	6	.143
Port Hope	0	7	.000

Belleville has only to-morrow's game left to play, Lindsay and Oshawa have two games with each other and each have a game with Cobourg. Peterborough have to play Belleville and also meet Port Hope twice. Cobourg has a game with Port Hope, Oshawa and Lindsay, while Port Hope has to meet Peterborough twice and play in Cobourg.

The Petes will leave for Belleville on the 8 o'clock G.T.R. train to-morrow morning. All players are asked to be on hand at the station.

THE PHELAN CUP IS CAPTURED BY VETERANS

BEAT COMRADES IN HARD, BUT CLEANLY FOUGHT CLEVER EXHIBITION AT OVAL LAST NIGHT —FINAL SCORE WAS 4 TO 3.

G.W.V.A., champions of the City League if the protest of the Canadian Woolens is lost, are winners of the Phelan Charity Cup as well, last night eliminating the Comrades, the runners-up, by four goals to three. Both teams put forth all they had and the cup was cleanly fought for by both elevens. The crowd of fans was disappointing. The game was close and interesting and there should have been a tohusand enthusiasts out to see the final for the splendid trophy donated by Rev. Phelan. As it was there were only a few hundred scattered about the Oval. The game was called for 6 p.m. but was late in getting under way. It was 6.50 when the teams were started by Referee J. Clark. Thirty-five minute periods were played. The teams lined-up as follows:

G. W. V. A.		Comrades
Jones	Goal	Post
Bishop	Full Backs	Cowie
Gamble		Wain
Burrows	Half Backs	Jackson
Haycock		Mulvilhill
Hurle		Roland
Monks	Forwards	Warman
Willshaw		McDougal
Dyer		Dunkley
Edwards		Lee
Peel		Mallinson

Warman opened the firing for the Comrades and found the nets neatly after the game opened. Peel, for the Vets, came back with a counter right after and the Vets were away strong. Practically until the end of the period the Vets had the edge on the play, but the Comrades were by no means idle. The first period ended a tie—1-1.

Comrades came back with plenty of "pep" in the second. Dyer, when the Vets took the offensive, had the Comrades' goal wide open, but failed to score. Edwards headed a nice one in off Monks' corner. Jones made the sensational save of the night after this when McDougal got away in a lightning dash through the defence for the Vets' goal. Jones dove straight for the ball and McDougal, who was a second late in kicking, somersaulted over the goalie's head. The Vets were travelling fast and Post had some fine fending to do for a few minutes. Comrades wanted to even up and this they did when Lee slipped the ball in unexpectedly when a mix-up ensued at the Vets' headquarters.

With spirits high McDougal, with the cheers of the Comrades' supporters in his ears, struggled for a goal but not till after the Vets had got two more was he to score. Edwards scored, followed by Dyer, who had been trying hard all the game. McDougal found the Vets' goal for the Comrades' third counter from a nice shot from an awkard position when he got around to the side of Jones after taking the ball from Dunkley.

HOW IS THIS LINE UP?

To the Sporting Editor.

Sir,—I think the following team would give a good account of themselves for Peterborough in the Plenty Football Cup:

Goal—Griffin (C.G.E.).

Backs—McDonald (C.G.E.), Ralston (Cal.).

Halves—Burrows (Vets), Haycock (Vets), Moir (Cal.).

Forwards—Maunders (C. G. E.), McDougall (Com.), Dyer (Vets), Rorrison (Cal.), Sharman (Vets).

I think this would be about the best select of the city.

I am, INTERESTED.

SPORT COMMENT

There need be no lamenting over the fact that two months of racing in the east have failed to bring forth an outstanding two-year-old such as Tryster and Man o' War of previous seasons. On the contrary, the juvenile division is providing the most interesting phase of the current season's racing because it has developed a keen rivalry among more than half a dozen youngsters which have come to be recognized as topnotchers, and the interest increases with the running of each stake event, says a New York writer.

It is a rather peculiar circumstance that no horse has won any two of the five most important stake events for juveniles so far, this year, and each of the five winners has been defeated at some time or other. Morton L. Schwartz's Column, winner of the Juvenile, was defeated in the Keene Memorial, which was won by William A. Sweep By, which was second in this latter race, won the Hudson Stakes, while the Great American went to Broomster, which had been defeated at Jamaica. Then came Olympus on Saturday to win the Tremont and defeat William A., among others, after two failures.

The only juvenile that has a clean record is the sensational colt Morvich, which has won all of his starts with great ease, but he has not yet been tried out among the topnotchers of his age. He has proved to be a high-class colt and must be rated among the best. There will be added interest when he finally meets some of the other leaders, as he is scheduled to do in Saratoga. Kentucky has at least one very fast youngster in the filly Miss Joy. Her only defeats have been against her own stablemate, and on one occasion she was purposely placed second. She will be brought east in August to measure strides with the best in this section at Saratoga.

As a result of this situation there is now much speculation as to which is the best of these youngsters. Olympus ran very impressively as the distance of the dashes lengthened to six furlongs, and is evidently destined for more achievements. Column has great speed and should be a strong factor if he recovers from the injuries sustained in the running of the Keene Memorial, while there is no telling how good Morvich is. He runs like a truly good horse. His speed in his workouts is remarkable, and he has won all his races by so many lengths that he has never been put to a test.

DELLAHAM TAKES CANADIAN DEABY

COMMANDER ROSS' AJOM WINS SECOND HONORS.

FORT ERIE, July 8.—(Canadian Press.)—The twenty-second running of the Canadian Derby, $7,500 added, at mile and a quarter, along with an exceptionally well balanced card, was the magnet for a large turnout for the fifth day's racing at Fort Erie yesterday afternoon and some of the most thrilling sport of the meet was sreved.

Dellaham, under a well judged ride by Tommy Parrington, won the Derby, which for the first time was framed for three yearolds foaled in Canada. Commander J. K. L. Ross' Ajo took down second honours after a belated stretch rush, while Witch Flower dropped into third place.

Stardom

Marking the first time that "Charlie" Chaplin has ever cast himself for the role of one of the four hundred, as well as discarding the clown derby and shoes for several reels, "Vanity Fair," the comedian's latest film, will bring the surprise of a lifetime to all.

Somewhat accustomed to Chaplin in a slapstick variety of comedy, fans were surprised to find the pathos in "The Kid." Instead of the usual slum district, "Vanity Fair" is laid in Palm Beach. Latest reports have it that 'Vanity Fair" shows the comedian to better advantage than any of previous making.

Harold Lloyd had a great shock the other night. He had been attending a vaudeville show and doing the honors magnificently to a guest. Opening the door of his waiting car, he drew back in amazement, for a man apparently inebriated fell out. The "guest" screamed. Harold started to bawl out the chauffeur for letting a person in such a condition take possession of his car, when he heard:

"A good one on you, Harold. I guess I'm as good an actor as you are."

It was Carter de Haven who thought he'd have a little fun with the comedian and succeeded.

Sophie Tucker's most recent addition to her jazz band is the handsome "Wally" Reid, who "saxed" up a mean tempo while Sophie rendered "Mammy" at the Shelborne Hotel, Coney Island.

After that "Wally" was the judge of a dancing contest, awarding the winning couple a handsome loving cup.

The newest member to stardom is Agnes Ayres, whose latest work was opposite 'Wally" Reid in "Too Much Speed."

Omar Would Be In Danger Of The Prohibition Officers To-Day, But His "Rubaiyat" Will Be Filmed

Call boy, page the famous "loaf of bread, jug of wine and thou," for the oft-quoted and misquoted lines of the Persian poet have felt the call of the silversheet; and Omar Khayyam, himself, who if alive today would be the legitimate prey of all prohibition enforcement officers, is to become a hero of the cinema.

"The Beloved Romance of the Grape," or "Persia's Prettiest Pets," are titles the ultra-commercial distributing organizations might like to wish on the big new spectacle which has just been launched, but Ferdinand Earle, who is the guiding genius in the production of the world's most widely read prosodic paean, has put his foot down and says it will be known purely as "The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam."

Nashaipur, the home of the Persian astronomer, will be brought to Hollywood, and the romance that has always been confined within book covers will burst forth onto the celluloid.

Such famous quatrains as,

"Oh, come with old Khayyam and leave the wise
To talk; one thing is certain that life flies;
One thing is certain, and the rest is lies;
The flower that once has blown forever dies."

and others will form the animated sub-titles.

For more than a year bearded scholars have been delving through tomes of Oriental literature breathing the incense laden atmosphere of medieval Persia, in order that "The Rubaiyat" may be a celluloid document of fidelity as well as beauty.

Collectors of Oriental costumes from all over the country have been circularized, and have agreed to loan the multi-hued toggery of the Far East in years gone by in order that Producer Earle may make a spectacle worthy of the volume.

Houris beautiful enough to make the mouth of the late cigar store Indian water will parade before the argus-eyed camera in dances that would make a Sultan's favorite dispenser of wiggles turn green with envy.

The bureau of Oriental research employed with Mr. Earle is as numerous as the faculty of a small freshwater college.

A score of America's best known painters are busy day and night furnishing the atmospheric backgrounds, which under Mr. Earle's new science of production will in many instances replace more artistically the ordinary motion picture sets.

Sir Frederick Warde, Edwin Stevens and Kedwiga Reicher will have the principal roles. Other notables of stage and screen who will be seen are Mariska Aldrich, Arthur Carewe, Robert Anderson, Paul Weigel, Jesse Weldon, Snitz Edwards, Warren Rogers, Ramon Samiegos and Big Jim Marcus.

Producer Earle has associated with him for the making of the picture Winthrop Kelly, formerly with Maurice Tourneur; Walter Mayo, who assisted Rex Ingram in making "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse"; George Benoit and Edward S. Curtis, famous Indian photographer; Charles Wakefield Cadman, the composer, is preparing the musical score.

The bureau of Oriental research is headed by four well-known authorities, including Prince Raphael Emmanuel, chief of a large Chaldean tribe; Rev. Allan Moore, noted lecturer on the Holy Land and the Orient, who has produced numerous pageants of the Far East; Captain Montlock, who has lived and traveled extensively in Persia, and Captain Corlette of the Indian Army.

Producer Earle is making what he terms "a cycloramic art drama." Art paintings are used for backgrounds and a staff of artists, including Frank E. Berier, Xavier Muchado, Anthony Vecchio, Paul Detlefson, Flora Smith, Jean Little Cyr, Robert Sterner and Ralph Willis, will contribute to the production.

The Rubaiyat, Inc., is headed by Mr. Earle as President. Theodore Ahrens of the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Company of Pittsburg is Vice-President, and Herbert D. Newcomb, a well-known Los Angeles business man, is Secretary and Treasurer.

Could You Laugh Or Weep At The Word Of A Movie Director?

Emotion on tap!

Tears for the asking. Laughter when there is no mirth.

That is the task of every actor—to be able to "turn on" his emotions at the will of the director. Whether the actor really feels the anguish or joy which he portrayed has long been a subject for debate. Some actors do, others do not. But in newer branch of dramatics—the tion picture—there is a gene sire among directors for t thing.

Nearly all the big director their players to experience the tions which they are to show on t screen, rather than to stimulate them.

A Book About It.

It's almost terrifying when you come to think about it. It's so unique that Rupert Hughes, who now spends most of his time at the Goldwyn studios, is going to write a novel about it. What is the effect on the players themselves of cultivating their emotions for the camera? That's the question the eminent author is to answer.

Anyone who has had opportunity to be around a studio and watch production closely knows that the actors are often very deeply affected by their simulations. For instance, when Leatrice Joy finished an intense emotional scene in "The Poverty of Riches," at the Goldwyn studios the other day, she was unable to stop crying. For half an hour afterwards she sobbed bitterly.

Helene Chadwick is another player who puts herself completely into the character which she is interpreting. She seems to forget self entirely as she "lives" the part. At the day of emotional acting she exhausted; she has given strength to it.

ry Alden had finished other role in "The Old oldwyn picture to be re the fall, she sought abso for several weeks.

Not Play.

From all of which it will be seen that play-acting is not play. On the contrary, it is hard, exacting work. It takes strong nerves, good health, great ambition and unusual energy. Business people reach their offices at 9 o'clock in the morning, but the actor or actress must be "made up" and on the set by that time. This means that he must arrive at the studio by 8. Lon Chaney usually gets there at 7 because of the care with which he paints his face and dons his clothes. Phoebe Hunt, who recently left the speaking stage to appear in "The Grim Comedian," by Rita Weiman, surprised the Goldwyn gate-keeper by arriving at 6 o'clock; she wanted to have plenty of time to prepare for the camera.

It's a great life, boys and girls. There's a big future in it for anyone who has an unlimited amount of emotion to sell, and who is willing to peddle it to the studios at 8 o'clock in the morning.

Mary Would Like To Put Up Hair

Mary Pickford stated today that she would like to do up her curls and be a grown-up film lady.

"Not that I am dissatisfied with my child roles," said Miss Pickford, "for I love them dearly, but I feel that as a celluloid kiddie I am somewhat bound down by limitations. Of course, there is nothing finer than interpreting child life. It is a field rich in heart interest and human appeal. And at the same time it is the kind of work that is clean and wholesome and satisfying. But all my life I have wanted to do something equally as good in a grown-up part."

Ever since she began her career as an actress, Mary Pickford has been cast as a kiddie, or at least as a girl in her early 'teens. The public has come to regard her as the eternal little girl of the screen, for she never seems to grow a day older dspite the fact that she has been appearing in child parts for almost twelve years.

"If I play these roles well," said "Little Mary," "it is probably because I never had a childhood of my own. You might say that I was grown up at the age of five, for that was when I first went on the stage. As a child actress I appeared in road shows, travelling about the country almost constantly. I couldn't play on trains because I had to study, and I couldn't play in hotels or theatres because it made too much noise. So I take great delight in enjoying my childhood now, in my work before the camera.

"And in addition to this," she continued, "I dearly love children. They interest me very much, and, of course, I study them closely. All their little pranks, all their antics, and the cute things they say. These I try to reflect in my presentation of the little girl character upon the screen. The fact that I am so small also makes it possible for me to portray these parts. I am four feet eleven inches tall with my shoes off, and I weigh one hundred pounds."

Miss Pickford said that she has always had an ambition to be an emotional actress, only the public is reluctant to accept her as such.

'Now that I am a producer as well as an actress," she explained, "I quite naturally have to take into consideration what is good business and what is not, and for me it is good business to be a little girl in spite of ambitions.

"Someday I hope it will be different. I should like very much to try to contribute something else to the art of the photoplay, even if I could do it only once successfully; if I could only convey that simple, sincere message of childhood as a grown-up lady. So, Mr. and Mrs. Public and all the dear little Publics, please someday let me grow up, just for once."

New Kind Of 2 Reel Comedies In Making

There was a time when the making of screen comedy entailed no effort more serious than the hurried scribbling on the back of an old envelope of a few tricks, the placing of a large pie order at the nearest bakery, and the employment of a coterie of players, each of whom could withstand the delivery of a kick in the face without wincing. Of course, there have been changes. Recently there has been such spirited competitions between comedy film directors, however, and such an overworking of comedy devices that had become standard, that the director has been hard pressed.

Considering that the wise fan can tell the very moment in the film when the chase is about to start, and that he has been surfeited with extravagant devices to produce laughter—such as houses falling over cliffs, buildings burning to the ground and blowing up into the air, perilous airplane adventures and the like—the director who starts out to produce a comedy containing an original idea finds his ingenuity severely taxed.

This lack of new laughing material William Fox set out to offset some time ago by the employment of several different units and directors to engage solely in the making of one brand of comedies—the Fox Sunshine Comedies. By maintaining a directorial staff of half a dozen comedy specialists, a standard of hilarity and originality was achieved that, it is said, has kept the Sunshine Comedies in the front rank of regular screen fun makers all over the world ever since.

With the necessity for employing elaborate devices never used before has come an added cost of production that not infrequently pushes the regular semi-monthly Sunshine Comedy close to six figures in the making. But Fox officials declare that the aim to keep the Sunshines up to an exceptionally high standard has born fruit in the rapidly increasing list of first-run houses who regularly feature these laugh-provokers on their programs.

Johnny Hines will blossom forth in his first feature comedy very soon with Dorothy Leeds as his leading lady.

Dorothy Dalton and Julia Faye are on their way East. Miss Dalton will meet her father in Chicago, while Miss Faye will visit St. Louis and French Lick Springs.

Ethel Clayton will soon start production on a Western feature, and the chances are that "The Girl of the Golden West" will be secured.

I sometimes wonder, says William Russell, why, when a modern girl dresses for a ball, she does not get confused and go to bed.

Every time I pay eighty cents for a dozen eggs, says William Farnum, I wonder if the chickens are wearing diamond rings.

Friend of mine drank a little home brew the other night, remarks Clyde Cook, and thought he saw a blue mouse. Later he admitted he didn't —it was a red one.

Saw a man and woman, acquaintances of mine, embracing fondly the other night, says Pearl White, and they had been married ten years—but not to each other.

WHY IS THE CENTRAL ONTARIO OIL COMPANY A GOOD INVESTMENT?

Because oil is the thing most sought after to keep the wheels of industry moving.

Proof that oil and gas are there is had from many sources and it is indisputable.

The geological formation indicates oil in good quantity according to the British Transvaal Oil Company and Mr. E. J. Cowain, M. E., and other authorities.

Gas and oil are found in wells, in pools etc.

On top of all this and what is very substantial proof, is that the system used in finding water for wells which is common knowledge actualy works here, and by that system we feel just as positive we have the oil lake outlined as we would be in locating the water for a well, and as the system has been tried out successfully in other fields don't you think this is the best chance you ever had to get big returns on your investment?

Application forms may be had from M. W. R. Cowain, 188 1-2 Charlotte street.

BURNED TO DEATH HAD LIVED HERE

MRS. ISAAC PORTER WAS A DAUGHTER OF MRS. S. McKNIGHT.

Mrs. Samuel McKnight, who lives with Mrs. T. W. Bell, 847 Water Street, is the mother of Mrs. Isaac Porter, who died of burns in Toronto yesterday morning.

She received word of the death of her daughter about 1.30 p.m. yesterday, but owing to the intense heat and the shock of the news, she was unable to go to Toronto until this morning.

Mrs. Porter was 35 years old. She was born in Peterborough, the youngest of a family of four. Her father, Samuel McKnight, died four years ago.

She is survived by her mother, two brothers, William on the River Road, Auburn, and Frank, also of Peterborough, and one sister, Mrs. Robert Carter, of Harrisville, R.I. Mrs. Carter left Peterborough twenty years ago.

The funeral will take place in Toronto.

DUE TO ACCIDENT.

TORONTO, July 8.—Detectives Strohm and Ward, who investigated at the place of the tragedy and at the hospital yesterday, told Inspector Guthrie that in their opinion the whole affair was a case of accident.

Mrs. Porter had called at a neighbour's house shortly before the tragedy occurred. At that time she was dressed in her nightgown, and, according to neighbours, had smelled of coal oil.

It is believed that Porter recieved the terrible burns while trying to put out the flaming clothing of his wife.

The He-Laundress

Homewood avenue travellers were interested and amused the other day watching a man hang out a washing.

His line was stretched in approved fashion and he hung up dainty things of all sorts that came from the electric machine standing near by.

There were pink crepe de chine "teddies," lacy camisoles, silk vests from Italy, silk stockings; organdy dresses that had come through the suds with delicate colors undimmed and un-run; satin knickers and everything that is in a week's rush—and some that aren't—all hung on the line by the he-laundress.

Any one would have known it was a man who hung 'em. There was no system to the hanging at all. "Teddies" and frocks and stockings were hung hit-or-miss in indiscriminate order—first a camisole, then a dress, then a pair of knickers, followed by maybe another camisole. And each article had two clothespins, instead of hanging them two with one, as every wash lady does. Such a waste of line space. But the pins were the regulation kind.

The washing wasn't finished. There were lots more things lying round to be done. They were not "sorted" either — white and colored all mixed together. Housekeepers were interested to know how he kept the colors so clear.

But 'twas a good looking wash — white things a good color and others well "set"—and not a wringer wrinkle in 'em. The he-laundress did pretty well in his laundry attempts, even if he was a window decorator and hung his wash in the window.

TOURING SCOTTISH WIN FROM ONTARIO

EIGHTEENTH VICTORY OF TOUR OBTAINED BY SCORE OF THREE GOALS TO ONE.

TORONTO, July 8. — While the touring Scottish professional football team maintained their winning record at the expense of an All-Ontario eleven, which was defeated at the Island Stadium last evening by a score of three goals to one, making eighteen victories for the Scots in as many games played on the coast-to-coast and return tour of Canada, the game was outstanding for at least two features. First and foremost the remarkable performance of Halliwell, the Ulster custodian, in the Ontario goal, and the strong defence offered by the losers, which compelled Andy Wilson, the famous Scottish sharp shooter, to go scoreless for the first time during the trip.

Undoubtedly Halliwell's exhibition was the big feature of the game, and it is hardly likely that any goalie would have stopped the three that beat him. The first two were from close in, and the third by Craig Brown, was the prettiest one of the evening. He drove the ball from about 30 yards out after receiving it on a rebound from a stop by Halliwell, and it passed just under the cross bar. During the game Halliwell must have easily made forty stops, some of them of course being of an easy nature that are not worth mentioning, but a large percentage were of such a kind that an ordinary custodian would not have stopped them. Time and time again he made stops in quick order, and all the way through he played his position as it has seldom if ever been played in this city before.

UNITED STATES NOTE TO CHINA INTIMATES DISAPPROVAL AS TO RENEWING ANGLO-JAPANESE PACT

ALTHOUGH IT IS CONCERNED WITH RIGHTS OF TELEGRAPH COMPANY IT OUTLINES U. S. POSITION ON EASTERN QUESTION.

WASHINGTON FAVORS "OPEN DOOR" POLICY

(United Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Foreign governments to-day had an outline of America's position on questions affecting affairs in the Far East. Secretaray of State Hughes has declared in a note handed the Chinese Minister that this government continues its "whole-hearted support" of the principle of the open door which it regards as essential to the "free and peaceful development" of commerce on the Pacific.

The immediate occupation for the note was an inquiry as to whether the United States intended to ontinue its support of rights accruing to the Federal Telegrah Company under a contract with the Chinese Government. Protests from Denmark Great Britain and Japan have been made against this contract. Secretary Hughes' reply was looked upon as of wider significance than a mere assurance that this government would support the contract with the Telegraph Company.

It is regarded as an intimation at least that the United States does not look with favor on the Anglo--Japanese Alliance renewal, which is now under discussion by the representatives of Great Britain and her dominions.

Should there by any attempt to get the British dominions to approve the renewal of the alliance the Hughes note will go toward stopping it.

Also there have been indications of Great Britain proposing an American-Japanese-Chinese conference for settlement of the Pacific matters. It is stated that no invitation to such a conference has been received here.

CIVIC SENDOFF TO REV. PHELAN

ARRANGEMENTS COMPLETED TO BANQUET HIM BEFORE HE LEAVES FOR CAMPBELLFORD.

Members of the City Council and other civic bodies met last night and completed as far as practicable arrangements for banquetting Rev. Father C. J. Phelan, shortly to leave town for Campbellford.

In this connection all present denied the rumour circulated around town yesterday that it was the committee's intention to make the function a joint one for Rev. Father Phelan and Mr. G. O. Cameron, who is also leaving the city.

The committee were unanimous with Mr. Vanstone that as this is to be a citizens' banquet to the rev. gentleman, the send-off must be one well worth while, in honour of a broad-minded Christian gentleman, who has contributed so largely to the best interests of this community in many directions.

Chairman of the proceedings, Ald. Crowe, Ald. J. J. Turner, Dr. G. S. Cameron, Ald. G. N. Gordon, and Mr. Roland Denne were appointed a committee to actively supervise the selling of banquet tickets.

It was pointed out by Mr. Jos. J. Duffus that it is essential to get all returns of tickets sold in the hands of Mr. R. S. Armstrong, City Clerk, by noon on Monday.

The date definitely fixed for the banquet is Tuesday next, 12th July.

Those present at this meeting were E. J. H. Vanstone for the Agricultural Association, Joseph J. Duffus and H. R. H. Kenner for the Chamber of Commerce, E. F. Mason for the Health Association, H. A. Cranfield for the Amateur Athletic Association, Mayor A. A. McIntyre, Ald. G. N. Gordon, and Ald. Jos. Crowe, chairman Council's Reception Committee, who presided.

REPAIRS TO THE HOUSE OF REFUGE

WERE RECOMMENDED BY COMMITTEE LAST YEAR

The County Council's Board of Management of the House of Refuge at Lakefield made their quarterly visit on Friday, checking up accounts and attending to the usual routine business. Reeve Coughlin, of Douro, chairman, was accompanied by Deputy-reeve Middleton, of Smith, and the Warden. They decided to carry out the recommendations made last year by Mr. Coughlin, which were deferred owing to the high price of materials. The building will be repainted, some repairs will be made to the plumbing and other work which had been held in abeyance will be proceeded with. Attention has been called to the fact that the committee was not remiss in any way and as far as the Council is concerned was never questioned. Mr. Coughlin had pointed out last year the changes which were needed at the House of Refuge. They were not considered immediately necessary and for that reason they were held over until prices had declined. Accordingly the work will be proceeded with this summer.

REFUSED TO SHAVE UNTIL BRYAN ELECTED PRESIDENT; BEARD NOW REACHES WAIST AND GROWS YET

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

ROMULUS, N.Y., July 9. —"I'll never shave or cut my beard until William Jennings Bryan is elected President of the United States."

These words, uttered twenty-five years ago by William Hilkert, of Romulus, have been kept a sacred promise, by the aged supporter of the famous grape juice advocate. To-day Hilkert's beard reaches well below the waits.

"Although I do not believe in prohibition and do not care to support a prohibition list I will vote for you to-morrow or at any time you are a candidate for President," Hilkert told the silver-tongued orator, whom he met face to face at Geneva last night.

"Thanks for the compliment," Bryan is said to have replied, "I always knew I had some supporters in this state, but neer knew who they were."

Hilkert knocked off from his work expressively to pay his respects to Mr. Bryan at Genea. Hilkert was complimented upon the size and length of his beard.

KING'S TOUR OF QUEBEC HEALS OLD BREACH WITH GOUIN; ENDS WITH COMPLETE RECONCILIATION

GOUIN ACCEPTS KING AS LEADER AND PUBLICLY EXPRESSES LOYALITY TO HIM AT MALBAIE.

MOST SERIOUS BREACH SINCE LAURIER'S DEATH

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

QUEBEC, July 9. — Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King's tour of Quebec has ended in a signal triumph, as it has healed one of the most serious breaches which has existed in the party since the death of Sir Wilfred Laurier.

At the time of the selection of Hon. Mr. King for the Liberal leadership, Sir Lomer Gouin manifested not only a keen disappointment, but it was generally reported that he had refused to transfer his allegiance from Hon. Mr. Fielding, whom he supported, to the new leader. It was on the just concluded tour organized by Mr. Pierre Casgrain, Federal member for Montmorency Charlevoix, that a final and complete reconciliation of Sir Lomer and Hon. Mr. King was effected, and the belief prevails that the tour was largely organized with this end in view.

When passing through Malbaie on Wednesday, the Liberal leader met Sir Lomer Gouin. Mr. Casgrain had arranged a public meeting at Malbraie, and this took place in the evening. Mr. King was to address the meeting, and Mr. Casgrain asked Sir Lomer to come and speak on the same platform as the Liberal leader. This Sir Lomer agreed to do, and when the meeting assembled for the purpose of hearing Mr. Mackenzie King and Mr. Casgrain, to their great surprise, they saw the former gentlemen and Sir Lomer Gouin on the platform.

Sir Lomer, in the course of his address, made the following statement:

"I am happy to be on the same platform as the Hon. Mackenzie King, the leader of the Liberal party in Canada. I have accepted Mr. King as my leader, and I have no other. He can count on my loyal support, and if he needs me he will find me at my post."

Mr. King thanked Sir Lomer warmly, and they dined together in the evening after the conclusion of the meeting at Point Au Pin, the country house of the Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, Postmaster-General and Minister of Marine in the Laurier administration.

IMHOFF SYSTEM OF SEWAGE DISPOSAL

IS CHOICE OF CITY COUNCIL—ENGINEER TO PREPARE PLANS.

The City Engineer has been instructed by Council's committee of the whole to prepare plans and specifications for a two-storey Imhoff tank system of sewage disposal for installation south of the city, and submit them to the Provincial Board of Health for approval.

This was the motion of Ald. Crowe and Gordon at a meeting of the committee last night.

Use of Lot.

Mr. E. F. Mason was present, and requested that the Protestant Home be given the use of the three-cornered lot west of the home property, during an indefinite period, for pasture purposes.

On motion of Ald. Gordon the City Trust will be asked to concede this request, to come into effect at the end of the lot's present tenancy.

WHISKEY IN APPLE BARRELS IS TAKEN

MONTREAL, July 9 (Canadian Press).—Seven hundred and five cases of Scotch whisky were added to the Provincial liquor supply to-day as a result of a raid on a wharf warehouse, where $3,500 worth of whisky, disguised as barrels of apples, as taken by the Prevention Department of the Commission.

The "apples" were destined for the United States.

No arrests were made, and the whisky will be tested by the Government analyst, and then sold by the Government liquor stores.

BATH HOUSES OPEN SUNDAYS

CARETAKERS TO BE ON DUTY DURING HOT WEATHER ON SABBATH DAYS.

Both the civic bathing houses will be opened on Sundays during the hot weather from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. and their respective caretakers on duty for the comfort and convenience of the bathers.

Ald. Gainey, chairman of the City Parsk' Committee, reported to the Committee of the Whole Council last evening that he had made arrangements to this effect and his action was unanimously endorsed. It is understood, however, that on Sundays when the weather is too cold for open air bathing in comfort the bathing houses will remain closed, Ald. Gainey to use his own discretion in this respect.

Badly Ventilated.

Ald. Gainey suggested that the attention of the Nicholls Park trustees be drawn to the wretched, unventilated condition of the dressing rooms in the bathing house at Inverlea Park, and the need for additional disrobing accommodation.

The trustees' attention will be called to these matters ,and improved ventilation, and the provision of at least a tent to serve the purpose of an extra dressing room, urged upon them.

Might be Useful.

Ald. Hamilton hinted that the Russell-Towsend Co.'s bridge construction office building might come in handy for a bathing house, while Ald. Turner remarked that the old barn on the Hilliard property, owned by the city, might also be applied to a like purpose. However, no direct move to adopt these suggestions materialized.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, July 9.—(Canadian Press.)— Stocks were irregular at the opening of to-day's session. Moderate strength in some of the oils and motors was offset by declines elsewhere. Within the first half hour, however, the market developed pronounced weakness. Mexican Petroleum re-acted 2 1-2 points and declines of 1 to 3 points accompanied the selling of Atlantic Gulf, General Asphalt, Harvester, American Sugar and Sumatra Tobacco. An 8 point break in American Express was the feature among the specialties. Another adverse development, was a sharp declines of British Exchange rates. Demand bills on London were quoted at $3.68, approximately the lowest quotation of the year.

NEW YORK STILL SWELTERS

NEW YORK, July 9 (Canadian Press).—Heat prostrations in New York to-day totalled a score, while the torrid wave continued unabated.

There was only one death directly due to the heat—that of Edward Sinnott, 37, who went to the roof to get cool, and fell to the sidewalk.

Thousands slept in the parks and on the beaches.

LLOYD GEORGE TO ACCEPT VALERA PROPOSAL; PEACE CONFERENCE LIKELY TO BE NEXT WEEK; IRISH PEACE DOMINANT GOVERNMENT INTEREST

BLACK AND TANS AND SINN FEIN FRATERNIZE IN DUBLIN STREETS

DUBLIN, July 9.—(United Press).—The 'Black and Tans' and Sinn Feiners fraternized in the streets of Dublin to-day.

Although the British-Irish truce is not officially effective until Monday noon, orders for the immediate cessation of hostilities were issued by the commanders of both sides shortly after the armistice was signed last night.

The truce was virtually operative to-day, and for the first time in years there was peace in Ireland.

ALL OTHER PROBLEMS OF STATE SUBORDINATED AND GOVERNMENT BENDS EVERY EFFORT TOWARD PREPARING FOR PEACE MEETING.

DATE OF CONFERENCE ONLY THING REMAINING

LONDON, July 9. — (Canadian Press).—Premier Lloyd George will, it was authoritatively stated this afternoon, accept Eamonn De Valera's proposal of yesterday and meet the Republican leader to discuss the basis for a formal conference. The meeting will probably take place next week. The only thing remaining is the fixing of the date which Mr. Lloyd George will name in his reply to Mr. De Valera's letter.

The Government is subordinating all other problems of State to the question of Irish peace, and is bending every effort towards preparation for the meeting.

Earl Middleton, South Irish Unionist leader, reached London this morning, after having travelled nearly all night from Dublin, and was almost immediately received in audience by King George. It is understood that he reported to the King the details of yesterday's momentous conference at Dublin, at which a truce in Ireland was arranged and steps were taken to bring together Eamonn De Valera and Prime Minister Lloyd George. The whole country this morning was seething with talk over peace in Ireland, which was the one absorbing topic of conversation.

MIDDLETON IS OPTIMISTIC.

HOLYHEAD, Wales, July 9. — (Canadian Press).—Earl Middleton, one of the South Irish Unionist leaders, who participated in yesterday's conference at Dublin, landed here this morning on his way to London. He expressed the belief that the terms of Eamonn De Valera's letter to Premier Lloyd George, accepting the suggestion of a conference would be accentable to the Prime Minister. Earl Middleton added that he and his colleagues had achieved their object, and that further progress toward peace in Ireland was a question to be discussed by Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. De Valera.

KING GUIDES PEACE PARLEY.

(By Ed. L. Keen—United Press Staff Correspondent).

LONDON, July 9.—King George continued to guide the British-Irish peace negotiations to-day. He conferred with Lord Middleton, the Irish Unionist leader, who participated in yesterday's historic conference at which the armistice between British forces and the Sein Fein was drawn up and signed. Middleton, it is understood, gave the King a full account of all that occurred.

"We have managed to bridge the difficulties, and the general feeling is overwhelmingly in favor of a settlement. I am hopeful the problem will be solved at last," Middleton said upon his arrival here.

Later Middleton was to confer with Premiers Lloyd George and Smuts, preliminary to the opening of the formal peace parley next week.

VALERA ORDERS ATTACKS ENDED

ISSUES INSTRUCTIONS TO FOLLOWERS TO ABSTAIN FROM MILITARY MANOUEVRES AND UNTOWARD ACTS.

LONDON, July 9 (Canadian Press).—The Irish Office stated this afternoon that Eamonn DeValera had issued instructions to his supporters to cease all attacks upon civilians and to discontinue military manoeuvres of all kinds.

The instructions from DeValera, the Irish Office said, also were to prohibit the use of arms, to abstain from interference with public or private property, and to discountenance and prevent action likely to cause a disturbance of the peace, which might necessitate military interference.

These instructions were effective from noon on Monday, it was added.

SCHOOL FAIRS HAVE BENEFICIAL RESULTS

SCHOOL SHOULD BE ORGANIZED NOW AND PRIZE LISTS PREPARED.

School fairs are to the boys and girls of the land what the larger fairs are to the adults. By this time they should be thoroughly organized, prize lists published and circulated and programmes of proceeding prepared; the two indeed given in one publication. These fairs increase in number every year and are proving of inestimable value in the agricultural education of the young and even in beneficially influencing the more mature. Of course boys' and girls' clubs are the principal feeders of the fairs, but entries are usually accepted from children who are not members of any such organization. Agricultural representatives all testify to the splendid effect the fairs are having upon farm life and agricultural pursuits generally. One, for instance, write: "I do not know of any one thing which is a greater factor in improving the farm production and the farm industry of the country than the school fairs. In addition to bringing direct, practical results, school fairs have had a very effective influence in encouraging teachers to take up the teaching of agriculture in the public schools." Another says: "The importane of the school fair cannot be over-emphasized. It teaches our future farmers how they can take the most out of the soil. It makes our rural people better and happier." In recognition of the truth of the old adage, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," a programme of sports is usually included in the days list of proceedings.

CANADIAN MERCHANT MARINE SERVICE TO BR. GUIANA.

WASHINGTON, July 9. — Canadian Press. — A report received from the U. S. Consul at Georgetown, British Guiana says "Since the arrival of the first vessel of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine (Ltd.) in British Guiana, in September, 1920, a regular freight service has been maintained by the government between the port of Georgetown and Canadian ports, via Trinidad and Barbados. During the first quarter of 1921 five government vessels and four vessels of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Co., called at Georgetown. At present these lines carry practically all of the commerce between the two countries, but it is understood that as soon as the Canadian Governmen Mercantile Marine inaugurates the subsidized passenger service contemplated by the Canada-West Indies agreement, the present service of the Royal Mail will be discontinued."

The prettiest of headdresses for a tea-dance is the folded turban which fits close to the head and which is decorated with a long loose tassel that dangles at one side and sweeps the neck.

CROWN FORCES FOLLOW TRUCE

CEASE ACTIVITIES, SUSPEND CURFEW RESTRICTIONS, AND HAND OVER POLICE DUTIES TO CIVIL FORCE.

DUBLIN, July 9 (Canadian Press) —The Government here, in order to co-operate in providing an atmosphere, it is explained, "in which peaceful dscussions may be possible, has directed the following:

"All searches by the military and police shall cease. Military activity shall be restricted to the support of the police in their normal civil duties. Curfew restrictons shall be removed. The despatch of reinforcements shall be suspended. Police functions in Dublin shall be carried on by the Metropolitan Police."

These directions are effective from noon on Monday.

"AIR BICYCLE" IS NOW A FACT

GABRIEL POULAIN WINS 10,000 FRANC PRIZE FOR PROPELLING AIRCRAFT BY MAN POWER ALONE.

SAYS THIS NEW ART IS ONLY IN ITS INFANCY

(By Webb Miller, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

PARIS, July 9.—The air bicycle has arrived.

Gabriel Poulain to-day won the 10,000 franc prize offered for the first flight to be made in an airplane propelled by man power.

For the first time in history, an airplane has been flown with no motive power other than that supplied by a pair of legs.

Poulain made three flights, or hops, the longest was about 35 feet. He managed to get about three feet off the ground in making this hop.

Scientists who watched him, compared his performance with the first attempts at aviation, when motor-propelled planes trundled around on the ground with occasional little leaps into the air.

Poulain's vehicle looks like a bicycle, with planes and a propeller.

To win the money he had to make a flight of more than 10 yards. While the crowd looked on he paddled furiously along the field, and finally flew clear of the ground. There was applause.

This hop was not long enough, however, and another was attempted. On the third trial the air bicycle cleared 35 feet, and the prize was won.

Poulain said the art of air-bicycling was in its infancy. He predicted the day would come when air bikes would be in common use.

NEW READY-TO-WEAR STORE

Just at a time when sheer dainty dresses and waists are in demand, comes this seasonable opening today of Messrs. Rogow Bros. new Ladies Ready-to-Wear Store, 440 George street, corner of Brock.

The finest of these chic creations are shown—nothing like them has been seen in Peterboro before. The ladies are admiring them to-day and although only a portion of the stock is yet on exhibition the sales have been satisfactory. A good deal of taste has been used in refitting and decorating these new style quarters, which makes quite an improvement to the store, and makes a pleasing addition to Rogow's custom tailored department, which will still be carried on as usual.

LABORATORY WILL BE OPENED HERE SOON.

Mr. T. Tooms, M.P.P., has been notified that the Provincial Board of Health has sent out instructions that bacteriological and chemical laboratories are being located at London, Kingston, Fort William, Sault Ste. Marie and North Bay, and in a few months additional ones will be in operation at Peterborough and Owen Sound.

HINDENBURG STATUTE BECOMES FIREWOOD

Colossal Monument Meets Lowly Fate after Removal.

BERLIN, July 8.—Germany's iron Hindenburg, which during the war was to epitomize the German spirit, has gone the way of the rest of wartime German things.

An advertisement in the Berlin papers announces the demise very simply:

"IRON HINDENBURG.

"For sale, in whole or in parts, for firewood. Apply to Rudolf Mosse, Berlin W. 8, Leipzinger street, 103."

The gigantic statue—a wooden Hindenburg—was erected during the war at the end of Berlin's avenue of Victory.

It was to be covered with nails driven one by one by patriotic Germans, who for the privilege of putting a bit more iron into the Field Marshall, were to pay a small contribution to the German war charities.

The idea flivvered. Long before the war ended what was at first a popular pilgrimage had tired Berliners, and the statue remained, its woodwork rotting in huge uncovered patches and its scattered rash of nails rusting.

About a year ago, the statue, always an eyesore was removed. No one was sufficiently interested to ask about it. Its fate was not known until Her Mosse inserted his ad.

HOTEL AND HOSPITAL COMBINED STRUCTURE

New Building at Rochester, Minn., Serves Two Purposes.

ROCHESTER, Minn., July 8.—J. H. Kahler, of Rochester, Minn., enjoys distinction, as head of the Kahler Corporation, of proprietorship of one of the world's most unique hotels. The Kahler will open September 1st with a capacity of 600 guest rooms in a town of about 5,000 resident population. In addition, the Kahler people operate in the same small-town community, the Zumbo, Cook and Damon Hotels, offering a combined capacity of over 1,000 rooms. But for the Mayo clinic Rochester would rate from 4,000 to 5,000 in population, the floating population being estimated at 4,000 per day and two-thirds of the resident families taking in boarders". As for the new Kahler the four upper floors have been built and furnished as roof garden, promenade and convalescent rooming floors, patients in various stages of recovery passing downward until again in the environment of a modern city hotel. They have the advantages of special diet kitchens trained nursing staff, invalid service, etc. the plan being to graduate their return from hospital to home life almost imperceptibly. The first hotel embodying these new principles has been taken over by the town as the Colonial General Hospital.

ARMY MASCOT IS DECORATED BY PERSHING

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Stubby, a brindle Boston bull terrier, which served overseas as mascot of the American Expeditionary Forces, was recently decorated as a wounded hero of the World War by General John J. Pershing, Commander-in-Chief of the American forces in Europe during the war.

The medal that General Pershing pinned on him was of gold, and bore on its face the single name "Stubby." It was not an army medal, despite the fact that Stubby wears the insignia of a private of United States infantry and participated with honor in seventeen engagements with the Twenty-sixth Division, including the battle of Seichprey, in which he received a shrapnel wound in the breast. It was a beautiful medal, however, of solid gold and nicely engraved, the gift of the Humane Education Society, which has among its sponsors Mrs. Harding as well as General Pershing and many notables.

In presenting the medal the General made a little impromptu speech, but Stubby made no reply. He merely licked his chops and wagged his diminutive tail.

Stubby has been designated the official mascot of the A.E.F. He is said to be the only dog that made the trip over to France and return with the same organization, the 102d Infantry, which when a puppy he joined of his volition and attached himself to former Corporal J. Robert Conroy of New Haven, Conn., and Washington, D.C., whose property he is.

While Stubby is now a trifle gun shy, and showed some symptoms of nervous excitement to-day when the camera men shot off a flashlight during the decoration ceremonies, there was a time when the big guns didn't frighten him. That was before he got his wound at Seichprey, which necessitaed his going to the hospital for six weeks. He returned to his regiment after his wound healed, but he never evinced his old time zest for battle. When the big guns started Stubby went A.W.O.L., though he always showed up, sober and ready for duty, when the tumult died down.

Stubby on parade is a gorgeous spectable. He wears a leather blanket, beautifully embroidered with the flags of the Allies in natural colors, the work of nearly a hundred French demoiselles whom Stubby met in his travels. He wears also a Victory medal, with cross-bars, indicating the major engagements at which he assisted. His blanket is literally covered with badges and medals which have been thrust upon him by his admirers, and on the left side of his elaborate leather harness, also a gift, he wears three gold service chevrons, while on the right side he has another gold chevron to indicate his honorable wounds. He is a life member of the Y.M.C.A. and has a membership card which proclaims him entitled to "three bones a day and a place to sleep" for the rest of his life. He is also a member of the American Red Cross and the American Legion, at the Minneapolis convention of which he was present as an honorary delegate.

But perhaps the greatest honor that has ever been bestowed upon Stubby was that given him at the Boston dog show, when the gold "hero dog" medal was awarded to him by unanimous consent of the judges.

HAILSTORMS DAMAGE CROPS IN VICINITY PRINCE ALBERT

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. July 7.—Reports from the country districts indicate that considerable damage, west, east and southeast of the city was done on Tuesday by a series of hailstorms. In a few isolated cases the headed out wheat was totally destroyed, but the crops not in head will suffer to some extent. The districts suffering the worst were St. Louis, Fenton and Rozilee. A heavy rain throughout the district has supplied all the moisture for crops.

LITTLE WANT ADS.

At this time of the year, there are any number of things that are badly needed, either by the man or woman.

These things can be done without, but the Summer is going to be not quite so happy without them, and they need not cost you nearly as much as you think, if you only use the Want Ads. to get them.

So many people lose a vast amount of pleasure simply because they have never learned the value of a simple little appeal to the Examiner Want Ad. Column. Don't let this bright month of June go by without satisfying little extra Summer wants through the Want Ads.

ARMISTICE IN IRELAND WAS SIGNED YESTERDAY

PEACE LOOMS IN IRELAND AFTER SIGNING OF TRUCE AND IRELAND AND BRITAIN BOTH ARE JOYFUL

PREPARATIONS GOING RAPIDLY AHEAD IN LONDON FOR PEACE CONFERENCE TO ARRANGE TERMS OF SETTLEMENT.

(BY ED. L. KEEN,)

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, July 9.—News of the signing of a truce between the British Government and the Irish Sinn Feiners was received with joy here to-day.

Preparations were going ahead for the peace conference, which will sit in London to arrange the final terms of settlement. Premier Lloyd George, Premier Jan Smuts of South Africa and other high government officials, will spend the week end at Chequers the Premier's country residence, getting ready for the conference. It was reported today that Smuts probaby would preside at the peace negotiations, as he enjoys the confidence of both Lloyd Georgeand De Valera.

The London Press was jubilant to day in its comment on the Irish truce, which was signed last night at Dublin, and which becomes effective Monday noon. Confidence was expressed that the end of the bitter conflict actually had arrived.

"The truce will change the whole atmosphere, and it brings this ruinous, humiliating struggle within measurable distance of its end," said The London Times. "We are confident that once the combatants ground arms calm counsels will prevail," The Chronicle Declared.

"Nothing is more gratifying to the British people than the fact that the last chapter of bloodshed and misery seems closed," according to The Daily Express.

The exact outline of the peace terms has not yet been disclosed, but it is predicted that, under the settlement, Ireland will remain in The British Empire under a system of Home Government about the same as that in Canada and Australia.

There was a little worry in some quarters whether the rank and file of the Sinn Fein population of Ireland would folow their leaders and settle down, content with the peace. So far, however, thee has been no note of dissatisfaction and none of, The Sinn Fein leaders has shown a disposition to rebel from De Valeras policy of seeking a quick peace.

SPIRIT OF IRISH PEOPLE IS CONCILIATORY AND SINN FEIN HEARTILY CHEER GENERAL MACREADY.

(Special Despatch to the Examiner)

DUBLIN, July 9.—Peace was settling over Ireland to-day.

For the first time since the Easter rebellion of 1916, hostilities were actually dying down, under the truce signed between the Sinn Feiners and representatives of the British Government.

Although the truce does not become effective until noon on Monday, it was understood that the Sinn Fein leaders were cancelling orders for all attacks on the British 'scheduled for the intervening period, and that the British troops and the police had been ordered to discontinue reprisals and do everything possible to avoid clashes.

The spirit of the people here appeared to be conciliatory.

General McCready, Commander of the British forces in Ireland, was actually cheered by the crowd when he arrived at the Mansion House late yesterday to discuss the truce terms with Eamonn DeValera. The people are evidently extremely anxious for peace.

The Freeman's Journal to-day said:

"To-day's news raises hopes in the hearts of the people which have not been felt for many months, thanks to the efforts of the peacemakers, who are doing their work well. We are in sight of a cessation of bloodshed, during which, with God's blessing, a permanent, honourable peace may be enjoyed."

DeValera and other Sinn Fein leaders were making preparations to-day for the Irish conference with Premier Lloyd-George, which will be held in London, and at which it is hoped a permanent peace for Ireland will be decided upon and subscribed to.

Both sides will go into this conference, it is expected, in a spirit of conciliation. The Sinn Feiners are prepared to forego their demands for absolute independence, and the British, it is believed here, will be ready to treat with DeValera and his lieutenants on terms of equality, and grant a greater measure of self-government to Ireland than has heretofore been offered.

Stops Fire Quick

—THE—

PRONTO

Fire Extinguisher

Will stop any fire at the start. It is installed in a simple, foolproof bracket. You simply pull from bracket and dash contents into base of flames. The instant it strikes fires it forms a heavy, non-inflammable gas blanket that shuts off oxygen and CHOKES the fire.

Even gasoline, oil and electric fires can't live under PRONTO.

This Extinguisher has the approval of the Fire Chiefs of Peterboro and Toronto. It is especially useful in dwelling houses, schools, picture houses, theatres and in the automobile.

A demonstration was given here on the market square recently, and the following testimonial received:

"I was an eye witness to the demonstration of 'Pronto' given on the market square in this city last night. I wish to state that I was very much impressed with the efficiency of this new extinguisher. It is easily the best that I have yet seen in use.

"Geo. Grange,
"Chief of Peterboro Fire Department."

The District Agent is now in Peterboro, at No. 285 Wolfe St., where all information may be obtained.

O. candidate, who was to oppose the Conservative member for the Federal House, Sir Sam Hughes not only extends his sincere sympathy and consolation but took occasion to intimate that he was about to retire from active politics and suggested that all parties get together and elect a member by acclamation thus avoiding a bye-election, and allowing him to retire with honor.

"EXTEMPERANEOUS BLONDES" BARRED FROM BUSINESS

INSURANCE HEAD PLACES BOBBED HAIR UNDER BAN ALSO.

HARTFORD, Conn., July 9. — "Extemporaneous blondes" and girls with bobbed hair, have no place in business life, F. K. Daniels, President of the Aetna Insurance Company, employing 3000 women throughout the country, told the United Press to-day.

The company recently issued a mandate that no more artificial blondes or bobbed heads would be employed and that employees already in either category would have to get back to normalcy as rapidly as possible.

"Artificially bonde hair is a sign of light headedness," Daniels declared. "Blondity is a mark of lack of intelligence. If any more bobbed haired girls or blondes get into our offices they will have to crawl through the keyhole.

"There are some in this office now but we are going to get rid of all of them soon as possible. Of course we can't make any set rule, but we have advised these girls to drop all artificiality at once.

"The Swedish blonde is very pretty, even if she bobs her tresses, and she is diligent, faithful and studious. It is the brunettes who use peroxide who get me.

"Business researches have proved that 90 per cent of blondes are useless. All women who bob their hair are useless. Some say they have not their hair to avoid the heat, but I can tell you there is a hotter place waiting for them.

"My ideal of a business woman is one who has two or three years college work, does not powder her nose, does not watch the clock, does not rouge her cheeks and does not smoke cigarettes.

"I can tolerate the woman who lays aside her corset. That is comfort. But is carrying comfort too far to bare one's self in bobbed hair. I think the movies are responsible for girls doing this.

"I don't wish to give the impression that women should neglect their dress. I believe business girs should be attractively garbed in pure business style, the same as the men.

"When you're dishing out my employees for heaven's sake give me long haired brunettes."

LLOYD GEORGE OFFERS TO ORDER POLICE AND MILITARY IN IRELAND TO SUSPEND ACTIVITY IF VALERA WILL ENTER A PEACE CONFERENCE

STEPS THAT HAVE LED UP TO THE PRESENT MOVE FOR IRISH PEACE

LONDON, July 9 (Canadian Press).—The principal steps leading up to the present serious effort to find a peace formula for Ireland have been these:

"The address of King George at the Ulster Parliament in Belfast, in which he called for conciliation on a forgive and forget basis.

"The invitation of Premier Lloyd-George to Eamonn DeValera, Sinn Fein head, and Sir James Craig, Ulster Premier, to meet with him in London to strive to the utmost for a peace programme. This movement, coming on the heels of the opening of the Imperial Dominion Conference in London, gave rise to the belief that the Dominion statesmen were pressing for a settlement.

"DeValera's invitation to all Ireland to meet for a conference in Dublin to arrange Ireland's programme. Ulster, refused, whereupon the Sinn Fein called in the Southern Unionists.

"The visit of General Jan Christian Smuts in Ireland, following the Dublin Sinn Fein-Unionist conference of 4th July when certain agreements were come to.

"General Smuts' return to London, and conferences with Premier Lloyd-George, and his report to the Imperial Conference.

"Sir James Craig's conference with King George.

"The resumption of the Dublin Sinn Fein-Unionist conference yesterday.

"The announcement that Eamonn DeValera consents to come to London to consult Premier Lloyd-George, followed by the anouncement that hostilities between the Crown forces and the Irish Republican Army will cease in Ireland next Monday at noon."

LEMONS SCARCE; RAIN WILL HELP LOCAL BERRIES

Coming just in the nick of time, yesterday's rain will have a considerable effect on the local fruit market. The life of the raspberry crop will be extended, fruit dealers believed.

Raspberries were selling to-day at 30 cents for Niagara ones and 27 cents for native stuff. Local berries are cheaper, but are scarce, one dealer said in explaining the difference. Huckleberries are plentiful in the shops at 30 and 35 cents a quart. Gooseberries are 20 cents, and red and white currants the same. Black currants are as high as 35 cents.

If the heat wave passes, as it is promising to do, lemons will be more plentiful.

It was hard to buy a case of lemons in the city yesterday. Messina lemons were being quoted in Toronto wholesale at $15.00 a case of 300. This is more than five cents each, and it can be seen that they could not be retailed at less than 70 cents if the dealer is to keep the wolf out of the fruit shop.

Walter Oke believed yesterday that acute scarcity of lemons would ease up with the passing of the torrid spell. All over the continent lemons have been consumed prodigiously, and in the ten days the price soared from $8.50 to $15.00 wholesale.

The Californian new crop will be in next week, Mr. Oke stated, and this will relieve the situation. Ships are on the ocean rushing cargoes of lemons towards thirsty America, and Mr. Oke did not think that the price would be much, if any, higher!

Large areas of cherries have gone to waste in the Niagara district from the intense heat, and the loss has been very serious. Growers have been unable to pick and ship fast enough, and stories from the fruit belt are that large black cherries have literally carpeted the ground under many orchards.

The rain which touched Peterborough may have saved some of the crop, but local dealers believe that the cherry crop is just about at an end. Small baskets were selling at $1.25 and $1.35 yesterday, while 11-quart baskets were bringing $1.75 Black cherries are higher, and sold from $2.10 up.

Tomatoes 40 Cents.

Leamington tomatoes are selling in the fruit stores now. Forty cents is the general price. Local vegetable growers say they have tomatoes well towards ripe, and in a week or ten days will be marketable. Home-grown potatoes are favourites, one dealer said, who was asking 50 and 60 cents a peck.

With the preserving season in full swing, rumours that sugar is coming down should be received with delight by every housewife. Toronto wholesalers, from which the local market is controlled, predict lower prices. "The sugar situation is bad," stated one wholesaler. "We look for a big drop any day."

Sugar prices in the city range from $9.00 to $10.00 a hundred. "We pay $9.00 wholesale and sell it for $9.50. That isn't making any very great profit," said one grocer to The Examiner.

APPLE CROP OUTLOOK REPORTED AS BRIGHT

Expect Yield Will be in Excess of That of Last Year.

OTTAWA, July 8.—Reports from Canada's six apple-growing Provinces point to a crop of this fruit generally in excess of last year's. There was a very heavy "drop" in June, however, which, if it continues much longer, will materially reduce the prospects.

According to the July fruit and vegetable crop bulletin of the Department of Agriculture British Columbia orchards, as well as those in New Brunswick and Quebec, offer promise for a 10 per cent. increase oer 1920. Ontario prospects are for a 20 per cent. reduction. Spies, Baldwins, MacIntosh and Russets heavy, but Ben Davis light. Russets Edward Island expetcs a big crop of all varieties. In Nova Scotia dry weather and a heavy drop have reduced the outlook. Baldwins and Kings are set heavy, and a total crop is expected of some 10 per cent. in excess of last year's.

British Columbia expects a fair to good crop of peaches, but Ontario only looks for 35 per cent. of average. Yellow St. Johns best. Elbertas and Crawfords light.

Plums promise well in Quebec, but Ontario and Nova Scotia will probably produce only a 50 per cent. crop In British Columbia a fair to good crop is anticipated.

Pears in Ontario and Nova Scotia also promise a 50 per cent. crop, while the prospects in British Columbia are generally good.

PREMIER SAYS GOVERNMENT REALIZES IT WOULD BE IMPOSSIBLE TO CONDUCT NEGOTIATIONS WITH BLOODSHED CONTINUING.

LONDON, Aug. 9. — (Canadian Press.)— The official statement issued from Downing street at 10.45 last night follows: "In accordance with the Premier's offer and Eamonn De Valera's reply, arrangements are being made for hostilities to cease in Ireland from Monday next, July 11, at noon.

For the first time in centuries peace for Ireland loomed large last night. An armistice will go into effect in Ireland next Monday. This was officially announced from Downing street last night. The terms have been signed. The signatories are General Neville MaCready for the British forces and Michael Collins, commander-in-chief of the Irish Republican army in behalf of the Sinn Fein.

The Mansion House conference in Dublin between Sinn Fein leaders and representatives of the Southern Unionists, who also unofficially represented the element in the north, was renewed to-day and it proved a success, immediate results being: 1—Arrangements for cessation of bloody warfare in Ireland between Crown forces and Sinn Fein army. 2—An expressed desire on the part of Eamonn De Valera that peace be had.

LONDON, July 9. — (Canadian Press.—In a letter to Earl Middleton, one of the Southern Unionists who attended yesterday's conference with the Irish Republicans, Prime Minister Lloyd George said:

"The Government fully realizes it would be impossible to conduct negotiations with any hope of achieving satisfactory results if there is bloodshed and violence in Ireland. It would disturb the atmosphere and make the attainment of peace difficult.

"As soon as we hear Mr. De Valera is prepared to enter into a conference with the British government and to give instructions to those under his control to cease from all acts of violence we should give instructions to troops and police to suspend active operations against those who are engaged in this unfortunate conflict."

A REMINDER.

Sunday bathing when done in an orderly manner is one thing, but Sunday bathing when made the cloak for horse play and rowdyism is quite a different matter as a correspondent pointed out in a letter to The Examiner last evening. It is to be hoped that the effort to have the bathing houses open on Sunday, having been successful, the bathers will not abuse the privilege. There is no occasion for disorderly conduct, jumping off the Smith street bridge, a practice that is forbidden during the week, or racing around in bathing suits among the visitors in the park. It would be a pity if the opportunity to indulge in a cooling plunge on Sunday were to be lost by reason of lack of common sense and judgment on the part of a few, and the bathers should be on their best behaviour tomorrow in their own interest, if not for any other reason.

THE HYDRO PROBE.

George Halcrow, Labour leader in the Ontario Legislature, declares that the investigation into Hydro radials has cost the people of the Province $750,000. It is to be hoped that this figure has been exaggerated and the public would like to hear from official sources how far Mr. Halcrow's estimate of the cost of the probe differs from the actual expenses involved. The sum he mentioned would be a very good start towards building a section of radial line in a district where the possibilities of the plan could be more thoroughly and accurately tested than by half a dozen inquiries in which the varied opinion of experts was the only foundation on which a verdict could be based. A practical test of that kind would have been of greater service than a probe into theories. Robinson Crusoe had plenty of theories about the boat he built, but when he got the work all done, he found he had made the canoe too large to be moved down to the sea.

GERMAN WAR CRIMINALS.

The trial of German officers accused by the Allies of atrocities during the war becomes a bigger farce with each case that is heard by the German Supreme Court. The cases brought forward by Great Britain terminated in sentences of a few months' imprisonment for the guilty officers, and the charges made by the French, which are now being considered, have not been much more successful. Imagine a German major who pleaded guilty to ordering French wounded and prisoners to be killed in cold blood, being "punished" by a sentence of two years' imprisonment!

As one contemporary puts it, "the lightness of the sentence is almost as shocking as the crime." The German spirit is unchanged, apparently, by the result of the war, unaffected by the hatred and contempt in which the upper classes of Germany are held by the rest of the world. There is little use in expecting that adequate punishment for war criminals will be dealt out by German Courts.

EASE THE BURDEN OF THE BLIND.

If you could witness the pathetic eagerness with which the aged or invalid blind of Canada await the visits of the ladies of the Auxiliary of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind you would indeed feel deeply moved.

For, sad to tell, there are those poor blind in Canada who, though willing, are unable to independently provide for the essentials of life.

And they must be cared for!

They are carrying their burden with lighter hearts since the Social Relief Committees of the Women's Auxiliary of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind were organized and commenced their work of mercy in various parts of Canada.

Funds are needed to carry on with this important work, and to increase that power for help.

Once, not long ago, they sat in their tragic darkness, pathetically idle and plunged in self-pity—the blind men, women and children of Canada.

Today, thanks to the splendid efforts of a group of untiring Canadians, and to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, an ever-growing number of the blind of Canada have found happiness and a new interest in life.

They have been taught in their homes to make all manner of articles of reed, wicker and willow work, mats, netting, garments, etc. From the institute they buy at cost the materials needed. The finished article is then bought from the blind home-worker and sold to the public at the same price.

In many cases their outlook on life has been completely altered. A ray of light has come to them in their darkness. And they are earning money—making themselves an asset, not a liability, to the nation.

Help in this uplifting work. More money is needed, and we turn to you for your generous support. Send your subscription to the fund being raised by The Examiner.

THE MILITIA DEPARTMENT SCANDAL.

Commisisoner Clarkson has only begun his investigation into affairs of one of the branches of the Militia Department, but already enough evidence has been brought out to show the existence of a startling situation. Admissions of officers of the Department and evidence of persons having dealings with it have already gone far enough to confirm the severe criticism of the Department by Judge Gunn on the occasion of the Robinson-Hill trials. In fact, the situation is being revealed as even worse than had been supposed. It is almost inconceivable that a branch of the public service having such large responsibilities should have been conducted in the manner of extreme carelessness and looseness that prevailed in this one.

During the time that large sums of money were being fraudulently obtained from the Department in the exchange of English money for Canadian there was an amazing absence of system, oversight, and responsibility. The investigation will reveal whether or not avenues left open for fraud at the public expense were the result of intent or merely of extreme carelessness, but surely if it was the latter, it was little short of criminal carelessness. The situation in respect of exchange at the Department amounted to an invitation to any who desired to step forward and share in the easy money and "the Government" being generally regarded as "free meat" for any clever enough to "get away with it," the invitation seems to have been very widely accepted.

Judge Gunn, at the trial of Hill, spoke of the "open," flagrant, and abandoned violation of principles that should have obtained to protect that fund by the parties entrusted with the administration and the dispensing of it in the interests of the people of this country." In telling Hill that he had been acquitted of fraud, he said the jury had concluded that "there was no necessity for practising deception or fraud, because of the manner these certain officials handed out the money." The evidence has already completely borne out his stricture.

There was no system, no direction, no inspection, no responsibility. The admissions of officers themselves show that while they recognised their responsibility in some matters, they neglected to respect it, while in other cases they were content to asume that others were responsible without bothering to see that they were doing their duty.

The public, reading of these conditions in the Militia Department, will naturally ask: "Is that the way Government business is done as a general thing?" Of course, there cannot be looseness to such a degree in very many places in the public service, but the revelations should serve as a severe warning to all responsible officers in the service to see that the duties they assume are being properly done by those in their charge are actually being so done. With such a warning, an investigation offhand into any other Department of the service should show orderliness and system and the faithful discharge of official duties.—Ottawa Journal.

ALLEGE BLACK SOX COLLECTED $63,000

Claim Players Made More Money in Bibes than in Salary.

CHICAGO, July 8.—Enlightening facts are coming out as State and defense swelter through the task of securing a jury to try the baseball players, gamblers and fixers for the alleged 1919 World Series conspiracy.

Fans who believed the Sox were pulled dwon large salaries are discovering that the actual figurare are considerably below the popular conception. Another illuminating fact is contained in the charge that seven of the former Sox players collected nearly $100,000 in graft and salary in 1919. Of this amount they received $43,425.02 in salary, bonuses and percentage share in the World Series with Cincinnati. Sixty five thousand dollars in addition is alleged to have been picked up in bribes so a gambling syndicate might gouge the public for $1,000,000 on a sure thing.

"Eddie" Cicotte, who is charged with 'discovering' $10,000 under his pillow, a little reminder from the gamblers of what was expected of him, was Comiskey's highest salaried man. He was paidfor the season and his salary for 1920 was made $10,000. Others of the indicted players received salaries as follows:

Chic Gandil—$666.66 a month for 1919 season.

Swede Risberg— $3,250 for the 1919 season.

Buck Weaver—$7,250 for the season.

McMullen —$500 a month for 1919 and $600 a month for 1920.

Jackson—$6,000 for 1919, and $8,000 for 1920.

Jackson —$6,000 for 1919, and $8,000 for 1920.

Happy Felsch —$714.50 a month for 1919 plus a bonus of $3,000, and $10,000 for the 1920 season.

Williams $500 a month for 1919 a bonus of $500, and a personal gift of $500 from Comiskey. He was signed at $6,000 for the season of 1920, and had just received a bonus of $1,500 when he was suspended.

None of the salaries included the World Series money. There was some reference to these salaries as compared with that drawn by Ban Johnson President of the League.

The players on trial hold themselves aloof from the gamblers, who herd in their own corner, The Levy brothers, Louis and Ben, of Des Moines sit with their fellow-townsman, David Zeser Carl Zork of St. Louis sits near them. All Cub fans are immediately rejected as jurors by the defense.

Chalmers Owners Know Its Wonderful Value

Chalmers owners know that they drive a wonderful car. They do not hesitate to say so.

They have found that its remarkable performance is accomplished at exceedingly economical upkeep charges.

Repair Costs Low

These are held down by the infrequency of extensive repairs and replacements. The Chalmers stays out of the repair shop longer and renders steady, reliable service.

This makes its value greater and adds to the owner's enthusiasm.

The exceptional performance of the wonderful Chalmers motor is aided by pre-heating the fuel mixture with the hot-spot.

Fine Motor Performance

As a result, more power is obtained from less fuel. Combustion is better. The explosions are more powerful. Acceleration is faster. Carbon is reduced.

But it is not the fine motor performance alone that pleases our owners.

They also place high value on the beauty of the Chalmers and its marked comfort and convenience.

You should know the superiority of the Chalmers in order to buy a car wisely. You can learn that superiority in a Chalmers demonstration.

NEW YORK, July 7. — "There were ninety thousand criminals in your city on Saturday who should have been put behind iron bars and gates," said Dr. Wilbur F. A LOST DIAMOND.

Chapter 6.

As we finished dinner, Mrs. Walker pushed back her chair, and said laughingly to the men: "I suppose now that the women have the right to vote and smoke, we might as well all go in the other room and have our cigarettes together."

"No, run along, dear," Mr. Walker thrust at her teasingly, "I have a story I want to tell the boys."

"Oh, Leon!" she reproved a trifle embarrassed, "Do be caretul."

In the other room the Japanese servant passed a hammered silver humidor filled with cigarettes. Mrs. Walker held one up in her short fat fingers.

"These are special brand, South American cigarettes brought to us by Mr. Lachman. I adore their long slenderness, though I must say their length is almost a little too much for me."

She leaned toward the lighter as the little Jap held it in front of her, and strangled and choked unhappily over the first puff.

"I wonder why most men actually object to their wives smoking?" Mrs. Gray observed.

"They never mind the other women doing it," Mrs. Lachman remarked a trifle whiningly.

"Maybe, after all, it's a compliment we don't appreciate," Mrs. Walker suggested.

Just then the men came in and joined us again. I noticed Kent and Victor Lachman came in together and were talking intently. They sat down on a large, low divan at the far end of the room.

It made me a little cross. I wanted Kent near me. I needed the stimulus of his vivid personality.

I could see Mr. Lachman had drawn a map of some sort from his pocket and both heads were bent over it interestedly.

"Victor, oh Victor!" Mrs. Walker interrupted them, "How about that diamond you were going to show me?"

They got up, and Kent came over and rested on the arm of my chair. I was glad that Mrs. Walker had disturbed them.

Victor Lachman came and stood near Mrs. Walker, and smiled down at her with a roguish twinkle in his grey eyes.

"It's a wonder! A rose diamond as big as your thumb nail. I'll bet Leon here never saw its equal," he bragged. As he was talking he slipped his right hand first into one pocket, and then another—and then another, nervously.

Kent leaned over and asked me something about where were the cigarettes.

Mr. Lachman had turned pale. He came over nearer the large table lamp, and examined his wallet minutely, turning over papers and looking in envelopes.

"Gad! I—I don't know where it is. I'm sure I had it with me," he ejaculated excitedly.

The men went quickly toward him as if they hoped to help him find it, while the women sat and shivered, turned suddenly cold at the terrible possibility of his having lost it.

"That damn Japanese!" Mr. Walker exploded between tense lips. "Look again Victor — look carefully."

Mr. Lachman sliped down limply in a chair and ransacked every pocket.

"Don't do anything foolish, Leon," he warned. "There is just a chance I left it home. I took it out of the case I keep it in thinking it would be safer and carry more easily. Maybe I didn't put it in my pocket after all. It was a crazy thing to do. I shouldn't carry it around anyway, but I wanted Flossie to see it——."

I could see that Mr. Walker was terribly agitated. Mr. Lachman tried to be game about it, and not upset the evening, but his efforts were half-hearted and we were all too exercised and sympathetic to enjoy ourselves after that. So the party broke up early.

"Telephone me if you find it, Victor," Mr. Walker admonished. "I'll be tempted to do a little searching if you don't discover it at home. We've a new Jap. came Monday, and I don't just like him."

Kent and I went home in the same taxi with the Grays, and we talked excitedly about the lost diamond. We were all wrought up and agitated. I could feel Kent's knee tremble and twitch against my leg every once in a while when the lurch of the car would send me pressing against him.

CANADA TO PAY OFF '17 NEW YORK LOAN

GOVERNMENT IN POSSESSION OF UNEXPECTED FUNDS, IT IS SAID.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

OTTAWA, July 8.—It is the present intention of the government, according to reliable information to pay off the 15 million dollar loan negotiated in New York in 1917, and which matures on August next. Part of the original loan which was for a much larger amount, came due in 1919 and was refunded with several optional dates of maturity. In connection with the 15 millions falling due next month, payment thereof, instead of refunding has, it is said, been decided on by the government.

By the new method of self-assessment an immediate payment of part or all of the amount due, the income tax this year has netted the government at the very beginning of the year a much larger amount than anticipated.

The Government is thus in possession of unexpected funds. There is no confirmation here of the rumor that the $157,000 maturity will be met from part of the recent 25 million dollar flotation in New York for railway purposes.

MADAME ARTHUR BEAUCHER

805 Cartier St., Montreal.

"I suffered terribly from Constipation and Dyspepsia for many years. I felt pains after eating and had gas, constant headache, and was unable to sleep at night. I was getting so thin that I was frightened and saw several physicians who, however, did not seem able to help me.

At last a friend advised me to take 'Fruit-a-tives'. I did so and soon I felt some relief. I continued with 'Fruit-a-tives' and in a short time, the Constipation was banished, I felt no more pains or headache or the disagreeable sensations that follow dyspepsia. Now I am well, strong and vigorous."

CRITICISM AND REMINISCENCE

(By PATERFAMILIAS)

CANADA'S CLIMATE.

My word! it's hot; most decidedly so—or, at least, it was when I started to write this article. A hundred extreme in the shade on Thursday is about equal to the temperature of India, where the mean or medium efforts of the mercury registers in Bombay at 80 degrees F.; but then we in Canada are not quite accustomed to such a uniformity of extreme, especially of recent years. Take, for instance, last July, when so many nights around Peterborough promised the frost, which fortunately did not come, while a real Canadian summer has been an experience of the past for some time now, 'tis said by many old-timers. But has it? What is a real Canadian summer, or winter for that matter? Chambers tells us that no uniformity of temperature can be looked for in either season, and that a popular misapprehension seems to prevail as to the steadiness of Canada's climate. A natural Canadian summer is supposed to be an unbroken period of tropical heat, and a real Canadian winter an unbroken period of hypeborean cold. Now this is a great mistake, for the summer of British America is often tropical and its winter often hypeborean, the extreme ranges of the thermometer sometimes being in one and the same year 104 above zero and 52 below it. But this difference of 156 degrees, measured probably by an interval of six months, is far less remarkable than the difference which a few days may bring forth. For instance, the highest range here recorded occured within four days after the parlor fires had been let out, and the lowest range fell on a day which a year or so before had been marked by a powerful thaw. And so the Canadian climate may be characterized as one of extreme ranges of temperature, prevailing respectively in summer and winter, being naturally attended by more or less considerable vicissitudes in each individual season. But the long drawn-out hot spell of this summer is phenomenal in its duration.

Cause of Heat.

Now as to the cause for this extreme heat of late; it must be attributed, so far as I can learn by dipping into meteoroiogical authority, to the paucity of moisture in our atmosphere, which consists of a gaseous envelope surrounding Mother Earth. The vapor from these gases dissolved in the air acts the part of a covering or protection to the earth. This vapor is to some extent impervious to solar and terrestial radiation, consequently it follow that if the air were quite drained of its moisture the extreme of heat and cold would be so intense that all life would instantly perish, there being no screen shielding the earth from the scorching glare of the sun by day, and from the equally scorching and blighting effects of its own radiation by night. This theory seemed to be borne out on Thursday, I noticed, for in the afternoon when rain hovered all around the city, although not actually visiting it, the mercury began to steadily climb downward from its dizzy height of 100 to 93 at 4.30.

Tendency to Droughts.

Before leaving this somewhat dry, but perhaps timely subject, let me give a warning that while the clearing, drainage and cultivation of land have generally favorable effects on climate, plantations are benefited by wooded shelter, and a too complete removal of forests may prevent the deposition of moisture from the atmosphere to such an extent as to cause droughts, a tendency to which is said to be manifested in the eastern portion of North America.

Room for Thanksgiving.

And this leads us to the thought that the present drought here in Central and Eastern Canada and most of the Northwest is serious enough in that crops up to recently so promising are suffering from extreme heat and too-long continued a dry spell. We have had droughts before when crops and fruits have failed us, proportionately, but there is room for thanksgiving that, owing to natural conditions in a huge and resourceful country, with a minimum population for its immense acreage, producing foodstuff for export away in excess of its own needs, droughts have not yet resulted in that terrible spectre famine stalking the land and claiming its victims by the thousands.

Worst Famine in History.

In East India, for instance, a long-continued drought in 1900 was followed by one of the worst famines in history. The breadless area covered 350,000 square miles, or one-third of all India. Since the opening of the year up to June the deatus from famine aggregated 700,000 persons, and ninety-five per cent. of all cattle and draft animals died for want of fodder. The number of starving persons dependent for their rations on the sympathetic although inadequate measures of the British Government in India reached the appalling figure of 10,000,000—more than the total population of Canada. Kind Provdince forbid that even a proportionate or comparable measure of such a terrible convulsion may ever fall to the lot of this Canada of ours for want of a Joseph or Josephs to put into practice a "Corn in Egypt" policy—not necessarily in the abstract meaning of the phrase, but a national policy, for application on broadened lines to trade, agriculture and commerce generally, whereby conservation and futurity interests may find their place.

AN OLD-TIME BANQUET.

And now for a subject less morbid, and in which a certain amount of liveliness and happy retrospection of somewhat jolly days may find place and thought.

The subject is "Stratton," and the occasion a banquet tendered the late Hon. J. R. Stratton in honor of his appointment to the post of Provincial Secretary for this Province under the G. W. Ross Liberal administration.

When hunting for data on heat I came across this subject—or rather programme on eats (pardon the pun), together with a little moisture, to say nothing of congenial atmosphere.

Quite Non-Partizan.

Now this was a public affair—non-partizan, in fact—and as the programme before me reads, "A complimentary banquet tendered by the citizens of Peterborough to the Hon. James Robert Stratton on the occasion of his elevation to the Cabinet of Ontario, October, 1899." The hon. gentleman was, as most of you know, an ardent Liberal, so in keeping with the non-political character of the function, the programme was printed at the Conservative Review office from the design of its Tory manager, Mr. Frank H. Dobbin.

Tendered in Bradburn's Opera House on George street, now known as Victoria Hall, on November 16th, 1899, this shone resplendent among all previous and past functions of that nature as a banquet excelling any that it has been my privilege to attend. The Oriental Hotel, Hunter street—Geo. Graham & Son, proprietors, as they are now of the Empress—were the skilful caterers, as they are today of all similar events entrusted to their care.

Officials in Charge.

This citizens' function tendered to the first and only politician who had and has yet represented Peterborough in the Provincial Cabinet, was under the fatherly eyes of one chairman and five vice-chairmen as follows:

Albert L. Davis, Esq., Mayor, Chairman; Peter Hamilton, Esq., Vice-Chairman; R. Max. Dennistoun, Esq., 2nd Vice-Chairman; Robert R. Hall, Esq., 3rd Vice-Chairman; Daniel O'Connell, Esq., 4th Vice-Chairman; Robert Fair, Esq., 5th Vice-Chairman.

The Menu.

And here I'll ask you to note the length of it, the quality of it, the variety of delectable courses and altogether irresistible tid-bits offered, in which event I'm sure you'll agree with Rabelais that "appetite comes with eating."

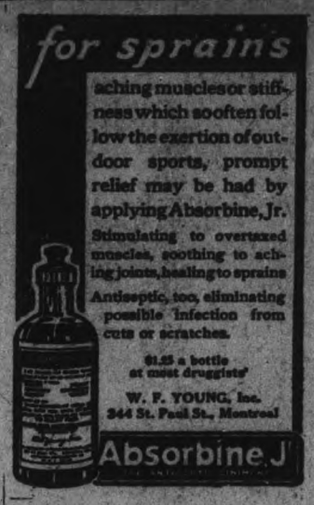
Off to the War.

At this time Britain was engaged in war with the Boers and Canadians were volunteering for service in South Africa. Major H. C. Greenwood, present at the banquet in uniform, left next day on his way to service overseas. Major Greenwood, afterwards Lieut.-Col., was connected with the Trent Valley Canal, hence his presence in Peterborough, and at the Stratton banquet, October 11, 1899, saw the beginning of the war in South Africa; on October 14 Canada's Federal Government decided to send troops to South Africa; and on October 29 the first Canadian contingent left Quebec for active service against the Boers.

The Gentle Sex.

Ladies graced this memorable banquet to Peterborough's Cabinet Minister, although not themselves actually participating in the tempting menu under discussion. They simply sat in the gallery and watched their lords and masters eat. Of course, they thoroughly enjoyed the after-dinner flow of wit, humor and oratory, as much so perhaps as the masculine guests enjoyed the service of tempting viands and flow of "other things." Altogether it was the merriest of happy "nights," when political differences were forgotten in a mutual exchange of verbal bouquets, and when the good old Opera House reverberated with song, jest, speech and merry laughter.



STOMACH TROUBLE DUE TO THIN BLOOD

IT USUALLY DISAPPEARS WHEN THE BLOOD IS MADE RICH AND RED.

Thin blood is one of the most common causes of stomach trouble. It affects the digestion very quickly. The glands that furnish the digestive fluids are diminished in their activity, the stomach muscles are weakened and there is a loss of nerve force. In this state of health nothing will more quickly restore the appetite, digestion and normal nutrition than good, rich, red blood.

Dr. William' Pink Pills act directly on the blood, making it rich and red, and this enriched blood strengthens weak nerves, stimulates tired muscles, and awakens to normal activity the glands that supply the digestive fluids. This is shown by an improved appetite, and soon the effect of these blood enriching pills is evident throughout the whole system. You find that what you eat does not distress you, and that you are vigorous instead of irritable and listless. If your appetite is fickle, if you have any of the distressing pains and symptoms of indigestion, you should at once take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and profit by the better condition in which they will put your blood.

These pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TEACHER FOUGHT MANIAC TWO HOURS

BATTLED AGAINST ARMED MAN TO SAVE SELF AND SISTER.

ST. PHILIPPE, Que., July 8. — (Canadian Press).—Struggling for two hours on Tuesday with a half-crazed human beast, her clothes torn to shreds and her sister in a deep faint a few feet away and with no help in sight, Florida Savage, 25, a school teacher at St. Cloud, is suffering from severe shock at the home of her father, the Grand Trunk station agent at St. Philippe.

Adelard Poelander, 19, is at present in jail at St. Johns, awaiting enquete next Monday on a charge of assault against the two girls.

Flourishes Knife.

Miss Savage and her sister, Isolde, were walking the tracks toward St. Cloud to fetch some clothes from the school where the former is a teacher, when a man suddenly appeared, flourishing a knife. The younger sister, Isolde, screamed and ran away, but had not gone far ere she fell unconscious. The man then grasped Miss Savage, and she fought him off for two hours under the blazing sun until at last he gave up and made his escape.

She then went to the assistance of her sister, revived her, and the two made their way to the nearest house, where their father was notified of the outrage.

Man Identified.

Mr. Savage got into communication with Chief of Provincial Police Lorrain, who told him to organize a search party and arrest the man. After a long search, Poelander was located in a field and could not give a satisfactory account of himself. He was brought to St. Johns, where Miss [illegible] identified him as her assailant.

Feeling is running high in this district in connection with the affair.

CHICAGO FOOD COST EXPERTS FIGHTING ICE CREAM PROFITEERS

CHICAGO, Ill., July 9.—War has been declared by the city's high cost of food experts upon the dealers in ice cream, who are charged with gouging the public unmercifully, and taking advantage of the long siege of hot weather to pile up their profits.

Russell J. Poole says present prices of ice cream in all its forms are far out of line with the cost of production. Proof will be forthcoming of a conspiracy between manufacturers and retailers to swindle the public. The suggestion has been made that the children be allowed to fix the penalty for those found guilty of boosting the price on the chief necessity of life in kidland during the summer vacation. It is expected, however, that this proposal will be rejected for humanitarian reasons and because torture is not included in the modern prison repertoire.

SPENDING HIS INDEMNITY.

Col. H. J. Mackie M.P., Pembroke has disposed of his $1,500 extra sessional indemnity, making a second donation of $500 to the Pembroke General Hospital building fund and including the other $1,000 in a $2000 contribution to the Cottage Hospital extension fund.

Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals One of This City's Needs

The Local Council of Women, at their last meeting, spoke of the advisability of starting a branch of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty of Animals in Peterboro. There may not be so much evidence of this sort of thing in a small city, nothing in comparison to the large centres, but there are always humans who forget the feelings of the dumb brute. On Saturdays especially, one sees a great deal of this sort of thing; little boys often two or three of them, cracking their whips, and urging to greater speed, horses who have been on their tired feet since early morning. On Sundays and holidays there are the livery beasts who are hired by the hour to go as fast and as far as their temporary owners wish to drive them, with no regulations regarding whips or bits. And every day in the week, on the streets, the dumb beasts pass up and down, some with considerate drivers and some with distinctly cruel ones. A horse and buggy stood on Charlotte street the other morning for a long time, the horse hitched in the blazing hot sun to a post; and his head reined up so high that he couldn't turn his head. He simply had to stand there and endure the heat, without being able to make any movement, until his owner chose to come and drive him probably long miles. Another horse proceeded up Water street, its sides heaving up and down with the strain on a back breaking load of old iron, while its driver urged it on in the heat. A bony old nag rattled up Hunter street on a sultry morning recently, helter-skelter up that long hill, driven by a hard faced man, and who was there to stop him? And a member of the "rags, bones and bottles" clan holds the whip constantly over his rib-showing animal, never descending to the indignity of a walk. Some summers ago, in the dog days a couple of horses proceeded up the stiff incline of Park street, between Hunter and Simcoe, with a very heavy load of bales. Two men sat on top of the high load, and cracked a whip to make the jaded animals go faster. The off horse was nearly done for. His head hung low, and his breath came in labored gasps, but the men on top still cracked the whip regardless. Just a block farther on, the beast fell heavily in the soundless way of the dumb brute that never complains audibly, and for an hour thereafter a veterinary worked with it, rolling it back and forth in agonizing efforts to save its life. The horse died and the owner sat in the shade and cursed the dumb brute which had failed him.

And why, in these days of plentiful water and some troughs (if one knows where they are situated,) do horses go along the streets with foam-flecked mouths and dry tongues?

BABY BEGLEY.

"It was the Virol saved her Life."

40, Java Street, Ottawa, 21/9/20.
Dear Sirs,

I want to tell about my baby Doris Mabel. She weighed 5½ lbs. when born and appeared healthy then, but began to waste away, and was so poorly that she had to be carried about on a pillow and no food would agree with her.

At the age of two months the nurse advised VIROL added to the feeding; she then weighed 5 lbs. and after a few days she began to improve. The VIROL was continued and she steadily gained until at nine months she weighed 17 lbs. The nurse at the Health Station said she had very little hope of the baby living, and we are sure it was the VIROL saved her life. I am enclosing her photo taken at the age of one year and eight months, weighing 22 lbs., and you can use it if you wish as I am so grateful to your VIROL.

Yours truly,
(Sgd.) (Mrs.) W. J. BEGLEY.

Virol is used in large quantities in more than 400 hospitals and infant clinics. It is invaluable for the expectant and nursing mother herself, whilst for children it supplies those vital principles that are destroyed in the sterilized milk; it is also a bone and tissue building food of immense value. Virol babies have firm flesh, strong bones and good colour.

Well Babies' Clinic Continues To Thrive And To Work Quietly

The Well Babies' Clinic continues to thrive and flourish and do a great deal of good work in a quiet, unobtrusive fashion. The weekly meetings are patronized by ever-increasing numbers of women who realize the benefits to be derived from examination and advice regarding their infants, at absolutely no expense.

The Clinic nurse, who does a great deal of house visiting, discovers some conditions that are not conducive to good health or well-being, either in mothers or children. She is instrumental in doing a great deal of good in the way of following up the cases brought to the Clinic, in helping mothers to follow out the instructions of physicians, and in advising with regard to food and some helps to health.

A few of the cases which come under the observation of the Well Babies' Clinic are given:

Baby S—Had an ear which was giving a great deal of trouble to itself and its family. The Clinic physician advised taking this baby to a specialist, which was done. The ear was treated at once, and the Clinic nurse made two visit to syringe it out. Had no trouble since.

Baby M—An anaemic baby. Brought to Clinic. Advice to feed it modified cow's milk and water. Gaining in weight rapidly.

Baby C—Some trouble in throat. Brought to Clinic. Examined by physician who discovered abscess. Operation and cure.

Baby B—Under weight and cross. Not receiving enough nourishment. Advised to supplement with cow's milk, just one feeding in 24 hours. Gaining rapidly.

Baby B—The youngest of a large family. Mother might be described as a "perambulating" lady, because she has tried every doctor in the city, giving none of them a chance through failure to follow out their instructions. Had also tried on the poor child every baby food on the market. The infant couldn't retain its food. Finally came to the Clinic, and, which was the most important item in this case, was persuaded by a doctor to follow out his instructions. A modified milk diet, suitable to its age and weight, suggested and adhered to. Inside of five days, the child showed signs of improvement, and within ten days all bad symptoms had disappeared. The baby, brought to the Clinic last week, was rapidly gaining in weight.

A number of mothers come weekly to have their babies weighed, and many are the expressions of thanks and gratitude which come back to the Clinic for help and advice received from it.

Woman's Invasion of Field of Busines Does Not Forfeit Her Right to the Respect of Men

Still another answer has been received to the communication from "Inquirer", as to the justice of the modern woman's demand that she be treated in exactly the same manner as before she received the vote, and announced that she was able to look after herself.

Jul 7, 1921.

"Dear Madam: I don't think 'Inquirer" understands the situation well when he says that women claim to do all that men can do, and then says she should not claim the same treatment as was accorded them before they could look after themselves. Women don't consider that they can do all that men can do—far from it. Their physical strength will not permit of competition with men in some fields of labor. And as for the treatment accorded them before they started in to work with men in certain lines, was it so much better than they get now? Why should a sensible thinking man decline to be polite to a woman just because she fills a prescription in a drugstore, in the same way that he would treat her if she sat in a rocker at home and ornamented a sofa-cushion with red silk roses? The man who is fundamentally a respecter of womanhood will doff his cap to a woman he knows, if he happens to see her in a suit of masculine attire, such as the feminine attendants at Toronto garages appear in when they fill your car up with "gas." Sincerely,

"Mary Jane."

RED HOT JULY DAYS HARD ON THE BABY

July — the month of oppressive heat; red hot days and sweltering nights; is extremely hard on little ones. Diarrhoea, dysentry, colic and cholrea infantum carry off thousands of precious little lives every summer. The mother must be constantly on her guard to prevent these troubles or if they come on suddenly to fight them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during the hot summer as is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the bowels and stomach, and an occasional dose given to the well child will prevent summer complaint, or if the trouble does come on suddenly will banish it. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

One virtuous in heart did pray,
"Since none I harmed in word or deed to-day
From whom should I crave pardon, Master, say!"
A voice replied, "From the sad child
Whose joy thou has not planned
The goaded beast whose friend thou didst not stand
The rose that died for water from thy hand."

Lawn Social At Orphanage

Next Wednesday, 13th July, is the date for the lawn social at St. Vincent's Orphanage. On this day the whole thirty-odd children who live at the Orphanage are "At Home" to all who care to come and patronise their social, or, at least, they seem to consider the matter in that light, for they enter into the spirit of the thing with as much enjoyment as any pleasure-seeker there. They are hospitable little souls at the Orphanage. If you pay a visit to their home, they will entertain you in many ways. They will sing and dance and say little "pieces" for you, and perhaps Frank and Michael and Louis will do their famous musical stunt, which consists of a clog done with clasped hands to the reiterated hit of "John Brown, Two Little Indians," from the third member of the black-eyed, serious little trio. And the ones who are too small to perform in any way give you a big, broad smile. Last year, they had lots of fun with the swings, the candy, and the ice-cream cones. The grounds are beautiful for an affair of this sort, and there will be service of tea and coffee with cake, booths for the sale of ice-cream, soft drinks and candy, and a band in atendance, with possibly a programme of vocal and instrumental music. The ladies who work all the year quietly and steadily for the orphans, in making clothing and underwear, covering quilts, and looking after bedding, knitting mittens and stockings for little hands and feet in the colder months, are working hard to make the forthcoming social a success.

Dinner Served On Army Scale

At the 17th annual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, held recently at Atlanta, Ga., a chicken dinner served, not on the buffet plan, but to people seated at tables, was a task of a magnitude probably never attempted before, which required the painstaking artistry of a housewife operating on the wholesale plan of an army quartermaster." More than 1,600 spring chickens were served to the crowd. To obtain that number of chickens of uniform size and quality contracts were made weeks ahead. To be certain they would be delivered fresh and on time, they were collected under the direction of the committee by a fleet of motor trucks, some of which went as far as Tennessee, and placed in the refrigerators at East Lake the day before the outing.

The servant problem in the South is not so serious as elsewhere, but a force of 200 trained negro waiters and 50 negro cooks was needed for this event, and an order for them was placed with every employment agency in the city six weeks before the convention.

Most of these negroes worked all Sunday night dressing and cutting up the chickens to frying size. The rest of the dinner was prepared, but nothing was cooked until the guests began to arrive.

The guests were seated at a row of long tables on the grass by the side of the lake in front of the club house. Down one side marched a line of negroes in white suits carrying platters of uncooked food from the refrigerators to the specially constructed outdoor kitchen. Up the other side the line of smiling negroes paraded carrying platters stacked high with fried chicken, hot from the skillet, candied yams, and other Southern delicacies. Ice-cream and coffee followed.

Exactly 1,000 Georgia watermelons, each weighing 30 pounds or more, were provided, and nearly all of them eaten. There was no formality here. Forks for the fastidious were prepared, but nearly every one did it in nigger style: Grasp a slice firmly in both hands and do a nose dive, burying the face up to the ears. Come up for air at regular intervals, and shout for a life preserver if submerged.

When compared with patience of a mother all other brands of patience are counterfeit.

Rinso

Just Soak the Clothes in Rinso Suds—then Rinse

It's not a cake soap—not a chip soap—not a washing powder, but a wonderful new form of soap—in granules—which washes clothes immaculately clean—gleaming white—without either rubbing or boiling.

These pure granules are so rich in cleansing value that they loosen the hardest dirt while the clothes soak for a few hours. Yet Rinso is so harmless that it doesn't even redden your hands.

It seems almost unbelievable that RINSO cleans so easily. Just soak the clothes for a few hours in the pure, rich, cleansing Rinso suds—then rinse a few times in either warm or cold water and they are as clean and white as though you had boiled and rubbed them for hours. One trial will convince you.

Try RINSO Next Monday

Follow the easy directions on the Rinso package and see how it soaks out the dirt that you used to get out by main force.

If you have a washing machine—

Soak the clothes overnight in the usual Rinso way. The cleansing suds loosen every bit of dirt. In the morning operate the machine for a few minutes and the clothes are perfectly clean—even the most soiled spots.

"G.O." GOES UP

AN APPRECIATION OF THE KINDLY YOUNG GENTLEMAN WHO HAS BEEN MANAGER OF THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY'S EXCHANGE IN PETERBORO FOR THE LAST TEN YEARS.

The announcement of the highly merited promotion that has rewarded the work of Mr. G. O. Cameron, ocal manager of the Bell Telephone Company, will be received with mingled feelings by his numerous friends in Peterboro. He has been appointed editor-in-chief of the Bell Telephone Company's Magazine, and will leave about the middle of July to take up his new work.

Coming to Peterboro ten years ago from Port Hope, where he had successfully managed the Bell Telephone Company's branch affairs, Mr Cameron has made Peterboro another and stronger rung in the ladder of progress which he is swiftly climbing. Under his direction the Bell Telephone Exchange in Peterboro has trebled, and the surrounding district has been developed in proportion. And it might as well be added that the Bell Telephone as a public utility in Peterboro, bears unmistakably the stamp of Mr. Cameron's personality, and will continue to reflect it even after he is gone. This influence is mentioned apart from his business accomplishments, which are doubtless better known among his superiors in the company than among his friends. His friends are well aware that there has been a substantial advancement of the company's interests in this city, but they have gleaned that fact from observation rather than from any managerial preening during the last ten years.

Mr. Cameron has apparently discovered long since that the instincts of a gentleman are not incompatable with the successful conduct of business. And this was no mere discovery to be turned to practical ends behind a broad smile; it was with him a natural expression. It may be, too, a general conception, but unfortunately it is not yet a general revelation. Mr. Cameron is endowed with attributes of the heart as well as those of the mind, and when partings sever friendships it is affection and not simply admiration, however warm, that is touched. Understanding or intelligence, the broader idea, sympathy and tact, consideration for others, these are bright facets of G. O. Cameron's character; a quick, kindly humour, the gift of entertaining speech and sound common sense, have combined to win for him a considerable and an increasing reputation as a public speaker; and a wise appreciation of the real values of life guards him against anything approaching envy, should that temptation ever assail him. His open smile, his sincerity, and his interest in others, in short the very stuff of friendship, these will be qualities missed by his legion of friends, when G. O. Cameron quits his position in Peterboro. He is accepted as one of our very own, and it is high compliment to him to add that few of the men who have come to Peterboro in the course of business have made an impression as deep and durable as G. O. Cameron. And all in only ten years.

As one of the younger business men of the city Mr. Cameron has shown a commendable activity in public affairs. He has taken a lively interest in the Board of Trade, and at present is a member of the Executive Council of that organization under its new name of the Chamber of Commerce. As member of the Advisory Board of the Red Cross Society, he has borne his share of its later work, especially in the successful annual motor show. For the last four years he has been a member of the Board of Education, during three of which he has held the chairmanship of the Committee on Appointments. His election at the polls was proof of the public's confidence in his good judgment, and their opinion has been amply justified by the fidelity with which Mr. Cameron has fulfilled his obligation as a trustee of the public schools and Collegiate Institute. He has also been a director of the Peterboro ndustrial Exhibition and chairman of reception committee. He is a member of St. John's church and an officer of Royal Arthur Lodge A.F. and A.M.

While congratulating Mr. Cameron on his promotion his friends cannot but deeply regret that his new position takes him from Peterboro. He will carry with him the very best wishes for himself and for Mrs. Cameron and their family, a sentiment the Examiner gladly, also sadly, endorses.

His Successor.

Mr. J. H. McMardy, manager of the Oshawa branch of the Bell Telephone Company, will succeed Mr. Cameron. He has had an extensive experience as manager of the Orangeville, Sault Ste. Marie, and Kitchener exchanges. He is a Rotarian and is reported to have identified himself with community enterprises in the towns in which he has worked.

Promotion for Mr. Stewart.

Mr. Hugh T. Stewart, present Chief Clerk of the local commercial office of the Bell Telephone Company, has been appointed manager of the Collingwood exchange, to take effect August 1st. Mr. Stewart's business experience has been practically all in the service of the Peterboro office, and has steadily advanced throuhg positions of increasing responsibility with the present launching into a wider field. His friends will be pleased to learn of his promotion and to wish him every success in charge of the Collingwood branch.

AGRICULTURAL OUTLOOK MOST FAVORABLE FACTOR IN ECONOMIC SITUATION TO-DAY

(Canadian Bank of Commerce Trade Review.)

In previous letters it has been pointed out that commercial conditions in Canada cannot become settled until more definite progress has been made towards economic stability in Europe and elsewhere; and conditions in the United Kingdom, on the European Continent, in the United States and in South America are still unsatisfactory. In Russia, communism appears to have brought about the industrial chaos which was from the first inevitable. In the United Kingdom, where considerations of ecenomy have caused the Government to announce its intention of decontrolling agriculture after the coming harvest, trade disputes have halted the progress of readjustment in the chief industries. One factor justifying hopefulness as to the future of Europe is the decision of the German people to carry out the terms of the reparation agreement, as this involves more work per day on their part for many years to come. This stands out in sharp contrast to the apparent determination of the English-speaking countries to enforce not only a shorter working day, but remuneration on the high scale reached during the war.

By comparison with other countries, Canada is in a relatively satisfactory position. For the time being the most hopeful factor in her economic situation is the agricultural outlook. Lack of rain in certain sections of Eastern Canada during the latter part of May caused anxiety, but in June the usual rains revived the pastures and gave promise of a normal hay crop. In the West the pastures are excellent, and cereal and fodder crops are making good progress under favourable weather conditions. A break has occurred in the stagnation of the lumber export business in the Maritime Provinces. As yet, however, the prices offered abroad are being accepted only by those who are desirous of liquidating their stocks. The amount of residential building going on in the Eastern States is creating a certain demand for the lumber products of the Martime Provinces. The fishing industry on the Atlantic Coast is adversely affected by unsatisfactory financial conditions in the usual markets abroad. In Cuba, South America, and the Mediterranean countries there appears to be no immediate prospect of improvement. The salmon packers of British Columbia are facing similar conditions. Up till the middle of May, out of a total of one hundred canneries in that Province, not more than fifty had intimated that operations would be carried on as usual this summer. In the present condition of the market the operators preferred to shut down altogether rather than to operate at a loss. In almost all cases the canning will be restricted to the best class of fish, with the result that the output for the season will be below normal. Export shipments from the mines of Nova Scotia have increased as a result of the dispute in the British coal trade.

It is evident that factories in general are finding the public in an abstemious mood at present. The demand for goods, at the prices at which they are available to the consumer, has fallen off. The orders received are meagre in quantity and of a hand-to-mouth character. Only in occasional cases are factories working full time, and many purpose closing down indefinitely for repairs and adjustments. Accompanying these conditions is the inevitable corollary to them, the unemployment problem, which is engaging unusual attention in this country as elsewhere. Wage reductions are being generally accepted without protest, but there are important exceptions to this rule, notably in the building construction group, where the reductions so far are not sufficient to affect the future of the industry either one way or the other. In some other groups, notably railway employees, definite steps have been taken by both management and men to bring about an adjustment of wages, a movement that it is hoped will reduce the cost of transportation, which is causing much concern in productive industries. Reports from manufacturing centres indicate that the number of unemployed during May and June was considerably greater than is usual at this period of the year. Unless conditions improve very soon, it is probable that during the winter months there will have to be a repetition, on a larger scale, of the relief measures adopted during the winter of 1920-21, when nearly every city in the Dominion voted considerable sums for this purpose, which were supplemented by equal grants from the Provincial and Dominion Governments. The cost of this will add materially to the already excessive burden of taxation.

Unemployment is only to be found in the urban districts. Elsewhere the work of agricultural production is going on with unfaltering vigour, despite the decline between April, 1920, and April, 1921, of fifty per cent. in the prices of cereals, of twenty-five per cent. in those of cattle and hogs, and of eighteen per cent. in those of dairy products. Wheat prices have risen slightly during the past few weeks as a result of a lower estimated production in other countries, and it now seems certain that for the remainder of the year prices will be such as to yield remunerative returns. The further development of the cattle export business with the United Kingdom, and of export trade in the precious metals, other minerals and forest resources, is well under way, but these enterprises are still handicapped by high costs of operation.

The United States Emergency Tariff, which became effective on 28th May, 1921, is described in the preamble as an Act imposing temporary duties upon certain agricultural products to meet a present emergency, and is doubtless designed to relieve the depressed condition of agriculture, especially in the Western and Southern States. So far the effects upon exports from Canada have not been very marked. During the first week in June, the Canadian cattle markets were somewhat depressed, but they are again becoming normal. Cereal prices have steadily advanced, and there is no perceptible fall in the market price for wool, although hardly any shipments are now being made to the United States. More attention is being paid to adapting Canadian wool to meet as to markets in the United Kingdom, to study which the organisations of wool growers have recently appointed a resident agent.

PRESS AGENTS FIGHT DIVORCE.

Both Sides in Stillman Case Have Publicity Men To Carry on War.

NEW YORK, July 8.—The most important event in the Stillman divorce proceedings occurred several weeks ago, unchronicled by any newspaper. It was the retirement of Robert Livingston as press agent for Mr. Stillman's side of the controversy.

The public has followed the varying fortunes of Mr. Stillman and his wife with the innocent belief that the disclosures were simply products of natural laws. Persons interested in the case must have absorbed more or less unconsciously the knowledge that there has been a gradual swing in evidence in favor of Mrs. Stillman. This swing, too, must have left an uncrystalized impression that it was due to nature's sympathy for a mother, who, in this case, has four children, while Mr. Stillman's parental claims are not so great.

Even Fight at Start.

But don't let any romantic impressions bother you in this year of 1921. For the benefit of persons who contemplate some scandal, it had better be explained now, a la Stillman, how imperative is the need of a good snappy press agent to carry on any big enterprise.

When the Stillman case first came to public attention several months ago, it was a good even fight. In the morning it was the wife who furnished the target for the Big Berthas of journalistic phrase. Powerful nouns, flanked by sizzling adjectives, propelled by mobile verbs and rendered deadlier still by poisonous adverbs and fear-inspiring interjections, seemed to sink Mrs. Stillman's cause in the depths.

But each afternoon the world's superlatives were crammed into the torpedo tubes of the other side, and it was the husband's case which seemed doomed by the "most amazing, most vivid, most dramatic and most horrifying revelations."

And the next day the performance was repeated.

Editor vs. Lawyer.

It may be stated now that the first weeks of the contest were dead heats in the publicity race. And this fact is by common consent ascribed to the equal merit displayed by "Bob" Livingston and "Bob" Peyton, press agents for the two sides. Mr. Livingston, who is editor of a gas trade magazine owned by Consolidated Gas, was called into conference the moment it became apparent that the Stillman case must reach the press. Mr. Peyton, who had considerable newspaper experience, is now a lawyer in the firm of Stanchfield & Levy.

In a matter of this kind it can be seen that newspaper information must have its source in the offices of the contending lawyers. Reputable lawyers, however, avoid publicity assiduously. Any lawyer will tell you that.

"You know our firm is an old, conservative one; we shun publicity," is a phrase which has often halted a reporter at the threshold of information.

"However," the attorney never fails to add politely, "you had better come in so we can give you the correct spelling of the firm name."

Concentrated Publicity.

Attorneys' names which have been connected with the Stillman suit include Wickersham, Cadwallader, Taft, Mack, Brennan, Stanchfield, Levy, O'Sullivan and divers others. The number of names necessary to each article made it seem wise to press agent for Mrs. Stillman. Mack is in charge of the interests of the infant Guy. It is through Mr. Mack that the newspapermen now at Poughkeepsie obtain their information of the progress of the trial.

It should be known that the tender heart of the state of New York can not bear that the tragedies of domesic life and the sordid tales of infelicities and infidelities be spread before the prurient gaze of the public. Alike to protect the privacy of family life and to shield the public from knowledge of too many naughty things, it is the stern law of this state that all divorce proceedings be conducted behind closed doors. Testimony is taken before a referee and it is the splendid theory of the New York chancery courts that not until long after the signing of the final decree will even the most innocuous of the evidence reach the general public. concentrate the publicity of each side. Each side's information was handed out by the authorized press agent. Livingston and Peyton, each with entree to the firm files, fought a great battle for weeks. Newspaper reporters, breathing strongly with alternate inspirations from complainant's and defendant's headquarters, were able daily to divulge in each successive edition a new and sensational development.

Four weeks of incessant warfare culminated in Livingston quitting as Stillman's publicity man. The understanding was that he receive $2,500 for his month's efforts, but did not like the job. The insinuation that any newspaper man would quit any job paying $2,500 a month is a grave one and must be answered. Up to the present time the matter remains unexplained.

Shortly afterward, Peyton passed out of the picture as Mrs. Stillman's press agent. This fact was due to an attorneys' shakeup which is not explained adequately and is unimportant for the purposes of this article.

Guy's Guardian Steps In.

The point of interest is that Peyton's place was filled. Livingston's was not. John E. Mack, Poughkeepsie attorney, became voluntary

BUSINESS IS SLACK IN CONSTANTINOPLE

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 9. — Business is at a standstill here owing to the uncertainties of the Russian and Turkish political situations. Normally the importing and exporting centre for the Near and Middle East, and partially for the Balkans, this city is now a commercial islet, its warehouses filled with merchandise of every description, for which there is no market.

Everybody owes everybody else, with nobody paying bills. A financial crash would have come months ago but for the fact that no firm can afford to demand payments of its bills. To do so would throw the debtor into bankruptcy, force more unsaleable goods on the market at sacrifice prices, and the firm forcing payment would in its turn be called on to pay bills which, under present conditions, it cannot meet.

There is an increasing number of trading ships going to South Russian ports, mostly British, Greek and Italian. To date, no American ship has gone, partly because of the lack of trade and, in the case of Shipping Board vessels, the decision of the management not to permit any of its ships to touch Bolshevik ports.

These vessels that do go to Black Sea ports of Russia claim the ventures are failures, yet keep on going, apparently finding enough business to pay ship expenses.

Other than American tobacco buyers, many merchants find the risks of trading so great, partly because of fluctuating exchanges, that they prefer to speculate in exchange. They claim the risks are smaller. Banking business for the present consists in good part of such speculations on the part of customers.

In the face of such a situation, Constantinople remains the dearest of world capitals, from the point of view of living. Retailers of foods and clothing have formed practically a trust to keep up prices. They claim they bought their goods at high prices and must sell them so. As there is no such thing as price controls or public opinion here, retailers are permitted to gouge the refugee population at will.

American wholesalers in many cases have preferred to take their losses on merchandise sent here on consignment and re-ship, to the United States. Other wholesalers attempted to get rid of stocks locally by organizing refugee Russians into street vendors of articles like tea and chocolate and small drygoods, but the plan hasn't worked well because the vendors, in many instances, failed to make returns.

Business is expected to improve when such a government is established in Russia that it can obtain longtime credits.

"Y" BANS DANCING.

Few Exceptions Among Y.M.C.A. Branches to General Attitude.

HAMILTON, July 8, — With a few exceptions none of the branches of the Y.M.C.A. in North America permit or even countenance dancing. This was one of the interesting features brought out at the triennial conference of the employed officers of the association, which was held at Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, recently, and at which the local branches of the Y.M.C.A. were represented by George Carson, H. L. Brace and A. P. James. Over 1,000 delegates were in attendance stated Mr. Carson this morning and all phases of Red Triangle activities were dealt with and special attention was given to the industrial programme and the recreation features of the association. Some of the replies to a questionnaire distributed amongst the delegates regarding the permitting or countenancing of dancing in the association buildings brought forth replies, both for and against. "Dancing is neither constructive nor moral," was one answer, while another upheld the tripping of the light fantastic under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A.

OSHAWA DISSATISFIED WITH ELECTRIC POWER FROM TRENT

SEND RESOLUTION TO GOVERNMENT ASKING FOR TAP LINE TO THE CHIPPEWA SUPPLY—FEEL THAT THEY SHOULD NOT BE DEPENDENT UPON THE TRENT POWER RESOURCES.

At a meeting yesterday afternoon of the Executive and Manufacturer's Committee of the Board of Trade, called by President Bailes to discuss the local power shortage situation, caused by the accident to the power plant at Healey Falls two weeks ago, which deprived the Hydro Electric Commission of 10,000 horse power, a resolution was passed to be forwarded to the Commission, asking that the Town of Oshawa be given connection with the Chippawa Power System so that the town will not, as in the past, be dependent on the Central Ontario Power System.

The power shortage has partially crippled local industries, although every effort has been made by the the commission through the local office distribute the power available which is about half the amount usually allotted to the town as evenly as possible among the various local users. The Pedlar People for some time have ben compelled to operate their plant at night on account of the shortage, during the day, while other plants have aad to adopt the same practice.

Mr. A. T. Hicks, local manager for the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission, assured the meeting that the commission was doing everything possible to restore the Healey Falls plant to normal, sparing neither time nor expense. Repair gangs were working day and night with a view to remedying the situation as soon as possible. Three generators were damaged by the flood, but one was now operating and supplying current to the system From information to hand, Mr. Hicks said that it was hoped too have the second machine going Monday and conditions back to normal by July 4th.

There was a general discussion at the meeting, when the general feeling was that every possible step should be taken to have the damaged plant repaired as soon as possible and also that the town, being an important manufacturing centre with many large power users, should not be dependent entirely on one ource of power supply.

AVIATOR MAKES FIGHT TO PROVE TRUTH OF STORY

SEEKS TO CLEAR HIS NAME OF COURT-MARTIAL STIGMA.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Charges of "romancing" about his thrilling air battle over the German lines in 1918 started the trouble of Captain Edmund C. Chamberlain of San Antonio. True romance, he declared today, will end them.

For his bride of five months has rallied to his defense and is actually directing his fight to clear his name of the stigma of a court-martial dismissal from the marine corps. She drew the maps and briefs he used today in testifying before the Senate Naval Committee in an effort to prove his story of the air battle was true and not a wild falsehood as alleged.

The handsome young aviator unfolded his romance to the United Press. He first re-told how, while visiting a British air field in France, he borrowed a plane and with two British airmen in a battle with twelve German flyers he shot down five Boche planes, forced two others to land and falling earthward in his damaged plane, he scattered a detachment of German troops with machine gun bullets. After landing, according to his story, he captured a German prisoner by pretending that his airplane compass was a hand-grenade and with his aid carried a wounded French soldier to safety.

Enter Cupid.

Chamberlain's hunt for evidence to substantiate his story, he said, led him to his home—San Antonio. He met a beautiful debutante, the daughter of Colonel F. A. Winter, of the army. Discredited by local gossip, the alleged bogus hero was refused a dance by the winsome Mary Stuart Winter. Later he had an opportunity to tell his side of the story and she fell in love with him.

Colonel Winter objected to the match. But after listening to Chamberlain's story from the lips of his daughter he withdrew his objection. And last February—three days after his dismissal—she married him in Philadelphia.

So eager was the young wife to clear her husband's name that the honeymoon was cut short. A gifted artist, Mrs. Chamberlain had taken a course in drafting. During the war she "did her bit" as a draftswoman in a Washington war office.

Maps Prepared.

This talent she turned to the task of lifting the cloud from her husband's name. Her maps of the minute details of the French sector where Chamberlain's alleged aerial exploit took place will give the committee an ocular idea of the ground and visualize her husband's testimony.

Chamberlain was accompanied today by the aged father, but he had no attorney, as he said he was financially unable to retain one.

"I'll clear myself if it takes 20 years," Chamberlain cried. "High British officers are involved. If they dared admit my exploits they would be open to the same vicious attacks I am undergoing."

Chamberlain characterized his court-martial and conviction as "mistreatment." A "just" hearing before the Naval Committee will clear him, he said.

Millions of People Are Suffering

Indigestion, Headaches, Constipation, Sallow Complexions, Kidney Pains, Rheumatism are all caused from a poisoned system, due to the Liver. Doctors recommend that you take one Tanated Calomel tablet before each meal, or two at bedtime, and in a few days your pains will disappears, your complexion will become clear and you will feel keen, bright, vigorous and life once more will be worth living. The wonderful success of this new drug (Tanated Calomel) is due to the fact that it is the only drug known that acts upon the Liver. No Salts or Seidlitz are necessary to remove it from the system, as it is self-illiminating. You, no doubt, have taken all sorts of medicine for your particular ailment, but you never get permanent relief, because the medicines you have been taking do not act upon the Liver. Doctors now say that 99 per cent. of all ailments are due to the inactivity of the Liver. A poisoned system soon decays, and that is why I would recommend that you go to F. C. Webber's, Charlotte street, and get a box.

BUSINESS MEN TO HELP SOLVE GOVT. UTILITY PROBLEM

BRITAIN ASKS AID FOR POSTAL, TELEGRAPH AND TELEPHONE SERVICES.

LONDON, June 9.—The Postmaster-General has called upon the business men of Great Britain to aid him in solving the problem of how to operate the postal, telegraph and telephone service efficiently and without a deficit.

A council of business men has been appointed to assist in the management of the department. H. Gordon Selfridge, the American merchant in London is one of the 19 appointees. The others include bank directors, presidents of Chambers of Commerce railroad managers and other leaders of industry. One is a newspaper proprietor, Viscount Burnham of the London Daily Telegraph.

The PostOffice Departtment estimates for the current year show a deficit of £3,500,000. The Postmaster-General had proposed ot cover this by increasing the rates on the second-class mail but now this project has eben abandoned.

The question why the department should show a loss has been the subject of much debate in the news papers. The department has a monopoly in the United Kingdom of the mails telegraphs and telephone, this making it the greatest business in the country. Yet, on a combined revenue of £70000,000 a year it has been run at a lass. One writer has attributed the deficit to the doubling of the penny postage on letters which took place during the war and its retention since.

The electric hands we employ are experts in the business and understand their work thoroughly. We do all kinds of electrical work—new and repairs—on short notice, and at reasonable prices. Plants installed for heating, lighting, cooking, etc., and electric bell work a specialty. Have your electrical work done by us and you will be sure of complete satisfaction with work and price.

COUNCIL MAY TAKE OVER FINISHING OF HUNTER ST. BRIDGE NEXT WEEK

CONTRACTORS ARE WILLING IF THEIR FEES ARE PAID AT ONCE —CHIPPED GRANITE FINISH IS CHARGEABLE AS EXTRA WORK.

That the City Council may, some time next week, take over from the Russell-Townsend Company, all responsibility for finishing, under the city engineer's supervision, the Hunter Street Bridge, was the conclusion reached last night at a conference between the contractors and the Council in Committee of the Whole.

The members of the Russell-Townsend Company present at this conference were T. H. Naven and C. J. Townsend, while Fred Christie, the city's inspector, City Engineer Parsons, Mayor A. A. McIntyre, Aldermen H. Gainey, R. Morrison, Joseph Crowe, Jas Hamilton, G. N. Gordon, and Nagel Phelan were also in attendance.

Company Willing.

Mr. Townsend gave the amount still owing his firm on the original contract as $1,200; but in addition to this there are extras to be accounted for The company, he said, had no objection to handing over the finishing of the work to the city were a cheque issued at once for the balance of their claims.

To Ald. Hamilton's inquiry as to what these extras consisted of, Mr. Townsend replied for all chipped granite finish, extra foundation work, and other details.

Ald. Hamilton: Why, chipped granite finish was specified in the original contract.

Mr. Townsend: Not so. One clause in our contract eliminated all chipped granite, excepting in the hand-rail. The sides of the bridge are extra.

Fees $29,600.

Ald. Crowe understood that there were to be no commission charges for extras; and that the contract plus price of $29,500 for the contractors covered all their fees; but Mr. Townsend quickly undeceived him in that matter.

To Ald. Hamilton, Mr. Townsend could not remember exactly what his firm's contract price was before granite finish had been eliminated from the specifications.

Mr. Townsend here reminded Council that he is not charging commission on the cost of the Simcoe Street temporary bridge.

Ald. Gordon contended that the contractors are entitled to payment for all extra work on the bridge; and he and Ald. Crowe moved that Mr. Townsend prepare a statement showing how their extra charges are arrived at.

This motion carrying, Mr. Townsend agreed to have that statement ready by Wednesday next.

$12,000 in Extras.

In discussion, Mr. Townsend was not prepared to say whether his extras would run into a cost of $12,000 or not. Whatever the amount is, the contractors' fees would be on a pro rata basis of their commission of $29,500 for the original work.

Three Months Yet?

Incidentally The Examiner was advised that it might be three months yet before all the granite chipping on the bridge is finished.

Reduce Staff.

Should Council take over the finishing of the bridge, a reduction in the office staff and possibly in the number of workmen is anticipated by some aldermen.

Any man is liable to make a mistake, says Tom Mix, and any woman is glad to point it out to him.

CHAOTIC CONDITIONS FOLLOW FREE TRADE RUSSIA

RIGA, Latvia, July 8. — The chaotic conditions and daily tragedies that followed upon resumption of free trade in South Russia are described graphically by a writer for the Moscow Investia who has just made a trip through the Ukraine.

The peasants, he says, carrying sacks of grain or other food to the cities are literally overwhelming the railways. He thus describes the appearance of one of the trains coming into Kiev.

"Along the tracks is crawling a huge grey caterpillar—a train covered all over with the grey masses of food-carriers. From beneath these masses neither cars nor locomotives can be distinguished. The grey mass covers everything, the car roofs, the steps and even the spaces between cars. Every available nook is occupied. Everything is filled up. Only when the train begins to slow down, near Kiev station, it begins to shed its grey fleece. Little by little, while yet in motion, the locomotive and car roofs begin to uncover.

"At Kiev all out-bound trains are literally pasted all over with people. On the locomotive, cars, firewood truck, water tank and under the cars —anywhere that it is only possible— people fasten themselves to every hook, nail or crevice. Those who have been fortunate enough to get a place on a brake platform are looked upon as favorites of fortune, who are comfortable for their whole trip.

"The departure of every train is accompanied by lamentations, wails, crying, shooting and all kinds of accidents. When the train is beginning to get in motion, those who were not able to board it and those who have been forcibly removed from it start mad rushes for it again. The military detachments, whose duty it is to maintain order during the boarding of trains, run after the trains, pulling down some of the surplus passengers who have managed to fasten on to them, while from others caps are pulled off and so on.

"One of the results of this state of affairs is that porters take 50,000 to 75,000 of rubles for a 'guaranteed' place on the train.

"Another result is that the Kiev railway shops every month have to make about 300 coffins for food-carriers who have been run over by the trains."

M. Dzerzhinsky, head of the "Cheka." or Committee to Combat Counter-Revolution, known as one of the most efficient men in Soviet Russia, has been appointed by Lenine as Commissar of Railways to regulate this traffic of food-carriers.

Worry Shortener Of Human Lives

Worry is a great shortener of human life. We have all seen sufficient evidence of this among our friends and relatives to know that this statement is true. One great writer has said that worry is rust on the blade. Now, if this disease is so fatal, it is time that we found a cure for it. Some persons in their thoughtlessness, or in their lack of knowledge, can only say, "Forget it" when they find a person worrying. This may be effective in many cases, but the individuals afflicted with the worry disease would rather be shown a way out of the gloomy dells into which their indulgence has led them. Worry in most cases is caused by exhaustion or overwork. Unless it is checked in time, it becomes habit, a most difficult one to overcome. The best thing one can do when one's housework, office work, or store work gets on one's nerves, so to speak, is to rest the body. The vigour of the body must be increased before one can acquire sufficient will-power to abolish the worry. While more sleep is necessary, it is also advisable not to wait until night to rest the body and mind. Stop all work a few minutes and relax. Let your thoughts wander, or if you must think, let your thoughts be pleasant ones. Forget the subject that has been anoying you. Lack of fresh air causes a feeling of fatigue which in turn breeds worry. You can, therefore, see the necessity for filling the lungs with sufficient fresh air during the day. Very few persons living in cities spend more than one hour in the fresh air every day. Since such is the case, effort must be made to bring fresh air indoors. When you feel fretful or worried, stand by an open window and indulge in deep breathing. You will be surprised to find how this will brace you for some time to come. A vigorous walk in the country will almost invariably drive away the blues. Try it.—Selected.

HER SECRET

We occasionally meet a woman whose age is as beautiful as the bloom of youth. We wonder how it has come about—what her secret is.

Here are a few of the reasons:

She knew how to forget disagreeable things.

She kept her nerves well in hand and inflicted them on no one.

She mastered the art of saying pleasant things.

She did not expect too much from her friends.

She made whatever work came to her congenial.

She retained her illusions and did not believe all the world wicked and unkind.

She relieved the miserable and sympathized with the sorrowful.

She never forgot that kind words and a smile cost nothing, but are priceless treasures to be discouraged.

She did unto others as she would be done by.

PERSONALITIE

Keep clear of personalities in general conversation. Talk of things, objects' thou hts. Th smallest minds occupy themselves with personalities. Personalities must sometimes be talked, because we have to learn and find out men's characteristics for legitimate objects; but it has to be with confidential persons. Do not needlessly report ill of others. There are family boards where a constant process of depreciating, assigning motives, and cutting up of character goes forward. They are not pleasant places. One who is healthy does not wish to dine at a dissecting table. There is evil enough in man, God knows; but it is not the mission of every young man or woman to detail and report it. Keep the atmosphere as pure as possible, and fragrant with gentleness and charity.

When a young couple start out in life together and they do really love each other sincerely, there is one other thing, next to good health, that is needed to make a continuous happy life, and that is good financiering. Without this quality love will soon fade away and disagreement follow. What causes so many divorce suits? Bad financiering. Some of our best and brightest citizens are among our poorest managers and consequently have difficulties to battle with during life. Therefore, good management and saving qualities, together with good character, are essential points to be observe by young men and women, equally well by husband and wife in order to maintain prosperity and contentment.

It isn't the amount of religion a man has that makes him good and fits him for heaven; it is the amount he uses. Long prayers and loud professions do not count; but the man who loves his fellowmen and fellow-women, who ministers to the afflicted and wears a smile for all, including his wife and children, who never kicks the dog when he ought to kick himself, who speaks well of people when their backs are turned, and under all circumstances eeps an even mind—that man doesn't have to die to go to heaven. He gets to feeling happy all the time as a matter of habit, and he takes all the dispensations of life with philosophical satisfaction.

The best thing that can happen to a young man is for him to realize, at the very outset of his career, that whatever real success he is to achieve must come from his own exertions. Whenever a young man begins life by depending on the favor or indulgence of friends or upon an inheritance of money that some one else has earned, he might as well make up his mind that failure is to be graven upon the headstone that marks his life-career.

After all, what is this life but a parable of talents and opportunities. Anyone can have whatever he wishes or be what ver he desires, if he will pay the price for it. The price is the sole condition. Natur is not tricked. We pay the full price for what we get. And we receive what we pay for.

Try to keep fresh and green the memories of your own childhood, when your own bairns come. It will help you to concede much to the natural tendencies of childhood. It will help you to be patient with your little ones. The man whose own childhood is utterly forgotten is apt to be a hard father.

BABY, GO TO BED

Almost any man can say it,
Can say, "Baby, go to bed";
But how many can enforce it
When a little tossel head
Perks his head up sort a sideways
In a way we daddies know,
And says: half a smile, half fearful,
"Papa, me don't 'ants to doe."

And pleads: "Me ain't sleepy, papa,
Me don't 'ants to doe to bed,"
And you see the curls a-tumble
On a little baby head;
And you look up at his mother
In a depreciating way
And you hide behind your paper,
And you let the baby play.

Yes, most anyone cant say i,
Can say, "Baby, go to bed";
But how many can enforce it,
When a little tossel head
Says: "I'm busy now a playing,"
Whispers soft: "Don't papa know?"
Says: "I'ms ain't sleepy, papa,"
Pleading: "I don't 'ant to doe."

LEARN A TRADE

The value of learning a trade becomes more and more apparent every day. Scarcely a week passes but some young man is asking us to point out a field of labor for him. With good attainments, perhaps, or an insatiable desire to be at work at something whereby an honest penny may be turned, he finds himself landed, as it were, at the first ebb of the tide. The slightest recession of the waters deposits him on the shore among the weeds of idleness, and unwholesome vapors becloud his mind. There is scarcely a man in business but had an experience like our own; his young friends continually envying him the privilege of working in a well-defined field, and wishing that, like him, they had something to strike at.

These young men are generally afflicted with the disease of ambition. They want to be something more than common, and mistaking often their desires for ability to satisfy them, they flatter themselves that they are fit for something better than the common run of humanity. Their great fault is in trying to achieve manhood without serving an apprenticeship to it, and they find themselves, when they should be prepared for their lifework, wondering what it will be, and fretting because it does not declare itself, and in nine cases out of ten waiting in vain for such a call, they go into politics, agencies, etc.

The great remedy for all this is a trade thoroughly learned. The time between school and twenty-one should be spent at the carpenter's bench in a machine shop or at an anvil, so that when the young man commences his battle with life in any vocation he can, if worsted at his first attempt, turn to his trade with confidence that his skilled labor will at least procure him a living, and perhaps a competence. Time frittered away in trying to discover desirable roads to success, foots up a considerable total on the loss side of the balance sheet.

ETERNAL DISH WASHING

We may in this item be repeating to our lady readers a tiresome truth, but it will show them that at least one editor appreciates their real condition in life. The quiet fidelity with which "she" will dish-wash her life away for "him" is a marvel of endurance and grace. Just here is the servitude of woman the greatest. No sooner is her work done than it requires to be done again. Man works up jobs, ends them, and takes his pay. This pay can be translated into something else desirable A man works all day and draws pay for his day's work. This pay allures him, as oats a horse, homeward bound. Thus men work by terms and jobs. We men go heartily on our journey and count our milestones. Not so with our mate, if we are so fortunate as to have one. She mends our socks, and we put our irrepressible toe upon the darned spot and she darns it again. "She" washes for the family, and the family makes haste to send back the same garments to be washed again. "She" puts the room in order and we get it ready to be "rid up" again. The same socks; the same washing, the same room every time. She has no successive jobs, no terms, no pay day, no tally-stick of life. She washes the same dishes three hundred and sixty-five—yes, three times three hundred and sixty-five times every year. No wonder she breaks it and is glad of it. What a relief it must be when she can say "I have done with that dish."

After putting a block in front of one of the wheels a portion of the lorry's load of lumber fell on Williams, dislocating his shoulder and rupturing several muscles in his back.

POLITICIAN IS SHOT IN CROWDED STREET

Chicago Political Feud Brings Death of Laspisa.

CHICAGO, July 8.— The Nineteenth Ward political feud claimed its fifth victim here when Joseph Laspisa, wealthy contractor and lieutenant of Anthony D'Andread, slain political leader, was shot and killed while at the wheel of his automobile.

The victim was driving through the Sunday afternoon crowds in the Italian district when two men riding in the tonneau of the machine stood up with drawn pistols and fired several shots into Laspisa's head. They then leaped from the slowly moving automobile and escaped in the crowds.

With the dead man's fingers still gripping the wheel, the car continued on its course for 50 feet, suddenly swerved and then wrecked itself against the curbing and a telegrah pole. A Catholi priest, the Rev. Louis M. Gianbastino, was one of the first persons to reach the machine. After making sure that the man huddled over the steering wheel was dead, he pleaded with the crowd to tell the police what they knew about the tragedy, but only one witness was obtained, others in the throng fleeing.

Laspisa, besides being an aide of D'Andrea, who was shot down by hidden assassins at the door of his home several years ago, was the president of the Societa Vantemiglia, a Sicilian organization. The feud was the outgrowth of the last aldermanic election in the Nineteenth Ward at which "Johnny" Power defeated D'Andrea.

The campaign was marked by many acts of violence, including several bombings and was followed by the assassinations of three aldermen, Powers' supporters, Gaetano Esposito, Paul A. Labriola, municipal court bailff, and Harry Raimondi. D'Andrea was slain, it was believed, to avenge these deaths.

Atlohugh many arrests were made after each of the previous killings, the cases have been listed as unsolved mysteries by the police.

SOVIET DIDN'T LAST LONG AT BRUSSELS.

Trouble Started Over Engaging of Old Soldier.

BRUSSELS, July 8.—Without previous warning, the Soviet occupation of factories idea struck Belgium.

Following the example of Italian workers, who took over plants throughout Italy, the Belgian workmen immediately hoisted the red flag over the occupied plant. The workers, who are employees of the Autó-Mettalurgique factory at Marchienne, in South Belgium, stoutly denied Communist or Bolshevist sentiments.

Trouble started when an old soldier who did not belong to any trade union was employed. Soon the irritated workmen applied to the manager for discharge of the war veteran. The director refused to fire the man who was able to do all that was required of him.

After holding a "chapel," the workmen proceeded to turn out of the factory the draughtsmen, managers, clerks and timekeepers and then carried on their work in the ordinary way.

Next morning the red flag was floating over the works. Police squads turned out fearing trouble, but nothing happened. Thereupon followed a series of negotiations between men and managers. Government authorities at Brussels were notified and took precautions. Eventually the Premier held conference with delegations from the management and from the workers and persuaded them to accept a compromise settlement that was agreeable to both parties concerned.

LARAMIE HOLDS THE RANGE

By Frank H. SPEARMAN.

Sawdy raised his chin: "Not this time, Jim. Not on your life. That's the way you always eat my supper."

"You eat too much, Henry—it will kill you, some time," observed Laramie, losing no time in his initiative. He ignored Sawdy's stare and the big man, disgusted, sat dumb. "Don't surrender, Sawdy," counseled Laramie. 'Keep going."

Sawdy paused with his knife and fork firmly clutched in his hands but pointing helplessly in the air. "Bring the other end of that ham, Belle," he said, as one whose hopes have been dashed. "This is the first square meal I've had for two days."

"First I've had for ten days," returned Laramie, keeping up his pace.

"What are they doing up there, Jim," asked Sawdy peremptorily.

"Killing their horses."

"They won't find him," Sawdy predicted in words inaudible six feet away.

"I hope not."

"How's he holding out?"

"Hard hit, Henry."

"Will he make it?"

"You can't kill a cat."

"Well—" Sawdy resumed his supper, "it's your game, Jim, not mine; but I'd think twice before I'd get that range bunch after me on any man's account."

Laramie's eyes flashed; then he was under control again, and he spoke quietly: "I couldn't see Abe killed like a rattlesnake."

"What are you down for?"

'I've got to have a couple of needles, a little catgut, and some gauze."

"Where are you going to get them?"

"Going to steal them over at Doc Carpy's."

"Nervy."

"You can do it for me, Henry."

"Me?"

"I'll give you the key to his cabinet."

"Where'd you get that?"

"Met him on my way in. He was going up to Pettigrew's to look after the wounded. The window in the end of the wing opens into the operating room, where the supplies are."

"I'd look fine climbing into a window at two hundred and forty pounds."

"It's on the ground floor," returned Laramie, unmoved.

"What will the family be doing while I'm burgling?"

"Mrs. Carpy and the girls are in Medicine Bend. The house is empty. When you're through, leave the key in the head of the skeleton behind the door."

Sawdy stared without much enthusiasm at the little key that Laramie slipped him; then he slipped it, without comment, into his pocket. The talk went on in low, leisurely tones until the second portion of ham had been served, when both resumed their supper as if nothing had been eaten or said. Afterward, Laramie spent an hour getting together some things he needed at home. He met Sawdy later at Kitchen's barn. Sawdy, with abundance of grumbling at his assignment, had the gauze and the catgut, but he brought the key back. He could not find the surgeon's needles. There seemed nothing for it but for Laramie to go to the office and make the search himself. He thought of Belle. She would do it for him, he knew, but he felt it would not be right to mix her up in what might prove a tragic affair. After brief reflection he started for Carpy's himself.

The doctor's house stood back of Main Street, a block and a half from the barn. Laramie walked a mile to reach it, choosing unlighted ways for the trip. The night was dark, and by crossing a vacant lot he reached the rear of the house unobserved. The office, divided into a consulting room and an operating room, consisted of a one-story wing connecting with the residence. The consulting room adjoined the residence, the operating room occupying the end of the wing. This was the room Laramie sought. The window that Sawdy had already burglariously entered opened easily, and Laramie, standing alone in the dark room, felt in his pocket for a match.

He had been in the office more than once before and knew about where the cabinet containing the surgical instruments stood. A connecting door led from the room he had entered to the office proper. He tried this. It was unlocked and he left it closed. The curtains of the windows were drawn and he took a match from his pocket, lighted it, and looked around. The first thing he saw was the articulated skeleton suspended near the door from the ceiling. It would have been a shock had he not seen it before and been familiar with the label fastened to the breastbone reciting that this was Flat Nose George, an early day desperado of the high country.

Turning from the relic, Laramie set about his work, disdaining to inspect various gruesome specimens in alcohol ranged along a shelf. Aided by an occasional match which he lighted and shielded in his left hand, he found the cabinet and with his key opened the door. The flame of his match, too carefully guarded, flickered in his fingers, failed, and went out. He thrust it hastily into one pocket, drew a fresh match from another, and was about to scratch it across his leather wristlet when he heard a door open. The next moment he saw under the door leading from his room to the consulting room a flash of light.

Awkward as it was to be interrupted, he faced the surprise with such composure as he could muster. Who could it be, he asked himself? The family was accounted for; the house locked. He scratched the match again. As it flared up he looked into the cabinet, found the packet of needles, tore a card of them in two, slipped them into a waistcoat pocket, and closed the cabinet door. He turned to listen to the office intruder. Laramie hoped that nothing would bring the unwelcome visitor into the operating room, but as he stood awaiting developments the unlocked door was thrown open and a tiny flashlight was thrown into the room in which he stood.

Fortunately Laramie, outside the circle of light, was left in the dark. The intruder was a woman. He shrank back and she turned her light from him, but only to encounter, as she stepped forward, Flat Nose George, as forbidding now as he had ever been in life. The woman with the light started back in horror, and a sharp little exclamation betrayed her identity. Laramie was at once aware that he was facing Kate Doubleday.

Nothing could have pleased him less. In so small a room it was impossible to escape detection. He could almost hear her breath and would have reveled in her presence but that the apprehension of frightening her terribly weighed on him like a mountain. Hardly daring to breathe, he cursed the erratic doctor's skeleton pet—hung, of all places, where every little while he was cutting people open.

The skeleton had already set the girl's nerves on edge. What would happen if she discovered a live man as well as the ghastly remains of a dead one—not to mention alcoholic clippings from other subnormal notables of the mountains? With the flashlight she was evidently searching for something and Laramie surmised it must be the electric light switch.

"I think," he suggested in as steady a tone as possible, "you'll find the light button to the right of the door behind you."

He was prepared for a scream or a swoon. Instead, the flashlight was turned directly on him. "Who are you?" came sharply and quickly from behind it.

"I might ask the same question. You can see I'm Jim Laramie. I can guess you are Kate Doubleday."

"I am, and I've come here for dressings for wounded men at Pettigrew's. What are you doing here?" she demanded, peremptorily.

His lips were sealed for more reasons than one. Least of all would it do for him to expose Doctor Carpy's friendliness and embroil him in a feud which Laramie knew he ought to face alone.

Kate held the light excitedly on him. It was an instant before he had his answer in hand: 'I've lied to a good many people at different times about different things," he said, deliberately. "I've still got my first lie to tell to you, Kate. And I certainly won't tell it tonight. Don't ask me what I'm doing here. Turn on the light by the door, or let me do it so I can see you. You here alone?"

"No, there are plenty of men outside, with me," she exclaimed abruptly.

"I shouldn't have asked that question," he continued, in the same tone. "I know you're alone. You say 'men' because you're afraid of me—"

"I'm not the least afraid of you. And don't deceive yourself. There are men here."

"But they are mostly in bottles, Kate—and in pieces. Live men don't ride up to a place like this without making a noise. Flat Nose George is the only man here besides me, outside the alcohol, and I can claim him as well as you can."

"I'm sure you would feel perfectly at home with Flat Nose George," she retorted swiftly.

If the words stung Laramie kept his temper. "Probably there's a good deal I deserve that you haven't heard about me," he said slowly. "But from the way you talk you've heard a few things maybe I don't deserve. Nobody's got any right to class me with Flat Nose George or anybody else in Carpy's museum."

"You've classed yourself with him," she exclaimed, vehemently. "Defending cattle thieves and harboring them! Every one knows that."

"I did talk rough to your father this morning. I was pretty angry. Just the same, don't believe everything you hear about me. At present, it's just us two. What do you want to do, surrender to me?"

"No!" she snapped the word out furiously. "I won't, not if you kill me."

"Suppose I surrender to you? What do you want me to do—stick up my hands? So far, they haven't been up—if I remember right. But I expect I'll have to learn some time how to surrender."

"I want no surrender, no parley with you. The doctor told me his house was empty and directed me here for the dressings. When I come, I find you. I'll get away at once. Before I go——"

"No, I'll go. But let me turn on the light." He stepped to the door and pressed the button. "I wanted," he continued, as a light flooded the queer room, "to have just one look at you before I go." She stood before him quite unafraid. Her eyes flashed as if she were actually mistress of the situation instead of really helpless in the presence of her father's most resourceful enemy.

Laramie half smiled at her serenity. "Why don't you go?" she exclaimed.

Still regarding her, he shifted his position a little and replied with entire good nature; "I only live along, from one sight to another of you. I'm just filling up, like a man at a spring—till I reach the next water hole in the desert. You don't object to my only looking at you for a minute?"

"I object to being delayed and annoyed," she declared in a blaze. 'I've come here for dressings needed for wounded men—"

"Well, so have I, if you must have it."

"I was sent here by Dr. Carpy for things he wants tonight; you have no more right here helping yourself to his property than you have taking other people's."

"Don't say I take other people's property!" Laramie spoke fiercely. "Don't call me a thief." His words burned with anger. "My hands may not be as white as yours—they're just as clean! What would you think if I called you a thief with no more ground than you call me one? God!" he exclaimed, catching at a chair beside him, "has it come to this, that the daughter of Barb Doubleday calls me a thief?"

Stunned as she might well have been at the outburst, Kate stood her ground. 'Did Doctor Carpy give you permission to come here tonight?" She shot the words at Laramie without giving him time to breathe.

Laramie checked the flood of anger he had loosed. "I don't need permission from Doctor Carpy to come here night or day. Ask him if you want to," he said, with a scornful disgust. He sank down on the chair at his side in complete resentment of the whole situation and leaning forward with a hand spread over one knee and one fist clenched on the other, he stared not at Kate's eyes, but at the floor, with only her trim boots in his field of vision.

"What's the use?" he exclaimed, drawing the words up seemingly all the way from his own disorderly and alkali-stained foot coverings. "What's the use?" he repeated, in stronger and more savage tones. "I've treated her from the first instant I saw her, and every instant since, as I thought a woman ought to be treated—would like to be treated. Now I get my reward. She calls me a thief—and my God! I take it. I don't ride out and kill her father, who taught her to do it, quick as I can reach him; I just take it!" he exclaimed.

He hesitated a moment. Then he flung a question at her like a thunderbolt: "What do you want her for?"

She was frightened. His rage was plain enough; who could tell the lengths to which it might carry him?

She kept her dignity, but she answered and without quibbling: "I want some gauze and some cotton and some medicines."

He strode to the cabinet and, concealing the movement as he unlocked it with Carpy's key, he threw open the glass door: "You'd be all night finding the stuff," he said, curtly, taking the supplies from various cluttered piles on different shelves. 'You say he wants this tonight," he added, when her packet was complete: "How are you going to get it to him?"

"Carry it to him."

"At Pettigrew's? What do you mean? It would take an experienced horseman all night to ride around by Black Creek."

"I'm going over the pass."

He could not conceal his anger: "Does your father know that?"

"He said I might try it."

Laramie flamed again: "A fine father! to send a tenderfoot girl on a night ride into a country like that."

She was defiant: "I can ride anywhere a man can."

"Let me tell you," he faced her and his eyes flashed, "if you try riding anywhere too often, some night your father's daughter will fail to get home!"

Ignoring the door, he stepped to the open window by which he had entered and, springing through it, was gone.

Laramie, disdaining any further attempt at concealment, rode angrily over to Kitchen's barn; anyone that wanted a dispute with him could have had it, and promptly. McAlpin got up his horse, and, cutting short the barn boss' attempt to talk, Laramie headed for home.

The sky was studded with a glory of stars. He rode fast, his fever of anger acting as a spur in his anxiety to get back to dress Hawk's wounds.

His thoughts raced with the hoofs of his horse. Nothing could have galled and humiliated him more than to realize how Kate Doubleday regarded him. Plainly she looked on him as no better than the ordinary rustlers of the Falling Wall country. This was distressingly clear. He knew in his own heart that hers was the only opinion among her people that he cared anything about. Furious waves of resentment alternated with the realization that such a thing was inevitable—how could it be otherwise? She heard the loose talk of the men about her—Stone, alone, to reckon no other, could be depended on to lie freely about him. Van Horn he was as sure would blacken an enemy; and added to Laramie's discomfiture was the reflection that this man, whose attentions to Kate he most dreaded, held her car against him and could, if need be, poison the wells.

To these could be added her own father as his implacable enemy. This last affair had cut off every hope of getting on with the men for whom he had no respect and who for one reason or another hated him as heartily as he hated them.

Under such a load of entanglements lay the thought of Kate. What downright foolishness even to think of her as he let himself think and hope! Clattering along, he told himself nothing could ever come of it but bitterness; and he cast the thought and hope of knowing her better and better until he could make her his own completely out of his heart.

The only trouble was that neither she nor the bitterness would stay out. As often as he put them out they came in again. The first few miles of his road were the same that she would soon be riding after him. Again and again he felt anger at the idea of her riding the worst of the Falling Wall trail at night to Pettigrew's. More than once he felt the impulse to wait for her and even slackened his pace.

But when he did so there arose before him the picture of her as she flung the hateful words at him; they came back as keenly as if he heard them again, and he could feel his cheeks burning in the cold night air. Self-respect, if nothing else, would prevent his even speaking another word to her that night. His hatred of her father swelled in the thought that he should let her attempt such a ride. Her only safety would lie in her giving her horse its head; if she attempted to guide it she would get lost.

For several miles beyond where he knew Kate must turn for the pass Laramie rode on toward home; then, watching his landmarks carefully, he reined his horse directly to the right and headed for the broken country between the Turkey and the mountains. At some little distance from the trail he stopped and, sitting immovable in his saddle, listened to learn whether he was followed. For thirty minutes—and that is a long time—he waited, buried in the silence of the night and without the slightest impatience. He heard in the distance the coyotes and the wolfs, but no horseman passed, nor did the sound of hoofs come within hearing. Then, reining his pony's head again toward the black heights of the Falling Wall range, he continued his journey.

Soon all semblance of any trail was left behind and he rode of necessity more slowly. More than once he halted, seemingly to reassure himself as to his bearings, for he was pushing his way where few men would care to ride even in daylight. He was feeling across precipitous gashes and along treacherous ledges esteemed by the bighorn but feared by man and beast; and through huge masses of rocky fragments that had crashed from dizzy heights above before finding their resting place, and had then been heaved and tumbled by the fury of mountain storms.

Laramie was, in fact, nearing the place— by the least passable of all approaches—where he had hidden Hawk. And at that, he did not hesitate to stop to listen and to double on his trail more than once. Manoeuvring in this manner for a long time he emerged on a small opening, turned almost squarely about and rode half a mile. Dismounting then near a grove of lodge pole and lifting his rifle from its scabbard he slung his bag over his shoulder and walked rapidly toward the hiding place of Hawk.

It had been well chosen. On a high plateau of the Falling Wall country, so broken as to forbid all chance travel and to be secure from accidental intrusion — a breeding place for grizzlies and mountain lions—there had once been opened a considerable silver mining camp. Substantial sums had been spent in development and from an old Turkey Creek trail a road had been blasted and dug across the open country divided by the canyon of the Falling Wall river. In its escape from the mountains the river at this point cuts a precipitous gash through a rock barrier, and from this striking formation, known as the canyon of the Falling Wall, the river takes its name.

Where the old mine road crosses the plateau across the river an ambitious bridge had been projected. It was designed to replace a ferry at the bottom of the canyon, but with the ruinous decline in the value of silver the mines had been abandoned; a weather beaten abutment at the top of the south canyon wall alone remained to recall the story. The earth and rock fill behind this abutment had been washed out by storms, leaving the framing timbers above it intact, and below these there remained a cave-like space which the decaying timbers served to roof.

Laramie on a hunting trip had once discovered this retreat and had at times used it as a shelter when During subsequent visits he found an overhang in the rock behind the original fill that made a second smaller chamber and in this he had as a boy cached his mink and rat traps and the discard of his hunting equipment.

To the people coming in the Falling Wall country with cattle the existence of all this was unknown. Nothing visible betrayed the retreat and to men who rarely left the saddle and had no occasion to cross the bad lands of the Falling Wall, there was slight chance to stumble on it. It was here, a few miles west of his home, that Laramie had carried Hawk.

Making his way in the darkness toward the dugout, Laramie whistled low and clearly, and planting his feet with care on a foothold of old masonry swung down to where a fissure opening in the rock afforded entrance into the irregular room.

A single word came in a low tone from the darkness: "Jim?"

Laramie, answering, struck a match after a little groping, lighted a candle, and set it in a niche near where Hawk lay. He was stretched on a rude bunk. The furnishings of the cave-like refuge were of the scantiest. Between uprights supporting the old roof, a plank against the wall served as a narrow table; the bunk had been built into the opposite wall out of planking left by the bridge carpenters. For the rest there was little more in the place than the few belongings of a hunter's lodge long deserted. A quilt served for mattress and bedding for Hawk, and his sunken eyes above his black beard showed how sorely he needed surgical care. Laramie provided more lights, opened his kit of dressings, and with a pail of water went to work.

What would have seemed impossible to a surgeon, Laramie with two hours' crude work accomplished on Hawk's wounds. In a country where the air is so pure that major operations may be performed in ordinary cabins, cleanliness and care even though rude, count for more than they possibly could elsewhere. The most difficult part of the task that night lay in getting water up the almost sher canyon wall from the river three hundred feet below.

Leaving Hawk when the night was nearly spent, Laramie returned to his horse, retraced his blind way through the bad lands, and got to the road some miles above where he left it. He started for home, but left the road below his place and picking a trail through the hills came out half a mile north-west of his cabin. Here he cached his saddle and bridle, turned loose his horse, and going forward with the stealth of an Indian he got close enough to his cabin to satisfy himself, after painstaking observation that it was neither in the hands of the enemy nor under close-range surveillance.

When he neared the house he disposed of his rifle, slipped and struck a light. On the stove he found his frying pan face downward and the coffee pot near it with the lid raised. From this he knew that Simeral in his absence had cared for his stock; and being relieved in his mind on this score he laid his revolver at hand and threw himself on the bed to sleep. Day was just breaking.

REPORT OF W. R. MORRIS OF SURVEY OF THE BOOKS OF THE UTILITIES COMMISSION

TABULATED STATEMENT OF ALL MATTERS AFFECTING THE CITY'S WATER RATES—COMPARATIVE FIGURES FOR RECENT YEARS TOGETHER WITH STATEMENT OF REVENUE AND EXPENSES—FINANCES OF ELECTRICAL DEPARTMENT INCLUDED.

The following correspondence is self-explanatory, but to obviate any misunderstanding it may be pointed out that the first letter is to Mr. W. R. Morris, chartered accountant, from the Peterborough Utilities Commission, instructing him to make an examination and survey of the commission's accounts and business affecting the increased water rate. The other letter is Mr. Morris' statement:

Peterborough,
June 27th, 1921.

W. R. Morris, Esq.,
375 Water street, city.

Dear Sir,—I am directed by the Peterborough Utilities Commission to ask you to go into all matters in the Waterworks Department bearing on or affecting the proposed rate to come into effect July 1st for water, the scope of your survey to be governed by your own judgment.

I am also directed to ask you to look into the Electric Department as far as your judgment directs to advise us as to the financial condition of that department, and such other information as would, in your opinion, be of general interest.

Yours very truly,
UTILITIES COMMISSION.
Robt. Hicks, Chairman.

Report from Mr. Morris.

The Chairman of the Peterborough Utilities Commission.

Sir,—As instructed by you, I have made an examination and survey of the books and accounts of the commission for the past three years as to the Waterworks Department, and the past five years as to the Hydro-electric Department.

In the absence of specific instructions, I have not made a detailed audit or examined the vouchers as this work has been covered by the City Auditor.

Waterworks Department.

I submit herewith statement "A"; comparative revenue and operating accounts for the years 1918 to 1920.

Statement "B"—Showing increases in operating charges as from 1919 to 1920 with explanations which I have noted from the books, or which have been furnished to me by the Engineer, Mr. Dobbin. In this connection, I would state that I have examined the payroll distribution, which is prepared by the Engineering Department, and the allocations of wages as between operation and capital under the necessary headings is furnished to the Accountant by the Engineer.

Statement "C"—Balance sheet as at 31st December, 1920, re-arranged in order to show clearly the standing of the department at this date.

It will be noticed that no normal charge is made for the establishment of reserves for depreciation or obsolescence of wasting assets (except tools and plant, which are written down annually). There is some justification for this course in view of the fact that a sinking fund is being set aside, which will fully pay for such assets during their life-time, but I would suggest that it would be good policy to write off "franchise account" in annual installments.

I also beg to draw attention to the fact that capital account, $636,200.00, is less than the amount of debentures actually issued as shown by the City Trust Commissioner's report at $643,200.00, the difference of $7,000.00 being issued to cover the discount on the sale of debentures in 1920, and to cover which discount debentures were subsequently issued. I submit that capital should have been increased at that time by $7,000.00 and "discount on debentures" debited, this account to be written off by annual charges to "operations" during the life of the debentures.

New Rates.

As to the proposed rates to come into effect at this time, an estimate can only be based on the known figures for a recent period. In this connection, I would consider that the year 1920 will afford a better basis than an average over a longer period. I, therefore, submit statement "D," which will show a loss of $6,500.00 on the present rates; or a surplus of $7,500.00 to $8,500.00 for the current year on the new rates from 1st July.

Also statement "E," being an estimate for 1922 based on the new rates and which, unless economies in operations can be effected, will show no surplus.

In connection with the statements "D" and "E" it must be remembered that they are estimated, and while it may be that economies will be effected they may be offset by increased cost of operation in the filtration plant, which cannot be foreseen at this time. I have allowed in these estimates for a provision for workmen's compensation, which is not now being set aside, but which is certainly a contingent liability.

Remarks.

In general, I consider the system of accounting adequate and well carried out, and in shape to give any needed information promptly.

Hydro-electric Department.

I submit statement "E"1, showing comparative revenue and operating charges for five years for 1916,1920.

Also statement "E"2, balance sheet as of 31st December, 1920, arranged to show the standing of the department as clearly as possible. Among the assets I have carried out separately the items "old plant and miscellaneous construction," which I would advise should be written off in annual installments.

The system in use here is that laid down by the Hydro-electric Power Commission of Ontario, and is under supervision of their auditors, while the detail is also subject to verification by the City Auditor. It is efficiently carried out under the direction of your Accountant, Mr. Henderson.

Every facility has been afforded me by your Accountant and Engineer, and all necessary information and explanations given to me in carrying out this examination.

Respectfully submitted,
W. R. MORRIS, F. C. A.
Peterborough, Ont.,
July the 4th, 1921.

MORRIS ACKERMAN, PUBLICITY WRITER FOR GREAT OUTDOORS, VISITS KAWARTHA LAKES

EDITOR OF ACKERMAN'S SPORTSMAN'S GUIDE AND FEATURE WRITER HERE FOR A WEEK OR TWO OBTAINING INFORMATION FOR TOURISTS AND FISHERMEN

Morris Ackerman, editor and publisher of Ackerman's Sportsmen's Guide, Cleveland, passed through Peterborough yesterday on his way to the Kawartha Lakes, where he will obtain for publication and reference purposes complete information regarding the various resorts and the fishing conditions throughout the entire district. He was here two years ago with Tris Speaker and Leslie Nunamaker, of the Cleveland American League baseball team, and has on other occasions fished over the lower Trent.

Apart from his work as editor and proprietor of Ackerman's Sportsmen's Guide, Mr. Ackerman is on the staff of Cleveland News-Leader, and has a roving commission with the Newspaper Enterprise Association. From a newspaper viewpoint, he has an ideal job. His work keeps him outdoors nearly the whole year round, fishing and hunting all over America and relating his experiences to his millions of readers. From Savannah, Georgia, to Hudson Bay, and from the Pacific to the Atlantic, these are his boundaries.

By his continuous travels from one end of the country to the other, Mr. Ackerman has made his Sportsmen's Guide autoritative, and recognised everywhere for the correctness of its information. His stories appear regularly in the Cleveland News-Leader and in the many papers that use the N. E. A. service.

Apart from his interesting work, Mr. Ackerman's visit means that the Kawartha Lakes will receive incalculable publicity from whatever he writes of his observations during his local visit.

From Northern Ohio many tourists come to Kawarthadom as a result of Mr. Ackerman's recommendations, and it is his intention to direct many others to these waters. In connection with his Guide, he keeps a bureau of detailed information about all the resorts in the country for the benefit of holiday seekers who desire to know before hand something of the conditions in the places at which they intend to spend their holidays.

Intelligence about the fishing facilities, guides, costs, hotels, transportation, every conceivable question, is sent to Mr. Ackerman, not only in his own correspondence, but also through his connection with other sporting publications.

It is to be hoped that Mr. Ackerman's stay in this district will be made as pleasant as possible, not that he could be influenced by kindness to colour his reports about Peterborough County, but from the fact that he has already done a great deal to promote this district as a summer playground, and because of his fine personal qualities.

BUILDERS DEMAND $1 A DAY WAGE CUT FROM 100,000 MEN.

NEW YORK, July 9.—Employes in the building trades are asking 100,000 workers to accept a voluntary reduction of $1 a day, or more than $500,000 a week, it became known yesterday. Patrick Crowley, President of the Building Trades Council, said that the employes were unalterably opposed to granting the request of the employers, while C. G. Norman, Chairman of the Board of Governors of the Building Trades Employers' Association, was just as emphatic in his statement that if the employes did not consent to the reduction now they would have to consent to a reduction of $2 or $3 at the end of the year, when the present agreement expires.

A strike or lock-out in the industry when the present agreement runs out was forecast yesterday, but Mr. Crowley was confident that an arrangement satisfactory to both sides would be reached before the first of the year. Mr. Norman said that there would be nothing to call a strike or lock-out for, as there would be no work next year for employers and employees in the building trades if the workers did not accede to the voluntary reduction.

Wages in the building trades are $9 for journeymen and $7 for helpers. In 1913, said Mr. Crowley, they were $5.50 and $3.50. The cost of living, he said, was still 82 per cent. above that of 1914.

MAY IRWIN TO SELL MILK.

May Irwin, actress and farm owner, is now to add another role to her repertoire, that of milk distributor. On their farm at Clayton, N.Y., Miss Irwin and her husband, Kurt Eisfeldt, have a herd of twenty Jersey cows. They have had many appeals from the Clayton townspeople to put the milk from the dairy on the market, and they have finally decided to do that. From 100 to 150 quarts of Jersey milk will be sold daily.

LUCKY LOUCHEUR A FORCE IN FRANCE

The Man Who Is Restoring the Devastated Areas Has Had Marvelous Career.

GERMANS FEAR HIM

Rose From Poverty to Power by Rare Initiative in Big Construction Works.

GERMANS may be quite mistaken in their idea that Louis Loucheur, is the real ruler of France, but there can be no doubt that he is one of the "strong," as they say at Paris—a figure no less important now than Poincare or Briand. Louis Loucheur lacks the genius for publicity because he did not enter politics by way of journalism. He was an engineer, a constructor, a mathematician, a man who had risen from poverty to power in the industrial world through initiative and what the French call "objectivity." The Germans deem him their worst enemy in France, the creator of that policy of irreconcilable determination.

He began life as the mathematical prodigy of the college at Lille, and, as he approaches fifty, finds himself so steeped in the atmosphere of the Chamber of Deputies that he might as well, laments the Action, be a pot-house politician. Who would dream, we are asked, that this Loucheur is the discoverer of two absolutely new theorems on spicycloids that have won the admiration of geometricians? The bent of his genius had been discovered before he entered the Ecole polytechnique, where, according to M. Marc Loge, writing in the London Outlook, only his detestation of German and his refusal to have anything to do with chemistry kept him from supreme academic distinction. His passion in those days was for geometry, but he enlarged the scope of his mathematics when he entered the artillery school at Vincennes. There, too, he proved an intellectual prodigy.

If the father of Louis Loucheur had not died unexpectedly at this time, leaving a trivial estate which the youth surrendered to his mother and sisters, the statesman would have been extinguished prematurely in the theorist. Louis Loucheur had to make money, a thing he never thought much of before. Connection with the Nord railways enabled him to find a practical outlet for his genius. He was little more than a stripling when he was entrusted with the task of widening the tracks of one of the great railroad stations. He sat up night after night and seemed to be working in flat defiance of practical experience, so delicately had he calculated his curves and stresses. Traffic was never interrupted. The work was finished ahead of time. Every specification was nicely met and the cost was within the estimate. The position of the youth an an efficient engineer was so well established that he could afford to marry, and he was rewarded with a desirable post in the provinces.

They Thought Him Mad

NOW occurred one of those swift transformations in which the career of Louis Loucheur abounds and which seem to reflect the essential trait in him. A classmate of his at the Polytechnique turned up unexpectedly with a suggestion that they form an engineering firm. His old college chum had a little money. Loucheur insisted that he and his partner specialize in reinforced concrete, and that seemed a mad whim. Reinforced concrete was unknown to the French, or nearly so, and there were engineers in the land who ridiculed it. His triumph came with the completion of the plant which gives light to Clermont-Ferrand. The immense artificial lake necessitated by the undertaking caused some experts to impeach the sanity of the bold Loucheur.

He revealed this daring, this defiance of experience, in all his engineering. Nobody took him seriously when he affirmed that the waterfalls of the Dauphine and the Grenoble district ought to provide motive power for a vast region. He was inferred to be the victim of a mania for carrying power across insurmountable obstacles—from the Alps to the industrial centres. His idea was to enable France to get abreast of Germany in the matter of electrification, and this was held impossible. He went obstinately forward with his construction of great central motive-power stations. His successes were so astonishing that his fame became international, and he was not forty when he got big contracts in Italy, and especially in Russia. He was a rich man, employing thousands of workmen, with interests in Moscow, Tangier and Rome. He had become what the French call a "great industrial."

He had acquired a beautiful home in an exquisite garden at Louveciennes, where his leisure was passed in the society of his wife and daughters. He has all the Gallic sprightliness, a capacity for the enjoyment of life.

The creation of a ministerial post for the restoration of the "devastated regions" of France meant the appointment of Louis Loucheur to a seat in the cabinet. Inevitably, he manifested the temperamental impatience of his nature. The Germans were slow—slow in sending that coal, slow in providing material, slow in handling machinery. He would not permit Germany to send her workmen into France. They dawdled, he said. Here a well-known trait in Louis Loucheur must be allowed for. "He plants a seed," writes M. Marc Loge; "a week later he expects to gather flowers, and a fortnight later oranges." This eagerness to race with time was a precious asset to his country during the war. It was he who solved the ammunition problem. Always he urged speed. He does not mind being laughed at when he says that whatever is well done is quickly done.

A Poor Division

THIS is a delicate way of putting it, isn't it?

"My dear," he said to his wife at table, "I begin to think there are a few misprints in your cookery book."

FIGHTS BRITISH BUT LOVES THEM

Peculiar Policy of Gandhi of India, the Most Wonderful of Agitators.

HE IS A LAWYER

Graduated in England, But Now Opposes Telephones, Factories, and All Progress.

SUDDEN as must seem the international renown which his sensational challenge has won for Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi, he has spent years in building up his immense following in India, in South Africa, in all Oriental lands which would rid themselves of the rule of the whites. For years Mr. Gandhi has preached contempt for telephones, opposition to factories, indifference to money and a general boycott of everything that goes by the name of western progress. For years he has lived the life of an ascetic and he seems actually to thrive on his diet of goat's milk and salt, varied now and then with wheat and a little fruit. "He never sues a debtor," explains the London Mail, which, like all British dailies, devotes much space to his personality, "he never gives evidence against an enemy, he always travels third class, the acme of discomfort in India, and he always goes barefoot." He tries to get along with as little sleep as possible and sometimes dispenses with it for three consecutive days.

His voice, monotonous at times, has a pleasing effect. He wears the meanest garb. He does not look his fifty-two years for there is an abundance of grey hair which becomes the round skull that tapers into a pointed chin beneath rather thick lips. The swimming eyes are appropriate in the head of one who says of himself: "Most religious men I have met are politicians in disguise. I, who wear the guise of a politician, am at heart a religious man."

His father was a political agitator years ago, although he accumulated his substance as a merchant. He was sufficiently well off to afford his eldest son, our Mr. Gandhi, the advantages of a legal education in England. The present "Mahatma," to give him a courtesy title bestowed popularly because of his spirituality, practised law in India for some years somewhat obscurely.

Prays For His Enemies

THE originality of Mr. Gandhi's agitation against the British in India resides in his policy of love for them. The capital blunder of his people hitherto, he fancies, has been their persistence in hating the English.

His supporters have not attained the heights of his own idealism. The Gandhi agitation in India has been attended with sanguinary scenes, riots, fires in populous cities. Mobs have shouted the name of Gandhi with enthusiasm as they rushed to slaughter and incendiarism. The agitation extends as far as Turkey, where Gandhi is accused of some sort of complicity with the Moslem leaders. The Gandhi doctrine requires a boycott of all foreign goods, of foreign schools.

Unlike some Indian agitators of the past, he lives a private life against which no taint of scandal can be urged. He is happily married and his four sons are apt, stalwart youths. Harilal, the oldest, has entered mercantile life in Calcutta, while the youngest, Devadas, assists his father in the task of rousing the Indian conscience.

The Utopia of Gandhi is an idealism translated into practical living and he does not believe that the failure of Christian lands to live the teachings of Jesus need deter the Oriental world from making a tremendous experiment in politics and economics upon a purely spiritual plane. If India has sufficient unity to expel the British, he affirms, she can also protect herself against foreign aggression. "Universal soul force will keep our shores inviolate. It is by making armaments that war is made." This is a fundamental Gandhi teaching. Battleships must go. Guns are not to be made. Indians are never to lend themselves through their manual labor to the manufacture of any weapon of offense.

No Chance

RETURNING home from the dentist's, where he had gone to have a loose tooth drawn, little Raymond reported as follows: "The doctor told me 'fore he began that if I cried or screamed it would cost me a dollar, but if I was a good boy it would be only fifty cents."

"Did you scream?" his mother asked.

"How could I?" answered Raymond. "You gave me only 50 cents."—Continent.

WHO has accepted the portfolio of minister of labor in the new Ulster cabinet, formerly held by Sir James Craig, first prime minister of Ulster under the Home Rule Act

To Find New Chancellor of Exchequer Go Where the Shouting is Loudest

Sir Robert Horne Stimulates More Uproar Than Even Winston Churchill—His Mother Thinks He Should Be a Preacher.

THE mother of Sir Robert Horne prayed from the hour of his birth that he might become a minister of the gospel, but instead of that he is chancellor of the exchequer and the man of the hour in British politics. "Dinna be a fool," his mother is quoted in the London Times as saying to him when he asked her opinion about taking office, "come hame." Matters, he respectfully explained, had gone too far. His father had been a Presbyterian minister, to be sure, but the boy had been affected early in life by much study of Schopenhauer and Fichte and Hume and Voltaire. He held a chair of philosophy at an important university and wrote about things which his venerable mother, still alive at a great age, thought no Christian should even understand. She cherishes a hope that he may yet see the error of his ways and preach the gospel, for he is only fifty.

The fame of Sir Robert Horne is so well established that it is difficult to realize the extreme brevity of his parliamentary career. He has not been three years in the Commons, but, as the London daily explains, he took to parliamentary life from the first, unlike so many other clever lawyers who must wait to saturate themselves with the atmosphere of the place. He speaks pithily in tones that ring out distinctly and he has the advantage of what is called "a good presence." The smile seems never to desert that open face. He has the good luck to suggest nothing like genius, to wear no aspect of the superman and he disarms criticism by asserting at the outset of a debate that he is not quite sure that he knows what he is talking about, but he hopes to learn.

His rapid rise is ascribed to his social gifts chiefly. Nobody questions his solid attainments, his profound knowledge of his own branch of the law, his intimacy with serious literature, his intellectual power; but it is no disparagement of these things to affirm, as the London Post does, that he gets along because he is such delightful company. He dines out almost nightly and his entertainments in his bachelor apartments are among the events of the London season. He happens to be one of the best dancers of his time and he has a passion for meeting people. Wherever he goes he makes himself the life of a party and that not because he tries to shine, but because he bubbles over with geniality and what the English call high spirits. His detractors insist that he is only lucky and even the London Times concedes that the secret of his power is elusive.

He is a big, bulky figure to look at and he paces in his most ordinary walk at a stride that makes the average man breathless. He dashes through a swinging door at a run. He fidgets when indoors and he hates the atmosphere of an office. London dailies report him a restless being at board meetings. He is the ideal outdoors man, hating the smell of gas so intensely that he never, if he can help it, rides in an automobile. The invention of the motor car seems to him a doubtful blessing. His recreations are such outdoor activities as golf and running, angling and an occasional tour on a bicycle. In the summer he likes to trudge about in the open, often putting up at some out-of-the-way inn where he is a stranger, lounging about the field in shabby suits and shabbier hats. He loves to pick flowers. He once confided to a friend that he would have liked to devote his life to nature study. He is the last person in the world to be suspected of a passion for metaphysics and philosophy, the only indoor sport, he has said, to which he ever addicted himself.

He carries this outdoor breeziness into all his official life, made up of loud talks with laborites, tax reformers, parliamentary committees. Everybody shouts around him or bangs tables or makes defiant observations. There is sure to be an interval during which everybody talks at once. Sir Robert has thus a genius for animating people, for developing noise and turmoil. All this was remarkable enough, as the London Herald says, when he was only minister of labor, but labor is accustomed to noise and rather liked Sir Robert Horne's vivid style. When he was put at the head of the Board of Trade there was more noise than ever, louder pounding of tables, greater vehemence in speeches. He did not set the example. He merely stimulated. His incomparable vividness of manner involved all negotiations in uproar, in melodrama, reaching a climax in loud laughter. Now that he is responsible for his country's finances, Sir Robert Horne exults in the same pandemonium. He has quite eclipsed Winston Churchill as the noisiest creature in the British government. Sir Robert Horne's critics accuse him of a suspicion that all the world is deaf. If you want to find out where he is, go where the shouting is loudest.

Sir Robert Horne, M.P.

HON. HUGH O'NEILL,

MEMBER of the British parliament from Belfast, Ireland, who has been elected speaker of the first Ulster parliament under the Irish Home Rule Act. Speaker O'Neill served with distinction during the war, and holds a major's commission in the British army.

VERY SELDOM VISIBLE

A GOOD story was told recently concerning the Jam Sahib of Nawanagar, better known to the British public under his old title of Prince Ranjitsinhji, the famous cricketer.

When he was over on a visit recently a certain society dame started discussing with him the various religions of India.

"I can understand," she said, "a Mohammedan venerating Mohammed, or a Buddhist worshipping Buddha, but I cannot conceive of a cultured man being a Parsee and worshipping the sun."

The Jam Sahib gazed thoughtfully out of the window at the thick London fog.

"But, my dear lady," he said, "you've no idea what a splendid, awe-inspiring sight the sun is. You should just see it once."

THE WORLD'S ONLY WOMAN SALVAGER

Minus Experience, She Started Bringing Wonderful Cargoes From Bottom of Lakes.

NEW DIVING DEVICE

Now She Is Going to England to Look Into World-Wide Treasure-Hunting.

THIS is the story of a tiny woman, a few inches over four feet high, who took a notion, goodness knows why, to wrest the buried treasures from watery graves; and who, with twenty dollars capital and no knowledge whatever of diving or the salvage business, succeeded in robbing the deep of its romantic wreckage, of solid copper in five-ton chunks, and treasure-chests, and thousands of relics of men that go down in ships at sea!

Mrs. Margaret Goodman is the only woman salvager in the world. She succeeded where many men have failed, Winifred Harper Cooley tells the story in the Green Book.

It was through a fascination for diving apparatus that Mrs. Goodman first became enamored with salvage work. She saw a suit of armor demonstrated that was a big improvement on past kinds. Of course, the whole secret of securing limitless treasure is a perfected breathing apparatus. If a diver can breathe long enough, he can wander around the ocean floor and help himself to endless loads of priceless things.

She began plans by going to Alpena, Michigan, to see Captain John Persons, who had stood as a child, with his father, the keeper of the lighthouse fifty-five years before, and seen the ship Pewabic sink with a cargo of copper. Mrs. Goodman was a Detroit woman and recalled the historic fact as well as a number of other picturesque traditions. "I read the scrap book arranged by the lighthouse keeper, and learned that the captain of that lost vessel had been rescued, and was living at the age of eighty in Cleveland, Ohio, so of course, I was eager to see him," said Mrs. Goodman.

Lifted Tons of Copper

THE old sea-dog showed her the ship's manifest, by which she learned that in the hold had been three hundred tons of copper, worth some two hundred thousand dollars, and several tons of pig iron. In the express-box of the ship was money then current, but now termed shinplasters, worth at the time, fifty thousand dollars.

Imagination reeled. The ship was down there on the lake-bottom. Diving armor was waiting, and brave souls are not lacking who always stand ready for the minor trial which may result in the "Great Adventure!" Divers risk death daily.

There lacked only capital. Money is requisite for anything in this sordid world. The lady had twenty dollars.

In Toledo, Ohio, she was living in 1916. She formed a little company and tramped around in a cold, wet winter, trying to sell stock, by interesting folks in this wild, and to her fascinating and feasible scheme. At last, thirty thousand dollars was secured. Doubtless many of the people who ventured on the "wildcat investment" "kissed their money good-by!"

With four men and the barge, Mrs. Goodman dragged the lake for five weeks before success crowned her efforts. After the first thrill, it became a routine business. They hauled up so much copper in five-ton chunks that treasure-inspection was all in the day's work for Captain Margaret!

The salvage business is like opening a Christmas box: there are unending surprises. Not only precious metals and ornaments and coin, but sponges and corals and valuable timber may be procured. Mrs. Goodman, sighing for new worlds to conquer, has determined to fish for black walnut and white oak logs that are known (to repose at the bottom of Lake Erie! There was a schooner in 1865, en route to Montreal, which carried a cargo of 110,000 feet of black walnut logs. It went down; and now, financed by Detroit capital, she is planning to capture this.

$50,000 For One Wreck

MRS. GOODMAN says she is paid fifty thousand dollars to raise the Merida in the ocean off Norfolk, Va., and to salvage the Gilda, which lies in Lake Superior.

Two divers lost their lives trying to recover the Pewabic, and many men, greedy for easy gold, have lost money and lives in vain attempts to do what Mrs. Goodman succeeded in doing. There have been crazes for salvaging the seas, regular brainstorms, and waves of enthusiasm. Just why an inexperienced woman had the nerve and ability to achieve success is difficult to ascertain.

The newly perfected diving apparatus of which Mrs. Goodman is so proud will enable divers to go down four hundred feet, which hitherto has been an impossible dream. She declares that her aspirations and actual practical plans embrace the entire world, for all the oceans contain limitless possibilities. This thought is included in the name of the magic diving equipment, which she calls the International Diving apparatus! She is going to England this fall, because of this new device. A great British company invited her to come and talk over possibilities.

The young woman now lives in New York. She has an office in Brooklyn, and has become interested in raising boats as well as cargo!

Great Expectations

"MY husband," said a young wife, "is a very unreasonable man."

"In what way?" asked a friend.

"He expects me to live on nothing and save half."

SENSE AND NONSENSE.

MOST men appreciate the nonsense of a pretty woman far more than they do the sense of a homely one.

THE CONFESSIONAL: Uncensored Talks With Big Men About Themselves

No. 42.—LIEUT.-GOVERNOR CLARKE

By EMIL LONGUE BEAU.

LIONEL is a regal name; though it has been little affected by royalty since the last Duke of Clarence, who bore it, was drowned in a butt of Malmsey wine. His name is not the only royal quality in the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario. He does not need such adventitious aids to dignity as a knighthood. It had become the habit to knight the King's representative dwelling at Government House, this city. The line has been broken in the present incumbent of a home that is splendid enough for kings and annoying enough for weekly scenes. Mr. Clarke takes neither a title nor a Windsor uniform to the opening of the legislature. Not for him the cocked hat with its white plume.

He goes to Queen's Park with his manhood and a morning coat upon him—and the former is all that mortal man can expect of any fellow. The first time he walked to the Speaker's chair he was escorted by a premier who also needs no adventitious aids to official propriety. Passing his lady, sitting also for the first time in the front seats of the mighty, he winked at her—a perfectly dignified, and delightfully eloquent wink; but a wink just the same. His honor never winked at anybody in his life; but his smiles have been constant enough for the solidest sort of popularity that can come to a successful business man elevated to the place of royal highness. talk, too, is as good as his geniality—free but not too familiar; sensible without being oppressively sententious; and enlightening without the faintest effort to dazzle. He has been away for the good of his health—no artificial excuse, but the necessity that befel a man who works hard in the public service, who spends and is spent for duty's sake; and who, though he doesn't love what Sir Joseph Flavelle calls the Art of Being Misunderstood, is not very keen to tell what he has learned about something U. F. O.'s like Cap Smith think is very like a superfluity of naughtiness. Listen to his honor:

"There was a time, a good while ago, when I had something of the popular notion of the office I now hold. You remember how it used to be spoken of as if it were all beer and skittles for the occupant, with a few merely formal duties that could have been as well discharged by a marionette as by a man. Some people still imagine, no doubt, that all public office is a joy-ride of honor, with certain prerogativial privileges which it must be an exhilaration to display. The King is supposed to sit in state, with his crown on his head and the orb and sceptre in his hand, giving orders to his minions, while the Queen is in the parlor eating bread and honey. I have never been a member of a cabinet; but, as far as I can learn anything of that position, it means an immense amount of drudgery and worry—you console yourself with thinking that you will be in better health after it is all over.

"But I have been in other offices that are presumed to carry a certain dignity. I was president of the Toronto board of trade, twelve or thirteen years ago. It meant a lot of work, without the ingratitudes which strew the path of statesmen. The commercial men of Toronto are men of affairs who understand, the majority of people cannot, that where there are many divergent interests to reconcile, nothing is achieved without labor, and patience and mastery of details that are often burdensome and never light."

"You have falsified a statement I once heard a business man make," I said, "about the presidency of the board of trade."

"And what was the statement?" asked the Lieutenant-Governor.

"That to have been president of the Toronto board of trade was thereafter to be down and out in public life."

Mr. Clarke laughed heartily at this, and asked who made so extraordinary an assertion. I told him it was the president of a publishing house, whereon he enquired:

"And is he the president of a publishing house now?"

"No," I said; "he's down and out," which brought this reply:

"Too bad. Perhaps, when he made his remark, coming events were casting their shadows before." I said they certainly were, in this publishing-president's case. Then, from the Lieutenant-Governor:

"Well, I think a pretty good list could be made of the presidents of the Toronto board of trade who have been heard of after they passed the chair—Sir Edward Kemp, for instance, and one could name others. Of course, every man who fills that office does not continue to fill large space in the public eye; but it would be a great mistake for the public to suppose that those who give of their time to work of that kind only do it for things which may be said are for their business advantage. To some members, perhaps, the board may be directly helpful in their own business. I am an old grain man, for instance; and the board of trade is useful to some branches of that occupation. But I don't believe one per cent. of those who take an active interest in the board do it for selfish reasons. Usually they are interested in other public service for which there can possibly be no business or other advantage to them except the knowledge of duty conscientiously done."

"The harbor commissioner?" I suggested.

"Yes," he said, "if I may use a personal illustration. "I have enjoyed the work as chairman of the commission. Perhaps, if I hadn't, I might have resigned when I came to government house. It has been a pleasure to work with my colleagues from the beginning. But I think I can say honestly, that the element of public service has chiefly appealed to me all along. It was on that account that I remained with the commission even when I might have been supposed to be entering on a period of more ease with greater dignity. It has been a liberal education to be on the same board with Home Smith, and——"

"Tommy Church!" I guessed.

"Now, my good friend," said his honor, with a good-natured, deprecatory wave of the hand, "don't laugh at Tommy Church. He cares a great deal for the city of Toronto; and, if elections mean anything, it looks as if Toronto cares a great deal for him. Of course, we have our interesting times with him, and perhaps he would tell you he has his interesting times with us. But, after all, the mayor of Toronto is the mayor of Toronto, and possibly Mr. Church, if they knew him, would prove to be as much of a surprise to some of his critics as the Abbot of Canterbury was to the inquisitive King John. Sometimes, you know, one learns how true it is that the office is bigger than the man, even when the man, after all, is a pretty decent sort of fellow."

He goes to Queen's Park with his manhood and a morning coat upon him.

One hardly knew whether to take this as a distinct character sketch of The Inimitable, but his honor's remarks about the office being bigger than the man offered an opportunity to turn the conversation back to the most distinguished of his offices. Boldly I asked him what had been the chief discovery of nearly two years gubernatoriality. He answered gaily by reminding me of the Aberdonian who hadna been in London twa oors before "Bang went saxpence."

"The expense," he added, "has been progressive discovery; but it is not a complaint. I don't propose to beggar myself, as Sir Oliver Cromwell—the Protector's uncle, you remember—did in entertaining King James at Hinchinbrook. But sometimes one could wish that the good people who talk about the enormous expense of the lieutenant-governorship to the province would bestow a passing thought on the expense of the lieutenant-governorship to the lieutenant-governor."

"Pardon me, if I seem to speak too much of myself; but this is a public office, generally presumed to be maintained at the public expense; and if I am to talk openly at all, I may as well take my life in my hands and be as frank as the circumstances will allow, and possibly franker than prudence would dictate."

"Frankness is usually the short way with the critics," I ventured to say; "and a real service may be rendered the public by telling something about an aspect of their concerns of which too much is insinuated and too little is known."

"I believe you're right," he was kind enough to say; "so here goes. With the criticism that has been leveled at the original cost of Government House I have nothing to do. Nor have I any responsibility for the cost of its maintenance—the tons of coal consumed each winter, for instance. Neither would I say anything on the score that we are a democracy, and our appointments should be on a democratic economical scale. Ontario is vastly bigger than and almost as populous as Denmark, with infinitely greater natural wealth. The lieutenant-governor represents the king in this commonwealth within a commonwealth. James the First used to say 'No bishop no king.' That might be turned to 'No dignity, no monarchy.' This office might be administered from the point of view that it leads 'society,' 'society' meaning that very small minority of the people who concern themselves with social affairs that cost much money and minister to the habits and perhaps the whims and vanities of a few individuals who have solved, or have had solved for them, the problem of living without working, and of enjoying the shows of public station without first rendering self-sacrificing service to the public.

"I had to face, here, a condition more than a theory. One small matter will illustrate the condition. The steward and the gardener of this place are voted eight hundred dollars a year each by the legislature—the same amount as when you could buy potatoes for twenty-five cents a bag, and chickens at fifty cents a pair. As you come in you can see whether the magnificent provision of the government can keep up the government's gardens.

"But a part of the condition we faced when we moved in here was a theory, on which, we thought, the office should be maintained. I am the lieutenant-governor of Ontario, not of a few people in Ontario. This office should afford expression, as far as possible, to the many aspects of the community life within the province. So far as lies within our power—and I am speaking for my wife equally with myself, and, I may say, for our daughter, who is invaluable to us—we have tried to make our fellow citizens who are serving the community because of the service understand that this is their house, and that we are their coadjutors in the service, within our sphere and to the extent of our opportunities.

"There is a magnificent and spacious ballroom. We are not dancers. To a considerable extent we have turned the ballroom into a refectory. We rejoice to have our fellow citizens break bread in their own house. Annual meetings of all sorts of societies have taken place here, and conventions. I don't care to say anything more than that; but it might surprise you to see the list of the gatherings that have taken place in this house in one week.

"Mind, we take no credit for that—it is part of the duty of the office as we see it. Though it means a good deal of work for us, we get a great deal of satisfaction in doing it. It is a very great honor, of course, to represent majesty in this great province; but there is no dignity in an honor that is not accepted as a responsibility for service to be honestly and, I hope I may say, humbly discharged."

"This can't be an eminent poor man's office," I remarked, feeling unequal to expressing what I felt at so frankly and manly, so restrained and, indeed, so unaffected and noble an avowal.

"Ah! there you touch an aspect of democratic government that I'm afraid I can't enter into," Mr. Clarke responded. "I might have to consult my advisers on such a question," he said, with a face laughing and eyes a-twinkle. "I am in a position that I did not make fulfilling duties I did not prescribe. All I can do is to try to prove myself a workman that needeth not to be ashamed. Come again."

The reader will not take too literally the observations of leading men about themselves recorded by Mr. Longue Beau, but will understand that they are what the speakers would be likely to say confessionally.

SPORT COMMENT

In the midst of the pennant fight in the American League last season, when every player on the Cleveland team was giving his very best, Ray Chapman, their shortstop and one of the best men on the team, met his death on the Polo Grounds.

Speaker was confronted, not only with the problem of filling Chapman's shoes, but of building up the morale of the team—which was pretty hard hit, for Chapman was a prince of a fellow, and his death struck home to every Cleveland player. It just seemed to take the heart right out of them.

Tris had a young recruit from the Southern League named Joe Sewell, and, like a drowning man grasps at a straw, Speaker took a chance on Joe—probably because he had nothing better. The dope didn't give Sewell much of a show. The fact is that there are very few shortstops in the game who would stack up with Chapman, as he had been playing; so it was figured that Joe didn't have a chance.

Well, the dope was wrong. Sewell has made good. He stepped in there and did his darndest. All Fandom had its eyes centred on him. A pennant depended on his playing. That he didn't falter is proof enough that Sewell is made of the stuff from which real ball-players spring.

From college to holding down a regular berth with a world champion aggregation is a feat that few have accomplished. But Joe, it seems, is rather used to coming through with the goods at the critical moment. He was one of the star members of the University of Alabama football team in 1919, and his work on the gridiron the year previous to joining the Indians was the talk of the South.

JACK JOHNSTON CANNOT BOX FOR TEX RICKARD---NO OTHER IN SIGHT

NEW YORK, July 9.—In handling the Dempsey-Carpentier fight the 'Jersey' moxing commission was right on the job. The commission is still on the job.

In announcing that Jack Johnson could not box in New Jersey the commissioners seem to have the interest of the whole sport at heart.

There is no disposition in boxing circles to persecute the former world's champion, but there is a desire to keep the game from carrying more burdens than it is saddled with now.

Tex Rickard knows the public puse better perhaps than anyone connected with the American boxing game, and he was the first to say that a match with Johnson would not go.

"I am not in boxing for to-day only. I did not promote the recent world's championship for money alone," Rickard said. "I like the game and I want to see it prosper, because I can prosper with it. I will not arrange any matches in the future that might hurt the sport."

Speaking of the return of Jess Willard to the ring, Rickard said he would not sign the big Kansan until he could be convinced that the former champion could get into condition.

There are many doubts that Willard could get back into shape after an absence of two years from the ring. He never did like to train before he retired, and he would have twice as hard a task to get in fighting shape now.

Jack Dempsey is practically alone in the field. As the champion, and a great champion, he deserves to get all the work he wants, but he should not be matched with any opponent that cannot get him a contest.

Bill Brennan might be entitled to another chance at the title, but he has been knocked out twice by the champion. He surely will get it again, and he'll get it much quicker than he did on the previous times if he goes into the ring again with the champion.

The field of comers doesn't include a lot of talent. Tommy Gibbons, if he succeeds in beating Carpentier, will be the one entitled to a bid for the title.

The Gibbons-Carpentier match seems a sure thing for Columbus day if the Frenchman's hand mends in the meantime. Gibbons in his present form ought to beat the Frenchman.

Dempsey has been fighting only once a year, and he can wait another year for a real contender instead of taking second-raters who have no chance against him.

ST. PETER'S BALL TEAM WIN IN CITY JUVENILE LEAGUE

St. Peter's defeated Generals 6 to 2 last night in the City Juvenile League game at Riverside Park in a light hitting affair, in which McDonough of St. Peter's held the Generals to three scattered hits, while his team mates only collected four off the delivery of Batten, on the rubber for the losers. The wet ball made both pitchers generous with their passes, Mr. Donough walking seven, while Batten passed five and hit another. The game was featured by the snappy fielding of Wells at second for the Generals, and Koster at short for the winners.

St. Peter's started the scoring in the first. With one out McDonough walked, stole second, when to third while Davis was throwing Holland out at first and scored on Williams' miss of Collins' fly to centre.

Generals evened up in their half. Wells walked and Williams sdratched a hit on a pop fly in front of the plate. Wilson's infield out advanced the runners. Davis walked, filling the bases and Jones also drew a pass, forcing in Wells. McDuffee fouled to Collins and Mahood flied to Koster.

The Students won the game in the third. McDonough walked to start with and stole second. Holland singled to right and when McDuffee let the ball get away McDonough scored and Holland reached second. Collins was safe on Edgar's fumble. Clancy missed three and Killoran fouled to Davis, but Koster singled to right, scoring Holland and Collins. He died stealing, Davis to Wells.

The winners got two more in the fourth. With one out Lebarr was hit and stole second. Wolfe hit to Wells, but Mahood lost the throw, Lebarr going to third. He scored when Davis dropped the third strike on McDonough and had to throw to first. Edgar's error, on Holland's tap, sent Wolfe in. Collins rolled to Wells.

The Generals got their second run in the sixth. Mahood beat out a bunt and adanced on Collins' high throw. Edgar and Batten both whiffed. Wells drew a pass. When Koster let Williams' roller get away Mahood scored, but Wells was out at the plate trying to register on the play.

DISCORD IN PORT HOPE HOME, WIFE SOUGHT ALIMONY

ACTION DISMISSED BY JUSTICE ORDE AT OSGOODE HALL—ASKED FOR $50 A WEEK.

TORONTO, July 9. — Jay B. Gould, storekeeper, of Port Hope was defendant in an action brought against him by his wife, Verna H. Gould, for $50 a week alimony. The action is dismissed in a judgment given by Justice Orde at Osgoode Hall this morning. The parties to the action were married in 1908 and have three children, a boy of twelve years, and two girls of nine and six years.

"The husband and wife were entirely unsuited to each other," remarks Justice Orde, "and neither seems capable of making any allowance for the desires and tastes of the other. The husband apparently plays no games, dislikes dancing, and will not go out in the evening, but prefers to stay at home. The wife on the other hand, seems inordinately fond of dancing cards and galety in general, and likes to remain out till the early hours of the morning. She sees nothing out of the ordinary in dancing at a public hall or playing cards until 2.30 a.m., and then going to a friend's house for supper afterwards, and considers it a hardship that her husband declines to accompany her, and this not as an occasional form of recreation, but as a more or less constant and regular habit. As a result of this and the defendant's drink habits there were frequent disagreements and on several occasions the defendant struck his wife, once chasing her from the house in winter when she was in her nightgown and bare feet. This treatment of her on several of these occasions was probably sufficient to have justified her in leaving him and claiming alimony."

Justice Orde declaresc that there were other acts which would have justified her in leaving him, and in fact she did leave him for eleven months in 1918 and went to live in Detroit, but her return to live with him condoned those offences.

On the evening of February 10th last, Mrs. Gould was going to a card party, and her husband warned her that if she was not back by midnight he would lock her out. She found it impossible to return by that hour, and spent the night at a neighbour's Her husband says he did not lock the door as he had threatened at mid night, but finding that she had not returned by the morning, he closed up the house and barred the doors with the idea that she would come to see him at his store and that they could thresh the matter out and come to some agreement.

When the wife returned in the morning and found her entrance to her home barred, she did not go to her husband, but to a solicitor. The solicitor wrote the husband demanding alimony, and the husband responded with an invitation to his wife to return to him. Instead Mrs. Gould entered action. Before she left Port Hope she borrowed a key from a former occupant of the house and went into get some of her clothes. Her entry on this ocasion says the judge, weakens her claim that she was excluded from the home. He says that she was well able to take care of herself—she weighs 108 lbs., while her husband weighs only 124—and the house belonged to her.

She might have remained in the house till her husband returned and see what happened.

Not a Reviver.

It was argued on behalf of Mrs. Gould that the effect of the exclusion from the house was to revive all the previous matrimonial offences which had been condoned. Justice Orde says: "The exclusion from the matrimonial home not being sufficient in itself because of the defendant's offer to receive his wife back to entitle her to alimony, it cannot be relied upon as a matrimonial offence which has the effect of reviving earlier offences."

BABY MOVIE ACTOR REFUSES TO SMILE

Parents Sue When Child's Salary is Withheld.

LOS ANGELES, July 8. — A chronic, woebegone facial expression and a propensity to exercise an infant's privilege —the right to bawl with vigor and gusto—threaten to halt chubby, blue-eyed Arthur Nowells rise to motion picture stardom.

At least, these temporarily are costing Baby Arthur or his fond parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Nowell, just $75 a week.

Arthur is three, healthy and a movie actor. He had a contract with Chester Comedies to "play next to" a shaggy chimpanzee. Complications ensued, however, when the potential screen hero developed an aversion to cameras.

Instead of the cooing, gurgling tot they believed him to be, the Chester company averts, the young hopeful proved to possess oddless of "temperament" and, whenever a camera was trained on him for a sunshinny "shot' he would vent his displeasure with lusty squawks not suitable to his role.

Yards and yards of ruined film later, Arthur was "fired." Anyway Superior Judge York is pondering whether Arthur's parents are entitled to $550 which they assert is due to them on the child's contract.

ALLEGE GREEK MARINES SLAUGHTERED MANY TURKS.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 8 (Canadian Press).—The Allied Commission of Inquiry into the recent developments in the Ismid district to the east of this city, where depredations were alleged to have occurred during the successive operations by the Greeks and Turkish Nationalists, reached here to-day, and reported that the Greek marines had slaughtered several hundred Turks in the Ismid area.

THE GALLAGHER REMEDY CO., INCORPORATED

The owners of Gallagher's Herbal Family Remedies and Dr. Cook's Veterinary Remedies have obtained a charter from the Government with an authorized capital of $40,000, an announcement of which you will see on another page of this issue. Mr. Joseph Wearing, M.A., was successful in piloting this charter through.

Last year the firm placed their remedies in almost every town, village and hamlet in Central Ontario, also in Brantford, London, Ottawa and Toronto.

Their lines are becoming more popular every day, and right here at home over two thousand bottles have been placed in this city and county the past two months, while numerous cases of gall-stones, gravel, nervous prostration, have been cured after doctors had been baffled and operations faced the patients. The best drug stores in the city carry their complete line, and are recommending their remedies.

The field for expansion is limited only by their capital, hence the offer to the public of a portion of their stock. Their motto is to expand slowly and make each district pay before going further afield. They are receiving applications for blocks of their stock even before placing the same on the market. Anyone interested in a good investment would do well to arrange for an interview with the manager.

AT THE CAPITOL.

High Spots of Great Automobile Contest Finely Featured in "Too Much Speed."

Automobile race enthusiasts will see some of the high spots of the big speed classic which was held at the famous new Beverley Hills Speedway near Los Angeles on February 27th, 1921, when they see Wallace Reid's Paramount Picture, "Too Much Speed," which will be shown at the Capitol Theatre for three days, beginning next Monday night.

One of the big features of this picture is the race in which Wallace Reid in the role of Dusty Rhoades, is supposed to participate, and the big speed match referred to was used as a background for the story. Many of the most thrilling moments of the big race were filmed and will appear among the scenes of the picture.

Dusty Rhoades, a racing driver, gives up the game to wed Virginia, daughter of Pat MacMurran, Pakro manufacturers. Just before the wedding is to take place, however, Dusty accepts an open road challenge, ditches the machine in which Pat and he are riding and father calls off the match. After an unsuccessful attempt to elope with the girl, Dusty secretly buys Pat's discarded Pakro racing car, enters the race, wins the speed match and a contract from a foreign buyer for Pakro cars, and thus rewins old Pat's consent for his marriage to Virginia.

Byron Morgan wrote the story and Frank Urson directed. Mr. Reid is well supported by Agnes Ayres, Theodore Roberts, Jack Richardson, Lucien Littlefield, Guy Oliver, Henry Johnson, Jack Herbert and other favorites of the Paramount screen.

The balance of this big 12-reel programme will contain two good comedies, latest episode of the Avenging Arrow, Topics of the Day, Paramount Magazine, Pathe News, etc. A big summer show. The Capitol, with its modern ventilating and cooling system, is a pleasant place to visit at all times.

SCOTTISH FOOTBALLERS LEAVE FOR THE U. S.

MONTREAL, July 9.—The Scottish football team will leave Montreal directly after the game with All-Canada on Saturday to begin its tour in the United States. The first game will be in Jersey City on Saturday afternoon. At one time it was announced the team would have difficulty in getting into the States because no passports had been applied for. It was announced here to-day by Thos. Cahill, who is handling the United States' end of the Scotsmen's tour, that the passports had all been secured in Scotland.

JOHNSON GETS FREEDOM WHEN HE PAYS $1,000.

CHICAGO, July 8.—Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion boxer, may not be released from Leavenworth Penitentiary Saturday, as had been expected. It was announced he must pay the $1,000 fine imposed by Judge Carpenter at the time sentence was pronounced. Johnson's time had been shortened by good behavior, but if he does not produce the $1,000 he must serve thirty days longer and then be compelled to take a pauper's oath and prove he is unable to pay the fine in order to obtain his release.

Reports from Leavenworth say Johnson is in splendid physical condition. He runs five or ten miles every morning, and his position as manager of athletics in the big prison has afforded him opportunity to keep in training.

Wilson Challenges "Carp."

BOSTON, July 8.—A challenge to Georges Carpentier in behalf of Johnny Wilson, middleweight titleholder, was announced here by Marty Killilea, manager of the latter.

It has enabled salesmen to cover more than twice as much territory.

DEMPSEY'S ABSENCE UPSETS REFORMERS

MAY HAVE ONE OF THEIR OWN MEN ARRESTED FOR SEEING FIGHT, IN TEST OF LAW.

NEW YORK, July 9.—Dr. Wilbur F. Crafts and his fellow-reformers are anxiously awaiting a volunteer to come forward and be arrested for witnessing the Dempsey-Carpentier fight. All hope of getting Dempsey into court vanished following his departure for Chicago.

Nothing definite will be done until Dr. Crafts and Dr. Robert Watson, President of the International Reform Bureau, return from a flying trip to Ocean Grove and other points in New Jersey. Herbert Clark Gilson, their counsel, said they had a new plan, but would not reveal the details.

Mr. Gilson continued emphatic in his belief that the New Jersey Crimes Act had been violated, and that "some one" would be arrested soon. If all other attempts fail, one of Dr. Craft's own observers will be chosen as the offering on the altar of reform, and a warrant asked for his arrest in order to test the law.

Mr. Gilson was as certain as ever yesterday that the new boxing law had not repealed the old statute of 1898, which made prizefighting a misdemeanor. The wording of that statute was so broad that almost any boxing contest was prohibited. It read:

"Any person who shall be engaged in any fight or combat with fists, with or without gloves, whether such fight or combat be for money or any other valuable thing, or for any benefit for any other person, or merely to test the skill or bodily powers of the pugilists or combatants, and every person who shall aid, assist or abet in any such fight or combat, or any person who shall be present at any such fight or combat, whether coming from a foreign State or not, for the purpose of witnessing the same, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor."

The boxing law of 1918, which it has been said repealed the 1898 law, contained a section which said:

"All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed."

Mr. Gilson holds that this phrase does not repeal the old "prizefight" law, as the 1918 measure was merely a "regulatory act" to control boxing exhibitions, not prize fights. His second contention is that if the new law was meant to repeal the 1898 law it would have mentioned the fact specifically.

Whatever action Dr. Crafts intends to take against Governor Edwards, Mayor Hague of Jersey City, or Tex Rickard, promoter of the fight, or any other official connected with it, will await the return of the head of the Reform Bureau.

Rickard was arraigned in the Yorkville Court yesterday, charged with employing children in his big swimming pool in Madison Square Garden without a license. The complaint was made by Charles E. Tobin of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. Rickard said that none of the children received pay and that they were merely participating in the health programme he is conducting in connection with the pool.

"The law against employing children under age was designed to protect their health and morals," said Magistrate Douras, in discharging Rickard. "I can see no reason why Mr. Rickard should be brought into court on such a charge as this. These children are engaged in a healthy pursuit which has about it nothing to menace their moral health."

BASEBALL PLAYER HURT.

LINDSAY, July 9.—While participating in a ball game at Thurstonia on Thursday, Charles Hodgson, of Oakwood, was accidentally struck in the chin with a bat in the hand of a batter and rendered unconscious. First aid was rendered, after which the young man was brought to Lindsay, where Dr. Rich attended him. It was first thought his chin was dislocated, but fortunately the injury was not so serious.

The Great Divide

This is the great division line between Alberta and British Columbia

Away up in the Canadian Rockies on the main line of the C.P.R. travellers looking out of the train-window are attracted by a curious rustic-sign bearing the words "The Great Divide."

Flanking it on each side in similar rustic letter are the words "Alberta" and "British Columbia."

It is at this point that the two Provinces of "Alberta" and "British Columbia" bound each other. But the sign was evidently not put up here especially on that account. If it had been, there is no reason why every other Canadian province should not have its boundaries similarly set forth. In fact such a sign might indeed be very welcome to the tourist, en route across Canada, who, often does not know, as things now are, whether he voyages in Saskatchewan or Alberta. And most commuters think that all the Rockies belong to British Columbia, politically as well as geologically.

No this sign was not put here to "Divide" neighbors. It is here to call attention to a most wonderful and at the same time simple feat in nature. The division of the waters of a continent.

When the long train slows down and comes to a stop at this point, it is the lifting of its hat, so to speak, to a power greater than itself; and yet a power to which it bears resemblance in that it also crosses the continent and unites two oceans.

You step out of the train with the other passengers not at all knowing what you are to see (if this be your first trip). About you, are trees around the little clearing, and overhead, the bowl of the blue sky. There are no houses in sight. You wonder what it is all about.

You say to yourself, "Something important all right to halt the Imperial Limited." And then you come to the other passengers with a question on your lips. At that moment an official comes along answering the line of questions. "Yes, yes," says he, with the broad smile and a good nature which in itself stretches away across continent—"This is the Great Divide of the Streams." And then you go and look, and there, over the clean stones passes a ripple of laughters that is The Great Divide! A little rill above pebbles, of a depth that would nicely hold the bulb of hyacinth or daffodil on a library table. A little shallow stream upturned to the sky here on this height of land with an almost imperceptible turning, as if by the twist of an artist's brush, of a few drops toward the Pacific and a few others toward the Arctic. With a pebble between to cast the vote.

You suddenly see this little crystal-clear rivulet as something mystical and great. Mystical as the "little flower in the crannied wall."

The Great Divide awes travellers ways! The beginnings of two mighty into silence. It is the parting of the rivers embracing half a continent and controlling the life of all the land through which they pass to their ordained destinations, so far remote from each other that were you at their mouths instead of here at their source you could never believe they had ever any connection with each other.

The C. P. R. is not ashamed to pause, to bring great engines to a standstill here at this little altar in the hills.

When your trainman calls "All aboard" and you take your seat again it is with an entirely new feeling of intimacy toward the Columbia and Mackenzie rivers. For you have seen both their Great Divide and their great marriage.

WHY IS THE CENTRAL ONTARIO OIL COMPANY A GOOD INVESTMENT?

Because oil is the thing most sought after to keep the wheels of industry moving.

Proof that oil and gas are there is had from many sources and it is indisputable.

The geological formation indicates oil in good quantity according to the British Transvaal Oil Company and Mr. E. J. Cowain, M. E., and other authorities.

Gas and oil are found in wells, in pools etc.

On top of all this and what is very substantial proof, is that the system used in finding water for wells which is common knowledge actualy works here, and by that system we feel just as positive we have the oil lake outlined as we would be in locating the water for a well, and as the system has been tried out successfully in other fields don't you think this is the best chance you ever had to get big returns on your investment?

WEDDING BELLS

MURRAY—YOUNG.

A pretty wedding took place at St. Francis Church, Toronto, on Wednesday last, July 6th, when Irene Constance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Young, of Toronto, was united in the bonds of matrimony to William Murray, son of Mr. John Murray, Parnell Street, Peterborough. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore grey taffeta with hat to match and carried Ophelia roses. Miss Margaret Young, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, wearing brown canton crepe with brown hat and carried pink roses. Mr. Joseph Murray, brother of the groom, was best man. After a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents, Montrose Avenue, the young couple left for Muskoka, the bride travelling in navy suit with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Murray will reside in Toronto. The groom's gift to the bride was a platinum ring set with diamonds, to the bridesmaid a rope of pearls, and to the best man, gold cuff links.

LOCAL ORANGEMEN PARADE IN PORT HOPE ON TUESDAY

PETERBORO LODGES WILL BE LARGELY REPRESENTED. MANY OF MEMBERS WILL MOTOR.

The Orange Lodges of this district will celebrate "the Glorious Twelfth" in Port Hope this year, and thousands of Orangemen will crowd Port Hope on Tuesday, although the parade there is not expected to be as representative as in Peterboro last year.

It was expected to-day that Peterboro City would contribute 500 Orangemen and the county an equal or greater number, while there should be besides another thousand people go with them to "take in" the Twelfth.

The three local lodges who will attend in large numbers are Duke of Manchester, L.O.L. No. 50; J. W. Bell Memorial Lodge, L.O.L. No. 1175; Diamond Lodge, L.O.L. No. 80.

The True Blues are expected to send a big quota, and the I.O.B.A., which is represented in Peterboro by Vimy Lodge has promised to send about 120 women to Port Hope.

The Juveniles will muster about 80 strong, many of the little fellows attending their first celebration.

Eight lodges are going to Port Hope from the county.

Because a great many of the Orangemen will motor to Port Hope, the G.T.R. are only putting on one special train from here. This train will leave Lakefield at 8.30 and will make the following stops:

Nassau Mills, 8.40 a.m.
Auburn Mills, 8.43.
Peterboro, 9.05.
Fraserville, 9.20.
Millbrook, 9.35.
Carmel, 9.50.
Campbellcroft, 10.05.
Perrytown, 10.10.
Quay's, 10.15.
Port Hope 10.30.

This train will leave Port Hope again at 6 o'clock, reaching Peterboro at 7.25 p.m.

There will only be accommodation for less than a hundred on the regular 8.10 a.m. train. The special will be a long train and it seems probable that it will be literally seething with Orangemen. Probably there will be ten coaches.

The annual Orange church parade takes place to-night to Bethany Tabernacle. In the morning eight cars of Orangemen are going to Lindsay to attend divine service with the brethren there, and Lindsay is reciprocating in this brotherly feeling in the evening by bringing a dozen cars here to join with the local lodges at Bethany Tabernacle. The lodges will rally at Victoria Hall.

It was announced to-day that there would be no cheap rates to Port Hope on Tuesday. The regular round trip fare of $1.95 from Peterboro will prevail.

THUNDER CURES A DUMB VETERAN

RECOVERS SPEECH AFTER HEARING THUNDERCLAP.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

MONTREAL, July 9. — "It's strong," exclaimed C. Lavier, a Canadian veteran, of Ogdensburg, N.Y., who had been totally dumb for nine months from shellshock, after hearing a particularly terrifying thunderclap during last evening's storm.

Lavier was on board the steamer Rapids King, en route from a Toronto military hospital to visit his sister in Montreal, when the storm restored his power of speech. Fellow passengers noticed his extreme nervousness when the storm first broke.

This increased as the thunder and lightning grew in intensity, and noticing the man's pitiable condition Jack Delaney, a New York boxer, who with his wife is visitng Montreal, endeavoured to soothe him.

Despite the fact, however, that Delaney shielded Lavier's ears and eyes from the thunder and lightning, the latter's condition rapidly grew worse, but with shaking fingers the dumb man wrote on his pad that the tobacco was to strong.

No sooner had he done so than a terrific peal of thunder shook the vessel, and Lavier, to the amazement of all around, and of himself also, repeated the written words in a natural voice, exclaiming, "It's too strong."

Delaney offered him a cigarette. The barriers of speech broken down, Lavier indulged in a torrent of words, so great was his joy at recovering his vocal powers.

Delaney took him to the soda bar, where the ex-soldier had endeavoured to cool his thirst on the trip down river and the dispenser dropped a glass at the shock of hearing the erstwhile dumb man ask for grape juice.

According to the story told Delaney by Lavier, after he had recovered his speech, the latter went overseas with the 15th Battalion, and was shell shocked in France. He was stricken dumb, but later partly recovered his speech. Nine months ago, however, the dumbness completely returned, and from that time until last evening he had not spoken.

OLD POTATOES ARE CROWDED OUT BY THE FRESH CROP

Nature's best efforts were seen to-day's market. The vegetable and fruit waggons contained all manner of stuff that will grow in this clime and depite of the drought most of the stuff looked in very good shape.

New potatoes crowded out old ones. Most of the growers asked 75 cents a peck but one man would take 70 cents. For less than this one could buy a bag of last year's tubers At 65 cents there were plenty of old potatoes to be had. Nice cabbage were only 15 cents, green peas and beans were 10 cents a quart and onions, lettuce and radish were plentiful at five cents a bunch.

There were a lot of raspberries and huckleberries from the north country, in the waggons. Thirty cents was the prevailing price for raspberries and they sold rapidly.

There were several waggon fulls of huckleberries. Every huckleberry seller wanted 35 cents or $2.25 for an 8 quart pail. There was much grumbling amongst housewives over paying so much and the sales generally ran in one and two quart lots. There will not be many huckleberries next week, one man told the Examiner. The market was large and well attended The farmers wives were busy in the basket market keeping butter cool with ice and rhubarb leaves. Butter was up a little and sold at 38 cents. Eggs were 35 cents and sold generouly for "putting down" for winter use. There were quite a few spring chickens of sparrow-like proportions on the tables. These birdlings, however, were valuable. A two pounder cost 90 cents half as much again as a last year's hen. All the women folk asked 45 cents for spring chickens and 30 cents for old hens. The tiny chickens didn't look too bad, however, when dressed up with parsley and the choice part strapped on the exterior.

PUCKERED LIPS ARE CONSIDERED DANGER

Co-eds Are Warned to Avoid Letter "P" in Talk.

CHICAGO, July 8.—"P's" mean kisses. Therefore eliminate them from your vocabulary if you desire to be saved from the "kissing bug" said a warning promulgated at Northwestern University.

In these care-free times the co-eds have been warned that a puckered mouth is too kissable to be safe.

And this warning has put the subdebs in a quandary. In order to be safe she must eliminate from her daily meals her favorites, because of their "P's" and consequent puckered lips.

If she desires soup she dare not ask for it by that name. She must order it in the name of boullion. Her fish meal too, must be confined to salmon and cod. To order perch or pickerel would bring her too close within the clutches of the kissing bug.

Likewise to say "pardon me" and "beg your pardon" would imperil the girl. She must say instead, therefore, "Excuse me" and be sure to eliminate the please.

Conservative co-eds are promulgating a revision of their mother's motto "watch your "P's and Q's" to "watch your P's".

The Great Work To-Day

The great work to-day is undoubtedly the Prevention of Disease. The greatest factor in the Prevention of Disease is undoubtedly CHIROPRACTIC. It teacher that your Spine should be normal. It teaches that if your Spine is normal you will enjoy Health, and that Disease will not attack you. It is thus squarely up to you. First of all, see a Chiropractor; get him to give you a Spinal Analysis. If there are any Subluxations (Displacements) of the Vertebrae (Small Bones of the Spine), have these adjusted (put back in their proper place). Have your Children's Spines likewise examined and see that they are KEPT in good condition. Your home will then be Healthy.

DON'T PROCRASTINATE.

Don't wait until you are on a bed of sickless and cannot move hand or foot because of pain, but at the first sign of danger, and pain is a danger signal, see your Chiropractor. He will palpate your Spine, will locate the Cause of the pain, and by Adjusting the Cause, will Relieve the pain.

You will save time, money, and pain.

U.S. AND CANADA CLASPS HANDS OVER SOLDIERS' GRAVES

(Special Despatch to The Examiner).

THOROLD, Ont., July 11.—Around the monument raised by the citizens of this patriotic Canadian town, with a wide vision over the bleached bones of the American soldiers who died in the war of 1812 at the Battle of Beaver Dam, America and Canada clasped hands near noon to-day in a scene without parallel in the history of the two countries.

Governor McMaster, of South Dakota, said:

"Deeply touched was the great American delegation from the New England and the Western States, now almost 150 strong, which reached the Welland Canal here this morning to look into the gigantic project of the proposed international canal which will make all the cities on the Great Lakes ocean ports.

CO-OPERATION OF BRITAIN AND U.S. BASIS FOR PEACE

(Special Despatch to The Examiner).

LONDON, July 11. — World peace depends more upon friendly co-operation between the United States and Great Britain than upon any other single factor, Premier Lloyd George declared in addressing the House of Commons this afternoon. The Premier made this assertion during a speech in which he virtually accepted for Great Britain the invitation of President Harding to participate in a disarmament conference.

RECIPROCITY NOW PROPOSED

FOSTER CABLES MEIGHEN TO TAKE UP MATTER OF RECIPROCAL AGREEMENT WITH AUSTRALIA WITH HUGHES.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

OTTAWA, Ont., July 11. — The Government has entered into negotiations looking towards the bringing about of a reciprocity pact. The country with which the negotiations are being carried on, however, is not the United States but Australia, which Commonwealth has but recently adopted a protective tariff.

Sir George Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce, has communicated with Premier Meighen, by cable, requesting that the latter take up with Premier Hughes the question of reciprocal arrangements between the two Dominions.

By the Australian tariff to which Legislative effect has recently been given a preference is granted to Great Britain, which preference it is held here operates to the detriment of Canadian trade. As, however, in the United States tariff, provision is made for entering into reciprocal arrangements with other countries. Hence the present negotiations.

Canadian trade with the Commonwealth has fallen off of late owing to difficulties of financing. In normal times, however, Canadian imports from Australia comprised wool, fruits, chilled meats, dairy products and certain types of lumber. Canada exported agricultural implements, automobiles and other machinery, wood pulp and paper, etc.

PETERBORO AND LINDSAY ORANGEMEN FRATERNIZE

To further the fraternal ties between Peterborough and Lindsay Orange Lodges, many Peterborough Orangemen attended divine service with the Lindsay Orangemen Sunday morning and returning to the city in the evening brought back a number of the Orange order from there to join with Peterborough in the service in Bethany Tabernacle last night. The following were some of the party who represented Peterborough lodges: F. E. Dunsford, A. Monder, T. Sproats, G. Walton, H. Freeman, Eric Smith, R. J. Morton, F. Smith, A. Sproats of L.O.L. 50; A. Armstrong of 457; C. Armstrong of 2440; C. Zealand of 457, L. Thompson of 2440, T. Dawson, Gerald Dawson, C. Wright, W. Jones, J. Allen of 80; and W. Allen of L.O.L. 122. Rev. Bro. A. L. Brown preached to the Orangemen in the new Queen street Methodist church. The visiting Orangemen were given a dinner at the Royal Hotel and returned to Peterborough with Bros. Brown, Moore, Richards, Ringland, Winchester and Fletcher of L.O.L. 3 and many other members who particpated in the service in this city.

"MORE THAN ITS QUOTA OF JAYS," REMARKS TOURIST

"This town has more than its quota of jays,' remarked a tourist as he returned to his hotel on Saturday evening after taking a sight-seeing stroll on George street, and dodging window-shoppers, cliques gossipping in the middle of the sidewalk, and baby carriages being propelled in almost every direction.

He mopped the perspiration from his brow and continued. "Two-thirds of the population must have been out on the main street, and not one of them, apparently, was paying slightest attention to where he or she was going. They acted as if they were in the middle of a hayfield. About every six feet a group was conflabbing right in the middle of the sidewalk, apparently oblivious to the fact that it was blocking the traffic or else too lacking in the elements of courtesy to care."

LONDON FLOOD IS SUBSIDING

WATER RECEDING AND FIREMEN PUMPING OUT FLOODED BASEMENTS---SKY CLEAR AND RIVER LEVEL NEARER NORMAL.

LONDON, Ontario, July 11. — London's flood troubles following yesterday's cloudburst practically ended to-day with the coming of clear skies and the return of the river to a level approaching normal.

Waters in the flooded areas of the city receded during the night, and except for the aftermath of yesterday's damage, conditions are gradually being rectified.

Gangs of firemen spent the night with a steam fire engine pumping out the basements of factories and hotels where losses were most serious, but this morning that work was suspended to enable the Department to restore to operation the fire alarm telegraph system, which has been put almost completely out of commission by the lightning.

It is estimated to-day that the damage in the city and immediate vicnty will approximate a half million dollars, the amount being about equally divided between the city and the country.

Farmers' crops, especially of the standing grains, were ruined by the storm, and there is scarcely a highway in the London district that is not in part blockaded by washouts of bridges and culverts.

Thirty-eight years ago to-day, West London was inundated, and forty were drowned, in a flood that followed an almost identical cloudburst; but in this storm West London appears to have suffered less than any other part of the city.

The damage was most severe in East London along the old Carling Creek, which overflowed its banks, and formed an irregular basin that covered a dozen blocks.

THE WEATHER

As the worst of the recent hot wave has apparently passed over, I give herewith the highest and lowest each day since the first of the month. It will be noticed that we had nine days of 90 degrees and over consecutively, which is unusual. Also notice the monotonous regularity of the hight temperature. It was the warm nights that made the high day temperatures so oppressive. Last night there was a little drop to 65 degrees. The usual summer night temperature is about 55 degrees.

CAKE NOT CASH

In the announcement which appeared on the back page of the Examiner on Saturday night regarding the garden party to be held at St. Vincent's Orphanage on Wednesday evening next, an error in the wording occurred. 'Contributions of cash or candy" should have read "any contributions of cake or candy will be gratefully received."

ELECTIONS MAY DECIDE GOVT'S LEASE OF LIFE

BELIEVED MAJORITY WILL FAVOR ANOTHER SESSION IF COMING BY-ELECTIONS ARE WON BY GOVERNMENT.

MEMBERS PREPARED TO GO TO COUNTRY

OTTAWA, Ont., July 11.—With temperatures ranging from ninety to a hundred degrees and hardly a break, the atmosphere at the Capital in the past few weeks has not been conducive either to political activity or thought but preparations are being made for coming events and there is a considerable undercurrent of discussion.

The Premier is expected here three weeks from Saturday and, apart from more important matters of administration to be taken up the general situation politically will be surveyed.

A decision will have to be reached in regard to the dates for the bye-elections and very probably the alternative of a general election may be discussed.

While the indications at present do not point to a parliamentary dissolution this fall, it is regarded as a possibility, and the Premier's last word to his followers before leaving for England was to get ready for such an event if circumstances should warrant it.

Preparations Being Made.

To that end there is a quiet but systematic organization, territorially, by provinces or districts groups. Ontario, for example, has been divided into three districts, Central, Western and Eastern, with respective headquarters in Toronto, London and Ottawa.

The rank and file are against a general election this fall. But a certain volume of opinion favors that course without waiting for the bye-elections.

The more probable line of action is to bring on the remaining contests and be governed by their result. They are fairly well distributed with three vacancies in Ontario, one in Quebec, and one in Saskatchewan.

The four bye-elections held this year have recorded for the Government a loss of two, West Peterborough and Medicine Hat. From all appearance Maple-Creek will go as Medicine Hat did, but in the other seats, West York, Durham, Brockville and St. Antoine of Montreal, all previously held by the Government—prospects in three at least are considered favorable.

The Government's Task.

Should the Government win four out of the five seats, or even three, the disposition of many of its members will be to have another session, but if they are lost it may be difficult to avoid dissolution.

It is held in many advisory circles that to stay on under such conditions would neither make for stability during that period, nor promote party spirit or chances, when the general election becomes a constitutional necessity next year. As a matter of general policy or as a result of bye-elections, dissolution this fall is not out of the question.

The tariff will press for consideration in view of the coming enactment at Washington of the Fordney Bill. A point to be decided is if and when the tariff here should be revised.

It was deferred last session on the ground of a waiting action in the States with a vital bearing upon Canada. That action is now in process of being taken and the way is cleared at Ottawa.

A Tariff Question.

The question of when the tariff will be revised will be one for Cabinet determination; but a rather predominant view here is to test the electorate on the underlying principles before working out the details.

In any event, it is pointed out, the general election cannot be delayed beyond next year. Tariff revision meanwhile, would not only involve a great deal of labor and discussion, but the instability that attends any waiting process. After it is all done, the inevitable election might so result politically as to entail within a year the necessity of going all over it.

This condition goes for the moment, anyway, to support the theory that there will be no detailed revision until after an election. At the same time it may move an influence favorable to accelerating the process of dissolution.

A reasonably favorable result in the bye-elections would most likely be followed by an early winter session, devoted mainly to redistribution, with an election in the spring on the tariff question.

Pending that even the schedules would be left alone.

Bye-Elections a Factor.

The great governing factor will be the bye-elections and especially will this be so if, to those in prospect, are added others resulting from Cabinet reconstruction. The latter has been so long deferred, and on and off so recurrently, as to have become somewhat of a joke. Political Ottawa will believe in it, only when ministers are sworn in. Their need is little questioned, and this re-adjustment in itself may furnish another reason for a general election without the preliminary tryouts that are now available.

SINN FEIN PEACE DELEGATION WILL LEAVE TO-MORROW

(Special Despatch to The Examiner).

DUBLIN, July 11.—The Sinn Fein peace delegation, headed by Eammon De Valera, will head for London to-morrow, it was officially announced here this afternoon. In addition to De Valera, the delegation will consist of Arthur Griffith and Messrs. Stack and Barton. The latter two are members of the Dail Eireann.

PREMIER DRURY REACHES NORTH

MAKES FIRST STOP AT FORT WILLIAM---TOUR NOT REGARDED AS OF SPECIAL SIGNIFICANCE.

(Special Despatch to the Examiner.)

FORT WILLIAM, July 11. — Premier Drury made the first stop of his northern tour here to-day in order to address the Canadian Club, and to speak at a mass meeting of the citizens of Port Arthur and Fort William.

Although the Premier has had this trip under consideration ever since he came into power, this is the first occasion on which he has been able to get this far away from his administrative duties at Queen's Park.

During the course of his travels through the northern citadels of Liberalism and Conservatism, he will be delivering several speeches, but these are not regarded as symptomatic of an early general election but are attributed merely to a desire to place the problems and accomplishments of the present administration before the people of this part of the province.

Some direct political significance is attached, however, to the fact that the Premier is speaking in New Liskeard. This is the home town of Thomas Magladery, the Conservative member for Temiskaming whose recent change of residence to Edmonton, Alta., may open this riding for a bye-election.

At Kenora the Premier will make an exhaustive defence of his attitude on the concurrent bill which was introduced in the Provincial Legislature to provide for the joint control of the Lake of the Woods levels but which was dropped partly as the result of opositpion by Peter Heenan, the local Labor member.

POLICE REPRIMAND BOY LAMP BREAKERS

THROWING STONES AT INVERLEA BRINGS YOUTHS BEFORE J. P.'S.

For creating a nuisance and a danger by throwing stones and breaking lights at Inverlea, four juveniles faced Henry Rush and Vincent Eastwood, J.P.'s, presiders over Police Court to-day in the absence of Magistrate Dumble. Although James Gates, caretaker of Inverlea, wanted a more determined reprimand, the young boys were allowed to go on suspended sentence, after paying costs of $3.60. In a similar way disorders exist at Lake Street, and the police are preparing to make an onslaught on the bathing beach some of these nights and garner in a few of the fresh young cutups.

IRISH CONFERENCE IS THURSDAY; HOSTILITIES ENDED AT NOON BUT OUTBREAKS FEARED TO-MORROW

ORDER RESTORED IN BELFAST AFTER 15 KILLED AND 100 WOUNDED—BATTLE OF BOYNE CELEBRATION MAY CAUSE UNTOWARD INCIDENTS, LONDON FEARS—APPREHENSIONS THAT EXTREMISTS MAY BE HARD TO CONTROL—VIOLENCE CONTINUED TILL VERY LAST.

BY CHARLES M. McCANN.

LONDON, July 11. — The Irish peace negotiations will open on Thursday. Eamonn DeValera, president of the "Irish Republic," to-day notified Premier Lloyd George that he would come to London on that date to begin the important conferences.

Lloyd George had telegraphed De Valera, asking the latter to name the date this week when he and any of his colleagues, could come to London. The Irish leader's telegraphic reply was received shortly before noon.

Mr. Lloyd George, who spent the week end at Chequers Court, with the Premiers of the British dominions, returned to London this morning to arrange the final details for his meeting with Mr. DeValera, which may mark an epoch in the relations of Ireland and Great Britain.

The truce between the Crown forces and the Irish Republican forces, became effective to-day at noon, but there were many apprehensions that extremists on both sides of the bitter conroversy in Ireland would be hard o control.

Yesterday's rioting in Belfast, during which at least fifteen persons were killed and nearly one hundred injured, aroused great fears over incidents which might happen to-morrow, the anniversary of the battle of the Boyne.

Re-impose Curfew.

BEFAST, July 11. — (Canadain Press.)—The curfew was re-imposed here to-day as a result of the disorders of Sunday. Belfast now is the only place in Ireland under the curfew regualtions, despite the truce terms by which the curfew was raised generally.

SHIP SIRENS ROAR.

(Special Despatch to the Examiner.)

DUBLIN, July 11.—As the clocks of Dublin struck the hour of noon to-day the sound of their bells was drowned in the roar of ship sirens that welcomed the truce between the British forces and the Sinn Feiners.

VIOLENCE CONTINUED

(Special Despatch to the Examiner.)

BELFAST, July 11—Violence and disorder continued in the north of Ireland up to the very hour the truce went into effect at noon to-day.

The morning mail train, enroute from Belfast to Londonderry, was derailed near Carrickmore, in Tyrone; the crew was held up and six cars burned.

The rioting in Belfast which broke out on Saturday night, and continued until suppressed by the military last night, was renewed this morning.

There were sporadic outbursts in various parts of the city which continued until nearly noon. In one melee a bread wagon was burned and the driver badly beaten.

In addition to the fourteen persons killed and 105 injured it was stated that 200 were rendered homeless by fire.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS FOR RESIDENTS ON WESTERN AVENUE

More than thirty contracts for light from residents of Western avenue, North Monaghan Township, have been received by the utilities Commission, Mr. H. O. Fisk reported on Saturnday afternoon. He intimated the cost of supplying these new consumers at $1500 and recommended that the work be done. He also recommended to the Commission that an extension be made on Braidwood avenue, and drew attention to an agreement submitted by the C. P. R. to permit the Commission to set a line of poles on the south side of their right of way from the river easterly.

Mr. Fisk was authorized to construct the electric lines on Braidwood avenue and on Western avenue and vicinity, and execute the agreement with the C.P.R. for permission to build an electric line along the right of way.

The commission decided that in accordance with the order of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario ,the minimum rate of 75c cents a month be charged for house lighting form July 1st, 1921.

This minimum rate is to apply generally throughout the province, it is understood, and is not fixed upon Peterboro alone. It will make some difference in revenue, as for example in summer when some consumers have been using less than 75c worth of power a month.

Henceforth they might as well forget economy to the extent of the minimum rate at least, for they will have to pay that charge anyway whether they have used the power or not.

"Y" CAMP NEWS

Y.W.C.A. Camp,
Burleigh Falls, July 9, 1921.

Dear Girls,—This has surely been a hot week, hasn't it? But we have had a great time. On Sunday when we had our little outdoor service down by the lake under the trees, there were only seven of us in all, congregation, choir leader and minister. Then on Monday some more girls came and on Tuesday the 'Empress' called again to bring us another guest. That brought our numbers up to twelve, just a nice big family. Would you like to know who were there? Listen. Ruth McLeish, Grace Tucker, Helen Bell, Jean Shearer, Dorothy Tyrer, Thelma Freeman, Myrtle Greene, Grace Munden and Margaret Pollard, besides Mrs. McKenzie, little Master Maurice and Miss Layton.

We had a great trip up to Sunset Bay one day, chiefly notable for the cold spring water we got on the way. And one night we had our supper over at Perry's Creek. Just ask Myrtle Green and Grace Munden what happened there. But the picnic to Kawartha was the best of all—a glorious swim, a short dinner (even though we did forget the cups and tea pail, took two salts and no peppers and upset the cake!) rest and refreshment at Charlton's store, and finally the walk home. We won't tell any tales, but don't you love cows, Ruth?

Yes, it was a great week and now we sing—

Take me back to dear old Burleigh,
Put me on the train for Lakefield town,
Take me over there—drop me anywhere,
Lovesick Lake or Perry's Creek, it doesn't matter where,
I should love to see you all there
Mosquitoes are twice as big this year,
Burleigh, Burleigh, Burleigh, get me up there early,
Burleigh is the place for me.

Yours heartily,
The "Y" Campers.

GRAVEL ARBITRATION HEARD BY JUDGE.

COBOURG, July 11. — Judge Ward was arbitrator in a case brought by W. A. McGill, of Manvers Township, against the Counties Council recently. McGill is the owner of a gravel pit, from which the Counties have been drawing the gravel for Counties' roads.

No agreement was arrived at as to price to be paid before drawing commenced. The Counties have an agreement not to pay more than 10 cents a load for gravel, but when McGill sent in his account, he demanded 30 cents a load.

The Counties refused to pay, and the arbitration case was heard before Judge Ward, when he reserved his decision.

Judge Ward's judgment will affect about 300 pits in these counties, whose owners will no doubt ask whatever his judgment allows.

The Provincial highways have been paying 10 cents a load, and in a few cases at 15 cents.

PEA CROP SUFFERS.

PORT HOPE, July 11.—Canning factories started on peas last week, and growers report the crop not nearly as good as last year owing to the excessive heat and lack of moisture. The canning factory at Cobourg have decided not to handle tomatoes this year, only peas and corn being taken.

Quite a number of canning factories in this district did not contract for tomatoes this year owing to the extra large pack last year.

PENITENTIARIES ARE CLASSED INDUSTRIES

AVERAGE COST OF IMPRISONING A PRISONER PLACED AT $2,800.

KINGSTON, July 9.—"The average cost to Canada of imprisoning a prisoner in penitentiary is $2,800. To this must be added the loss or damage resulting from the commission of the crime, together with the value of support given to dependents of the man imprisoned, as well as the economic loss to the state of the value of the prisoner's labor. If a large amount were spent in an endeavor to help the fallen do well, as it costs to convict and imprison them, very few indeed would be sent to prison."

This is a paragraph in the annual report of Brig.-General W. S. Pierre Hughes, Superintendent of penitentiaries, followed by one expressing the opinion that penitentiaries, through reformation, may accomplish valuable work for Canada if they are given sufficient Government work and segregation. These two essentials, it is stated, have been denied in Canada, though in other respects the Dominion has been well ahead of other countries in regard to prison management.

"Though but a limited amount of pay work was done at the penitentiaries during the past year," the report states, "a revenue of $143,333.39 was returned to the Government. If sufficient work were provided the penitentiaries could easily be made self-sustaining and wages paid to the inmates for their labor as well."

SEIZE A NEWSPAPER TO SILENCE CHARGES

FARGO, N.D., July 9.—Charges that three members of the State Executive Committee of the Non-Partisan League had squandered $50,000 of the league's recall election campaign fund were made in a special edition of the Fargo Courier-News, a Non-Partisan League daily newspaper, published in the morning.

The edition was not allowed to gain large circulation, however.

Apprised of the intention of the editor of the Courier-News to issue the edition, two Executive Committee members appeared at the offices of the publication and demanded possession.

Under their orders, it is said, 4,000 to 5,000 copies of the paper already printed were carted to the city dump and burned. Plate and matrices also were destroyed.

C. K. Gummerson, managing editor of The Courier-News, said later that he had caused the statement to be published because of the financial situation in the league funds. He added that he felt that "it was my duty to warn the membership of the league against conditions."

"I have an intense interest in the league," he said, "and I do not want to see it wrecked.' He would make no further comment.

The published statement said "A situation has arisen within the Non-Partisan League which demands immediate action upon the part of the membership." It further said:

"The league is facing the coming campaign (recall) empty-handed, and it is necessary that some immediate and drastic action be taken in order that the hopes and aspirations of the men, women and children who have sacrificed their savings and hard- earned dollars may not be shattered."

A warrant for George A. Totten, Jr., business manager of The Courier-News, charging violation of the National Prohibition Act, was issued here to-day. A quantity of liquor was alleged to have been found in his automobile.

Totten on Saturday had given bond, following his arrest on a warrant charging embezzlement of $102.75 of the Non-Partisan League recall campaign fund.

IRELAND IS GIVEN DOMINION HOME RULE

TORRENTIAL RAIN, CLOUDBURSTS AND CYCLONES SWEEP PROVINCE AND DEVASTATE CROPS IN WAKE

TENS OF THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS DAMAGE DONE IN MIDDLESEX COUNTY, WHERE FIELDS OF GRAIN ARE NOW WIDE WASTES OF WATER—$50,000 DAMAGE BY CYCLONE IN NIAGARA TOWNSHIP—RAILWAYS HARD HIT.

TORONTO, July 11 (Canadian Press).—Torrential rains, a series of three seeming cloudbursts, each within half an hour of the other, terrorised the people and did damage amounting to tens of thousands of dollars in different parts of the Province yesterday afternoon.

Middlesex County probably fared the worst. The deluge struck the district between Komoka and Hyde Park with all its fury.

At sunset, whole fields that yesterday morning were alive with growing grains and cereals, were wide wastes of water.

Harvesting of wheat has commenced. Shocked stacks are drifting sleepily with the floating debris of all kinds on the vast, murky flood.

Uncut grain and corn are beaten into the ground beneath the Niagara from the clouds. Acres of market garden produce are buried under its fall.

Barns and farmhouses stand out like islands on the waters. Scores of trees are cut down or stripped of their branches, and are being carried slowly away or stranded as the flood seeks a level.

At some of the lower points the water centralised to a depth of over eight feet.

The Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railways from the West, which closely parallel each other heading into London, experienced bad washouts. Masses of gravel were carried down from the embankments, while in the cuts the trains crawled cautiously through one and two feet of water.

Almost as soon as the storm stayed its deluge, auxiliaries were hurried out from the London yards, and small armies of track workmen started in to relay the ballast and straighten the warped ties. Fortunately no part of the steel was carried away by the water.

DAMAGE IN NIAGARA TOWNSHIP.

ST. CATHARINES, July 11 (Canadian Press).—A cyclone of colossal violence cut its way through Niagara Township last evening between five and six o'clock, doing $50,000 damage in a short while.

It was somewhat like the cyclone of last fall which passed through Niagara Township, only at a different place, doing heavy damage.

KITCHENER, July 11.—(Special despatch to the Examiner).—As a result of a heavy hail storm last night two farmers named, Zimmer and Kinkrl, living near Breslau, had their standing crops badly damaged.

SERIOUS RIOTING IN BELFAST ON EVE OF IRISH ARMISTICE

BELFAST, July 11. Canadian Press.—Rioting broke out in Belfast on Saturday night and continued throughout the day. It became so serious that the military had to be summoned to restore order.

At ten o'clock last night the casualty lists showed that 15 persons had been killed and that nearly one hundred had been wounded.

According to the police accounts firing at Patrols by Republicans precipitated the outbreak.

From then the shooting was almost continuous in the Falls district. As daybreak came on the tide of battle extended down to the Falls Road until it reached Townsend St., which then became the centre of sharp rioting, with the Unionists for the first time entering the fray.

Carrickhill and the Millfield areas, Nationalists strongholds, next became affected.

The firing here was intense, alternating with the screams of the crowds as they scurried hurriedly away.

HARDING TAKES BIG PEACE STEP; INVITES GREAT POWERS TO MEET TO DISCUSS LIMITING ARMAMENT

PROPOSED CONFERENCE WOULD CONSIDER PACIFIC PROBLEM AS PRELIMINARY TO DISARMAMENT.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(Canadian Press.) — President Harding has proposed to Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, the holding of a conference in Washington on the "elimination of armament" and on the Pacific and Far Eastern problems. The fact that he has approached the four powers with a view to issuing a formal invitation to participate in a conference if they find the suggestion acceptable, was formally announced by the State Department last night.

The President takes the position that a settlement of the issues arising among the nations bordering the Pacific Ocean would remove many obstacles to an agreement on a reduction of armament and he therefore has proposed that an effort be made to reach a solution of these problems to pave the way for favorable consideration of the curtailing of expenditures for preparedness for war.

Salient Points of Invitation.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(United Press.)—Following are the salient points of President Harding's statement that he would call a disamament conference:

The great Powers, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, which with the United States were known as "the principal Allied and Associated Powers" are to be invited to the disarmament conference.

The conferenec is "to be held in Washington at a time to be mutually agreed upon."

"The question of limitation of armaments has a close relation to the Pacific and Far Eastern problems, and the President has suggested that the Powers should undertake in connection with this conference the conside ration of all matters bearing upon their solution with a view to reaching a common understanding with respect to policies and principles in the Far East."

"This has been communicated to the Powers concerned and China has also been invited to take part in the discussion relating to Far Eastern problems."

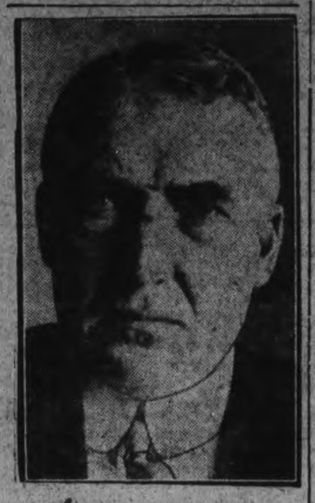
DOMINION SELF-GOVERNMENT FOR IRELAND NOW AGREED TO BY BRITISH AND SINN FEIN; TO BE HOME RULE SYSTEM SOMEWHAT SIMILAR TO OURS



WARREN G. HARDING.

President of the United States, who may take a great step toward world peace by inviting the great powers to meet to discuss limitation of armaments and the Pacific problem.

SIX NORTHERN COUNTIES WHERE PROTESTANTS PREDOMINATE TO BE GIVEN STATUS SIMILAR TO QUEBEC—ULSTER ALONE SUPPLIES INTERROGATION MARK IN SETTLEMENT.

LONDON, July 11. — Canadian Press.—Ireland is to become a British Dominion by an agreement already reached by the British Government with the Sinn Fein and Unionists of Southern Ireland. The counties of Ireland where the Protestants predominate, are to be offered special guarantees.

Ireland will be granted Home Rule on Canadian lines, with the isx northern counties, where Protestants predominate, receiving the status enjoyed by Quebec.

It was because he knew that all parties would be prepared at least to discuss peace on this basis that Premier Lloyd George invited De-Valera, the Irish "President," to London. It is no longer a question of what the British will offer and what Eamonn De Valera is prepared to accept. The agreement between these two parties already has been reached. Ulster supplies the only big mark of interrogation in the settlement.

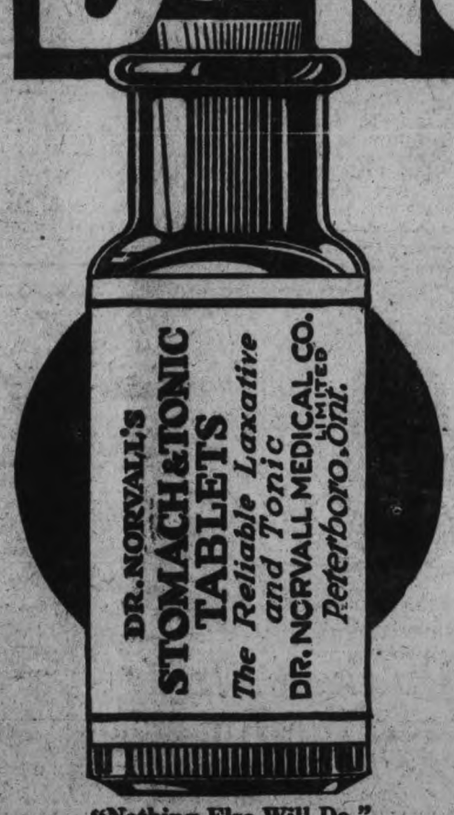
DR NORVALL'S



"Nothing Else Will Do," Says Famous Actress.

A famous Canadian actress whose professional headquarters is in New York, sending an order for Dr. Norvall's Tablets, writes: "I am leaving on my trip to the Pacific Coast. Wherever I go, I always carry with me Dr. Norvall's Tablets. They are wonderful! A tablet occasionally when I need it keeps me fit and alert, as nothing else will, for my long tiring journeys, and exacting work on the stage."

"—and six months ago I was tortured by blinding headaches—bilious, nervous, half alive."

This man's letter tells us the same story that hundreds of others tell. He is today in buoyant health and spirits; eats with relish; sleeps well and tackles his work with vim.

He really began to enjoy life when a friend said: "Your trouble begins in a disordered stomach and liver—you're poisoning yourself. Stop it today with Dr. Norvall's Stomach and Tonic Tablets!"

In the same way thousands of other Canadians have rescued themselves from the same tortures. Auto-intoxication (or self-poisoning) is a condition common in these days of nervous strain, rush, anxiety. Few escape it. A disordered digestive system is unable to perform its work healthily. Poisonous waste accumulating in the intestinal tract becomes a source of dangerous ailments. Such troubles may come in one or several of these forms: Indigestion, fermentation in the stomach, biliousness, headaches, dizziness, spotty or sallow complexion, sleeplessness, or general debility and lack of energy. In such cases the remedy is simple and easy:

The Mild Laxative and General Tonic, Dr. Norvall's Tablets

These tablets give gentle assistance to nature, in ridding the system of its poisonous waste. With ordinary care in diet, the stomach, liver and intestines are quickly cleansed, toned up and restored to a state of healthy functioning.

THE ALBERTA ELECTION.

The advent of the farmers' political movement is more and more changing the complexion of political campaigns in Canada, and group government is spreading throughout the Dominion. Alberta, where the nominations for the provincial election are taking place to-day, is the latest illustration of the change that has come over the political situation. The campaign will be the most involved that the western province has ever known, for in addition to the Liberal government candidates, there are United Farmers, Conservatives, straight Labour, Independent Labour, Socialists, Independent Liberals and plain Independents in the field. The Conservative candidates are largely in the urban ridings, while in the rural constituencies the main opposition to the Government is offered by the United Farmers, who are conceded a royal chance of capturing a large share of these seats. Whatever may be the result of the elections a week from to-day, it is certain that the next Legislature will be a badly mixed up affair and that the old two party fight has been brushed to one side for the time being at least.

WORK—NOT BREAD LINES.

In endorsing a policy of relief work rather than relief doles for the unemployed, the conference of the Dominion executive and members of the Provincial Command of the G. W.V.A. undoubtedly expressed the opinion of a very large proportion of the men who are out of work or who are likely to be next winter. There are those, of course, who look upon a relief fund as a splendid chance to get money without having to work for it, but their number is comparatively small compared to the men who prefer a chance to earn their livelihood. The problem is likely to be a serious one next winter and the Great War Veterans' officers have shown that they are alive to the responsibilities of their position by their effort to hit upon a way out. They are opposed to bread lines and believe that so far as is possible Municipal, Provincial and Federal Governments should open up public works during periods of depression, rather than curtail such works as many administrations seem inclined to do. In this belief they have the support of many other people who are of the opinion that providing work, even though the enterprises cost more than under normal conditions, would eventually prove cheaper than maintaining a system of charity doles for the unemployed.

GOING TOO FAR.

The secretary of the Ontario Jockey Club has been fined $1,000 because liquor was brought into the property of the club at the Woodbine race track and consumed there, although it was admitted by the prosecution that the Jockey Club had done everything in its power to prevent liquor being carried in or drunk on the premises. The decision of the magistrate may be good law under the Ontario Temperance Act, but the average citizen will have difficulty in detecting any justice in the proceedings. The verdict means that if there is drinking among the crowd at any sporting assembly the owners of the grounds, or the officers of the Association leasing them for the day, could be held liable and fined. It is mainifestly impossible, unless every person entering such a gathering is searched, to prevent some thirsty people from carrying in a private supply of liquid refreshment and it seems unfair, to put it mildly, to hold that a baseball club or a football club is responsible for the violation of the Ontario Temperance Act. The prosecution of the Ontario Jockey Club on this charge is one of those absurd features of the O.T.A. that strengthens the opposition of a large section of the community towards the measure.

BRINGING SUNSHINE TO THE BLIND.

One of the greatest sources of comfort and happiness to the Canadian blind men and women who are confined to their homes is the Home Teaching Department of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

Not only has this invaluable branch made the burden of these afflicted people infinitery more easy to carry; it has given them a means of earning money; in many cases in fact it has been their sole means of support.

But these teachers who are themselves blind must be given most careful training to prepare them for their work. A Normal Class for Home Teachers is therefore conducted in Toronto.

The training of the teachers and the visiting and teaching of the blind in their homes is a heavy drain on the funds of the Institute. But this splendid work nevertheless must carry on.

You are therefore asked to-day to be generous and big-hearted in your contribution to the cause of the Canadian blind.

Send a liberal cheque to The Examiner Fund for our less fortunate bothers and sisters.

BACK TO SANITY.

Real work for an honest wage is the slogan that is bringing the country back to normal. A prominent business expert says the people are stabilising their thougihts as well as their methods and that the ultimate consumer is coming into his own again. No one is buying thoughtlessly these days but everybody is taking care to get one hundred cents value for every dollar. The average man is again looking for quality instead of quantity, and drives as good a bargain as he can get. Advices from various sections show that price readjustment is still under way, with many articles near bottom level. This will go far toward reducing living expenses and making it easier for the average family to get along.

Suspension of dividends in many cases since the beginning of 1921 shows that the invested dollar is receiving relatively a much smaller return than the wage dollar. This is because the work of deflating investments began long before the work of deflating wages became the paramount influence in finance. While there are irritating controversies in many industries and serious friction in quarters where the professonal agitator exercises a commanding influence the outstanding fact is that the exorbitant wage schedule of the war days is being gradually reduced. This is an immense achievement, for the wage item looms largest in nearly all production costs, and labour must contribute something forthwith to the readjustment of world-wide conditions.

There is good reason to believe that our railroads, as well as general business, have turned the corner and there are much better days ahead. One of the outstanding facts justifying confidence is the crop outlook, which is reassuring, and there are many reasons for believing that the out-turn of the harvests will be highly satisfactory this year. The farmers have been hard hit by the reduced prices, but there is good reason to believe that they will not make as bad a showing on the year's business is seemed probable a few weeks ago.

Generally speaking, those who are capable of judging agree that the outlook all along the li e is much better than a month ago. — Brockville Recorder and Times.

The following is a synopsis of the telegraphic reports on crop conditions received at the head office of the Bank of Montreal:

Prairie Provinces

Edmonton and Calgary Districts —Damage caused by heat and dry spell largely repaired by recent heavy rains. In Edmonton District conditions generally favourable. In Calgary District, crops on summer fallow now promise average yield. Those on spring and fall ploughing and on stubble only fair.

Lethbridge District—Crops revived by rain. Prospects again promising, though from some localities Northeast and West, reports are not so good. Alfalfa and Timothy an average stop on irrigated land. Pasture good.

Regina District —All grains making strong growth. Wheat heading out under ideal conditions. Some local damage by drought. Hail losses negligible except Estevan District where damage extensive. Pasture abundant.

Saskatoon District— Wheat and Oats doing well. Conditions favourable.

Winnipeg District—Wheat generally headed out. Intense heat of last week followed by rains and cool weather ideal for filling, some hail not serious prospects good. Damage by grasshoppers throughout the west exceptional and slight.

Province of Quebec.

Absence of rain has greatly retarded crops in all districts. Hay has suffered severely in most sections, and will be much below average. Root crops are fair but like grass pasture, are badly in need of rain.

Province of Ontario

Up to ten days ago, the prospects for a full crop were excellent but intense dry heat and lack of rain since then have materialy affected growth. Present prospects are—Hay light crop. Cutting now general. Grass pasture—growth seriously checked. Fall wheat—promising but ripening too quickly. Other grains fair, all short in straw. Roots —average crop. Fruits small fruits fair but need rain. Apples developing satisfactorily. Tobacco—Weather is ideal for this crop and it is taking hold well.

Maritime Provinces

Growth of all crops in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick is backward owing to lack of rain. Hay crop very light; roots promise fairly well, but need rain, as does also grass pasture. Fruit prospects favourable. In Prince Edward Island grain and potatoes promise well. Hay generally a short crop. Fruit prospects are average. Pastures need rain.

Province of British Columbia

Weather cool and showery, standing hay crop 25 per cent above average in Fraser Valley and exceptionally heavy in nearly all districts. Grains in excellent condition and heading well. Roots and vegetables progressing satisfactorily. Potato yeld estimated fifteen per cent. below average. Tree Fruits sizing and colouring well. Small fruits heavy athough strawberries damaged by recent rains. Pasturage abundant.

THE TEST OF LOVE.

Chapter 7

When Kent and I finally reached home after the Walker's dinner party I was still excited and curious about the lost diamond.

"Goodness! It'll be terrible if he has really lost it, Kent," I exclaimed, as I slipped off my wrap in front of the long mirror in the living room.

Kent was standing over by the table. I had my back to him but I could see his reflection in the mirror. He had just lighted a match and was holding it up against his cigarette. I thought his hand trembled.

I turned and went toward him.

"You are not ill, Kent dear, are you?" I asked tenderly, the terrible possibility of his being sick suddenly frightening me.

"Ill! No, of course not," he answered a trifle gruffly. Then he threw himself down on the couch and rested his head back against the pillows. I watched him as he blew rings of tobacco smoke toward the ceiling.

"Lachman deserves to lose the diamond. A man's a fool to be so careless with a valuable jewel like that," he said suddenly.

"Why, Kent," I reproved gently, surprised at his attitude.

"Well, don't you think so yourself?" he exclaimed fiercely, turning toward me. "What do jewels or money mean to people like that? They have too many of them."

"But you wouldn't want to see him lost it, dear, would you?" I asked.

Kent smoked hard and ignored my question. After a while he went on, half musingly to him, "That one diamond doesn't mean any more to him than—than a cigarette does to me."

I went over and sat down on the edge of the couch beside him.

"Let's forget the old diamond, if it's going to make you cross." I pleaded, patting the back of his hand lightly.

Kent pulled his hand away and frowned uneasily. A strange little feeling which I had never felt before crept into my heart. Kent did not want me to touch him. He had actually drawn away from me. I felt the sting of offended pride.

I got up from the couch and turned away from him with a mingling of stiffled emotions.

"Why don't you turn in now, Babs? I have some work I'll have to do. It'll be another hour before I'll be ready for bed," he suggested.

"All right," I said easily, trying not to show my feelings too plainly.

As I turned to leave the room he called me back in his deep, tender voice.

"Come here, Babs — over here. Aren't you going to kiss me?" he asked with a strange look of pleading in his brown eyes. The expression in them made me think of a dog who fears a scolding from his master. I could not understand that look in Kent's eyes. I did not like it either. And then weeks afterwards I found out why it was there and what it was going to mean to both of us.

I went to bed with his warm kiss upon my lips, and soon dropped into a deep, peaceful slumber.

Something about his kiss, something about our love, seemed to shut out all trouble and perplexity. Our love seemed all powerful. Together I felt that we could do anything. I did not know then what a big, vital part unity and love were going to play in our married life together. I did not realize what a strange test it was going to be put to.

I had always believed that the marriage game should be played squarely and fairly. I had always intended to be a good sportsman about it, not a cad or a quitter. But I soon found out that it was one thing to moralize and think about such things, and that it was quite a different story when one had to face the music.

I loved Kent sincerely. I found out that love was the test—the tie that binds. That is why so many marriages are failures, because they are sort of business unions without real love in them, and when the strain comes, the test of some big happening, the union breaks because there is nothing there to weld it together. Love is not blind—it is the all-seeing eye that lends compassion and understanding to our heart's vision.

To-morrow—Kent Goes to Philadelphia.

TORONTO WOMAN MAKES BIG GAIN

ONLY WEIGHED 85 POUNDS BEFORE SHE GOT TANLAC, BUT NOW TIPS SCALES AT 130 POUNDS.

"My troubles pulled me down from a hundred and five to eighty-five pounds in weight, but Tanlac has restored my health and built me up to a hundred and thirty pounds, and I just can't praise it enough," said Mrs. F. MacInnis, of 119 Wellesley Crescent, Toronto.

"Before I got Tanlac, my long-standing troubles seemed to have undermined my entire health, and I was in a terribly run-down condition. Everything I ate would nauseate me, and I had such frightful headaches and dizzy spells they simply caused me untold agony. I had rheumatism in my knees so bad I could hardly bend them, and was so nervous the least little noise would make me jump. At night sleep was almost out of the question, and I felt as bad of mornings as if I hadn't gone to bed at all. In spite of all I could do, I kept getting worse, and was just about ready to give up in despair.

"It's nothing less than remarkable how Tanlac has put an end to my troubles and set me right, for it has given me a ravenous appetite and actually built me up forty-five pounds in weight. I digest my food perfectly now, and never feel a sign of rheumatism, and sleep like a child every night. In fact, I'm feeling fine in every way, and am just as thankful as I can be for the good health Tanlac has given me."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowler's Corners by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

MOVIES WILL CLOSE.

MONTREAL, July 8— Many of the motion picture houses in this city will close to-morrow night for a period of several weeks. The causes of the closing up are the general slump in business, excessive competition here, the intense heat and the fact that overhead charges are too heavy to be borne under existing conditions.

TRENT RIVER HAPPENINGS

TRENT RIVER July 9.—The sad news of the sudden passing away of Mrs. Harper Shaw of Campbellford was received here yesterday morning. The deepest sympathy is extended to the bereaved husband and daughter, Carl. The funeral took place at Campbellford, a number of friends attended from here.

Local showers accompanied with thunder passed over here for two days consecutively refreshing the atmosphere greatly.

Raspberries are ripe now and with more rain there will be an abundant crop. The fruit is selling 20 cents per box.

CAN BATHING SUITS BE RENTED SUNDAY?

Interesting Legal Point is Involved in Port Stanley Case.

ST. THOMAS, July 9. — Will the crown attorney be an innocent instrument in the interference of the sport of bathing at Port Stanley?

The Lord's Day Act, which will be construed as strictly as the warm weather will permit, has been declared by the local high constable as especially applicable to bathing suits. Not as to their fig leaf proportions or anything of that kind. But to the right of the proprietors of the bathing houses to rent them on a Sunday.

The act refers to the ordinary business which a person follows during the week. And if such be conducted on a Sunday where it does not come under the exceptions enumerated in the section then the high constable declares the proprietor is liable to prosecution.

VETERANS AT ST. PETER'S CEMETERY

DECORATED GRAVES IN ANNUAL TRIBUTE TO THEIR DEAD.

It was a long hot trail to St. Peter's Cemetery on Sunday for the Comrades of the G.W.V.A. who assisted in the annual decoration day ceremony. Secretary Sidney Whatley estimated the attendance at nearly 150 including thirty bandsmen, who wore the smart new uniforms that were recently bought for the G.W.V.A. musicians. One halt for five minutes' rest was made on the way to the cemetery, and a supply of cold water from a nearby residence was a welcome refreshment.

Mr. Harvey J. Staunton and other officers were in parade, and Lt.-Colonel Johnston was also present.

Many of the members of the G.W.V.A. carried flowers which were placed on the graves of former comrades, and the occasion was otherwise marked by a general decoration of graves by friends and relatives of the departed.

Rev. C. J. Phelan addressed the Veterans, briefly recalling the ideals Canada's soldiers had fought for, and commending the G.W.V.A. for the respect they show their former Comrades annually in the Decoration Day ceremonies at the local cemeteries.

CRAMP CAUSED DEATH IN POND

YOUNG PORT HOPE MAN LOST HIS LIFE WHILE BATHING.

PORT HOPE, July 11—Seized with a cramp while bathing in Beamish's pond, north of the Nicholson File Works, Saturday morning, Walter Little, Margaret street, was drowned.

In company with a number of other young men deceased was enjoying a swim, going in from the cedars on the north side. After being in the water only a short time he called to his friends that he had a cramp in his leg and at once sank from view. The alarm was at once given and neighbors were soon on the scene but more than twenty minutes elapsed before the body was recovered. Two doctors were in waiting but all attempts at resuscitation failed.

Deceased was about twenty-two years of age and was employed at the Port Hope Sanitary Works.

COOL SPOT IN SPITE OF TORRID WEATHER

ALGONQUIN HOTEL, N.B., July 11.—While the people of the Provinces of Quebec and Ontario during the past week or two have been sweltering under the heat and humidity of an exceptional dry spell, and the thermometer rising as high as 95 in the shade, with little possibility of a change, residents in St. Andrew's have had the satisfaction of an average temperature of less than 70 on the third and seventh of this month the temperature rose four points higher and on the first it was down to 62.

St. Andrew's is situated on a delightful elevation overlooking the Atlantic Ocean, and the cool breezes that come across the water make it an ideal resting place from the excessive heat of the neighboring western provinces.

The efforts of the C. P. R. have made it possible for visitors to indulge in practically every form of summer recreation, which becomes no hardship owing to the wonderful cool atmospheric conditions that prevail. It possesses magnificent accommodation, beautiful golf links, which overlook the sea, swimming pool, tennis courts, bowling, indoor and out, to say nothing of the wonderful dancing floor of the pretty casino, where music is discoursed by one of the best orchestras on the continent.

The fishing and boating are very popular, and visitors have one round of gaiety from morning until night.

The evenings are delightfully cool and the sea air is very bracing.

TWO NEAR DEATH IN PARIS AFTER "SUICIDE PACT"

SELF-STYLED DUCHESS AND SON TAKE POISON.

PARIS, July 9.—Mme. De Guise-Hite, an American and self-styled duchess and her son, George Harboukh, 24, were near death in the American hospital Thursday from veronal poisoning as the result of a suicide pact.

The suicide attempt, which was made Tuesday night, was discovered Wednesday morning, but was only made public early to-day. It was said to be the result of financial difficulties.

Mme. De Guise-Hite recovered consciousness momentarily this morning and asked if there had been a cable from her first husband, George E. Harbough, a millionaire, formerly of Cleveland, Ohio, who has re-married since the divorce and is now living in El Cajon, Calif.

The son had been unconscious since he was found and was said to have been close to death twice in sinking spells.

Cases Held Hopeless.

Three American doctors were working over the woman and youth but regarded the cases as hopeless.

After being divorced by Harbough, the woman married Cleveland De Guise-Hite, a portrait painter of London and claimant of the title of duke in France. He had lived in the United States several years.

Mme. De Guise-Hite was divorced from her second husband in 1914. Since then she has divided her time between Paris, London, and the United States. Her son George arrived here in April, expecting to take a position with Morgan, Harjes and Company Bank, but the plan did not materialize, and he, in desperate financial circumstances, became more despondent daily.

Invested in Stocks.

In an effort to recoup her dwindling fortunes Mme. De Guise-Hite plunged heavily in American stocks. Only recently she had been informed by cable that most of her investments were worthless.

Close friends of the "duchess" said she had been contemplating suicide for several weeks. She took up her residence at the fashionable Hotel De France at Choiseul, four months ago. Her son was living at a small hotel in Rue Stroch.

Discovery of the woman's suicide act was made by a friend, the Countess Opinanski. Leo Tektonius, an American pianist, had telephoned to Mme. De Guise-Hite's room Tuesday night, asking her to join a bridge party.

Going On Journey.

"She seemed troubled," Tektonius said, "and after refusing to come down, said:

"'Good night and good-bye. George and I are going on a long journey. Call at the hotel to-morrow morning. They will tell you all about it.'"

Tektonius said yesterday he asked Countess Opinanski to visit Mme. De Guise-Hite and try to cheer her up. The countess found the door locked but employees broke down the door and found the woman unconscious on the bed with a bottle of veronal on the table and the message:

"After my death, in case my beloved son George is dead, too, telegraph to G. E. Harbough, El Cajon, Calif. Please put my little dog in kind hands."

SHORT VAMPS ARE LATEST IN SHOES

LONG POINTED TOE GIVES WAY TO BROAD KIND.

NEW YORK, July 9.—Short vamps will be the style this fall and winter.

This might seem to be unjust discrimination against tall girls, but it doesn't apply to the girls themselves—only their footwear.

The exhibit of the shoe manufacturers' board of trade revealed that the long, pointed toe for women's shoes had given way almost exclusively to broad toes and short vamps.

French heels, save for formal wear, will be replaced by the so-called Cuban heel and the straight low heel.

Straps will be more popular than ever, but the buckle will practically disappear.

The most popular material will be kid, for street wear, and satin for dress occasions.

Millinery Fashions.

While on the subject of styles, here is what women will have on their minds this fall, according to millinery buyers returning from Paris:

Either small toques or large, flat hats.

Purple, crimson and orchid as the popular shades.

Ribbons, laces and wings for trimming.

What women now wear between head and feet is so comparatively negligible that styles in shoes and hats are about all that count.

BIG AUTO INDUSTRY LOOKING FOR SITE

Secretary W. H. Roper, of the Port Hope Board of Trade has received a letter from the Anglo-American Motors, of Toronto, stating that the company is looking for a location, and asking what Port Hope can provide. They enquire about transportation facilities and also if a fixed assessment could be arranged. The Company would require about forty acres of land for their buildings.

LEGISLATIVE WAR OVER U.S. TARIFF WELL UNDER WAY

FOR THREE MONTHS U.S TO GET DIET OF TARIFF TALK.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(Canadian Press.)—The struggle in Congress over the permanent tariff bill is now in full swing. Practically it was begun in the House last week when Chairman Fordney of the ways and means committee introduced the new bill, but certain formalities which had to be gone through with delayed actual consideration of the measure until this week.

For the next three months, the United States will have a daily diet of tariff talk. Indications are the measure cannot pass both houses and be signed by the President until late September or early October. The new bill is surcharged with political possibilities, because it will defeat the party in power, if it works out badly in practise and, as to its commercial and industrial possibilities, it is a good deal of a conjecture as to what will result from it in view of the unsettled situation in Europe and the uncertainty what the competition of foreign countries will be able to effect.

Some striking stories are afloat that German manufacturers are laying down certain of their products in this country at prices so low that even the proposed high tariff rates will not bar them out. It is not easy to say just how much of truth there is in such reports. It need not be said that the advocates of high tariff have not been slow to circulate them.

Broadly speaking the political danger to the Republican party and the Harding administration in the new bill is that it will cause such an increase in living costs in the cities as to arouse a wave of feeling which will be expressed in the election for Congress next year. Democratic leaders, including Governor Cox, democratic candidate for president last fall, are planning to make the utmost of any false steps of the Republians on tariff, as well as taxation.

From the standpoint of the relations between the U. S. and Canada, the pending bill will have unusual interest. The high tariff elements in Congress would raise a high barrier against Canada, just as against other countries. On the other hand, the feeling in Congress is more pronounced than ever before that trade between these two countries ought to be promoted as much as possible, and that trade barriers should be erected as little as possible. This sentiment will be much heard in the debate and in the consideration of particular schedules.

It looks now as if Canadian lumber would be admitted free. It is doubtful if either house on a test vote would stand for a tariff on lumber. The proposition of the House bill to make it optional with the President whether to impose a duty on lumber will encounter opposition but even if it is retained it is not expected that the President will impose a duty.

The wheat supply of 25 cents per bushel in the new bill is one of the features so far as concerns importations from Canada. The present emergency tariff is 25 cents. This is looked on by some Republicans and most Democrats as being too high. Efforts will doubtless be made on the floor to reduce the rate, but it is doubtful if they succeed, for the agricultural group will not consent to any lowering of it.

The present reign of high railroad freight rates in the U.S. has a distinct bearing on the tariff and importations. In manly cases, freight rates are so high that importations cannot be successful, except in the case of imports sold in cities close to the border. U. S. manufacturers and producers have not only the protection of high tariffs, according to the new bill, but the protection of extremely high railroad rates. It does not appear, however, the high railroad rates have been taken into account by the ways and means committee.

ANNUAL CHURCH PARADE OF ORANGEMEN OF PETERBORO

ATTENDED BETHANY TABERNACLE ON SUNDAY NIGHT—REV. A. W. JOFFE OF TORONTO PREACHED SERMON—SAYS CATHOLIC CHURCH IS ADVANCING.

Attended by over four hundred Orangemen and Orangewomen the annual church parade of the Orange Order of this district was held last night to Bethany Tabernacle, where the lodges were addressed by Rev. A. W. Roffe, of Toronto. The lodges gathered at Victoria Hall, and marshalled by Bro. Robert Manley, District Director of Ceremonies, and Bro. Stewart Anderson, District Master, and led by the Salvation Army band, the long file of men, boys and women marched up George street past crowds of people who thronged the sidewalks to the place of worship. The following lodges were each generously represented: Nassau 457, Downer's Corners 321, North Monaghan 2440, city lodges 80, 1175, 50, L.O.B.A. 244, the True Blues and Juveniles of Nassau and the city lodges.

Large Attendance.

The church was filled to capacity, the remaining seats after the Order were established being quickly taken by the congregation and outsiders. Rev. A. Doner, pastor of the Bethany Tabernacle, is in California, where his mother lies in a critical condition and in a letter which was read by Mr. A. J. Johnston to the assembled lodges, he expressed his sincere regret at his enforced absence. Rev. Roffe of Toronto, was the speaker. Psalm 19 was read. Rev. Joffe preached from Deuteronomy 33:6, "Let Reuben live." These three words from Moses' blessing to the twelve tribes formed the pith of Rev. Roffe's message. "It doesn't say 'let Reuben join the church,' it says 'let Reuben live.' God is a thousand times more interested in life than a lot of other things. God is looking for living men. There is only one way to live and that is by establishing Christ in your hearts. I'd like to put your name in instead of Reuben's. I'd like to put mine in. God has something men that is eternal, full of promise and prospect."

Scores Church of Rome.

The minister made the statement that Rome is advancing surely but quietly. "Rome is beginning to feel she has has some power and prestige and she is beginning to assert herself. There is danger. We are informed the Pope never had more power in Europe than he has today. Whatever this war has done it has strengthened the hand of the Vatican. The Pope grew strong at the expense of the war. Now watch; you need to watch."

In their prompt reply to all criticisms and letters in the press Rev. Joffe saw the Church of Rome exhibiting a more militant attitude than heretofore. He declared that the endeavour of the church was to put members of their faith in positions of faith and trust. Its policy was also, he said, to obtain valuable property through which it could obtain wide influence. The Bishop of Cleveland had in his own name in that city 27,478 feet of frontage, equivalent to 91 city block, according to Rev. Roffe. "We look at Rome with its Sunday clothes on. The battle isn't won yet. Men who know how to pray must pray and those who don't know how must live."

More Scripture Reading Needed.

Read the "Word of God" advised the minister. "The day has come when God wants real men who will take Jesus Christ into their hearts. In God there is only two classes, the clean and the unclean, the saved and the unsaved and living and the dead. God has a plan for every life."

THREE CANADIANS CAPTURED PRIZES

TWO GUELPH AND ONE KINGSTON OFFICER WIN AT BISELY.

BISLEY CAMP, July 11.—(Canadian Press.)— The whole country is imploring rain as fervently as Elijah of Tissbite. At Bisley to-day visibility on certain parts of the range was partially obscured by smoke from heath fires. In the Conan Doyle match, Sergt. G. T. Steele of Guelph, was eleventh and Major C. R. Crowe, of Guelph twenty-seventh. They each win a pound.

In the Birmingham small arms competition, Captain W. E. Swain, of Kingston, was 21st, winning a pound.

CLUE TO MISSING GIRL MYSTERY

Believe Young Brantford Woman Taken Off in Auto.

HAMILTON, June 8.—(Canadian Press.)—A clue that may result in the solution of the disappearance of Miss Viola Davidson of Brantford, has been discovered in South Clinton township. A prominent resident of the district a few days ago noticed a young girl answering the description of the missing Miss Davidson being ejected from an automobile. Later he got in touch with the police. The girl seemed to be in a comatose condition. The occupants of the car, which, it has been discovered, came from Toronto, returned later and picked the girl up. The driver said the girl was crazy and then rode off with her. Miss Davidson's father was in Grimsby yesterday investigating and he feels satisfied that the girl was his daughter. Miss Davidson, at the time of her disappearance, was worrying about her school examiantions.

NEED OF RAIN IN THE WEST SUBSTANTIALLY RELIEVED.

The crop report received by the Canadian National Railways yesterday from the West, covering the week ending 2nd July, is, generally speaking, an optimistic one, although it reflects the effect of the intense heat and lack of rain over wide areas before that date.

A total of 321 agents reported, and of these 71 recorded the weather as favourable, and 118 reported a need of rain.

Agents to the number of 64 showed that recent rain has saved the situation as far as serious damage was concerned in their district.

Slight damage from drought is indicated by 10 agents, while considerable damage is reported by four. Hail is mentioned by 10, grasshoppers by 6, cutworms by 1, and damage from rain by 1 also.

Since 2nd July considerable rain has fallen over wide areas in the West, along the Canadian National Lines, and it is likely that a great deal of the danger of damage from drought has been removed accordingly.

MISSION TO LEIPZIG RECALLED BY FRANCE.

Is Protest Against Hypocrisy of War Trials.

PARIS, July 8.—The Government has ordered the recall of the French legal mission at Leipzig as a protest against the hypocrisy of the German trials of war guilty in that city, it was announced to-day. This followed acquittal of General Stenger, accused of ordering prisoners of war to be executed.

It was added that France will refuse to recognize any more of the trials, which are regarded as farcical.

BUYER AND SELLER ARE STRUGGLING YET IN ITALY

ROME, July 8.—The struggle between buyers and sellers still continues in Italy, as it goes to the heart of the Italian shopkeeper to reduce those prices which have made his fortune since the war.

A large quantity of wool has been sent to Italy from Australia, and consequently the Italian woolen merchants find a difficulty in disposing of ther goods, and fine woolen stuff can now be produced for $10 a yard. The shopkeepers, however, refuse to sell this cheaper material until they have exhausted all the dearer but inferior quality cloth which they have in their shops, and continue calmly to charge $100 to $200 for a suit of clothes.

STATE BALL HELD AT BUCKINGHAM.

First Function Since 1914 Was in Honor of King and Queen of the Belgians.

LONDON, July 9.—The first State ball at Buckingham Palace, since 1914, was held Thursday night in honor of the King and Queen of the Belgians. It had an air of unusual brilliance owing to the comparative novelty of the affair, a very large number of the 2,000 guests attending such a function for the first time.

Another contrast with pre-war functions of this kind was to be found in the change in character of the costumes, the rather rigid heavy style of etiquette formerly demanded giving way to light gossamers and heavy embroideries to adornments of vaporous texture. Still another novelty was the large number of ladies wearing war orders, and there was also a regal display of jewels.

The State quadrille was danced in the cutomary manner, the King leading with the Queen of the Belgians and Queen Mary with King Albert.

MAKES FASTEST COURT.

Wood as Playing Surface in Tennis Gets Boost in England.

What constitutes the best surface for the fastest exposition of the possibilities of lawn-tennis is discussed by Lawn Tennis and Badminton, official organ of the British Lawn Tennis Association, in connection with the rules governing the Davis Cup matches. Nearly every tie in previous Davis Cup contests has been held on grass courts, on which players like the French are never at their best.

"Paradoxically enough," says the British publication, "lawn tennis develops its highest voltage on a wood floor. Tilden agrees with this view, and says that the best tennis is on wood. What about the Davis Cup ties on a covered court? Impossible. No covered court can seat the 10,000 spectators who crowd to see the matches. Few places, even capital cities, can boast or afford any sort of covered court. For the man in the street the game is an outdoor game, and the man in the street supplies the gate money. In a couple of years the new Wimbledon plant will solve the problem of allowing 12,000 people to see a Davis Cup challenge match."

The magazine comments upon the marked influence that hard courts have had in developing a free-hitting game among countries other than England, and points out the need in that country for a greater number of hard courts. It then offers the following observation:

"Who, even a few years ago, would have imagined not only that, at the beginning of 1921, not one single tennis championship would be held by a British player, but also that no fewer than twelve separate countries would feel justified in challenging the United States of America for the possession of the famous Davis Cup? Some of them truly may not be of much account, but, at any rate, they are in the lists and, whether beaten easily or not, they will be all the better for the experience. For a game only a little over forty years old to become world-wide is a very remarkable thing. Lawn tennis is not world-wide in the sense of being an English game played by Englishmen wherever they go; it is world-wide in the sense of being played and played well by players of nearly every race under the sun."

ICE TEA HABIT.

At this season of the year, when iced drinks are most popular, it is interesting to know as showing the increased consumption of teas in this country that the iced tea habit is becoming more and more a vogue. Now it is considered more than a passing fad for particular housewives to serve iced Salada Tea to their families and guests. At the soda fountain, too, iced tea serving is becoming popular and the delightful flavor of Salada has made thousands of friends among the women, and discerning men, who find in it a genuine bracer and a lasting cooler during the hot spells. It is therefore important that everyone should know how to make this delicious beverage.

Iced tea is easy to make and to make it properly the particular housewife should follow these simple directions:

Scald out a crockery teapot and while it is warm put in a level teaspoonful of tea for every cup or glass. Pour on freshly boiling water (but be sure that it is boiling) and allow it to steep from five to eight minutes. Then pour it off the leaves into a large pitcher or crock, and sweeten to the taste, allow it to remain until cool, then serve in glasses with chipped ice. A thin slice of lemon with each glass may be added if desired, but it is really unnecessary providing you are using the genuine "Salada" which has such an exquisite flavor of its own.

MORE CRIME IN WASHINGTON.

Figures for Six Months of 1921 Show 20 Per Cent. Increase.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Crime and irregularities in Washington during the first six months of 1921 show an increase of nearly 20 per cent. over figures for 1920, according to the report made public to-day by Frank A. Sebring, chief clerk of the Police Court.

With real liquor fast disappearing from the "bootleg" market and the sale of synthetic and poisonous concoctions on the increase, arrests from 1st January of this year to 30th June show a total of 23,173.

The total number of arrests for all offences during the entire twelve months of 1920 was 42,000. Nearly 25 per cent. of these arrests were for drunkenness, and an additional 20 per cent. for offences traceable directly or indirectly to drunkenness.

Arrests for drunkenness and offences traceable to drink during the first six months of this year will total nearly 17,000.

URIC ACID IN MEAT CLOGS THE KIDNEYS

Take a Glass of Salts if your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasoinally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, the tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

A man's fool friends cause him almost as much trouble as his wise enemies.

FROM CAVE MAN TO SUPER MAN

The Cliff Dwellers of America, though later in the race for the development of culture and order, had their heart strings moved by the same impulses as the races from which they sprang in civilization's cradle in Europe and Asia.

In migrating to America, thousands of years before Columbus thought of it, these Cliff Dwellers left behind them a people who had by this time developed settled communities and had reached away beyond the American stage of culture.

Though the filling of the mediterranean basin around 15,000 B.C., by the Atlantic breaking through at Gibraltar appeared at first a great calamity, it acted like a fiery stimulant in urging the races forward to greater heights of progress. One by one, the various tribes settled down and followed peaceful and often sublimely ridiculous occupations. The Sumerians, with their great Tower of Babel; the Egyptians, with their wonderful but unmeaning Pyramids, were accomplishing wonderful but simple things around 5,000 B.C.

The Dravidians of India and Iberians of Britain were exhausting themselves on equally simple things around 3,000 B.C. "Stonehenge," the crude Sunworshippers' temple, over 300 feet in diameter, with its huge stones of 30-ton weight, many of which are still standing in their original positions at Salisbury Plain, England, shows that all races, wherever they were, forged their way onward on the path of civilization through a mire of appalling ignorance, superstition, slavery and sacrifice of innocent victims.

So also, did the Chinese further East emerge from their animal dreamland. A spark of the new life had reached them from the west, and they began to develop a tongue and other wonderful things of their own.

So reads this eighth chapter of the wonderful story of the development of civilization from the lowly beginning of the caveman to the marvelous present-day heights, where only the best is accepted—in the kitchen "WELLWORTH," Better Quality Aluminumware.

The ninth number of this interesting and educational series of the evolution of cooking utensils by the Wentworth Manufacturing Co. will appear on this page on July 20th. 1,000 AIRSHIP FLEET PROPOSED BY FRANCE.

Huge Defence Corps Is Idea of Deputy Benazet.

PARIS, July 11.—A fleet of 1,000 aeroplanes, suitable for war, is proposed in a bill now before the Chamber of Deputies. It is planned to establish and operate these war craft commercially so that the cost to the Government would be little if any more than under its present policy.

The author of the measure, Deputy Paul Benazet, called attention to the large and expensive aviation personnel of the Government "which consumes but does not produce."

Strongly advocating the creation of a great, protecting aerial force, M. Benazet urged that the Government create a corporation to operate commercially, transporting passengers and freight and establishing air postal routes, thus training aviators developing aviation, cementing relations with the colonies and meantime keeping the fleet ready for immediate conversion to war purposes.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, July 11. — Canadian Press.—Little alteration from recent reactionary tendencies was manifester by the stock market at the opening of to-day's trading.

Rails, oils, equipments and specialties of the tobacco and chemical types were lower by fractions to one point. Beth. Steel, common and preferred, Can. Pac., and Amtrican Sugar were among he firmer issues.

Foreign Exchange continued to weaken despite the favorable inferences drawn from the international developments over the week end.

The British rate opened at $3.63 5-8, a decline of 2 5-8c from Saturday.

In the moderate dealings of the morning shorts brought greater pressure to bear against Oils, Steels, Equipments and many of the less prominent Industrials and Specialties. Mexican and Pan-American Petroleums, Harvester, Pullman, U. S. Rubber, Sumatra Tobacco and Guba Cane Sugar were lower by one to 2 1-2 points. Sears Roebuck, Famous Players, Industrial Alcohol and International Paper lost one to three points. Baldwin, Studebaker, Crucible and Atlantic Gulf featured the moderate rally, most of which was cancelled before noon. Call money opened at 5 1-2 per cent., but foreign exchange became increasingly weak.

Mexican Petroleum forfeited half of its gain in the last hour when call money rose to 6 per cent. Other leaders, including rails, reacted to further pressure against specialties.

The closing was heavy.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, July 11. Canadian Press.—There was very little trading on the local stoc kexchange during the first half hour this morning. Abitibi registered a decline of a 1-4 point at 25 1-4, Dominion Steel was unchanged at 27 was was also Laurentide at 73. National Breweries was stronger at 52 3-4 after closing at 52 1-2 on Friday last.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, July 11.—(Canadian Press.)—Sterling exchange weak. Demand 3.62 3-4; Canadian Dollars 12 5-8 per cent. discount.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, July 11.— (Canadian Press.)—Hot weather in the northwest sent the wreat market upward to-day. Some attention was also given to car shortage complaints from the south-west. Besides country offerings taken as a whole appeared to be only moderate.

Opening quotations, which ranged from 1-2 to 1-4 higher with September 1.18 to 1.18 3-4 and December 1.20 1-2 to 1.21, were followed by decided gains and then something of a reaction.

The absence of rain had a bullish influence on corn. After opening 1-8 off to 1 cent higher, including September at 59 1-2 to 60, the market scored a material advance all around.

Oats hardened with other cereals, starting 1-8 to 3-8 higher, September 38 1-8 to 38 1-4, and then continuing to display strength.

Higher quotations on hogs helped to lift provisions.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, July 11.—(Canadian Press.)—The two-day rest on the local stock exchange failed to pile up any great amount of business and this morning the session was extremely dull. Total sales of stock being under 4000 shares.

Toronto railway, the only stock in which over fifty shares changed hands, sold at 70. This compares with 71 7-8 on Friday. One lot of fifty shares of Steamship Preferred broke price from 48 3-8, the closing price on Friday, to 47. In the unlisted section losses were sustained by the paper group, with Laurentide selling at 72 3-4 or 1 1-4 lower and Wayagamack sold off six points to 3 on sales of 110 shares.

THREE STRAIGHTS FOR LAKEVIEWS BY DEFEATING THE BANKERS 4 TO 1

PAIR OF DOUBLES IN THE SIXTH GAVE LOSERS THEIR ONLY COUNTER.

Lakeviews made it three straight wins in the Juvenile City League by defeating Bankers at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon by the score of 4 to 1. Shaughnessy held the Bankers to four hits, including a pair of doubles in the sixth. He used good judgment in handling batted balls and he hit safely twice, his single in the fifth scoring Whitlow.

Bankers had difficulty in getting a team together. Sturgeon started in the box, and Parrington took up the burden in the third. Both twirlers did splendid work. Jack Turner was used in left field, and he put in a good afternoon, accepting three fielding chances and hitting twice, his double in the sixth driving in the Bankers' only run.

Lakeviews were given their first run. With one down and Rogers at third, LeBar grounded out, Hardill to Hardill. Jack Hardill threw to the plate to get Rogers, but Wilgar, under the impression that LeBar was the third out, did not try to touch Rogers.

In the fourth Whitlow bunted, and getting the bag, proceeded to second on a passed ball. Pethick, batting for Sharpe, fanned, but had to be retired at first, Whitlow taking third. Shaughnessy singled between first and second, scoring Whitlow. Wilgar threw badly to first to nip Shaughnessy, and the runner advanced. Rody flew out to Bradshaw. Fitzgerald doubled to left, scoring Shaughnessy. The pitcher threw Warde out.

Moore beat ut a tap in the sixth, and after two were gone, Whitlow singled in the runner. The latter was caught off second base by Parrington's throw.

Bankers had one runner on in each frame for five innings, but Lakeviews headed them off, until the sixth. Jeff Hardill opened it with a double that sailed over Warde's head in middle field. Wilgar popped to Mooree. Turner doubled to left, scoring Hardill. Jack Hardill flew out to Whitlow and Hall grounded out, pitcher to first.

AT THE THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

WHAT'S YOUR HURRY CHARACTERS IN NEW FILM.

Dusty Rhoades Virginia MacMurran and Pat MacMurran, the three principal characters in "What's Your Hurry," the fine automobile story in which Wallace Reid was starred some months ago, are revived in Mr. Reid's newest picture, "Too Much Speed," which will be featured at the Capitol theatre to-night.

The picture opens with Dusty Rhoades' withdrawal from the racing game and he plans for his wedding to Virginia MacMurran. While Dusty and Pat MacMurran are on their way home in a limousine, a rival dealer, whom Dusty had formerly represented in racing events, passes them in a car. Dusty's sporting blood is aroused and he speeds up the limousine and passes the rival, but ends in the ditch. MacMurran is angry and calls off the wedding, whereupon Dusty takes the waiting bride, jumps in a roadster and speeds away. Old Pat follows and at the first small town, both are sent to prison for speeding.

Having served his term, Dusty leaves jail determined to enter the race. With Virginia's help, he secretly buys Pat's Pakro racing car, which has not been on the track for two years, and on the day of the big event, enters. Dusty wins the race and Pat willingly consents to the marriage.

Byron Morgan wrote the story and scenario and Frank Urson directed. Mr. Reed is supported by Agnes Ayres, Theodore Roberts and other favorites.

The balance of this big summer programme and the cool, pleasant atmosphere at the Capitol makes it a delight to visit and enjoy an entertainment in this Theatre De Luxe.

WANTS $500 FOR INJURY TO CHILD

OSHAWA, July 8.—John Peter Drayton was charged in the Police Court with having caused bodily harm to a little child named Hoar whom he ran into while riding a vicycle on the sidewalk. Pleading guilty, Drayton promised to pay all costs, and Col. Grierson, his counsel, asked for suspended sentence, to which Crown Attorney Farewell agreed. But the child's father, Mr. Hoar, when asked to present his bill, claimed $500.00, and this put a somewhat different aspect on the case. Col. Grierson then asked for a fine and suggested that the complainant take action in the Civil Court. Magistrate Hind stated that such an amount as claimed could not be awarded by him and reserved sentence until Monday next.

AMERICAN LEGION IS SEEKING WORLD PEACE.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 8.— The American Legion is "unshakably opposed" to any plan for disarmament by the United States which shall not be accompanied by the simultaneous disarmament of the other world powers, according to a statement recently issued.

The statement asserts that plans are under way to launch in this country a nation-wide campaign advocating disarmament by the United States "on the theory that we shall thus set an example which other nations will be obliged to emulate."

The "goal of goals" of the American Legion is to bring about world peace, and is making plans toward that end, working in conjunction with affiliated veterans' organizations in other countries.

HELPING AN EDITOR.

Vanleek Hill Review: Here is a minister who appreciates the editor. At a recent editorial convention he offered the following toast: "To save an editor from starvation, take his paper and pay for its promptly. To save him from bankruptcy, advertise in his paper liberally. To save him from despair, send him every item of news of which you can get hold. To save him from profanity, write your correspondence plainly on one side of the sheet and send it in as early as possible. To save him from mistakes, bury him. Dead people are the only ones who never make mistakes."

PETES SURPRISE BELLEVILLE BY BEATING THEM AT HOME SATURDAY

FINAL SCORE WAS 7 TO 5 IN FAVOR OF SOLOMON'S OUTFIT, WHO NICK FREDDY GOYER'S SLANTS FOR ELEVEN HITS—HARRISON AND CHERRETT OUTSTANDING FIGURES IN VICTORY.

The Petes made baseball history Saturday when for the first time since the Central League was organized they succeeded in beating Belleville on the Grand Trunks own grounds, the final figure being 7 to 5. The victory keeps the Solomon crew still in the running for the first round, although they have to beat Port Hope twice this week and Lindsay must beat Oshawa in Lindsay in order to ensure a tie up in the pennant race.

To win on Saturday the Petes had to come from behind for at the end of the fifth Belleville were leading 2 to 1 and a one-run margin for Freddy Goyer againnst Manager Solomon's outfit usually looks as big as a house. However, the Petes came through with two runs in the sixth, taking the lead, hammered home three more in the seventh and added another in the eighth. Belleville with the help of an outfield error in the eighth scored three counters but the Petes still had two to the good and held their margin safely until the finish.

The biggest factor in the Peterboro win was "Hap" Harrison. Although handicapped by an injured leg that required him to have a runner and that would have kept the average player out of the game. Harrison not only fielded sensationally, accepting sixteen chances with a skip and batted in great style with a triple and two singles in five times up but he wound up a great day's work by going to the rubber with one out in the eighth and a Belleville rally raging checked the onslaught and held the league leaders runless in the final stanza. 'Hap's" first single drove in the first run of the game in the opening innings, his second safety started the rally in the sixth that gave the Petes the lead and he helped out with a triple in the seventh that hammered in another run and paved the way for a couple more.

Next to Harrison's all round good work the feature of the game from a Peterboro standpoint was provided by Roy Cherrett, who pulled off two of the fastest and most spectacular plays of the season. The first of these was interjected into the seventh innings when with Ross on first, Casey hit a lightning grass cutter past the box and through the hit groove over second. It looked like a certain safety, but Cherrett came over fast scooped in the hot one with his gloved hand, stepped one second forcing Ross and then shot the ball to Harrison who completed a sensational double play by pulling the throw down out of the clouds with one hand. There is not another short stop or another first baseman in the league who could have duplicated this double killing.

Cherrett's second hair-raising play came in the ninth innings and it possibly averted a dangerous rally. Billy Mills, Belleville catcher was the first man to face Harrison in the ninth and he cracked a hot one at Murray that tore through the third baseman's hands. Cherrett raced over behind Murray, gathered up the ball and whipped it over to Kirn at first in time to nail Mills, who was the most surprised player on the field when he realized that he was out on what he thought was a certain hit.

"Lefty" McElroy drew the pitching assignment for the Petes but the little south paw although he had barrels of stuff was very shy on control. In the second innings he started a bunch of trouble for himself with two out by dropping a fly and then a single and a pass filled the bases and another complimentary forced in a run. Further difficulties were averted by the next batter fouling out. He got by without trouble in the third but developed another wild streak in the fourth, with two out when he hit two men and passed another and finally with one run in the bases loaded and two balls and no strikes on Billy Mills, Manager Solomon sent Kirn to the rescue. It wasn't a very pleasant spot for a relief pitcher to drop into with every hassock crowded and hard hitting Mills up but Kirn got by nicely by forcing Mills to pop up an easy fly to Lowe and the trouble was over. For the next three innings Kirn had the Belleville crew tied up completely, refusing to allow them a hit. In the eighth with one out Meagher got the first safety off him and Water Jackson caused a lot of anxiety in the Peterboro camp when e muffed Ross's fly to centre Meagher would have been doubled up if the drive had been caught and Belleville shouldn't have scored. Fred Goyer came through with a timely single that sent two runs in and the Petes leader waved Harrison to the firing line, Kirn going to first. Ross doubled to left off Harrison to score Goyer but 'Hap" retired the side without further trouble and held the enemy safe in the ninth, making an impressive finish by whiffing Meagher with Fred Goyer on second.

Although Freddy Goyer fanned eleven of the Petes and only gave one base on balls the veterans port sider was not nearly as effective as usual against the Solomon gang. They came through with eleven hits and against the usually baffling Goyer gave one of their best exhibitions of the season with the willow. Their hitting was timely and they mixed solid wallops with tantalizing bunts until the Belleville infield was badly up in the air. Frank Goyer and Meagher, who succeded him at third base were completely crossed up several times when the Petes catching them playing in for bunts, slapped the ball at them so hard that they had no chance to make a play. The effective hitting of the winners was mixed with some erratic fielding by the Grand Trunks and the result was the biggest score that a Peterboro team has even piled up against Goyer.

The result of the game was a bitter pill to the Belleville team and fans. They were absolutely certain of winning and of thereby making sure of a tie at least for the first round honours. Now like the Petes they are depending upon Lindsay to beat Oshawa to sew up the race. A section of the fans gave the visitors an unmerciful panning. Manager Solomon as usual in Belleville coming in for a lot of ungentlemanly abuse. But the Petes had the last laugh.

NOTES ON THE BATTLE.

Still in the running.

Swanston was out of the game with a sore face, which made it impossible to wear a mask, but he worked nine innings on the coaching lines.

"Hap" Harrison is hitting at an even .500 clip in the Central League and has accepted fifty chances without a slip.

Manager Solomon shook up his batting order Saturday, and as the first four men in the list came through with six runs, he seems to have hit the right combination.

Belleville had won seven straight games before the Petes stopped them Saturday. The nine wins in succession the Petes pulled off last year will still take some beating.

The Petes' pilot used good judgment in handling his pitchers Saturday, for in both cases the relief pitcher succeeded in stopping the enemy.

The Belleville fans can ride a visiting team harder than any other bunch of partizans in the League. And they pull some pretty raw stuff, too.

The record of the Petes' pitching staff is as follows.

	Won.	Lost.
McElroy	3	1
Rose	1	1
Kirn	1	1

Besides accepting sixteen chances, scoring two runs, lining in two more and finishing the game on the slab, Hap Harrison didn't have a thing to do on Saturday.

A Belleville-Peterborough game is a sort of family affair. There are the Goyer brothers and the Mills brothers on the Belleville team, and the Rose brothers on the Petes' line-up, while in addition each team has a Ross.

Rev. D. C. Ramsay, the Belleville minister who officiated on the bases used to play for Jake Solomon's team up in New Liskeard. One of the funniest incidents of the game occurred when the minister-umpire called Cherrett out at second and Manager Solomon started out to register a kick. Rev. Mr. Ramsay didn't give him a chance to get under way, but raced across the diamond to tell the Petes' pilot that another yelp out of him would mean the gate. And Jake subsided.

It's a funny old race in the Central League this year. Belleville, Lindsay and Peterborough have all broken even in their series with each other, but the queer part of it is that in the case of all three they lost their home games and won on the other fellow's grounds. Oshawa has also broken even with Belleville and Peterborough, but in both instances lost away from home and won their home games.

Saturday's defeat was the second Belleville have sustained on their own grounds in the Central League in three seasons.

Freddy Goyer, the mainstay of the Belleville team, has a great record in his three seasons in the Central League. In 1919, including the two play-off games, he won 9 and lost 3, last year his record was 8 wins and 2 losses, and this year his mark is 7 wins and 3 defeats, a total for three seasons of 24 victories and 8 losses. The Petes have beaten him three times. Oshawa three times, Cannonball Scott doing the trick two years ago, and Oulette repeating this season.

PORT HOPE HERE WEDNESDAY EVENING FOR LEAGUE GAME WITH THE PETES

The last home game in the first section of the Central League race will be played at Riverside Park on Wednesday evening, the game being called at 5.30 o'clock, an hour that should allow nearly every fan a chance to be on hand. The Petes, by reason of thier brilliant victory in Belleville on Saturday, are still in the running for the honours in the first half although, of course, they must beat Port Hope here Wednesday and also in the replay game at Port Hope on Saturday.

Wednesday's game should be a real battle, for the Port Hope team, with Deer on the rubber, have made it interesting for all the Central League outfits. It is the dearest ambition of the Ontarios to take a fall out of the Petes and they will be up here at full strength on Wednesday. The Petes will have to be on their best behaviour to beat them. It is the first twilight game in the Central League to be pulled off here and should draw a big crowd in view of the return to form of the Solomon gang who seem to have recovered from their recent slump.

The New Improved Gillette Safety Razor $5.00 everywhere

NEVER was a success more dramatic or complete. Men everywhere are marvelling at the radical improvements introduced in the new razor—the ease and luxury of the new shave.

Seldom does an inventor perfect his own creation. The Gillette Safety Razor is the exception to the rule.

More than three hundred types of safety razors have been made since the introduction of the original by the Gillette organization, but it has remained for the inventors to consummate their own work, and carry it to the heights of perfection by the introduction of the New Improved Gillette and the era of micrometric precision.

Call in at any store displaying the Gillette Safety Razor or window cards! Whether or not you wish to buy, the Gillette dealer will be glad to show you the new razor and tell you all about it. Count on courtesy and service. His methods are right and his store is a good one to know.

NOTE:—The Gillette Company assumes full responsibility for service of Gillette blades when used in any GENUINE Gillette Razor—either old type or New Improved. But with IMITATIONS of the genuine Gillette, it cannot take responsibility for service of blades.

NEW VULCANIZING MACHINE

Patented by a Peterborough Inventor, Mr. W. Juniper.

In the Canadian Tire and Accessory Journal for May, the following appears:

Mr. W. Juniper, of the Reliable Tire Shop, Peterborough, has patented a new vulcanizing machine to repair tires in a new way, which claims to possess advanages over the old method of repairing tires. It is by means of a patented innerliner, with small strips of gum at the centre of the tire where the hardest road knocks would come, and along the sides of the beads. This is claimed to act as a shock absorber, as well as to hold the liner in position and to prevent friction.

The innerliner is claimed to be blow-out proof and to protect the inner tube from puncture. The special vulcanizing machine is made to fit the tire. The tires are vulcanized inside and out.

As an inducement to men who wish to learn the vulcanizing business, Mr. Juniper offers to train them if they will set up business with their equipment. This seems to be quite a reasonable offer.

The liner is made up of two or three layers of fabric with cushion gum in the centre and along the beads, and is absolutely guaranteed not to slip or cause friction.

Factory Fatigue

BERRIES WERE CHEAP ON SATURDAY NIGHT

DROPPED TEN CENTS WITH A CONSIDERABLE LOSS TO DEALERS.

Raspberries could be bought almost for a song Saturday night. Nearly all the fruit stores in their anxiety to get rid of their supplies were letting them go at 20 cents. "I paid 26 1-2 cents for mine but I had to sell them at 20" one dealer told the Examiner to-day. The price opened strong on Saturday at 30 cents but the dealers say they had to drop the price to clear their supplies and in practically every shop they were going at 20 cents or less at night. Bananas on which the dealers have been particularly hard hit on account of decomposition were selling as low as 15 cents a dozen. All the fruit men say they have lost heavily on bananas, tomatoes and plums which are particularly susceptible to the heat.

Tomatoes are very firm and Leamington stuff was selling at 40 cents a pound. Several fruit stores had no berries at all to-day. A Charlotte street dealer predicted higher prices. Wholesale quotations were 22 cents in ten case lots or 24 cents a single case lot. They would have to get 2 7cents at least on these quotations the dealer said. He was waiting for local growers to come in this afternoon and he expected they would ask 20 cents to the trade.

Wholesalers in their communiques from Toronto said this was the last week for cherries. No black cherries were quoted. Montmorencies were the only variety left they said. An 11 quart basket they asked $1.50 and this meant that cherries will go up to $1.80 or $1.90 the Examiner was informed.

WEDDING BELLS

POWELL-McDONALD.

'Grandview Farm' on the Kingston Road, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when Dora Helena, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. M. McDonald, was united in marriage to Mr. George R. Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Powell, 588 George street, Peterboro, at 12 o'clock, Wednesday, July 6th.

About 50 guests were present to witness the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. E. C. Moddle, an old pastor of the Kingston Road Methodist church, and took place on the verandah under an arch of flowers and evergreens.

The bride looked charming in her wedding dress of white satin and georgette, trimmed with silver beads, wearing a coronet of white satin and tulle veil, and carrying a bouquet of roses.

Miss Ruth Jones of Belleville General Hospital, acted as bridesmaid, and was attired in a beautiful dress of white jersey silk, and carried a bouquet of carnations, while the groom was supported by his brother, Morley, of Peterboro. The bride was given away by her father.

The groom's gift to the bride was a dainty sunburst of pearls, to the bridesmaid an opal bar-pin, and to the groomsman a pair of gold cuff links. The large number of very beautiful and costly gifts revealed the high esteem with which the bride is held by her many friends and neighbors who knew her.

On monday evening, the friends from the neighborhood gathered at the bride's home and after spending a delightful evening, Mrs. F. S. Parrot on their behalf, read a very nice address and presented the bride with several lovely pieces of silver and glass. Miss Macdonald responded in a few appreciative words. The gift of the father and mother of the bride was a cheque for $100 each.

After a very enjoyable luncheon the happy couple left on the afternoon train for Toronto, Niagara and Michigan. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Powell will take up their residence at Peterboro.—From the Daily Ontario, Belleville.

EUCLID AVENUE RESIDENTS DIVIDED OVER WATER AGAIN

SOME HAVE GOOD WELLS AND ARE OPPOSED TO PETITION BECAUSE OF TAX INVOLVED — DISCORD HAS DEVEVOPED AND ONE PUMP HAS BEEN CHAINED UP.

REPLY TO MONAGHAN

Residents of Euclid Avenue, representing the opposing opinions that have developed over the petition for a water main presented their arguments to the Board of Health this morning.

Mr. Henry Nokes, as spokesman for the apparent majority who have wells and who desire to avoid the expense of the city's water service, declared that it was a question of dollars and cents. Some of the men had not been working steadily, and they did not wish to assume further taxes.

On the other hand the petitioners contended that they could not get good water — that neighbours who had wells had chained up their pumps, and consequently they had to appeal to the city.

G. H. Duncan, chairman, informed the divided deputation that the Board could not take action unless a majority of the residents applied for the water main. The Utilities Commission's policy was not to construct a main on any street that would not provide sufficient revenue to meet the cost. However, the Provincial Board of Health might intervene as a last resort.

In the meantime, a new petition will be circulated, it was said, in order that a definite expression may be obtained from the residents.

Mrs. James Pammett, whose husband had appeared at the previous meeting and urged the Board to order the laying of a main on Euclid Avenue, stated that there was a well on their property, but the water was unfit for drinking purposes. She had nearly lost her baby from the effects of it. The baby was now on an anti-typhoid diet.

Although the dispute stopped at personalities, it transpired that Mr. and Mrs. Nokes objected to the use of their pump by Mrs. Viner, another resident of the street. It seems that Mrs. Viner's cow got into the Nokes garden and mussed it up.

"And you wouldn't like that after working hard and then having your garden spoiled," said Mrs. Nokes to Mr. Duncan.

Mrs. Viner said she had to walk half a mile for water, "and through hard feeling they are trying to tie us up."

Mr. Nokes stated that he was willing, and had offered to let neighbours use his pump, but he had chained it up "to prevent a nuisance."

Four signed the petition and eight objected.

Mr. E. F. Mason explained the attitude of the Utilities Commission, and counselled the Euclid Avenue residents to get together in a spirit of unselfishness and to sign the petition fully. "You need a water main for fire protection, if for nothing else," he remarked.

The deputation included Mr. and Mrs. Nokes, Mr. and Mrs. George Foster, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Closson, who did not want the water main, and Mrs. McDougall, Mrs. Pammett, Mrs. Viner, and Mrs. Monaghan, who needed it.

Mr. Nokes asserted that there wasn't a street in the city with a cleaner health bill than Euclid Avenue's.

Refused Request.

T. E. Bradburn, owner of the house at 68 Murray Street, occupied by F. Bartlett, asked for permission to provide an earth closet for his tenant.

Dr. Young, M.O.H., advised the Board that if this request was granted, other property owners would apply for the same concession.

Mr. Bradburn said that the costs of material were too high to warrant making a connection with the sewer. He had been charging only $12.50 a month.

"We have learned anyway that Mr. Bradburn hasn't been profiteering," said Mr. James Lynch.

The Board assented to the suspension of its order until Mr. Bradburn gave a month's notice to his tenant, in order that the house may be vacated by 1st September.

Dr. Young refused to permit the continuance of the existing conditions, and stated that the desire was to have sewer connections made in such cases.

Note to Monaghan.

The Board rejected the offer of $4.00 a day made by the Council of North Monaghan as a rate for patients from the Township who are sent to the Isolation Hospital. The present costs exceed that sum, and Board decided that they could not accept the Monaghan offer for all expenses, including medical service and extra nurses.

RETURNS FROM TRIP TO NORTH COUNTRY

ARCHDEACOH DAVIDSON PASSES THROUGH THE CITY THIS MORNING.

Archdeacon J. C. Davidson spent a hurried hour in the city this morning on his way to Toronto, from a trip to the north country, from a annual tour of inspection in the Peterboro Archdeaconry. His visit included among other parishes Cobconk, Minden, Fenelon Falls, Haliburton, Kinmount, Maple Lake, Apsley, Young's Point, and all Anglican missions in the northern districts, and he reports his tour as satisfactory.

While in Peterboro, the Archdeacon visited St. John's church, and expressed his pleasure in the improvements completed and underway for which he tenders hearty congratulations to the Vicar and congregation.

SMOTHERED BLAZE WITH CHEMICALS

SMALL FIRE AT MIDNIGHT IN CLOSET IN J. ANGLESEY'S HOME

Fifty-one gallons of chemicals were used by the Fire Department last night in extinguishing a blaze of unknown origin which started in a clothes' closet in the flat occupied by John Anglesey on the third storey above Lane and Eano's furniture store and undertaking parlors, Hunter Street. The clothes' closet was filled with clothing of all kinds, blankets and bedding, and Mr. and Mrs. Anglesey were quite unable to explain in any way the cause of the fire. At 11.24, when Mr. Anglesey was preparing to take a bath, he noticed smoke coming out of the closet, and he found the clothes and bedding burning merrily. Mrs. Anglesey shouted to Mr. Perry, who was in front of the American Hotel, that the building was on fire, and the alarm was rung in from the American Hotel. Not until an unusually strong dose of chemical was used was the fire smothered out, and damage estimated at $200 was caused by the fire, smoke and chemical. The loss was covered by insurance, the Examiner was informed.

It pays railway freight charges of $100,000,000 annually.

Ignorance that pays looks like wisdom to some people.

The wife of a lazy man thinks other people misunderstand him.

It is a desirable thing to know when your presence is not desired.

SAID FAREWELL TO HIS CONGREGATION

REV. C. J. PHELAN'S LAST SUNDAY OF PASTORATE AT ST PETER'S.

Rev. C. J. Phean gave a touching farewell address to the people of the Cathedral parish at the three masses yesterday. He referred to the good will and co-operation in all good works which had been experienced by him during his six years at the Cathedral, the feeling of sorrow experienced in parting from friends of all classes and creeds in the city, and asked the blessing of God on the congregation with whom he had been associated.

Yesterday afternoon, Father Phelan was presented with a leather travelling bag and illuminated address by the local Council of the Knights of Columbus, of which he has been chaplain. The presentation was made by Mr. W. S. Merrell and the address read by Mr. J. A. O'Brien.

GREY MAY HEAD BRITISH PARTY TO CONFERENCE

FORMER FOREIGN SECRETARY RUMORED TO BE LIKELY LEADER—SUGGEST DOMINION REPRESENTATIVES ATTEND.

LLOYD GEORGE TO SIT AT FINAL MOULDING?

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(Canadian Press.—Favorable responses are understood to have been received to-day from all but one of the powers to which the United States suggested a conference on the reduction of armament and related questions.

LONDON, July 12 Canadian Press. Viscount Grey of Fallodon, who was British Secretaryn of State, for Forcig Affairs, when the war began, may, says the Daily Mail, lead Great Britain's delegates to the disarmament conference to be held in Washington, as a result of President Harding's proposal to the allied nations. The newspaper declares that a statesman of the type of Viscount Grey should be chosen and that he should act with experts from the Dominions at the conference.

After the preliminary and technical work of the conference is completed, the Mail says Prime Minister Lloyd George may go to the United States to attend the final moulding of the agreement.

It appears to be the consensus of opinion that the conference will be held during the coming autumn or at the latest during the early months of 1922.

A supply boat will make the rounds of the tents and cottages as far down as the more populous section extends. Trips will be made at least once a day, and if necessary twice.

This convenience will be appreciated not only by the summer residents on th banks of the Otonabee, but also by those who seek occasional outings.

VETERANS HAVE TO PLAY THE WOOLLENS

PROTEST OF BE LAVAL GAME SUCCESSFUL IN COMMITEE.

Canadian Woollens won their pro test against the De Laval using an ineligible player at the regular bimonthly meeting of the executive of the Peterboro and District Football Association last night. To most of the footballers this is the most interesting news coming out of the meeting. Points were awarded the Woollens and the War Vets and Woollens are now tied with 15 points each, for the city league championship. The teams were ordered last night to play off at Nicholis Oval on Saturday at 6.30 p.m. J. Clark will referee.

The suspension of Calder was reduced after consideration. Following the final for the Gordon Cup on May 30, Calder was suspended till the end of the year. Last night the executive reduced the period of suspension to Sept. 1.

The executive had a long and 'tis whispered stormy session last night and much business was left over till next week. At the next meeting the date of the general meeting of the P and D. F. A. will be decided upon.

HALT OF PROBE MAY YET GO TO PRIVY COUNCIL

JUSTICE CURRAN'S DECISION FAR-REACHING IN EFFECT AND VIRTUALLY DECLARES GRAIN ACT ULTRA VIRES.

HIGH TRIBUNAL MUST DECIDE ITS VALIDITY

(Special Despatch to the Examiner.)

OTTAWA, July 12.— The judgment of Mr. Justice Curran of Winnipeg, which gives permanency to the injunction restraining the Royal Commission under Judge Hydman, from continuing its investigation of the grain trade, bids fair to have far reaching effects. While Judge Curran does not specifically make any finding uopn the Canadian Grain Act per se ,the actual effect of his judgment is to declare it ulta vires of the powers of Parliament, under the terms of the British North America Act, by which jurisdiction as to property and civil rights is vested in the provinces.

In the opinion of informed persons here the injunction will restrain further investigation of the grain trade by the Hydman Commission until such time as the matter at issue is finally adjudicated by the Appeal Court of Manitoba and the Supreme Court of Canada.

And inasmuch as the validity of the Grain Act itself is, by implication, called in question, the issue cannot finally be decided without resort to the last and highest tribunal the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. In the meantime, however, the Canada Grain Board will continue to operate, though with a cloud upon its title to do so, and with one of its members, in the person of W. D. Staples, restrained from taking part in an investigation under its operation.

GREEKS LAUNCH NEW OFFENSIVE AGAINST KEMAL

KING AND STAFF LEAVE FOR FRONT TO DIRECT OPERATIONS—TURKS MAKE COUNTER MOVE AND FIGHTING SPREADS.

ATHENS, July 12. United Press. —King Constantine and his staff left for the fighting front in Smyrna today to direct the new offensive launched by the Greeks against the Turkish Nationalists.

Advices received here stated that the Turks have responded by starting a counter offensive and that the fighting had spread over a wide front.

ATHENS, July 12. — (Canadian Press).—Official confirmation of the beginning of the Greek offensive against the Turkish Nationalists was supplied in a Government statement last night. This announced the preliminary movement in the operations. The Greeks, said the statement, advanced fifteen miles, occupying the towns of Yeni-Shehr and Hassan-Pasha, east of Brussa and Jenikioy, north of Uskas. No resistance was encountered by the Greeks in the advance.

BARRIE GIVES PEOPLE BONUS

EQUAL TO REFUND OF LIGHT RATES FOR ONE MONTH.

BARRIE, July 12.—The 1,600 customers of the Barrie Municipal Electric System are to receive a bonus equal to a refund of one month's rates. As the total net surplus of the Barrie Water and Light Commission for the year 1920 was $6,628, after deducting $4,932 for depreciation; as the balance-sheet of the local system in Barrie shows an investment of $30,000 in securities, whereas the outstanding debenture balance amounts to $32,565, and as the lighting rates in force in Barrie are the lowest charged by any Hydro system in the Province, and are considered to have reached the minimum below which it is not wise to recommend further reduction, the Hydro Commission has authorized that the Barrie Commission refund to each customer, exclusive of street lighting and waterworks pumping plant, 25 per cent. of the January, February, March and April bills, including both power and lighting customers.

FUND FOR BLIND

Four contributions of $50.00 each for the Canadian Institute for the Blind Fund, were received yesterday afternoon bringing the total close to the $500 mark. These subscriptions were from Mrs. T. G. Hazlitt, Mrs. E. Walsh, Miss Martha Dickson and Miss C. Dickson.

These generous gifts with the donations already acknowledged, will be greatly apreciated by the promoters of this fund for the extension of the Institute's work.

If citizens could see the work done by the sightless graduates of the Canadian Institute for the Blind, the sum asked for from Peterboro would have been raised long ago.

BURIAL PLACE OF CALVIN REVEALED AFTER 357 YEARS

GENEVA, July 12.— Leaders of the Protestant church throughout Europe are showing lively interest in the announcement that the burial place of John Calvin, the Swiss divine and reformer, has been revealed after having been unknown for 357 years.

Calvin died in 1546 and was buried somewhere in the Plain-Palais cemetery here but no stone has marked the spot. According to the legend, he was buried secretly from fear that his grave would be desecrated.

Knowledge of the location of the grave is said to have been held by one family for more than three and a half centuries. The secret is said to have been handed down from father to son for all these generations.

Disclosure at this time is accounted for by the statement that the last holder of the secret, Eugene de Speyr, has no descendant and, being 71 years old, decided to reveal the site of the grave to the Council of the Protestant church in Geeneva.

EVAL, Esthonia, July 12. — The Petrograd Soviet has decided to distribute to the workmen there all of the household furnishings left in the homes abandoned by Russians who have fled from the city, and also to permit the workmen to live in the houses in the best state of repair.

LINER, REPORTED PIRATE'S VICTIM, SAFE AT HOBOKEN

(Special Despatch to The Examiner.)

NEW YORK, July 12.— The Munsion liner Gallac, which was reported missing last week, and which it was feared had fallen a victim to a modern pirate, docked at Hoboken to-day. Capt. Thos. W. Sheridan said he had been cut off from wireless communication with land stations because of high static electricity in the Carribean Sea. There was no incident in the voyage, he declared.

KRASSIN COMES TO U.S., RUMOR

HAD PLANNED TO VISIT CANADA, BUT ILLNESS PREVENTED—FEARED PREVIOUSLY HE WOULD FACE DEPORTATION.

LONDON, July 12. — (United Press). — Despatches from Berlin to-day stated that Leonied Krassin, Bolshevik Trade Commissioner, would soon visit the United States.

Krassin, who left for Moscow after recovering from his recent illness, will return to London in three weeks, it was stated at the offices of the Russian Commission here. He will resume his place at the head of his delegation, which has been in charge of his assistant, M. Berzig.

Before his illness, Krassin had planned to visit Canada to supervise several huge contracts. At that time it was reported he would enter the United States, but this was denied by Bolsheviki authorities, who pointed out that he would face deportation the same as Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, former Russian representative in New York.

LEAN THEATRICAL SEASON IN NEW YORK THIS YEAR

NEW York, July 12. Canadian Press. — New York City is having its leanest theatrical summer in a number of years. Only sixteen of Broadway's fifty-seven theatres are now in operation, whereas it was freely predicted a number of weeks ago that the number would never fall below thirty. No new productions are scheduled to arrive for several weeks. Of the productions now running two have abandoned all the matinees during the hot weather.

The present condition, acording to theatrical observers is due to the general leaness of the season just closed and the spell of hot weather that began two weeks ago.

Of the productions now running, nine are musical. It is estimated that about half a dozen of the sixteen are paying ventures while the others are operating at a loss. Despite the fact that theatres are a drug on the market at the present time. There will be few available when the new season gets under way in August, it is declared.

VIOLENCE KEEPS ON IN IRELAND; SNIPING AFTER TRUCE EFFECTIVE; OUTBREAKS OCCUR IN BELFAST

FEARED TO-DAY'S ORANGE CELEBRATION WOULD BE RESPONSIBLE FOR DISORDERS ELSEWHERE—OFFICIAL REPORT PLACES CASUALTIES IN BELFAST STREET BATTLES AT 30 KILLED AND 115 WOUNDED.

(By Charles McCann, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, July 12. — Violence continued in the North of Ireland early to-day, despite the truce which became effective yesterday.

Sniping was under way in Belfast when the bells tolled the beginning of the Armistice, following two days of serious rioting. After nightfall the disorders increased. With the dawn of Orangemen's Day—the Anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne—the sniping was augmented by several instances of mob violence.

It was feared that religious antagonism would be responsible for disorders in other parts of Ireland.

West-end casualties in Belfast were unofficially reported as 30 killed and 115 injured.

LONDON, July 12.— (Canadian Press.)—The satisfaction felt by the people of Great Britain over the arrangement of the meeting on Thursday between Eamonn De Valera and Prime Minister Lloyd George was tempered to-day by apprehension over the situation in Belfast. Rioting, which began in that city Sunday, continued yesterday with diminished severity and while there were acts of violence yesterday forenoon in various parts of Ireland, the centre of apprehension was in Belfast.

The Parliamentary correspondent of the London Times says arrangements for the meeting of Mr. Lloyd George and Eamon De Valera were not to be "cut and dried," adding that General Jan Christian Smuts, African Premier, is not to be present at the opening of the interview but that it is understood that if Mr. De Valera desires the overseas domains presented formally or informally, "his wish will meet with cordial acquiescence."

Orange Walk in Belfast.

BELFAST, July 12.— (Canadian Press.)—Nearly forty thousand Orangemen took part in the Twelfth of July demonstration here to-day in celebration of the Battle of the Boyne. The demonstration was the largest witnessed in many years. Up to noon it had not been attended by turbulence of any kind, the utmost good order prevailing throughout the morning. The procession, an impressive display, made its way through streets gaily decorated for the occasion.

AMERICAN PARTY REACHES TORONTO

DELEGATION INSPECTED HARBOR THIS MORNING.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

TORONTO, July 12.—The seven o'clock whistles and sirens were just beginning to blow when the steamer Cape Eternity, with the Great New England delegation and the representatives of the Western States and the Dominion Government entered the eastern gap this morning to spend the morning inspecting the Toronto Harbour before proceeding to the St. Lawrence River to look into the project of the Lakes-to-the-Ocean waterway.

Transferring to the Harbor Commissioners' yacht, Bethanna, at 9.30 a.m., the party, now totalling about 175, left for the tour of the new harbour improvements, and were the guests at a luncheon by the Harbor Commissioners at the Sunnyside Pavilion at noon, before leaving for Rochester at 1.30 p.m. An accident to the propeller, however, which has required the services of a diver, who removed one of the blades, may slightly delay the departure this afternoon.

MONTH DEAD IN CAVAN WOODS; BURIED IN NAMELESS GRAVE; DISINTERRED AND IDENTIFIE

DECOMPOSED BODY, DISCOVERED BY PETERBORO GIRL WHILE BERRYPICKING, WAS THAT OF SYDNEY M'LAREN—ADMITTED TO NICHOLLS HOSPITAL BUT LEFT SUDDENLY WITHOUT NOTICE.

REINTERRED IN FAMILY PLOT

While picking berries in Rupert Winslow's woods near Ida, five miles from Millbrook on July 7, Miss Bradburn, daughter of Thomas Bradburn, of this city, found the decomposed body of a man, which was later identified by Sydney McLaren, of Cavan, as that of his brother Thomas, 23 years old, who had been missing for six weeks after abruptly leaving Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, on June 4.

Buried As An Unknown.

The body was decomposed beyond identification at the time and Coroner Dr. Turner, of Millbrook, ordered the interment of the body at Ida, as there were no marks on the body and no suspicion of foul play aroused. Dr. Turner pronounced death at that time due probably to heat exhaustion.

Sydney McLaren, of Cavan, when he heard of the body being found in Winslow's woods, on the chance that it might be his missing brother, had it exhumed yesterday, and by the clothes he identified the remains as his brother. Coroner Dr. Turner held an inquest last night and the coroner's jury brought in a verdict of death due to natural causes, probably to exhaustion. To-day the body was interred in the family plot in St. John's cemetery, Ida.

Lived in Peterborough.

The dog which was with Miss Bradburn in the woods, drew her attention to the body which lay in an open glade in the woods..

Mr. McLaren had been missing since June 4. He came to the city on May 6 and secured a room at the Montreal House. E. A. Griffin, proprietor, told the Examiner today, he seemed quite rational around the house and was gentlemanly and polite in every action. He complained of nervous trouble and said he came to the city to take treatment. Mr. Griffin could not definitely identify the date he left the house to go to Nicholls Hospital, but he thought he had only been with him about two or three weeks. During his stay he worked only a few days at the Peterborough Fuel and Transfer Co., although he was endeavuring to get a job at hs trade of blacksmith with William Scott, Water street. He had a good bank account, Mr. Griffiin said, and he paid for his room. When he left to go to Nicholls Hospital he left his grip at the hotel. Mr. Griffin did not hear or see anything of him till one night early in June—June 4 he believed, at 11 p.m. McLaren came in looking for a room. Griffin told him he could not give him one as he was full up, and after getting his coat out of the grip and putting it on, McLaren sauntered out of the house to get another room somewhere so Mr. Griffin presumed. That is the last the proprietor saw of him. During the last six weeks he completely vanished, and until the gruesome discovery on Thursday last his disappearance has been shrouded in mystery.

Mr. Griffin said the next day Dr. Gallivan advised him McLaren had left the hospital. Yesterday his brother came and got the grip.

McLaren was unmarried.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, July 12.—(Canadian Press.)—Foreign oils were strong at the opening of to-day's stock market in response to reports of President Harding's disapproval of proposed import taxes on raw and refined products of that character. Mexican and Pan-American Petroleums scored early gains of three and two points, respectively. General Asphalt rose 2 1-4 and Atlantic Gulf advanced 1 1-2. Baldwin Locomotive, Harvester, Studebaker, Endicott Johnson and Famous Players also strengthened substantially with Reading and Northern Pacific. The only laggard was Sears-Roebuck, which fell half a point.

Mexican Petroleum increased its gain to 4 1-2 points, and Royal Dutch and Sinclair were added to other strong and active oils. Equipments and some of the independent Steels, particularly Baldwin, Pullman, Harvester and Crucible, made material advances, and Sears-Roebuck rallied easily. Motors, Coppers, leathers and tobaccos indicated extensive short covering, and some of the minor rails, including Baltimore and Ohio and Southern Railway hardened. There was some profit taking with extreme reactions of 1 to 2 points before noon, due in part to the 6 per cent. opening rate for call money.

Mexican Petroleum wavered in later dealings, half way between high and low prices of the morning. The closing was strong.

FOREIG NECHANGE

NEW YORK, July 12. Canadian Press.—Sterling exchange was quite steady; demand $3.63 1-2; cables $3.64 1-4; Can. dollar 12 3-8 to 12 1-2 per cent. discount.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, July 12. Canadian Press.—Bullish reports from the Northwest brought about an upturn in wheat prices to-day. The recent abnormal heat was said to have inflicted severe damage in North Dakota especially. Further threatened injury from black rust tended also to lift values.

Opening quotations, which ranged from 1-4 to 1-2 cents higher, with September 1.18 1-2 to 1.19, and December 1.22 to 1.22 1-2, were followed by moderate additional gains, and then something of a reaction.

The continued lack of rain had a bullish effect on corn. After opening 1-8 to 1-4 to 1 1-2c higher, with September 60 3-4 to 61, the market scored a further advance. Crop damage reports affected oats as well as other grains. The prices started 1-8 to 3-8 to 1-2 up. Sept 38 3-8 to 38 1-2 and later hardened still more.

Provisoins were firmer with grain despite weakness in the hog market.

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

TORONTO, July 12.— (Canadian Press.)—Cattle market receipts 848, trade steady. Quotations: Heavy beef steers, $7 to $8; butcher steers, choice, $7 to $7.75; butcher cows, medium, $3.25 to $4.75; calves, $8 to $9; lambs, $11 to $12; hogs, fed and watered, selects, $11.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, July 12.— (Canadian Press.)—Losses ontnumbered gains on the local stock exchange this morning, but the volume of trade was very light, approximately 300 shares of live stocks changing hands. Brazilian lost a half point at 26. Riordan sold at 8 3-4 compared with yesterday's last sale at 11. Laurentide at 71 was two points under yesterday's closing while Brompton was 1-2 lower at 21.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, July 12. — (Canadian Press.)—The market continued to be very quiet all morning and very little of interest transpired. Abitibi remained unchanged at its opening quotations. Brazilian lost a half point to 26 as did also Brompton to 21. Laurentide was also a leader by a quarter point at 70 3-4. National Breweries was fractionally stronger at 52 3-8. Riordan advanced a 1-4 to 9 1-4.

BLAZING CROW FIRES FIELD.

Bird Electrocuted on Wire Falls Into Hay on Up-State Farm.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 11.—A crow alighted on a heavily-charged electric wire of the Niagara Power Company and was instantly electrocuted, falling a blazing mass into a field of uncut hay belonging to Hobart Stahl, near Spencerport, eight miles from here.

The field caught fire, causing a loss of several hundred dollars, and for a time threatened adjoining wheat fields, whose uncut crops are estimated to be worth several thousands. The Spencerport Chemical Company made the three-mile run to the Stahl place and prevented further damage.

MEXICAN LABOR PROTESTS U.S. WARSHIPS IN TAMPICO

U.S. FOREIGN TRADE SLUMPS.

FRANCE AND BRITAIN ACCEPT INVITATION

INTERNATIONAL DEEP WATERWAY, SYMBOLIC OF UNITY AND AMITY, MAY RESULT FROM CO-OPERATION

ADDRESSES BY PROMINENT AMERICANS AND CANADIANS AT THOROLD EMPHASIZE GREAT RESULTS OF INTERNATIONAL CO-OPERATION.

THOROLD, July 12.—(Canadian Press).—That friendly co-operation by Canadian and the United States may soon result in the inauguration of an International deep waterway symbolic of North American unity and amity was the keynote of the addresses delivered here yesterday to American delegates touring inland waters by leaders in public life of the two neighboring countries.

Sir Robert Borden eloquently pleaded for the consummation of such an ideal and his sentiments were reciprocated in the utterances of such prominent citizens of the American Republic as Governor Lake of Connecticut, Governor Allan of Kansas and Senator Ramsdell of Louisiania.

The occasion was the visit of the United States deep waterways tourists to the new Welland ship canal, one hundred and fifty men, whose names are common place with public of a continent travelled as guests of the Niagara and St. Catharines Electric Railway to Thorold, thence down the banks of the "Great Ditch" to Port Welland, where lay waiting to receive them the Canadian Government Steamship Cape Eternity. From the bridge of the little vessel, as she rode at anchor at the Canal's northern outlet the former Prime Minister of Canada welcomed the visitors on behalf of the Dominion Government.

"These two countries have given the world the most valuable lesson it ever has had occasion to learn declared Sir Robert amidst applause. "On these great waterways are no warships and no forts, that spirit of mutual trust and friendship has endured for 100 years. I pray God it always may endure. Your influence and mine can help to keep it so."

BULL GORES COWBOY IN WILD WEST SHOW

DETROIT, July 12. Canadian Press.—Larry Crawford of Calgary, a cowboy in a wild west show here, was thrown 15 feet in the air and severely gored in the neck and head yesterday afternoon by a Mexican bull. More than three thousand spectators saw the bull on its way from the arena to its pen, attack Crawford, who was holding the door for it to pass. Crawford grabbed the bull's horns to throw it, but missed. At the Harper Hospital his condition is reported as serious

WIFE BEATER FOUND DEAD

BODY IN WELL WITH THROAT SLASHED—WIFE IN SERIOUS CONDITION—ATTRIBUTED TO INSANITY.

KITCHENER, July 12. Canadian Press. — Herman Steppler, of Walter street, wanted for alleged beating his wife, was found dead in a well at his home, with his throat cut, yesterday afternoon.

It is alleged that about 5 o'clock in the morning he beat her severely, leaving her in a serious condition, with her face swollen, one ear torn, and several teeth out.

The matter was reported to the police who immediately began a search for Steppler. His body was found yesterday afternoon.

The circumstances surrounding the affair are not known, the woman's condition being too serious for a statement to be secured, but it is thought that the assault and suicide were the result of a temporary fit of insanity. It is believed that Mrs. Stepler will recover.

For Thin Whists and Sleeveless Gowns

(Toilet Tips.)

A safe, certain method of ridding the skin of ugly hairy growths is as follows. Mix a paste with some powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface about 2 minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This is entirely harmless and seldom requires repeating, but to avoid disappointment it is advisable to see that you get genuine delatone. Mix fresh as wanted.

TURK JOAN OF ARC HAS WOMEN'S UNIT

Leads Brigade of Women Against Invading Greeks.

ANGORA, Turkey, July 12.— A Turkish Joan of Arc, Aishe Hanum, has started a woman's fighting brigade against the Greeks. Her organization, called the Kain brigade, has already taken part in active fighting and she is constantly enrolling new recruits.

This is the first time in Turkish history that a woman has been so militantly active. She has been dubbed by the people of Anatolia, "The Conqueror." Her personality is in distinct contrast to the beautiful Halide Edib Hanum, the writer and gradutae of the American Constantinople College, who has been so active in Nationalist politics for two years and fled to the interior in March, 1920, to escape imprisoment by the Allies.

Aishe Hanum is a stern, dark woman of the soil, aged 52, who sees visions and believes she is inspired by the Prophet. She wears a veil but has cast aside skirts. She carries goes through the villages accompanied by her 15-year old son, urging the peasants to contribute food and money to their able-bodied women to cast out the enemy stranger from the homeland.

As Nationalist soldiers, the uniform of the Kadin Brigade corresponds to that of its leader.

Indirectly, Aishe Hanum is doing as much as Halide Hanum to emancipate the Turkish woman. When she began her work, the Turkish men, who dislike to have women interfere in politics, tried to force her to return to her farm. But, by the courage born of her visions, Aishe Hanum has continued until she is recognized as an aid to the Nationalist cause.

PROPOSAL OF U.S. PRESIDENT HARDING FOR A CONFERENCE OF GREAT POWERS ON DISARMAMENT IS WARMLY ACCEPTED BY BRITAIN AND FRANCE

DISARMAMENT SITUATION

(By United Press)

Proponent—United States.

Object—Curtailment of both sea and land forces.

Place—Washington.

Time—Not set; Probably autumn.

Countries invited to conference—Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan.

Countries accepted — Great Britain France.

Countries not heard from—Italy, Japan.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Japan to-day is expected to accept or reject President Harding's invitation to participate in a disarmament conference.

France and Great Britain having accepted, Japan was the only one of the "Big Three" which had not made known its attitude.

Japan held the center of the stage. Word from Tokio was eagerly awaited in Washington.

THREE DROWN IN SWELL OF LAUNCH

FOURTH OCCUPANT OF BOAT RESCUED AFTER CLINGING TO SIDE.

HAMILTON, July 12. Canadian Press.—Trapped in the swell from two motor boats as they were returning home from Wabasho Park, in a canoe, last night, Nancy Whitelaw, No. 37, Tennis Crescent, Toronto, aged 21, and Margaret Caldwell, Galt, aged 29, were drowned in Hamilton bay last night when their boat capsized.

Margaret Bell, 10 William street, aged 24, clung to the side of the upturned craft and after waiting for half an hour was rescued.

SCENE IN COMMONS WHEN LLOYD GEORGE ANNOUNCED BRITAIN'S ACCEPTANCE UNPRECEDENTED SINCE ANNOUNCEMENT OF ARMISTICE—STATESMEN AND NEWSPAPERS AGREE THAT WORLD IS APPROACHING ONE OF MOST EPOCHAL EVENTS IN ITS HISTORY.

(By Webb Miller, Staff Correspondent of United Press)

PARIS, July 12. France to-day accepted President Harding's invitation to participate in a disarmament conference.

The Foreign Office informally telephoned Selden Whitehouse, the American Charge d'Affairs, that the Government would be "very happy" to accept the invitation. No reservations were mentioned.

(From Grattan O'Leary, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, July 12.—The world is on the eve of one of the most epochal events in history. This is the universal verdict of newspapers and statesmen here following President Harding's offer and the British Government's acceptance in connection with the holding of a conference for the discussion of disarmament and the Pacific problems.

The scene in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon when Premier Lloyd-George announced Great Britain's hearty acquiescence in the proposal was a memorable one.

The British Premier spoke to a hushed and crowded Chamber, and when he declared that the Government welcomed such a move, and would do its utmost to make it a success, there was a crash of cheering from all quarters which, in the opinion of old journalists in the Press Gallery, has never been equalled since the announcement of the Armistice with Germany.

Mr. Lloyd-Gorge spoke with an earnestness worthy of the momentous subject with which he had to deal, and the emphasis which he placed upon the declaration that if the conference failed it would not be because the British Empire withheld its support, left no doubt in the minds of the members of the House as to the Government's sincerity.

ONONDAGA HARD HIT BY STORM

BRANTFORD, July 12. Canadian Press.—Onondaga township yesterday reported that Sunday's storm did much damage there, though in the Brantford district there was only a gentle shower. In Onondaga a path two miles wide was devastated by a hail and rainstorm which ripped the corn and the oats to the ground, the hailstones being as large as hen's eggs.

Two big barns, owned by David John, Jr., and Arthur Anderson, were totally wrecked in the path of the storm.

TUESDAY, JULY 12TH, 1921.

A WELCOME PROPOSAL.

The proposal of President Harding of the United States that a conference of the first class powers be held at Washington to discuss the question of disarmament has received an enthusiastic welcome, and the people of the British Empire will be united in the hope that the lead offered by the American president will be accepted and that as a result a very material contribution towards the permanent establishment of peace in the world may be achieved. The world is sick of war, and ready to adopt any policy that seems to promise relief. Lloyd George's reference to the proposal in the House of Commons echoes the opinion of the great majority of the British people, who will be cheered by the Premier's announcement that no effort to make the conference a success will be lacking on the part of the British Empire. The British Dominions will undoubtedly stand solidly behind the British government in accepting the invitation of President Harding.

WIDER POWERS NEEDED.

The situation on Euclid avenue, where some residents desire the installation of a water main, and other householders are as strongly opposed to it, is not a novel one by any means. Local Boards of Health should have wider powers in dealing with such cases, in fact should have the authority to order any section of the city to be supplied with water and sewer accommodation, regardless of the objections of residents of that section, provided the Board regards the work to be necessary on grounds of sanitation and health. So far as Euclid avenue is concerned, those who oppose the laying of a mater main may be quite right in their claim that there is a good supply of well water along the street and that the health conditions are excellent. But the point is that even if there was reason to believe that the installation of a water system would be in the general interest and would promote better conditions, a local Board of Health is powerless unless a majority of the residents desire the work to be undertaken.

THE AGRARIAN MOVEMENT.

Stories from Ottawa that the agrarian political movement is dying out are heavily discounted by a glance over the official nominations for the provincial elections in Alberta. There is no evidence there of a falling off in interest or enthusiasm on the part of the farmers, for the U.F.O. have actually more candidates in the field than has the government, 41 standard bearers of the Stewart Administration were nominated on Monday, but the agrarian party outnumbered the government, placing 42 candidates in the fight; only ten ridings in the whole province being without a Farmer aspirant. The fight promises to be one of the warmest in the history of Alberta and though the government may be sustained, the United Farmers are assured of a very strong group in the new House. The agrarian movement may eventually become disorganized, but it is in robust health at the present time and there are few signs of decay or rust. The result of next Monday's voting will furnish an accurate test of the strnegth of the farmers' organization in Alberta, and nowhere will the figures of the campaign be studied with greater interest than at Ottawa.

FINDING WORK FOR THE BLIND.

An officer of the Institute for the Blind sat talking to the superintendent of a big manufacturing plant. "It's unfortunate," said the superintendent, "but we dare not keep Matthews on that job another hour. His sight is practically gone. A wrong move and he may lose his life."

"But," said the official, "is there no other work of a less dangerous character that this man might take up?"

The suggestion bore fruit. Three days later Matthews was back at work in another part of the plant, on a machine which he can operate without danger to himself.

In addition to those workmen whose sight is injured or prememently taken by accidents in industrial institutions, the Institute is also helping to place blinded soldiers in occupations to which they are best suited.

You have heard the story of the Canadian National Institution for the Blind. In good faith we turn to you to help us in this noble work. Subscribe generously. Send your subscription to the Fund being raised by The Examiner.

GERMANY'S POSITION.

Aove all the disputes and differences of the bankers and economists stands out one fact of tremendous import—German industry is settling down and attending to business. While the politicians are wrangling she is just sawing wood. The proof of her changing attitude lies in the trade figures.

To-day German imports have recovered to the point that they are now 31 per cent. of what they were at the zenith of her industrial prosperity in 1913, and so seriously have her workers applied themselves to the task of production that her exports are about 29 per cent. of what they were before the war.

These figures have been the main influence in making the Peace of Raritan. So far as the United States was concerned, the international situation is confused. American business men, rightly or wrongly, believe that in the resumption of trade with Germany they are at a disadvantage. As the situation stands to-day, the Allied Reparations Commission has a first mortgage on Grmany. The United States is not officially a member of that Commission which has such far-reaching powers that Germany cannot make a trade or financial move without having it first vised by the Commission.

The United States realises that the mere signing of a document declaring that the war is at an end does not automatically place America on the same trading basis as the Allies. Moreover, unless the United States bases its future agreement with Germany on the same conditions that the Allies have done she will be seriously handicapped. That basis is the Treaty of Versailles, and the American people have declared, through their representative and at the polls, that they will have nothing to do with that Treaty.

Will America then be able to enforce such good terms as the Allies secured at Versailles? Conditions in Germany have altered very considerably during the two years since that pact was drafted. German crops are to-day unusually far advanced and promising. The people are eating better than they have done since 1914. Unemployment has been reduced to a point where only 400,000 are registered to-day as out of work. Thousands of German women are working in the fields and mass meetings are held protesting against the law which sets eight hours as the working day. Krupp's factories are employing 100,000 men to-day instead of a maximum of 86,000 before the war, and instead of cannon and munitions of war they are turning out industrial machines, cash registers, floating docks, tools, and steel products.

While Great Britain has been paralysing her industrial life by the prolongation of an unnecessary and wasteful strike, Germany has doubled the number of her blast furnaces and has a million and a half more men engaged in indutry than she had two years ago.

While France is keeping her gaze rivetted on Upper Silesia, Germany is focussing all her attention on Essen.

Germany refuses to waste her energies on the political aspects of her regeneration save in so far as they are a source of enjoyment to a few heavy financiers and light politicians. She is putting every ounce of her strength into production, and she is making "things hum." — Montreal Star.

NEW AIRPLANE INVENTION ANNOUNCED BY ITALIAN.

Rome, July 12.—An airplane, capable of landing without the need of a large aviation field, able to rise without a long run beforehand, able to travel more than 30 miles an hour, and, if necessary, to meander along at but a few miles an hour, is announced as the invention of an Italian engineer, Epaminonda Bertucci, of Rome.

The inventor claims that he has already tried out the machine on a small scale, and regards his first experiments as indicative of the success of the invention. The new machine is primarily intended for aerial war chasing, and is to be armed with a machine gun. It is a monoplane.

NANCY UNIVERSITY OPEN TO ALLIED STUDENTS.

NANCY, France, July 12.—Nancy University, under fire throughout most ow the war, has plugged the holes in its walls, enlarged its facilities, and is opening its doors to American and Allied students.

Imediately after the Armistice, several hundred American officers and men were assigned to the University for various courses, and out of this contact with a large group of foreign students grew the idea of developing such work.

Nancy University is reputed for its application of science to industry.

Don't Prod Your Liver to Action

NR Overcomes Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache, Quickly, No Griping or Pain. Guaranteed.

The organs of digestion, assimilation and elimination—the stomach, liver and bowels—are closely allied, and the proper action of any of these organs is largely dependent upon the correct functioning of all the others. "Physicking" your liver into action with calomel or forcing your bowels with irritating laxatives or strong cathartics is a great mistake. A better, safer plan is strengthening and toning the whole digestive and eliminative system with Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets), which not only brings immediate relief, but genuine and lasting benefit. It sets on the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys, improves digestion and assimilation, overcomes biliousness, corrects constipation and quickly relieves sick headache.

Get your system thoroughly cleansed and purified for once; stomach, liver and bowels working together in vigorous harmony, and you will not have to take medicine every day—just take one NR Tablet occasionally to keep your system in good condition and always feel your best. Remember it is easier and cheaper to keep well than it is to get well.

Get a 25c box and try it with the understanding that it must give you greater relief and benefit than any bowel or liver medicine you ever used or no pay. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

Mothers! Keep Syrup Pepsin Handy

An absolute household necessity, a wonderful emergency remedy for constipation. Someone may need it any minute!

ALL in the family look to the mother for guidance and advice in the multitude of little disorders that arise almost daily. Chief of the minor ailments are those that precede or follow constipation. The experienced mother will tell this one to exercise more and that one to cut down on certain binding foods, but when these cautions fail she has to advise medicine.

Modern people are getting away from the notion that simple constipation, a headache, biliousness, colds, feverishness, indigestion, require a drastic, weakening drug. They take a teaspoonful or less of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, which is but a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin. The full formula is on every package. It is a mild, gentle remedy that does not gripe or weaken. The taste is syrupy and pleasant, and as it is free from narcotics and mercurials, mothers have for thirty years past felt safe in giving it to infants. A sixty-cent bottle will last a family months, and it is guaranteed to produce the results claimed or your money will be refunded.

You will find nothing better for disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels than this same Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. Every member of the family can use it with safety and feel sure of results. Many thousands of families are never without a bottle in the house, and last year over eight million bottles were sold in drug stores, the largest sale of its kind in the world.

These believers in Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin no longer take calomel or castor oil, salt waters, physics or purgatives even if made into a sugar-coated pill, for they have learned that they can get better, safer and more agreeable results with Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. If you will once bring a sixty-cent bottle into your home and take a teaspoonful the next time you feel constipated you will never thereafter be without it.

Try It FREE

There are heads of families who will want to prove to their own satisfaction that my Laxative Syrup Pepsin is as effective in constipation, as mild and gentle in action, as pleasant-tasting and safe as I claim. Let such write me for a free sample. It will be sent postpaid. Simply say "Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 19 Front Street, Bridgeburg, Ont.: Send a free trial bottle of your Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin to—" and give your name and address. I will see that the rest is attended to promptly.

Kent Goes to Philadelphia

CHAPTER 8

At breakfast Kent seemed nervous and excited.

"Would you like more bacon, dear? I can fix some for you in a moment." I offered solicitiously.

"No, I haven't time for it. I've got to run over to Philadelphia on business," he answered slipping his watch out of his vest pocket and taking a hurried look at it.

"Why, you didn't say anything about going. When did you know about it Kent?" I asked, a little surprised.

"I wasn't sure—so I didn't tell you. I'll know definitely when I reach the office," he explained. He went to his room and packed a few things hurriedly in a suit case.

"You'll be back tonight, Kent?" I asked hopefully as he held me for a minute in his arms.

'No not tonight, Babs," he said, patting me tenderly on the check, and then held my face up and playfully placed a kiss on the very tip of my nose. "There, keep that one so you won't forget me, and I'll hustle right back with a new supply," he teased. "I'll come in early in the morning and go directly to the office, I'll call you up as soon as I get in New York," he said, growing suddenly serious again.

"All right, dearest. Be careful!" I admonished, and he was gone.

I washed up the breakfast dishes and tidied around the apartment.

I suddenly remembered that Kent had forgotten to tell me at which hotel he would stop. It did not matter so much, and yet I felt I would like to know in case something happened. I hated the idea of not knowing where he was. I hoped he would think about and call me up from the office.

About 10 o'clock the telephone bell rang and I hurried to answer it, thinking it was Kent.

A woman's voice answered my "hello." It was Mrs. Bob Gray. "Oh, Barbara—hear anything about the lost diamond?" she asked absently. "Did they find it? I'm dying to know—thought you might have heard something about it."

"No, Margaret, I haven't heard a thing. I'm curious myself," I told her. "Think I'll call up Mrs. Walker and inquire about it You don't suppose she'll think I'm too inquisitive or meddesome do you?" I said.

I was eager myself to hear about the diamond. I gave Central the Walkers' telephone number, and sat anxiously waiting for the connection. The Jap answered the phone and in another minute I heard Mrs. Leon Walker's voice on the other end of the wire.

'No, I'm afraid it is lost. They made a thorough search last night, and again this morning," she told me. "I feel terribly about it. Evme.' I feel terribly about it. Everything has been done here, too but I'm afraid it is hopeless."

I condoled with her and said it was such a shame our little party had terminated so unfortunately, and then hung up the receiver. I sat still for a minute and thought about it, and I could not help agreeing a little with Kent. After all, it was decidedly careless—to carry valuable jewels around in one's pockets.

Then I called up Margaret Gray and told her about the diamond.

"How about having tea with me this afternoon at the Astor?" she coaxed.

I hesitated a minute.

"I can't to-day, Margaret. I told her, 'I'm expecting a telephone call from Kent and I dont want to be out when it comes.

But Kent did not phone. At 4 oclock I decided to call up the office and see if he had said anything to them about which hotel he would stop at. Most likely they would know. I finally got" Mr. Blake Kent's partner on the wire.

"Mr. Armour, went out on business about 3 oclock," he told me. "No, he did not say anything to me about Philadelphia. I didn't know he was going.

I thanked him and hung up the received I felt frightened. I wished I had not called the office. Evidently Kent had not wanted Mr. Blake to know about his business in Philadelphia.

I tried to read and enjoy myself But without Kent I never felt just right. It was as if part of me was gone, and I was very lonely.

To-morrow—An Unwelcome Caller.

Home Made Bread

Home made bread is without doubt the cheapest and most healthful food that can be produced for human consumption. It is the most completely digested solid food in the world, over 90% of it being transformed into health and strength. It yields nearly twice as much nourishment as rice or potatoes, and is ten times as nourishing as an equal value of meat. No bread is more truly wholesome or more perfectly satisfactory than that baked at home in which Royal Yeast Cakes are used.

ROYAL YEAST CAKES

It was known many years ago that yeast is an excellent thing for constipation, anemia, boils and pimples. Lately eminent scientists have been investigating the matter thoroughly and their conclusions point to the fact that the beneficial effect of yeast has not been overrated. The yeast treatment is very simple and economical—and altogether harmless.

Before each meal eat a Royal Yeast Cake, or take a cake dissolved in water or fruit juices. The scientific investigators say that the curative elements in yeast are the vitamines and nuclein which it contains. It is certainly well worth a fair trial by those who suffer from any of the ailments mentioned above.

Voice of the People

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Why does Mr. Dobbin feel called upon to write long letters in the endeavor to smooth things down a bit for the Utilities Commissioners. I pause for a reply

The writer recalls Mr. Dobbin as being one of the big "boosters" for the city, or town then, in nineteen hundred and one (1901) and nineteen hundred and two (1902) to take over the waterworks plant, and in his paper at that time argued that our rates here were about the highest in the Province. Surely we could reasonably expect the reduction he now tries to make out was so graciously given us.

Mr. Dobbin says we only pay for service, nothing for water? Well, then, why is a water-power washing machine charged six dollars ($6) per year? Remember, this item is always purposely left out of anything the "smoothers" have to say.

The ratepayers in general and the water users particularly are satisfied that the Waterworks Department is not run with any "zeal for economy" —a blind man could see the waste.

A word to the "smoothers" in closing. Don't worry about all this "fuss," as the Commissioners are pleased to call it, the weather is too hot. Let them save their defence till before the next January elections and everybody will have something to say. The Ratepayers' and Tenants' Association was not formed for social purposes.

Yours truly,

N. F. SAID.

WHERE DID COLUMBUS REALLY LAND?

For four centuries there have been dispute and disagreement as to the first landing place of Columbus in the new world. It is known that he landed on one of the Bahama Islands, but in that widely scattered group there are thirty-six pieces of land, large enough to be classified as islands, and about 700 "cays" or "keys," like those which lie along the Florida coast, and in some cases pretty well out to sea. The early narratives have it that Columbus landed at or on a place which the native Indians called Guanahani, and which the Spaniards named San Salvador, or Holy Saviour. Cut Island has been given as the landing place of Columbus and so has Watling Island. Attwoods Key or Samana has been chosen by some as the place which Columbus called San Salvador and other investigators who may be termed authorities have picked Turks Island, and others have chosen the Island of Mariguana.—Washington Star.

FIRST PRIEST TO SIT IN ITALIAN PARLIAMENT IN FIFTY YEARS

ROME, July 12. — The new Italian Parliament will have some striking characteristics. The provinces anexed to Italy in consequence of the great war are sending four Germans and five Slavs to their new capital to sit in the Chamber of Deputies, and among the Slavs there is a priest, the Rev. Virgilio Schelz, who had been elected for the Gorizia constituency.

No priest has sat in the Chamber since 1870 when the temporal power was lost to the Pope. It was said that the Vatican had forbidden this Slav celrical member to press his candidature, but the official announcement of his election is now published.

Millions of People Are Suffering

Indigestion, Headaches, Constipation, Sallow Complexions, Kidney Pains, Rheumatism are all caused from a poisoned system, due to the Liver. Doctors recommend that you take one Tanated Calomel tablet before each meal, or two at bedtime, and in a few days your pains will disappears, your complexion will become clear and you will feel keen, bright, vigorous and life once more will be worth living. The wonderful success of this new drug (Tanated Calomel) is due to the fact that it is the only drug known that acts upon the Liver. No Salts or Seidlits are necessary to remove it from the system, as it is self-illiminating. You, no doubt, have taken all sorts of medicine for your particular ailment, but you never get permanent relief, because the medicines you have been taking do not act upon the Liver. Doctors now say that 90 per cent. of all ailments are due to the inactivity of the Liver. A poisoned system soon decays, and that is why I would recommend that you go to F. C. Webber's, Charlotte street, and get a box.

PRESENTED RING TO THEIR TEACHER

HARVEY SCHOOL CHILDREN REMEMBER MISS B. E. EASTWOOD

One of the most pleasing incidents of th picnic held in the pretty Oaks, overlooking Gannon's Narrows, by the pupils and their parents of S. S. No. 8, Harvey, was the presentation made to their teacher, Miss B. E. M. Eastwood, Toronto, of a beautiful cameo ring.

The presentation, taking place immediately after tea, was made by Miss Jean Hunt, after the following address had been read by Master Stanley Freeborn:

30th June, 1921.

Miss B. E. M. Eastwood.

Dear Teacher,—It is with feelings of deep regret we learn you can not be our teacher for the coming year, as we had hoped. We have gathered together on this, your last day in our midst, to express, as best we can, our apreciation of the work done for us. We know we have often been careless and disappointing, while you were kind, patient, and encouraging, and though at this time you may see but little result of your efforts with us, we feel the influence of your life in and out of school can not but bear greater fruit in the coming years.

We know you will overlook all our childlike failings, and we now ask you to accept this small token of our affection as a remembrance of the year you spent in S. S. No. 8, Harvey. Signed on behalf of the School,

Delbert Freeborn,
Douglas Smith,
Marjorie Hunt,
Albert Chase,
Howard Smith.

Miss Eastwood, completely taken by surprise, made a suitable reply, thanking one and all for the lovely remembrance and the pleasant afternoon, and amid general good wishes, the gathering, numbering about forty-five, dispersed, feeling that they had not parted from not alone an earnest and painstaking teacher, but an honest, upright friend, who had won the respect and esteem of pupils and parents alike.

MANVERS OLD BOYS' REUNION.

Old School Mates and Neighbors Met After Years of Separation.

BETHANY, July 12.—All roads led to Bethany Village, in the township of Manvers, on Sunday and Monday a week ago, when the Manvers Old Boys' Re-union proved a huge success. It is estimated that some 1,500 people gathered together in the village, and to shake hands with old neighbors and school mates one had not met for over thirty years was a treat to many seldom experienced but once in a life time. Heber Preston, President of the Old Boys' Association, said this was the pleasantest outing he had ever spent, forgetting all home cares in the happy re-union with old friends.

All the attractions were free, excepting for a collection taken up to defray the cost of a monster tent leased from J. J. Turner & Sons, Peterborough.

The band was quite generous in its contributions, and one farmer declared he had heard more free music those two jolly days than he would hear from all the bands around Peterborough in a month or more. Then many a visitor who entertained the notion that Manvers was noted for only two features—the growing of potatoes and for being the home of George McKartney's big prize Orange Lodge—were agreeably surprised at noting in this re-union the number of preachers, doctors, teachers and stump orators, all claiming to have first taken root in Manvers soil.

The Revs. Harvey Strike and Jim McMullen were here, and both took part in the service; Ben. Stacey of Peterborough gave an oration, and Robert Mills from the far West was the speaker of the occasion; an old lady, nearly 80 years old, dropped in from Essex County, and Joe Fair from the West played in the band.

Peterborough should have been better represented than it was, so many Manvers people being now resident in that city and county. Still, a goodly number of old boys—and old girls, too—from Peterborough were on hand, including Mrs. George Roper, Mrs. R. McGill, Mrs. Walter Burns, Joe Ingram, Isaac Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. George Ward, Wm. Williamson.

Welcome Visitor.

Robert Thorndyke, from near Peterborough, was a well-met visitor, for having grown up here with the boys the re-union would not have been complete had he been absent. One of the most amusing events old-timers can remember in Manvers is Robert at one time conducting a mock trial at the burning of a lime kiln. Some chickens had been stolen and old Manvers boys present at this mock trial have never forgotten the solemn attitude of Robert (the magistrate-elect) as he laid down the law, and quoted from the pages of a huges law book, turning its leaves in the glaring heat of burning cedars. It seemed a solemn reminder of the book to be opened when life is over, and perhaps an overdrawn picture of the wrath to come. At any rate, Robert Thorndyke determined to put a stop to chicken stealing in that neighborhood, and he did so.

Outstanding Figure.

Rev. G. E. Ross of Mark Street Church, Peterborough, proved an outstanding figure at this re-union. He conducted the evening service, and told how he first landed in Bethany from the Old Country, a homeless boy thirty-two years ago; and of the kindness and encouragement accorded him by many Manvers people during that period in his life when, after considerable discouragement, he succeeded in attaining the position, first of teacher and finally of minister. The reverend gentleman was remembered by many old school mates, especially so on account of a beautiful but sad old song he used to sing at the Friday evening concerts—a story of slavery days, telling of a lover's hopes blasted by a cruel mother, and commencing with the lines:

"Says Johnny to Betsy, I love you well,
I love you better than tongue can tell;
I love you more, but I dare not show;
I will do my duty, let no one know."

COURT UPHOLDS RIGHT OF CAT TO USE ITS CLAWS

BOSTON, July 9. — The Supreme Court has upheld the right of a cat to use its claws and its teeth as a means of protection against persons who seek to interfere in a cat and a dog fight. Prudence, the court held, in a recent case should prompt a person to leave a strange cat alone under such circumstances.

The opinion, prepared by Chief Justice Rugg, sustained a lower court finding for the defendant in a suit brought by a woman to recover damages for injuries received when she sought to protect her pet dog from a cat.

It has quadrupled the working time of the doctors.

CONTINUES COOL AT ST. ANDREW'S-ON-SEA

ALGONQUIN HOTEL, N. B., July 12.—One of the most delightful days was enjoyed by the visitors to this favorite Newport of Canada, the sun shining all day and in the cool sea breeze, the golf course was studded with enthusiasts, while Katy's Cove, where the sea has been transformed into a miniature lake with a sandy beach for bathers, was swarmed with men, women and children enjoying a dip in the briny.

On Sunday a special Sunday evening concert was given at the Algonquin Hotel by the hotel orchestra, consisting of very classical music, and was thoroughly enjoyed. Amongst those present were Lord Shaughnessy, Mr. H. C. Beaulerk and the Hon. H. W. Shaughnessy, Mr. C. R. Hosmer, Lady Alan, Miss Martha Allen, Judge and Mrs. Greenshields, Sir Thomas and Lady Tait, the Hon. Mrs. Redmond, the Hon. M. Shaughnessy, all of Montreal, and other well known society leaders, also Sir David and Lady Watson, Quebec, and Mrs. A. C. MacMaster, Toronto.

Information of temperatures report that Quebec and Ontario are still in the throes of the excessive heat wave, although there was a slight intermission over the week end from the ninety's, but St. Andrew's is still as cool as a cucumber and the nights are the most pleasurable. A magnificent programme for the golfing season has already been mapped out and is now on the press. The various competitions for the handsome cups donated by enthusiasts commence in real earnest about the twenty-fifth of this month. The motor roads in the vicinity are in good condition and an afternoon from the old town of St. Andrews out over the hard-packed road in a car to the wooded heights above St. Croix and thence to St. Stephen is one of the delights of this part of the country,

It pays to own things you don't owe for.

MORNING SERMON AT MARK STREET

The congregations were very good on Sabbath, and many kind things were said about the services.

"God Takes Up the Devil's Gauntlet" was the subject of the morning sermon, and was based on Job, 2:10, "What? Shall we receive good at the hand of God, and shall we not receive evil?"

Satan Appears Before God by Calumniation.

There was a day when the angels came to present themselves before God, and, of course, the devil presented himself. This is not hard to understand. You will find the forces of evil strongest where the people of God are in conflict with the powers of darkness. In the days of revival, your remember, we were afraid to sit in the "devil's corner," but since we have turned down the old protracted meeting, satan no longer sits in the corner, but takes a front pew. Well, it was not to offer homage to God that the devil mixed with the angels on this occasion, but to slander, and accuse, and malign Job, the faithful servant of the living God.

Satan Was Jealous of Job's Integrity.

"Where did you come from?" was the question which God put to our common enemy on this occasion, and the devil answers, "From going to and fro in the earth, and from walking up and down in it." To and fro, and up and down in the earth. Then he knows the world pretty well. Another question from the lips of God is now propounded, "Hast thou considered my servant Job, that there is none like him in the earth, a perfect and an upright man, one that feareth God and esheweth evil?" What a magnificent vindication of Job's integrity;and God Himself speaks for His servant. Is any experience of the human soul so unspeakably rich as to feel and know that the mighty God has perfect confidence in us? Just to feel that God can trust you. Jehoveh vindicates Job in the presence of angels and devils.

The Devil Throws Down the Challenge.

"Does Job serve God for naught? Hast thou not made an hedge about him, and about his house, and about all that he hath on every side? . . . . But put forth thine hand now and touch all that he hath and he will curse thee to thy face." In other words, Job is serving God because it pays; and his loyalty to Jehovah is measured by the amount of prosperity which God gives His servant. But at this point God lifts the gauntlet and permits satan to test the most prfect man in all the East. And this is true today. What is God to do when your enemy, the devil, challenges your integrity in the very face of the God you serve? The adversary lifts his brazen face to your Master and questions your fidelity and mine. Now, if Job, the most perfect man in that eastern world, had his motives challenged, what of us with our miserable faults and failures?

Satan Makes Abundant Use of His Opportunity.

No sooner did God permit the enemy to test Job's integrity, than the devil enters on his mission with a rush. The Sabeans fall upon Job's servants, kill the herdmen, and drive the cattle away. Fire falls from heaven and devours seven thousand sheep. From three different directions the Chaldeans fall upon the camels, kill the drivers, and drive the animals away. Job's seven sons and three daughters are enjoying a little family gathering at the home of an older brother when a storm strikes the house and all are dead. One fell sweep of the devil's paw and all is ruin. But, remember, God permitted this. Job's Master knew that His servant's religion was bigger and stronger than temporal prosperity. So Job, now poor, and sad, and lonely, and broken-hearted, and bereaved, kneels down in the midst of ten fresh graves; and 'mid the deep chagrin of the old adversary, he crys out. "Blessed be the name of the Lord."

The Enemy Now Strikes at Job's Health.

Any disease on earth but boils in that eastern land. "Let Job be afflicted in body," suggests the enemy of God and man, "and he will curse God to His face." Again God permits the test. This holy man becomes covered from the crown of the head to the sole of the foot with a most loathsome disease. So terrible are his sufferings that he sinks down in the dust. To die? Not on your life! Everything is gone now but Job, his religion and God. Then from the ashes comes the hollow cry, "Blessed be the name of the Lord."

God's Confidence in Job Was Vindicated.

We hear so much today about "trusting God." Can God trust you and me as He trusted His servant Job. The devil's challenge of Christian integrity is the very best explanation of much suffering in the world today. Can we play the game for God when property, and home, and friends, and beloved children, and health are all gone? Our enemy flings it in the face of God, that if we are called upon to suffer we will fling our religion to the winds, so God permits us to be tested.

Job We Are Told, Had Twice As Much After As He Had at First.

This was easy as far as property was concerned. It would not take Job long, under the blessing of God, to recover his lost property. What about the dear loved ones gone? He shall have them back again in the land of immortal life. Remember, then, God is counting on you to give the devil's insinuations the lie, by a noble life. As the diamond shows its lustre in the dark, so does a vigorous and holy life. Does God trust you and me?

ERSTWHILE MISSING BALLOONIST IS TOO POOR TO BE WEDDED

LIEUTENANT KLOOR, LATE OF MOOSE FACTORY, BEATEN BY H.C. OF L.

NEW YORK, July 12 United Press.—Cupid was given another beating by the High Cost of Living to-day, when it was learned that Lieut. A. L. Kloor, the naval balloonist, cannot get married because he is too poor.

Kloor ,the pilot of the balloon that came down in the north of Canada, near Moose Factory, last winter, is unable to wed on a lieutenant's pay, $2000 a year.

Mrs. A. J. Flowerton, mother of Miss Alexandria Flowerton, to whom Kloor was engaged, gave this as the reason in announcing that the engagement was terminated.

JAP CROWN PRINCE IN ITALY.

NAPLES, July 12 United Press.—The Japanese Crown Prince, who arrived here yesterday, will leave tomorrow for Rome, where he will be the guest of King Victor Emmanuel for several days. He will also visit the Pope.

The harbor was gaily decorated when the Crown Prince was received by Admiral Biscaretti in the name of the King.

INDIANS RISE IN ECUADOR.

LIMA, Peru, July 12.—The arrest by the authorities of an Indian chieftain in the province of Chimborazo, Ecuador, resulted in a general rising of Indians in that province that spread terror among the inhabitants for more than a week, according to advice received here from Guayaquil. The insurrectionists, it was said, had sworn to liberate their leader.

A newspaper correspondent reported that the villagers had organized defense committees in various parts of the province to protect the families of farmers, a number of whom had been kidnapped and that there had been sanguinary encounters between troops and the Indians.

The advices said additional troops had been sent to the disturbed districts and that it was believed order soon would be restored.

OMEMEE NEWS

OMEMEE PASTOR PRESENTED WITH PURSE OF MONEY—VISITORS TO VILLAGE.

OMEMEE, July 12.—The members of Bethel League met at the Bethel Parsonage in Omemee on Monday evening last, and presented the following address, accompanied by a well-filled purse, to Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Herrington, who are about to leave this charge.

Bethel, Emily, July 4th, 1921.

Rev. H. B. Herrington, Mrs. Herrington and Lucille.

Our Dear Friends,—It is with mingled feelings that we, the members of Bethel Epworth League, meet here to-night to bid you adieu and God-speed as you journey from our midst.

We feel regret that we are to lose your companionship, your counsel, and spiritual influence, but joy when we think that you are at last able to complete the course of studies that will open to a larger field of labor for the Master than ever before.

We pray that God will richly bless you all, in the various undertakings of your duties through life. That you, Mr. Herrington, may be a true minister of Christ's Gospel, holding Him ever as your pattern and guide, that you, Mrs. Herrington, may be a true help-mate in performing the duties of the minister's wife, may you ever be ready to sympathize and encourage all who need your help. For dear little Lucille, our prayer is that she may grow up in grace and truth, that her young life may be an influence for all that is Christian and pure. We remember with joy the first brave attempt of her little song. We pray that she may lead many others to sing "Jesus Loves Me" with the sweet simple trust that she herself shows forth.

May you all together build up a Christian influence that shall lead others to the Saviour, and may you garner many souls for your labor.

We wish to thank you once again for the interest you have taken in our League and other church activities. We know that often you attended under difficulties, but we appreciate your efforts and ask you to accept this small token of our love and appreciation.

We do not wish to say farewell, but rather to voice the thoughts of our hearts, "God be with you till we meet again." We all realize that where our thoughts and aims tend toward the high calling of our Saviour, that separation does not after all count for much, perhaps only to bring us nearer to each other at the throne of grace, where we trust each to be remembered by the other.

Signed on behalf of the League,
Harry L. Jackson, President.
Cecil Casey, Secretary.

CUBAN BANK CREDITORS PROTECTED.

HAVANA, July 9.—Creditors of the Banco Nacional de Cuba, which suspended payments April 11 last, are fully protected, according to statistics published by El Mundo and credited to Eduardo Durruthy, secretary of the Federal Bank Liquidation Commission, which is reorganizing the bank.

It is claimed that only a deficit of more than $20,000,000 would bring a loss to depositors as the bank, which when it suspended operations April 11, had assets fixed at $68,050,000 and liabilities of $57,840,000.

The secretary stated that the commission had instituted economies which were resulting in a saving of $70,000 a month. He added that the institution would return to normal just as soon as the nation itself solved its problems and adjusted itself to new conditions.

BREAD MANUFACTURERS' SECRETARY INSINUATES THAT HIS LETTER TO COUNCIL COMMITTEE WAS GARBLED

H. E. TRENT RAPS MAYOR M'INTYRE AND ALD. CROWE, IMPLYING THAT THEY WERE PLAYING POLITICS IN REPORTING THE RESULT OF THEIR SO-CALLED INVESTIGATION OF BREAD PRICES AND CONDITIONS.

H. E. Trent, Secretary of the Bread and Cake Manufacturers' Association of Canada, has forwarded to The Examiner the following self-explanatory correspondence. Mr. Trent cuts a rather wide swath in his criticism, and it is only fair to interject that The Examiner reported the communication as presented to the Council by the Special Committee:

The Editor of Evening Examiner,
Peterborough, Ontario.

Dear Sir,—I have before me a copy of your paper of date July 7th, in which you publish a report of a committee, Chairman of which is your Mayor, in which is published a portion of a letter written to Ald. Crowe in reply to a letter from him dated June 18th. If you read my letter, Sir, I am indeed surprised that you did not publish the whole correspondence and not that portion only which pleased the self-appointed committee to investigate the business of men of the high business character, of Mr. Harry Stock, Mr. Gilgour, The Mackey Bread Co., The Veteran Bread Co., Mr. Menzie, Mr. Grady and others. It is a surprise that the Mayor of a city of the importance of Peterborough should stoop to play politics against so splendid an industry. Why did they not tell the public of the hundreds of places where bread is being sold at its proper price, viz., 12c, in place of selecting four places where cheap bread is being made and sold cheap, because of unfair trading method? Why did Ald. Crowe deal so unjustly with me? Is he trying to make a "grand-stand" play for votes? Shame on public men who use such tactics; they are not worthy of public confidence. With the splendidly equipped bakeries in Peterborough the Mayor and Council should be proud that the people's best food, the staff of life, is made and delivered under such favorable conditions and not use their influence to destroy such conditions.

I ask, Mr. Editor, that my full letter to Ald. Crowe be published, and that this letter to you be published also.

Yours very respectfully,
H. E. TRENT, Secretary.

Addenda.—I am entrusting the copy of my letter to Ald. Crowe to Mr. Gilgour to hand to you and ask that the same will be returned to me through him.—H.E.T.

Peterborough,
July, 18th, 1921.

Mr. Trent,
Masters Bakers' Association,
Toronto.

Dear Sir,—Being a committee appointed by our City Council to investigate the cost of bread in the city, would you be kind enough to furnish us with all information at your disposal on the subject.

We have been told that your association makes report to the Government and that the Government in return gives out the result of your organization.

How does organized labor effect you in Toronto?

(Sgd.) ALD. JOS. CROWE,
376 Brock street.

P.S.—Please answer at earliest opportunity.—J.C.

Toronto, Ont.,
June 22nd, 1921.

Alderman Jos. Crowe,
376 Brock street,
Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Sir,—I have your favor of June 18th and it seems to me a gross piece of impertinence on the part of any municipal council to undertake to examine the business of any commercial organization within the municipality which they represent, and especially the bread business.

Just for your information, Sir, all during the war the bread manufacturer sold bread at least at four cents per single loaf less than the actual market price of flour. The journeymen who manufactures the bread for the first two years and a half of the war received no increase of salary. Prior to that period he was the poorest paid mechanic in all the list of men who manufacture and serve time to become journeymen. The bread manufacturer recognized the fact that war was at hand, and, therefore, instead of taking the profits that men who manufactured steel and munitions took, they sold their bread at a very small increase as compared with the actual increase of flour and other material. Finally the journeyman baker received an increase of salary. Today he is not an overpaid man, and the manufacturer of bread today is very desirous of maintaining the wage that the journeyman baker is receiving, and that can only be maintained by the maintenance of the price of bread.

The natural price of bread today at $10.50 price of flour is 13 cents per one and a half-pound loaf, to give the manufacturer of bread the opportunity to pay his workmen, to carry his overhead and to make such improvements as are necessary in the baking industry. If the municipal authorities would demand the best possible loaf that could be made for the public, it would be more within their province than to demand the cheapest possible article of food of such importance as bread. Bread is man's best food. He will work harder and go farther on bread than he would on meat, yet the Dominion of Canada have appointed committees to skew the baker to sell at a lower price than he should get out of his product.

The wages for the pan-wiper is $22.00 and the foreman $25.00 a week. Do you think that is too high for a man who is willing to work nights and part of Sunday in order that the people may have fresh bread on their breakfast tables?

Mr. Alderman, it is not within your rights to investigate the price of bread. I say this judicious, because the Hon. Mr. Raney has refused to make an investigation at London, Ont. If your baker is selling bread at 12 cents a loaf today, he is not getting a minimum profit on his product.

Just for your satisfaction, I will give you absolute figures on a pound of bread, beginning with

Flour	4c	per lb.
Other ingredients	¼c	" "
Manufacturer's expenses	¾c	" "
Delivery, including wages, up-keep of wagons and replacement of horses	1 ½c	" "
Management, etc	½c	" "
Total	7 ¼c	" "

The legal loaf in the Province of Ontario is one and a half pounds. Therefore, 3¾ cents for a half a pound of bread, which added to 7½ cents, would make 11¼ cents. Average this up at sixty per cent. wholesale from which the grocer must get a profit, and forty per cent. retail, which gives you, at 11 cents wholesale and 12 cents retail, an average receipt of 11.40 for one and a half-pound loaf of bread, so that you see that the baker, at 12 cents a loaf, gets .20 as his profit.

Manufacturing expenses have not been lowered, flour is perhaps two dollars a barrel lower than it was, but other conditions prevailing in the baking industry have not become any lower in cost. Therefore, I say to you, Sir, if you were a man of consideration, and I have no doubt, from your letter of June 18th, that you are a man of both education and consideration, that you will look at this matter in that light which will prompt you to say to your committee, which I am not sure whether you are the committee, or there are others with you, that the baker is not making an abnormal profit.

Who gives you the service the baker gives you? Whether it rains or shines, snow or hails, bread is at your door every working day of the year.

With estimable respect, Sir, I sign myself,

H. E. TRENT, Secretary.

WANTED BOOK ABOUT NORTH POLE TO INDUCE COOLNESS AT CHEMONG

THIS APPLICANT FOR SPECIAL BRAND OF SUMMER READING EVIDENTLY BELIEVES IN POWER OF SUGGESTION AND PRINCIPLES OF PSYCHOLOGY—RUN ON FICTION AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

The warm wave, besides having a very appreciable effect on the sale of ice-cream and soft drinks, has another peculiar manifestation. It increases the desire for reading. Whether people are desirous of forgetting their stickiness in perusing the pages of fiction, or whether hot weather is a stimulus to the intellect (an idea that might be of interest to psychological investigators), no one knows, but at any rate, the attendants at the Public Library aver that, while other summer seasons found them with a good deal of spare time on their hands this year sees them as busy as ever. And the call comes loud and strong for fiction, light fiction, and books of travel. Not just travels throughout the Dominion, but travel by land and sea, in China and Asia and Alaska. One gentleman just starting off for a holiday in Chemong demanded a book about the North Pole, so that he might at least have something cold to read about. Oppenheim is a distinct favourite in the warm weather, and Archibald Marshall. The tendency seems to run towards detective yarns which is another oddity, in a way. Why should readers want to puzzle their brains over a mystery story if those same brains were as addled by excessive humidity as weather prophets would lead us to believe?

Years of Discretion.

The demand that was so noticeable some years ago for tales of saffron hue, those popular novels that dealt with sex problems and interestingly unhappy married people, the wave that started in with "Three Weeks," and hasn't really reached its culmination yet, seems to be decreasing according to those who know. A contemplated innovation for some time was the inquiry of a lady's age, when certain books were asked for. What isn't always just the thing for a young lady of 20, what might be of direct harm to a girl of 17 and much more so to one of 15, mightn't have much perceptible effect on a lady of 40, or so the presumption goes. And, although less perceptible, there still remain quite a number of years who have what might be termd a "Limburger" taste in literature.

Books Scrutinised.

The books at the Holy Name Society Library are given a very strict examination before being let out to the reading public, and the Board of Managers of the Public Library are exceptionally careful in their choice of reading matter. One of the difficult things about determining the class of literature on the market is the almost universal habit of the reviewers to praise any book, no matter what its nature, rather than to say what is really thought about it. In this way, every volume must be examined with minute attention. Some readers appear to have no objection to anything whatever in a book, as their motto seems to be "the broader the better," but there are others. Amongst the latter class was a gentleman who recently complained to the Public Library about a certain volume received from it. On being asked to point out the reason for his criticism, he opened the book at a page where the hero so far forgot himself as to say "damn."

People going off on holidays may be accommodated with reading matter without any difficulty, if they are habitues of the libraries. A great deal of trouble is always experienced with a certain class in getting books returned and in the theft and mutilation of valuable volumes.

Mr. DelaFosse records some instances of careful tracking-out of long-lost volumes, sometimes with results, often to find that the book is no longer to be found anywhere.

In one case a boy had hidden the book down a drain, with the excuse that he feared his companions would take it away from him if discovered.

ORANGEMEN WALK PORT HOPE TO-DAY

Bright and early to-day the streets were filled with Orangemen —and Orangewomen, too—and long before eight o'clock the trill of fife and beat of drum reminded sleep-loving citizens that to-day was July 12, the 231st anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne..

That the automobile is replacing the railway as a means of travel, was shown by the hundreds of Orangemen, their friends and families who drove to Port Hope to-day to attend the parade instead of trusting themselves to the G.T..R. In days of yore everybody took the train. Now nearly everybody motored. Judging by the many cars which tore down the gravel this morning bending under a human cargo, augmented by banners, bass drums and other Orange paraphernalia, Port Hope will be full of cars, people and hubbub today.

"It's the quietest day I ever saw," said J. A. MacNab, agent of the G. T.R. There was no rush at the station to-day. About one hundred Orangemen crowded on the 8.10, but the special at 9.05 carried several hundred. This train, which carried a big detachment from Lakefield and Nassau, pulled out of Peterboorugh at 9.10 with two locomotives struggling with 10 coaches. When the train reached the lakeshore at 10.30 it was expected it would be packed tight with reverers of the memory of King William. Everyone on the train was anticipating a "big" day in Port Hope and it will be a tired, dusty and poorer crowd that returns at 7..30 to-night than left this morning so spick and span and so exuberant.

DAVIS CUP IS SOON TO BE BROUGHT OUT AGAIN

NEW YORK, July 12.— (Canadian Press.)—With a travel record of 100,000 miles established the famous Davis Cup is safely locked in the vaults of a Fifth avenue jeweller in New York waiting the day, soon to come, when it will be brought forth from its wrappings, polished and put on display. Strangely enough, it has done all its travelling without mishap and is to-day as shapely and clean-cut in every line as when it was chosen as a fine example of the sliversmith's art.

The mileage record of the cup itself throws a significant sidelight on the magnitude of the contest. Last year, for instance, the U.S. team that brought the Cup home from Australia where it had rested for six years, travelled 27,00 miles. "Billy" Johnson had to go to San Francisco, to N..Y., then to London, then back to San Francisco by way of New York, then he sailed from Vancouver to Auckland, New Zealand, dashed off a thousand miles to Sydney, put in another thousand miles in Australia and then embarked again for San Francisco and home.

The other members of the team, of course, had to cover the same ground so it was not surprising that when they got back, Sam Hard, the captain, said he had had all the globe trotting he wanted for a while. The teams record was for one season only, while the cup has been in more or less steady circulation for 20 years. Great Britain, Australia, and the U. S. have shared the honor of holding it during that period. It needs only a glance at the map to gain some idea of the distance it had to go whenever it changed hands.

Another notable thing is that the silver sides are now so closely covered with the names of men who have played on the various teams that space for additional engraving must be found. Consequently Dwight F. Davis, the donor, has asked Black, Starr and Frost to design a pedestal on whose sides further inscriptions can be made. It is likely therefore, that when the cup makes its next appearance it will be somewhat changed from the shape that has grown familiar to the public through a score of years.

O'Brien says he hopes representatives of the Self-Determination League will be chosen from each of the States of America.

Try a little grated cheese in your potato salad.

Drinking water is especially beneficial before retiring and the first thing in the morning.

For the living room or den ,the beautiful furniture tapestries make stunning pillows.

A most attractive note for the country house is the standing ash tray, ornamented with a porcelain parrot.

It is best to soak potatoes in water before frying, thus drawing out all the starch that they may be crisp and mealy.

Kindergarten beads will amuse the very young chid. String them loosely on a shoe lace and be sure that they are in many colors.

PLENTY CUP TRIAL GAME

WILL BE PLAYED AT NICHOLLS OVAL ON THURSDAY EVENING.

On Thursday night, two selected teams of footballers, the President's and Vice-President's, will meet at the Oval at 6.15 in a trial game for the Executive to decide on the best players to represent Peterborough in the Plenty Cup competition.

Secretary Fred. Sutcliff asks that the following teams be on hand:

President's team — Goal, Griffin (C.G.E.); full backs, McDonald (C.G.E.) and Ralston (Cal.); half-backs, Burrows (Vets), Moir (Cal.) and Frost (Can. W.); forwards, Manders (C.G.E.), Hannah (Cal.), Dwyer (Vets). McDongal (Com.), and Bartley (C.G.E.).

Vice-President's team — Goal, Jones (Vets); full backs, Sam. McMillan (Cal.) and Chambers (Can. W.); half-backs, Williams (C.G.E.), Haycock (Vets), and Stewart McMillan (Can. W.); forwards, Burgess (Cal.), Monks (Vets), H. Jones (Can. W.), Rorison (Cal.) and Sharman (Vets).

Reserves — President's — Back, Cridland (Can. W.); half-back, Hurle (Vets); forward, J. Shaw (Can. W.). Vice-President's — Back, Gamble (Vets); half-back, Mann (C.G.E.); forward, Abraham (De Laval).

Material will be chosen from these to form as fine an aggregation as possible to send to Brantford. The Peterborough team must travel to Brantford before July 31. This morning Secretary Sutcliffe received a letter from James Hutcheons, secretary of Brantford and District Football Association, that July 23 or 30 will suit them best.

It is probable the later date will be more suitable to Peterborough, as the team desire to get in some good practice and work, especially on combination play. The secretary said he hoped all the executive would attend the trial game for their guidance in choosing the Plenty Cup team.

Jerseys will be provided for the players, the secretary said, but he asked that they bring the rest of their outfit.

A new referee, Mr. Abbott, will be arbiter of the Thursday night trial game.

Endeavors are being made to-day to have the Phelan Charity Cup presented to the G.W.V.A. on Thursday night, following the trial game.

STATION "WHITE STRIKE" SAW WORKERS ON JOBS

ROME July 11. — The recent "white strike" of the state employes of Italy produced another series of innovations in labor disputes. The workers kept their positions and nominally did not cease to work but all "soldiered on the job" to such an extent that in many cases total abstention from work would not have wrought greater damage.

The strike besides involving the ordinary employes in the state administration included the post-office forces, which in Italy comprises both the telephone and telegraph. The employes would present themselves for work in the morning and "soldier" along with their work, getting practically nothing done until 11 o'clock, when all would leave the various ministers and offices for a labor meeting.

The whole of the state's administration would then be at a standstill for several hours, while in some cases it extended for the whole day. Besides the mass meetings, there would be local meetings held in the various departments, all at the expense of the time of the government.

The greatest public inconvenience was caused by the attitude of the postal employes, including the telegraph and telephone staffs. Dismissal was threatened those who attended the daily labor meeting but that threat only partially succeded in restoring discipline. Telephone service was practically at a standstill. Persons would attempt to get the centrals for hours and would finally give it up in despair, occasionally, a central operator would answer but there wa never a guarantee that the connection wanted would be given.

The letter-carriers also participated in the "white strike." The street letter -boxes became filled too full for another letter. They were only emptied when it satisfied the whims of the man assigned for the work. The service was completely disorganized.

Premier Giolitti gave orders that all adhering to the "white strike" must be punished. Accordingly over 100 were discharged in Rome, 400 in Milan, 140 in Naples and large numbers elsewhere.

'DEAD' 45 MINUTES; SAYS LIFE GOES ON

CHICAGO, July 12. — What is day by Roland Aby, 20 years old, a gorgeous daubs of futurist colors —purples, golds and crimsons— peopled by fantastic beings, like Russian ballet dancers, and filled with rhythm, pulsing to a 1, 2, 3, 4 count endlessly."

This is death as described yesterda yby Roland Aby, 20 years old, a university student, resuscitated 45 minutes after a coast guard captain had pronounced him dead from drowning.

"There is some sorts of life in death. I am not sure of the nature of that life, but there is a persistenec or continuation of human consciusness after the phenomenon which we call death,' said young Aby. "It is, however, a different conscousness from any that we know of now.'

BIG CROWD TO SEE TO-MORROW NIGHT'S BATTLE WITH PORT HOPE

The victory of the Petes over Belleville on Saturday has started the baseball boom in Peterborough buzzing harder than ever, and there will be a flock of fans out at Riverside Park to-morrow evening to see the clash between Port Hope and the Solomon crew, which is the final home game in the first round of the Central League schedule. The Port Hopers have always made trouble for the Petes, and they would like nothing better than to knock the locals out of the running by taking one of this week's games from them. The game is called for 5.30 o'clock, the first twilight game of the season, and the hour should give the fans generally a good chance to attend. Umpire Claude Wilson, of Oshawa, will officiate.

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM THE OIL FIELDS

Since the strong flow of gas was discovered on the leasehold next to The Central Ontario Oil Fields, Ltd., there is a great deal more interest shown in the company's undertaking, and there is a settled conviction among a great many that where such a strong flow of gas exists, oil cannot be so far away. Another interesting fact has developed also in the discovery of another gentleman who has this power of attraction for oil that makes the indicator work in his hands. With these indications which a number of Peterborough gentlemen witnessed recently, can anyone doubt the existence of a large body of oil? We emphasize this Cowain system of proving the existence of the oil for several reasons.

1st—It has proved itself in other oil fields.

2nd—It does away with the expensive method of drilling wells here and there until you strike the oil lake. Instead, it indicates where the oil is in greatest quantity, and the drilling naturally starts there.

3rd—As dozens of reliable people know that water is discovered without fail by some people, it should be just as sure when a like instrument adapted specially for oil shows same indications.

We feel certain that we are offering the public right at home something by way of an investment which never has come their way before and may never come again.

No matter from what angle we look at it, the chances of loss seem small, while the chances of gain seem most promising for a very large return. Like the hand pointing to the hour on the dial of the clock, so the instrument in Mr. E. J. Cowain's hands points to the store of oil.

BOWLING TOURNAMENT OPENS ON WEDNESDAY FOR DISTRICT RINKS

STRATTON AND GILLESPIE TROPHIES WILL BE PLAYED FOR DURING TWO DAYS' JOUST—BOAT TRIP FOR VISITORS.

(By Jack Maynecord).

The local annual tournament is to be held on Wednesday and Thursday of this week, and we are looking forward to one of the most successful tournaments we have ever had.

Formerly the event was always held on the first Monday in August, but as that clashed with other tournaments in the district, a change of date was decided upon. By this we expect to increase our entry from outside clubs.

Another new feature is that we are making it a two-day event in place of the one-day event of previous years. Play will commence at 1 o'clock on Wednesday and continue until 5 p.m., when an interval will be taken for tea. At 6 o'clock all players, both visiting and local, will board the steamer "Rainbow" at George Street Wharf, and go for a trip over the Lift Lock, returning about 7.30. One more game will be played in the evening. On Thursday the whole day will be devoted to bowling, and as there are four separate events, a full day's play is assured.

The Stratton trophy will go to the winners of the primary event, and the Gillespie trophy to the winners of the consolation. There will also be doubles and singles. Individual prizes will be given to the winners and runners-up in each competition. Six local rinks have already entered, but as this takes in only about one half of our members, we hope that other rinks will be formed at once. We should have at least ten rinks entered from our own club. As the success or failure of the tournament depends to a great extent on our own efforts, we believe that our members will support the executive in every possible way, firstly, by entering into the tournament, and, secondly, by helping to give the visitors a real good time, so that we may be assured of their coming back another year. Let us all pull together and make this year's tournament a great success.

LACROSSE TEAM HAS NEW LEASE OF LIFE---PRACTICE ON WEDNESDAY

A practice game between the Intermediate and Junior Lacrosse Teams will be played at the Oval on Wednesday night, beginning at 6.30 o'clock. All the players are requested to be prompt. The prospects of the Intermediates brightened considerably at last night's meeting and it is likely that the team will go through with its schedule.

The executive, the players and old timers are desirous of staying in the district. They feel that it would be a set back to quit incontinently, and there has been an evidence of interets in the club that is very heartening. The management asked for the postponement of the Havelock game because of financial uncertainties. Last night an old lacrosse player, told Mr. Skinner, the manager of the team, that he had $25 for the treasury, and one of the players contributed $5, and it is understood that there is more to be got. Accordingly it was practically decided last night to go on with the games. The members will reach a final decision on Wednesday night after the game.

The feature game of this district will be played at Havelock on Friday afternoon when Campbellford goes to the C.P.R. town to conclude the first half of the schedule. Campbellford is unbeaten so far. At home they defeated Havelock 6 to 3, and some of the Havelock players declare that had they switched their play a little the result would have been different.

There are hopes in Havelock to break even on the first half of the schedule, but Campbellford may be expected to put forth their strongest effort of the season. In other words it looks like a real battle, and some of the local followers of the game are trying to make arrangements to attend it.

Oshawa defeated Todmorden by a score of 18 to 5 on Saturday in Toronto. Sport Morden in the Telegram describes them as a heavy fast team fit for senior company right now. They could have made the score a hundred if they wished, is his opinion.

ASHTON VILLA MAKES PROFIT OF $60,000

LONDON, July 12. Canadian Press—The famous Aston Villa Soccer Club of the English League, enjoyed great prosperity last season, and finished up the year's work with a net profit of $60,960.

The gate receipts totalled the enormous amount of $361,805, from which a dividend of 7 1-2 pe rcent. was paid to the shareholders and the sum of $119,490 carried forward to the next season.

CROWDS OF MEN MILL AROUND ON SLIMY FLOOR IN WRETCHED DRESSING ROOM AT INVERLEA

AFTER PERSUADING NICHOLLS PARK BOARD TO LET PUBLIC USE BUILDING INTENDED FOR TOOL HOUSE, THE CITY COUNCIL STANDS BY CONTENT YEAR AFTER YEAR IGNORING CONDITIONS THAT BATHERS DECLARE A "SHAME AND A CRIME"

NO BETTER FOR WOMEN

Bathing facilities at Inverlea Park can be vastly improved. Every bather knows it, and the caretaker laments that conditions are not better. Information that the Parks committee are considering putting up a tent as a ladies' dressing room is relishable news to all the patrons of the river, but if the announcement was made that a permanent, modern, separate building for ladies would be constructed, the Council would stand in with the bathers better than it does now. As a matter of fact the thousands who either regularly or occasionally crowd into the 40 ft. x 14 ft. dessing room feel that the citizens who like to besport themselves in the water have been treated callously. The Examiner, mingling with the throng, found the common cry to be that the Council could find money to build a new bridge, to do anything else but fix up proper bathing facilities. Referring to the present facilities for changing from street to swimming attire the men all said, it's a shame. "This thing is a crime," is the way one bather described it.

Accommodation Inadequate.

The reporter found that there was one light metalled building, 40 ft. x 14 ft., sub-divided into two sections by a metal partition, with a door in each end. The ladies use the west part as their dressing room, the men the east. As it is stifling in the tiny rooms the men leave the door part way open to admit a draft. The girls also leave their door open, it is said, but have a curtain they pull across the doorway.

The scene in these rooms may well be imagined. In the quarters for men there are but 20 hooks on each side of the north and south walls. Sunday afternoon was what the caretaker and the regular bathers called a "small" day, yet clothes were piled layer on layer on these poor 40 hooks. At the bottom would possibly be a pair of B.V.D.'s, then a shirt, a vest, a coat and a pair of trouseres. Then would on examination be revealed one or two other complete wardrobes all depending for support on the little bronze hook. At three o'clock in the afternoon the hooks were all covered in this way. As it is a metal building, there are steel supports just beyond reach across the roof. From these hung down everything you see in the men's furnishing store windows. Tucked away in corners where a straw hat would stick were many chapeau. Not all the men bathers' clothes were so nicely arranged. There are several slat benches (pack variety) in the dressing room as well as several plain straight benches. Unfortunates who absolutely could not cram their clothes on a hook just piled them on the bench for everybody to sit on. Many that hung on the back fell to the dirty floor. The Examiner saw several straw hats in the slime.

Can't Keep Floor Clean.

The floor is of concrete, with a drain in the centre, but James Gates, the caretaker, asserts he cannot keep the place clean there are so many using it. At any rate when the newspaper man was there the floor was in a very dirty, slippery condition. A raised slating off the concrete was no doubt very satisfactory when only a few persons used the park, but as it is now this wooden part is soaked and slippery. Putting on one's socks or trousers is a very precarious undertaking. A man must either sit on the bench and hold his feet straight out or stand on his head and have someone fit him. The slats are so wet and the floor so muddy that the only recourse is to stand as one may best on the benches.

The men undressing in the room are scrambled over by those dressing and the confusion that exists is beyond words. The room would comfortably accommodate 50 men, but when 200 are attempting to use it the result can be visualized. That means if each put all his clothes on a hook, each fixture would bend under five complete outfits. Practically every warm night there are 200 men and boys in at the park.

Mr. Gates laments that there is no better accommodation in the way of dressing rooms. He told the Examiner when the crowds attacked the men's dressing room on a warm night, he had to tell the men to leave their clothes out on the grass after they had changed and then dress after their swim in the room. If they did not do this, Mr. Gates said, there would be such a mix-up of clothes there would be many articles lost. Every day as it is clothes are being taken in mistake, and without a proper dressing room with lockers as advocated by him, there is nothing to stop thefts, and Mr. Gates declares it was unwise to leave any money in clothes in the present dressing room. One unfortunate man lost his trousers one night last week and had to go home in his bathing suit.

The girls dress and undress under similar chaotic conditions. Toilet facilities are regrettably inadequate.

Need Larger Rooms.

Mr. Gates from his observances as caretaker for several years, states that a permanent, well-equipped, roomy and airy dressing room should be built for the ladies and girls and all of the present divided dressing room taken for the men. In this way the condtions that are unpopularizing the park rather than, (as it should be), popularizing it, would be overcome. A tent would be all right for one year, but when other cities are spending thousands of dollars improving beaches and making recreation grounds, the suggestion of a tent for the women and girls to change in has a penurious appearance in the eyes of every bather who patronizes the park.

The present structure looks like a garage. It was first built by the Nicholls Trust as a tool house and later converted into dressing rooms by the city.

There is nothing, as conditions exist now, to Inverlea park as a bathing place, if one gets down to brass tacks. There is the one small metal tool house used as a dressing room, an old cement, broken-down retaining wall, outside of which the water is deep and runs fast, and inside of which the water is stale, one spring board, a raft and a life-buoy. If there is not a drowning outside the wall it will be a dispensation of Providence. One raft is anchored off the wall well above the bridge. There are no others. Between the raft and the pier of the bridge, on which good swimmers find a resting place, there is quite a stretch of deep, fast-flowing water which may sweep someone to death if more rafts are not anchored in the current or a heavy wire trellis or some such protection swung from the bridge. If seized with a cramp the current will carry one out of reach of the shore in no time. A strong swimmer was seized with a cramp on Sunday and only saved himself by climbing on a dog.

It would seem from a standpoint of providing as much pleasure as possible to the bathers, a good idea to anchor a line of rafts farther out in the stream from the wall. There would be some place to swim to then. The wall is in such a decrepit condition it is as much a danger as anything. Sometimes it is above the water, sometimes six inches covered, depending on whether the water is raised or lowered. Jagged pieces of concrete provide a fine edge to tear a limb. There is at least one rock sticking up from the bottom that needs removing. Several divers on Sunday narrowly missed it.

When the citizens demand an up-to-date bathing place at Inverlea they are not asking for the millenium, no one has even mentioned a board walk yet.

BED BUG POISON

There are dozens of preparations recommended to destroy bed bugs. But the preparation that gives the best results is Post's Bed Bug Poison and one or two applications will soon wipe out the pest. It is composed of Corrosive Sublimate, methyl-hydrate, and carbolic acid, and as it is very poisonous it should be kept out of the reach of children.

Post's Bed Bug Poison is sold at Lynch's Drug Store, 168 Hunter St.

CARPENTIER WILL BOX IN OCTOBER

SIGNS CONTRACT TO MEET ANY LIGHT HEAVYWEIGHT RICKARD PICKS.

NEW YORK, July 12. — Georges Carpentier yesterday signed a contract with Tex Rickard to defend his world's light heavyweight championship during October. His opponent will be selected later, the agreement reading that the French boxer shall meet any light heavyweight named by Rickard.

The bout will be contested either in the Jersey City Arena, where Carpentier lost to Jack Dempsey, or in Madison Square Garden, this city. While the selection of an opponent will not be made until later, it was thought that the choice lies between Harry Greb and Tom Gibbons. The second week of October is tentatively named as the date, which probably will be staged on Columbus Day, October 12.

Plans were completed to-day for the sailing of the Carpentier party on the steamer La Savoie for France on Thursday. A stay of from two to three weeks will be made at the home of the French boxer, and then the party will return to the United States to prepare for the October bout.

Carpentier's hand, which he injured in the Dempsey encounter, is still swollen and painful, but he expects it to heal within the next six weeks. He says it will not prove a handicap in future contests.

CAROLS OF CANARIES A SWEET FEATURE

IN ABSENCE OF CAPITOL ORCHESTRA THE BIRDS TRILLED MERRILY.

The canaries in the Capitol balconp last evening did their level best to fill in the gap in the musical programme, with long-sustained trills and bursts of chirping melody, and the show was so exceptionally good as to hold the attention every minute. The two comedies were excellent, the whole house uniting in one long laugh with "Tough Luck" enrolled its funny way on the silver screen, and the two book agents did their level best to avoid the placard, "Go to work or go to jail." Wallace Reid, in "Too Much Speed," contributed several racing thrills to his part of the programme. The popular movie actor who stars in this particular picture appears as a speed fiend, whose passion to be first causes him to race while on the way to his wedding, all "fussed up." He ditches his car, arouses the wrath of his father-in-law (who calls off the match), and then runs off with his fiancee. The father pursues, and they all land in the cells, where Dusty, the hero, spends ten days. He goes back to his former employ, discovers that it was all a plan to lure him to race on his wedding-day, and leaves in disgust. The race in which he wins with one of his father-in-law's discarded Pakro machines, provides a thrilling climax to a story with a great deal of swift-moving action. Agnes Ayres is the pretty heroine of the tale.

TRIANON TREATY RATIFIED BY THE FRENCH SENATE.

PARIS, July 12 Canadian Press.—The ratification of the treaty between the allied nations and Hungary known as the Trianon Treaty, was voted by the French Senate last night. Included in the ratification was the protocal of the treaty which stipulated that protection would be given to religious minorities in Hungarian territory as well as the districts detached from that country and placed under the jurisdiction of Czecho-Slovakia, Rumania and Jugo Slavia.

EDISON STORAGE BATTERY CAR.

The Edison electric storage battery car, which was accepted as a sample car on a month's trial by the Canadian National Railways stood up under the test and the officials, we understand, are more than pleased with the experiment. The short run from Trenton to Belleville was selected and proved a decided success. The car has been sent to Campbellton, N.B., where it will be put on a more permanent run, to Bathurst a distance of sixty-three miles daily. As a result of the trial, it is likely that this class of car will be built in Canada, all perhaps except the batteries, which are under Edison patent.

KING OPENS THAMES DOCK.

Extension of 64 Acres Will Accommodate 50,000-Ton Liners.

LONDON, July 11. — London's great new extension to the Royal Albert Dock, which will permit the docking of 50,000-ton liners within seven miles of St. Paul's Cathedral, was opened by King George. Accompanied by Queen Mary, Princess Mary and the Duke of York, the King embarked at Westminster Bridge and proceeded down the river in state. The picturesque royal pageant was witnessed by thousands of persons lining the banks of the Thames.

The new dock has an area of sixty-four acres and a water surface of two miles. It is part of a £15,000,000 scheme to improve the London docks.

King George, in the course of his speech at the opening ceremony, said the dock would receive far greater vessels than ever before had entered the port of London. It is equipped with the finest and most modern buildings and machinery, so that cargoes can be unloaded and despatched with greater speed to all parts of the United Kingdom and foreign countries

OPPOSES FLANDERS POPPY.

Massachusetts Commission Says Flower Endangers Crops.

BOSTON, July 11. — The bright red poppies which grow in Flanders fields are not welcome in this State.

Commissioner of Agriculture Arthur W. Gilbert, in urging that no more seeds or plants be brought to Massachusetts for propagation purposes, asserted that the growing of the flowers here might result in tremendous loss in agricultural districts. The Flanders poppy, according to the Commissioners, spreads very rapidly, the seeds being carried considerable distances by the wind, and there would be great danger of damage to crops.

NO BOOZE SMUGGLING FROM BERMUDA TO U. S.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, July 12. —(Associated Press.)—The Colonial Parliament has just passed a special law to prevent smuggling from Bermuda to the United States. Anyone putting intoxicants aboard a vessel bound to American ports incurs a fine of £25 and the penalty for a second offence is £50. Local dealers who are found to be in connivance with the law-breakers are penalized and may be deprived of their licenses.

This law, which is now in effect, was brought about thanks to the reckless manner of carrying on illicit operations during the past year. Not only were hiding places for "booze" in all parts of the ships utilized, but the smugglers went so far as to open up barrels of potatoes in the hold and insert whiskey bottles.

Discovery of this practice led to an outcry from local produce shippers who foresaw interference with their deliveries entailing delay and money losses. The Bermudians were concerned over the possibility of having the liners held up at New York by Federal agents to the peril of legitimate trade and the interruption of tourist traffic on which local prosperity so largely depends.

The recent capture, off the Carolina coast, of a schooner with 45 barrels of whiskey loaded here at St. Georges, also had its effect in hastening legislation.

OBITUARY

LORENZ B. TREACY.

The death occurred at 3 o'clock this morning, in Kingston Hospital, of Lorenz B. Treacy, in his 30th year. The deceased was a son of the late John J. Treacy, of Brantford, and was born in Adjala. He was married twelve years ago to Katherine M. McGrath, daughter of the late Thomas McGrath of this city, and came to live in Peterborough in 1911. During the war, he was connected with the Imperial Munitions Board, and well known and appreciated in some of the largest munition factories in Ontario. His very close attention to his work at this time was the cause of the development of a nervous trouble, which resulted in his death. During his early life in Brantford, he was connected with the Dufferin Rifles, and was a valued member of their Athletic Club. He was very prominent in the amateur sporting world in Western Ontario, played baseball and lacrosse, was a member of the old T.A.S. Society, of the Holy Name Society, and of the Knights of Columbus. He was a man of sterling qualities, honest and conscientious, a devoted husband and father, and had a host of friends wherever he went. Besides his sorrowing wife, he is survived by two daughters, Ruth and Katherine, his mother, three sisters, Misses Stella, Irene, and Mary, all of Brantford, and four brothers, Vincent, Jerome and Leo of Brantford and Joseph of Boston.

Funeral ararngements ill be announced later.

AUTOMOBILE BORROWERS IN KINGSTON FINED

KINGSTON July 12—Fifty dollars and costs or three months in jail was the fine imposed yesterday by Magistrate Farrell on M. Mails and W. Coates for the theft of an automobile. The car belonged to a taxi driver, named Wilson, from opposite whose house on Redan street the accused took it on Sunday morning at about 1.30 o'clock. The men were arrested at about three o'clock when returning as they claimed from a joy ride, without damaging the auto. The owner was reluctant to prosecute but the police took the matter out of his hands as a warning to others.

LETTING IN ROSY-CHEEKED PEOPLE

(Sarnia Canadian Observer.)

A writer in a Montreal paper puts forth a strong plea for encouragement of immigration from Great Britain as the solution of many of the problems offered by Western Canada, where there are far too few people for area of land involved. He say that we do not open the door so widely now; but we do let the rosy-cheeked people in. Britain has a surplus population— always will, and that is where we get the rosy-cheeked people from. They are from Kent and Down— many of them. There is the glow of health on their faces. They have taken long inspirations in the open. They have lived temperately; and the men and women are, therefore, comely to look upon. The women have the complexions we call "roses and cream." The color is not too high; but it owes nothing to cosmetics. Our extremes of climate will rather hurt the color; but the additions to our population coming from the Motherland are wholesome types, nor can we have too many of them.

ENGINEER CRUSHED TO DEATH WHEN LOCOMOTIVE DERAILED; FIREMAN SERIOUSLY BURNED

GRAND TRUNK ENGINE TURNS TURTLE ON HILL NEAR MADOC JUNCTION, KILLING DAVID O'BRIEN OF THIS CITY

SPREADING RAILS ARE THOUGHT TO BE CAUSE

David O'Brien, G.T.R. engineer and well known Peterboro boy was instantly killed at 5 a.m. to-day at Madoc Junction on the Belleville line of the G. T. R. when he was crushed under his locomotive which left the tracks with the tender through some unknown cause when backing down the grade leading up to the junction. He — the engineer on a freight which left Lindsay for Belleville at 11.50 o'clock last night. Frank ("Dutch") O'Connor was conductor of the freight and W. Strickland fireman. At Madoc Junction the freight "double-up" because of the sharp grade, that is the train is taken up in two sections. O'Brien had taken up the first section to the junction and was backing down with the tender and locomotive for the second section when the tender left the tracks dragging the locomotive with it and overturning it on the driver's side. O'Brien was crushed under the engine, and the fireman escaped death but was seriously burned.

An auxiliary went out from Belleville as soon as the derailment was reported, the locomotive and tender were cleard off the tracks. It was repaired where the ties were torn up for about fifteen yards. The engineer's body was removed to Stirling and will be brought to Peterboro to-night at 8.15.

The body was removed from beneath the engine at noon to-day.

Conductor O'Connor was on the engine when the accident happened but escaped uninjured.

Was Well Known Here

David O'Brien was widely known in Peterboro and Lindsay, and had a veritable host of friends. He was the son of the late Patrick O'Brien. His mother, Mrs. Mary O'Brien, lives at 524 Bolivar street. For many years the family resided on the Monaghan Road in the house now occupied by Mr. John Coombs, market gardener. David O'Brien attended the Lake street separate school, and in his early youth joined up with the G. T. R. After his term as brakeman he was promoted to engineer, and had a particularly good record His run was through Peterboro and he never lost touch with his old friends. He was a big, genial, likable chap, clean living and interested in his work.

He had a fine record as an efficient and careful engineer, and in his home he had a higher record as a dutiful son. His death has saddened his many friends in Peterboro, who knew him for his rugged sterling worth.

Mr. O'Brien, who was only 33 years old, is survived by his mother Mrs. Mary O'Brien, widow of the late Patrick O'Brien, living at 513 King street two sisters, Sister Mary Patrick of the Sisters of St. Joseph, Toronto, and Mrs. T. Bucklev of Lindsay, and three brothers, John a nd Joseph of Peterboro and Michael of Saskatoon.

KENTUCKY FEUDIST SLAIN.

Oldest Survivor of McCoy Faction Is Killed in Knife Fight.

PAINTSVILLE, Ky., July 13.—Judge John J. McCoy has been killed at his home on Lynn Bary in Martin County. He was 83 years of age. It is reported he was engaged in a fight with Tom McCoy, a cousin, who resides in Martin County. Tom McCoy was accompanied by Eph Thompson and John Cornett.

It was a fight with knives between the two McCoys, but Tom was not hurt. When the body of the Judge was found his throat was cut from ear to ear. All three of the men were arrested and are in the Martin County Jail.

McCoy, an ex-County Judge, was the oldest survivor of the McCoy faction whose feud with the Hatfields for forty years was the worst the Kentucky mountains ever knew. It is feared a family feud will result from the killing of the aged Judge.

ANTI-BRITISH PROPAGANDIST IS RELEASED

NEW YORK, N.Y., July 13.—(Canadian Press.)—Robert Goldstein, who in 1917 was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment for violation of the Espionage Act in connection with the authorship and production of a thirteen reel film known as "the Spirit of 76," a work of propaganda to arouse animosity in the United States against the British government, has had his sentence commuted and been released after serving three years.

BRITAIN LEADS SHIP BUILDING

SIXTY PER CENT. OF SHIP CONSTRUCTION BEING EXECUTED IN BRITISH YARDS, SAYS LLOYDS.

NEW YORK, July 13.—(Canadian Press).—The United Kingdom has 2,813,000 tons more shipping under construction than the United States. Nearly sixty percent of the world's shipbuilding is being executed by British yards.

According to Lloyd's returns, for the quarter ending June 30, world ship constructios showed a decrease of approximately. 960,000 tons from that of the first quarter and the latter figures were less than 100,000 be low those of the preceeding three months.

During the three months ended June 30, United States shipping under construction dropped nearly 400,000 tons, British a bout 270,000 tons and other countries combined with the exception of Germany for which complete returns are not available, about 250,000 tons.

CONFERENCE IN WASHINGTON MAY SPEED ELECTIONS

PREMIER MEIGHEN WILL REPRESENT CANADA AND WILL WANT CLEAR SLATE AT HOME.

OTTAWA, July 13.—The disarmament conference to be held in Washington this fall will probably be a long-drawn out affair. This fact will have an effect on the domestic political situation. For one thing, it will preclude the possibility of a fall session of Parliament, of which there has been considerable talk. It would tend, furthermore, to accelerate the by-elections, which it is believed will likely be brought on in September.

Clean Off Slate.

In the case of two of them—St. Antoine and West York— the six months' limit will be up by that time. Brockville, Durham and Maple Creek became vacant much later, and there is no statutory necessity for hurrying these contests. It is, nevertheless, considered probable that the Prime Minister will wish to clean off the slate before he goes to Washington. He has announced his intention of going there as the representative of Canada.

The general impression here has been that, if the by-election result adversely to the Government, dissolution would be precipitated. Without reference to their outcome there is now talk of endeavoring to arrange an understanding between all the parties for another session to enact a redistribution bill with the idea of an election in the spring. If the by-elections are won by the Government no understanding would be necessary, while, if they were lost it is not certain that any agreement could be arrived at.

Without it, the process of carrying on might be difficult. In any event the developments at London and Washington are likely to produce considerable effect upon the plans and manoeuvres of the political situation.

UNIONIST LEADER AGAINST REPUBLIC

BELFAST, July 13. Canadian Press.—John Miller Andrews, who will be one of the Ulster Unionist delegates to the London conference which will try to arrange peace in Ireland, declared in a speech at the County Down Orange demonstration last night, that while he wished peace in Ireland, he would resolutely combat the setting up of anything resembling a republic in Ireland.

MEIGHEN TO BE DELAYED UNTIL FALL, PERHAPS

INTENDED TO RETURN NEXT WEEK BUT CONFERENCE ON DISARMAMENT QUESTION NECESSITATES POSTPONEMENT.

SEES LIKELIHOOD OF RECURRENCE OF THIS

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

OTTAWA, July 13.—The increased participation by Canada in International affairs bids fair to rob the Dominion for many months in every year of her Premier and other prominent members of the Cabinet.

It will be recalled that in the latter years of the war the Government came in for heavy criticism because of the prolonged and frequent absences in Britain of Premier Bordon, whose political fences suffered severely thereby. Few will question the importance of the matters which demanded his attention and necessitated his absence.

Nevertheless, it was inevitable that domestic affairs should be to some extent neglected. The last session of Parliament was hurriedly brought to an end in order that Premier Meighen should be enabled to attend the Premier's conference. By some, the haste with which important business was wound up was looked upon as "indecent." Nevertheless, the Premier had to go.

It was his avowed intention, however, to return at a comparatively early date. The Anglo-Japanese alliance was to be the chief topic of discussion. It now transpires that the discussion on that topic did not lead to a definite conclusion, though out of it has emanated a new and a highly important suggestion, namely —a conference at Washington on international disarmament.

It was anticipated that Premier Meighen should leave for Canada on the 21st of July. Cabled advices today intimate that a conference preparatory to that at Washington will be held in London, and that the Premier's return will be delayed.

If the conference at Washington takes place in September, little opportunity will, therefore, be given to Mr. Meighen to attend to the arrears of domestic and political business before he once more departs.

CANADIAN NEWS IN BRIEF.

A lad of fifteen years of age was brought before Judge Choquet yesterday at Montreal for attempting to take his own life, and pleaded guilty to the charge. He was tired of life he said, his father having driven him from home. The constable who made the arrest caught the boy just as he was about to hang himself.

At least two unidentified men lost their lives in a fire which ravaged William Lake in the Cariboo district of British Columbia on Monday. The post office, telegraph office and several business buildings are a complete loss, besides several dwellings. A rough estimate places the damage at $100,000.

Entering the barn on his farm at Lavoirier, Que., to complete his evening chores, Albert Payan, a well-to-do farmer of the district, was attacked by a gang of men who were hidden in the building and severely beaten, necessitating his removal to the hospital at Wickham, Drummond County, where it was found that his skull had been fractured in two places. His condition is considered critical. A gang of thieves have been operating in the district where Payant has his farm.

ADJUDGED CURED.

WINDSOR, July 13.— Adjudged criminally insane six years ago after he had killed his wife, Frank Deinhart of Detroit, is now free. He was adjudged cured by officials of the asylum for the criminally insane at Ionia and brought to Detroit for trial. Assistant Prosecutor Robert M. Toms entered a nolle prosequi motion before Judge Thomas M. Cotter on Friday. This was granted and the case closed.

PREPARING FOR BRITISH-IRISH PEACE PARLEYS

INFORMAL CONVERSATIONS HELD TO-DAY IN DOWNING STREET, WHERE NEGOTIATIONS OPEN TO-MORROW.

PREMIER SMUTS STILL THE PRINCIPAL FIGURE

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

LONDON, July 13.—Irish peace negotiations begin unofficially today, although the formal conference with Premier Lloyd George does not start until to-morrow. Plans were made for "Conversations" between members of the Sinn Fein delegation and representatives of the British government.

Jan Smuts, Prime Minister of South Africa, who is credited more than any other single person with making the peace negotiations possible, was the principal figure in these informal meetings. He will also attend to-morrow's conference, and after that probably will preside at the meetings.

To-day's "conversations" were intended to smooth the way for the formal negotiations through adjustment of many minor technical matters, such as the course of procedure. This would largely be in the hands of Smuts.

LONDON, July 13. — (Canadian Press.)—Final preparations for the meeting of Eamonn De Valera, Irish Republican leader, and Prime Minister Lloyd George, to be held here to-morrow, were being made by the Government and the Irish delegation to-day.

The first conference will be held in the Cabinet room, at 10 Downing street, the Prime Minister's official residence, at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning, but the procedure to be followed had not been announced early to-day.

British officials who have been closely associated with Irish affairs during the recent past were said to be prepared to join in discussion with the Sinn Fein delegation headed by Mr. De Valera.

ATTEMPT MADE TO ASSASSINATE THE POLISH PRESIDENT

PLOT REPORTED UNEARTHED TO OVERTHROW GOVERNMENT.

COPENHAGEN, July 13.—(Canadain Press.)— A despatch to the Berlingske Tidende from Warsaw to-day says it has been learned an attempt was made to assassinate President Pilsudski, of Poland, and that the police have run down a plot to overthrow the present Polish government. Authorities, says the message, are maintaining the utmost reserve with regard to the affair, but it appears that a man forced himself into President Pilsudski's room and fired several shots. A number of arrests have been made.

EARL OF BANDON IS BROUGHT BACK

KIDNAPPED NOBLEMAN RETURNED UNINJURED.

CORK, July 13. — (Canadian Press.)—The Earl of Bandon, who was kidnapped by Sinn Feiners early on the morningof June 21, was brought back to Bantry last night by his captors. The aged Earl, for whose safety there has been some concern for some time, was uninjured.

RESUME OPERATIONS IN TAMPICO FIELDS

OIL DRILLING PERMITS BEING GRANTED DAILY.

TAMPICO, July 13.— (Canadian Press.)—The resumption of operations in the Tampico district by oil companies is expected in official circles here. Drilling permits are being granted daily by the government and some companies have continued work during the past troublesome months without discharging a single man.

IRISH TRUCE IS BROKEN IN BELFAST

United Press.

BELFAST, July 13. — The Irish truce was broken here today when rioting broke out on Vere street. Two constables and three civilians were wounded.

Large bodies of police auxiliaries as a consequence of the truce have been granted indefinite leave of absence. The first batch of auxiliaries have already left for England.

CIVIC BANQUET A FAREWELL TO FATHER PHELAN

PROMINENT CITIZENS JOIN IN TRIBUTE TO RECTOR OF ST. PETER'S, WHO IS LEAVING FOR CAMPBELLFORD.

SPEAKERS EULOGIZE CHARACTER, SERVICE

Drawn together by one impulse—to do honour to a great citizen—125 citizens, representing every class and every creed, joined in a complimentary dinner to Rev. C. J. Phelan, until recently Chancellor of St. Peter's Cathedral, and now placed in charge of Campbellford Parish, at the Empress last night. Rev. Father Phelan leaves on Friday for his new charge. Last night's function marked the farewell of fellow citizens collectively to a priest who has in addition to his ecclesiastical duties, been prominently identified with public bodies, and has been in the true sense of the word, a public spirited citizen.

Those who assembled last night to honour Father Phelan, were many of them boyhood friends, and most of the gathering were men whose friendship with Father Phelan extended over many years.

Various charitable and athletic bodies were represented, among these the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition Board, the Health Association, the Children's Aid Society, the Peterboro Amateur Athletic Association, and the Football Association. With all these he had been connected in a prominent, active way, and each is a distinct loser in the departure of Father Phelan from the city.

Sadness in all Hearts.

If a stranger had dropped in he would have thought the banquet was a happy affair. Mayor McIntyre was toastmaster, and he gave the men permission to remove their coats if they so desired. Many took advantage of this informality, for it was a warm night. There were songs and laughter but in their hearts the gathering was a sad one for those who assembled knew the loss the city was suffering in Father Phelan's removal. G. O. Cameron endeavored to, and did start some songs going, assisted by John Crane at the piano, but those honouring Father Phelan suffered another tinge of "blues" when they contemplated G. O.'s departure from Peterboro this week.

The toast list was brief. Rev. Fr. Phelan and Peterboro were toasted, following the King, and, as it was unpleasantly hot with so many men in the room, those getting up the programme were blessed by each and every one.

"Our Guest."

To Mr. H. R. H. Kenner fell the somewhat sad duty of proposing the toast to the guest, Father Phelan.

"Peterboro's greatest need is citizens of the type of our guest, Rev. Father Phelan," said Mr. Kenner. In proposing the toast, he outlined the characteristics, the possessions, of an ideal citizen. "I think Rev. Father Phelan has tried to live up to that ideal of citizenship during his stay in Peterboro," he said. The proposer of the evening's toast recalled how when he first came to Peterboro in 1893 his first boarding place was at the Phelan House, owned by Father Phelan's father, and ever since then Mr. Kenner said he had counted Rev. Fr. Phelan among his friends. The priest's interest in athletics was commended by Mr. Kenner, who made particular reference to Rev.Fr.Phelan's prowess as a lacrosse player. "He played the game fairly and to win." Since retiring from active participation in sports he has shown a keen interest in athletics, and is now Hon. President of the Peterboro Amateur Athletic Association.

Mr. Kenner referred to Father Phelan's work on public bodies and the loss which is being suffered by them in his leaving the city. "We are sorry to lose him, but we bid him God speed in his work in Campbellford." With these words Mr. Kenner closed his tribute to Rev. Father Phelan.

Rev. Father Phelan.

SUGGESTS SHOWER SPRAY FOR KIDDIES

Chief Grange in conversation with Ald. Gainey, chairman of the Parks Committee, suggested that a practice employed in many large cities during the hot weather of turning on the water for children in the parks might be adopted here if the heat continues. Detachments from the fire department water Central Park every night, and it could be arranged that the children could enjoy the spray if this idea met with general favor. An hour could be arranged for this cooling shower bath and something may be done if the suggestion is approved.

THE WEATHER

Yesterday's highest temperature was 90 degrees in the shade. To-day at noon it was up to 95 degrees. Last night was again one of the hot ones. Lowest during the night 70 degrees. The less you think about the heat and and the less you watch the thermometer, the cooler you feel. For as the slogan of the advertisements of a well known advertiser says, "There is a reason."—W. P.

ENJOYED TALENT OF MRS. W. STAPLES

APSLEY, July 11.— Mr. William Comstock, who was for a number of years Reeve of the Township of Asphodel, and a party of relatives, consisting of his wife, sister, Miss Comstock, daughter Mrs. S. McDonald, and son Harold motored to Anstruther on Saturday last. On their way home they called on Mrs. W. Staples of Burleigh. Mrs. Staples was formerly a resident of Asphodel and leading elocutionist of the village of Westwood. The party thought they would like once more to hear her display her oratorical powers and as a request asked her to favour them with a couple of recitations, which she kindly consented to do. Before leaving the party presented her with a small gift and gave her a pressing invitation to visit their village and while there to join a number of her old friends on the stage.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, July 13.—(Canadian Press).—Dealing in the stock market at the opening of to-day's session pointed to a continuance of dullness and irregularity. Investment shares were neglected for more speculative issues. Mexican Petroleum soon rose 2 1-2 points. Pan-American and General Asphalt gaining one point each. Harvester, Sears-Roebuck, Tobaccos, Sugars Leathers and Coppers were among other firm stocks. General electric was conspicuously weak falling almost three points. Most gains were cancelled with in the first half hour.

Metals and some European Oils offered resistance to the early re-action but most leaders yielded when Motors, Steels and Equipments developed pronounced heaviness. General Electric extended its loss to four points. Crucible, Republic and Bethlehem Steels fell one to two points. Studebaker, Pierce Arrow, Common and Preferred, California Petroleum and Pierce Oil Preferred also denoted pressure. Changes among the Rails and representative Industrials were slight, but mainly downward. Call money opened at six per cent.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, July 13. — (Canadian Press.) — Sterling exchange weak, Demand 3.63; Canadian Dollars 12 1-4 per cent. discount.

MONTREAL

MONTREAL, July 13.—(Canadian Press.)—The opening of local stock exchange this morning was very quiet. Abitibi was a quarter of a point weaker at 25 1-2 and Brazilian was down a half at 25 1-2. Laurentide was unchanged at 70 1-4.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, July 13.— (Canadian Press.)—Wheat ascended to-day to the highest price touched yet this season by December delivery. Continued excess of heat and dearth of rain were chiefly responsible. Profittaking on the part of holders failed to bring about any lasting downturns. Opening quotations which ranged from 1-4 to 2 cents higher, with September at 1.25 and December 1.28 to 1.29, were followed by a moderate sag, but then by a rise higher than before.

Corn was firmer for the reasons that affected wheat. After opening unchanged to 5-8 cents higher, including September at 62 3-4 to 63 cents, the market scored moderate gains all around.

Oats took the same course as other cereals, starting 3-8 to 1-2 cents higher, September 39 7-8 to 40 cents, and then hardening still more.

Despite the weakness of hog values provisions averaged little higher with grain.

TORONTO

TORONTO, July 13.—(Canadian Press).—Fairly heavy trading in Brazilian this morning tended some what towards relieving the quiet monotony that has prevailed on the local stock exchange during the past week. Upwards of 500 shares of this stock changed hands but at the expense of the loss of three quarters of a point, with the last sale at 25 1-4 and otherwise there was but very little feature in the morning session. Wayagamack scored an early advance of 1 point but fell back to 39 on the later sales.

Voice of the People

Editor, Examiner:

Sir,—Regarding the controversy in your paper, let me give you some facts which I know to be absolutely correct.

To be able to sell bakers' flour, the miller must manufacture a flour capable of absorbing practically half its weight in water, which costs practically nothing. This water is not mentioned at all. Further, flour to be sold as a repeater to the bakers must average, say 88 1⅛-pound loaves of bread. Some flours will do better than this, others less, but 88 is a good fair average. Now give the baker all claimed by Mr. Trent and add the water unclaimed and the matter looks entirely different; at 1-5 of a cent profit admitted by Mr. Trent, just figure this up at 20c per 100 loaves. Now I'm sure not a single baker in this town bakes 4000 loaves daily, but grant one this, and he has a net profit of $8.00 per day. Other bakers would go as low as, conservatively, 1,500, which makes $3.00 per day. Now who believes such figures to be correct?

TO EXTEND HARVEST RATES TO UNEMPLOYED ON COAST

OTTAWA, July 13.—The Minister of Labor says the department intended to make the usual arrangements with the railways to take men at reduced rates from eastern points for harvest work on the prairies. The department also intend this year to relieve the unemployment situation in British Columbia, by arranging similar facilities for men out there to reach the Prairie Provinces and return after the harvesting and threshing are over.

LLANDOVERY CASTLE WRECKERS ON TRIAL

GERMAN U-BOAT OFFICERS MUST ANSWER CHARGE

ALLEGED THEY FIRED ON LIFE-BOATS AFTER TORPEDOING CANADIAN HOSPITAL SHIP LLANDOVERY CASTLE.

TRIAL IS IN BEHALF OF GERMAN PROSECUTOR

LEIPZIG, Germany, July 13. — (Canadian Press.) — Two German submarine lieutenants, Ludwig Dittmar and Johann Boldt, were placed on trial here yesterday in Supreme Court, charged with murder in the first degree for firing on lifeboats after torpedoing the Canadian hospital ship, Landovery Castle, in the summer of 1918.

The case differs from the others which have been heard by the court in connection with the charges growing out of violations of civilized warfare in as much as the proceedings are in behalf of the German public prosecutor. Great Britain had demanded only the trial of Commander Patsig of the submarine which torpedoed the hospital ship, who fled the country, but the tribunal, after examining the evidence, ordered the trial of Dittmar and Boldt.

HATFIELD NEARER OBJECTIVE, BUT PRAYS FOR RAIN BEFORE FRIDAY

LETHBRIDGE, July 13.—(Special despatch to the Examiner.—Hatfield is still on the job. Monday night he produced another tenth of an inch of rain in Medicine Hat while throughout his district theer were showers varying greatly from light sprinkles to downpours. None of them lasted more than an hour.

The rain maker has 3.46 inches of the 4 he needs, leaving im only .54 inch to get. He has 19 days to do it in. One good rain and he would reach his objective. If hot weather has anything to do in helping Mr. Hatfield to induce rain he surely has been getting all the help in the world the past week. Last Friday the Medicine Hat thermometer broke all records for the year with 98 in the shade and all week the mercury has been ranging in the nineties. California weather such as Hatfield has been used to should help put him over the top for the final half inch. Hatfield is praying that this will come before Friday when he meets the farmers association in Medicine Hat to decide whether his services are needed next year or whether he will draw the blue envelope.

HAWKER KILLED IN ALIGHTING

HOLDER OF WORLD'S ALTITUDE RECORD FOR 1916 AND THE FIRST MAN TO ATTEMPT TO FLY ACROSS ATLANTIC.

LONDON, July 13.— (Canadain Press.)—Harry G. Hawker, famous aviator, was killed on Hendon Flying Field yesterday. His machine burst into flames as it alighted on the field.

Hawker achieved fame in May, 1919, when he attempted a trans-Atlantic flight from the Canadian coast to Ireland, but failed, his machine falling into the water in mid-ocean. He was rescued by the Danish steamer Maria. On his return to Great Britain he was decorated by King George.

The trans-Atlantic crossing was achieved a month later by Capt. Sir John Alcock, who himself died in December, 1919 as a result of injuries received in a crash to earth near Cottevrard, France.

The proverbial luck of Harry G. Hawker had been the subject of comment. It remained with him for many years as an experimental and test flyer, from which it was said he received not less than a hundred thousand pounds yearly. He held many of the old time aeroplane records, among them the world's altitude record in 1916 of more than twenty-four thousand feet.

YUKON TERRITORY IN "WET" COLUMN

VOTES TO IMPORT LIQUOR FOR BEVERAGE PURPOSES.

DAWSON, Y.T., July 13.—(Canadian Press).—The Yukon Territory voted in favor of importation of liquor for beverage purposes. Dawson City gave the "wets" a majority of 90. Creek polls and White Horse City gave a heavy majority for the "wets" and outlying polls still to be heard from cannot reverse this majority. The total returns yesterday give the "wets" more than two to one. In February, 1920, the territory voted down the sale of liquor within its boundaries.

INVENTED FIRST REAPING MACHINE

Cyrus H. McCormick made the first succesbsful reaper. He built it as a boy without his father's knowing it and tried it out one fall. It was not entirely a success, but he made some changes and tried it again. Finally in 1831 he made his first successful reaper, says Farm and Fireside. He kept on making improvements and in 1834 had a machine good enough to patent. He offered them for sale for $30 apiece, but no one would buy. Finally in 1839 he invited a lot of farmers to see it work. It cut two acres an hour. That was really wonderful in those days, but still no one would buy it. The next year, 1840, a man at Egppt, Va., bought the first machine and paid $30 for it. It worked, and faith in the new invention began to spread.

RUMOR HOGARTH HAS RESIGNED

PORT ARTHUR EXPECTS PROVINCIAL BY-ELECTION BUT FERGUSON MAY TRY TO BLOCK RESIGNATION.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., July 13.—A local by-election is anticipated in well-informed circles here, it being understood that Big.-Gen. D. M. Hogarth, who has represented this riding in the provincia llegislature for six sessions past, has placed his resignation in the hands of the Conservative leader. It is thought probable, however, that Howard Ferguson will spare no effort to try and dissuade the local member from vacating his seat.

IT'S WONDERFUL, DECLARES NOYES

"TANLAC IS CERTAINLY THE MEDICINE TO MAKE A MAN FEEL LIKE SOMETHING," HE SAYS.

"This is the medicine that built me up so wonderfully nearly three years ago and I think it's the best in the world, 'said James H. Noyes, of 54 Clyde street, Hamilton, Ont. "At the time I began taking Tanlac I was in a badly run-down and very weak condition. I had no appetite and my sleep seemed to do me very little good. I felt tired and worn out all the time, just didn't seem to have a particle of energy, and I always had to be taking something for constipation. My entire system semed to be out of order and I ached and hurt all over.

"I heard so much about Tanlac helping others that I decided to see if it would bring me back to myself. I took three bottles in all, and it put me in shape to where I felt like a brand-new man and I have felt well ever since until a little while back, when I commenced to feel a little run down again. I remembered how Tanlac helped me before, so here I am getting another bottle. It certainly is the medicine to make a fellaw feel like something, and I've always glad to tell others about it."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co. Ltd., in Fowlers Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

ASLEEP, ROLLS DOWN 150 FOOT PRECIPICE

NIAGARA FALLS, July 13.—(Canadian Press).—The body of John Widdop, 51 years old, of Niagara Falls, N.Y. was picked up in Niagara Gorge at the head of Linwood avenue. He had rolled from a bank while asleep according to statement made by Hugh Johnson of this city.

Johnson says that he in company with Widdop and another man whose name he did not know took a nap near the edge of the precipice. When he awakened Widdop was missing and he decided that he had awakened and departed. There is a sheer descent of 150 feet to where the body was found on a bed of weeds and brush.

MAKING 'AMERICAN RAZORS

Germans Building up a Thriving Trade in Safety Models.

BERLIN, July 13.—After the expiration of the basic American safety razor patents, it is estimated that forty German factories will engage in manufacturing "American" safety razors, mostly located in Berlin and Solingen.

The output is now more than 1,000,000 razors and 15,000,000 safety blades annually. This has become an important export article. India was recently reported to be a big buyer.

NEW MARRIAGE LAW EFFECTIVE AFTER OCTOBER

MINISTERS IN ORDER TO SOLEMNIZE MARRIAGE IN THIS PROVINCE MUST BE REGISTERED.

MAY LEAD TO FIGHT OVER STATUS OF SOME

TORONTO, July 13.—(Canadian Press.)—After the first of October, or thereabouts, no clergyman who is not registered with the Provincial authorities and the holders of a certificate of registration, will be permitted to solemnize a marriage in Ontario.

Dr. J. W. S. McCullough, Provincail Officer of Health, stated yesterday that legislation to this effect, passed last session, would be brought into effect about October 1 by proclamation and that in the meantime any religious bodies recognized by la was qualified under the marriage laws should have their members registered.

Registration of clergymen and others is likely to lead to a sharp argument as to the status of certain religious sects or cults. The Department, according to Dr. McCullough, will adhere strictly to the apparent meaning of the law on the statute books and this interpretation will shut out a number of minor religious bodies.

Under the old law, which dates back to pre-Confederation days, "ministers and clergymen of every church and religious denomination duly ordered or appointed according to the rites and ceremonies of the church," had the right to solemnize marriage. This was interpreted to mean recognized churches, Roman Catholic, Anglican, Methodist, Presbyterian, Baptist, Congregationalist and Jewish church. Later the Act was amended to cover the Salvation Army of Disciples, Farrington Independents, Brethren and Society of Friends.

CRAIG PUTS ONUS ON SINN FEIN; ORANGEMEN ASK HIM TO REFRAIN FROM ENTERING PEACE PARLEYS

LONDON ORANGE ORDER CHARACTERIZES NEGOTIATIONS AS "TRAFFICKING WITH TRAITORS."

BELFAST DEMONSTRATION IS MARKED BY CLASHES

BELFAST, July 13.— (Canadian Press.)—The comparative calmness with which the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne was celebrated here was not attributed particularly by observers to the truce in Ireland, the promulgation of which was met with a mixed reception here.

Hospitals were kept busy all day as a result of clashes, and the death roll was added to by the shooting of a youth in the Falls district by a sniper. York street, where the rival forces intermingle as nowhere else in the city, simmered with excitement until a late hour.

Police, both regular and specials, have been disarmed throughout the province and specials in civilian garb have been dispensed with, where they did not resign on being deprived of their revolvers.

LONDON, July 13. — (Canadian Press.)—At the Orange celebration yesterday, at Hillsborough, a resolution was passed calling on Sir James Craig's government to disassociate yourselves from the action of the Imperial government in trafficking with traitors and setting a premium on disloyalty, murder and outrage."

Sir James Craig at Finaghy declared: "I no longer am James Craig, except to my friends, but to those who tamper with Ulster rights I am Prime Minister of Northern Ireland."

"The way of peace is in our own hands and their own hands only. The way of peace is impossible without these murderers first coming to their senses and stopping murder. All onus lies upon them."

ITALY SWEPT BY LOVE TRAGEDIES

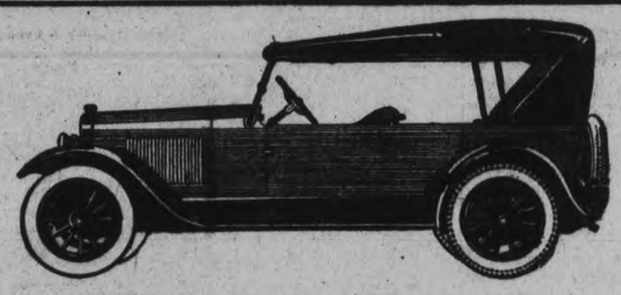
ONLY TWO FREE TRADERS LEFT

SO COLE SAYS WHEN HE PRESENTS TREATISE ON SUBJECT TO DRURY AT PORT ARTHUR

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., July 13.—There are only two simon-pure free traders left between Halifax and Vancouver and between Lake Erie and the Arctic Circle, according to A. E. Cole, a lawyer of this city, ing in the provincial legislature for ael,' a real one in the Horatian task of defending the bridge that Adam Smith built against the barbarous attacks of the hordes of capitalistic protectionists.

In presenting a copy of his treaties on free trade to Premier Drury, he asseverated that the doctrine of Laishez-Faire was an infallible panacea for all the ills that human flesh is heir to, even from insomnia to insanity. He further expressed the pious hope that the perusal of his book would lead the Premier back into the folds of free trade, but Mr. Drury laughingly retorted that he had never strayed from the ranks of the economically enlightened.



Chalmers Owners Know Its Wonderful Value

Chalmers owners know that they drive a wonderful car. They do not hesitate to say so.

They have found that its remarkable performance is accomplished at exceedingly economical upkeep charges.

Repair Costs Low

These are held down by the infrequency of extensive repairs and replacements. The Chalmers stays out of the repair shop longer and renders steady, reliable service.

This makes its value greater and adds to the owner's enthusiasm.

The exceptional performance of the wonderful Chalmers motor is aided by pre-heating the fuel mixture with the hot-spot.

Fine Motor Performance

As a result, more power is obtained from less fuel. Combustion is better. The explosions are more powerful. Acceleration is faster. Carbon is reduced.

But it is not the fine motor performance alone that pleases our owners.

They also place high value on the beauty of the Chalmers and its marked comfort and convenience.

You should know the superiority of the Chalmers in order to buy a car wisely. You can learn that superiority in a Chalmers demonstration.

A MERITED TRIBUTE.

The citizens' banquet tendered to Rev. Father Phelan last evening was a tribute that has been richly merited. Father Phelan's keen interest in public welfare movements and in all matters that were for the betterment of Peterborough has not gone unnoticed or unappreciated by his fellow citizens and last evening's gathering afforded an opportunity for a public expression of the general appreciation of the services rendered by the guest of honour. The complimentary references to Father Phelan's work in Peterborough were sincere and earnest and will be echoed by citizens generally of all classes and creeds who in reluctantly saying good-bye to Father Phelan will wish him every success in his new sphere of endeavour and congratulate the town of Campbellford upon its good luck in adding to its citizenship a personality with so much influence for good.

INVERLEA PARK.

Conditions at Inverlea Park, as described by the Examiner last night, call for action by the City Council. The Nicholls Park Board are in no way responsible. The structure used as a dressing room for bathers was built by the Board for other purposes, but was placed at the service of the citizens for use as a bathing house, the members recognizing the great need of such an accommodation at Inverlea. It has been a boon to many bathers, but the trouble is that swimming has gained such a vogue in Peterborough that the building is utterly inadequate. It is too small, unventilated, hard to keep clean. As a makeshift it served its purpose, but the time has come to replace this small shed by a proper bathing house. There is no question as to the need of such a building; nor is there any doubt that properly planned dressing rooms would be self-sustaining or largely so. It is too late to accomplish much this year, but the establishment of an adequate building should be included in next year's programme of civic activities.

SAFETY FIRST.

In Hamilton Bay on Monday evening two young women were drowned when their canoe was upset by the swells of a passing launch. The accident is one that might easily be duplicated on the Otonabee, for it is said that launches without lights dash up and down the river after dark and that canoeists are not only in danger from the wash of the power boats, but are taking the risk of being run down by these craft. The regulations require not only launches, but canoes, to carry lights, but many frequenters of the river are ignoring the law in this respect, regardless of their own safety or that of others. For their own protection, canoeists should equip their craft with the light called for by the regulations, while owners of motor boats who drive their launches after dark without the necessary illumination should have thier attention officially called to their carelessness. Fortunately there have been no serious accidents, but it is too much to hope that mishaps can be always averted if ordinary precautions are not being taken by canoeists and launch owners.

HARRY HAWKER.

The announcement of the death in England through an aeroplane accident, of Harry Hawker, the aviator whose spectacular attempt to fly across the Atlantic made him a world famous personage, will be received with general regret. Hawker's sensational effort to win the ocean flight for Great Britain, which culminated in a drop into the sea, the disappearance of himself and his companion, Commander Grieve, for over a week while the world regarded him as dead, and finally in their rescue by a Danish tramp steamer, made his name a household one even in days when people had grown accustomed to heroic deeds and unusual exploits on land, on the water and in the air. It seems a cruel prank of fate that Hawker, after escaping unhurt from his perilous attempt to fly across the Atlantic, should finally meet death in a simple flight which he undertook as unconcernedly as the average person walks across a street. He was of the type that has made the British Empire what it is to-day.

FACING FURTHER UNEMPLOYMENT.

Fear is being felt that next winter will see more widespread unemployment than has yet prevailed. Is it possible to organise now steps for meeting the situation in a practical way? Among those who believe it is, is Canon Scott of Quebec, who was Senior Chaplain of the First Canadian Division, and whose deep interest in public questions is well known. Canon Scott thinks the public authorities and the business and industrial firms should work out plans for providing as much useful work as possible next winter. Urging attention to the matter, he says:

"In the woods thousands of shantymen will have no work. In the cities factory hands and disabled returned soldiers will have to be looked after. They cannot be allowed to starve. The problem is one of such vast proportions that the churches and charitable organisations cannot grapple with it. Everyone says, 'Something ought to be done,' and there the matter ends. What we need is for the big men of the country, the men who control big enterprises and understand the principles of finance, to get together and tackle the question with the same living interest and broad outlook as they would were they entering into a contract with the Government for the carrying out of some scheme of huge national importance. Each Province has surely some public work to be undertaken sooner or later, such as roads, canals, forest clearing, development of water power, etc., etc., the carrying out of which would lead to the permanent enrichment of the country and would in time recoup the Government for the expenditure. Such works would give employment to thousands of men and tide us over a crisis. I am not qualified to say how such a scheme could be carried out. I am pleading for the Government to take up the matter and get the big finaciers busy and see what can be done. When the war was on, ways and means were found for meeting the emergency. The suffering of the unemployed is surely a strong enough appeal to our national sympathy to call out the resources of the Government and the co-operation of the public. It is a big national question, and it will take big minds to settle it. The ultimate riches of Canada will be a good security for the funds raised."

There are undoubtedly large undertakings that will have to be performed a few years hence and that might be done in advance of pressing necessity for them. It is a courageous municipal council and Provincial or Dominion Government, however, that will proceed with large public works under conditions that would make the capital cost much greater than it should be. If the capital cost of public works is excessive, the carrying costs and the costs of operation will be correspondingly high. The future generation that must help pay these costs would be taxed for the maintenance of the unemployed of to-day. Is it right that it should be?

It cannot be overlooked, too, that where work is undertaken at the public expense for the purpose of giving employment, those whose distress is thereby relieved seem to feel very little obligation toward making the work economical. There is generally more costly waste of time in works on such undertakings than anywhere else.

The matter is one for serious consideration however. Canon Scott does well to appeal to private interests as well as to the public authorities, for such arrangements might be made by planning in advance that employment could be given in certain industries without too great lack of ecenomy. And at the same time those who are out of work or who will be out of work should understand, that in a period of hard times and idle industry is not the time for agitation for high wages.—Ottawa Journal.

MOTOR FATALITIES.

It begins to look as though 1921 was going back on the good record made in the early months of the year when automobile fatalities were considerably reduced from the 1919 and 1920 figures. The Safety League reports a total of five motor deaths in Toronto for June, 1921, which is the same figure as June, 1920. The total for the preceding five months in 1921 was twelve, or seventeen in all for the first six months of the year. This compares favourably, however, with the figures of the preceding two years, as there were twenty-seven automobile fatalities in 1920 and twenty in the first half of 1919. These figures are particularly interesting in view of the large increase year by year in automobiles registered.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Being senographer for Hon. W. E. Raney is not our idea of a sinecure.

It is a dull day when either the Attorney-General or Mayor Church hasn't a letter in the newspapers.

King George promises to live in history as the Peacemaker, even as his Royal father was called.

At all events this weather knocks the bottom out of the old joke about Canada's year consisting of nine months' winter and three months' por sleighing.

Lookng at a thermometer these days is almost like opening a dunning letter—you are afraid to read the figures.

The Hydro Radial Commission's report will be ready in two weeks. That is the first sign of speed in connection with the inquiry.

Kingston was 248 years old yesterday. No wonder the Limestone City is a slow-moving sort of place.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

Many follow the call of the wild on city pavements.

Let's call it the efheat cast, remarks The Winnipeg Free Press. We'll say so.

The woman who says she has nothing to wear is sure to be fashionably dressed.

"When I was a boy", said the gray-haired physician, "I wanted to be a soldier, but my parents persuaded me to study medicine."

'Oh, well," rejoined the sympathetic druggist "such is life. Many a man with wholesale aspirations has to content himself with a retail business."

You do not have to go to a circus to see strange sights. At noon we saw a girl with both ears completely exposed.

The doctors of Canada are to meet in Winnipeg next year at their annual convention. Winnipeg may secure more visitors than the doctors if the city can induce the medicos to bring along their prescription pads.

"There's a bump on your chest" said the tailor, pausing in his measurements, "but that's all right. We'll make the clothes so you'll never realize the bump is there.

"I know you will", sighed the customer, 'that bump is my pocketbook in an inside pocket."

Dempsey has drawn the color line again by refusing to meet Jack Johnson. Last time it was by discriminating against khaki.

AN UNWELCOME CALLER
CHAPTER 9

The next morning before 9 o'clock the telephone bell rang furiously. I rushed eagerly to it, and my hopes were rewarded by the sound of Kent's voice on the wire.

"I'm back, safe and sound, dear, train just got in. Are you all right? Did you miss me?" he asked all in one breath.

"Oh, I'm so glad to hear your voice, Kent," I told him. "All right—hurry home to-night."

I rang off, and then remembered I had forgotten to speak about calling up the office and telling Mr. Blake about his going to Philadelphia. It bothered me. I hoped it would not make things awkward for Kent. After all a women hasn't much business sense, I thought disconcertedly.

I had sat down to look over my accounts and plan what marketing I would have to do when the bell rang. I answered it, and to my utter surprise found Tom Barney standing at the door.

"Why, Tom!" I exclaimed as I opened the door for him.

"You don't look over-joyed to see me," he said sarcastically.

I did not like his remark and I did not like the idea of his coming to the apartment. He had never dared to do that before. I did not answer him, and he followed me into the living room.

"Do you know where Kent was last night?" he asked, looking at me narrowly.

The insolence of his question made me boil.

"You are rude, to say the least," I told him, trying my best to control my feelings. "Kent always tells me where he goes" I said, acridly.

His lips had that unpleasant, curling spear on them. "Yes, I supposed you would know," he returned, twisting his meaning. "Perhaps there is some reason why you don't care to tell me Of course—if you're hiding anything—" he added, with a little forced laugh.

His manner was growing more unbearable by the minute. Something of the woman's intuition made me suspicious of his motives. I wanted to tell him that Kent had been in Philadelphia on business, and that I had known all about it. I had the wife's instinct to exonerate Kent and make Tom understand that everything was all right between us. But a strange something kept me from answering. It was evident that he had come to me to obtain information, and I determined that he would not get it, if I could help it.

Tom had a subtle little way of trying to pretend that he understood me. At times it had flattered my vanity, but now it only made me dislike him, and roused my suspicions.

"That's all right, Barbara, don't tell me. I understand how you feel. I only thought—" he terminated the sentence with a shrug of his shoulders and picked up his hat from the table, "—if I can do anything for you—anytime—" he added.

"You'd better talk to Kent," I said cooly. "He is at the office now, if you wish to speak to him."

At the door he caught my hand and held it for a second until I pulled it from him, crimson with rage. Perhaps he hoped to pacify me with his distasteful fawning manner.

"I'm sorry if I have offended you. I only hoped I might help you—and Kent," he added. "I have an awkward way of doing things. I suppose I should not have come. I might have known you would misunderstand me." He looked up and smiled at me enticingly. "I don't suppose it will do any good for you to tell Kent that I was here" he remarked, and then he went out and closed the door softly behind him.

I sat down and tried to think My brain was a mass of confused thoughts. There were certain things that seemed unfathomable. Kent had gone to Philadelphia on business and yet his partner, Mr. Blake, had evidently not been taken into his confidence. I could not understand that. And then, I could not quite understand what Tom Barney's motive had been in coming to my apartment to find out about Kent. It was obvious that he did not know where Kent had been. He would have referred to it in some way, I knew.

As I thought things over I arrived at one conclusion—I decided not to tell Kent of Tom's visit. I hated to deceive him in any way, and it was the first time I had ever been called upon to do such a thing. But now some strange, compelling force told me not to tell him of my caller. Tomorrow—Kent Refuses to Explain.

any desire to impugn the motives or good intentions of those adopting the new positions ;the point is that a difference of a vital and fundamental character has thus developed, whether regarded from the "Conservative" or "Liberal" point of view. It is too late, therefore, to utter warnings against introducing a new line of cleavage in the Christian body of China. That has already been brought about.

The other side was put with welcome clearness and frankness by Prof. George Jackson, when he said that "the battle of Old Testament Criticism has been fought and won" by the critics, and that the critical view has been long accepted "by all progressive students of Scripture." Yet only the other day the Dean of Canterbury, one of the ablest of scholars and thinkers, read a paper on "The Old Testament and the Present State of Criticism," and took a position the exact contrary of that maintained by Prof. Jackson. Here are the Dean's words, which, coming from so prominent a man and so eminent a scholar, cannot be ignored or set aside:

It is less than honest for persons in authority, professors and Deans and even Bishops, to be treating the results of the German criticism of the Pentateuch as presented, for instance, by the late Dr. Driver, as having been definitely established. On the contrary, scholars of the highest position both at home, on the continent, and in America, are not only maintaining a strenuous opposition to these complicated and artificial theories, but are urging, on broad historical grounds, the substantial truth of the traditional belief.

In the light of what was quoted in this column last week from a Cambridge scholar, himself a critic, it is evident that the battle has not yet been "won" by the critical side. Twenty-five years ago Sir George Adam Smith somewhat rashly said that the victory had been won by the critical school and all that remained was to "fix the indemnity." But it was not so very long before he made the significant admission that certain matters which were supposed to be settled and closed twenty years before were still open. Ordinary Christian people will therefore, feel a great reluctance in believing that the critical view of the Bible is correct. On the contrary, the latest and best scholarship tends to confirm the essential conservative position.

What is the true function of the Church? How far can it take part in social, economic and political matters? Have the clergy the special and accurate knowledge necessary to the settlement of the many problem of to-day? One of the most accurate observers of modern Church life in England recently expressed himself thus; and his words deserve consideration whether we agree with him or not:

For my part I have no hesitation in asserting that the Church has drifted into neglect of its proper job by indulging in speculations on politics, economics, every other thing found in the daily Press, to the neglect of preaching Christ and Him crucified. The average man knows that there is no certitude in the panaceas put forward in the political and social world; he sees that the Bishops and leaders who talk so eloquently are no wiser than the leading article writer whose opinions are not always consistent and he inevitably come to the conclusion that his religion is equally insecure. We shall not have a genuine revival of real, forceful, convincing Christianity until al those who are ordained to the Ministry of the Word and Sacrament know what they are talking about as heralds of the Cross. Any organization that steps aside from its real work must expect to pay the price. We all find in private life that if we neglect our business it will soon leave us, and the same is true of the Church.

NOW IS TIME TO SPRAY POTATO CROP

Spray potatoes before late blight appears. Once blight has appeared, spraying is no value. Spraying once is almost as useless as not spraying at all.

Spray five times, commencing about the middle of July; repeat end of July, middle of August, end of August and middle of September.

Spray before rainy periods; once the spray mixture has thoroughly dried on the leaves it will not wash off.

Spray from the tops down and from below us. Use good pressure, cover the whole plant. Half spraying will not pay; don't waste your time and money proving it; experimental farms have already proved it.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

HIGHER CRITICISM.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—The immense importance of the summing-up of the position to date of higher criticism by the well-known writer, 'Tertius," in Saturday's Globe, justifies me, I think, in asking you to publish it.

Since the war the great basic instrument and principle of progress, Jesus Christ Himself, has been set at naught in religion, morals and the general business and conduct of mankind by Christians themselves. But the madness of the world has dashed itself against the wall sooner than expected and the revolutionary attempt to dethrone God Himself as moral governor of the universe has come or is rapidly coming to its end. Even those who, like myself, "make no pretences" had become alarmed by the mad attempt to thrown down ideals and to erect human idols in their stead. The great principles of religion and morals are susceptible of fulfilment, but not of damage. Once again we have been forced to bend our stubborn wills and acknowledge the power and providence of the ruler of all things and of all peoples.

J. H. BURNHAM.

The article from the Globe follows:—It is curious that two diametrically opposite views of Bibical criticism have been expressed in Toronto during the last week. They obviously cannot both be right, and readers will have to consider which of the two positions is the true one The Rev. Paul Rader, fresh from his tour round the world spoke in very strong terms against sending men of higher critical views to the mission field. He maintained that such a position nullified the effects of the Gospel. It so happens that Mr. Raders' opinion has just received an impressive confirmation from one of the ablest, quietest and most balanced men in the mission field, Mr. D. E. Hoste of Shanghai the Director of the China Inland Mission In a paper just published he gives his reasons for joining the new organization, the Bible Union for China, which has been created by missionaries themselves as a protest and a rallying-point against critical tendencies. This is how Mr. Hoste puts the matter:

It must be evident to thoughtful observers whatever their particular school of theological thought, that, during the past two decades while denominational distinctions have been diminishing a new and deeper line of cleavage has been growing in the missionary body through the change of attitude on the part of a considerable number of its members toward the authority of the Bible and of the great doctrines it sets forth, concerning Sin and Redemption. The division thus made is different in character from those separating denominations the latter, to a large extent being due to varying interpretations of the Scriptures; while the other arises from a new and different attitude toward the Scriptures themselves. That is to say, positions which used to be held and which many of us still hold to be essential to Christian faith have been departed from; it being, to that extent, virtually acknowledged that the attacks on the Bible and Christian doctrine made in former days by their avowed enemies, were justified. These statements are made without

SLEPT WITH REVOLVER BENEATH HIS PILLOW

Gun Discharges Bullet into Boy's Side.

KINGSTON, July 13.—With a bullet in his body, just below the heart, 14-year-old Willie Kearns lies in Hotel Dieu Hospital here in a precarious condition as the result of sleeping with a revolver under his pillow. Invited by youthful companions, John Carr, aged 15 and Alexander Carr, aged 13 to sleep in their yard this hot weather on a few blankets little Kearns did so, but unknown to the other lads he took with him a .22 revolver, which he placed beneath his pillow. Turning over on his side, preparatory to getting up the next morning he in some manner struck the revolver which discharged its only bullet in the magazine into his body. There are hopes for his recovery.

NEARLY 3,000 IN JAIL IN IRELAND

ABOUT SAME NUMBER ARE IN INTERMENT CAMPS.

DUBLIN, July 13.—More than 3,000 Irishmen and women are in internment camps, and almost as many more in jail under sentence or awaiting trial, or held for other reasons. The estimate of military authorities as to the numbers who ought to be interned runs, if rumor is to be credited, into tens of thousands.

The chief military operation in Ireland is a round-up. Dublin has furnished several examples. Large areas of the city have been from time to time segregated. Nobody is allowed in or out till a thorough search has been made of the houses, and till all the men in the district have been cross-examined. Sometimes these searches of a district in Dublin have lasted a couple of days. Every day on a smaller scale something of the same kind is in progress.

Apart from detailed search of city districts there is every day a constant search on chance of persons in the streets. Anybody at any hour may be called upon to submit to search, and have examined the papers he is carrying. The thing has become so usual that no ordinary citizen minds it. It is all in the day's life. In spite of all this activity, attacks on the Crown forces continue. Not a day passes without the sound of the bomb and the revolver somewhere in Dublin, and the Republicans seem to possess more war material than before the searches.

Simultaneously with the round-ups in Dublin, there have been, particularly in the martial law areas, similar round-ups in the country. Cordons are drawn round the portion of a countryside to be search, and the houses and the persons in them put through strict examination. Such raids have often taken place on Sundays, presumably to cause as little interference as possible with ordinary business.

Churches both in Dublin and the country are watched as the congregations leave, and searches made of suspected persons. Protestant church congregations have not escaped.

Within the last few weeks or two the country raids have been more extensive and more prolonged, and cavalry regiments have taken part in them. Hundreds of persons have been swept into the net, but in the great majority of cases the arrests are only for a short time. Men who can give a satisfactory account of themselves and are clearly not members of the Republican army are let go at once. If there is any doubt the order is, "Throw him in the lorry!" The cases are then sifted in detail and large numbers released. The rest go to the internment camps or are held for possible trial.

Internment cases rarely exceed about 70 a week, and there are from time to time releases from internment. Sometimes captured men are put into identification parades. Men who have carried out an ambush are looked for by the victims of the ambushes.

A large increase of the troops in July has been predicted. The Sinn Fein has been preparing for it. The distribution of the troops requires housing accommodation. The Sinn Fein's intelligence department calculates where they are likely to be stationed, and the houses they are supposed to intend to occupy are set on fire. This chiefly accounts for the destruction recently of mansions all over Ireland. Some of them, no doubt, are destroyed in reprisal for the burning of Sinn Fein houses by military order. But the main motive in many cases is to hamper future military activities.

It is officially declared by the Sinn Fein to be their policy to destroy buildings about to be commandeered for use as block houses or temporary barracks. It is a danger to a house to have the military making inquiries about the accommodation it can afford.

The constant trenching of roads, now so frequent that the average motorist always carries planks in his car to help him over obstructions, is stated by Sinn Fein to be to frustrate British attempts to re-establish their communications.

Dear Peggy,

Now spit up,— what's happened? Has Jack proposed, or Les your pet kitten fallen down the well?

I had a pink tea the other day— out under the big apple tree. And it was just as sporting as those things usually are. But Hazel Jacobs did say provided a little spice near the end. He is such a big overgrown boy, isn't he!

Well, the prize at this little tea was a bottle of Compania Italian Balm. The price dear lady thought I was crazy at first but she phoned me this morning to say it was marvellous stuff, and had made her work-worn hands real smooth and white already!

Mil gracias, señorita.

PEARL FISHING IN EEL'S CREEK A NEW INDUSTRY

SUMMER STORY FROM APSLEY HAS TOUCH OF ROMANCE AND MUCH DOUBT—CHURCH PICNIC IN DOWNPOUR OF RAIN.

APSLEY, July 12.—St. George's Church picnic, held on Mrs. Grant's ground July 8th, was highly successful and was attended by a large crowd. The village presented a festive appearance, being lavishly decorated with streamers and flags for the occasion. A tremendous thunderstorm and hurricane broke over the village just as dinner was being concluded, and a rush was made for the shelter of the large tent which had been kindly loaned by Messrs. J. J. Turner. Several trees were blown down, fences carried away, but, hanpily, nothing more serious occurred.

The two chief features of the afternoon's programme were the mile race for the championship of Chandos and Anstruther Townships, and the football match between Apsley and Purdeyville.

Five contestants entered for the mile race. Vernal Windsor, the winner last year, Charles Smith, Rex Spence, George Kilburn and George Rosebush. Kilburn took the lead at the start, but on the second lap had to give way to Smith, and retired on the 4th lap. Rosebush dropped out on the 2nd lap. Smith kept first place, until the fourth lap, when Windsor, running strong, passed him and Spence, and won by four yards. Time, 4 3-4 minutes.

The football match, refereed by Rev. Daniels, Methodist minister at Coe Hill, resulted in a victory for Apsley by 4 goals to none. Stanley Windsor scored two goals in the first half and Charles Smith two in the second. The second half was played in a steady downpour of rain. The weather cleared about four o'clock, and other sports were put on.

Stanley Windsor won the 200 yards and Vernal Windsor the high jump, and Eddie Everett succeeded in climbing the greasy pole.

The Girl Guides wound up the programme with a Maypole dance and hoop drill, after which addresses were given by the Ven. Archdeacon Davidson, Rev. W. Hall, Methodist minister at Apsley; Rev. G. L. Hughes, of Young's Point; Rev. G. G. Stone, of Wilberforce, and Rev. C. Spence.

The bird-house competition, open to all the schools in the two townships, only produced eleven entries, nine being from S.S. No. 8, Chandos, and two from S.S. No. 6, Glenalda. The houses were judged by Archdeacon Davidson and Miss Grant, who awarded first prize to Ernest Tanner and second to Phyllis Tanner, both S.S. No. 8.

The proceedings ended with an entertainment and dance in the Parish Room. The total proceeds amounted to $173.50. The Rev. C. A. G. Spence desires to thank most cordially Messrs. J. J. Turner and Sons for the loan of tent and flags; Mr. A. E. Dawson, of Lakefield, for a donation of $5; the Rev. W. Hall for assistance in the sports; Stanley and Vernal Windsor, Charles Smith, for assistance in decorating and preparing the grounds; Mrs. Jones, for ice cream; the visiting clergy, for their support; the ladies, for baking and serving tables, and everyone who, by their attendance, contributed to the day's success.

65 Years An Orangeman.

The local Orangemen, L.O.L. No. 1072, held their annual church parade to St. George's Church on Sunday afternoon, the sermon being preached by the Rev. C. A. G. Spence, who, in his welcome, referred to the presence of at least two of the original members of the Lodge, John Lean, 80 years old, who has been an Orangeman sixty-five years, and Isaac Lean, 75, who for over fifty years has belonged to the Order.

Tourist Visitors.

The influx of summer visitors has commenced. The following registered at the Union Hotel: Dr. Kent, Ohio; G. G. Kent, Detroit; A. M. Lewin, Carl Sherman, Abe Panina, Harry Lipschitz, John Niblee, K. Scheety, all of Buffalo; Mr. and Mrs. Hilton and family, of Virginia, arrived last week at their summer residence on Loon Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Tanner and Mr. Hinchcliffe, Peterborough, are visiting friends in Chandos.

Archdeacon Davidson's Work.

The Ven. Archdeacon Davidson spent four days last week in the Apsley Mission on a tour of inspection, visiting Owenbrook, Purdeyville, Lasswade. St. Paul's, Lasswade, held their annual picnic on Wednesday, and the Archdeacon addressed a large gathering there as well as at the Apsley picnic, besides speaking at St. George's Church on Tuesday evening. The excessive heat made his labors doubly strenuous.

Mr. Hardill, of Peterborough, representing Rishors, Limited, made his one hundred and sixty-first business trip to Apsley last week. Apsley as a business centre for the north country evidently has its attractions.

Pearls in Eel's Creek.

The latest industry to develop here is pearl hunting, several residents claiming that they have found specimens in clam shells that abound in Eel's Creek and the nearby lakes. It's a pleasant pastime anyway during the hot weather.

WATER CONSUMERS MORE CAREFUL ABOUT COUNTING FIXTURES NOW

NEW RATES ARE IN EFFECT, BILLS ARE BEING DELIVERED AND PAID—ARE CHARGED FOR TWO MONTHS' SERVICE INSTEAD OF THREE.

Those of Peterborough's citizens who have been looking eagerly forward to receiving their bills for water with the increased rates specified thereon, and haven't yet received same, need not be disappointed. They will receive their bills in due time, if they just wait long enough. The large map at the office of the Utilities Commission, which shows the city divided into numbered sections, explains the matter quite satisfactorily. The bills are sent out according to sections, and No. 1 happens to be in East City. Therefore this part of the city is favored with the first instalment of accounts, and it takes two months to work around and down to the last section near the Exhibition Grounds.

According to the officials at the Commission's office, no complaints whatever have been received from those citizens appearing to pay their increased water rates. The only noticeable difference is in regard to reporting absence of fixtures charged for. In times gone by, there was a good deal of absent-mindedness manifested with regard to reporting extra fixtures or taps which might have been added from time to time, but now people are coming in to tell the Commissioners about things they haven't got in their houses, in connection with the use of water.

Two Month Periods Now.

A system similar to that in use for sending out bills for electric power has been inaugurated for the water rates. They will be issued every two months now, instead of every three months, as in the past, and accounts for light and water will be recorded on the same bill, payable at the same time. Thus, one may see at a glance just how far one is indebted to the Utilities Commission every two months for the use of light and water. This system makes the increase in water rates appear to the casual observer somewhat less than anticipated, as it is calculated on the two months' basis, instead of the old three months' system, but a slight figuring with paper and pencil reveals the fact that the increased remains at the stated figure, somewhere around 81.3.

A comparison of some of the old accounts with the increased rates works out as follows, from actual bills sent out: A tenant who used to pay $1.42 for three months' use of water, now pays $1.71 for two months, in a six-roomed house; $1.34 for three months is now $1.61 for two; $1.75 becomes $2.12; $5.75 is increased to $7.22; $2.83 to $3.95, in a seven-roomed establishment: $1.08 to $1.32, $1.25 to $1.51; $1.91 to $2.32, $2.34 to $2.83, and $1.83 to $2.22.

PREDICT VICTORY FOR GREEK FORCES

GENERAL POUPOULAS EXPECTS KEMALISTS WILL BE SMASHED.

SMYRNA, July 13.—(Associated Press).—A complete victory of the Hellenic arms over the Kemalists of Turkey in the next offensive was predicted today by Major General Anastasios Papoulas, the Commander-in-Chief of the Greek forces in Anatolia.

His army, he declared, had been enormously strengthened since the repulse at Eskishehr, and only by pure chance could the Turks now be successful. He further stated that his troops outnumbered the Kemalists by almost three to one and that his army was so mobile that it could attack at any point along the 500-kilometer front.

The Greek generalissimo, whose appearance suggests the old civil war type of soldier, received the correspondent in the ancient Turkish barracks overlooking Smyrna harbor. He had just finished admonishing a group of officers, telling them that they must put aside factional political feelings, think only of the good of their country and leave politics to Athens. He exhorted them that they must consider themselves as fathers and brothers to their men, and be true to their duty to God and the King.

General Papoulas is about 65 years old, of commanding physique and impressive features and with a great charm of manner. He has been a soldier for 30 years and is held in great affection and esteem by his men.

"We are anxious to show the world that this time we can crush the Turk if given a fair chance," said the General sanguinely. "Our soldiers are impatient to begin the fight. Only this moment I received a message from the urging that they be sent forward. We want to put an end to Kemal and his outlaw government.

"Our soldiers seek redress for the lives of their brothers and sisters who have been the victims of Turkish rapacity and murder. Our King is now with us; in his presence our soldiers will find renewed inspiration and strength. Naturally, I cannot say when the offensive will begin, but we are prepared, and I have no fear of the result."

The Greek Commander-in-Chief spoke in high terms of the work of the American Young Men's Christian Association, which, he said, had canteens in all parts of the zone from Smyrna to the front.

"I cannot appraise in words the value of their material aid and moral stimulus to our men. The best appreciation of their devoted work is to be found in the hearts of our soldiers themselves, who look upon America as the protector of the world and the chief bulwark of democracy and humanity," the General declared.

The strength of the Kemalist forces was placed by General Papoulas at between 80,000 and 90,000. He did not believe that they were receiving much assistance from either the Russian Bolsheviki or the Germans. He said he was sure that his own army was given no material aid by the British, as has been frequently asserted; but he knew that the English military observers with the Greek army were kindly disposed and helpful.

WESTERN BUSINESS BETTER.

Good Crop Prospects Reflected in Improved Demand for Goods.

WINNIPEG, July 13.—Rapid maturing of the wheat crop, under the present intense heat, has contributed to business improvement on the prairies in the past week. The Western Provinces are now looking into the question of harvest help. Retail lumber dealers report an unexpected increased demand in rural districts for building material.

While bank collections are reported slow, several insurance companies have resumed loans and dividends to policyholders, which were discontinued during the war. Business, on the whole, throughout the West is improving.

SIR SAM'S HUMBLE, CONTRITE SPIRIT

STILL DESIRES TO SERVE THOSE OF OWN POLITICAL HOUSEHOLD WHO STRUCK HIM A CRUEL BLOW.

The Port Hope Guide has this to say of Sir Sam Hughes' attitude in regard to his political successor:

The veteran warrior and politician, Sir Sam Hughes, recognizes that his illness incapacitates him from rendering service to the public as member for Victoria, and announces his intention to resign under certain conditions. The whole country, regardless of politics, sympathizes with the veteran in his enforced absence from the scene of so many gladiatorial and forensic conflicts. But it does not necessarily follow that the terms under which he is willing to place his resignation in the hands of the Speaker of the House of Commons. Sir Sam desires to see the vacancy that would be caused by his resignation filled without the turmoil of an election, and he suggests that the different political parties shall accept his nominee, Mr. T. H. Stinson, Crown Attorney, of Lindsay, and elect him by acclamation. Of course, Mr. Stinson suits Sir Sam politically. This is where Sir Sam's ruling passion comes in. It is more than likely, however, that the electorate of the County of Victoria may desire to have a voice in the decision as to who shall represent the constituency in the House of Commons. Sir Sam made for himself a place in the political life of the Dominion. In a great crisis in this country, when boundless courage was needed, Sir Sam proved himself to be the man of the hour,—the man in the right place—giving him all the credit that is his due, he eventually reached the point when he was not even allowed to tender his resignation as Minister of Militia, but was ignominiously dismissed from office by Sir Robert Borden. All the reasons that justified this dismissal, and which is almost without precedent in the history of responsible government, were never given to the public. Sir Sam started on his political journey to Damascus, breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the alleged conspiratores who demanded his expulsion from the Cabinet. But second thought revealed the wisdom of adopting a more conciliatory attitude towards his well-know persecutors. He accepted the humiliation of dismissal with every sign of exemplary christian grace and forgiveness. Instead of resenting the drastic action of the Prime Minister he lined up behind the government with a most humble and contrite spirit. And to show that he still desires to serve those of his own political household who struck him such a cruel blow, he desires to bargain that he shall only be succeeded in Victoria by a supporter of the government. The old fighting spirit is under restraint.

Don't think that amateur photographers are pessimists just because they take poor views of life.

CHEAPER AUTOS OF COTTON DRIVEN BY DUST

CHICAGO, July 13.—Automobiles made of cotton and driven by power generated from coal dust are possibilities of the not remote future. Such radical departures in the design of automobiles may not come immediately, but until changes almost as startling are made the automobile business will continue to suffer depression. This is the opinion of Roger W. Babson, head of the statistical organization bearing his name. He says in part:

"The principal factor in the decline of the automobile industry has been the steady increase in the price of gasoline. The car of the future will be run by other fuel. Already the use of coal dust has passed the experimental stage. In my opinion it will be used extensively within a short time. The coal dust is blown into the cylinders under pressure and exploded by a spark. A slight ash is formed which falls out through the bottom of the cylinder—or rather through the top, for the cylinders of the coal dust engine are turned upside down.

"Lighter cars must be manufactured in order to cut down the cost of manufacture and maintenance. Steel is too heavy for use in automobile construction and aluminium is too expensive. A comparison of cotton, glue and formaldehyde is being used to produce a material that may solve the problem. Paper pulp, formaldehyde and glue are now used in making tubs, buckets and other articles. By substituting cotton for paper, the strength of the composition is enormously increased.

"General business in the United States will not improve before late winter or spring. The buying strike, so-called, is still on."

Men are seldom as good as they pretend to be or as bad as they are said to be.

PARADE IN PORT HOPE HOUR LONG

ORANGE DEMONSTRATION BY LODGES OF THIS DISTRICT WAS LARGELY ATTENDED.

The length of the parade in Port Hope yesterday of the Orange Lodges from Victoria, Peterboro, East and West Durham Counties may be estimated from the fact that it took fifty minutes to pass a given point. It was generously interspersed with bands including the Port Hope overall band, the Oshawa Kilties, the Caledonian pipers from Peterboro, and the Orono band. Along the route citizens put out pails of water to refresh the marchers, and the decorations called a warm welcome to the thousands of visitors. The weather was torrid, and three men were prostrated during the day. At the Exhibition Grounds Rev. A. McLauchlin of Pontypool, District Deputy, Grand Chaplain presided.

The arrangements for the parade and the entire celebration were successfully carried out by County Master W. F. Moncrief of Peterboro. Mayor Curtis of Port Hope extended the civic welcome, and the Ministers of the Anglican, Baptist and Presbyterian churches spoke.

Resolutions were passed expressing loyalty to the King, denunciation of the Sinn Fein activities and the Self-Determination League of Canada, and also appreciation of the work of M. J. O'Brien as grand organizer during the year. The outstanding speech of the afternoon was made by a Past Grand Master of the Orange Young Britains of Toronto. He gave an exposition of the principles of the Orange order, referred to the obstacles that had retarded its progress in the past and called upon every member to be loyal Protestants, and to work for the Order and to increase the membership of their lodges.

(Special Despatch to the Examiner.)

PORT HOPE, July 13. — Yesterday marked the 231st anniversary of the Boyne and if King William could have gazed upon the sea of jolly, happy-go-lucky faces he would surely have been doubly repaid for the great victory achieved.

The weather was ideal, and the crowd was a record breaker. More than three thouasnd Orangemen took part in the parade, and it is estimated that ten thousand visitors were in town.

As early as seven o'clock gaily decorated cars began to arrive and by 11 o'clock the main street was impassable.

Two special trains from the north brought in more than two thousand the specials on the C. P. R. and C. N. R. brought large crowds.

The parade formed at the town square promptly at 1 o'clock and it would have been a difficult matter to select the best looking lodge. They all looked spic and span and it was by far the best parade ever seen in Port Hope. They marched liek old time veterans and the thousands of Orangemen in white uniforms, jewelled sashes, badges, and beautiful silk banners, presented a sight which will long be remembered.

The parade required 50 minutes to pass a given point. There were over fifty lodges in the parade.

Brief addresses dealing with the splendid work accomplished by the Orange order, were given by Rev. F. W. Anderson, Rev. J. A. Elliott, Rev. W. Wood, Rev. Arthur Clarke, Rev. A. McLaughlin, Deputy Grand Chaplain, Pontypool, and J. E. Lawson, Past Grand Master.

Between the addresses the Orono band rendered a pleasing programme, one number in which a number of the bandsmen sang, was much enjoyed.

With the large crowd hundreds of autos dodged to and fro but not a single accident was reported. The numerous booths provided an abundance of eatables and drinks and no person left hungry. The Daughters of the Empire were congratulated by many of the Orangemen upon their delicious meals and splendid service. Port Hope was delighted with the Orangemen as their guests and look forward with pleasure to their appearance here four years hence.

UNABLE TO SWIM, DROWNS IN LAKE

REID VENTRESS, IN SPITE OF EFFORTS OF COMPANION, LOSES LIFE.

(Special Despatch to the Examiner.)

BOBCAYGEON, July 13. — Within a mile of his own home at 9 p.m., yesterday, Read Ventress, 21, only son of Walter Ventress, of Nogie's Creek, Harvey Township, was drowned while learning to swim in Pigeon Lake, at the mouth of the Creek.

The young man went in with his cousin, Walter Reid, a young man about his own age, and his sisters. He could not swim, and Reid said he would teach him, but he got beyond his depth, and evidently sank in a hole. Before the horrified eyes of the girls and his cousin, he went under. Reid endeavored to reach him, and did get him once, but could not pull him up and it was half an an hour before he was taken out.

The drowning occurred in 8 or 10 feet of water.

Dr. B. E. Kelly of Bobcaygeon was called but all resurcitation efforts failed.

The point where the drowning occurred is close to Nogie's Creek Cemetery and is about 4 miles from Bobcaygeon.

The funeral takes place to-morrow at 10 a.m., from the family residence to the cemetery close to the scene of the fatality.

The drowned young man is survived by his parents and four sisters, Mrs. Fred Purdy, of Harvey, Miss Katie, Miss Reta and Miss Helen at home. His only brother died five years ago. The family will have the sympathy of the entire community in the loss of their only son by drowning.

BODY OF AMERICAN HERO IN MORGUE

MAN WHO CARRIED LETTER FROM LOST BATTALION ESCAPES POTTER'S FIELD.

NEW YORK, July 12.—The body of John J. Munson, holder of the Distinguished Service Cross, the French Medaille Militaire and the Croix de Guerre for his exploits with Whittlesey's lost battalion of the Seventy-Seventh Division, lies unclaimed in the City Morgue, at the foot of East Twenty-Sixth Street. Munson died on Friday night in Bellevue Hospital of tuberculosis, said to have developed after he had been weakened by German gas.

Munson's comrades in action, when they learned of the possibility of his being buried in Potter's Field unless the body was claimed, took steps to arrange through the American Legion for a funeral befitting his war record. Although no definite arrangements had been made up to last night, it was said that Munson's body probably would be removed today and a military funeral held.

It was Munson who, as a first-class private assigned to Whittlesey's battalion of the 308th Infantry, ventured to carry a message back to regimental headquarters telling the higher command of the plight of the "Lost Battalion." He passed through the German lines after an adventure, of which the following citation by Marshal Petain gave a general account:

"To obtain ammunition and rations, Private Munson, with another private and an officer, ventured to establish communication between his battalion and regimental headquarters. They were attacked by a small party of Germans, and one of them was killed. They succeeded in reaching cover and remained there until nightfall, when they crawled by error into a German camp and lay there for three hours before they were discovered. Private Munson then deliberately drew the fire of the Germans to himself in an effort to save the officer, and he succeeded the next morning in reaching the American lines and destination with the message entrusted to him."

Who Is Smoot? What Is Smoot Service?

Mr. Joseph M. Smoot is the Head of the Smoot Service Corporation. Associated with him, among others, are the following gentlemen: J. O. McCarthy, Vice-President and General Manager, Security Life Insurance Co., Toronto; Alexander Gordon, Broker, Toronto; Edward H. Hunt, Barrister, Toronto; J. Berger, Broker, Toronto.

All these are well-known and successful men in the financial field—men whose various activities in this field have resulted in material benefit to hundreds of investors who have shared in the prosperity of their constructive enterprises.

At the present time the Smoot Service Corporation is placing the stock of a large financial corporation called—

The Greater Canada Security Corporation

This Company is an organization which is devoting itself to Second Mortgage Investments.

As you probably know, nearly all the building of moderately-priced residences is conducted about as follows:

A builder buys a plot of land and begins to erect some Houses. But not having sufficient capital to finance the buildings, he applies to a loan company and secures a first mortgage loan.

Then, when the buildings are completed, he sells them to home-buyers who assume the first mortgage. But these home-owners cannot always pay the builder the full difference between the amount of the first mortgage and the price of the house.

So they pay a part of the difference in cash and give the builder back a second mortgage for the balance. Now the builder must find a market for his second mortgages so that he can have his capital free to do more building.

And this, before the advent of the Greater Canada Security Corporation, was a matter of great difficulty. The amount of capital available for this class of investment was very small. Buyers of second mortgages from builders were in a position to ask—and to receive—a very heavy discount.

For instance: Jones is a builder holding a second mortgage for $2,000.00. Brown is a second mortgage buyer. He says to Jones: "I will give you $1,400.00 for it." This represents a discount of 30%. But Jones sells it for $1,400.00 because he must have the money.

The function of the Greater Canada Securities Corporation is to buy approved second mortgages at a more reasonable discount. This gives the company an excellent profit for its stockholders, while at the same time allowing the builder a better price for his second mortgage.

The Company offers to you, and other investors, the opportunity to purchase its 8% preferred stock and its common stock.

They offer it to you through the selling organization called the Smoot Service Corporation.

Now, there is the story in a nutshell.

When a Smoot Service Salesman calls on you, please give him a hearing. If you have a few thousand or only a hundred dollars or so to invest, the Smoot Service Salesman has a message of great interest for you.

This anouncement is published by the special request of persons who know the work the Smoot Service Corporation is doing, and who are of opinion that the details of this work should be more widely known.

A CIVIC BANQUET A FAREWELL TO FATHER PHELAN

cynosure of every eye in the banquet Father Phelan was visibly affected by display of respect and esteem. "From my heart I thank you for your presence here to-night," he said simply. Words were noticeably difficult of formation. Looking around, Rev. Father Phelan said he saw many faces he had known since boyhood. He also said he saw citizens he had come to know in later years, in his affiliation with public bodies. Rev. Fr. Phelan said he was much affected by the sentiments expressed about him and he believed he fell very short of Mr. Kenner's description of him as an ideal citizen.

Rev. Fr. Phelan accepted modestly the kind things said. He had only gone humbly about whatever work he felt lay in his path, he maintained ,and whatever he had done was done because he felt that it was his duty. In such work as helping orphans and in other public efforts, he felt that all feelings of prejudice and ill will should be submerged by cooperation of all denominations and classes.

The farewell banquet, the kindly expressions, and the faces of so many friends about the festive board all signified something worth while, Rev. Fr.Phelan said,"I appreciate this banquet, although personally I did not want a banquet," he said. "You will take everything I say as well meant."

"Love Thy Neighbours as Thyself."

"Let us all try to help our neighbors, no matter what denomination they are," was the last plea of the departing priest. He expressed pleasure at the kindly feeling that existed between Catholics and Protestants in this city, and said "It is up to you and I to cement that feeling and make it lasting."

"I certainly feel grateful to those who were connected with getting up this banquet. I thank you from the bottom of my heart for your goodwill and your kindly sentiments so ably expressed by Mr. Kenner. Although I may be down the line I will always be here in spirit." If ever needed, Rev.Fr. Phelan said he would return to Peterboro at a minute's notice, and he said he welcomed all his friends to visit him at his new charge.

"Our City."

In proposing the toast to "Our City," Rev. J. R. Webb, pastor of the Murray street Baptist Church, spoke as follows:

I am glad to have a small part in this complimentary dinner to my friend and neighbor, Father Phelan.

Another voice will be heard concerning him who leaves us and the way is clear for me to speak of those he leaves. My toast is to the City of Peterboro.

A greater than our guest was wont to boast that he was "a citzen of no mean city." I am confident that no matter where in the providence of God his path may lead him, our friend will never be able to escape the feeling that he is a citizen of Peterboro. One has said that "The utmost ramification of sea and land will never separate a man from his past history." This is peculiarly true when the most of a man's life has been well and worthily lived in one community.

City is Character of Citizens.

The city is not its council, nor its officials nor its buildings, but it is the character of the great body of is citizens.

As a family is not to be condemned because of the defalcation of one of its members, so a city is not to be judged by the idiosyncrasies or prejudicies of a few. The dominant sentiment of Peterboro is one—not of toleration—that is an unhappy word—but of apreciation of all who are true to themselves and to each other.

As fellow citizens we know no sects. Our city is as our nation. We have no national church, and we have no dominant religious body in our city. Father Phelan is sufficiently taught in church history to know that the demonnmination which I represent is the very antipodes of his own, and yet I venture to say that as citizens, and as co-workers for the common weal there are no two men in the city who respect each other more.

He would rise in righteous wrath were I as a Baptist to seek special civic consideration for the body to which I belong, and he and his colleagues know well that I would not be passive if the cases were reversed. The glory of the city on whose behalf I speak, is that its citizens have the sanity that determines that anything like injustice and preference will never be tolerated.

I am speaking not of the few, but of the many, when I say that the time has come when the aspirant for civic honours damns his own cause when he seeks to promote it by promising special favors to Baptists, Roman Catholics or any other people.

It is complimentary to our city to say that, and I think it is the simple truth.

It is a beautiful thing to meet as we do to-night—just in the same fashion in which we met to say "farewell" to Archdeacon Davidson, and as we will to say Good-bye to others who have been conspicuous among our citizenship.

Appreciates Sons.

If it were my task I could praise Father Phelan, but it is mine to speak of Peterboro, and I have no hesitation in saying that in the matter of appreciation of her worthy sons she takes a front place among the cities of the Dominion.

Peterboro is remarkable in many ways. An Irishman says that it has the most wonderful bridge in the world, because the people had to "come across" as soon as it was started, and have been coming across ever since. He said further that the lights upon it were quite unnecessary because the people were "blazing" over it.

But in all seriousness it is delightful to find that this growing city has found its fame in almost every part of the world. I was reading one of J. M. Barrie's great stories the other day when I came to this sentence, "And by us were gliding those ghosts of the Thames, the Canadian canoes." But after all the greatest contribution that any city makes to the world is its manhood, and now another of its sons leaves its borders, and I ask you to rise with me and drink to Peterboro—the city that is not ashamed of the quality of its contributions, whether in merchandise or men.

Phelans good Citizens.

In replying on behalf of the city, Ald. G. N. Gordon, M.P., spoke of the citizenship of Father Phelan. He referred to the citzenship of the family of Phelans. Rev. Phelan has given and his late brother, Ald. Harry Phelan, gave noteworthy service to civic affairs, said Ald. Gordon; and Ald. N. E. Phelan is now showing the same attention to public matters as marked his father's career. "We need that type of citizens," said Ald. Gordon. Father Phelan, he declared, has given special service to this community. It is because there have been such men as Rev. Fr. Phelan the city has advanced, he said. 'Peterboro has had one thing to its advantage — a wholesome citizenship. Because of his apreciation, generosity and kindness the citizens were uniting to do honor to Father Phelan. Not because of his being a Peterboro boy, but because of his lasting enduring service was the demonstration at his departure made.

A Dual Presentation.

Rev. Father Phelan was presented with a beautiful three-piece silver service last night at the close of the toast list. R. Denne, president of the Fair Board made the presentation as an apreciation, he said, "of the love and esteem the citizens and the different organizations hold for you." Mr. Denne thanked Father Phelan for his unselfish work on the Fair Board ,and R. H. Turner vice-president, on behalf of the board, presented Rev. Father Phelan with a handsome, leather-bound, hand-lettered address.

"I'm sure if I found it difficult to say a word in my opening remarks I find it more so now. It is more than I deserve but it is a token that will be remindful of Peterboro. I thank the citizens one and all who had anything to do with the presentation. For the Fair Board, I may say that any work I have done has been a pleasure.

Two solos of a very high standard and selected with especial refence to the occasion were given by George Chandler in excellent voice. The first was the beautiful "Then you'll remember me," and the second Kingsley's "Farewell."

With the singing of the National Anthem at 9 p.m., the notable affair was closed with almost record expedition.

PATHETIC STORIES OF COAL STRIKE

One Pawnbroker in Wolverhampton Had 1,000 Wedding Rings.

LONDON, July 13.—Terribly pathetic stories are told in various industrial towns of the acute distress caused through the recent strike and the stoppage of work.

A Wolverhampton pawnbroker has had over 1,000 wedding rings pledged with him by needy housewives since the coal stoppage, and upwards of 2,000 pledged this year.

"I've women trying to make up their minds," he told a Press representative, "by pulling the ring half off, as they stand by the counter, then pushing it on again. All the while the tears have been running down their cheeks.

"And it's not only the ordinary poor people we get, it's the well-to-do people as well. They drive up in their motors, and sometimes we get pieces of jewelry running into four figures. I can see dozen and dozens going gradually, stick by stick."

PRESENT QUARTERS WILL BE EXCLUSIVELY FOR WOMEN.

To increase the accommodation for bathers at Inverlea Park a large tent from the Turner factory was set up this morning. It was originally intended for the use of the girls and women, but Ald. The dressing house has been divided into sections for men and women, but both compartments will be for women only henceforth.

For the present the tent will just have the natural floor of the earth but should a wooden floor be required it will be provided .

In the meantime Ald. Gainey is endeavoring to remedy conditions in order that bathers may feel assured that their clothes are guarded while they are in swimming.

LAURENCE KENT A SUICIDE.

Graves Registration Service Historian Had Been Gassed Six Times.

PARIS, July 13.—Laurence L. Kent, historian of the Graves Registration Service, who was gassed half a dozen times during the war when he was a Sergeant in Co. B of the Forty-second Engineers, was found dead in bed here this morning with a bullet in his heart and a revolver beside him. His superior officers said Kent had only recently left the American hospital after treatment for the gassing he suffered.

Kent, who was formerly employed in the American War Department, left a letter asking his commanding officer to have him buried with his fallen comrades of the Second Division in Belleau Wood. The letter said he could not stand the suffering resulting from his being gassed six times.

FIRE NEAR GAS SHELLS.

Belgian Peasants on Old Front Supplied With Masks.

OSTEND, Belgium, July 13.—An enormous depot of ammunition left by the Germans in Houthoulst Forest, on the old Flanders front, is threatened by a fire in the forest, and as a part of the ammunition consists of poison gas shells, gas masks are being distributed to the peasants in the surrounding villages. The fire is spreading rapidly owing to the protracted drought, toward the centre of the forest, where the depot is located, and the military authorities considered the distribution of the masks a necessary precaution against an explosion releasing the deadly gas.

Houthoulst Wood was the scene of some of the bitterest fighting in the war. Held by the Germans, it was first attacked by the French and later by the British, both attacks being repulsed with enormous losses. The wood was finally captured by the Belgians in October, 1918.

LITTLE HOPE OF WORLD SERIES LEFT IN HEARTS OF NEW YORK FANS

NEW YORK, July 13. — Manhattan's hopes, the Giants and the Yanks, will have to do some hustling if they are to get anything better than a runner-up's cut of the world's series money.

The season is just about half gone, and as a result of wasted chances and opportunities, the Giants and the Yanks are both three and one-half games behind the two League leaders, with no immediate prospects of improving.

Following the miserable showing of the Yankees against the White Sox, New York has just about forsaken the American Leaguers, and is looking to the Giants to bring the series to the Polo Grounds.

The Yanks have the failing of cleaning up on the first-class clubs and losing to the second string teams just when the going was rough for the leaders.

Much of the blame is being attached by the fans to Miller Huggins, a manager who has never been popular. Although there is no official foundation for the belief, the bugs are expecting the boss colonels to make a switch in the management.

Pittsburg, now leading the National League, has an easier road ahead than the Giants. The Pirates finish the season with a long stay at home, and although the figures do not show it, Gibson's men are generally regarded as a poor road club. The Giants have to finish the season on the road.

John McGraw, boss of the Giants, who still leads the club from the bench, is showing signs of a realisation that something has to be done. His latest trade, Monroe and Minters, for Red Causey, the Philadelphia pitcher, mean that the Giant chieftain is not satisfied with his staff.

Good results of the trade which brought Johnny Rawlings to second base from the Phils are apparent. The whole infield looks better and Rawlings is playing a great game.

Neither Pittsburg nor Cleveland, the two League leaders, are showing any sings of cracking. This is true of Cleveland especially, through the ability of the great Speaker in weathering storm after storm in the way of accidents and erratic work from the pitchers. Both are playing real baseball, and that explains it.

New York's hopes for two championships and a monopoly on the world's series have been fading rapidly. McGraw's chances have dwindled at an alarming rate, chiefly because the team failed to grasp its big opportunity when Pittsburg was crippled and unable to maintain the pace. The weakness of McGraw's team s in pitching, and the early season and pre-season predictions that the staff could not carry such a team through without breaking are being verified, writes Hugh Fullerton in the New York Mail. The defection of Douglas, who was relied upon to win at least half his games and enable the others to amass the inning percentage hurt. McGraw never has been able to handle Shufflin' Phil, which is not a criticism of McGraw. In fact, the fault is the other way. McGraw has a system of forcing pitchers to stay, take their medicine when they are getting bumped, and either learn something or pitch themselves into condition. He forced Douglas to stick in a game and take a terrific drubbing, hoping that it would benefit him, and Douglas felt aggrieved and walked out. The loss of Douglas does not affect the pitching strength, excepting that he is needed to give an extra day of rest to the others. In fact, the disappearance of Douglas was a fortunate thing for the Giants in the long run. He had been nursed along by team after team, and usually exploded or became temperamental when most needed, and any hard-working, hustling young fellow would do more real good to a team. The Yankee pitching corps appears to be rounding into shape rapidly. Huggins is getting better and more consistent pitching now and six of his men are ready to carry the team over a route.

BARRIE'S PLAY SNAPPY BALL AND DEFEAT THE LOCKWORKS BY 5 TO 4

WESTBROOK FEATURES WORK BY LOSERS GETTING FOUR HITS, ONE A LONG DOUBLE.

By way of a change, Barrie's went out and defeated Lock Works in a well-played Mercantile League game at Riverside Park last evening. The score was 5 to 4. It was the first league win for Barrie's this season, and on their form of last evening the fur-trimmers looked good enough to make the best of them hustle to win.

Gordon Henry pitched a steady and effective game and F. LeBar supported him well behind the batters. The infield turned in a surprisingly good performance, Nicholls' work being conspicuous, with Shannon at short a close second. Nicholls deserves special mention, because he has played in every game and has been the hardest worker on the Barrie line-up. His work has always been enthusiastic, and, therefore, helpful to his team as well as to the league.

Barrie's Get Four.

Lock Works started Smith on the mound. He got by the first, but in the second, which Ecobichon opened with a double, he lost control; and this with errors helped Barrie's to four runs. Conners relieved with two gone. Nicholls made the third out on a grounder, Guerin to Black. Conners held his opponents back until the fifth, when Ecobichon, getting to first on Guerin's boot, completed the circut on a passed ball and a wild pitch. Conners put up a very creditable pitching performance in the five and one-third innings, holding Barrie's to three singles.

Lock Works Come Strong.

Next to Conners' good work was the clouting by Westbrook, who hit safely in four times at bat, his long double in the fifth driving in two runs. Lock Works got all four runs n this frame, when it looked like a "blow-up" for Barrie's.

Galbraith taking Black's grounder, threw the ball wildly to first, the runner going to second. Then Shannon failed to handle a grounder from Smith. Thorndyke flew out to Shannon, and Conners dumped a single in middle field, scoring Black. Huffman tapped to the pitcher, Henry slipping to the green in fielding the ball. Smith made third on the pitcher's downfall. Guerin struck out. Westbrook doubled to deep right, scoring two, and Jobbitt hit in another. With two out and a hit needed to tie the score, Liddell went in to bat for Burke and grounded out, Shannon to Nicholls.

Henry went through the sixth in good form and Guerin, first up in the seventh, lined out to Nicholls. The latter strayed far from the bag to get the ball and runner and fielder put on a thrilling race to the cushion, Nicholls getting there first. Westbrook singled to left and stole second. Jobbitt flew out to Nicholls, and when Liddell hit to short Westbrook reached third. With Black at bat, Westbrook tried to steal home, but perfect handling of the throws by LeBar and Heenan allowed LeBar to get the runner, and the Lock Works were beaten

There was a reason for Georges Carpentier training in private.

Three weeks before the fight, he was working out with Joe Jeanette and hit the coloured boxer so hard that he broke his thumb. It looked for a time as though Georges would have to ask for a postponement of the championship battle, but things had reached a stage at that time where a postponement would have had serious results, financially and otherwise, and surgeons did their best to get the injured member in shape before the 2nd of July.

According to W. B. Naylor, former manager of the Grand, Hamilton, but now chief publicity agent for the Sells-Floto Circus, one of the reasons for the eight-ounce gloves being used was that they offered better protection to the Frenchman's thumb. But the blow he struck Dempsey in the second round irritated the broken thumb, and he was in pain from then on. But "Carp" did not break his thumb in that round, as stated. It was broken three weeks before, and had there not been a million or so dollars at stake, he would never have attempted to battle on the 2nd of July.

REDUCED RATES FAIL.

EDMONTON, July 13.—(Canadian Press).—Reduced freight rates on coal have not stimulated the shipment of Alberta coal during the slack mid-season months, proving no inducement to "Mr. Householder" to get his winter supply in early, the reduction being received with no more enthusiasm than a man would receive a gift of a straw hat in winter time.

It is apparent, freight officials state, that people will not store their winter's supply of coal in the summer months. Attractive prices seem to offer little incentive, people everywhere being of the opinion that money in hand at this time is worth more than coal in the basement. Shipment of coal at the present time, they point out, would not only keep the mines working toward the limit of their capacity, but would also assist the railways and relieve much of the congestion that is bound to be the outcome of this lack of coal buying.

MAJORITY OF CONVICTS YOUNG, SINGLE MEN.

Inmates of Penitentiaries Mostly Between 20 and 30 Years of Age.

OTTAWA, July 12. — (Canadian Press). — Single men between the ages of 20 and 30 years formed the majority of prisoners in Canadian penitentiaries in the year ending March 31, 1920, according to the report for that period of superintendent of penitentiaries Brigadier-General W. S. Hughes. Of the 1,931 prisoners in detention on that date, 775 were between the ages of 20 and 30 years.

The table showing the social habits of the prisoners furnishes somewhat of a surprise, inasmuch as the abstainers and temperate prisoners far outnumbered the intemperate. Those rated as abstainers totalled 548, temperate 975 and interperate 408.

FUR-SEALING COMES BACK.

VICTORIA, B. C., July 13.—(Canadian Press). — Fur-sealing has come back, and on the west coast of Vancouver Island alone the Indians this summer will probably capture two thousand fur seals. Pelagic sealing in British Columbia and Alaskan waters at one time was woven around with all the romance of adventure, wealth and international strife. Through greed and indiscriminate methods of slaughter practised by the sealers and a lack of international understanding upon the question of conservation, the industry fell off, the seals all but disappeared and their capture was made illegal.

Last year the waters of the west coast of Washington produced 1,200 animals. Officials in charge of the industry and its control claim that the North Pacific herd, which once contained as many as 2,500,000 animals, is bound to increase rapidly. There is every probability that as many as one hundred thousand animals may be taken each year, made up wholly of surplus males selected with reference to their economic value and Canada may ultimately be expected to receive half a million dollars annually from this fishery.

"IF WOMEN KNEW" IS INTERESTING PICTURE

New Robertson-Cole Release Is Based on Strong Balzac Story, "Meditations on Marriage."

The depth and unselfishness of the love of a true woman will always be considered the best possible subject on which to base an interesting novel or photoplay. It is a theme the public never tires of. In "If Women Only Knew," a picture based on Balzac's "Meditations on Marriage," the story of just such a good women is told in a graphic and interesting manner. The new photoplay is a Robertson-Cole release and will be shown for the first time at the Capitol Theatre, beginning tomorrow, Thursday, night.

The story tells of Maurice Travers, son of a widow and one of the most popular students in Colburn University. The widow has scraped and saved to send her boy to Colburn, but realizes he is fonder of athletics than study. Madeline Marshall, an orphan, and the child of a friend, has been adopted by Mrs. Travers. She is secretly in love with Maurice and is eager for his success. Maurice fails in his final examinations and is not graduated. His embarrassment is deep and he fears to tell his mother because of the anguish he knows it will cause her.

Maurice has been carrying on a flirtation with Donna Wayne, daughter of a wealthy trustee of the university. Donna is of the frivolous type, but is infatuated with Maurice.

They elope and are married. Donna's father follows them and finds them at a New York hotel. After demanding to see their marriage certificate he declares he will have nothing further to do with them.

Donna runs true to form and when Maurice cannot find work she begins finding fault. Her own money she spends on clothes. Maurice asks her to use discretion and there is an open breach. Maurice returns to see his mother, who has suffered an accident which caused her to lose her sight.

He is touched by Madeline's devotion and realizes the selfishness of his own wife. He returns to New Yorrk to find that Donna is about to run away with Billy Thorne, a rich young man who, while in college, had shared her favors with Maurice.

Mrs. Travers dies and Madeline is left alone. Maurice, after going out and making good in the business world, returns to his home town to find that his wife has divorced him. He hears a rumor that Madeline is engaged to marry. He is about to leave town when he encounters Madeline. Then comes a corking climax to the picture. The story is told by an excellent cast.

The balance of a big program of excellent comedies and short-reel pictures will complete a great week-end show.

In order to give our patrons a continued summer programme we found it necessary to make a ten per cent. reduction in salaries, which has been accepted by all the members of the staff with the exception of the musicians. This explains the lack of the usual musical programme at present.

The Failed Romance of a Fairy Godmother

She Married a "Greek God," Nearly Forty Years Younger Than Herself, and Then Wasn't Really Happy After All.

Christian Dominic Hemmick Has Been Granted a Divorce on the Grounds of Desertion from the Society Leader Who Was Characterized by Wu Ting Fang as "the Cleverest Woman in Washington."

By Frank Dallam

SEATED or standing around the stage in little groups were the actors and actresses, while the playwright and producer from a table in the centre gave directions.

"You will please understand, first of all," she said with easy tones, yet with the firm and authoritative manner peculiar to all stage directors, "that this play is an allegory. It is entitled 'The Love of Echo.' I have distributed the parts among you accordingly as I think you are best fitted to play them.

"In the big scene of the third act, I, who shall be playing the leading part of 'Echo,' shall be discovered lying chained in a cave. I shall be wearing only a simple drapery of vestal white. According to the story, I am to lie in shackles in my cave for life, to be released only when a youth who never before has kissed a woman, shall bend over me and press his lips upon mine.

"Then as he takes me in his arms and half-lifts me from the floor, holding me close to his heart, the spell is broken, the fetters fall away, my arms encircle his neck, and the curtain goes down upon a darkening stage, with love triumphant."

This was ten years ago. The stage was the tiny stage in the theatre de luxe of the splendid home of Mrs. Alice Natalie Barney, in Sheridan Circle, Washington. The speaker was Mrs. Barney, leader of the smart set in the nation's capital, widow of a millionaire banker from Ohio, and the one of whom Wu Ting Fang, the most brilliant diplomat ever sent to this country from China, said: "She is the cleverest woman in all Washington."

The play in rehearsal at the moment was one of several which Mrs. Barney had written and produced with society amateurs for the diversion of her friends, whom she was perpetually entertaining lavishly. Invitations for one of Mrs. Barney's performances were avidly sought. A guest knew in advance that he was going to get a thrill.

Hemmick Was "Unkissed Youth"

Mrs. Barney had trouble finding a young man of her acquaintance sufficiently talented and good-looking to play the part of "Narcissus," the unkissed, whose embraces were to melt the iron chains of "Echo." Some one of her friends suggested young Christian Dominic Hemmick, son of a former United States consul in Geneva. He was 25 years old and Mrs. Barney was 60 and looked 25 years less. Mr. Hemmick was sent for and introduced to the playwright widow. "He is a young Greek god," she confided to the friend.

Mr. Hemmick threw himself heart and soul into the role of the unkissed youth. He invested his interpretation of "Narcissus" with such warmth of spirit that he not only struck off the shackles from the prostrate prisoner "Echo," but at the same time, with the acetylene flame of his love, he sawed through the gyves of widowhood which held Mrs. Barney. They were married in Paris less than a year from the night of the successful production of "The Love of Echo."

Or was it successful? An echo reverberating just now from Chicago indicates that it was not. Mr. Hemmick has just obtained a decree of divorce. He charges his elderly wife with the most juvenile complaint known to the divorce calendar. He says she deserted him. He told Circuit Judge Johnson of Chicago that, in the language of the theatre, she "had left him flat" and was now in Paris, a city for which she had expressed much preference for the last two years. The divorce hearing in Chicago was brief. Mr. Hemmick, who had served the notice on his wife both by publication and through her French lawyers, underwent merely a perfunctory examination at the hands of his attorney, Michael F. Ryan. "We had many differences," Mr. Hemmick said. "My wife did not approve of many things I did. While she herself was greatly interested in the stage, she did not like it when I made several business ventures in the theatre. Finally, one morning, without my knowledge or consent, she packed up and went to Paris, where she has been ever since."

The news has caused no end of a commotion in Washington society, even accustomed as it was to Mrs. Barney's dashing ways and her boundless capacity for madcap whims and surprises. It had not been entirely unexpected. Every one who knew Mrs. Barney felt that a volcano was smouldering somewhere, yet none could have been found to predict that if divorce was contemplated it would be with any other than the wife as complainant. It was an open secret that Mrs. Barney had made her last trip to Europe alone, which seemed rather to back the theory that if there was to be a divorce she would make the application.

Miss Natalie Barney, Who Denied Posing for the "Sleeping Beauty" Stone Figure Displayed on the Barney Front Lawn.

The Life-Size Stone Statue, Credited to Miss Alice Barney, Which Was Found Reposing on the Front Lawn of the Barney Residence at Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Alice Clifford Barney-Hemmick Finds Life in Paris More Attractive Than a Mere Existence in America as the Wife of a Greek God.

Unmistakable evidence that the lady's twilight romance had slipped a cog or two came to light within two years after the picturesque marriage in Paris. For the two years after the ceremony the Hemmicks were happy; leastways, they were quiet and their friends back in the United States heard from them only infrequently. Suddenly one day they appeared in Washington, establishing themselves in the Barney family home. All of Mrs. Hemmick's friends speedily called to welcome her. That Mr. Hemmick was not visible on these occasions was not a matter for comment. Then came the noise of the explosion, reported in highly original fashion.

Richly engraved invitations were issued to a party to be given, not by Mrs. Hemmick, but by "Mrs. Barney." There was no mistaking the real purpose of the party or the real significance of the invitations themselves. It was, in effect, official announcement that "the fairy godmother of Washington society," as she had been called, had discarded the name of Hemmick and once more was to be known as Mrs. Barney. The party was a glittering success. Among the guests were Mrs. Marshall Field, Sr., Mrs. John Hays Hammond, Mrs. Perry Belmont, Mrs. Robert Roosevelt, Mrs. E. T. Stotesbury, Mrs. Richard Townsend and scores of others prominent in capital society. Among those "not present" was Mr. Christian Dominic Hemmick, the well known husband.

That night Mrs. Barney—for such she must be called now, since she has never resumed the name of her second husband—told a close friend:

"When I was married I really did not expect much attention from Christian and I was not disappointed. Toward the last I got none at all. He became angry because I would not sign any more large checks for him and he left Washington. He took up the society of actors and was never at home. I urged him to follow in the footsteps of his father, who is in the diplomatic service, and offered to pay all his expenses if he would do so. But diplomacy requires concentration and Christian would not concentrate. This is the end."

As was the case with many other famous hostesses of Washington, the war caused a curtailment of Mrs. Barney's social program and she gave no other extensive entertainment after the affair where Mr. Hemmick figured as such a conspicuous absentee. On account of this social eclipse she was enabled to leave the city to return to Paris two years ago in comparative obscurity. Only a few of her closest friends knew she was considering going back to Europe with a view to taking up her residence. However, the fact that she has remained in Paris for the last two years surrounded by all the expensive comforts to which she was ever accustomed gives Washington opportunity to revive a rumor of wide currency at the time of the Hemmick marriage.

Mrs. Barney has two daughters, Misses Alice and Natalie Barney, each of them near the age of their new step-father. The young ladies were outspoken in their opposition to their mother's second marriage. To their particular chums they bluntly said they believed financial considerations had something to do with the ardor of Mr. Hemmick's wooing. The bridal pair indignantly resented such insinuations and to disprove possible belief in them the bride made assignment of practically all her millions to the daughters. Much publicity attended this step, and then gossip countered with the flat assertion that if Mrs. Barney had transferred any part of her large fortune there was a stout cord tied to the money. "What did we tell you?" they say now. "It costs much for an American to live in Paris nowadays."

Now that she has stepped into the spotlight again, Washington gossip is wondering how Mrs. Barney will be heard from next, but confident that she will be heard from in some spectacular connection. That was always Mrs. Barney's way. As a woman noted in the diplomatic set for her smart dinners and delightful receptions expressed the sentiment: "I don't think Alice Barney ever deliberately sought notoriety, but it is no more possible for her to keep out of the calcium than it is for a pet cat to keep off the softest cushions in the house. She is not an ordinary woman and she can do nothing in an ordinary manner."

Jilted Explorer Stanley

Hastily skimming some of the earlier chapters of Mrs. Barney's polyhedrous career, one is constrained to accept this estimate as an accurate appraisal of an unusual and charming personage. She comes from Dayton, Ohio, the girlhood home of another singularly gifted woman, Louise Dudley, who achieved celebrity on the stage as Mrs. Leslie Carter. Her maiden name was Pike and there is a story in Dayton that her first serious love affair was with Henry M. Stanley, the African explorer. Stanley's hair, so the Dayton story runs, came not from his harrowing vicissitudes on the Dark Continent, but from sorrow when he learned that Alice Pike had jilted him.

She married, instead, Albert Clifford Barney, a Dayton banker, inheriting at his death his vast fortune. Soon after becoming a widow she moved to Washington, where she at once took leadership in the most exclusive circles of capital society. Her home in Sheridan Circle was a reproduction of a house of ancient Rome. On the lawn was a sarcophagus which once contained the mummy of an Egyptian princess. Her studios were famous. In one apartment of her home were the famous tapestries of the Count de l'Allemand depicting the wanderings of Ulysses.

One of the most exploited feats which gained for Mrs. Barney the reputation of "society's thriller" was accomplished about a dozen years ago. Citizens of Washington passing by the Barney home one morning were amazed to behold on the lawn a reclining statue of life-size done in the nude. A policeman was so scandalized that before he 'phoned to headquarters about it he scaled the iron fence and covered the offending art work with some jute bagging confiscated from a delivery truck.

To make matters worse, it was whispered that the subject of the statue was Miss Natalie Barney, the younger daughter, and that the sculptress was her sister, Miss Alice. These rumors were indignantly denied by Mrs. Barney and the girls. In the meantime, there was a mighty pother around Washington police headquarters over the thing. The commissioners who govern the city talked it over on the strength of the reports made by the police chief, but they did not feel that they had jurisdiction, although they were agreed that a dark corner in the Corcoran art galleries was a better place for the recumbent Venus, Hebe, Juno, or whoever the mythological goddess was intended to be, than a lawn fronting on one of the city's most fashionable streets. The newspapers were full of the sensation, to all of which the Barneys paid not the slightest attention. In time, when it had ceased to be a topic, the statue was removed from the lawn to one of the several rooms in the Barney mansion used as studios.

Will Mrs. Barney remain in Paris to enjoy the freedom which apparently is welcomed by her? Or will she come back to the United States, to her loved Washington, to show her friends that age after all is a detail of the heart and that it is possible for a woman to defy the years? None of her friends can answer. One never knows what Alice Barney's caprices will lead her to do, they say.

As for Mr. Hemmick, business will claim him, he says. When he got his divorce in Chicago, his legal residence, he said he was going to New York for a few days to rest and take things easy. He owns the Pitts Theatre in Pittsburgh, and has other commercial interests in that city, where, he says, he will make his home.

JAPAN ACCEPTS INVITATION TO DISCUSS LIMITING ARMAMENTS; OMITS REFERENCE TO PACIFIC

MORE THAN TEN BILLION A YEAR NOW BEING SPENT FOR WAR PURPOSES BY NATIONS TO DISCUSS DISARMING—BIG MUNITIONS INTERESTS OF EUROPE OPPOSE PROPOSITION—LEAGUE OF NATIONS INCLUDES TORONTO MAN ON DISARMAMENT COMMITTEE.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner.)

WASHINGTON, July 14. — The State Department to-day was notified of Japan's acceptance of the invitation to a disarmament conference.

The Japanese communication, however, omitted any reference to a discussion of problems in the Pacific, which was also included in the tentative invitation sent out last Saturday.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

WASHINGTON, July 14.—More than ten billion dollars a year is now being spent for war purposes by the nations invited to the disarmament conference called by President Harding, it was shown to-day in official budget statements filed with the Federal Reserve Board here.

Great Britain, France, Italy, and the United States and Japan are now spending each year for past wars and preparation for future wars more money than is disbursed for any other single purpose.

Great Britain's war charge is approximately 60 per cent. of her total revenues while France is plunging at the rate of 90 per cent. Seventy-five cents out of each dollar collected by the United States Government goes for the maintenance of the Army, Navy, interest on the war debts, and to support railways and shipping, under obligations acquired as a result of the Great War.

Italy is spending approximately 50 per cent. for war purposes and Japan more than 60 per cent.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

PARIS, July 14. — Opposition of some of the big munitions manufacturers of Europe to disarmament was revealed here to-day in connection with the meeting of the League of Nations Committee of Disarmament, which was scheduled to meet here on Saturday.

Although the League invited the manufacturers to appoint permanent members of the committee, they refused to have anything to do with the project, it was stated.

As a consequence, the League itself was obliged to find three representatives of munitions interests who would consent to serve.

Those finally agreed upon were: Secretary Hodes of the Federation of Czecho-Slovakia and the industries of Prague, President Langkjaer of the Ardejdsgiverforening Vesterboldgade of Copenhagen, and Thomas Findlay, president of the Massey-Harris Company of Toronto, Canada.

Mr. Findley stated to-day that so far as he was aware that the meeting of the committee, which was scheduled to take place at Paris on Saturday next, would be held on that date.

The effect of President Harding's invitation for a discussion of the disarmament question upon the work of the committee of the members of the League of Nations, had not yet developed.

Mr. Findley added that it was, therefore, impossible to forecast the activities of the League's committee.

SIR SAM HUGHES GROWING WORSE

(Speeil Despatch to The Examiner)

LINDSAY, Ont., July 14. — The condition of Sir Sam Hughes is worse and friends to-day expressed the opinion that the end is not far off, although it may not occur for a few days. He is scarcely able to speak and steadily growing weaker. The last transfusion of blood on Friday last did not have the desired effect in reviving him. He has had periods of semi-unconsciousness since Monday last. On Tuesday while Lindsay Orangemen on the march to the station passed the Hughes home the bands struck up 'the Las sof Garry,' Sir Sam's favorite Orange hymn, but he was unable to hear the tune to which he had in many years marched with his Orange brethren.

COUNCIL GRANTS $50 FOR CADETS

TO BE USED FOR PRIZES IN ATHLETIC SPORTS.

As a result of Col. Gillespie's presentations to the city council in committee of the whole last evening, committee passed a grant of $50 to the cadets in camp at the exhibition grounds, to be used for prizes in athletic sports.

Col. Gillespie pointed out that 135 cadets are camped here, from all parts of the country and city. But there are not as many Peterboro boys under canvas as he would like to se, attributable naturally to the fact of the camp being situated so short a distance from their homes The department, he said, allows only $6 for each boy and transportation in some instances absorbs $4 per cadet of that amount. No appropriation is set aside for athletics, which are so necessary for physical development in growing boys. To enthuse the boys in athletics it is the intention to run off a fine programme of events one day this week, for which he hoped a grant of $50 towards the cost of suitable prizes. To such a purpose he asserted Belleville City gives $50, Kingston a like amount, while $100 is expected from Ottawa Council's finance minister, Ald. Turner replied that he had not any funds from which to draw on for the cadets, much as he was in sympathy with the proposition. He suggested that the canvass under way among merchants for prizes be continued until a sufficient amount either in cash or prizes, is realized.

Col. Gillespie replied that a canvass of merchants in not being resorted to, although Capt. Jamieson had called on two or three parties and secured a couple of contributions.

Ald. Gordon, remarking that $50 is not much, moved, seconded by Ald. Hamilton that the cadets be voted that amount. This carried.

Ald. Gordon thought it better to help these boys than conventions.

PICNIC SPOILED BY LIFT LOCK TROUBLE

ALL SAINTS' CROWD HAD TO WALK HOME FROM THE CANAL.

Owning to some engine trouble in connection with the Lift Lock, the Steamer "Stoney Lake" was held up just above the Lock, unable to move in any direction, from 8.30 on Tuesday evening until 10 o'clock the following morning. Pasengers were removed from the boat at the Locks. This necessitated the cancellation of the boats for All Saints' choir excursion and the Auburn Sunday School picnic, but the trouble was repaired in time for the moonlight excursion last evening.

"BLUE-LAW" ADVOCATES CRUSADE TO CLOSE DOWN U.S. ON SUNDAY

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

WASHINGTON, July 14. — A blue haze enveloped the nation's Capital to-day.

Noah W. Coper, of Nashville, the chairman of the Southern Methodist Sabbath Saving Crusade, presented to President Harding to-day a Bill which would virtually close down the nation on Sunday.

Later he and members of his delegation conferred with members of Congress, urging support for the measure.

This Bill would prohibit on Sunday—

All work by employees of the United States.

All trains that enter inter-state commerce.

All work by post offices.

The publication of all newspapers that enter the mails.

Any business that is inter-state commerce.

The measure is limited to inter-state and federal business. The jurisdiction of Congress does not extend to state affairs. However, it is planned to seek state laws in addition to the federal statute.

"We represent the sentiment of 10,000,000 professing Christians of the South, who wish our nation saved from destruction," Cooper said.

"Within twenty-five years our nation will be a mass of anarchy and ruin if we do not stop this desecration of the Sabbath."

NEW BRIDGE HAS COST $525,000 AND COSTS ARE STILL MOUNTING; EXTRAS ALONE TOTAL $105,879

COUNCIL AND CONTRACTOR AGREE TO FIFTY-FIFTY BASIS FOR PAYMENT OF FEES FOR EXTRAS—RECRIMINATIONS EXCHANGED AS FIGURES PRESENTED—LABOR COST $245,000—LABOR BLAMED FOR CONSIDERABLE EXCESS COST.

That the Hunter Street Bridge has cost some $520,000 or $525,000, including engineer's fees, with costs still climbing, and that its extras run into the respectable sum of $105,879, was revealed last night in the course of a heated debate by Council's Committee of the Whole on the subject of paying the Russell-Townsend Company their commission fees still owing them, and finishing this costly structure under the City Engineer's supervision.

It was a hot night and the atmosphere was surcharged with recriminations, and no inconsiderable measure of crying over spilt milk, while Engineer Barber came in for somewhat scathing criticism by some aldermen far having, as they declared, misled council in his report of solid rock being available for the pier foundations ,where hardpan was the best bottom that could be found. This mistake, and the high cost of labor, were mainly responsible, it was also alleged, for the bridge exceeding its original cost estimate by away over $200,000, and Alderman Hamilton declared that the amount spent in labor alone was up to $245,000.

Ald. Whitehouse bitterly complained that the contract had been let in a slip shod manner, and the whole transaction blundered all through; while Ald. Hamilton at one time thundered at the Mayor, "Not only has labor been a factor in the structure costing so much, but you, Mr. Mayor, put the thing in such a shape that Townsend had no control over the men."

In criticism of Engineer Frank Barber, when Ald. Phelan pointed out that the contract had been let on his plans, and contended that the big bill for extras was due to his negligence, Ald. Gordon reminded Committee that he had got a motion through Council releasing Barber, but in his absence Council carried a resolution by Ald. Jones, rescinding that action.

Ald. Jones came back at Ald. Gordon with: "We advertised for another engineer, and no one would take the job out of Barber's hands, so Council fell back on Mr. Seymour, a substitute for Engineer Barber."

The Bill For Extras.

The contractors summarized their extras as follows:

Excavation.
Concrete.
Cribbing .
Pumping.
Falsework.
Reinforcing steel.
Granite finish.
Temporary roads.
Chopping ice (in connection with extra foundations.)
Handling logs.
Earthen ramp (Quaker Oats.)
Traffic police.
Drilling investigated.
Retaining wall (Barber's office.)
West wooden fence.
Sewers.
Wiring for lights.
Extra office expense.
Extra watchman.
Extra Workmen's Compensation, Insurance bond, rentals ,etc.
Small light standards.
Quaker Oats platform.

On the basis of our existing contract we are legally entitled, they claimed, to $13,607, extra compensation, but without prejudice to our case, for immediate settlement, we are prepared to make a compromise, which will be given verbally.

The foregoing $13,607 is given as contractors plus commission fee, on a total amount of $105,879 charged as extras for the above items.

Settlement Pro Tem.

The conclusion reached after more than an hour's wordy argument as to the city's justification in settling with the contractors for these extras without having first in hand a detailed statement of just how the sum total is arrived at, was that, on motion of Ald.Turner and Whitehouse and with prejudice to the contractors, this committe recommend that Mr. Townsend be paid $6500 in settlement of his claim for extras.

WOULD INTENSIFY CLASS ANTAGONISM

LONDON, July 14.—(Canadian Press).—Resolutions declaring it a necessity that class war be intensified if all countries were adopted by the Congress of Communist Trade Unions at Moscow on Monday, says a despatch from that city to The Daily Herald, the organ of labor.

The vote of the congress on the resolutions was 282 to 23 and this action was taken, according to the despatch, with a view to ending "capitalist control of labor and consequently the political power of the capitalists by establishing the closest unity between the various sections and forms of the revolutionary movement."

FIVE ARE SHOT BY SOCIALISTS

ENGLISH PARTY FIRED AT BY MISTAKE IN ITALY—ONE DIES—TROOPS OCCUPY TOWN AND SCOUR COUNTRY.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

VITERBO, Italy, July 14.—Troops occupied this city to-day as the result of the killing by Socialists of James Beckett, an Englishman, and the wounding of his mother, the Honorable Lucy Katherine Beckett, his brother and their chauffeur.

The English party was in a motor approaching Viterbo Monday evening when the Socialists, alert for an attack by Fascisti, called on them to halt. The English chauffeur failed to understand and kept right on. A volley was fired into the automobile.

The Italian government has ordered an inquiry. An inspector of police has been despatched from Rome to Viterbo and posses are scouring the country in search of the assailants.

Lucy Katherine Beckett is the sister of Lord Grimthorpe.

HAT, CAP, AND FUR TRADE OVER TWENTY MILLIONS

OTTAWA, July 14.—(Canadian Press).—Canada's hat, cap and fur industry for the year 1919 accounted for a total production valued at $20,790,000, of which fur and fur-lined goods amounted to $2,280,000. Cloth caps were produced to the value of 3,700,000. The figures quoted, which are those of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, show that 1,541,277 straw hats and shapes were made, with a selling value of $1,868,000.

A CORRECTION.

Sydney McLaren, whose decomposed body was found in a Cavan woods, was not a patient of the Nicholls Hospital. Reliance upon the Examiner's source of information led to this mis-statement which, however, cast no reflection upon the hospital. It has since been learned that it was at St. Joseph's hospital that Mr. McLaren was a patient for a short time, leaving suddenly without any notice.

ASK ARREST OF THE YOUNG BERTHIAUMES

FAMILY QUARREL FOR CONTROL OF MONTREAL PRESSE ENTERS NEW PHASE WHEN OLDER BROTHER TAKES ACTION.

ENTIRE AFFAIR STILL SHROUDED IN MYSTERY

(Special Despatch to The Examiner.)

MONTREAL, July 14.—The family quarrel among the Berthiaumes for control of La Presse, entered a new phase yesterday when Arthur, the oldest of the brothers, asked Judge Cusson to issue five warrants for the arrest of his younger brothers, Eugene and Edourd. Further developments are expected during the day.

Yesterday's proceedings are the climax of difficulties that have been going on for some time. It is an open secret that for many months past the family has been at loggerheads, the two younger brothers being aligned against the oldest one and their three sisters. The trouble was ratched up some time ago and a petition was presented to the Quebec Legislature asking that certain amendments be made to the will of the late Hon. Treffle Berthiaume, who had created a trusteeship for the direction of La Presse, consisting of his oldest son and two outsiders, Lenon Fontaine, K.C., and J. R. Mainville, M.P., for reasons which may be made public if the present action is empressed. The petition to the Legislature was not presssed and it was thought that the difficulty had been some other. A little later on Eugene Berthiaume, one of the younger sons, had a falling out with Messrs. Fontaine and Mainville with the results that their position as adminstrators of La Presse was made practcally inexistent.

Then came the entrance of Sir Lomer Gouin as Managing Director of La Presse shortly after he resigned the Premiership. He had the office for a few months only and nothing was announced as to why he resigned. Since then the disagreement has apparently grown, and not long ago the two younger brothers took action to have the trusteeship annulled. This was resisted not only by the oldest brother, but by his three sisters. Miss Helmins Berthiaume, Mrs. L. J. Rivet and Mrs. P. R. Dutremblay. The situation was made more complicated by the death of Mainville and the application by the sisters and eldest brother to have P. R. Dutremblay, who is M. P. for Laurier-Outrement, appointed in his place. No decision on this point has yet been made. On what grounds the warrants were asked for has not been made public, but this is expected during the day along with other developments.

HUNS SUSPECTED HOSPITAL SHIPS

SO SUBMARINE OFFICER TELLS COURT AT LEIPSIC.

LEIPSIC, Germany, July 14.—At the continuation of the trial in the Supreme Court here of the two German submarine Lieutenants, Ludwig Dittmar and Johann Boldt, charged with murder in the first degree for firing on lifeboats after the Canadian hospital ship Llandovery Castle had been torpedoed in the summer of 1918, Petty Officer Popitz of the submarine which sank the ship said the Germans always suspected hospital ships, which they considered a danger to submarines.

Popitz declared he and Lieut. Dittmar tried to persuade Commander Patzig of the submarine not to attack the hospital ship, but the submarine dived, fired two torpedoes, and then came to the surface. The witness testified he saw three or four lifeboats out and several men swimming; then the crew of the submarine was ordered below deck. The general feeling prevailed that something unfortunate had occurred, Popitz declared. Later he heard firing and assumed the lifeboats were being fired on.

THE WEATHER

Yesterday's highest point was 96 degrees. To-day it is up to 93 degrees, and last night's lowest was 68 degrees. The barometer, which has been almost stationary for several weeks, is becoming unsteady, and with a downward tendency, and cooler weather, some breezes and quite possibly a thunderstorm may be confidently looked for. To those interested, I might mention that in a bulletin received this morning, Hatfield, the "rain-maker" at Medicine Hat, has had another half inch to his credit.—W. P.

OUTLOOK FOR PEACE IN IRELAND BETTER THAN EVER BEFORE, SAYS DEVALERA, ENTERING CONFERENCE

REPUBLICAN LEADER BELIEVES ATMOSPHERE IN ENGLAND AND IRELAND IS RIGHT FOR PEACE AND ONLY THING NECESSARY NOW IS FOR CONFEREES TO GET DOWN TO ROCK BOTTOM.

LONDON, July 14 (Canadian Press).—"The outlook for lasting peace in Ireland is better than it has ever been in history," declared Eamonn DeValera, Irish Republican leader, as he was about to enter into conference to-day with Mr. Lloyd-George, the British Prime Minister, in an attempt to find a basis for the adjustment of the Irish problem.

Asked what he considered was the prospect of a settled peace being brought about by the conference, DeValera replied:

"The outlook is brighter than it ever was in history. I am sure," he added, "that the atmosphere in England and Ireland is right for peace. The only thing that is necessary now is for us to get down to rock bottom."

It was the first time DeValera had spoken for publication since his arrival in London on Tuesday.

It was announced from De Valera's headquarters that this afternoon's conferences would take the form of a personal interview between the British Prime Minister and Mr. De Valera, none else being present. Mr. De Valera will be accompanied to Number 10 Downing street, the Prime Minister's official resideice, for an interview at 4.30 this afternoon, by A. R. T. O'Brien, President of the Gaelic League in London, and Robert C. Barton, member of the Irish Republican Parliament, it was stated. O'Brien and Barton, however, will not be parties to the interview.

Reports published to-day that an agreement was reached at the recent Dublin conference between Eamonn De Valera and the Southern Unionists regarding the terms which would be demanded from the British government at the conference in London were categorically denied at De Valera's headquarters this morning by Secretary Childers of the visiting party.

FOREIGN NEWS IN BRIEF

Two German steamers, loaded with mixed cargoes and flour, left Hamburg yesterday for Petrograd.

The fire broke out in the Blohm and Voss shipyards at Hamburg Monday night caused damage amounting to many millions of marks.

The Allied Supreme Council probably will meet toward the end of this month, either in Boulogne or in Paris, it was announced by the French Foreign Office yesterday.

Wagers aggregating 10000,000 marks were laid in the betting ring at the Grunewald track in Germany Sunday. This established a new record, and it is estimated the Prussian Government's share will exceed 1,000,000 marks.

Official confirmation of the beginning of the Greek offensive against the Turkish Nationalists was supplied in a Government statement issued in Athens late Monday night. This announced a preliminary movement in the operations.

Many persons were buried by a falling wall during a fire which destroyed a mercantile establishment at Dax, France, owned by Senator Millies-acroix, yesterday . Eleven bodies had been taken from the debris up to a late hour yesterday afternoon.

Australia is taking measures to conserve forests hitherto regarded as obstacles to settlement. An area of milling timber, estimated at 24,000,000 acres will it is believed, when put under the new national forest policy produce ten million feet annually and yield a royalty of £2,000,000 a year to the state.

Ratifications of the treaty between the Allied nations and Hungary, known as the Trianon Treaty, was voted by the French Senate Monday. Included in the ratification was the protocol of the treaty which stipulated that protection would be given to racial and religious minorities in Hungarian territory, as well as districts detached from that that country and paced under the jurisdictions of Czecho-Slovakia, Roumania and Jugo-Slavia.

PIPERS MADE A HIT.

Peterborough Caledonians Won Continuous Applause in the Orange Parade at Port Hope.

Everyone in Peterborough who attended the Twelfth of July Celebration in Port Hope came home just a wee bit prouder of their home city, because of the fine showing made by the Peterborough Caledonian Pipe Band, clad in their new kilts of the Cameron tartan. They received one continuous series of ovations during the long march.

The feeling of admiration for our boys was not confined merely to the people from Peterborough who attended the celebration, but from the many nice things said by the Port Hopers, they are awaiting another opportunity of having the Caledonians visit them in the near future.

For use on marshy ground an inventor has patented a wooden track for automobiles, made in sections that can be quickly laid and joined.

SUTHERLAND IS NON-COMMITAL

RIDICULES ATTEMPTS TO PREDICT CONTENTS OF HYDRO. RADIAL COMMISSIONS REPORT.

TORONTO, July 14.—"Such predictions as to the nature of our report are entirely idle and worthless," said Mr. Justice R. F. Sutherland, chairman of the Commission investigating Hydro radials, in commenting to-day on an evening paper's prophecy that the forthcoming report would "knock" Hydro radial trunk lines.

"Guessing is easy, and anybody can guess, but nobody is in a position to guess the contents of our report before it is made," added the judge. "We are working night and day in an effort to have the report ready by the end of this month. No eight-hour day for us," laughed His Lordship.

The Commission is meeting regularly and making good progress in the preparation of the report.

Justice Sutherland merely smiled and would say nothing in regard to the hot weather suggestion of Mayor Church that the members of the Commission should be burned in effigy at a protest meeting to be held in Queen's Park next fall. The Mayor had made this suggestion to the Board of Control yesterday, but it failed to draw even one word of comment from the chairman of the Commission.

As to the nature of the report, Justice Sutherland stated that naturally he could not be expected to make any statement before the report is drawn up and submitted to the Government.

Airplanes are taking part in the struggle for the mountain heights near to which is the first objective of the Greek offensive, which began last Monday.

CITY MAY PROVIDE SEWER CONNECTION FOR MT. ST. JOSEPH

WILL RECOMMEND PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALTH TO ORDER WORK ON SANITARY GROUNDS.

BOARD OF WORKS MEET

The Provincial Board of Health will be requested by the City Council to order sewerage connection from the city's system to Mt. St. Joseph, on the Monaghan road, on sanitary grounds, if the Board of Works action last night is adopted by the City Council, to whom at last night's meeting the local Board of Health strongly recommended this privilege.

Once before Council agreed to this connection, by way of McDonnel street, and gave notice to that effect, but Mr. Geo. Hatton, who has vacant property on McDonnel street, secured an injunction in the courts restraining the city from proceeding with work, which he protested would entail an unwarranted share of costs to him, that an institution outside the corporation might have city sewerage privileges.

The Board of Works, however, in majority last night, inclined to the view that Mt. St. Joseph is entitled to the relief from insantiary sewage conditions asged for, which conditions are also a nuisance to that section of the city adjacent to the institution. Mt. St. Joseph agreed last time to pay for the sewage connection along the whole frontage on Monaghan Road to McDonnel street, where it would have connected with a proposed sewerage extension up McDonnel street. They also agreed to pay their share of maintenance of the city's main sewage disposal system on the same principle as city residents are assessed.

City Engineer Parsons reported that as three or four property owners on Walton street wanted sewerage privileges, a sewer from Mt. St. Joseph could connect at Monaghan Road with one extended up Walton street, which is the closest to Mt. St. Joseph except McDonnel street. The construction, he said, would be cheap.

Ald. Crowe thought an adequate septic tank would serve the institution's purpose and declared that Mr. Hatton who had property on Walton street, would block the proposition, as he had that for sewerage up McDonnel street, were the work advertised.

Committee, however, decided not to advertise the plan in the usual way, but apply to the Provincial Board of Health to grant Mt. St. Joseph the relief asked for, by authorizing the construction of the proposed sewer as a sanitary measure on condition that the institution agree to pay the same construction and sewerage maintenance costs as they agreed to pay for connection via McDonnel street.

J. W. Boorman's request for sewer connection with his five properties on Edinburgh street was allowed.

F. C. Roakes' request that Aylmer street, south of Princess, for 250 feet, be oiled, was also granted.

Business Damaged.

Schneider Bros., Higgins Hardware, John Kylie and R. J. Soden complained of the unfortunate state of affairs on the south side of Hunter street, east of George, where the Bank of Toronto building is undergoing remodelling. For over a year, they said, traffic had been diverted to Simcoe street, over the temporary bridge and now they are practically cut off from George street, as the portion of the sidewalk open is so narrow that passage is difficult, especially on Saturday, and their business is affected.

In view of increased business assessment this year, petitioners considered they were entitled to more protection of their business interests on the city's part, or a rebate of taxes for damages they are at present suffering.

Ald. Jones said the work on the bank building is practically completed, but he declared that had the disgraceful conditions there been caused by Peterborough contractors the authorities would have been after them with both feet.

Alderman Whitehouse replied that he had personally requested the contractors to keep their gravel and rubbish from off the road as much as practicable.

Ald. Jones—"They might at least endeavor to keep their dust from penetrating adjacent stores."

On motion of Ald. Turner and Jones, the city engineer will interview the contractors with a view to abating the nuisance complained of, and to removing the boarding from the sidewalk at the earliest moment.

Pigeon Creek Bridge.

On motion of Ald. Turner and Jones the committee will co-operate with the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria in sending a deputation to Ottawa, and urging the re-construction of the Pigeon Creek bridge.

Nothing Doing.

Committee will not recommend regrading of three or four streets on Victoria Heights, where there are only two houses built since putting these streets in shape several years ago.

Another Sewer.

Committee approved of laying a sewer on Crescent street, at an estimated cost of $2,200.

Traffic By-law.

In compliance with a request from the Peterborough Automobile Association committee will recommend to Council that a by-law be prepared to consolidate the Traffic By-law and its subsequent amendments, with additions as follows:

No vehicle shall stand in front of the entrance to a theatre, auditorium, or public building where assemblages of over one hundred are being held.

That no vehicle shall stand within five feet of a fire hydrant, or be parked or stopped in such a position as to prevent convenient movement of another vehicle already stopped.

No vehicle to be parked on any bridge within the municipality.

This was the motion of Ald. Jones and Turner, and on Ald. Turner's suggestion, the Automobile Association will be recommended to prepare booklets of the traffic rules for distribution among motor car owners so that no one will find himself hauled up in the police court through not being conversant with the law.

Ald. Turner's proposition that hydraints be painted red also found favor with the committee.

There were present, Ald. Frank Whitehouse, chairman, Mayor A. A. McIntyre, Aldermen R. Jones, Nagel Phelan, J. J. Turner, R. Morrison, Joseph Crowe and G. N. Gordon.

YUKON MAY FIND IT HARD GETTING BOOZE FROM EAST

MUST COME THROUGH ALASKA, PROHIBITED TERRITORY.

DAWSON, Y. T., July 14.—(Canadian Press).—Enforcement of the embargo which the United States has placed on liquor shipments through its territory will render abortive the big vote cast in the Yukon Monday in favor of the importation of liquor for beverage purposes. The Chief Executive of the Yukon Territory, George P. McKenzie, is investigating the possibilities of the case, following the receipt of a message from the agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Skaguay, Alaska, which reads:

"The embargo on all liquors in transit through the United States has again been imposed. Only shipments which arrived on the steamer arriving here July 13 will be allowed to go forward. Future shipments of beverages containing more than one half of one per cent. alcohol will not be accepted unless they are accompanied by a permit from the United States Prohibition Enforcement Board."

Unless this permission can be obtained the Yukon will be cut off from its liquor supply because all transportation routes in to the Yukon cross United States territory in Alaska.

The effect of the "wet" vote Monday will be the establishing of Government control in the agencies for liquor, but orders probably will be placed outside of the territory as at present. The present law prohibits the sale of liquor within the Yukon, but permits importation by private citizens. Monday's vote does not technically alter the status quo, but it is understood that a majority of the members of the territorial Legislature previously agreed on a system of Government agencies and control if the latest plebiscite did not favor a bone dry law.

THE IRISH PEACE DELEGATES ARE OPTIMISTIC

WIND FANS FOREST FIRES AND VILLAGE OF RUEL WIPED OUT; FLAMES ARE STILL UNCHECKED

WIND BLOWING 70 MILES AN HOUR FOR A TIME SCATTERS EMBERS TO GREAT DISTANCES — LIGHTNING STARTS NEW FIRES NEAR COBALT—HEAVY LOSS TO LUMBER COMPANIES

CAPREAL, July 14.— (Canadian Press.)—The village of Ruel, a subdivision of the C. N. R., was completely wiped out by forest fires which swept this district before a stiff wind yesterday. Two large lumber mills owned by W. H. Bromley, of Pembroke, were reduced to ashes, including all lumber and logs piled there, besides 37 carloads of ties, the property of the C.N.R. The loss in dollars and cents as yet has not been estimated.

The fires, which gained headway during the night, were beyond the control of the fire rangers this morning. Early yesterday, the wind shifted somewhat, thus saving the village of Gogma, which had been in the direct path of the flames. About noon a heavy electrical storm hit the district, accompanied by hail and rain. The tempest was of short duration and had passed in about 20 minutes, during which time the wind reached a velocity of 70 miles an hour and a quarter of an inch of rain fell. Hail stones of huge size accompanied the storm. The fire covers a large area, and although rain is falling, the flames are moving forward unchecked, and the embers are being carried by the wind to great distances. The path of the fire is along the line of the C. N. R. east of Gogama and it is gradually working its way towards Makwa, a small lumber village at mileage 77.5. A large mill owned by the Pembroke Tie and Lumber Company is in its path. National telegraph lines running along the right of way have stood a severe test; none has fallen, although the fire is raging all around.

COBALT, Ont., July 14.—(Canadian Press.)—The bush in this district is so dry from the prolonged drought that a fire which broke out in the neighborhood of a large lumber camp twenty miles from Latchford, on the Montreal river, was ascribed by bushmen to lightning striking one of the trees in the bush. The fire has developed rapidly and Cobalt last evening was enveloped in a thickening haze of smoke. The heat wave continues, with the thermometer registering 97 degrees.

CAMPBELLFORD PEOPLE ARE BUYING TRENT BRIDGE LOTS

WILL BUILD SUMMER HOMES AT POPULAR RESORT — BOWLERS ARE PLAYING IN PETERBORO—GREAT INTEREST IN LACROSSE MATCH.

CAMPBELLFORD, July 14—The Campbellford Bowling Club is coming into the limelight at last. A number of bowlers are playing in Peterborough this week at the district tournament.

The lights are just being installed, so that the members have had hardly any chance to bowl up to the present. No light at night and too hot in the daytime to practice, have been the conditions.

They have fashioned a beautiful green down on the river shore, and it is well cared for.

Those who are to play in Peterborough are;

Skips — A. L. Reindeau, D. W. Douglas, J. Gay, W. Carnahan.

Bowlers — J. Doiman, C. Weston, T. L. Diamond, Dr. Longmore, L. B. Glover, J. Stewart, A. J. Meyers, W. Wiggins, Chas. Davidson, J. Archer, S. Neil, C. Gillespie.

All Interest in the Game.

The Intermediate Lacrosse game in Havelock on Friday promises to be exceptionally close. Campbellford has an excellent team, while Havelock has a good team, which is practising hard. The Havelock men each run two miles in the morning and one mile in the evening, which will certainly harden them up.

Havelock's men are young, while the Campbellford team are older.

Looking at the coming game from all sides, it will certainly be a close one.

Sold Farm for $12,600.00.

Mr. George Martin sold his fine 200-acre farm on the English line to Clement Russell on Tuesday for $12,600. This is a fine farm, with good buildings, near town, and with good soil. Mr. T. L. Diamond was the agent.

Sold 5,600 Boxed Plants.

It might be interesting to know how many vegetables are needed to supply the town of Campbellford.

Mr. Charles Palliser, the largest market gardener around this vicinity, sold in the neighbourhood of 5,600 boxed plants this spring. This includes cabbage and tomato plants.

In his own garden he has 2,000 head of early cabbage, which he has been marketing for the last two weeks. Also 11,500 head of late cabbage for the fall markets. He is now enjoying ripe tomatoes from his own garden, which were grown in the open. With an average crop, he will market 250 bushel of tomatoes.

He also has a large patch of fine, healthy strawberry plants, which will surely yield some fruit. His onion crop will yield at the very least around 300 bushels.

He has a fine conservatory and hothouse for flowers. It is a most beautiful sight to walk through these houses when the flowers are in bloom.

Mr. Palliser has customers all over and as far away as Montreal.

Put all these vegetables, including his large celery beds, potatoes, beets, carrots, sugar beets, etc., in one large pile, add the produce of the many other gardeners and you will surely exclaim, "Where does it all go to?"

Mails Delayed.

Due to the wreck of a freight train vesterday morning near Madoc Junction, the morning mail did not arrive in town until nearly noon, and the post office officials were kept busy informing people of the delay.

Seymour Needs a Hatfield.

The weather in this vicinity continues exceedingly dry, and although showers have passed around, Campbellford is still in the dry belt. Even Hatfield, if he could produce the badly needed moisture, would be a most welcome guest. The raspberries are drying up, the housewives being scarcely able to procure enough for canning. They are retailing readily at 25 cents a box.

The cheesemakers in the vicinity also report a great dropping off in the milk supply.

COMMISSION IS TO BE APPOINTED TO PLAN AN INDUSTRIAL REVIVAL

TORONTO, July 14 (Canadian Press).—It is learned unofficially that the Drury Government contemplates the appointment of a special commission to look into industrial and commercial conditions in Ontaro with a view to evolving practical plans for a general revival.

The commission will probably include the presidents of Boards of Trade, Ontario manufacturers, and farmers.

The personnel of the commission is under consideration. Two prominent agrarians deemed likely to be appointees are W. C. Good, of Paris, and R. J. McMillan, of Seaforth.

Mr. Good is a gold medalist in economics of the University of Toronto, and has been described as the "U. F. O. Professor of Economics."

Mr. McMillan is a director of the U. F. O. Co-operative Company.

TERRIFIC WIND HITS THE SOO HEAVY DAMAGE

SOO, Ont., July 14.—(Canadian Press.)— In a terrific wind and hail storm which struck the Soo at mid-afternoon No. 1 ore bridge of the Algoma Steel Company was blown down, entailing damage of three hundred thousand.

The roof of the beater room of the Spanish River Pulp and Paper Company was also demolished, but the damage is unknown.

Numerous reports are coming in from the district immediately surrounding the city of damage to barns and crops, and it is feared that the benefit derived from the rain will be more than counter-balanced by the damage by hail which accompanied the storm.

In the city itself, awnings by the dozen were demolishd, trees blown down and the electric light and power services put out of commission.

ANOTHER RAIN FOR HATFIELD

A NICE SUMMER SHOWER WILL FILL HIS CONTRACT NOW AND GET HIM $8,000.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

LETHBRIDGE, July 14. — Hatfield, rainmaker, Medicine Hat, is a happy man to-day. Tuesday night it rained again, this time .30 inches, bringing his total up to 3.76 inches and leaving him only .24 inches, a nice summer shower, to go in order to fulfill his contract to deliver four inchesof rain and get $8,000.

Hatfield has done better the past month. For a while late in May and early in June he was desperate, as rains went north of him, south of him, around him without any falling on him. But since June 16 he has produced 2.21 inches of rain, and fulfillment of his contract now will be easy.

'I promised two inches of rain in July and I am delivering it," he declared to-day. "In some parts of my district I am doing better than that. At Bow Island on the western edge Tuesday evening, two and a quarter inches of rain fell in 45 minutes."

Hatfield is confident he can do better next year by using two towers and placing them on the western edge of the district, and he will put that proposition up to the United Agricultural District of Medicine Hat when he meets the farmers Friday to discuss signing a contract for 1922.

STAGE SET FOR NEGOTIATIONS FOR IRISH PEACE; ATMOSPHERE THIS MORNING WAS FAVORABLE

VALERA AND LLOYD GEORGE EACH MET THEIR COLLEAGUES THIS MORNING PRELIMINARY TO CONFERENCE—IRISH DELEGATES OPTIMISTIC AND EXPECT PEACE TO BE SECURED RY CONFERENCE.

(By Charles M. McCann, United Press Special Correspondent.)

LONDON, July 14.—Britain and Ireland meet around the peace table to-day to settle their centuries-old feud.

Eamonn DeValera, president of the "Irish Republic," and Premier Lloyd-George had final conferences with their respective groups of colleagues this morning, preliminary to the first session of the peace negotiations, scheduled for 4.30 p.m. in Downing Street.

The British Premier was drawing up a formal statement of his Government's proposals for a settlement. This was to be presented to DeValera this afternoon.

The first session was expected to be short, it being anticipated that DeValera and the other Sinn Fein delegates would want time to discuss Britain's proposition among themselves before beginning the actual conversations with Lloyd-George.

The atmosphere was considered distinctly favourable to peace to-day. The Irish delegates were openly optimistic. They said informally they fully expected that the negotiations beginning to-day would lead to a final peace in Ireland.

KILL 30,000 HORSES TO EFFECT ECONOMY

LONDON, July 14.—(Associated Press).—Horse lovers throughout the country have been shocked by Colonial Secretary Winston Churchill's announcement in the House of Commons that 30,000 army horses in Mesopotamia are to be killed because it is too expensive to bring them home.

It was explained that they are mainly heavy draft horses for which there is no local use, and that they had to be fed on imported fodder. The nearest possible markets are India or Egypt, but the difficulties and cost of transportation thence are said to be prohibitive.

Shipping men say it costs £40 to £50 to bring a horse from the East to England, not counting horsemen's wages.

The War Office view is that it is better for the horses to be killed humanely and scientifically than to be left in the hands of natives who would not care for them properly, and no one would suggest turning them adrift in the desert.

The Euphrates river is navigable for about 1200 miles.

PRIZE TO FIRST U. S. CREW TO SINK JAP SHIP

PATERSON, N. J., July 14.—The first United States crew to capture or sink a Japanese warship in event of war between the United States and Japan would receive a prize of 5,000 German marks by the will of Chas. O. H. Fritzsche, former Paterson engineer, made public yesterday. It was received here from Dresden, Germany, where Mr. Fritzsche died on Jan. 1.

The will, made on April 19, 1910, creates a 5,000 mark trust fund, the income of which is to go to buy firewood for the poor of Paterson, unless this country gets into war with Japan. Then the principal is to go for the prize.

PROBABILITIES.

Variable winds; thunderstorms in many localities, but partly fair, with stationary or slightly lower temperature.

Bavaria will undertake the production of aluminum from native clay to replace the bauxite it formerly imported from France and Dalmatia.

McClary's Electric Range

Efficient Economical

HOW to utilize heat without waste is the problem in any type of cooking stove or range.

For seventy years McClary's have been solving these problems. They know what is needed.

Furthermore, their long experience has taught them how to build what is needed in Electric Ranges.

Their Protected Element is different from and better than the ordinary exposed Element from which dirt and grease, resulting often in damage, cannot be excluded.

No dirt, grease or water can get into McClary's Protected Element.

McClary's Electric Range oven is different from any other, because it is made without seams or joints, is nickled inside to make an easily cleaned surface, has round corners, has easily removable racks, has hinged elements that can be swung out of the way for cleaning.

The oven holds all the heat and cooks like a fireless cooker with a minimum of current.

Behind McClary's Electric Range stands the reputation of a name known for quality in kitchen equipment throughout Canada.

SHOULD BE ENFORCED.

A traffic regulation that is sound in principle and that is or should be a valuable contribution towards public safety, is that which seeks to prevent motor cars from passing standing street cars which have stopped to take on or to let off passengers. The rule is an admirable one, but unforunately it is being often ignored by local motorists, and some narrow escapes from accidents as a result of this practice have been reported. An exampole should be made of some of the offenders before their habit of taking a chance results in a fatality. Not only is the regulation disregarded in outlying sections of the city of the city, but even at downtown corners careless motorists travel past standing cars at the risk of running down pedestrians. It is an offence that may seem trifling, but unfortunately serious results might easily follow an evasion of this section of the traffic regulations. For that reason the law should be strictly enforced until motorists realize that a few moments' delay is preferable to the risk of an accident and the certainty of a fine.

THE RADIAL PROBE.

There is great interest in the forthcoming report of the Hydro-Radial Commission and some of the newspapers are making guesses at the findings to be brought down by the Sutherland Commission. One forecast has it that on the whole the report will condemn the radial proposition, being especially severe in its opposition to radial trunk lines. Short line radials will be recommended, according to this newspaper guess and the Commission will also suggest that the radial enterprise be placed under a separate management and kept away from the control of the Hydro-Electric Commission. It is to be hoped that this summary is not correct, for a knock-out for the Radial scheme would undoubtedly create a very strong feeling among the urban municipalities. Already the irrepressible Mayor Church of Toronto is proposing a huge Hydro picnic at which a copy of the Sutherland Commission's report might be publicly burned. Evidently Toronto's chief magistrate has already made up his mind that the Commission proposes to kill the project.

WET BUT DRY.

The joke seems to be on the people of the Yukon, who on Monday voted in favour of the importation of liquor for beverage purposes, only to find that as a result of the embargo on all liquors in transit through the United States they will be unable to secure the supply they covet. The wet vote will mean nothing, for all transportation routes into the Yukon cross United States' territory in Alaska, and if the embargo is maintained, as seems altogether likely, the people of the Yukon terrtiory will be cut off from the cup that cheers and also inebriates By the terms of the United States' embargo future shipments of liquor containing more than one half of one per cent. will not be accepted by the carrying companies unless accompanied by a permit from the United States' Prohibition Enforcement Board. Upon the chance of obtaining this permission, the thirsty ones of the Yukon are basing their hopes. It is a curious development, coming as it does, immediately after the referendum.

SIGNS OF PROGRESS.

The Examiner has no apology to make for its campaign on behalf of better bathing facilities for Peterborough. To some people the matter may seem trivial; not worthy of the space it has been given. But it is not trivial. The providing of parks and recreation grounds, civic skating rinks and civic bathing beaches is coming to be more and more recognized as one of the important duties of a municipal administration. Facilities for sane, healthful amusement are not fads or luxuries; they are a distinct asset to the community and the more adequate and complete the arrangements for recreation for young and old the more widespread becomes a city's reputation for progress and advancement. Peterborough is, fortunately, well provided with parks, largely, it must be admitted, to the munificence of a public-spirited citizen. In regard to public athletic grounds, the same progress has not been made, although the Nicholls Oval has been of great assistance. During the past few years some advancement has been made towards improving the bathing facilities, but the policy of the different Councils from year to year has not been distinguished by the vision needed to achieve the best results. The aldermen have been satisfied to adopt a makeshift programme instead of visualizing the possibilities offered by a place like Inverlea Park and boldly launching out on a broad policy. For a fraction of the cost of chipping the Hunter street bridge a modern bathing house could have been edected, equipped with lockers and other facilities and large enough to meet any demand upon its accommodation. Nature provided Peterborough with a wonderful asset in the Otonabee river. We have failed to take advantage of nature's bounty, and allowed practically all our water front to get into private hands. Inverlea Park is one section that still belongs to the community; why not use it to the best advantage?

KEEPING COOL.

1. Dress to suit the season. Leave off something—as much as seemliness permits. All style rules fail in hot weather.

2. Bathe frequently, in tub or shower if you cannot conveniently connect with the lake. Many consider tepid or even warm baths more cooling in after effects than cold baths. In any case, avoid vigorous towelling after the bath. Wash the hands and face frequently, when a bath is not practical, and let the moisture evaporate rather than wiping it off.

3. A plan followed in tropical countries calls for a leisurely, tepid bath at bedtime. Then, without using a towel at all put the night clothing on the wet body and lie down at once, preferably where there is air stirring. Evaporation is supposed to produce a comfortable coolness, inducing a sleep good for several hours. The scheme can be worked two or three times in one night if found useful and necessary.

4. Drink freely of iced water. The skin needs moisture with which to honor the heat's demands. Lemonade will be found useful as well as most delightful, if the high price of lemons, hoisted for the occasion, does not forbid.

5. Get an electrical fan, if possible. The operating cost is not an appreciable item, while the resulting comfort at such a time is beyond estimating.

6. Avoid unusual exertion or exposure to the sun, though it is not necessary to omit work or play to which you are accustomed.

7. Do everything you can manage toward making the exceptional heat endurable; but don't talk about it to the exclusion of other topics. Be thankful it is so exceptional—and don't let your mind dwell on it.

8. Most of all, consider human life, health and comfort above habit, routine and lifelong rule. Work as much as you must but no more. Be intelligent enough to admit that the exceptional weather calls for exceptional conduct—and don't try to do all you could do in December. This injunction is intended particularly for the lady of the house, who too often works without the keep-cool facilities of offices or shops and often lets her sense of housekeeping duty prevail over her duty to herself.—Cleveland News.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

This is the time of year when frivolous flappers are the limit of a man's thinking powers.

Short vamps are to be the vogue next fall, say the shoemen. Looks like a lot of girls would be out of luck.

And do you remember when your temper would reflect the color of a sky which held out the promise of rain?

The law of compensation has been proven in the case of women's dress. They make up for what they take off below by putting an equal amount over the ears.

And as the St. Thomas' Times-Journal says, man was made for work and most of them will always have to be made.

Once in a while you meet a man just back from a fishing trip who doesn't gesticulate with his arms to show how long his catches were. But such men are usually paralyzed.

This is how one of our contributors feels:
A man I hate

His home-brewed beer.

"She is determined to be a musician, but cannot decide whether to make a specialty of the piano or violin."

"She has no positive predilection for either?"

"Oh, yes; but some of her frineds think she looks better standing, and others that sitting is more becoming to her."

TAXES ON THE INSTALMENT PLAN

WINNIPEG, July 14.—(Canadian Press).—Ratepayers of this city can have the benefit of the instalment plan system in paying their taxes this year if they are not in a position to pay the entire amount in bulk, city tax officials announce. It is stated that the comparatively small tax bills should be paid in full, but a minimum of one-fifth of larger bills will be accepted in instalments. Fifty-five thousand tax notices calling for the payment of $9,696,950 together with notices demanding payment of more than $1,000,000 of tax arrears have been sent out.

WHEN CROPS LAG

When the tomatoes and other garden crops lag or seem to stand still you can often give them a quick boost by using nitrate of soda in liquid form. Dissolve an ounce of nitrate in a gallon of water and pour the liquid around the plants Another plan is to pour the liquid over coal ashes or coarse sand, and when the ashes or sand have dried spread them like fertilizer around the plants. This is an easy plan and avoid the danger of burning which exists when the nitrate is used alone.

DROPPING IN, DINING OUT— ALL DONE IN A BATHING SUIT

CHICAGO, July 14.—Chicago has gone back to Eden. The style today in women's dress is—no dress at all.

Bathing suits have taken the place of swishing and diaphanous skirts Many women in the Wilson avenue, Hyde Park and Jackson Park districts, within a rdius of three miles of bathing beaches, do their errands and visiting in one-piece splashing costumes during these sweltering days.

It's nothing at all to see the Mack Sennett girls of everyday life looping Chicago's loop in elevated trains and surface cars. Some wear bathrobes. Some don't.

The wild waves didn't put the idea in the minds of the girls, say the plain blunt men who have had midsummer zip added to their dull lives. Most of the suits have never been immersed, they say.

'I'm going to undress for dinner," is quite a usual expression around the household these days.

Eating in restaurants, good ones, too, is being done in seaside attire. To make it more clubby, many husbands twist themselves into bathing suits to have dinner with their wives.

The former first-nighter at the burlesque show now sits in the baldheaded row on the curb without paying war tax and gives the designers of the land-going bathing suits credit.

Some suits have neat little fig leaves interwoven; others dashing exclamation points and some cute little question marks.

The significance of the fig leaves and question marks can easily be defined. They all wonder if the question mark means:
"What next?"

Brooms are described in literature as early as 1200 B.C.

KENT REFUSES TO EXPLAIN.

Chapter 10.

"Babs, dear! There—put your arms around my neck and give me another good big hug," Kent entreated, as I greeted him at 6 o'clock. "My, it's great to be home again. Those few hours in Philadelphia seemed like a year."

"That's the way it seemed to me, dearest," I said, pushing the thick, black hair back off his broad forehead.

Kent took the big chair, and I pulled up the little leather stool and dropped down on it by his side, resting against his knees. We sat like that for some minutes in perfect silence—wonderful silence pervaded with love and understanding.

After a while I moved away, ever so little, and Kent caught hold of my arm.

"Don't go, Babs, it's so good to be near you again," he told me.

"But I must be getting dinner ready, Kent," I said. "Surely you are hungry, and you do look so tired."

"No, don't go now. Wait and we'll go out for dinner. We'll go over to the Brevoort and have a feast. How's that?" he asked, with a hug.

"But I have dinner partly cooked already, dear—and the chops—it's sort of extravagant," I explained.

"Oh, bother about the chops, Babs. It will give your precious hands a rest from eternal dish washing," he answered pressing them to his lips first one and then the other. "Maybe business will take a turn for the better, and I can let you get a cook. We might try a Jap, and see how it works."

"Oh, Kent, that makes me think. Mr. Lachman has not been able to find the diamond. I telephoned to Mrs. Walker this morning to ask about it. I'm so sorry for them."

Kent's brows lowered and a queer tense expression passed over his face.

"You telephoned?" he asked absent-mindedly.

I went on to tell him about our conversation and what Mrs. Walker had told me, but I realized that Kent's mind was far off and the look in his eyes was wild and almost desperate.

"Kent!" I cried, "don't look like that," and I was conscious of a gripping fear closing in around my heart.

Kent caught me gently by the shoulders, but his eyes avoided mine.

"Get your hat on, dearie. I think I'm getting hungry," he said, trying to force a gay little laugh.

As we walked through 8th street, I remembered that I had told Mr. Blake of Kent's strip to Philadelphia.

"Kent," I said, "I did something very foolish—I called up your office to see if they knew what hotel you would stop at in Philadelphia. You know you forgot to tell me. I did not realize that you might not want them to know you had gone. I was sorry afterwards."

Kent was quiet for a minute.

"I'm glad you told me now. I'll mention it to Blake," he said. "It was a little business of my own. Nothing that Mr. Blake knows anything about," he explained.

"What was it, Kent? Can't you tell me?" I asked almost fearfully. I could not explain why, but something about Kent's trip to Philadelphia bothered me. I slipped my arm through his and hugged him up close to me.

"I'm afraid I can't tell—just now, Babs," he answered hesitatingly.

"Soon, Kent," I pleaded. "I can't stand your keeping anything from me."

At the Brevoort we dined well and all doubts and sad thoughts slipped away from us in the happiness of being together again.

As the waiter placed the check face downward on the table in front of Kent, Tom Barney came up in back of us and dropped down easily into an empty chair.

"Well, old man, back again, eh! Do any business?"

Kent pulled out his wallet and handed the waiter a bill. I knew by his manner that he was not over-joyed at seeing Tom.

"Pretty good business by the looks of your wallet, I'll say," Tom grinned. "Did your wife tell you I called on her while you were away? Sure, I'll keep an eye on her any time you want to run off again," he said, and slapped Kent on the shoulder.

EAST PETERBORO ORANGEMEN CELEBRATED 12TH AT NORWOOD

MATTHEW WHYTE ATTENDED HIS 53RD WALK, BEATING RECORD OF TORONTO'S OLDEST ORANGEMAN.

NORWOOD, July 13.—The 231 anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne was celebrated here on Tuesday, by a very large number of local Orangemen and visiting brethren Early in the morning the fife and drum bands were to be heard and people began to arrive from all directions. A parade of the local lodge was held in the morning along Peterboro street, to Pine then along Spring to Colborne street, along Colborne to Peterboro and then to the Lodge Room. At one o'clock lodges began to assemble and get ready for their grand parade. About fifteen lodges took part and after parading the principle streets repaired to Mr. Cyrus Johnston's grove at the edge of the village where addresses were given by several prominent men including Col. Duff, Rev. Mr. Ross of Peterboro, the resident clergy and others.

There was a booth on the ground where ice cream, soft drinks could be had. This was freely patronized and long before the programme was completed everything was sold out. Ice cream parlors and restaurants did a rushing business. The Ladies of the Methodist Church served meals in the basement of the Church and realized $250.00.

Everybody went home well satisfied with the day's proceedings and looking forward to next year's celebration.

In the evening some of the members proceeded to the home of one of the veteran members Mr. Wm. Dowdell and played several selections.

Toronto papers say that one man in Toronto attended his fifty-second celebration. Norwood can go one better than that. Mr. Matt Whyte having attended his fifty-third celebration this year at Norwood.

"There's a Reason"

GRANDMA USED SAGE TEA TO DARKEN HAIR

She Mixed Sulphur With It to Restore Colour, Gloss, Youthfulness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn grey, streaked, and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked, or grey. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, grey, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all grey hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft, and luxuriant.

BECK ADVISES THE PROVINCE TO GUARANTEE BONDS

URGED BY DRURY, THE HYDRO COMMISSION FORMALLY RECOMMENDS IN FAVOR.

TORONTO, July 14.—The Provincial Hydro Commission has complied with the request of Premier Drury that it recommend for or against the guarantee of the $13,000,000 of Mackenzie power bonds that are held in England. The commission recommends in favor. Without the Provincial guarantee the bondholders refused to surrender $8,000,000 of demand notes that they held as security. The Mackenzie purchase deal could not go through unless the demand notes were retired.

The commission, in answer to questions put to it by the Premier, further declares that the whole purchase is in the interest of the Hydro project and that it is desirable that the bonds of the commission, to the amount of $600,000, should be guaranteed by the Province—so that certain betterments may be made to the Metropolitan Railway.

The Drury Government is willing to guarantee the $13,000,000 of bonds. Its attitude towards bonds for betterments is not definitely decided. No decision will be reached pending the Premier's return from Kenora.

Several hundred thousand dollars of overdue water rentals must be paid by the Mackenzie interests before the deal is finally closed. The only other obstacle is the demand of the county of York that a service be given to Farnham avenue as provided by the Metropolitan franchise. The county is not disposed to be bought off with a lump sum—it wants the service.

GOVERNMENT ORDERS IMMEDIATE APPEAL

GRAIN INQUIRY CASE IS TO BE PRESSED WITH UTMOST DISPATCH.

OTTAWA, July 14.—Under orders from the Department of Justice, Col. O. M. Biggar has issued instructions by wire to Federal Counsel in Winnipeg that immediate stps be taken to secure an appeal to the Manitoba Appeal Court from the judgment of Mr. Justice Curran, which gives permanency to the interim injunction against the grain enquiry. Counsel are further advised to secure as early as possible a hearing to the end that a speedy, though perhaps not final, decision may be reached by the tribunal in question and that steps can be taken for the preparation of a further appeal if necessary.

While officials here decline to discuss Judge Curran's judgment, it is understood that Federal Counsel will base their appeal on the contention that investigation of matters pertaining to property and civil rights is not entirely without the jurisdiction of the Federal authorities.

WILL THE SERMON SUPERCEDE FIGHT?

REV. BYRON STAUFFER SAYS PAPERS MAY THINK SO.

TORONTO, July 14.—"The newspaper taught me a lesson in organization," said Rev. Byron Stauffer, speaking from his experience as a former newspaper man in an address to the Kiwanis Club here yesterday. 'Joe McCullagh of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat defined journalism as 'the art of guessing where hell would break loose next, so as to have a reporter on hand to tell the story.' To do this the whole earth must be well harnessed. The newspaper is the world's Mrs. Grundy, the tattler of four continents. In every capital are men working for us tonight. They toil anonymously, swiftly and doggedly that you and I may buy the product of their labor for two cents.

"Conciseness is another lesson of journalism. 'Cut it to the bone,' is the daily motto in a newspaper office. To imagine that an editor 'must have something to fill up the paper,' is a tremendous mistake. Another error is to suppose that a newspaper aims to be a scandalmonger.

"Journalism preaches a sermon in adaptability. When the editor learns that sermons are twice as popular as prize fights he will go on a still hunt for pulpit reports, instead of Dempsey-Carpentier bouts.

"Strange to say the aim of publishers once was to keep down circulation.

"The newspaper taught me speed. Time is the great element which distinguishes news from history, and the aim of the editor is to get the news to his readers before it is stale."

Mr. Stauffer made a plea for moral support on behalf of the newspapers of Canada, for in no other country, said he, was there such an effort to maintain a high journalistic standard.

HOW TO GUARD AGAINST APPENDICTIS ATTACK

Appendicitis is an intestinal infection often due to old, retained waste matter. Even though bowels move daily, poisons may accumulate in the system for months. The intestinal antiseptic, Adler-i-ka, acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel and brings out mater which might start an appendicitis infection. EXCELLENT for gas on the stomach and chronic constipation. Adler-i-ka brings out matter which you never thought was in your system. McDermid & Jury and E. L. Payne, druggists.

POOR WAY TO PROSPER.

The merchant who neglects to advertise is like the farmer who plants his seed but neglects to cultivate the soil. He may harvest some crop, but it will be insignificant compared with that of the farmer who after planting his seed helps the production by cultivation. Putting goods on shelves and opening the front door is a poor way to make business grow.—Winchester Press.

Says Women Can Not Expect To Keep Privileges If They Want Their Cherished Independence

To the Editor of the Women's Page.

Madam,—Your correspondents are spending their time in trying to evade my question, not in answering it. When men made something special, something "privileged" out of woman, they accorded her an exalted, an ideal position, even if it is often only in theory. But in trouble or difficulty a woman could always appeal to it and public opinion amongst men compelled them to do what she wanted or needed. When women stepped into the marketplace of life and said, "We want all the rights men have, and more, too, (our old position of precedence, of the weaker vessel, of somebody to be taken care of as the mother of the race by chivalrous men)," then the age of chivalry departed, and with it the "glory of woman." It is not why? why? why? that women should answer us by. It is the fact that is all and it is the fact that women were foretold. Whoever was green enough to suppose that a new women's party, led and advised by a class of men who saw a new ally coming to their rescue, would be allowed by men to put it all over them? Not quite. We see that social reform, another new bogey, is hurrying back to where it belongs.

Women should be perfectly independent if they want to be so, but they must live up to it, and this cold, hard resolution is stealing through the veins of men and, most of all, of the masses. Why then, I ask again, do women expect to have their new rights and their old privileges, too? They have thought in the past that men had an easy time of it. They will find out that they have relieved men of their greatest burden, for it was one of the conscience, and it was the care and protection of women. The professional agitator and job-hunter with high salary attached helped to mislead women into their present impasse. Women have utterly failed to realize the glory and distinction of being women. They want to be as menfl. They rebelled against motherhood, against Nature and against God and have got to pay the penalty of experience.

The old days when men stood at the doorway of every building, hat in hand, and waited for women to pass in and be seated (in the best seats) are gone. She can't laugh in her sleeve and be both a woman and a man at the same time. "It's agin natur," as old Abe said. In time and after bitter experience women will get over this new game of grab (when they find it won't work) and then we will have peace—for a while. To the true woman who has remained so we still doff our hats and our hearts. INQUIRER.

Weather Does Not Interfere With Playgrounds Pleasures

Sticky, uncomfortable weather doesn't seem to make very much difference to the children who congregate at the Central School playgrounds. A casual visit the other morning revealed them enjoying all the advantages of the big bare lot. Competition for the swings was very keen. A little girl with billowing bright red dress was wonderfully energetic, and a couple of little boys swayed rhythmically back and forth. One little lad, with a tiny brother, was very anxious that someone else should give that brother a swing. He didn't seem to care much about doing it himself, but kept pestering another little lad until he resigned his place to the little fellow. But the swing went too high and he fell out and bumped his head. Loud cries ensued. "Don't cry," said his brother, indifferently, "it won't bleed," a pronouncement which seemed to comfort the victim immediately. A lady with white apron and a lot of hair pins in a small knot of hair brought a baby carriage and her small son to give him a ride on the swings. He complained bitterly when obliged to leave, his small voice rising loudly as he was led away.

Little boys circled hastily about the giant stride, as if the sun wasn't shining at all, and a group of girls played ball without any noticeable discomfort. The usual underhand throwing was popular here, and there was a great deal of base stealing on foul balls. Over under the shade trees little boys enthusiastically patronized the slides with no apparent discomfort over inevitable detriment to small trousers. A tiny baby girl with pink rompers and bow legs wandered aimlessly about, addressing every lady quite impartially as "Mamma." Later on in the afternoon, the boys went off swimming with their attendant, and the children played in the park in a desultory fashion befitting the height of the thermometer. Little girls ran back and forth to the popular young lady who watches over their fortunes at these times and several small maidens sewed industriously on cards with bright colored wools. A group of children played forfeits, and suddenly a child started over over the tar-smeared road, with one shoe off. She hopped single-footed over to the school and back again to reclaim it. A little girl, with a mop of fair hair, pulled a portion out and presented the fluffy ball to her teacher with no apparent feeling whatever, and a baby boy, with the aid of his tongue and a tiny mucilage brush, polished industriously at his small patent leather shoes. He had satisfactorily finished the right shoe and was just starting in on the other when the visitor came away.

Demonstrates Great Work Being Done By Institute For Blind

The people who watched the dexterous fingers of the blind worker in the window of the J. C. Turnbull Company's store for four days last week must have been surprised at the ease and swiftness with which they turned out so many pretty and useful articles. Hearing of the campaign to be started in Peterborough for the Canadian Institute of the Blind, it was Mr. Brownlee's own idea to help it along in this way, to give people a chance to see the actual working out of the training afforded blind workers by the institute and its district teachers. The first two days of his self-imposed task were warm enough to frighten any ordinary "sighted" person from the task of working behind a hot glass window, but Mr. Brownlee stuck to his task. The crowd that gathered outside last Saturday evening was watchful and attentive to the quick twisting in and out of the pliant reed by the supple, "seeing" fingers. A piano lamp, a tall pedestal, cane work for chair seats, trays for sandwiches and for general purposes, fancy baskets, woven and turned with the prettiest effect, came from the busy hands of this cheerful blind man, who sells tea and brooms also for the institute. This willingness to help along the good work in any way, even through personal inconvenience from one who, in a normal person's opinion, is already inconvenienced in every movement of daily life, is only another expression of gratitude from those who have been benefited by the noble work of the institute and feel correspondingly grateful to it for its helping hand in time of bitter need.

Practical Hints

Canning Cherries.

To every pound of the cherries allow a pound of sugar. Put over the sugar enough water to dissolve it, set over the fire and boil to a thin syrup. As the scum rises, skim it off. Turn the cherries into the boiling sugar and cook for five minutes. Then remove the cherries from the kettle, pack in jars, fill with the boiling syrup, fit on air-tight tops.

Oriental Jam.

Cook 5 quarts currants as for jelly, with the stems on. Strain the juice through domet flannel and add one cup of sugar to each cup of juice, boil 20 minutes and add one and a half pounds of seeded raisins and the juice and grated rind of six large oranges. Cook slowly for three-quarters of an hour and seal in glasses.

G.W.V.A. WILL ASK CLEMENCY FOR WM. M'FADDEN

PROVINCIAL SECRETARY TURLEY WILL VISIT CONDEMNED MAN IN JAIL TO LEARN DETAILS.

TORONTO, July 14.—The Great War Veterans' Association are to make a plea on behalf of William McFadden, condemned to hang on August 3 with Roy Hotrum. Fletcher Kerr stated that Sergeant W. E. Turley, Provincial Secretary, will make a personal visit to McFadden at the jail tomorrow, and secure all details of the condemned man. McFadden, while not a member of the association, served in France with the 4th Battalion.

Mr. Kerr stated he was also seeing the Attorney-General in order to secure permission for Turley to see McFadden, as Acting City Sheriff Severs did not have authority to grant this permission. It is possible Sergeant Turley will accompany Mr. Kerr to Ottawa, when the Minister of Justice is to be seen in regard to a commutation of sentence.

Mr. G. McFadden, a brother of the condemned man, has secured a petition largely signed by veterans in all the hospitals in the city, asking for clemency.

June Marriage Tide Is Swelled

June, the month of roses, is over, and with its passing has passed the tide of marriages that ebbed and flowed through the thirty days. The Hamilton reporter who wrote a recent article to the effect that this genus, "the girl who marches altarward in June," was rapidly becoming extinct, must have had an attack of the "blues" after writing up the fifty-second account of 'a quiet but pretty wedding." He says: "Pessimists are of the opinion that romance is dying—that June, so to speak, instead of being sacred to the June bride, who used to be a great crop, will shortly be noted only for the girl graduate and for getting rose fever away to a good start." And he gives as reasons for the "startling decrease in the June bride" the following:

"The increasing independence of women and the tendency displayed by the modern girl holding down a fair job to combat the fond assertion that 'two can live for the price of one.' Mdlle. a la Mode has evidently decided that. In such cases, she will not be that 'one.'

"The downfall of the old superstition that May marriages are due for unhappiness and that June is the ideal honeymoon month.

"The unemployment conditions that prevail generally.

"The return of sanity, after the fevered rush of war weddings."

And then The Brockville Recorder comes along and says that 'one of the admirable things about June is that during the month there is an appreciable shrinkage of bachelors."

But, whatever may be the conditions in Hamilton and Brockville, Peterborough had an average of more than one marriage a day in the month of June just passed, a total of 38 ceremonies of this sort being recorded during that time.

A consideration of marriage announcements reveals to the most casual observer that the bride occupies the centre of the stage first, last and foremost. In written accounts which are sent in the groom was omitted in one instance altogether. The groomsman is often forgotten, and also the minister, but never is the "charming" bride neglected, nor any single item of her attire, from the color of her shoes to the adornment of her travelling bonnet.

Just to even things up a little, we would like to see an announcement like this sometime:

"A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday last, when John Henry, only son of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, 1016 Dovercourt road, was united in marriage to Miss Pearl Sweet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sweet, 786 Sherbourne street. The ceremony, which took place at the Noncomformist Church, High Park, was performed by the Rev. Mr. Smallpiece. The groom was beautifully attired in cutaway coat of black, in single-button effect, with trousers of finely striped grey cashmere. His waistcoat of white pique was fastened with pearl buttons and his collar was of the wing type with rounded tabs and black Ascot tie. Low cut patent leather shoes with pearl grey spats, grey buckskin gloves and hat with rolling brim and slightly belled crown completed a charming costume. His attendant, Mr. George Harris, wore black cutaway, grey trousers and grey tie, with plain white shirt. Miss Anne Cutler supported the bride.

"After the ceremony the happy couple departed for Niagara Falls, the groom travelling in blue serge suit, dark green hat and brown shoes. They will reside in Mimico.

"The many gifts received by the groom testified to his popularity, among them being a handsome silver stein from the members of the 'After Midnight' Club, engraved with the cryptic symbols, 'Quoth the Raven . . . .'"

ORPHANS' PRESENTATION TO REV. FATHER PHELAN

AT GARDEN PARTY LAST NIGHT—SILVER PEN FROM LADIES' AID.

The garden party which was held at St. Vincent's Orphanage last evening under the auspices of St. Peter's Ladies Aid Society, who worked hard in making preparations all week, was very successful. The grounds were strung with electric lights, and the crowd of men, women and children circulated from booth to booth, where ice cream, home-made candy, "Coney Islands" and sandwiches were served by the ladies in charge. Coffee and cake was dispensed at tables attractively decorated. The Salvation Army Band rendered a fine programme of music throughout the evening, and a pleasant little open-air concert was given by the small men and women who live at the orphanage. With shining faces and immaculate bibs and tuckers, they welcomed their guests with a pretty little vocal number, followed by several songs in unison. The Misses Florence Leahy and Gertrude Clancy, accompanied by Miss M. Doherty, rendered solos, which were enthusiastically applauded.

A pleasant little feature of the evening's entertainment was the presentation of a woven cincture to Rev. Father Phelan by the children of the Orphanage, with an address, which was received with a hearty acknowledgment, and followed by a short talk by the Rev. Fathers Peter McGuire and Cantillon. The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Peter's Cathedral also presented Father Phelan with a handsome sterling silver pen and ink holder. The reverend gentleman, who has been remembered by so many classes of the community on the occasion of his departure to Campbellford, would not allow the three parishes to unite in presenting him with a purse, as had been proposed, on account of the recent celebration of his 25th anniversary and the general unsettled condition of financial affairs.

SPECIAL BRIDGE GRANT.

Made by County Council for Improvement on Trent River Road.

(From Havelock Standard.)

Owing to the improvements being made by the Provincial Government on the road from Havelock to Trent River, the Town Council decided that it was absolutely necessary to widen the cement bridge at the west end, and requested financial aid from the Roads and Bridges Committee of the County Council.

In response to the request, Chairman John Clarke of Kinmount, Reeve Nicholls of Smith, Reeve Fason of Otonabee, accompanied by County Clerk Ed. M. Elliott, motored to Havelock on Thursday afternoon, when, accompanied by Warden Griffith and Reeve Curtis and Councillors Scott and Ketchen, they viewed the bridge, and decided to make a special grant of $400.00 towards the cost of widening it.

SCOTSMEN'S FAREWELL TO MR. G. O. CAMERON

ENJOYABLE PARTY AT JACKSON PARK ON WEDNESDAY EVENING.

The members of the Caledonian Society held a delightful old-time Scottish party last evening at Jackson Park. The pipe band was there at full strength, and everyone, old and young, joined in dancing the different reels on the green sward underneath the stately pines. It was truly a wonderful sight, and the enthusiasm kept pace with the ever-increasing tempo of the pipes.

Two new artistes were discovered last night in the Misses Florrie and Nancy Cassidy. They danced the "Sean Truibhas" with a perfection and grace that brought forth rounds of applause, particularly from the grown-ups. As an encore Miss Nancy, who, by the way, is only seven years old, danced the Irish Jig.

Just here the members took occasion to say good-bye to Mr. G. O. Cameron, who leaves for Montreal at the end of the week, and who, in many quiet ways, has "glen a haun" to the Caledonian Club.

Mr. Robert Veitch and Mr. John Smith, bandmaster, wished him good luck on behalf of the Society, after which everyone joined in singing "Will Ye No' Come Back Aagin."

How to Rid the Arms of Objectionable Hairs

(Aids To Beauty)

A simplified method is here given for the quick removal of hairy or fuzzy growths and rarely is more than one treatment required: Mix a stiff paste with some powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and every hair has vanished. This simple treatment cannot cause injury, but care should be exercised to get real delatone.

MOTHERHOOD AN AID TO BEAUTY

PARIS AND AMERICAN AUTHORITIES DISAGREE.

PARIS, July 14.—"American women must have more babies if they wish to retain their beauty," Dr. Brettman, one of the foremost beauty surgeons of Paris, told the United Press to-day.

Contrary to what seems to be the general impression in America, Brettman said, motherhood really is not only an aid to beauty, but is necessary, if a woman wishes to realise the acme of beauty.

"Venus was not a virgin," he said. 'She must have had at least one and perhaps two children. Otherwise, she could not have been as beautiful as she was."

Brettman declared that American women also make a great mistake in rearing their babies on bottles.

"The glands which function during maternity are connected with those in the neck, which govern the complexion," he explained. "Restrict the functioning of one and you check the functioning of the entire system."

Brettman warned against rouge, which, he said, inevitably ruins the complexion. Face paints cause "intoxication" of the colour cells in the skin, eventually exhausting their supplies of colouring matter, and leaving the skin lifeless in appearance.

Opposite Viewpoint.

NEW YORK, July 14.—"American women should have fewer babies, and their complexions and general health would take care of themselves," Mrs. Anne Kennedy, associate editor of the Birth Control Review, declared in an interview to-day.

Mrs. Kennedy made this statement in refutation of a theory advanced by Dr. Brettman, of Paris, cabled to the United Press.

"If what Dr. Brettman maintained were true, the American women living in the congested districts of cities and in the poorer farming communities would be the greatest beauties in the world," she said.

"These women, with families of six to twelve children, always are prematurely worn and aged. As a rule, they have neither beauty of face or figure. And their children generally are inferior, physically and mentally."

Ideal Families.

"Mrs. Margaret Sanger, with whom I am associated, believes three children to be the ideal family—providing health and economic conditions permit the proper rearing of even that number. And with that comparatively small family a woman must willingly undergo the possible partial loss of her beauty.

Relative to Dr. Brettman's contention that women should eliminate the nursing bottle, Mrs. Kennedy said he was 'perfectly right from a health standpoint—particularly as regards the child—but there is no question that during the period of nursing, a woman's complexion suffers."

Mrs. Kennedy emphasised that neither she nor her associates advocate "racial suicide," but that they do urge regulation of the birth-rate.

MAY IMPORT ONLY UNDER YUKON VOTE

Referring to a despatch from the Yukon, which stated that prohibition had been overthrown by a two to one majority and that the Yukon had reversed its former decision not to allow liquor to be sold for beverage purposes, Dr. A. S. Grant points out that this report is erroneous. He states that yesterday's vote was merely upon the question of allowing importation and this was carried by the wets. The previous decision not to allow liquor to be sold for beverage purposes stands. The latest returns received by Dr. Grant show that the wet votes totalled 614 and the drys 300 with several outlying polls to hear from.

"Bear Ye One Another's Burdens"

THE Aged and Invalided Blind of Canada are carrying their Burdens with lighter hearts, since the Social Relief Committee of the Women's Auxiliary of the Canadian National Institution for the Blind, commenced their Work of mercy.

¶ Thanks to their splendid efforts, an ever-growing number of the Blind have found happiness and a new interest in life.

¶ They have been taught in their homes to make all manner of articles of reed, wicker and willow work, mats, netting, garments, etc. From the Institute they buy at cost the materials needed. The finished article is then bought from the Blind home-worker and sold to the public at the same price.

¶ Once, not long ago, they sat in their tragic darkness, pathetically idle and plunged in self pity.

¶ Would you like to help in this heaven-born work of mercy?

¶ Funds are much needed to provide teachers. YOUR generous assistance will be a benediction.

PROPORTIONAL REPRESENTATION IS INCLUDED IN PLATFORM OF U.F.A.

FARMERS ENDORSE RECALL. ECONOMY, ABOLITION OF PATRONAGE, AND GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF NATURAL RESOURCES.

CALGARY, Alta., July 14.—(Canadian Press).—The platform on which the United Farmers of Alberta are contesting a large number of the rural constituencies of the Province in the elections of July 18 includes the following planks:

Proportional representation, and a preferential ballot in single-member constituencies;

Endorsation of the principle of the initiative, referendum and recall;

No government to be considered defeated except by a direct vote of want of confidence;

Economy in administration, consistent with efficiency;

Abolition of the patronage system;

Creation of a highway commission;

Extended and improved educational facilities;

Maintenance of prohibition of sale of liquor, under such conditions as the people may sanction by referendum;

Return to the Province of its natural resources;

Co-operative marketing of farm products to be encouraged, along lines calculated to reduce cost of production and distribution.

This platform is submitted by a special committee of the U. F. A. to the Provincial constituencies as a "suggested platform." It is accompanied by a "declaration of principles," which reads as follows:

"Believing that the present unsettled conditions in Canada politically are due in large measure to dissatisfaction with the party system of government, and

"Believing that present-day political institutions fail to measure up to the requirements of present-day conditions, in that the present system has failed to develop a sufficiently close connection between the representative and the elector, and that the people desire a greater measure of self-government;

"Recognizing the rights of all citizens, believing that it is the duty of every citizen to exercise his rights of citizenship in the most efficient manner and in the best interest of social progress, and believing that individual citizenship can only be made efficient and effective through the vehicle of systematically organized groups,

'We, the United Farmers of Alberta, base our hope of developing a social influence and a progressive force on becoming a stabilized, efficient organization. We, therefore, place primary emphasis on organization.

"Our organization is continuously in authority, and while through it we formulate declarations of principle, or a so-called platform, these are at all times subject to change by the organization.

"We are groups of citizens going into political action as an organization. Our elected representatives are at all times answerable to the organization. Each elected representative is answerable directly to the organization in the constituency that elected him.

"We aim to develop through the study of social and economic problems an intelligent, responsible citizenship.

"Thus organized citizenship becomes the vehicle not only of intelligent voting, but also of intelligent guidance of elected representatives."

THE SUN LIFE OF CANADA rejected 1,506 applicants for Assurance last year, who thought it over a little too long. Every man thinks it over on his deathbed—some with satisfaction and some with sorrow. It will cost more next year than this year, and the probability of securing Assurance now is greater than it will be then. If he needs it tomorrow, he needs it today.

DROUGHT HAS NOT HIT THIS COURSE

DUE TO UNIQUE EXPERIMENTS LINKS AT U.S. CAPITAL IN GOOD SHAPE.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(Associated Press).—The drought which has prevailed throughout the country has been a matter of especial interest to golfers everywhere on account of its possible effect upon the course of the Columbia Country Club, where the national open tournament is to be played, July 19-22.

It was stated at the Columbia Country Club that the course is in excellent shape. The foundation of its present condition is the care which has been given during the past few years to the development of turf on the fairway and putting greens. The latter, watered day and night during the dry spell, have kept their smooth and velvety texture, while the grass on the fairways is of sufficient thickness to withstand the burning rays of the sun.

This satisfactory situation is due to experiments which are unique with the Columbia Country Club, where for many years several tracts have been devoted to testing out all varieties of grass in order to secure the best results. The work on the experimental grass farm has been done by Dr. Walter S. Harban, former Vice-President of the United States Golf Association, in conjunction with officials of the United States Department of Agriculture, who have secured valuable data for farm and lawn work.

The ninth green, which is said by experts to be the finest putting surface in the world, was constructed according to what is known as the vegetative process. This process dispenses entirely with the use of grass seed. A variety of grass known as the creeping bent is cut into little bits about half an inch long, which are laid upon soil and then covered with a top dressing. The slivers of the grass stem then vegetate and form a smooth turf, which, when cropped, is of a soft and silky texture, over which the ball will run without deflection.

GROCERY MARKET MOVES BOTH WAYS

IS GENERALLY UNSETTLED WITH DECLINESAND INCREASES RE PORTED.

Although continued hot weather may have a certain effect on prices of foodstuffs, it is hard to prophesy just now, or, so one of the largest retail grocers says, just to what extent things will be effected by the temperature. There may be a certain increase in the prices of canned goods, particularly of corn, peas and tomatoes, but otherwise the market is still unsettled. Since the list recently compiled of the differences in prices of many foodstuffs in the years 1920 and 1921 was published, sugar has gone down $2.00 per hundred, and now stands at $8.50. Corn flakes have decreased a trifle, and there has been a slight advance in the price of tea. Eggs and lard have ascended slightly in price, and butter also, on account of the continued drought and consequent scarcity of pasturage. Other commodities remain practically the same. A somewhat sensational drop was experienced in the price of cherries this week. Although most of the dealers were holding out for $1.85 per basket, they could be purchased in the primest condition at one of the larger stores for $1.40 per basket.

DEEP SEA FISHING PARTY IS LEAVING

OUT TO LAND RARE SALT WATER SALMON.

ALGONQUIN PARK, N.B., July 14.—While Ontario and Quebec still suffer from the excessive heat, and long for the thermometer to descend, St. Andrew's is cool and restful with a temperature of 70 at noon and 60 at evening. To-day there is a strong invigorating salt breeze from across Passamaquoddy Bay. Enthusiastic yachtsmen are taking advantage of the perfect sailing weather and are flying along before the spanking breeze.

Prominent among the yachts are the "Pakwan,' owned by Sir Thomas Tait and the "Cachelot," belonging to Mr. Neil McWharrie.

A merry party has gone out in one of the many comfortable motor boats for deep sea fishing. This will go down Little Letete Passage and back by Big Letete. It is the dearest wish of all to land a rare salt water salmon. A pollock is also an exceptionally lucky catch, but even the haddock and the humble cod make rare sport. When the delights of fishing have palled the party will land on Pendleton's Island and enjoy a chowder made from their own catch. A roaring camp fire will add to the delights, and as a finish to a perfect day is the boat ride home across the moonlit bay, with the phosporous scene sparkling like a trail of diamonds.

REPORT MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM NOW

Says we must keep feet dry; avoid exposure and eat less meat

Stay off the damp ground, avoid less meat, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of salts occassionally to keep down uric acid.

Rheumatism is caused by poisonous toxin, called uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed itno the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood af this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to elimate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to elimate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

NEW BRIDGE HAS COST $525,000

providing that before the council meeting at which this recommendation must be adopted or rejected, he furnish each member of the council with a detailed statement of his claim and justifies the payment.

This was carried on the following division:

For—Ald. Turner, Whitehouse, Jones and Morrison.

Against—The Mayor, Ald. Gordon and Crowe.

Ald. Phelan and Hamilton did not vote.

The Discussion.

Ald. Gordon held firm throughout for a detailed statement of the contractor's claims, asserting that when spending the public's money he desired to be in a position to justify that expenditure, which making such a blind settlement as the above would not permit. He thought also that Mr. Barber should have a chance to check up these extras.

Ald. Hamilton—"Mr. Barber has absolutely no costs."

Ald. Whitehouse—"Mr. Barber is responsible for half as much more costs in the pier foundations as estimated."

Mr. Townsend—"We have cooperated with the city all through — saved money in cement, in steel, and in gravel. We entertain the same spirit of cooperation now and are asking no more than we are entitled to. In justice to my firm in case of litigation I should not give you these details now; but when agreement is reached for a settlement you shall have all I've got. Morally and legally, we were not bound to keep those details for the city. If a settlement is made with me absolutely everything I have is yours. Our extras cannot be disputed; the records have been checked by our engineer."

Ald. Whitehouse—"We should have had an engineer to keep costs, and we have been grossly misled by somebody in not having one."

Fifty-Fifty.

To Ald. Turner, Mr. Townsend agreed to compromise fifty-fifty in a spirit of cooperation — ....6800—al-this sum finally reached the lower level of $6500.

Ald. Turner contended this figure reasonable on the following basis, aproximately speaking: Bridge estimated at, say, $300,000, plus commission charge on this, $29,500, say $30,-000, which is $1000 in the $100,000. Extra labor and excavation on an actual cost of $500,000, amounts to $200,000. Of this take off $100,000 for extra labor, which leaves $100,000 for additional construction work,and this on the principle outlined would entitle Mr. Townsend to $10,000 in extra commission fees. He, therefore, said Ald. Turner, is very reasonable in accepting $6500.

Ald. Whitehouse concurred in this proposition.

Ald. Jones said he had seen Mr. Townsend's cost books and was satisfied with such an adjustment.

Ald. Whitehouse—"Ald. Jones and I have been from time to time readily shown these extras in detail plan by Mr. Townsend."

Ald. Gordon complained that there was no definite detailed statement from which to make a computation of charges.

Alderman Jones — "No one could build a bridge of that magnitude without extras."

Ald. Crowe disputed this, and reiterated his contention that in the original agreement there were to be no extras. $29,500 in fees was to cover all the contractor's fees, he declared.

Ald. Hamilton—"The bridge has cost over $500,000, with Engineer Barber's fees."

What's the use of Guessing?

The Mayor wanted to know what's the use of guessing—we want a detailed statement.

Mr. Townsend—"We are not guessing."

His Worship—"You must be when you are willing to split the difference."

Mr. Townsend—"If you antagoniez me you will cost the ratepayers more than you have already."

The Mayor—"It's you who are costing the ratepayers more."

Mr. Townsend—"Not as much as you, Mr. Mayor, with your extra labor."

Labor Again.

Mayor McIntyre here queried why the bridge had cost nearly twice as much as estimated.

"Labor!" thundered Mr. Townsend.

His Worship denied this.

Ald Hamilton—"$245,000 has been spent in labor."

Has Every Detail.

In a passage at arms with Mr. Townsend regarding detailed extras Ald. Gordon asserted that he had no reason to doubt the honesty of the contractors; he knew they had every detail, which the council should have, however, before settling with him.

Under Fire.

Mr. Townsend had with him diagrams of the bridge in sections, including piers, showing intelligently just what material and dimensions were caleld for in the original specifications, together with the extras entailed by the changes in plans.

Engineer Barber here came under fire again for not advising the council to engage a cost clerk on the bridge construction.

Ald. Morrison thought the council had taken the props from under Mr. Barber, whom he was not inclined to blame so much as others. He had understood the contractors' commission was to be $29,500; was there any provision in the contract for extras?

Ald. Gordon—There was an implied promise to pay for any extras above the original estimate, and such holds good in law.

Mr. Townsend contended that as he was willing to compromise he should not be expected to give details before a settlement; where he to do so then council should pay his extras on a pro rata basis of the $29,500 commission on original estimate.

Ald. Gordon—"I am not satisfied to agree to any settlement whatever until furnished with details from which to compute the charges, in justification to the ratepayers, whose money and not our own, we are spending.

Here the motion to settle with Mr. Townsend by payment of $6500 for extras, carried, and at council's next meeting he is to be present with a detailed statement of these extras.

There were present Mayor A. A. McIntyre, Aldermen Whitehouse, Jones, Phelan, Turner, Gordon, Morrison, Hamilton and Crowe.

Ald. Gainey and G. L. Hay were absent.

LAST TRIBUTE TO G. WALTER GREEN

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL SERVICE—PROFUSION OF FLOWERS LAID ON HIS GRAVE.

Honoured by the presence of hundreds of many of his friends, the body of G. Walter Green was buried in Little Lake cemetery yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, following an impressive service at the family residence.

The funeral was held under Masonic auspices, as well as under the auspices of St. Andrew's church, with which Mr. Green was always prominently and actively connected. The Masonic Order attended in a body. Rev. James Rollins, of St. Andrew's church, made the service at the house short. As Paul had comforted the Corinthians and Jesus His disciples, in death, so, Rev. Rollins said, He offered comfort to the family from the knowledge of the man departed. His kindness, generosity, sympathy and comradeship, these qualities which meant so much to those outside the family circle who had the privilege of his friendship, while they made separation from him a source of pain, also had in them the elements which made them at the same time a great source of comfort. Those qualities of mind and heart which endeared him to a wide circle in the city would in time, when the poignancy of the present hour had, through the kindly ministry of time, passed away, be not only sources of comfort to the family, but also sources of pride and inspiration and even of joy.

The pallbearers were: H. R. H. Kenner, John Crane, R. G. Kingan, W. J. Henry, G. A. Gillespie, F. D. Kerr, Dr. M. A. Morrison and T H. Hooper. The honorary pallbearers were: Henry Rush, J. J. Turner, E. B. Fowler, S. R. Armstrong, Vincent Eastwood, E. G. Patterson, W. R. Morris and Andrew MacFarlane.

The funeral was attended by hundreds of representative citizens, showing the respect in which Mr. Green was held by men of every walk of life. Men of every business and profession paid tribute to a leading citizens. The City Council, City Trust and civic bodies with which Mr. Green was connected, and the lodges with which he identified himself were generously represented, as well as the managers and session of St. Andrew's church. Employees joined in this last mark of respect to employer.

The flowers received were numerous and beautiful. Fraternal emblems were received from Peterborough Lodge, A.F. and A.M., Corinthian Chapter, R.A.M., Moore Preceptory, Mount Hebron Encampment and Rameses Temple, Toronto. Wreaths were received from the City Council, I.O.O.F., I.O.O.F. 308 Millbrook, Peterborough Manufacturers' Association, Nicholls Hospital Board and St. Andrew's Church Session. Other flowers were: Peterborough City Trust, cross; St. Andrew's Board of Management, anchor; Young Ladies' Mission Band of St. Andrew's church, star; St. Andrew's church ladies, sheaf of American beauty roses. Flowers of a magnificent nature were received from relatives and friends.

Masonic burial service was held at the grave, folowing the commitment by Rev. Rollins.

MR. AND MRS. SHORTLY ARE VISITING HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Shortly are at home again, home meaning city at large and staying for a few days with Mrs. Carruthers, Brock street. Further on they will go to their cottage at Boschink Stoney Lake for the balance of the hot spell. Hot spell is right. William Irwin was down to the city on Monday and said he left the lake and came to town to get cool.

Mr. and Mrs. Shortly returned after a stay of ten months in the Far West. The winter was spent at Nelson, B.C., and at Victoria, with side trips to Aberdeen down the coast to Grand Forks to visit relatives, scattered all over the West.

Coming home they voyaged up the Coast from Vancouver to Prince Rupert visited for a spell in that marvellously constructed burg and crossed the mountains by the Grand Trunk Pacific with Mt., Robson, Mt. Carvall and Mt. McGregor standing up in the landscape, crowned with snow. And on by way of Edmonton to Winnipeg, and through Ontario to city.

They report that in British Columbia and up the Coast and in the mountains it is and has been beautifully cool, but that at Winnipeg the heat had developed and light clothing had to be adopted. Even hotter along the line of the Canadian Northern and to Toronto.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, July 14.—(Canadian Press.)— The strength of Oils and Chemicals and the heaviness of Motors and Equipments were contradicting features at the opening of today's stock market. Mexican Petroleum which enlivened yesterday's late dealings with a sudden advance of seven points was in further demand with Pan-American and Houston Oils. Virginia-Carolina Chemical Preferred, Atlantic Gulf, Central Leather and American Tobacco also made variable gains. Studebaker, Chandler, General Electric and American Sugar comprised the reactionary shares. Oils cancelled much of their advance within the first half hour

NEW YORK, July 14. Canadian Press. — Sterling exchange easy; demand $3.63 5-8; Canadian dollars 12 3-8 per cent. discount.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, July 14. Canadian Press. — Reports of rains in Minnesota and elsewhere in the grain belt gave some advantage to-day to the bears in the wheat market. On the declines however buying increased and the market rallied.

Conditions in the Northwest were reported to be of a kind likely to promote the spread of blackrust.The opening quotations which started from unchanged figures to 1 3-4c lower with Sept., 126 3-4 to 127 1-2, and Dec. 129 1-2 to 129 3-4, were followed by a moderate general sag and then by rallies to about yesterday's finish.

Corn was easier with wheat, after opening 5-8 to 3-4 to 1 3-4c lower including Sept. at 61 7-8 to 62 1-2, the market showed but little power to recover.

Oats underwent a set back at the opening but hardened later when wheat rallied. The start was unchanged to 1-2c lower; Sept 40 to 40 1-8.

Higher quotations on hogs strengthened provisions.

NEW YORK, July 14. Canadian Press. — Mexican Petroleum fell back three points in the reversal of the first hour, other oils losing one to two points. Motors, especially Chandler, reflected further pressure, and Bethlehem, Crucible, Republic and U. S. Steels forfeited one to two points with Baldwin Locomotive and other equipments. Dealings in rails were on a light scale at nominal changes, excepting Nor. Pacific, which lost one point. Mex. Petroleum made a full recovery before noon but other leaders showed little improvement. Call money opened at 6 per cent.

TORONTO

TORONTO, July 14. Canadian Press. — There was some improvement in the volume of business done on the local stock exchange this morning, with the bulk of the trading confined to Brizalian, Riordan and Toronto rails. Brazilian after hovering around the 25 mark all the morning sold up to 26 on a very small lot and then fell back to 25, where it closed at noon. Riordan selling up to 9 3-4 reacted a full point closing at low, and Toronto rails, the third active stock, regained its early half point loss closing unchanged at 69. Banks and bonds were quiet as were also the unlisted stocks.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, July 14. —(Canadian Press.)—The tone of the local exchange was fairly strong during early trading this morning. Abitibi, however; remained unchanged at 26. Atlantic Sugar strengthened a half point to 28, Brazilian, too, was stronger by a quarter at 25 1-4. Brompton declined a half to 21 and National Breweries was unchanged at 52 1-2.

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

TORONTO, July 14.—(Canadian Press.)— Receipts 439, trade slow. Quotations: Heavy beef, $7 to $8; butcher steers, choice, $7 to $7.75; butcher cows, medium, $3.21 to $4.75; calves, $8 to $10; lambs, $11 to $13.25; hogs, fed and watered, selects, $11.

EGGS AND POULTRY

Toronto extras jobbing forty-three firsts thirty-eight nine. Ontario storage stocks July 1 were 98,303 cases as compared with 121,351 cases July 1 last year. Montreal quiet with prices firm at yesterday's level. Sales are reported by producers in the St. Raymond district Quebec at thirty-five forty. Chicago firsts twenty-nine thirty, extra firsts thirty-nine, extras thirty-one half. New York firsts thirty-three five, extra firsts thirty-six seven, extras forty forty-two.

DEPLORES LACK OF COTTAGES TO RENT

C. W. Stover, factory manager of the American Forge and Machine Company of Canton, Ohio, was in Peterborough this afternoon seeking a cottage to rent on the Otonabee or Rice Lake waters. In fact, any available place in this district would have been acceptable.

With all the facilities for enjoying the summer here in sailing and bathing and fishing, Mr. Stover was surprised that there were not more ottages erected for the accommodation of tourists and holiday-seekers who wished to remain only a few weeks.

He suggested that there was a lack here that property owners on the lakes and rivers should endeavour to remedy.

USED CARS WHEN LIFT LOCK STALLED

Owing to trouble at th Lift Locks, the contemplated river excursion of All Saints' choir yesterday was changed to a trip by motors.

Through the kindness of Messrs. J. J. Turner, R. Wolstenholm, J. W. Worth, W. G. Howden, and George Patoine, sufficient motors were provided for the entire party of nearly 50 members of the choir, who were taken down to the first bridge, where they remained all day. A regular old-time picnic was held, with sports and all sorts of games.

The motors who brought the picnickers home happened to overlook the last five members, who were obliged to foot it home, about four miles—a little trip which added to the excitement of the occasion.

Mr. George Chandler looked after all arrangements for the excursion in his usual efficient manner.

FIRES ARE UNDER CONTROL.

Not Much Danger From Blazes in Upper Ontario Forest.

TORONTO, July 14.—Northern Ontario fires are under control, according to Mr. Zavitz, Chief of the Ontario Government Forestry Section, and R. R. Hall, M.P.P., of Parry Sound.

"I was up as far as North Bay, at Trout Creek, addressing some meetings yesterday," said Mr. Hall, "and they reported that all the large fires were under control. Only a few desultor- ones are burning still. They are taking extra precautions to prevent a repetition of the great conflagrations of other years." Mr. Hall, however, said that the country is bathed in smoke. The department, Mr. Zavitz declared, is pleased with the work that has been done. Everything is satisfactory. The rain aided in getting the fires under control, and no anxiety is felt.

Sturgoon and Halliday of that city. STORY OF MISSING SHIPS PLAUSIBLE.

So Says Ralph D. Paine, Famous Writer of Sea Tales.

DURHAM, N. C., July 13. — "Modern Pirates," was sugested to-day, by Ralph D. Paine, the famous writer of sea stories, as the most plausible explanation of mysterious disappearance of merchant vessels in the Atlantic.

"It is all so fantastic and improbable, yet it is entirely within the bounds of possibility," he said in an interview to-day.

"Less than 75 years ago pirates employed the lonely coast of Cuba, as a base and plundered many ships. Seventy five years is not a long time, and the Atlantic is wide."

Probably Reds.

Paine said that if "modern pirates" are responsible for the newest sea mystery, they probably are Reds, who either seized a fast oil-burning steamer, while they were members of the crew or purchased such a vessel from the government.

"I have tried vainly to find a solution for the mystery of the five-masted schooner Carol A. Deering, which was found abandoned off Cape Hatteras with all of her sails set," he said.

"Having been a sailor before the mast I know sailing ships and their peculiarities. A five masted schooner is a mean brute to handle in a storm.

"My first theory was that the Deering had run into one of those South Atlantic storms so common in January, and that Captain Wormell, unable to keep his vessel from driving towards the sh re, abandoned her. That would be the reasonable solution but it does not account for the condition of the ship's equipment nor for a note found in a bottle later referring to a mysterious steamer.

Only a Theory.

"If ther is a ship manned by modern pirates operating now, her crew may consist of radicals who seized a vessel on which they were employed. The records of ships during and after the war show that many radicals were shipping as sailors. The reports of super-cargoes of some of the United States shiping board craft was that some of the crews were unreliable and did about as they wished.

"The report of a ship which returned to Hamburg after the mutiny of a Soviet crew strengthens my theory, but after all it's only a theory,and I am still puzzled."

2,400,000 FRENCH WIDOWS AND ORPHANS ASK PENSIONS

NANTES, France, July 13.—Two years will be required to examine and grant the 2,400,000 requests for pensions for French widows and orphans, said Andre Maginot, Minister of Pensions, speaking today at the formal opening of the Home for Mutilated Soldiers. The Minister added that pension beneficiaries would suffer no loss through this delay, as all arrears would be paid.

The Home for Mutilated Soldiers is intended especially as a permanent home for the blind, but soldiers who have lost arms or legs also will learn trades at the institution.

HEAVY COAT OF WHITEWASH FOR LOWLY PORT HOPE AGGREGATION

PETES WIN IN HOLLOW FASHION, BEATING ONTARIOS BY 11 RUNS TO 0—LAKESHORE GANG WEAK IN ALL DEPARTMENTS.

The Petes had not as much trouble in beating Port Hope in the Central Ontario League fixture at Riverside Park last night as Dempsey had in defending his title against Carpentier. The final count was 11 to 0. The Port Hope crew gave a mournful exhibition in the field, bunching twelve juicy errors where they would help the Petes the most, while at the bat they were unable to do anything with the offerings of McElroy and Kirn, who shared the pitching burden for the Solomon crew. McElroy, who worked the first six innings, allowed the visitors but two hits, one of the doubtful variety, while one scratch safety was all they could collect off Kirn. Back of this classy twirling the Petes fielded snappily and the Ontarios were never in the hunt.

Deer was found for ten hits, but should have escaped with a much smaller score against him. The Lake Shore gang could do nothing right, and in the second innings the Petes scored four runs without the semblance of a hit, the Ontarios making five errors in a row.

Features of the game were a fast double play engineered by Murray, Ray Rose and Ross, a nice grab of a hot liner by Hutchins, the Port Hope second baseman which also resulted in a double killing, a fine catch of a foul fly by Swanston, Ray Rose's running catch of Hill's fly to short right and a freak home run by Max Swanston. The circuit clout came in the fifth when Swanston cracked a liner to left. It should only have been good for three bases, but Moise's perfect throw to the plate, which looked good to retire the runner, took a freak bound, high over Chalk's head instead of hopping into his hands, as it would have done in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred.

The Peterboro victory was marred by an accident to Roy Cherrett, who broke a bone in his leg in the fourth innings.

First Innings—

Port Hope—Rowden walked, and was sacrificed to second by A. Hills, Swanston making a fine play on the bunt. Bob Chalk fanned and Ray Rose threw out Moise. No runs, hits or errors.

Peterboro—L. Rose was safe when Hutchins missed his roller. Ray Rose sacrificed. Swanston rolled to Rowden, Rose going to third. Ross fanned. No runs, or hits, one error.

Second Innings—

Port Hope—Friar went to second on McElroy's wild heave to first. Hutchins popped to Ray Rose. Fair rolled to the same player. McElroy threw out Fred Chalk. No runs or hits, one error.

Peterboro—Cherrett was safe on a tap to the box when Hills dropped Deer's throw. Lowe bunted for a sacrifice but reached first when Hills muffed Chalk's toss Cherrett going to third on the play. Lowe stole second. Pinnette hit to Moise who threw over Chalk's head, Cherrett and Lowe scoring. Murray lined to centre and Fair dropped the ball; Murray stole second. When Deer threw past second in an attempt to catch Murray off the sack, Pinnette and Murray scored. McElroy singled to second, Lornie Rose sacrificed. Elroy was out on the plate. Fair to Ray Rose singled to centre and McChalk. Swanston grounded to Hills. Four runs, two hits, five errors.

Third Innings—

Port Hope — Deer and Rowden fanned. McElroy deflected Hills' tap to Cherrett, who got the batter at first. No runs, hits or errors.

Peterboro — Ross filed to Fred Chalk in left. Cherrett rolled to Deer. Lowe beat out a hit to Hills, and stole second. Deer tossed out Pinnette. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Fourth Innings.

Port Hope—Bob Chalk reached second on Cherrett's low throw. Moise lined to Pinnette in left centre. Friar rolled to Ray Rose. Hutchins fanned. No runs, or hits, one error.

Peterboro—Murary singled past second. McElroy beat out a bunt. Lorne Rose also bunted safely, filling the bases. R. Rose rolled to Deer who fumbled and Murray scored. Swanston got a life on Hutchins' miss. McElroy counting. Ross tapped to Deer who threw L. Rose out at the plate, but in an attempt to double the batter at first, Chalk threw high to Hills and Ray Rose counted. Cherrett singled past second, scoring Swanston. Lowe fanned but Bob Chalk missed the third one and then made a bad throw to first, Ross scoring. Pinnette rolled to Rowden and Cherrett was out at the plate, the short stop hurting his ankle at home station and having to retire. Murray forced Lowe at third. Moise to Rowden. Five runs, four hits, four errors.

Fifth Innings—

Port Hope — Holyman replaced Cherrett at short stop for the Petes. Fair fanned. F. Chalk singled past first. Deer hit into a fast double play. Murray to Ray Rose to Ross. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Peterboro—L. Rose was safe when Chalk's throw pulled Hills off the bag but was forced at second when Hutchins booted Ray Rose's roller into Moise's hands. Swanston hit to left ,scoring Rose and completing the circuit when Moise's throw took a freak bounce over Chalk's head. Ross rolled to Hutchins. Two runs, one hit, one error.

Sixth Innings—

Port Hope—Rowden walked. A. Hills scratched a hit on a bad hop to Murray. Bob Chalk fanned.Moise hit to McElroy forcing Rowden at third. Swanston made a great catch of Finnegan Hills' foul fly. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Peterboro—Holyman tripled to left but was doubled off third when Hutchins made a nice catch of Lowe's liner. Pinnette flied to Moise. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Seventh Innings—

Port Hope — Kirn replaced McElroy on the rubber for the Petes, Ross went behind the bat and Jackson to first base. Hutchins struck out. Fair got a cheap hit on a roller that bounced over Kirn's head, Fred Chalk flied to Pinnette. Fair stole second but died in an attempt to steal third. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Peterboro—Moise threw out Murray. Kirn doubled to left. Lorne Rose fouled to Bob Chalk. Ray Rose rolled to Hutchins. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Eighth Innings—

Port Hope—Deer was out on a fine running catch by Ray Rose. Murray threw out Rowden. A. Hills was safe on Murray's fumble, but died stealing. Ross to R. Rose. No runs or hits, one error.

Peterboro — Jackson fanned. Fred Chalk pulled down Ross's liner to left with one hand. Holyman was safe on Moise's boot. Lowe flied to Moise. No runs, or hits, one error.

Ninth Innings—

Port Hope—Kirn threw out Bob Chalk. Moise rolled to Jackson. Lornie Rose snared F. Hills' fly to left with his gloved hand. No runs, hits or errors.

CITY JUVENILE GAME TO-NIGHT

OLD TIMERS WILL BE SEEN IN ACTION NEXT WEEK.

In the City Juvenile League series the Bankers and St. Peter's teams will clash at Riverside Park to-night in what should be a great battle. The Bankers cannot afford to lose if they want to stay in the running in the second half of the League race.

President Kimmel of the Central Ontario League, has ordered Messrs. Kay and Rosevear to handle the Oshawa-Cobourg game on Saturday and the Oshawa-Lindsay game next week, thus doing away with home umpiring. Oshawa is paying the expenses of the second umpire in each case. Lindsay objects to the ruling of the President, claiming that they had to stand for an Oshawa base umpire in their game at Oshawa. President Kimmel has wired all the League clubs to secure their opinion, and the Peterboorugh club has wired approval provided they be given the privilege of having a neutral umpire on the bases in the game at Port Hope Saturday.

Peterborough fans will get a chance to see some of the old time ball players in action next week when the boys of the old brigade, including Chris. Graham, Jack Mulhall, Dooley Sheridan and Fred Davidson, will clash with the Lock Works team, the proceeds to go to some good cause. The game is the result of a challenge from the veterans, who think they can come back and put over a victory. It should be a memorable exhibition. Further particulars will be announced later.

LINDSAY WON FROM COBOURG

Lindsay defeated Cobourg in the Lakeshore town last evening by 11-5, and as a result are still tied with the Petes for third place. The first four teams are practically all in a heap, and with three games left to play, the winner of the first round is still undecided. Oshawa have two games to go through, both away from home. If they win both, the motor town crew cannot be headed off; if they lose both they are out of the running. If they lose in Cobourg but win in Lindsay, they will be sure of a tie, but Lindsay would be out; if they win in Cobourg and lose in Lindsay, Lindsay, Belleville, Oshawa and Peterborough would all be tied, provided Peterborough wins in Port Hope Saturday. The standing is as follows:

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Oshawa	6	2	.750
Belleville	7	3	.700
Peterborough	6	3	.667
Lindsay	6	3	.667

FAMOUS GOLF PLAYER BARRED FROM STATES

NEW YORK, July 14.—James M. Barnes of New York, famous professional, who represented the United States in the recent British open golf championship, was barred from re-entering the country yesterday under the new immigration laws.

CHERRETT BADLY HURT, LIKELY OUT OF GAME FOR THE SEASON

PETERBORO SHORT STOP BREAKS BONE IN HIS LEG AS A RESULT OF ACCIDENT IN GAME WITH PORT HOPE LAST EVENING.

The jinx which has been pursuing the Peterborough team this season in the matter of injured players, once more made an appearance in last night's game with Port Hope, and as a result Roy Cherrett, the Petes' fast shortstop, sustained a fracture of a bone in his leg above the ankle, and will be out of the game for many weeks, if not for the balance of the season. The accident happened in the fourth innings when Cherrett tried to score on Pinnette's tap to third. As he went to slide at the plate his spikes caught and the bone snapped. He was removed to St. Josch's Hospital, where an X-ray examination revealed the fracture. The fans will receive the news with the greatest regret, and Cherrett's services will be greatly missed. He is the fastest shortstop in the Central Ontario circuit and his fielding and speed on the bases were big factors in the play of the Petes. Since the Central League was organized, Cherrett had not missed an innings of any game in which the Peterborough team was engaged, until last night's accident put him out.

ONE PETERBORO RINK LEFT IN FINALS BOWLING TOURNAMENT

The end of the bowling tournament was in sight this afternoon at three o'clock. E. A. Curvin of Cobourg and Rev. A. S. Kerr of Belleville meet in the finals of the Stratton Cup, and in the Gillespie trophy competition Jack Meyneord of Peterboro was waiting to play off with the winner of the semi-final between Wray of Belleville and Brown of Port Hope.

First Day Scores

Yesterday's bowling saw all Peterboro rinks eliminated from the Stratton Cup. Geo. Cairns strong quartet received a bad mauling from Kerr of Belleville and when they met again in the first round of the Gillespie Cup the visitors repeated the close. At midnight Mayneord and Walton were playing in the second round of the Gillespie competition, as the sole Peterboro survivors.

Belleville and Oshawa rinks had a good day.

CARPENTIER HAS SAILED FOR HOME

STARTS VERBAL BATTLE OVER SINN FEIN FLAG.

NEW YORK, N. Y., July 14. — (United Press.)—Georges Carpentier sailed for France to-day, waving a French flag in one hand and a Sinn Fein emblem in the other.

A crowd of British sailors aboard the Menominee, anchored a few feet from La Havoie, on which Carpentier sailed, suddenly stopped cheering the French champion when Mahoney, a stevedore, thrust an Irish flag into Carpentier's hands. The Frenchman, not even stopping to see what flag it was, lifted it to the breeze amid the boo's and blaa's of the British Isle. The scene provoked a verbal battle between the Irish stevedores and the Britishers, the Irishers yelling, "Where's your Joe Beckett now," and the Britishers singing "God Save the King."

LACROSSE NOTES

Bert Todd and Lou McCoy will work out with the junior to teach them some of the fine points in the game in preparation for the remaining fixtures with Hastings here and with Campbellford at home.

Last night's practice game at the Oval was won by the Intermediates by 5 to 4. Only six of the intermediates were out, and they filled up the rest of the line with spare juniors. It was a satisfactory canter, and a few more of them will benefit both teams.

Peterborough can appreciate the feelings of London, whose intermediates were defeated by the score of 22 to 4 by the St. Mary's. The latter small town had a walk over, and London showed a reversal of form from their game in Stratford that bewildered their supporters. The score, however, furnishes further evidence that the small towns are producing real lacrosse teams.

"IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW"

The Glory of An Unspoken Love

No Matter How Much a Woman May Mar a Man There Is Always Another Woman Who Really Cares

Balance of This Big Programme Excellent and the Coolest Spot in the City to Enjoy Yourself - - Comfort, Class, Quality

NEITHER DEMPSEY NOR CARP WILL EVER GET SORE ARMS THROWING MONEY AWAY

That modern fighters are not the free spenders the fighters of the old school were is borne out in the case of both Dempsey and Carpentier. A Londoner who travelled with a big American circus said the day of the fight that either one of the two had to lose the fifght, but that neither of them would lose any money, that was a safe bet.

Both the fighters had engagements with the circus at different times.

Dempsey was first.

With the world's fighting champion in the mess, the cook thought something extra was necessary and fitting, so a big horseshoe cake was baked, with icing n'everything. Other little favors were shown the champ and his manager by the "oven" staff.

The show closed with Dempsey's contract, and as is customary, the "hands" all threw something in the cook's pot. Not so, Dempsey or Kearns. They both had a bad case of paralysis of the fingers when it came to digging down for coin.

Carpentier's attitude toward the circus and its life was "a nasty job, but something that must be done, and done as quickly as possible." Twenty-five hundred dollars a day was their portion of the money that went through the wicket of the ticket wagon. And as smartly as their turn was over, Descamps and his protege were talking to the cashier in the language that needs no interpreters —the langwidge of the dollar,.

None of the cooks or the other help were able to retire to quiet farm life when the French pair left, either.

(Surprise is Right.)

And now comes the crowning evidence with Dempsey-Kearns & Co's latest. Mrs. Barrett, a sister of the lessee of the farm where the Dempsey entourage lived while training, was handed a package before the fight. She had "mothered" Dempsey and his, at times, uncultured crew for two months.

"Here's a surprise for you. Don't open it until after the fight," quoth the champ.

Carpentier's surprise about the fourth round of the fight was no greater than Mrs. Barrett's, when she opened the "package' and found $160

Fifty dollars a month as an estimate for "mothering" will probably go in with the training expense exemption filed with the federal income tax department by the world's titleholder.

BRITISH ENTHUSIASM FOR SPORT MOUNTING

55,000 TENINS AND 45,000 FOOTBALL PLAYERS.

LONDON, July 14.—(Associated Press).—Enthusiasm for sport is greater in London this season than ever before, asserts The Evening News in an article which declares that in and about the city today there are 55,000 tennis players, 5,000 amateur cricket teams and 45,000 regular football players. Rejuvenation by five years of army life is advanced as one of the reasons for the record-breaking keenness for outdoor games.

Every lawn tennis club has a long waiting list, the newspaper states, grounds for tennis, cricket and football are at a premium, and the space available is hundreds of acres short of what is required. A tour of the playing fields indicates that there are tens of thousands who would join in if room could be found for them.

The London Playing Fields Society has 125 tennis courts, which accommodate 2,000 players. The number of courts is five times that maintained by the organization before the war, yet it could have let them three times over for the present season. There are 200 clubs in Greater London affiliated to the Lawn Tennis Association alone, controlling 20,000 players, while 30,000 players are registered at the London County Council courts.

The Secretary of the Southern Counties Cricket Conference, in which there are 270 clubs from Greater London, estimates that 5,000 acres are needed in this sport. He estimates that the clubs now owning their own grounds number 700.

The Sports Club of one large catering firm has 18,000 members and occupies 70 acres. One of the banks has spent 70,000 pounds on a sports ground in South London. Illustrative of the growth of outdoor activities among commercial companies is the fact that there are now 140 firms in the Business Houses Sports Association, compared with 50 in 1910.

London is encircled by a great belt of playing fields. One of the few pieces of ground still available consists of a 20-acre plot for which a railway company wants 600 pounds an acre.

MEETING OF CANADIAN WOOLLENS ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION TO-NIGHT.

A special meeting of the Canadian Woollens Athletic Association will be held to-night at 7.30, in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms. Business of importance, so all members please attend.

AT THE THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

"IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW" STRONGLY DRAMATIC.

Robertson-Cole Release Adapted From Balzac's "Meditations on Marriage."

"If Women Only Knew," the new Robertson-Cole release, has a dramatic value seldom found in photoplays of to-day. It has to do with one of the paramount issues of our times and, while not in any sense bordering on the sermon variety of pictures, brings forth in a vivid manner an object lesson. Character delineation, as we find the characters in our everyday life, is one of the strong points of the story. The production is a record-breaker, and will be shown at the Capitol Theatre for the first time, beginning to-night.

The value of a woman's sweet and unselfish love is deftly brought out in the picture. A vivid comparison between such a woman and the frivolous, vain type is clearly shown Most striking of all is the depiction of the young man who, having his choice of the two, is unable to decide which way to turn. He picks the vain-glorious type, and the theme is built around the results of his mistake.

"Kids Is Kids," a very funny two-reel comedy; 13th episode of the great Duncan serial, "Fighting Fate"; Pathe Review, filled with things of interest from everywhere; Paramount Magazine and other excellent short reel subjects — this programme, combined with the really cool and always comfortable Capitol, makes this resort the only place of entertainment in the city where a show can be really enjoyed during the summer months.

FAN-FAN.

THE AWAKENING

I walked in pride: I knew not love:
All men were alien unto me:
For me there dwelt no God above.
How blind proud man can be!

Then Sorrow took my hand and led
By rivers wild, through valleys drear;
My heart with grief and anquish bled—
But Love to me drew near.

She taught me all the ways of God:
She told me of the griefs of men:
Then did I see and humbly trod
The path of peace again.

OBREGON RESCINDS EXPORT TAX ON OIL

ASKS FOREIGN OIL COMPANY OFFICIALS TO ATTEND CONFERENCE.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner.)

GALVESTON, Texas, July 14.—President Obregon today rescinded the export tax on crude oil, according to despatches from Mexico City.

After an all night conference with a committee from the Mexican Congress, Obregon issued a proclamation rescinding the tax. This was done, the despatch said, after Obregon had received semi-official assurance that the United States would not impose an import tax on oil.

Obregon urged immediate resumption of work in all the oil fields to relieve unemployment and invited foreign oil company officials to a conference to work out a plan to stimulate production.

58 Horses Die at Montreal From Heat in Last 10 Days

Montreal, July 13.—During the last ten days of the heat wave here at least 58 horses have succumbed in Montreal as a direct result of the excesive temperature. These are the numbers reported, but it is probable there are others unrecorded. Since many of these horses are highly bred animals, an estimate of $20,000 in respect of losses sustained is regarded as a low figure.

JAPAN MOVING WITH CAUTION IN FAR EAST

MAKES RESERVATIONS CONCERNING CONFERENCE ON EASTERN PROBLEMS UNTIL MORE LEARNED OF ITS SCOPE

BRITAIN MAY ABANDON PRELIMINARY MEETING

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Japan has asked the United States for an amplification of the proposed discussion of Pacific problems in the forthcoming disarmament conference in Washington, it was learned authoritatively to-day.

TOKIO, July 15. — (Canadian Press).—Japan's answer to President Harding's proposals for a conference on the limitation of armaments, which has been forwarded to Washington, while accepting the suggestion for an armament conference, says the Jiji SSimpo to-day, makes reservations concerning general Far Eastern concerns until more has been learned as to the scope and nature of the questions to be considered.

LONDON, July 15. — (Canadian Press).—The continued discussion of the proposed disarmament conference by newspapers here testifies to the sustained interest in the subject. The question of a preliminary conference to be held in London was given prominence by a number of newspapers here to-day, which printed long despatches from Washington which indicated such a preliminary meeting would not be favored in the United States. It was argued in some quarters that the idea should, therefore, be abandoned. It was made clear, moreover, that the question had not advanced as yet beyond the stage of discussion, while the engagements of the Dominion Premiers would make it different.

ADDISON RESIGNS WHEN GOVERNMENT ABANDONS PLANS

CHARGES BREACH OF FAITH IN DROPPING HOUSING SCHEME.

LONDON, July 15. Canadian Press—Dr .Christopher Addison has announced his resignation from the the Cabinet because of the Government's decision to curtail the housing scheme which he had sponsored, providing for a wide spread house building programme, with a government subsidy.

Dr. Addison, who held the post of Minister without portfolio, charged the government with a breach of faith in the precipitate abandonment of plans which he regarded as essential to national restoration.

WORKERS ATTEMPT TO SEIZE YARDS

MOVEMENT TO CONTROL DOCKYARDS BLOCKED BY POLICE AND MILITARY.

KOBO, July 15. Canadian Press.—The troops were called out to-day, after thousands of striking workers in the dock yards here had charged the police cordon in an attempt to take possession of the dock yards, and carry out the project for their control by the workers.

A number of the strikers were bounded and the ring leaders of the movement were arrested.

COPY OF VERSAILLES TREATY HAS DISAPPEARED FROM WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Jul 15.—(United Press.)—Official Washington to-day hunted for the Versailles peace pact. The copy which was brought back by Woodrow Wilson and submitted to and rejected by the Senate, has disappeared.

Joseph Tumulty, who was secretary to President Wilson, saw the document last in the White House, March 4, when Warren G. Harding took office. Tumulty said he placed the document in the President's desk. Now the pact is missing and no one appears to know what became of it.

It was recalled to-day that former Secretary of the Navy Daniels created a stir during the war by announcing the disappearance of naval plans of the utmost importance. These plans later were found in an obscure place in Daniel's desk.

REDISTRIBUTION MAY COME SOON

CENSUS RETURNS WILL BE COMPLETED EARLY ENOUGH TO ALLOW OF REDISTRIBUTION IN NOVEMBER.

WILL PRECEDE ELECTION, IN ANY CASE, PROMISED

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

OTTAWA, July 15.—The decennial census returns will be sufficiently completed in time for the carrying out of a redistribution of Federal constituencies early next session even if that session were held in November. At the last session of Parliament, Premier Meighen practically undertook that there would be no general election before redistribution, and there is no reason for believing that this undertaking will not be carried out, rumors of an early general election to the contrary.

The Government's plans as to the new redistribution are still in a somewhat nebulous form. It is, however, suggested that, inasmuch as the urban population shows a greater proportion of increase than the rural, the urban centres everywhere will have larger representation than in the past. There are those who urge representation by population, but to strictly follow such a suggestion is manifestly impossible, inasmuch as it would involve an almost complete revolution of the existing ridings and the wiping out of a very large number of the present rural seats. Undoubtedly, however, the cities will have more members and the urban and rural will be more clearly delimitated. It is further stated that the system whereby in cities like Ottawa, Halifax, etc., where two members are voted on at large, will be done away with and specific ridings named.

TURKS GIVE UP TOWN TO GREEKS WITHOUT FIGHT.

The town was given up by the Turks without fighting, it is said.

FOREST FIRES EXTINGUISHED

RAIN IN NORTHERN ONTARIO CHECKS SPREAD, EXCEPT IN THREE CASES NEAR WEBBWOOD.

STORY OF LIVES LOST DEFINITELY REFUTED

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

SUDBURY, Ont., July 15.—Thursday's heavy rain extinguished the fires throughout the district to a large etxent. The heat is still oppressive and there is a fire still burning at Birch Lake, one on the 'Espanlo Road near Webbwood, near "the Blue Sea," which is spreading rapidly, and another a short distance from Webbwood.

A farmer named Eswald lost his barn and several tons of hay by forest fires. The town site of Ruel was destroyed by bush fires this week. The recent story from the north that two men were smothered to death in a dug-out at Holland's Landing is refuted by the re-appearance of the youths, who had lost their way while seeking to escape from the flames.

LONDON CONFERS CITY'S FREEDOM ON MR. MEIGHEN

POMP AND CIRCUMSTANCE ATTENDS CEREMONY

LONDON, July 15.—With all the pomp and circumstance with which tradition surrounds the ceremony, freedom of the city of London was presented to Premier Arthur Meighen to-day at twelve o'clock in the historic Guild Hall.

The Lord Mayor and Sheriffs, resplendent in quaint, almost medieval uniforms, received the guests, after which a special meeting of the corporation was constituted.

USE INFERIOR METHODS IN EXPORTING GRAIN

OTTAWA, July 13.—Criticism of Canadian shippers of wheat is made because cargoes are frequently shipped to Great Britain from United States ports in United States ships instead of from Canadian ports in vessels flying the British flag, according to a report on flour and wheat shipments to Britain made to the Commercial Intelligence Branch of the Department of Trade and Commerce by Major Gordon B. Johnson, Trade Commissioner.

"Entirely apart from patriotic reasons, which are sound enough in themselves," says the report, "the service from United States ports in United States ships is inferior in every way, and should be avoided by Canadian grain shippers."

ASPHALT TURNED RAIN TO STEAM?

OR WAS IT ONLY DUST CREATING AN ILLUSION?

Just how hot the city asphalts get was not realised by some citizens until the rain pelted down yesterday. As the welcome drops fell an unusual occurrence took place for the first ten minutes—the rain went up in vapour until the pavement was thoroughly chilled.

Few residents of Hunter Street had ever seen the clouds, apparently of steam, rise from the streets before.

Closer examination revealed that the asphalt was quite warm and the vapour that drives locomotives and turns the wheels of industry was being produced right on Hunter Street through the works of Old Sol.

The amount of heat the asphalt soaks up in several days boiled the collecting water until the asphalt gave up the last calories.

GOVERNOR MUST LEAVE DUTIES TO TAKE REST

LIEUT.-GOVERNOR CLARKE'S CONDITION SERIOUS BUT REPORTS ARE CONFLICTING.

SAY SPECIAL TRAIN RUSHED MEDICAL AID

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

TORONTO, July 15.—His Honor Lionel H. Clarke, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, must take an indefinite leave of absence.

His illness is deemed so serious that he has to give up, for the present at least, all the duties of his office and take absolute rest.

His Honor's illness has been diagnosed as nervous indigestion, but its nature has greatly puzzled the medical men, and it is expected that X-rays will be taken in an effort to solve the problem.

The Lieutenant-Governor is at present at Government House, but it is likely that he will take an extended holiday.

Yesterday a despatch from Go-Home Bay was received as follows: 'A stir was caused here yesterday, where so many university professors have their summer homes, when on the arrival of the steamer, "The City of Dover," from Midland, she was followed in by a fast cruiser. This vessel had had been sent from Midland on a hurry call from Toronto owing to the illness of the Lieutenant-Governor. Dr. F. N. G. Starr was arriving at Go Home Bay with his family and was asked to get off the boat and go back on the cruiser. A launch was sent across the bay for Dr. L. F. Barker of John Hopkins and the two doctors were hurried to Midland, where a special train with steam awaited to rush them back to the city.."

A re-assuring statement on the condition of his Honor Lieut.-Governor Lionel H. Clarke was issued at Government House this morning by Col. Frazer, his personal secretary.

"In view of the disquieting statement in the morning press I feel that something should be said about the condition of His Honor, the Lieut.-Governor," said Col. Frazes.

"His Honor has not been very well for the past few weeks due to pressure of business and his physicians have advised him that he now requires a complete rest for two or three months. It is a condition brought on entirely from over work." Col. Frazer stated that His Honor's condition was not so alarming as to necessitate his asking to be relieved of his official duties. He said His Honor enjoyed breakfast this morning and was feeling sufficiently strong to motor down town at 10 o'clock to attend to a few urgent business matters.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

TORONTO, Ont., July 15. — At noon to-day Dr. Alexander Frazer, secretary to the Lieutenant-Governor, issued the following official statement:

"For some time past the health of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor has not been satisfactory. The demand on his strength by the incessant call of duties, especially in the spring, proved too much, and resulted in a serious nervous condition. About three weeks ago he left town for his summer home in the Georgian Bay, hoping that with the change of air he would speedily recuperate. Not having made progress, he returned to Toronto on Monday last.

"Professor Barker, of John Hopkin's Hospital, Baltimore; Dr. F. N. G. Starr, Dr. W. Goldie and Dr. C. W. Becker, Toronto, met in consultation yesterday, and ordered complete rest for about three months, in consequence of which His Honor has asked for the appointment of an administrator to carry on in the meantime the Departmental duties of the office, which he has been able personally to attend to up to the present. It is expected that the administrator will be sworn in in a few days."

Dr. Frazer also stated that the Lieutenant-Governor was at his office this morning as usual. It is expected that Mr. Clarke will shortly leave the city and go to his summer home on Georgian Bay.

Smoking Rooms For the Women Irks W.C.T.U.

PRESIDENT SAYS "SUCH A STEP AN INSULT TO OUR WOMEN."

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

TORONTO, Ont., July 15.— The thoughtfulness of the C.P.R. in providing for the needs of women travelling on sleepers on the same scale as men's comforts are arranged for, through the introduction of smoking rooms for women on the C.P.R. lines does not meet with the gratitude and approval of Women's Christian Temperance Union workers.

"I consider such a step an insult to our women," said Mrs. E. A. Stevens, president of the Ontario W.C.T.U. to-day, "and further, I think it is regrettable that we have women who will not consider this an insult. The despatch from Montreal looks like poking fun at women. In any case the Provincial Union will undoubtedly put itself on record on the subject when we hold our convention in October. Barring this I cannot make a statement without consulting the members of the executive scattered all over the province. "The W.C.T.U. disapproves of any appliance of the kind provided for women at all and our resolution will at least express strong disapproval."

Mrs. S. A. Gray, Superintendent of the Sunday school work of the Provincial W.C.T.U., a member of the Toronto district executive, and the president of a local Union, would strongly oppose such a step on the ground of the moral effect it would have on the children.

NOT BOOZE, JUST BOOTLEGGERS IN MILITARY CAMP

SO COUNSEL EXPLAINS TO COURT, BUT CAPTAIN FINED

ST. CATHARINES, July 15.—(Canadian Press.)— When the officer commanding the Twefth Park Rangers said in police court that the military camp of 1921 was the "wettest" in his 28 years' experience, he didn't intend to convey the impression that there was more drinking than usual, but only that there were many bootleggers who were always on the lookout to sell "crocks" to the soldiers. This was all explained to the court yesterday afternoon by counsel for the defence when the adjourned session was held to complete the hearing of the case against Capt. W. Potts, charged with violation of the O. T. A. He pleaded guilty to a breach of the O.T.A. and was fined $400 and costs.

CRAIG NOW CENTRE OF PARLEYS; CONFERS WITH BRITISH LEADER; SINN FEIN LEADERS OPTIMISTIC

THAT NO FURTHER CONFERENCES ARE ARRANGDD FOR THE PRESENT WITH THE REPUBLICAN LEADER IS ACCEPTED AS MEANING THAT THE PROGRESS OF NEGOTIATIONS NOW DEPENDS ON ULSTER.

MAY BE BECAUSE OF DEVALERA HAVING DEMANDED ONE GOVERNMENT FOR ALL

(United Press.)

LONDON, July 15. — Ulster was represented in the Irish peace negotiations for the first time this afternoon.

Following two conferences with Eamonn DeValera, head of the Sinn Fein—one yesterday and one this forenoon—Premier Lloyd-George prepared to meet Sir James Craig, Premier of the new Ulster Parliament, at 10 Downing Street.

The fact that no further conferences were arranged with DeValera at this time was accepted as meaning that the progress of the negotiations depends upon the meeting with Craig.

Sinn Fein officials, following to-day's conference, expressed the greatest optimism regarding the negotiations.

According to despatches this morning information from unofficial sources was that De Valera at yesterday afternoon's conference had demanded one government for all Ireland. It was believed that this necessitated the summoning of Sir James Craig to London to confer with Lloyd George on this demand, which is strongly opposed by Ulster.

Tie conferences have been adjourned until Monday.

Positions of Three Parties to Peace Meet

(A summary of official and unofficial statements by thece leaders).

British Government—Willing to grant Dominion Home Rule to Ireland on lines similar to Canada, with the six northern counties having a status in some respects resembling that of Quebec.

Sinn Fein—Have abandoned demand for a Republic, but want one government for the whole of Ireland.

Ulster—Unalterably opposed to Sinn Fain demand of one government and favors two Parliaments as provided by the recently effective Irish Act, which created Parliaments at Belfast and Dublin.

MILITARY HAVE CONTROL AGAIN AFTER RIOTING

CONFERENCE CALLED TO DISCUSS ACUTE SITUATION IN BELFAST—TWO KILLED AND AT LEAST 30 WOUNDED LAST NIGHT.

BELFAST, July 15. — (Canadian Press).—The military resumed control of the North Queen Street area in Belfast this morning, and armoured cars patrolled the streets. At the City Hall a conference was held, attended by officers of the police and military and leading townspeople to discuss the situation here in view of the disorders that had occurred during the week.

Acute trouble developed early last evening in the York Street and North Queen Street district, several civilians being wounded in the fighting in which the police and military were forced to intervene. When reports from last night's rioting were made public this morning it developed that two persons were killed during the disorders, and that between thirty and forty others were wounded.

SIR SAM HUGHES IS MUCH WEAKER

LINDSAY, July 15. — (Canadian Press.)— Since Wednesday last the condition of Sir Sam Hughes has been causing anxiety. The fight which he has been putting up for his life was realized when he remarked to his family that he fought hard but could not fight much longer. The General has failed greatly in the past weak or so and his condition is much weaker to-day.

OLD ADAGE OF ST. SWITHIN'S DAY PUT TO THE TEST AGAIN TO-DAY

"St Swithin's Day, if thou dost rain,
For forty days it will remain;
St. Swithin's Day, if thou be fair,
For forty days 'twill rain nae mair."

Thus runs the old rhyme concerning the alleged predilection of today toward deciding the weather for the next forty days. Superstitious people watch the sky anxiously every July 15 for though statistics show that the ancient prophesy is seldom fulfilled, they firmly believe that if it rains on this date the heavens will open their sluice gates daily for forty days and it it is fair the weather will be as dry as Ontario is supposed to be for the same period.

Practical Old Probs pooh-poohs the superstition. It may have rained for forty days at the time of Noah's nautical adventures, but records show no recurrence of this meteorological phenomenon.

In view of the unusually severe heat wave, which was tempered by yesterday's rain, the superstitious are more than usually interested this year in the antics of the spirit of good St. Swithin, or whatever it is that is suposed to influence the weather on this day.

THE PARTING OF THE WAYS.

(Providence Journal.)

President Obregon seems to be hesitating between two fires. If he accedes to our terms he is in danger of losing his place at the head of the Government. If he repudiates them flatly, he must face the vigorous opposition of businessmen and others who are anxious to get back on good terms with the United States in order that Mexican credit may be improved and domestic affairs straightened out and stabilised. Which way will he turn? He cannot stand still much longer. He must make a decision or step down in favour of someone who will. The two countries, and especially Mexico cannot go on indefinitely as they have been going on for the past eight years.

REPAIR MAN'S MISTAKE MAY PROVE COSTLY ONE.

OTTAWA, July 14. — Allowing an automobile to be taken from his garage before repairs were paid for may prove a costly mistake to Robert Beaton, of Sandy Hill Garage. He is now charged in the Police Court with theft, and although that charge may be withdrawn, he will have to pay his money in a Civil Court.

Desjardin, the owner, left his car with Beaton for repairs, and when he took it away he disputed the bill of $103.00 presented to him by Beaton, and did not pay it. Later Beaton removed the car from in front of Desjardins' home, and a charge of theft was laid against him.

Magistrate Askwith pointed out to Beaton that he forfeited all right to the car when he allowed it out of his garage the first time, and that he must now give it up. The only way he could collect the debt was to sue Desjardins.

CADET CAMP ENDS HERE SATURDAY

HAS BEEN VERY SUCCESSFUL IN OPINION OF BOTH OFFICERS AND MEN.

With genuine regret on the part of officers and cadets the announcement is made that the cadet camp, which has been held at Exhibition grounds this week and has been very successful, breaks up to-morrow. Browned and burnt so their mothers will hardly know them, and filled with much exuberance and many strange tales, 130 boys, ranging in age from 12 to 16, will return to their homes to-morrow. All will leave the camp with hesitancy. To the officers the week has been a happy one. There has been much of human interest about the cadets' camp and the boys' leaders have found the week filled with rich experiences.

Lt.-Col. G. H. Gillespie, Inspector of Cadet Corps for M. D. No. 3, has been camp commandant. This morning he said: "The camp, as far as training of cadets is concerned, has been a great success. Notwithstanding the excessive heat there has been very little sickness in the camp and no cases of heat prostration.

The camp would have been better attended if the weather had not been so extremely hot. Another year, if it is possible, arrangements will be made whereby cadets from Peterborough schools can be taken to Kingston and in that way the local cadets will be given an outing which they deserve and the cadets from Kingston might be brought to Peterborough in the event of another camp being held here."

Yesterday afternoon was devoted to field sports, and under Fred McNeely, boys' secretary of the Y.M.C.A., a splendid list of events were run off. The different events with their winners were:

50 yard dash, 13 and under—1 E. Burnham, Millbrook; 2 A. Cameron, Bowmanville; 3 Gilbert Britton, Port Hope.

100 yard dash, 15 and under—1 V. Finlay, Norwood; 2 H. Winfield, Port Hope; 3 R. Sneyd, Port Hope.

Three-legged race, 13 and under—1 G. Britton nad C. Meeking, Port Hope; 2 V. Young and R. Hayden, Port Hope.

Three-legged race, 15 and under—1 R. Sneyd and H. Winfield, Port Hope; 2 H. Hill and J. Ridpath, Lakefield.

Relay race, 15 and under— 1 G. McGee, J. Breckenbridge, E. Elliott and V. Finlay of Norwood; 2 G. Lockington, R. Sneyd, C. Wood and H. Winfield of Port Hope.

Standing broad jump, open—. P. Muirhead, 2 G. McKee, 3 R. Tilley of Bowmanville.

Open half mile—1 P. Muirhead, 2 B. Richardson, Norwood, 3 C. Hood.

Standing broad jump, 15 and under—1 G. McKee, 2 V. Finlay, 3 H. Winfield.

High jump open — 1 P. Muirhead, 2 R. Tilley, 3 R. Sneyd.

Relay race open—1 B. Richardson, W. Taylor, C. Dean and M. Humphries of Norwood; 2 P. Muirhead, R. Tilley, D. Brown and E. Oliver of Bowmanville.

Norwood cadets far eclipsed all the others in capturing prizes. Norwood boys got a total of 16 prizes. The way other places divided them was: Port Hope 14, Bowmanville 11, Millbrook 5, Lakefield 2 and Peterborough 1. Peterborough cadets fell miserably below their district contemporaries in the sporting events, but they certainly showed up brilliantly in musketry practice.

The register of the cadets at this year's camp is as follows:

BIG DECLINE IN CANADA'S TRADE

DECREASE FOR JUNE IS $125,851,171

OTTAWA, July 14. Canadian Press. — Further decreases in Canada's trade are shown by the Department of Customs' summary of Canadian trade covering the month of June and the three months ending June 30, as compared with the corresponding periods of 1920.

The decrease in the grand total trade for June, 1921, as compared with the same month last year was $125,851171, and for the three months' period the decrease was $235,328,854, as compared with last year's total. Merchandize, domestic, exported during June ,1921, fell in value to $58,576,299 as compared with $106,537,835, in June, 1920, a decrease of $47,961,536. During the month of June, 1920, goods to the value of $134,692,344 were entered for consumption in Canada as compared with $57,643,658 in June, 1921, a decrease of $77,048,686.

Merchandise entered for consumption in the three months period ending June, 1920, was valued at $346,303,778 of which goods to the value of $229,005,489 were dutiable, and the duty collected on these was $56,184,248. In the coresponding period of 1921 the imports totalled $191,256,572, of which $131,596,878 being dutiable goods, paid duty to the extent of $29,361,495. Dutiable goods imported during June, 1920, were valued at $89,131,496, and a total of $18,398,405 in duty was collected. In the corresponding month of the present year the value of dutiable goods imported fell to $37,101,449 and the duty collected to $9,067,478.

Commenting upon the above despatch, Mr. J. H. Burnham, said today:

"We all know that the press opposed to the Conservative party has been doing all it could to substitute the new party at Ottawa for the great Conservative party that swept Canada in 1911 and whose enemies are taking advantage of the treachery and strategy of the new situation but the enormous slump in Canada's trade for June must surely give pause to all the politicians if we are not to go completely and speedily on the rocks. It may be good politics for the opponents of the Conservative party to aid treachery to defeat it, but it is poor patriotism and will yet prove how disastrous it really is."

NOBLESE OBLIGE.

Frances Bourne Upham in New York Times.)

"So long as Honor holds its ancient hallowed place,
So long as we stand as debtor, Europe in thy place!"

The stricken fields of France still bleed from open wounds.
The livid scars in Flanders have not healed,
In no man's land the pines still echo back the sounds
Of crashing waves 'gainst walls that never yield,
The smoldering ruins of humble homes,
The graves of heroes still unknown,
The skeleton cathedral domes,
The drooping weed on sculptured stone,
Still testify of priceless sacrifice for Right—
Still signalize th meanness of unrighteous might.

A hundred thousand sons of England's best,
With backs against a spattered wall faced Hell;
As many thousand crosses plead for them at rest,
Where yesterday they proudly fought so well,
And thousands more, yes, millions more,
From school and shop, from hut and hall,
From factories' forge from village store,
Fast followed on, in turn to fall.
Till every blade of grass seems drenched in blood
And every placid stream a crimson flood.

Along the Somme at Ypres, Amiens, Verdun,
On Alpine heights, in submerged wintry seas,
Fair youth kept tryst with death, tho God knows all too soon,
That justice might be sure, democracy be free,
They counted not their lives as dear
They scorned to boast of what they did,
They never doubted triumph near
They knew that right could not be hid,
For Belgium, Italy, fair England, Sunny France,
Men leapt to die as maidens spring to dance!

And yet—Great God, forgive — men tell of what they owe—
Of billions due from Europe even now—
As if deep lines of care and withering wo
Had not been stamped for us on her sad brow!
Great God, forgive, great God, forget
If ever once we think of gold—
If ever in our selfishness we let
If in our selfishness we let
Some tale of petty greed to be told.

"So long as Honor holds its ancient hallowed place,
So long we stand as debtor, Europe, in thy place!"

NO MORE CELLULOID COLLARS FOR CHICAGO POLICE FORCE

CHICAGO, July 14.—The celluloid collar was banished from the Chicago police force in an edict by Chief Fitzmorris, who declared the Chicago police must be the best dressed in the world. A well dressed man does not wear a celluloid collar, the Chief said.

"With the present salaries the members of the department are getting," Chief Fitzmorris said, "they can afford to look neat. I am tired of seeing an otherwise spic and span policeman with a celluloid collar around his neck hanging by one string."

MEMBER OF COMMONS WOUNDED IN FIGHT

BELFAST, July 15 (Canadian Press). — A fierce gun duel was fought in the York Street and North Queen Street areas last night.

Sniping, which began yesterday morning continued almost throughout the entire day, developing early last evening into sharp fighting, in which the police and military were obliged to take a hand.

Several civilians were wounded.

After seven o'clock last night the police and military in armoured cars were virtually powerless to cope with the shooting.

The streets were closed to traffic, tramway service was suspended, and only motor cars carrying people on the most urgent business ventured on the streets. These took the precaution of travelling at top speed.

Ambulance workers were kept busy taking wounded persons to the hospitals.

Among those wounded was William Grant, Labour member of the House of Commons for North Belfast, who was shot in the chest.

U.S. CONSULS INSTRUCTED TO HELP RESTORE EXCHANGE WITH CANADA

LONDON, Ont., July 15 (Canadian Press).—United States Consul Taggert made public yesterday a memorandum from the State Department at Washington, instructing all members of the Consular Service in this country to assist by whatever means is in their power, measures that may result in the restoration of exchange between the United States and Canada to a more normal level.

The State Department points out that favourable balance of trade now shown for the United States can readily become a disadvantage when exchange costs reach a level that interfere with United States export business.

The memorandum also instructs Consular agents to be on the lookout for safe and desirable investments for United States capital.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION TO REV. G. F. WHIBBS, CAMPBELLFORD

CONGREGATION OF ST. MARY'S SAID FAREWELL TO PARISH PRIEST OF LAST NINETEEN YEARS.

CAMPBELLFORD, July 15.—The entire congregation of Saint Mary's Church assembled in the Music Hall on Thursday evening for a farewell concert in honor of Rev. Father Whibbs, who is leaving for Lindsay.

The programme, which consisted mainly of musical numbers by members of the congregation and the children, was heartily received.

The chairman was Mr. George O'Sullivan, and upon the platform with him were Rev. Father Whibbs, Rev. Father Ferguson, Rev. J. O'Sullivan of Wooller, and Rev. F. O'Sullivan, of Port Hope.

The Chairman opened the concert by making a few remarks as to the surprise and regret with which the people received the announcement of Father Whibbs' advancement. He will always be cherished, however, in the memories of young and old.

The first number was a chorus by the young children of Father Whibbs' favorite hymn.

Rev. Father Ferguson recited "Down by the Rio Grande."

Bernard Blute, who is only nine years of age, sang "That Old Irish Mother o' Mine" so sweetly and was so heartily encored, that he had to sing "My Tumble Down Shack," which also merited great applause.

Miss Emily Lynch then read an address from the Altar Boys and Sodality Girls, who presented Father Whibbs with a most beautiful lace surplice and two gold coins.

Mr. O'Sullivan then read an address from the people as a whole, accompanying which was a well-filled purse.

Address From Congregation.

Reverend and Dear Father, — There is sorrow in the hearts of all who are gathered to honor you tonight, sorrow at the separation so near, from one who has been a good and true friend to us, but it is not to tell you that, that we are come together, it is to express our gratitude to us for your work and all that your work has meant for us for the seventeen years past; and gratitude to God for the blessings that your priesthood has brought to us through those years.

For almost a score of years now you have been our Priest. We know, dear Father, what that means. Long centuries ago, in the central point of human history, the Eternal God, God the Son, came into the world and took to Himself a human nature, a human body and soul, formed in the chaste womb of the Virgin Mary, and on Christmas Day He was born man of her, the Christ Child Jesus, the Saviour of the fallen world. He grew through boyhood to manhood and then, in man's estate, He, the Eternal Son of God, ascended the Altar of the Cross and offered Himself a sacrifice for man's salvation, and for nineteen hundred years on every Catholic altar throughout the world that sacrifice has been continued. Here, in our midst, upon our altar, you, dear Father, sharing in the Priesthood of Him, the Eternal High Priest, morning after morning, have taken in your hands the bread and wine of sacrifice, and have spoken in His name the words He leads, you speak, "This is My Body," "This is My Blood," and at those words of power, He has come down to His Heavenly Father the offering of the Cross and so, morning after morning, through your priestly ministration, we have knelt at the foot of Calvary. We know what the Holy Mass is, and we thank God for that unspeakable blessing which comes to us through His Priest.

And continuing the unbroken tradition of nineteen hundred years, you have been to us the minister of God's Holy Sacraments, those rites by which the Church consecrates every stage of man's life journey from birth to death.

We have listened to the saving truths of the gospel message from your lips. Once again we thank God for the blessings of your priesthood. He said to His apostles, long ago, "He who hears you, hears Me." When you taught us, dear Father, it was the Catholic church who spoke and the Catholic church is the living voice of God.

There is one side of your work as teacher that has drawn you close to our hearts ,and that is the care you have bestowed upon the training of our little ones. Here as in all your work you have been the faithful priest and kind friends. The Catholic church took the old Pagan maxim, 'Sound mind in a sound body," and she transformed it into a heavenly thing and made it read, "A sound mind in a sound body and both ruled by a pure soul." A soul that recognizes God as its creator an its final end and this life only as a training ground where we make ourselves worthy, when we pass through the gate of death, to live with God forever. The church insists that to make a man a good citizen of this world and to fit him for heaven, not only must the intellect be trained, but also the will must be trained and that the training of the will can be done only through the discipline of religion. The clever man without moral training may be just a clever rascal. The church insists that there is no education worthy of the name that does not include and give first place to religious instruction. You have shown yourself, dear Father, most devoted to the cause of Catholic education. We thank God and His priest for this. The three Separate schools in our parish are ample evidence if evidence is required, of your zeal in this regard.

It would be impossible to enumerate all thew ork done here in our midst—it is not a perishable thing, a thing of yesterday—but in years to come it will remain a lasting evidence of the unflagging zeal and tireless energy that mark every hour of your life as priest and pastor among us.

We are sorry that you are leaving us, but it is the will of our good Bishop and therefore God's will. We prav that God may bless your work in the future as he has blessed it in the past and we beg of you, dear Father, to accept this little gift as a mark of our love and gratitude.

MUNITIONS MEN FAVOR PROJECT OF DISARMING

MEN WHOSE "WAR BUSINESS" MEANS PROFITS ENDORSE HARDING'S PROPOSITION.

AVIATION DEVELOPMENT WOULD BE GREAT RESULT

NEW YORK July 15.—American munitions makers yesterday placed themselves on record in favor of limitation of armaments.

Men whose business interests would receive huge profits through war endorsed President Harding's proposed disarmament conference, both from a humanitarian and economic standpoint.

Chief among those who declared forarmament limitation was Irenee Du Pont, president of the E. I. Du Pont De Nemours Co., largest powder manufacturers in the world.

Du Pont revealed that his concern had scrapped and dismantled ninety-seven per cent. of the plants which provided the United States and the allies with powder during the world war.

Others who took a stand against burdensome armaments were:

Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation; Hudson Maxim, famous inventor of military weapons; H. E. Talbott, jr., president of the Dayton-Wright Airplane Co.; Harry B. Mason, secretary of Parke-Davis Co., Detroit chemical concern which engaged extensively in turning out war products, and Col. E. A. Deeds, automobile accessory and airplane manufacturer, who was chief of aircraft production during the war.

"There is some confusion in the use of the word 'disarmament'," Du Pont said. "To actually disarm is as absurdly Utopian as it would be to discontinue the police force of a city on the theory that everybody would be good.

"To limit armament or at least to limit the suicidal competition to obtain supremacy, appeals to everybody's common sense.

"I hope that sound public opinion will compel a limitation of armament."

Commercial aeronautics would be greatly benefitted by disarmament according to Talbott, of the Dayton Wright Airplane Co.

"There will be more aircraft and more flying if a disarmament agreement is reached at President Harding's conference," he said. "The development which must be done now is in small aircraft. Elimination of the necesisty for concentrating on military planes would result in rapid development of commercial flying, The whole course of aerial navigation would be changed."

To this Col. Deeds added:

"The real aviation development along commercial lines which is to come will produce vastly different planes than the battle craft.

"I believe that if some sort of a disarmmanet plan is evolved it will be a good thing for aeronautics."

SIX-YEAR-OLD LOSES LIFE WHILE BATHING

APPROPRIATION REQUESTED FOR CARETAKER OF CHILDREN BATHING.

RENFREW, July 15.—(Canadian Press.)— Garfield, the six year old son of Bert Miller, was drowned in the Bonnechere River yesterday afternoon while bathing with his elder brothers, John and Frank. The little fellow was supposed to be a good swimmer, but on jumping into the river he sank at once in 25 feet of water and never came up. The brothers divef for him but were unable to find his body, which has not yet been recovered, Only last week the Council tabled a request of the Playgrounds Association that $200 be appropriated to engage a caretaker of children bathing in the river during hot weather.

ABANDON HOPE FOR SIR SAM

FORMER MINISTER OF MILITIA SUFFERS SEVERE RELAPSE AND CONDITION SERIOUS THIS MORNING.

LINDSAY, July 15 (Canadian Press).—Suffering a severe relapse early last evening, the condition of General Sir Sam Hughes, former Minister of Militia, was reported at 1.30 this morning to be very serious, and any hopes entertained during the past few days for his recovery have been given up.

Interviewed by the Canadian Press early this morning, Dr. J. McAlpine, Sir Sam's physician, stated that the intense heat was mainly responsible for the critical turn of the famous soldier's illness. He was worse yesterday morning, but during the evening his condition became serious, and he is failing rapidly.

Sir Sam is delirious.

The former Minister of Militia has suffered for some time from pernicious anaemia and heart trouble.

VALERA STRESSES IRISH UNITY; DESIRES ONLY ONE PARLIAMENT; CONFERENCE RESUMED AT ELEVEN

LLANDOVERY CASTLE SURVIVORS ARE NOT ASKED TO TESTIFY

LONDON, Ont., July 15 (Canadian Press).—Sergt. Arthur Knight, of 22Wyatt Street, this city, was one of the six Canadian survivors when the Germans sank the hospital ship Llandovery Castle, and he deems it strange that none of the soldier survivors has been asked by either the Canadian or British Governments to testify against the German officers who are being tried in Germany for brutal offences against the rules of war.

Sergt. Knight had the honour to be commanded to appear before King George at Windsor Castle to relate his experiences when the Llandovery Castle was torpedoed.

LAW REACHES TO FAR NORTH

FIRST JURY TRIAL HELD IN MACKENZIE TERRITORY WHEN JUDICIAL PARTY GOES INTO NORTH.

FORT McMURRAY, Alta., July 15.—(Canadian Press.)—Albert Lebeaux, Slavey Indian, for whose trial a special judicial party went north a few weeks ago, has been found guilty of the murder of his wife and child and sentenced to death.

Judge Dubuc conducted the trial at Fort Providence, with C. C. McCaul, of Ottawa, as counsel for the prosecution and John C. Cory, for the defence. The case was handled with as much care and legal precision as if it was one of the city courts instead of the first jury trial ever held in the Mackenzie territory. Evidence was submitted in support of the charge that definitely establishes the prisoner's guilt, however, and sentence of death was accordingly passed upon him. Local Indians have been impressed with the fact that British justice reaches far and that Lebeaux was getting a fair trial.

BECAUSE OF VALERA'S STAND FOR ONE IRISH PARLIAMENT, CRAIG IS SUMMONED TO LONDON.

EXPECTED TO MAKE ADDITIONAL PROGRESS

LONDON, July 15. — (United Press).—The second session of the Irish peace negotiations began shortly after 11 o'clock to-day.

Eamonn De Valera and Premier Lloyd George, resuming their conferences at 10 Downing Street, were expected to make additional progress in the preliminary steps toward settlement of the Irish question. The long duration of yesterday's initial conference was generally considered the most hopeful sign in connection with the negotiations.

From semi-official sources it was learned that De Valera had emphasized the importance of Irish unity, and that he wants only one Parliament for the whole of Ireland.

Because of this, it was said to be necessary that Sir James Craig, Ulster Premier, should be summoned at once. He was to arrive this afternoon, and was expected to confer with Lloyd George this evening.

Meantime the British Government was hopeful of arranging a full conference with both the South and North of Ireland represented.

The only incident which has served to mar the proceedings has been the continued disorder in Belfast. Yesterday's rioting was bitter, two girls and a military officer being killed and many persons being injured. So far, there has been no disposition on the part of officials to regard the disorders as intentional violations of the truce, since the agreement applied technically only to the South of Ireland.

After yesterday's meeting with De Valera, the Premier held a Cabinet meeting and then visited Buckingham Palace, where reported the afternoon's developments to King George. Following this he attended a Liberal-Coalition dinner at the Cecil Hotel. Apologizing for his lateness, he said:

POST MORTEMS.

Holding post-mortems over the cost of the Hunter street bridge is not a profitable occupation. The whole project has been badly handled and mismanaged from its inception, but there is little to be gained at this stage by attempting to place the responsibility for the heavy cost of the bridge. Already the structure has entailed an expenditure of over half a million dollars and the end is not yet. To finish the bridge as soon as possible and as cheaply as the remaining work can be done should be the resolve of the Council. And perhaps it would be as well not to have any elaborate opening ceremonies. The citizens have heard enough of the bridge as it is, and it is not a pleasant topic with the taxpayers. They see no reason for being joyful over the fact that the bridge that was supposed primarily to cost around $250,000 will not be completed for over double that amount, and even then is scarcely wide enough to carry street railway lines. It has been a ghastly enterprise, this municipal adventure in bridge building.

AN OLD BOYS' RE-UNION.

It is a matter of regret that little progress was made towards carrying into effect the suggestion of a Peterborough old boys' re-union or old home week during the present summer. Peterborough has turned out a lot of men and women who have made good in many walks of life; some of them in fact have gone a long way towards the top of the ladder of progress. They come back to us, those old boys and girls, occasionally, it is true, but what a wonderful re-union it would be to have them all home together. Other centres arrange such an event regularly, but it is many years since Peterborough has had anything of the kind and the time seems ripe to undertake a re-union in this city. The Chamber of Commerce might include such an event in its list of activities for next year and no doubt the whole-hearted co-operation of the community would be forthcoming on behalf of the movement which could be made one of the most noteworthy events of its kind ever held in this city.

GROUP GOVERNMENT.

The development of group government as indicated by the piebald complexion of the field in the Alberta elections cannot be regarded as in all respects a healthy condition. In Ontario the province has had some experience with that form of government, and while it is perhaps too early to make an accurate diagnosis, there are features about such an administration that tend to make effective carrying on of public business a difficult matter. Alliances between two parties of widely different views lead to internal confusion unless both sacrifice some of their plans and the working agreement between Farmers and Labour in the Ontario House, while it has held together so far, shows signs of friction. The plain speaking of Mr. Halcrow, M.P.P. of Hamilton, the House leader of the Labour party, is a significant indication that all is not as harmonious as it might be in the ranks of the government, and istration, no matter how sincere and istration, no mater how sincere and worthy its motives, would have trouble in functioning properly or in the best interests of the province. Mr. Drury has so far shown considerable cleverness in rising above the difficulties caused by the fact that he leads a following composed of two factions. Whether he can continue to do so is a different matter.

THE WAGE QUESTION.

More than 3,000,000 American workers will suffer unemployment until wages reach a permanent lower level," says Homer L. Ferguson, director of Chamber of Commerce of the Uinted States. "Business men and manufacturers attending the convention are convinced that wage reductions must become general before economic depression clears completely away," asserted Ferguson, who recently persuaded workmen voluntarily to accept decreases at his Newport News shipbuilding plant.

"The movement is already well advanced, wages now have fallen to a level about 15 p.c. below a few months ago. Living costs have gone down 30 p.c. The worker thus is better off than he was despite the reduction," he said.

"The farmer has about settled his labor problem. He has cut wages about 50 p.c. The same thing seems bound to happen in the building industry. People won't buy houses now. They are waiting for lower prices. These can come down only when building workers consent to work for less. Materials have fallen off in price, but nearly 60 p.c. of the cost of building is labour. "Railroad workers now are able to buy about 35 p.c. more with their dollars than in pre-war days. In short, they are better off than ever before."

CIVIL SERVICE REORGANIZATION.

Sir George Foster publicly states that there has been considerable misapprehension as to policy that has been adopted in the reorganization of the Post Office and Customs Departments. Sir George asserts that Griffenhagen and Associates, and their successors, have had "nothing whatever to do with the personnel of the departments, made no recommendations as to retirements, transfers, promotions or new appointments." He explains that they have to do "solely with positions, as to what may be dispensed with, as to amalgamations of service which may be made, as to what over-lapping may be dropped, and as to what methods of conducting the administration may be adopted." When the abolition of offices or the reduction of staffs is recommended by the experts and approved by the subcommittee of Council, it is, he says, the Civil Service Commission which, in co-operation with the officers of the departments, names the individual civil servants who are to be affected.

This statement by Sir George Foster is, on enquiry by the Journal confirmed by the Civil Service Commission. It is stated that, sometime prior to the report of the experts on reorganization, the Civil Service Commission requested the Post Office and Customs Departments to prepare an efficiency rating of every employee. These ratings, the commission asserts, were prepared by the individual's immediate chief, his branch chief, and his deputy head, according to methods and principles laid down by the commission. "When the sub-committee of Council notified the Civil Service Commission that htey had approved of some reductions in staff, the commission prepared from the ratings that had been previously made, lists of employees to be dismissed. Those with the lower ratings were selected for dismissal. It may be technically true that the department heads did not know and had nothing to do directly with the discharge of certain employees, but, as will be seen, the department heads did know about, and were consulted very thoroughly, over the efficiency ratings which determined the final action in the matter of individual retirements." Thus spoke the representative of the commission.

As between the accuracy of the statements of Sir George Foster, and the Civil Service Commission, and the corectness of complaints made by civil servants affected and supported by Dr Chabot, M.P., The Journal is unable to decide, and it can only present the case as it is stated by both sides. The discharge of old employees is always a disagreeable business ,and the Journal hopes that Sir George and his associates in the Cabinet, as well as the Civil Service Commission, will take sympathetic care that injustice is not unnecessarily done.

Sir George Foster assures the Journal that all employees over 65 years of age are not being indiscriminately retired. "Only those over 65 years of age are retired whose services are inefficient or rendered unnecessay by economics brought about by reorganization."Of course Sir George Foster makes that statement conscientiously believing it to be true, and the Journal can only hope that it is true.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It is to be hoped the Hunter street bridge is strong enough to carry all the extras.

The Globe suggests that street railway employees take the numbers of motor cars which run by standing street cars. There is much in favour of such a plan.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

One of the dangers to Harding's disarmament conference will be the amount of wind which has been stirred up by the naval race.

Being corralled by one of these new "thinkers" is enough to turn you into the sort that prefers large print and a happy ending.

Another thing that won't get you anywhere is thinking about how cooling that gentle 70-mile an hour breeze in Northern Ontario must be.

Further proof of the law compensation is supplied by the fact that the hot weather is causing a decrease in the output of our contributing amateur poets.

Man was made to live by the sweat of his brow, the Bible says. The majority are doing that during the present weather, but it's more like existing than living.

Stephanson, the Arctic explorer, claims that the Arctic will be populated within thirty years. After the Yukon voting wet, we wouldn't be surprised to see it populated sooner.

And as evidence of his faith in the possibilities of the North, Stephanson will lead a colonising expedition in August, starting from Seattle. One at a time, please, and don't crowd.

As Ring Lardner says, because a woman uses more words than a man in a day is no reason for supposing she has a larger vocabulary. She is likely to repeat a number of things quite frequently.

A woman's magazine is publishing letters from its readers on whether a Platonic friendship between a man and woman may lead to anything more serious. Last one we knew of nearly led to the bankruptcy court.

Some interesting statistics could have been prepared if the census enumerators had been instructed to count the number of unopened sets of Shakespeare prominently displayed on library tables and dusted off once a week.

We expect to read soon that some American reformers have started a campaign to have the Statue of Liberty removed from New York Harbour.

WILL REPAIR THE ALHAMBRA

MADRID, July 13.—Plans for the repair of the old Moorish palace of the Alhambra in Granada have been approved by the Government and the Minister of Public Instruction has signed a royal order appointing architects to execute the work as rapidly as possible.

The Alhambra was built late in the thirteenth century by the Moors, who had invaded Spain and established a Moorish kingdom. The Moors held sway over large areas of Spain from 1235 until 1401, leaving behind them many noble works of architecture, the most beautiful of which was the Alhambra. During the last few years the ancient building has been in need of repairs, but Government action to restore it was delayed for various reasons.

If candles were made in the form of a cross some people would burn the mat all four ends.

CHAPTER II

Kent and I came out from the Hotel Brevoort and walked down Fifth avenue in silence. My nerves were in a terrible state of excitemen. I had kept quiet about Tom Barney's visit to the apartment because I somehow felt it was for the best and now I knew I had offended Kent. His love for me was so honest, and I had hurt him cruelly.

Bnt I did not know what to say, how to explain things, and the longer I remained silent the harder it was to striaghten things out. Then too I did not like to tell Kent what Tom had said and how he had tried to find out about his trip to Philadelphia. I knew Kent's disposition so well and his fiery temper, that I feared he would have it out with Tom. Besides, I actually feared Tom Barney. I had a strange sort of feeling that he somehow had the power to come between Kent and me.

Twice I tried to open my mouth and tell Kent the truth—everything—but the words refused to come. Instead I put my hand ever so carefully on his arm in hopes he would understand how I felt and speak to me, but he didn't. He didn't push it away though and I think once he drew it a little closer to him. I wanted to cry. The tears burned hot behind my eyelids. Kent was never cross with me and that made it so much harder. If he would only scold, then I could say something. But he seemed so far off and unapproachable in that awful silence.

When we reached the apartment Kent went to his room. In a few minutes he came to my door and asked if he could come in. I said, "Yes, dear," and tried to put all the feeling I could into those two words.

He came over and stood in front of me. He was very pale. I longed to throw my two arms around his neck and talk it all over with him.

"Here is $500, Babs,' he said spreading it out on my lap. "I want you to take some of it—spend it—buy a new dress—anything you need. Then put the rest to your account at the bank. I haven't been very generous with you lately." He paused and pressed his hand nervously against his forehead. "Maybe I can manage to let you have a servant soon."

"Kent, don't Don't you see it isn't money! I don't need the $500 or the clothes. I just want you to believe in me," I cried, the tears rushing down my cheeks.

A queer sort of expression came into Kent's eyes, and a hopelessly, pathetic look made his strong features writhe as if in pain.

"To love is to trust, dearest. Don't you know that?" I said pleadingly my arms stretched out to him.

"Don't don't Babs!" he cried, in a broken voice ,and then dropped on his knees and buried his head in my lap.

I caressed the back of his head ever so softly with my hand.

'I trust and believe in you Kent. All my faith is in your keeping, dear," I said, trying to comfort him.

'Stop! Don't say that—it frightens me just the thought of it," he cried agitatedly without raising his head or looking at me.

"Frightens you? Why, Kent! You want me to believe in you, don't you?" I pleaded.

At last he raised his face to mine and his dear eyes searched my face penetrating down to my very soul.

"I can't talk about it, Babs," he said desperately, crushing me in his arms.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE LIFE

A Dangerous Period Through Which Every Woman Must Pass

Practical Suggestions Given by the Women Whose Letters Follow

Afton, Tenn.—"I want other suffering women to know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. During the Change of Life I was in bed for eight months and had two good doctors treating me but they did me no good. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which I did, and in a short time I felt better. I had all kinds of bad spells, but they all left me. Now when I feel weak and nervous I take the Vegetable Compound and it always does me good. I wish all women would try it during the Change of Life for I know it will do them good. If you think it will induce some one to try the Vegetable Compound you may publish this letter."—Mrs. A. KELLER, Afton, Tenn.

Mrs. Mary Lister of Adrian, Mich., adds her testimony to the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to carry women safely through the Change of Life. She says:

"It is with pleasure that I write to you thanking you for what your wonderful medicine has done for me. I was passing through the Change of Life and had a displacement and weakness so that I could not stand on my feet and other annoying symptoms. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the first bottle helped me, so I got more and I am now doing my housework. Your medicine is certainly woman's friend and you may use this testimonial as you choose." Mrs. MARY LISTER, 608 Frank Street, Adrian, Mich.

It is said that middle age is the most trying period in a woman's life, and owing to modern methods of living not one woman in a thousand passes through this perfectly natural change without experiencing very annoying symptoms.

Those smothering spells, the dreadful hot flashes that send the blood rushing to the head until it seems as though it would burst, and the faint feeling that follows, as if the heart were going to stop, those sinking or dizzy spells are all symptoms of a nervous condition, and indicate the need for a special medicine.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a root and herb medicine especially adapted to act upon the feminine system. It acts in such a manner as to build up the weakened nervous system and enables a woman to pass this trying period with the least possible annoying symptoms.

Women everywhere should remember that most of the commoner ailments of women are not the surgical ones—they are not caused by serious displacements or growths, although the symptoms may be the same, and that is why so many apparently serious ailments readily yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it acts as a natural restorative and often prevents serious troubles.

COURT OF ENQUIRY MADE ITS REPORT

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(Canadian Press.)— A romantic story of last December when a naval balloon left Rockaway, Long Island; carrying three naval aeronauts, who subsequently landed in the wilds of Northern Ontario and reached safety after hardships which so affected that two of them engaged in fisticuffs, ended to-day, when the Court of Enquiry made its report. In this document, made public by Secretary Denby, the court does not censure the three airmen, Lieut. A. Kloor, Lieut. Stephen Farrell and Lieut. Walter Hinton, for making the flight, but instead says that the journey was authorized by the commanding officer, although crossing the Canadian border was never contemplated. The aeronauts, it will be remembered, lost their way and drifted across the Canadian border.

HEMP "BREAKING" DEMONSTRATION.

Hemp Can be Grown in Canada — Machine for "Breaking" Invented.

WINNIPEG, July 13.—A recent hemp "breaking" demonstration here proved conclusively that hemp can be successfully grown in Canada and that a machine has been found capable of converting the hemp stalks into marketable hemp fibre, which can be manufactured into practically anything from the coarsest rope to finest linen, used in the making of household requirements. The demonstration was conducted by Col. William Grassie, D. S.O., president of the Canadian Fibre Product Company Limited, and was witnessed by 100 persons, including agricultural experts and prominent business men.

The hemp stalks used were grown at the Manitoba Agriculture College and lay under the snow all winter. The seed was secured from Kentucky and cost $16 a bushel. Under normal conditions, hemp stalks will grow to a height of 15 feet and when cut and dried will yield between four and five tons to the acre Such farmers in the province as are growing hemp for experimental purposes this year are being paid $15 a ton for their product.

"Hemp is the greatest weed killer among growing plants, and will undoubtedly appeal to farmers of western Canada," Col. Grassie said. "The use of a three year crop rotation will do away with the necessity of summer following. When all other grasses and grains are killed from frost in early spring or summer the hemp grows on," Col. Grassie stated.

The skin of the stalk is what is used for hemp fibre. The wood in the centre following the separation process, is broken into small pieces and as a by-product finds a ready sale for purposes of making paper pulp. The machine used to separate the fibre from the wood is an intricate affair, operating on a similar style to a grain separator.

Col. Grassie stated it was the intention of his company to establish plants in various parts of the country which would manufacture the raw material into the finished product and thus furnish more employment for the workers as well as to build up an industry that would do away with the necessity of importing hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of fibre products.

CAR READJUSTMENT ABOUT COMPLETED

Readjustment of motor car prices appears practically completed, according to National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. Mid-year price changes have stabilized the industry to a degree that is bringing increased sales to most companies. New prices in many instances go back to figures of a few years ago, although many models are bigger and better.

Carload shipments from factories, during April and May, were 67 per cent. of production for corresponding month of last year, and June figures are expected to show approximately the same rate.

Compared with the feverish rush of motor car buying in the spring of 1920, a two-thirds demand appears to represent a big falling off, but, compared with normal years, it shows the automobile industry as a whole is faring better than many other lines.

The chamber reports steady demand for used cars, prices of which have also been substantially reduced, although reductions have been offset somewhat by smaller allowances on used cars when offered for a trade-in by retail buyers. In other words, many who waited for reductions of the past few months saved comparatively little, owing to lower valuation on their old cars.

"Success of the automobile industry has been based mainly on big production and resulting low prices which insure a broad market. For that reason every effort has been made to produce better cars at lower prices. Moreover, in readjustments of the past few weeks manufacturers generally have taken into consideration the need for increased car and truck sales by the 35,000 dealers throughout the country."

Truck business continues on a par with general business, but with an improved future just as soon as general construction and road building programs get under way and railroads perfect plans for use of motor trucks for short haul traffic and in connection with store door delivery.

DIES AFTER VACCINATION.

Immigrant's Life Could Have Been Saved if Wife Had Told Doctor.

NEW YORK, July 13.—John Alibon, 56 years, a laborer from Peterborough, England, who was a steerage passenger on the Cunarder Carmania, which arrived yesterday from Liverpool, died on Saturday night of acute blood poisoning following vaccination before embarking on the vessel.

He had been ill all through the voyage, but his wife, who accompanied him with their two children, did not report the case to M. Clough, the surgeon of the Carmania. The doctor said yesterday, after the liner reached her pier at the foot of West Fourteenth street, that he could have saved the man if his wife had informed him of her husband's condition.

The Alibon family were coming to friends in this city on account of the slack times in England, and it is expected that the widow and the two children will be permitted to land.

PASTOR HAS INTEREST IN SECULAR AFFAIRS

Manifold Duties Discharged by Rev. J. W. S. Lowry, Moderator of Presbytery.

Rev. J. W. S. Lowry of Franktown, for the current year Moderator of the Lanark and Renfrew Presbytery, is a man of manifold duties, a clergyman who takes an active interest in secular as well as in religious affairs, in that part of Lanark County, where he has been minister for the past seven years. He organized and is now President of the Beckwith and Montague Rural Telephone Company, which covers a large portion of two townships. He is also President of the Franktown Community Club, an organization which he founded to develop and improve local conditions generally. Mr. Lowry was also Secretary of the Beckwith Patriotic League during the war, the organization which presented a machine gun to the 130th Battalion. He is on the Executive of the Lanark Educational Association and has been a Justice of the Peace for the county of Lanark ever since the passing of the Ontario Temperance Act in 1916. In the latter capacity he has been able to prevent, or adjust, many local difficulties from time to time.

As an old country Ulster-Irishman it goes almost without saying that Mr. Lowry is an ardent loyalist and imperialist, which accounts for the fact that he is County Master for Lanark of the Lanark Association. As a clergyman he serves practically all the rural territory between Carleton Place and Smith's Falls.

Mr. Lowry evidently believes that there is nothing incongrous in a clergyman taking an active interest in politics. In 1917 he was nominated by the Union Government convention for Lanark County, but withdrew his name in favor of the late Dr. Hanna. He was nominated again for the bye-election of 1918 to fill the vacancy caused by Dr. Hanna's death, but again declined the honor. —Renfrew Mercury.

U. S. TARIFF WON'T HIT WESTERN WHEAT PRICE

REGINA, Sask., July 13.—(Canadian Press).—Wheat prices in the Canadian West will not be effected by the new American tariff, except insofar as this interference with free shipment to the United States may be exploited by market manipulators, according to an opinion expressed by J. B. Musselman, Central Secretary for the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association, in a recent interview.

"So long as the United States requires Western Canadian hard wheat for blending with her own winter wheat, it would seem that her own people will have to pay the import duty on it, besides its competitive world value. The United States millers will be under a handicap in competing with Canadian millers when it is considered that imported wheat is used for blending in making flour for export to Europe," Mr. Musselman said.

The meat industry, Mr. Musselman believes, will be hard hit by this new tariff. "The effect of this tariff on our meat industry is likely to be very much more detrimental to the farmers of this country, especially as Canada has practically no other market for live cattle." Mr. Musselman, concluding, said: "The thing for Canada to do is to leave no stone unturned in building up export markets for her commodities, and in perfecting financial and marketing arrangements that will leave her producers under no handicap in meeting the competition of the United States in the markets of the world."

Flood of Soft Drinks and 500 Gallons of Ice Cream Daily Bill, But Meat Goes Begging

Notwithstanding the pronouncements of the Medical Officer of Health and of Mr. E. G. Patterson, with regard to the folly of eating too much ice cream in the summer-time, the Peterboro Milk Products continues to toil night and day at the task of turning out sufficient of this commodity to satisfy the demands of warm consumers, and even with this extraordinary pressure of industry, with 500 gallons every day pouring out of the factory, they can't supply everyone who wants it. Word came through from Port Hope that the dealers there were caught with an extra supply for the celebration of the 12th but they suffered a shortage of soft drinks. The D. Knox Mineral Water Company is turning out quantities of these aids to coolness, in the form of ginger beer, lemon sour, cream soda and Hires. Daily, 200 cases roll out of the factory, and still there is a famine of soft drinks up the lakes, and the demand from Norwood and Havelock can't be supplied.

In the cool little factory where all hands seem to be busy in an atmosphere of sizzling effervescing wetness electric machines fill and cap 120 dozen bottles every hour, and busy fingers attach the labels with deft swiftness.

One of the thorns in the crown of so much business is the impossibility of getting back all the bottles. There must be 5000 cases of them around town at the present time, according to the statement of the proprieor. And there is also a big drawback in the city water, which the company has to filter. Every twenty minutes the flow runs smaller and smaller, and sometimes stops altogether, until filtered, when it begins again with renewed energy, and runs along evenly until another deposit chokes it up.

The hardware stores are doing a rushing business in window screens, in refrigerators and in hammocks, and it is a very difficult matter to procure an electric fan. This is where the "ill wind" of continued warm weather has a beneficial effect but the silver lining isn't apparent to the butchers, by any means. They are not doing enough business to keep open, according to most of them, and one man said he might just as well shut up his shop. Flesh meat isn't popular in the dog days.

FINDLEY NOT ON THE COMMITTEE

DENIES APPOINTMENT TO LEAGUE DISARMAMENT BODY.

TORONTO, July 15.—A special Paris cable naming Mr. Thomas Findley, President of the Massey-Harris Company of Toronto as one of the three representatives of the world's munition interests to serve as a member of the Committee of Disarmament of the League of Nations, was not confirmed by Mr. Findley when seen yesterday.

"I have never been approached to act on this committee, and I would not act if I were approached," Mr. Findley commented. "I do not understand the despatch. In the first place, I have had no communication whatever with any person on this subject, and I do not think that our firm should be classed among the makers of armaments." Mr. Findley was of the opinion that a committee of armament manufacturers would be powerless to do anything that might make war impossible. Commenting on a statement in the cable to the effect that the league had invited a number of manufacturers to act on the committee, and that the manufacturers had refused to have anything to do with the project, Mr. Findley stated that he had never heard of any manufacturer ever having been approached or ever having refused to act on any committee of this kind. "I cannot imagine any manufacturer being desirous of a return of conditions which require the making of munitions. Certainly I hope the day will never come again when we shall use our plant for making munitions."

The Disarmament Conference called by President Harding was considered by Mr. Findley to be "the best and most civilized thing that has ever happened since the termination of the war, and will be more useful toward future peace of the world than any of the other practical measures that have been attempted in that direction." Mr. Findley believed that with the political leaders of the great powers taking direct hold of the question, the agitation for disarmament would emerge a long way out of its Utopian state.

NO PUBLIC VIEW HERE OF BIG FIGHT FILM

BUT BOARD OF CENSORS CAN'T PREVENT OWNERS FROM SHOWING PICTURES IN PRIVATE.

TORONTO, July 15.—The Dempsey-Carpentier fight film is in town. It has been brought to Toronto by one of the film corporations of the city.

From a private source it is learned that "the fight" is depicted on about 3,000 feet of film, but as a matter of fact that portion of the picture dealing with the pugilists in action is very short, the four rounds only consuming a bout 800 feet of film, the remainder being views of the preliminaries, the crowd at the arena, etc.

But, unless people have a "private view" of the picture, they are not likely to see it. The public of Ontario certainly will not, because, although it has been submitted to the Ontario Board of Censors, as in the case of all other films brought to the city, the board has not passed it and has no intention of doing so.

In confirmation of this, Capt. Boylan, of the Censor Board, "We have nothing to say concerning the film," said the Captain. "The board has not passed any fight films. That has been its policy in the past, and there is no intention in the present instance to depart from this position.

"The Act requires every person who wishes to exhibit a film to submit it to the board and pay the usual fee, but, if the board finds that the 'picture' does not conform to the Act, then it is prohibited, and the course which the board is taking in this case is consistent with its usual practice."

"There is no prospect of the film being shown publicly in Ontario, then?"

"I think not," replied Capt. Boylan. "But we can't prevent the owners from showing the picture privately if they wish to do so."

PICTURE SHOWS CLOSE.

NEW YORK, July 14. — Notice that more than one hundred motion picture theatres in Greater New York may close on August 1 for an indefinite period has been received by the Motion Picture Theatre Attendants' Union.

Members of the union said the information came from the managers direct, and the tentative action was partly due to a slump in the theatrical business, and partly due to the failure of managers to come to an agreement with the unions.

MEETING OF COTTAGERS ASSOCIATION DISCUSSED NEEDS OF THE PARK.

CHEMONG PARK, July 15.— A meeting of the Chemong Park Association was held last night in the club house. The president, Mr. Alex. Elliott, occupied the chair. Owing to the inclement weather the attendance was small and it was decided to postpone the annual election of officers. Mr. Elliott reviewed the work of last year and pointed out some things that needed attention.

Mr. Pierson promised to have a public bathing house built at the bathing beach by next year.

Mr. McClelland spoke of the efforts his committee had made to obtain fish fry and said that they had been advised that 100,000 black bass fry would be shipped to Chemong as soon as the weather was cool enough to permit.

The state of the roads in the park was discussed and it was decided to ask the Smith township Council to improve them. Chemong park is a big source of revenue in the township of Smith, it was said, and yet four or five days' road work a year is all the benefit the park gets from its taxes.

GREAT LAKES CRUISES.

A voyage over Lakes Huron and Superior, those great fresh water seas, makes one of the most popular of vacation trips. The fleet of the Northern Navigation Company (Grand Trunk route) sailing from Sarnia to Sault Ste. Marie, Port Arthur, Fort William and Duluth, offers the maximum in comfort, service and safety. From Toronto special Grand Trunk steamboat trains make direct rail connection with the vessels from Sarnia, Ont. The round trip over the Great Lakes occupies six days, the traveller finds each hour filled with ever changing interests. There is the charm of the daily life on shipboard, the thrilling experience of passing through the locks at Sault Ste. Marie, the day ashore at Canada's twin cities, Fort William and Port Arthur, and the visit to Duluth, the city built upon the mountain side. For all information apply to Grand Trunk Agents, or C. E. A TRIP ON THE GREAT LAKES

Spring and summer bring the urge of vacation travel and change of scene. Each season sees new resorts come into popularity while others wane. Resorts may flourish and fade, but one summer outing never loses its charm for old friends and is constantly acquiring new admirers, and that is a vacation spent on a Great Lakes' steamer.

Thousands of vacationists make the trip to beautiful Georgian Bay with its Thousand Islands clustered about Ontario's resort dotted shore. Other thousands, sailing from Toronto or Port McNicoll, head westward and northward through Erie and Huron into that inland sea of dark blue water, Lake Superior.

The round trip from Port McNicoll on Georgian Bay, to Fort William at the head of Lake Superior, makes an ideal week's outing. The lake steamers are commodious and equipped with all the comforts and luxuries of ocean liners, also some unique to themselves such as out-door dancing space on the after-deck and dining salons fitted with large plate glass windows through which wide views may be enjoyed.

Perhaps the chief point of interest on this trip is the passage through the famous "Soo" Canal where ships of all sorts and sizes are lifted from Huron into Superior by the canal locks. Many millions of dollars of Canadian and American money have gone into the construction of this canal and it is operated jointly by the two governments. There are two canals, an American and a Canadian, but they operate as one. Ships pass through either as accommodation becomes possible. What this canal has done to promote transportation through Lake Superior, may be surmised by the fact that during 1919, vessels to the number of 17,587 and 56,902 passengers passed through its locks. Vast quantities of freight also find their way to market via this man-made waterway which supplanted the dangerous rapids that connected the two lakes and at one time isolated the greatest of the Great Lakes.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION TO REV. G. F. WHIBBS

gregation in general, the other from the children and the Young Ladies' Sodality, bring out clearly some striking truths. They declare in language eloquent what is expected of a priest in charge of a congregation, if these expectations could not be lived up to, if it could not be said of the priest what was said of Melchesidech, the priest of the old law, he was without father, mother, brother or sister, in other words he was without any family ties or affections, he was free to give his life entirely to those in whose midst he labored. This, my dear friends, is the key to the solution of the difficult and oft repeated problem, how do you explain the attachment, the love and devotion of a congregation to their priests. The reason is the priest is without father, mother, brother or sister. That is to say he is without any family ties. Therefore he is free to give to the people for whom he labors, his life entirely, to make their joys his joys and their sorrow his sorrows. For this he receives his reward. My eighteen years in your midst, eighteen years of hardship and financial difficulties which must attend the building up of such a parish as you to-day possess, my eighteen years of preaching and teaching by deed and example has been well repaid. I can say that these eighteen years are now crowded into a period of a few hours' duration, dated Thursday, July 14th, 1921. Your kindness, your gratitude and respect is my reward, and I deeply appreciate it. The parish of Campbellford is now on the road to success. After many hard years of difficulties her three Separate schools will, I hope, ever teach the great truths of our religion and will add its share to the developing of good citizens. I would like here to say that in building these Separate schools I was not moved to do so through bigotry. No, absolutely no. Every educationist of any standing to-day is clamoring for religion in the school room. Therefore clamoring for what the church has always advocated, I would like to see in the Public school some system of truths taught, at least that the basic virtues of justice and morality be thoroughly taught. On these two a nation must stand or fall. In conclusion I thank you for your deep kindness and gratitude to me. I express the hope that Campbellford may become one of the leading towns and that St. Mary's parish will be the equal of any parish in the diocese of Peterborough.

Rev. Father Whibbs to-day relinquished his pastorate in the parish of Campbellford to assume charge of the parish of Lindsay, made vacant by the death of Monsignor Casey. Father Whibbs was born in Douro township, near Peterborough. He was educated in the Peterborough Collegitae Institute and after teaching school for three years he entered St. Michael's College, Toronto, where he took his Arts course, and completed his studies at the Grand Seminary in Montreal. He was ordained to the priesthood in Montreal in December, 1889, after which he was stationed for a time at St. Peter's Cathedral in Peterborough. Falling ill he was forced to seek a change of climate and went to California, where he remained ten years, and incidentally learned to speak the Spanish language fluently.

Returning home he was appointed to the parish of Campbellford in 1903 and since then has laboured diligently for the spiritual welfare of the people entrusted to his charge. During those nineteen years the church debt has been paid, and two schools have been built in the rural district, one in 1909 and the other in 1913. As a convenience for the farmers coming to church, sheds 220 feet by 50 feet were built in 1908. They are large enough to accommodate fifty teams. In 1920 the interior of the church was redecorated, and in 1921 the Callahan property was bought for a convent and Separate school, which will be opened in September. Father Whibbs has always taken a great interest in children. He has been a sympathetic pastor to young and old, who deeply regret his removal. He was interested not only in the spiritual advancement of his people but also in their social and material welfare.

$1,680.36 SURPLUS FROM MOTOR SHOW

SLIGHTLY LESS THAN LAST YEAR, BUT MORE THAN OTHERS.

At the last meeting of the executive committee of the Peterborough Motor Show the following report was submitted by the treasurer for the Show held in April last:

To: The Chairman and Executive Committee of the Peterborough Motor Show,—

I beg to submit herewith my report as Treasurer of the Peterborough Motor Show:—

The surplus this year is $1,680.36, as compared with the surplus for last year of $2,115.79; for 1919; and 1918, $1,214.09.

The receipts for 1921 were somewhat less than those of the preceding year namely $2,737.80, as against $3,086.62. The expenses, on the other hand were up, $1,057.44 against $970.83 last year.

You will remember that Saturday the last day of the Show was a day of most unfavorable weather conditions. Indications were that the attendance would be large and the Show as successful from a profit standpoint as that of the preceding year. Unfortunately, however, the attendance on the last day was very small.

Respecfully submitted.
E. J. VANSTON,
Treasurer.

YOU'LL GET GOOD ENSILAGE

With a TORONTO Silo

I HANDLE the Toronto Hip Roof Silo because I want to give my customers the biggest value.

You can't have good ensilage unless you have a good silo. And Toronto Silos are good silos. Made of wood—the best non-conductor of heat and cold. Sturdily built from double tongued and grooved staves of selected spruce impregnated with creosote, they give adequate protection against air and frost. Their special Hip Roof provides more space for filling.

I can show you where a Toronto Silo will mean more productive cattle, bigger profits, a more valuable farm—dollars in your pocket. Let's talk it over.

CHILDREN DEMAND CHEAP ICE CREAM

BOSTON, Mass., July 15.—Hundreds of children paraded through the streets yesterday demanding cheaper ice cream and soft drinks. Among the banners they bore were several inscribed: "Jesse James is dead."

After the parade the children presented petitions to Governor Cox and Mayor Peters, urging them to take action.

MILK TESTS ARE SEARCHING IN ST. THOMAS AND RESULTS PUBLISHED

NO TEMERITY BY BOARD OF HEALTH ABOUT INCREASING MILK STANDARD AND REVEALING THE NAMES OF VENDORS WHOSE SAMPLES SHOW HEAVY CONTENT OF BUTTER FAT.

While opinion on the Board of Health has been divided in the past on the question of printing the results of the milk tests made monthly by Santiary Inspector Stapleton, the Board in St. Thomas evidently has no such hesitation. Tests made in that city on July 6 to 8 as reported in the Times-Journal not only give the content of butter fat in the samples examined, but also the solids that are not fat, the total solids and the quantity of dirt. The tests are not made by the Sanitary Inspector, but by the city's analyst. As a result two milk vendors whose product was found below the standard requirements have been summoned to appear in court and several others to appear before the Sanitary Inspector and explain why their milk is not of better quality.

Dr. D. A. McKillop, M.O.H., stated, according to the report: "If a man is found skiming his milk or adulterating it in any way, he should at once be refused permission to deliver in the city. We would not be doing our duty as members of the St. Thomas Board of Health if we did not take action. We owe it to the health of the children in the city to see that our milk is the very best."

St. Thomas has adopted the standard of 3.25 per cent. butter fat. Many of the samples showed percentages well over 3 1-2 per cent. and as high as 5 per cent.

The content of dirt is recorded in milligrams. Two samples had no visible dirt and the others ranged all the way to three milligrams. The Santiary Inspector reported on the conditions of stables and dairies, the source of the city's supply. He had made this inspection in company with Dr. C. S. Ball, veterinary surgeon. Sanitary conditions in most places were good, two or three were almost perfect, and there were some that were not so satisfactory.

"I do not know of any fair excuse that may be offered for those cases which show less than 3.25 butter fat," said Inspector Shaw.

Chronometers are eyeless, but their hands are always on the watch.

COST OF LIVING DROPS AGAIN, REPORT SAYS.

Weekly Budget for Family of Five Declines by $1.19 During June.

OTTAWA, July 14 (Canadian Press).—The average weekly cost of the family budget (allowing for five) in 60 Canadian cities at the beginning of June was $11.16, as compared with $12.35 for May.

One-half of the decrease for the month in foods, as reported by the Statistics Branch of the Labour Department, was in butter, the cost of which for three pounds fell 59 cents.

Eggs were down 3 cents per dozen and cheese between 3 and 7 cents per pound.

There were slight decreases in nearly all the other items, beef falling one-half cent, and other fresh meats 1 cent per pound; salt pork and bacon, 3 cents.

Coal and coal oil were down slightly, but rent averaged slightly higher.

The cost of the same articles for a family of five in June, 1919, $13.72; for June, 1918, $12.77; and for June, 1914, just before the war, $7.35.

COMMUNITY FARMS PROVING SUCCESS.

MONTREAL, July 13.—Arthur J. B. Roy, a former Lieutenant in the Royal Air Force, who arrived in the city from north of Fort McMurray, in the Peace River country, states that the movement which he organized for community farming by returned officers in the Far North, is proving a great success. The colony in which he is interested and which is composed of about thirty returned officers, is very successful, he states. The men have got used to their new surroundings and are working hard, and what is more enjoying the work. They have as yet had no returns from their endeavors, as they only started there a little over a year ago, but this spring a great deal of breaking has been done and they expect to have a reasonable amount of land under cultivation next year.

The weather in the north has not been so dry as in Southern Alberta and the consequence is there is abundant hay. This will assure plenty of feed for the cattle, and at the prices now ruling for beef the farmers of the North should reap a big harvest.

PATRIOTIC CITY COUNCIL.

LONDON, July 14.—The City Council of Sheffield, England, has refused to ratify the recommendation of the Electric Supply Committee to purchase an electrical plant from Germany at a cost of £49,000, though the lowest quotation from a British firm was over £90,000.

LESS IDLENESS NOW RECORDED

INCREASE OF NUMBER EMPLOYED WAS 9,000 IN ONE WEEK.

Employment reports for the week ended June 4 were received by Dominion headquarters of the Employment Service of Canada from 5,248 firms, employing 614,873 workers. For the previous week these identical firms had reported total payrolls of 605,865, the difference representing an increase of about one and one-half per cent. The bulk of this increase was absorbed by railway shops, which re-opened after temporary shutdown. But in addition there were moderate gains in other groups, and the upward trend which had been checked in the previous week was once more resumed. Comparing the figures of the week under review with the base week of January 17, 1920, the index number of employment as 87.8. For the previous week it was 86.5, while for the corresponding week (June 5) of 1920 it was 106.2.

Nineteen industrial groups reported increases over the previous week, aggregating nearly 10,000 persons, as against ten which reported aggregate reductions of considerably less than 1,000. The most important single item of the week was the recovery in the iron and steel industry, occasioned mainly by the re-opening of railway shops in Quebec and Ontario as mentioned, and supplemented by expansions in crude, rolled and forged products in the same district. Second in importance was a substantial advance in railway construction, divided between the Quebec-Ontario district and the Prairie Provinces. Manitoba and New Brunswick were the only Provinces reporting any shrinkages in this group. Other gains of some note occurred in lumber and lumber products, railway transportation, water transportation and coal mining. The first of these showed mainly in Ontario and Quebec; that in railway transportation was distributed through all Provinces, though most largely in Ontario and British Columbia; water transportation expansions were featured mainly in Quebec, although British Columbia also showed gains; in coal mining Nova Scotia registered the bulk of the increases, while Alberta recorded only very small additions to payrolls, and British Columbia experienced minor losses. Building construction continued to improve very slowly in Ontario, while Quebec showing only nominal advances and other Provinces registering slight decreases. The pulp and paper industry also made gains on a small scale, practically confined to New Brunswick pulp mills. The largest single contraction in any industrial group was that in textiles, registered almost exclusively in Ontario; in Quebec there was a slight expansion in this industry. The losses occurred principally in garments and personal furnishings, though also to some extent in headwear; the only noticeable gains took place in lace, embroidery and narrow fabrics. The only other shrinkage of any importance occurred in logging, mainly in Quebec; it was partially offset by very slight gains in both Ontario and British Columbia.

Compared with the corresponding week of last year the majority of industries showed contractions in payrolls, exceptions being water transportation and hotel service. The most unfavorable comparisons in this respect were shown by iron and steel products and textiles.

All districts without exception showed favorable balances when compared with the previous week. In the Maritime district the outstanding item of interest was the expansion in coal mining. The pulp and paper and lumber industries also improved to about the same extent in each case. No serious contractions were registered by any industry in this district; fish canning and packing showed the largest decline, due to the approach of the end of the season. In Ontario and Quebec the important movement was the recovery in the iron and steel industry already described. The increases in railway construction, railway transportation and the lumber occurred in about equal proportions. Water transportation at Upper St. Lawrence ports showed a fair expansion. The only losses of note occurred in the logging group, chiefly in large firms in Quebec. The contraction in textiles was featured in Ontario. The index number for this district was 86.2, as compared to 105.7 for the same week in 1920. The Prairie Provinces reported no outstanding movements other than the gain in railway construction. Minor increases in lumber and hotel services were reported. The largest decrease took place in the iron and steel group. The index number of employment for this district was 90.8, as against 106.7 for the corresponding week of last year. In British Columbia the grain in water transportation was the largest shown, although that in railway construction was on almost the same scale. No decreases of importance occurred; the contraction in coal mining was very slight. The index number of employment was 91.9, as compared with 105.0 in the same week of 1920.

THE WEATHER

Yesterday's highest point was 93 degrees. The welcome rain in the evening totalled .31, or almost one-third of an inch. This had a tendency to cool the heated air, and last night the temperature was more agreeable. The lowest was 64 degrees. Different explanations have been given as to the reason for such a long continued heated spell, but the most probable cause is that the atmosphere had become stagnant, owing to the lack of any strong winds, and the heated atmosphere clung to the same portions of the earth's surface day after day. A couple of thunderstorms like we had last evening will give some movement to the atmosphere and see an end of the depressing heat.—W.P.

ONTARIO'S BILL OF RICHTS FOR CHILD OF UNWED PARENTS

RECOMMENDATIONS OF SOCIAL SERVICE CONVENTION EMBODIED IN LEGISLATION.

At the Social Service Convention recently held in this city some startling reports were made as to conditions obtaining in the Province with regard to the children of "illegitimate parents" as the new phrasng puts it. A committee, composed of representatives of the Neighborhood Workers' Association of Toronto and of the Social Service Council of Ontario, drew up a set of principles and were presented to the Ontario Government, and although certain of these were not accepted the memorandum presented became the basis of the new legislation. A bill, entitled "An Act for the Protection of Children of Unmarried Parents," has just been passed by the Ontario Legislature. Facts which led to a demand for this legislation might be summarized as follows:

1.—In less than ten per cent. of the cases did the father of the child make any contribution whatever towards the support of the child.

2.—The death rate among illegitimate children is twice as great as that of legitimate children.

3.—The girls who become unmarried mothers are, to a large extent, the unprotected girls, the ones who are not living at home, but in cheap boarding and rooming places.

4.—Mental weakness is a very strong factor in the situation. There are girls adult in body, but still children in mind, whom society has not yet learned to protect.

5.—The problem is one of the large dimensions. In the city of Toronto there are 700 or 800 illegitimate births annually, and in Ontario at least 2,000 such births yearly.

6.—The greater the congestion of population the more serious does this problem become.

7.—The legal status of this child was totally unsatisfactory. He was debarred from rights of inheritance. The father found it easy to dodge all responsibility in connection with his upbringing or upkeep. The burden of maintenance was thrown upon the mother, and since, in most cases, she was unable to carry this, it fell back upon the community.

The new legislation provides that a Provincial officer shall be appointed to represent the State. He is to be notified of all illegitimate births, must approve of any agreement made between the parents, of the disposal of the child, or of any other matter affecting its welfare. He may be appointed guardian of the child and must be notified of any legal proceedings so as to have an opportunity to be present. He thus becomes the pivot of administration.

An affiliation order which may be made by the Judge in several different instances, requires the father to pay the expenses of the birth, a sum of money weekly towards the maintenance of the child until it reaches the age of 16 years, or a lump sum in lieu of such payments which shall form a principal consuming annuity. The burial expenses of the mother, should she die at this time, or the burial expenses of the child, should it die before attaining the age of 16, must also be borne by the father. In case the father dies before the child reaches the age of 16, his estate is held liable to the order of the Judge. If, however, he is married and has other children and the estate is small, the order is not to be paid out of the estate to the detriment of the legitimate children, who have prior claim. In estimating the amount to be paid, the Judge shall take into account the father's means, and the mother may also be held liable for maintenance. Failure to carry out the order carries a penalty of not more than six months in the common jail.

A separate bill was introduced and passed providing for the legitimization of the children upon the subsequent marriage of the parents.

EAST EMILY HAPPENINGS

EAST EMILY, July 15.—Moses Ruth met with a painful accident on Wednesday, when run over by his mower, sustaining a fractured bone in his leg, just above the ankle. Having finished cutting a field of hay, he was getting on the machine, preparatory to driving to another field, when the horses started forward, unexpectedly, throwing Ruth to the ground, and one wheel passed over his leg.

In Bethel Church.

There was a large attendance at Bethel Church on Sunday afternoon last, when the Orangemen attended divine worship. A large number came out to hear the Orange sermon preached by the Rev. Mr. Stillman, of Omemee. Mr. Stillman is the new minister for Bethel Circuit since conference met.

The time for service in Bethel Church has changed: Sunday School will be at 1.30 o'clock, and service at 2.30 in the afternoon in future.

TANLAC PROVED BLESSING TO HER

TORONTO WOMAN HAD SUFFERED FOR EIGHT LONG YEARS BUT IS NOW WELL AND HAPPY.

"I am now enjoying splendid health for the first time in years and I owe it all to Tanlac," said Mrs. A. Richmond of 883 Gerrard street, east, Toronto.

"For eight years before I got Tanlac I hardly knew what a well day meant. I never felt like eating, and always after meals gas formed on my stomach and nearly suffocated me. At times I suffered so from palpitation I thought my heart was affected. My nerves were so out of order that the ringing of the telephone would make me jump. I often lay awake nearly all night and would get up in the morning feeling so bad I just didn't want to move. I tried everything I could think of in seeking health, but in spite of it all I kept getting worse, and I became very gloomy and low spirited.

"Well, my mother persuaded me to try Tanlac and the medicine has certainly been a blessing to me. Why, I eat three big meals every day now and enjoy every mouthful and have gained considerably in weight. My sleep is sound and restful and I am so much stronger that I can keep busy all day long, and never feel tired. In fact I feel as well as I ever did in my life, and I just can't fully express my gratitude to Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., in Fowlers Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

RE-CHRISTEN RUSS BROADWAY

RIGA, Latvia, July 15.—The Nevsky Prospekt the "Broadway" of Petrograd, has been re-christened by the Bolshevik government "25th of October Prospekt," that being the date, by the Russian calendar, in 1917 when the Soviets overthrew the Kerensky government. So it now becomes popularly known in Russian, as "Oktobrie Prospekt."

INSECTS INCREASE COUNTRY'S TAXES

SO DECLARE EXPERTS WHO HAVE ESTIMATED LOSS.

It may appear startling, but it is a fact that if all the insect pests ravaging our crops could be suppressed, and all the plant and tree diseases eradicated, and the increased revenue derived by the country thereby could be turned into the Dominion Treasury, there would need to be no question of taxation. This idea is largely substantiated by the fact set forth by the Entomologist of the Dominion Department of Agriculture that a conservative estimate of the annual loss in Canada to field, orchard and garden crops due to destructive insects is upwards of $200,000,000. As our authority says, "To this huge devastation must be added the enormous annual destruction caused by forest insects, stored products insects, etc." Upon this statement the Entomologist founds a well-sustained argument in favor of the protection of insectivorous birds, such as the prairie-horned-lark, the robin, the somewhat despised crow, the red-breasted Nuthatch, the Western Tanager, the Myrtle Warbler, the Chickadee, grouse, gulls, and many other kinds. In the State of Iowa it has been estimated that three sparrows annually devour something like 895 tons of weed seeds! Speaking of the robin, an investigator in Toronto found that a single bird kept in confinement ate 165 cutworms in one day. Another authority states that a brood of prairie horned-larks consumed 400 cutworms in one day. This same authority, namely, Mr. Norman Criddle, Dominion Entomologist in Manitoba, declares that six crows are capable of consuming three bushels of grasshoppers in one season. It is recorded that in certain places in Manitoba areas of growing grain have been saved from destruction by the pestilent grasshopper owing to the presence of large flocks of gulls. In light of these facts it is gratifying to be informed by the Dominion Entomologist, Mr. Arthur Gibson, to wit, that the importance of protecting our useful birds is becoming more and more recognized, especially by farmers and fruit-growers.

Comb Sage Tea in Hair to Darken It

IT'S GRANDMOTHER'S RECIPE TO KEEP HER LOCKS DARK, GLOSSY, BEAUTIFUL.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

INOCULATES SELF TO FURTHER DISEASE STUDY

VANCOUVER, July 13.—(Canadian Press).—In order to study the terrible tropical disease of elephantiasis, an unnamed Canadian Physician in Samoa has just had himself inoculated by bites of mosquitoes that had fed on men suffering from the malady. Captain David Ritchie of the Canadian-Australian freighter Wairuna told on arrival here of his talk with the plucky Canadian scientist who has dedicated his life to find a cure.

In the tropics the natives of many countries are subject to the terrible elephantiasis. Science has striven for many years to find the remedy, but to no effect.

It has been learned that the germs are carried by mosquitoes, and that inoculation occurs when a mosquito feeds on its victim. The disease-carrying pests are confined to those that have first fed off an elephantiasis sufferer and transmission of germs can only take place on the twenty-first day after the insect has bitten the diseased person. The life of many mosquitoes is not that long; still there are enough whose span of existence permits them to carry the deadly germ.

The doctor told Captain Ritchie that he would be better able to study the progress of the malady if he were suffering from it himself. He could watch every phase of development and would thus be in better position to find a cure. It takes from nine to ten months to develop. If the scientist can not solve the problem he has set before himself he will eventually suffer the terrible end that comes to all elephantiasis victims.

HOW THE GREAT WAR HAS ALTERED RURAL BRITAIN

MANY CHANGES IN THE COUNTRYSIDE DESCRIBED—COUNTRY-HOUS LIFE, WITH ITS SPACIOUS TRADITIONS, HOSPITALITY, HAE ALMOST DISAPPEARED—NEED OF AN INTELLIGIBLE FOREST POLICY.

How far has rural Britain changed since the days before the war and to what extent are the changes visible? asks Chedworth Paine in an article in the London Sunday Pictorial. Continuing, he says:

I wander about the country a great deal, and have asked myself this question many times lately.

Perhaps the greates change of all though it is not manifest to the eye, is the eclipse of the landowning class and the 'country gentlemen." They have been very hard hit by taxation and the fall in the value of securities.

The old profuse country-house life, with its spacious traditions of hospitality, has almost disappeared perhaps for ever. In large numbes of big country houses only a few rooms are now occupied and the rest are closed.

There has been an immense transfer of rural property. Big estates have been broken up or greatly reduced in size. The rural districts have seen a rapid influx of people who made fortunes in the war, while thousands of farms have been sold to the tenants.

Many of the farmers paid a long price for their properties, and are finding it hard to make both ends meet. Many of the "war-fortune" people, who bought their new houses and estates at the cost of upkeep and just now see their paper wealth shrinking like an iceberg in summer seas.

Forests are Gone.

Outwardly the principal change in the appearance of the countryside is due to the immense felling of timber, which began during the war and is still continuing. You may see traces of it anywhere between the Cromarty Firth and North Devon. We have probably only got one fourth of the saleable timber we possessed in 1914.

The country is being denuded of "high forest timber," and only private enterprise in forestry can save us from a timber famine when the next emergency arises. The small sum allotted to the new Forestry Commission is an item of Government expenditure I do not grudge, but the Commission's voice is still too weak to make the nation understand that we need an intelligible forest policy.

The new farmer-owners are fast destroying, the fine hedgegrow timber and the copses on their land. They do it in order to cultivate their fields to the last yard. I know many a lane which was once a leafy grove where not a tree is left, and the stumps have been blown out. Productively is more important, than scenery, and we must not complain, but little is being done to make good the loss of the small woodlands and the hedgerow timber.

Hedges Are Going

I fear the time is coming when the hedges, the most distinctive feature of English scenery, may be wined out, also. Already I have seen several areas where the hedges have been destroyed. England was hedgeless up to the fourteenth century, for hedges were first planted in consequence of the change of land tenure at the time of the Black Death. After six centuries the hedges are being doomed by the new farming. I regret it.

One sad though picturesque result of the Great War is that every village now has its war memorial generally a stone cross, and very beautiful some of them are. It is pathetic to see the humble offerings of flowers constantly placed on the steps of the crosses.

Many of the old customs and festivals are dying out, and some are already almost forgotten. The tractor plough means the end of the ploughing matches.

Even in my time West Country villages used to celebrate 'Oak Apple Day", May 26, the anniversary of the Restoration of Charles II. Oak branches were hung over every cottage door to commemorate the escape of Charles by hiding in an oak-tree.

Village Festival Disappears.

On that day the village friendly society had its "club-walk," when all the men, wearing regalia marched in procession to church and afterwards dinned with squire and parson in a field and held sports. The festival was finally killed by the Insurance Act, and I found not long ago that its very memory had passed, except among the older people.

Lord Ernie has recently shawn that the lot of the agricultural laborer has vastly improved. His wages doubled betwen the Napoleonic and the Franco-German wars, yet the famous strike organized by Joseph Arch in 1872 was for 16s a week and for hours from 6 a.m. to 5 p.m. The average wage of adult male laborers (except those in charge of animals) when the Great War began was 20s.

Today the average is 46s. 6d. Over time is paid after fifty hours in summer and forty-eight hours in winter.

Can British agriculture maintain the new terms and the short hours? Time alone can show and I shall not attempt to answer the question; but in my travels I have discovered that the agricultural labourer is a little uneasy about his new privileges.

Most Hopeful Factor.

The farmers, especially the small ones say that the best skilled men are worth the minimum wage, or any wage, but the flat rate for both good and indifferent worker has a deadening effect and means a poor return. When a man is no longer quite equal to a full day's work they cannot afford to keep him.

The labourers are finding this out. When Sir Arthur Griffith-Besawen fought the Taunton Division the other day, and when Mr. Kellaway stood for the Bedford Division, it was clearly perceptible that some at least of the rural workers are not quite so keen about either the Agricultural Wages Board or their new union as they were last year.

The Ministry of Agriculture is today a necessity and is doing good work, and my experience is that Sir Arthur Griffith-Boscawen has the confidence of all grades of the agricultural community, though there is a general complaint about too many officials, too much insoection, and too little practical knowledge among subordinates. Yet the problems which lie before British agriculture are formidable.

Cattle Diminishing.

Sir Arthur Griffith-Boscawen says there are a million more acres under plough than in 1914. It is not enough and in my opinion high taxa- will soon greaty reduce the arable tion and the high cost of farming area. Mr. Pretyman says that 'the poor light arable districts" are steadily going out of cultivation.

The number of our cattle is diminishing. Last year saw a decrease of 650000 head of cattle. Over 200,000 calves have been slaughtered this year and the question of calf-killing is urgent. Before the war we had 31,000,000 shep and now we have only 23000000. The breed of farmers' ponies is disappearing.

To my mind the most hopeful factor is that the tendency to migrate to the towns has been checked while neither hedge nor tree destruction can ever obliterate the incomparable glories of the British countryside.

FIGHTING THT CACTUS.

It Has Become a First-class Nuisance in Australia.

The kind of cactus which we called the "prickly pear" has become a first class nuisance in Australia. It grows very fast, spreads with great rapidity and forms masses of vegetation so dense that the clearing of ground once occupied by the plant is accomplished with utmost difficulty. Incidentally, it renders the land unavailable for agricultural purposes.

In response to urgent requests the United States is sending to Australia certain insects that prey upon the prickly pear. Hope is entertained that they may do enough damage to discourage the spread of the cactus plague in that part of the world.

Many species of insects feed upon the prickly pear, one of them being the tiny cochineal bug, which in former days was so highly valued for the dye it furnished. It would not be useful for the purpose here in question; but there is a large green caterpillar, nearly two inches long, which ought to prove exceedingly efficient as a cactus destroyer. It is the offspring of a moth and one of the most important enemies of the plant known on this continent, its method of attack being to bore into the fleshy leaves of the prickly pear and eat out the insides.

This caterpillar is to be sent to Australia, its transportation being easily accomplished by forwarding a quantity of infested leaves of the cactus. Another insect that is to go is a beetle about the size of a cricket, which is a great destroyer of the prickly pear. The adult feeds on the outer parts of the joints, while the young grub penetrates and devours the interior of both joints and stems.

ONE CAR IN 41 STOLEN IN NEW YORK THIS YEAR.

Motor Car Thieves Become Daily More Cunning.

While the United States mint is considering the coinage of new fractions of currency, it should not overlook the imperative need of a denomination to be known as the Ford, for according to the latest report of the police department of New York city, stolen flvvers are now passed like currency, because of their easy theft and disposal, and of their difficult identification, says the Insurance Press.

The theft of motor cars in New York city since the beginning of 1921 has averaged 15 each day, or a total of 2,209 cars in slightly less than five months.

Despite the Whitman investigation into police department affairs, and the increased vigilance and activity of the town's constables in preventing theft and in recovering stolen cars, and the motor crooks are becoming more daring more successful. Out of the 215,000 motor cars registered in New York city last year, 5,170 were stolen, an average of one theft for every 41 cars in operation.

The mere fact that many stolen cars are recovered through the efforts of the insurance companies and police authorities does not affect the hazard to underwriters, nor lessen the risk to owners. The recovery of a stolen car is a pure gamble, and few possessors of automobiles are in financial circumstances to warrant taking a 1 to 41 chance of losing a car.

The police department's report not only contains startling figures, but also discloses the connivance of owners, some of whom become actual accomplices by insuring their cars to the limit, and intentionally leaving them exposed to thievery, deliberately arranging with crooks to pull off a moving picture stunt by making a sensational getaway after a warning cry has ben delaye too late for capture.

When motor cars in New Yor city are being stolen at the rate o 15 every day, and when the chanc of theft is 1 in 41, only the ver rich or the very foolish would a sume the risk of going uninsure No normal minded man who recog nizes the normal as well as the phy ical hazards of automobile under writing can justly protest agains the existing rates. To paraphras Dr. Johnson's celebrated commen on women preachers, the wonder i not that automobile insurance come high, but that it comes at all.

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind incombustible ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins and ptomainelike poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths. Before breakfast each morning drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the bowels the previous day's poisons and toxins, and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.

"Bear Ye One Another's Burdens

THE Aged and Invalided Blind of Canada are carrying their Burdens with lighter hearts, since the Social Relief Committee of the Women's Auxiliary of the Canadian National Institution for the Blind, commenced their Work of mercy.

¶ Thanks to their splendid efforts, an ever-growing number of the Blind have found happiness and a new interest in life.

¶ They have been taught in their homes to make all manner of articles of reed, wicker and willow work, mats, netting, garments, etc. From the Institute they buy at cost the materials needed. The finished article is then bought from the Blind home-worker and sold to the public at the same price.

¶ Once, not long ago, they sat in their tragic darkness, pathetically idle and plunged in self pity.

¶ Would you like to help in this heaven-born work of mercy?

¶ Funds are much needed to provide teachers. YOUR generous assistance will be a benediction.

"WHAT'LL YOU HAVE BOYS?" NOW BRINGS THE REPLY "BUTTERMILK?"

"That stuff is almost as popular as Milwaukee beer used to be," remarked a man as he ordered buttermilk in the bar of a local hotel this afternoon. And he was right. Buttermilk, as far as observations here show, bids fair among men to win the appellation of "the national drink."

According to a barkeeper, buttermilk forms nearly fifty per cent. of his sales, and its popularity is steadily increasing. Walk into any bar on a hot day when custom is at the maximum, glance down its length, and you will see almost every other man sipping a glass of the white fluid.

"What'll you have, boys?" asks the custodian of the now innocent bottles, mopping the bar in time-honoured fashion.

"Buttermilk," comes the answer in half the cases.

And often it's, "Give us another."

The men who, since the beginning of these more or less dry days, have been lamenting to the bartenders that "this wine never saw port," and remarking with biting irony that "the man who invented 'near-beer' was a mighty poor judge of distance," are becoming adicts of the buttermilk habit.

Tastes for buttermilk almost as fine as the tastes for stronger beverages in bygone days are being developed.

Generally speaking, some prefer it fresh, others as old as they can stand it, while many demand that of rural extraction.

HEAT WAVE FOLLOWS DROUGHT IN BRITAIN

With No Rain in Two Months, Water Sells for Penny a Bucket.

LONDON, July 13.—England is passing not only through the hottest weather experienced in years, but also through a drought which has lasted almost two months. Crops are being damaged, and the water supply is down to its lowest ebb.

In some places water is sold for a penny a bucket. At Curraboy a large lake has been reduced to the size of a small pond.

From Ireland comes word that the River Shannon is so dried up that it is possible to walk across the river bed.

Farm fires are frequent because of the sun's heat. The leaves in Hyde Park are dead as if it were autumn.

Farmers in one agricultural district yesterday tried to induce rain by sending a great explosive rocket toward the clouds, but without success.

The reserve water supply can only last twenty-three days, and the Government is urging the people to use it sparingly.

THIRSTY, HEAT-STRICKEN MORTALS ARE RESORTING TO THE MILK BOTTLE

MILK IS A REVIVIFYING TONIC CONTAINING THAT ORGANIC IRON WHICH PRODUCES HEALTHY, RED BLOOD—HOW TO CARE FOR MILK IN HOT WEATHER.

Milk is in great demand these days of long-continued tropical heat, when exhausted humanity must find some revivifying tonic to avert complete collapse. Fortunate, indeed, is it that the public are turning more and more to milk when an abnormally high temperature is sapping the body of its rich, red blood corpuscles, for while milk does not contain so much iron as spinach, for instance, the iron in it is organic iron, which produces healthy, red blood and fortifies the consumer against the enervating action of excessive heat. But there is another side of the milk question, in which all should be interested, and that is its food value in developing that sturdy manhood and womanhood which is the hope of pasterity. In Peterborough there are far too many girls, and boys, too, with underfed and malnourished bodies—children of parents who have not learned even the simple truths in a growing child's diet.

A Sacred Right.

It is a sacred right that children should be as healthy as nature and knowledge can make them. The responsibility rests with every parent to know whether or not the boys and girls in the family are maintaining normal health, weight and height. Food is not the only deciding factor, still it is one, and for its neglect there is not the slightest excuse. And here the reader's attention is drawn to the outstanding fact that one quart of milk a day is the surest safeguard against malnourishment—one quart, at a cost small indeed when health and normal development are assured to those who consume it. Buy more milk and less meat, and the family will be better fed.

Not a Safe Guide.

"The appetite is not a safe guide in the selection of food. The teachings of science are just as reliable in dictating what we shall eat as they are in the regulation of the composition of formulas in manufacturing processes. It is sound practice to prescribe what people shall eat just as it is to prescribe what medicines they shall take when ill. If people do not like wholesome foods because of habits formed in early life they should learn to like them. Some will not listen to advice regarding diet, but wholesome advice should be sweetly given them, so that if they persist in ignoring sound principles they will do so with their eyes open."

The above is taken from Dr. McCollum's new book, entitled "The American Home Diet." There is a lot of good homely horse sense in what Dr. McCollum's says. So many people contend that they don't like the taste of milk. Some mothers believe that milk don't agree with their children. The cases are indeed rare when milk can not be prepared to meet the taste, and satisfy the appetites of every conscientious objector. Some people don't like the doctors' prescriptions either, but if they want to be doctored and expect to get well they take the prescription whether they like it or not. If the American public keeps on adding to its diet a never ending variety of foods, the time may come when the dietition will be as much a part of the public service as is the physician and surgeon. He will be called upon to tell people what and what not to eat. If he is an up-to-date dietition he will undoubtedly prescribe the milk diet, for so far no scientist has been able to refute the facts which are now well established.

It is not good economy for the housewife to buy a pint of milk. A quart of milk is far more economical. It costs just as much to bottle and deliver a pint bottle or half-pint bottle as it does a quart. Where is the housewife that could not utilize an extra pint of milk? Even if you have to drink it to keep it from souring, still it is good economy for milk serves a definite purpose, and unless you have had your quart of milk a day, you are not fully prepared to do your best work.

"Milk is our greatest protective food and its use must be increased rather than diminished. The liberal use of milk has made us what we are. No family has the right to purchase any meat until each member has at least a pint of milk daily and this I regard as below the optimum. Milk is just as necessary for the maintenance of health in the adult as in the young. I have sought in vain for several years for a diet which was not of a character which could support growth in a young animal, but which would maintain an adult in a state of health over a prolonged period. I have become convinced that we should adhere throughout life to such diets as will induce normal growth in a child of three to five years, if we would maintain the highest state of physical well-being of which we are capable. Let me repeat in closing that the dairy industry has made us what we are, and that any further reduction in our consumption of milk and its products will be reflected in a lowering of our standards of public health and efficiency."

Stop and Think.

Did you ever stop to think of what there is in a bottle of milk? A few people have. Dr. Mack, Portland's City Milk Inspector, is one of them.

Suppose you could not buy a bottle of milk and your family doctor, knowing that your trouble was from faulty nourishment, should give you a prescription, containing the elements found in one gallon of milk. His instructions to the druggist translated into common every day language would read something like this:

Potash ..	75	grains
Lime ..	70	grains
Iron ..	½	grain
Magnesia ..	7	grains
Soda ..	29	grains
Casein ..	4.9	ounces
Milk-sugar ..	6.8	ounces
Sulphur ..	2	grains
Chlorides ..	56	grains
Phosphorus ..	56	grains

Mix with about three quarts of water. Shake thoroughly and take one pint at breakfast time instead of coffee, one pint at the noon meal with bread or crackers, or some cereal with a good sized piece of cheese, and one pint at supper time with the evening dinner, and one pint before retiring to bed.

But when you get your prescription filled there would be two elements lacking, unless you could get 5.2 ounces of butterfat you would be unable to get one of the most important elements necessary for right nutrition. The doctor would require you to eat eggs or codliver oil, or considerable lettuce or spinach, because in no other foods has fat soluble A been found.

Another substance which the druggist could not furnish would be water soluble B, and should it be left occur. So other natural foods would out of the diet, paralysis is bound to have to be taken in connect on with the prescription if results are to be obtained.

You would pay the druggist for his part of such a prescription $1.40. For the amount found in one quart of milk you would pay 35 cents, and after you had purchased the foods containing the two essential elements you would have expended approximately 50 cents.

The actual cost of a quart of milk if the elements were purchased separately would be not less than 50 cents. Thanks to the economy of the dairy cow. We can buy, at the present time, the best food ever found for the human being at 12 cents a quart.

Some day milk and the products made from it will be indispensable. The newer knowledge of nutrition will reach every housewife and mother. The question of price will give way to the more important consideration, that of health and well-being.

Rules For Care of Milk.

1.—Take in milk and cream as soon as possible after being left at your door and place in the refrigerator.

2.—Keep milk and cream cold until ready for use.

3.—If ice cannot be had, wrap the bottle in a wet cloth and stand it in a dish of water by an open window, out of the sun. Evaporation of the water will cool the milk.

4.—Keep milk and cream covered until wanted and in the bottle in which it is delivered. In open bowls or pitchers, it will absorb odors from food and collect flies and dust.

5.—Pour from the bottle only what milk or cream is needed for immediate use.

6.—Milk or cream that has become warm should never be poured back into the bottle of cold milk or cream.

7.—Utensils used for milk should first be rinsed with cold water, then washed with warm water and washing powder, and finally rinsed with boiling water, thoroughly drained and allowed to become cold before being filled with milk.

8.—Have a separate quart of milk for the baby. What he (or she) does not use others may have.

9.—Wash and return all milk and cream bottles daily.

10.—No person ailing or sick with contagious disease, or one having the care of such person, should have anything to do with the care of milk or of milk utensils.

Warm weather will come most any time now and extra care must be exercised to keep the milk cool. The farmer's responsibility ceases when his milk is delivered to the distributor. The distributor's responsibility ceases when he delivers the milk at the door step. Care and attention is just as necessary then as any where else along the line.

If housewives would observe the above suggestions there would be less complaint about sour milk in summertime.

(The above is the third of a series of articles on milk by Paterfamilias, but this time chiefly compiled from such authorities on the question as Dr. E. V. McCollum and "The Dairy Diet.")

I order to mount the ladder of fame an orator must win round after round of applause.

There's No Charge For This Idea

There is one important item in the summer embellishments of a shop or store building which is overlooked most glaringly by the owners or renters thereof. And yet, anyone would think they would appreciate the great significance of this attraction. They know what it is to perspire in the dog days and to shiver when the thermometer registers twenty below, just the same as the ordinary individual. They mop their heated brows and blow on their frozen finger-tips in exactly the same manner as the buying public who patronize their establishments. But it is a sad and lamentable attribute of human nature that so few people realize the obvious. A merchant will spend many dollars daily in advertising in the press, a most laudable proceeding, of course, and one calculated to bring him fine returns in business, and he will decorate the exterior of his building with much paint and varnish. He spends long hours at night trying to think up ways and means to entice people to look at the stuff he wants to sell them, and he employs nimble-witted window-dressers who go around with corrugated brows trying to grasp fleeting ideas of arrangement and color to attract the busy passers-by. Painted back-drops, golden ornaments, floral adornments, lovely ladies in all sorts of enticing attitudes, with set smiles and beautifully-swathed figures, are used as inducements, and all the time this wonderful little idea, simple as can be, is going to waste. Something has been whispered around recently about those fortunate establishments which possess this inestimable advantage above their less-favored competitors. So anyone in the warm weather remarking a line of men or women who gaze for long minutes with much appreciation at bolts of ordinary-looking gingham or piles of doughnuts and buns will not need to seek far for the reason.

It's exactly the same thing that makes the passing by of the Celestial laundryman's steam-gushing establishment attractive in the winter-time—the temperature of the grating.

Excavations Indicate Missouri Was Home of Cannibalistic Tribes

CAVES EXPLORED YIELD UP HUMAN SKELETONS, SHOWING EVIDENCES THAT ANCIENT PEOPLE PREYED ON EACH OTHER FOR CENTURIES.

Did the oringinal American who inhabited the mounds and caves in the Missouri Ozarks feed upon his young or the young of his enemies? Or did this wild district once comprise the haunt of some lost cannibalistic race ,exterminated ere the white man pushed his way across the continent from the Atlantic seaboard colonies? Recent discoveries in this district unmistakably point to the practice of cannibalism in the past, but by whom, remains unanswered.

Thousands of these mound houses and caves exist in the upper swamp region of Missouri, and no one knows from whence they came. Groups of them have been located in Oregon, Dent, Phelps, Asage, Pulaski and oMrgan counties, the latter along the Benton County line. Their origin is unknown, and archaeologists have long been at a loss to acount for them. Until recently, according to a bulletin of the Smithsonian Institute, it has been supposed these mound and cave dwellers were confined to the southwestern portion of the state; later, through the explorations of Gerald Fowle, of the bureau of American ethnology, it was found they extend to the north and the west as well.

Found 20 Skeletons.

In continuing his work of exploration, Mr .Fowle spent the greater part of his time in Missouri, in the examination of the two large caves in Pulaski County. The first known as Miller's Cave, is located about three miles northeast of the Big Piney Ridge Post Office. When he had cleared away the soft wood ash that covered the floor of the cave Mr. Fowle found over twenty skeletons in various stages of decay. Two were of aged individuals—the remainder children's. Some of the human bodies, in fact most of those of children, were charred and broken and mingled with the debris of animals and fish bones, as if the flesh had been used as food, and the bones tossed aside with the refuse. There was no indication or evidence whatever of the cremation of bodies; and the condition of the bones pointed unmistabably to the practice of cannibalism.

In the mound dwellings no evidence of this exists, at least none was uncovered in a less thorough examination, although some scientists contend the same race that dwelt in the caves of the Ozarks were the builders of the western and northern mounds. Another theory as to the mounds, however, treating them separately, is that they were left by the Pawnees, whose line of migration was through the area in which they ocur. These mounds are similar to known Pawnee earth houses, and it is believed that when the tribe passed beyond a region in which suitable timber could be procured for supporting the weight of the earth, and the earth adapted to that usage, they were compelled to substitute for them small poles overlaid with grass. Such are the mounds of Missouri.

Of Different Race.

In the second cave explored in Pulaski County ,the same conditions were found. Here fourteen skeletons were found, under circumstances similar to those in Miller's cave. The shape of the skulls in these caves would seem to add stress to the theory that the caves were inhabited by a now extinct cannibalistic race ,although some skulls were found that vary but slightly from the modern Indian's. The majority were low, small and flat.

The opening to Miller's cave is in the vertical side of a high cliff fronting Big Piney River, with a steep slope beginning 30 feet below the floor of the cave and extending to the water's edge. The perpendicular wall with a projecting lodge above, which forms the roof, prevents direct entrance. The interior can be approached only through another cave, which has an opening in a ravine near by. A narrow passage, barely large enough to admit a man in a crawling or a crouching position, connects the two caves, and only through it can access be gained to the main cavern. The inmates were absolutely safe from molestaton as one man could defend this opening against any number.

Coating of Ashes.

A bed of clean, pure ashes, whose depth ranged from three to six feet, covered the floor of the cave from wall to wall an average distance of about 60 feet. In some places this was so loose as to be almost like a snowbank; in the main part it was as compact as tramped wet snow. All the wood burned to make this ash had to be carried from either the top or the bottom of the hill, which rises four hundred feet. When it is considered that only a little fire is required by an Indian household, and that the small space within the cave would not provide room for more than half a dozen families at a time, the great amount of wood ash indicates a long occupancy. Even with continuous habitation several centuries would be required for such an amount to accumulate. If the residence was intermittent, as was customary among the roving and hunting tribes, the period would have been lengthened.

The fact that the remains of articles found in the ash were of the same character from top to bottom tends to show that one race held the cave throughout the centuries, and that practically no advancement in their civilization was made. The explorer found about 75 mortars, 200 pastles, hundreds of flints, flint knives or spear heads, numerous implements of bone, antler and shells; quantities of crude pottery fragments, a few tomahawks and several pipes. While the mortars and the pestles indicated the use of grains, seeds and nuts by the occupants, the chief item of food was animal flesh as indicated by the great number of bones.

In the country surrounding this haunt of cannibals, game was plentiful; the river abounded with fish; and the low fertile bottom lands supplied much corn and other agricultural products. A ditch and an embankment across an isthmus guarded a peninsula on the opposite side of the river and on both sides low house mounds and abundant debris furnished proof of two large village sites. Whether there was any connection between the villages and the cave dwellers could not be determined, although no human bones were found in the debris about the villages.

SPRING IDYLLS.

The beech bursts forth in verdant grace,
The golden gorse is fair,
And larches wave their feathery lace
Now spring is everywhere.
—L. Budgen.

A sea of swaying bluebells under the whispering trees; buttercups nodding in a golden welcome from the fields, and here and there a hawthorn tree whose upper boughs were already white with heavily scented bloom—these were the chief beauties when May, the month of flowers, came in this year.

And what though a curtain of cloud now shuts away from us the rays of the sun? It is only for a time. The land will be fresher and more lovely than before, when the clouds shall have turned to rain; the song of the birds will be more joyous. The time when I love best to hear them is after a heavy shower, when there is still the rhythmic sound of water dripping from the trees, and each bough gleams with diamond drops. Then from the depths of the glades the melodies of thrush and blackbird rise like a united Te Deum; above the fields the faint song of a lark soaring high into the scintillating blue is audible, and the insistent note of the cuckoo rarely seems out of place.

On the common the first green fronds of bracken are pushing their way through, and below on the marshland the large reed-grasses, which grow in swampy places are flowering in brown, silky bunches. Meadow-sweet is showing too, and there are vivid Batchelor's buttons in plenty among the woodland bluebells.

16 NATIONALITIES TO BE REPRESENTED IN CLEVELAND SPECTACLE

CLEVELAND, July 13.—Sixteen nationalities are to be represented in "The Festival of Nations," which is to be one of the feature events and probably the most colorful of the spectacles to be presented here by Mayor Fitzgerald's commission in charge of the celebration of the Fifth City's 125 birthday, July 22 to 30.

Appearing in old world costumes to present fetes, dances and calisthenics and other glimpses of life in the "old countries," Scots, Irish, English, Poles, Bohemians, Slovenians, Rumanians, Jugo-Slavs, Magyars, Chinese, Swiss, Ukrainians, Scandinavians, Greeks, Lithuanians, Italians, Germans—all of which have large colonies in Cleveland—will present the festival in Wade Park Bowl on July 29, "All American Day."

More than 2,000 participants are expected to take part in the festival and to join in the final ensemble in which the theme of "Americanism" is to dominate. The national groups have been recruited for the festival by Rowland Haynes of the Cleveland Recreation Council.

SPORT COMMENT

The folloiwng is a pen picture of the two British professional golfers now in the United States, by James Francis, Universal Service wrter:

"Diametrically opposite, not only in temperament and appearance, but also in the type of game they play, the golfing team of Abe Mitchell and George Duncan, Eminent British professionals about to set out on a tour of the country, present something of a study in complexities.

"Duncan, a Scot from Aberdeen, long of frame, cadaverous of face, almost forbidding in appearance, simply bristling with nervous energy that carries him over the links at a pace almost breathless. He merely walks up to his ball, hits it, and is away again, exuding brilliance at every pore.

"Mitchell, is the student, a keen, silent man, given to an elaborate politeness that is ingrained. He is very British, with his leathery, sun-dried countenance, close-cropped moustache, and his mannerism of saying 'Yes, yes,' quite hastily every time one addresses him with a commonplace remark."

PETER BROWN'S PORT HOPE RINK KEEPS THE GILLESPIE TROPHY

WON IT FOR THE THIRD YEAR IN SUCCESSION AT THE PETERBORO BOWLING TOURNAMENT —HUGH M'CULLOUGH, OF COBOURG, WON STRATTON CUP.

Peter Brown of Port Hope, was the proudest man on the bowling green last night. By winning from Jack Mayneord 17 points to 14 his rink captured the Gillespie Cup for the third year in succession, and this handsome cup now becomes the possession of his rink. Brown's rink was: W. J. Oke lead, W. Johnston second, H. B. Rosevear vice-skip, Peter Brown skip.

"Bob" Elliott led for Jack Mayneord, Walter Oke was second and Tom Pratt was vice. The final was hard fought, Brown winning by only 3 points. Besides taking home the splendid trophy each of the rink took as handsome and serviceable mementos a hot point electric iron. The prizes won by the runners-up will be very useful. Each got a mahogany bedroom clock.

Hugh McCullough of Cobourg, won the Stratton Cup on three points from Rev. Kerr of Belleville. The two rinks were:

Cobourg.	Belleville.
E. Guillet	George Dean
C. Guillet	Alfred Symons
F. A. Curvin	W. B. Riggs
H. M. McCullough	Rev. A. S. Kerr
Skip	Skip

When the splendid trophy went to Cobourg last night a fine piece of silverware went from Peterborough. Each of the rink got a half-dozen silver knives and forks, Rogers' Old Colony pattern. The runners-up prizes were chosen with a view to service. A Westclox "Jack O' Lantern" went to Rev. Kerr and his three bowlers.

Scotch Doubles.

When the rain came in the evening it held up one-half of the semi-finals in the doubles, and made playing the finals impossible. "Joe" Bennett, of Cobourg, had advanced to the finals, but Walter Oke and George Cairns could not play off their half of the semi-finals. Not to keep Cobourg till to-day, the Cobourg rink, who would be runners-up in any case, were given prizes which they will treasure as remembrances of the 1921 Peterborough tournament. Cobourg got splendid cut glass cream jugs and sugar bowls, and the winners of to-night's final between Oke and Cairns will get a pair of cut glass vases for each player. "Andy" Ross is leading with Oke, and "Jack" Wyllie is playing with Cairns.

R. G. Wray, of Belleville, received an unkind cut at the tournament yesterday when he was beaten by McCullough, of Cobourg, in the semi-finals for the Stratton Cup, and by Brown, of Port Hope, in the semi-finals for the Gillespie Cup. In six years "Bob" Wray's rink has been invincible. Two trimmings after six years without a defeat was indeed a discomfiting set-back, but Wray took the defeat in a sportsman-like way.

PETES IN PORT HOPE TO-MORROW

The Peterborough Central League team play their last scheduled game in the first round to-morrow afternoon at Port Hope. The Petes must win this battle to stay in the running. The team will motor to Port Hope, the cars leaving the Water Street Bowling Alleys at 12.30 o'clock. Players are asked to note the hour and be on hand sharp on time.

FOOTBALL NOTES.

The secretary of the Peterborough and District Football Association announced to-day that Mr. Abbott, a new referee in town, would referee the decisive game between Canadian Woollens and G.W.V.A. at Nicholls Oval on Saturday evening.

The kick-off will be at 6.30 sharp. It is hoped that a large crowd of fans will be on hand to support the teams.

Players and fans will be glad to know that Bert Mason, who was operated on at St. Joseph's Hospital recently, is showing signs of improvement.

RAIN STOPPED JUVENILE GAME

BUT BANKERS AND ST. PETERS' WILL MEET AGAIN TO-MORROW AFTERNOON.

Although Umpire Alex. Kay tried his best to get the game finished in spite of the moisture, last night's fixture by the City Juvenile League Series, had to be called off at the beginning of the fourth innings with the Bankers leading St. Peters by 2 to 1. It started off like a real snappy ball game, with Sheehy for the St. Peters and Turner for the Bankers in great form on the rubber.

Twice the players took shelter from the rain and on the third downpour Umpire Kay called it a night.

The two teams will meet again tomorrow at Riverside Park in the second part of the bargain bill. Barrie's and Westclox meet in a Mercantile League fixture at 2 o'clock, and the youngsters wil clash in the 2nd game. It looks like a big afternoon's entertainment for the fans.

ENGAGE STEAMER TO BRING ENGLISH SHOW TO CANADA

"HULLO, CANADA!" COMING IN OCTOBER WITH BEAUTY CHORUS

For the first time in the history of the theatre an entire steamer has been engaged for the transportation of a theatrical company with scenery, costumes, and all other effects complete from England to Canada.

This is the S. S. Victorian, which will sail in October with Albert de Courville's famous revued beauty chorus, and productions complete. George F. Driscoll, vice-president of Trans-Canada Theatres Limited, has succeded in securing Mr. de Courville, to-day one of the leading theatrical producers in London, for an extended contract, to make Montreal his producing centre for Canada and the United States and to tour this country, and America later on, in a series of revues composed of the pick of his previous productions and new features continually added.

Some idea of the magnitude of this contract may be obtained from the fact that the amount of guarantee involved is half a million dollars, the largest sum ever offered a British producer to cross the Atlantic with his productions.

De Courville, who has been prominent in British theatrical circles for a dozen years past, has made a specialty of revues there, just as Florenz Ziegfield has made a specialty of the Follies in New York. Such brilliant successes as "Zizzag", "Whirligig", "Joybells", and his $200,00 production of "Razzle Dazzle" at Drury Lane have made him a leading figure and won for him a great reputation.

Mr. De Courville will bring with him the pick of his London casts, numbering sixty people in all, and including Harry Tate and his famous Boys, and Shirley Kellogg, both of whom have been star artistes at the London Hippodrome super-revenues presented by De Courville for several years past.

The opening revue will be entitled 'Hullo, Canada' and will consist of the best features of de Courvile's entire list of thirty productions. He will present this for the first time in Canada at Quebec on October 17ht. He arrives there personally on the 10th of October with his famous Beauty Chorus, his picked stars, and his production.

The second revue will be entitled "A Box of Tricks", Mr. de Courville's specially selected cast will include such popular and brilliant artises as Margaret Bannerman, Maisie Gay, and Cecily Debenham, and the Famous London Beauties from the Gayety Theatre.

The contract is regarded as the biggest thing ever arranged in the history of the London theatre. Some idea of the attitude Mr. de Courville has taken towards Canada as a field for theatrical exploitation may be obtained from the fact that he has elected to make Montreal his producing centre. He considers this Dominion one of the world's best theatrical fields, and in this view he has just been endorsed by Lord Beaverbrook.

Mr. de Courville refused a proposal to tour the United States under the management of Klaw & Erlanger, preferring to book through America under the management of Trans-Canada Theatres, Ltd., later on if his Canadian venture should justify this, as he is confident it will.

DENIES U.S. TO DEFER INTEREST ON BRITISH DEBT FIFTEEN YEARS

TREASURY POLICY TO PROCEED TO REFUNDING OF ALLIED LOANS

WASHINGTON, July 15.—(Canadian Press).—The Treasury policy is to proceed to the refunding of the loans to the Allies and the collection of interest thereon at the earliest possible date, Secretary Melton declared to-day, resuming the discussion of the Administration Refunding Bill before the Senate Finance Committee.

Reports in London and New York that an agreement had been reached to defer interest payment on the British debt for fifteen years, he added, were "wholly unfounded and absolutely inconceivable."

SOIL SURVEY IN WEST.

REGINA, July 13.—(Canadian Press).—In co-operation with the Department of Agriculture, Professor Roy Hansen and two assistants of the College of Agriculture are conducting a soil survey of Saskatchewan as recommended by the Better Farming Commission in its report to the Government. Active work is now being carried on in a block of four municipalities in Cypress constituency.

The intention is eventually to have a complete survey of the whole Province that will reveal all of the data in regard to soil conditions that are essential to a determination of the most profitable type of farming to be carried out in each district. A second and perhaps other surveying parties will probably be put into the field next year, as if is realized that the immensity of the undertaking will require years to complete the survey.

When a sufficient number of representative districts have been covered they will be mapped and the information secured in regard to them will be made public.

CAPITOL BILL IS ATTRACTIVE

COLORED PICTURES, COMEDY AND INTERESTING FEATURES.

"If Women Knew" is the interesting title of the feature picture at the Capitol for the last three days of this week. Maurice Travers is the somewhat effeminate but lovable hero whom three women love in different ways, and the story centres around the different manifestations of this affection. He marries the frivolous daughter of a wealthy man, whose father casts her off immediately and leaves the young couple to their own destinies. Maurice, who has failed in his examinations, cannot secure employment in New York, and the pair quarrel. His mother's sight fails, and she dies while her son is in the city. His wife secures a divorce and another admirer simultaneously, and Maurice returns to his cousin, Madeleine, whose unselfish devotion to the blind woman and adherence to the rather spineless hero form the big element in the story.

The Pathe Review, with beautifully colored pitcures, is exceptionally good this week, and Mr. and Mrs. Carter de Haven present a very funny comedy in "Kids is Kids."

THE HOMELY GIRL.

(From the New York Sun.)

A twenty-year-old girl in Baltimore tried to commit suicide lately by swallowing poison after her fiance had slighted her for a prettier girl. At the hospital where she was taken in an attempt to save her life she declared: "I don't want to get well. Men don't care what you do for them; they are all for the girl who spends everything on clothes and makes a big show. They don't care if a girl is good, self-respecting and a real home maker."

This downhearted lass apparently classified herself as a 'homely" girl, possibly thinking of herself as plain in face but filled with impulses to make a happy home for somebody, and her native pride and wit collapsed before the familiar tragedy of a "prettier" girl, possibly with more striking clothes, carrying off her own sweetheart by the oldest form of piracy in the world. The "homely" girl's problem stretches back beyond recorded history.

Of course, no general statement could ever hold water for a moment in these matters, but the despised girl cared nothing for that. In her case, her own lover represented to her all mankind; they had been happily engaged, and she had looked upon him as lovable by herself and admirable by everybody, and he was all her own. And in the twinkling of a brighter eye her ownership vanished. No more bitter drop ever destroyed a cup of happiness. Because the same bitterness has been tasted by countless other women, it is none the less blinding and overwhelming every time. Men tire of women for ten thousand reasons, and women often tire of men, pretty much as diversely, but the pang sustained by the arrogant robbery of a lover by a prettier girl is despair in its essence, the pleasures of hope cheated and the light gone out of the sky—because of her own lack of the intangible power which (she thinks) ought to hold him fast.

Youth lacking in self-discipline has no armor against such thrusts. Much of truth in this poor girl's charge against men does not justify the general statement, but it is entirely intelligible. Even in Victorian days that sagacious woman, Mrs. Poyser, admitted: "I'm not denying the women is foolish. The Lord made 'em to match the men."

"FISH HATCHERY GREATEST NEED OF STONEY LAKE"—MORRIS ACKERMAN

SPECIAL WRITER FOR CLEVELAND NEWS-LEADER SPENT ENJOYABLE WEEK AT KAWARTHA LAKES.

"One of the first needs of Stoney Lake is a big hatchery for bass and maskelunge," said Morris Ackerman, of Cleveland, editor of Ackerman's Sportsmen's Guide and special writer for the Newspaper Enterprise Association, upon his return to Peterborough to-day after an all too short week at Stoney Lake. So thoroughly did he enjoy himself that he overstayed by three days the time he had alloted in his itinerary for that section of Kawarthadom. But he met a fellow citizen from Cleveland, in Alex. Lowe, proprietor of "Glenwood," and the pre-arranged schedule was shot to pieces by the beauties of the lotus land at Stoney Lake. Mr. Ackerman visited Juniper Island, Viamede, Mount Julian, McCracken's Landing, Crowe's Landing and other resorts.

"If we had those lakes over on the other side the water would be black with people," he said. "I met a lot of tourists from Cleveland, Buffalo, Rochester and other American cities. Some of them came up for two or three weeks and others are here for the whole summer. It's a great spot, and I wish I could stay until September. I'm going over to Bobcaygeon this afternoon for a few days. After forgetting everything at Stoney Lake I don't know how long I'll be at Bobcaygeon, but I ought to get back to Toronto by Tuesday. It would be a fine thing for the lakes if the roads into the resorts weer all in good shape. Some of them are quite satisfactory, but others could stand a lot of improvement. People are coming over in cars more than ever, and good roads will increase the number coming to the Kawartha Lakes. The fishing is good and I understand that the Government is re-stocking liberally, but for the best results for fishermen there should be a hatchery. I was over to the Indian Reserve at Curve Lake and met Dan Whetung and all the folks; had a great time everywhere."

Mr. Ackerman has already sent several articles to Cleveland telling of this district, and others will be written at once, the recollections bringing back to him some of the enjoyment that is still fresh in his memory.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, July 15. Canadian Press. Speculative shares again reflected sharp pressure at the opening of to-day's stock market.

In the early dealings losses of one to two points were registered by Crucible and Bethlehem Steels, Harvester, General Electric, Summatra Tobacco, Houston Oil and Famous Players. Other steels, equipments, Oils and motors were lower by fractions to one point and Western Union Telegraph extended yesterday's severe decline. Foreign exchange was reactionary, the London rate approximating recent low quotations.

Dealings during the morning were on the smallest scale of any session in many weeks. Shorts effected further losses among Steels, Equipments and Oils; also Famous Players, Sears-Roebuck, International Paper, Union Rag, American Woollen, American Can. and Shipping. Rails were neglected, the only changes in that division consisting of one point declines in Great Northern and Chicago Great Western.

Losses were partly recovered before noon, when Mex. Pet. rallied 2 points. Call money opened and renewed into next week at 6 per cent.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, July 15. Canadian Press. Wheat advanced to-day to the highest prices which the September and December deliveries have yet touched this season. Increasing damage from black rust was responsible. Lower temperature and the rain failed to have more than a temporary bearish effect. Opening quotations, which ranged from 1c to 2 1-2c lower, with September $1.29 3-4 to $1.31, and December 51.33 to 51.34, were followed by a rise to well above yesterday's finish, and then something of a reaction.

Corn was relatively easy although sympathizing with the wheat strength. After opening 1-2 to 7-8 lower, including September, at 61 1-8 to 61 3-8, the market scored slight gains, but then sagged again. Oats ascended as a result of bullish news. Crop reports, starting ⅝ off to a like advance, September 40 1-8 to 40¼, and then turning up-grade all around.

Higher quotations on hogs gave firmness to provisions.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, July 15. Canadian Press. Sterling exchange heavy, demand $3.62 1-8; Canadian dollars 12 7-16 per cent. discount.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, July 15. Canadian Press. Nothing of any interest transpired on the market during the morning session. Abitibi and Brazilian both closed quietly at 25 1-8 and 25. Dominion was also unchanged at 27 3-4. Laurentide was quiet at 71 as was also Wayagamack at 41.

TORONTO.

TORONTO July 15. — The improvement in business that was noted in yesterday's session on the local stock exchange was not maintained during the morning board to-day.

Business dwindled to small proportions with an even dozen stocks traded in. The paper stocks were weaker, with Abitibi off 5-8 of a point, Wayagamack 1 1-2 points, with the best bid for Spanish River 45 3-4. Brazilian, the most active stock in point of trading, fluctuated within the limits of a quarter of a point high 25 3-8; now 25 1-8. C. P. R. was off 3.4 point at 125 compared with yesterday's close.

FOREST FIRES IN SWEDEN UNKNOW

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 15. —Devastating forest fires, common in Canada, are unknown in Sweden. There are no vast stretches of burnt-over lands such as offend the eyes of the traveller along the north shores of Lake Superior, and that represent the complete waste of untold millions of potential wealth. It was not always so. There are evidences that most of Sweden's forest areas have been burned over at some time in their history, and most of what has not been burned has been logged. Few virgin forests remain. Those that do are highly prized and well cared for. A visit to one of the best of these, under the guidance of Mr. Holgrem, a chief forest master, of the Government service, near Fagelsjo, in the Norrlands district, disclosed a fine stand of spruce and pine about three hundred years old, which was said to be one of the oldest and best in the country.

Sweden forests are not entirely immune to fire, but fire hazards and losses have been reduced to a minimum. A Swedish forest authority estimates that the wood lost by fire does not exceed one-half of one per cent. of the standing timber in any one year. In money value this has been calculated at $250,000 a year for the whole of Sweden, and in acreage to an average of from ten to twelve thousand acres in the public forests and at probably from thirty to forty thousand acres in those owned privately. In Canada the districts annually burnt over are usually calculated by the hundred square miles.

Most of the forest fires which occur in Sweden are attributed to sparks from locomotives, although, considering the way in which the railways abut on the forests, fires from this cause are surprisingly few in number. "Dry lightning," common in western Canada and frequently a cause of forest fires, is unknown here. Climatic conditions also contribute to keeping down the number of fires. Promiscuous invasion of the woods by hunting, fishing and camping parties is not allowed and danger from the careless dropped match and the abandoned camp fire is eliminated. The laws for the protection of the forest against fires are very stringent and strictly enforced. There are no "warning" signs tacked to the trees. They are said to be unnecessary. The people have long since been educated to a realization of the economic value of the forests to the life of Sweden. Every man, woman and child is a natural forest protector.

Many of the forests, especially those in central and southern Sweden, are traversed by good roads. In the state forests the roads are built and maintained by the state. In the private forests the owners are compelledl to build and maintain these public roads, which means to them a considerable expense. Small villages, usually consisting of a few families who divide their interest between cultivating small farms and working in the forests, are located at frequent intervals. The state and some of the private companies have colonization schemes and are inducing settlers to take up plots of land in the forests by providing them with houses, land, a small amount of capital and equipment on very generous terms, and allowing them to apply their labor in the forests to their indebtedness.

These agencies all combine to reduce the fire hazards. Incipient fires are quickly discovered. Help is nearly always readily at hand. The law requires that every citizen between 16 and 60 must respond to a call to fight a forest fire. The Swedish army is also subject to similar service when it is required of them.

Swedish forest experts who have visited Canada marvel at the tremendous losses sustained by Canadian forests through the agency of preventable fires. They incline to the opinion that adequate fire protective measures are more necessary in Canada than restrictions on cutting. They are willing to admit that many differences exist between the physical conditions in the two countries, but they insist that Canada's fores fire losses could be greatly reduced by systematic effort and good laws properly enforced, such as have been applied with such good effect in Sweden.

NO GENERAL CLOSING OF GENERAL MOTORS

A general closing down of the General Motors during July will not take take place as rumoured. Mr. George McLaughlin, of the Company, states that with the changing of the patterns and the usual quiet at this time of the year there would be a lull in the McLaughlin division for a couple of weeks, and probably 200 or 300 men would be laid off for a time. The other plants would keep working on the business they could get, and it is not expected that the lay-off in the McLaughlin division will be of any great duration."

IMPERIAL CONFERENCE SHELVES NAVAL QUESTION AND DOMINIONS WILL BE COMMITTED TO NOTHING

ADVOCATED BY PREMIER MEIGHEN FROM THE BEGINNING AND NOW RENDERED INEVIT. ABLE BY COMING DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE.

CONSTITUTIONAL MEET LEFT IN ABEYANCE?

(By M. Grattan O'Leary, Staff Correspondent of Canadian Press).

LONDON, July 16.—As a result of the informal discussions of the past few days, the naval question will be shelved by the conference of British Prime Ministers.

This course has been urged by Premier Meighen from the beginning, and its adoption has been rendered inevitable by the decision to have a disarmament conference at Washington. It is probable that some form of solution will be passed but it will have no relation to policy or any contemplated action, and it will commit the respective Dominions to nothing.

It is not at all improbable that the question of place and date for the discussion of other matters in connection with the proposed constitutional conference will be left in abeyance. The Canadian Press is in a position to state that this is the view held by at least two Dominion Premiers, both of whom, curiously enough, subscribed to the resolution of 1917, urging the holding of a constitutional conference as soon as possible after the war. The argument they now use is that with the international situation now in a state of flux, the question of devising machinery suitable to the changed status of the Empire with its attendant danger of throwing the whole question into the vortex of domestic politics can safely be delayed. In a word, their position is to leave well enough alone.

INJURED IN FALL WHILE CARRYING BAG OF FLOUR

OLIVER TAILOR MET WITH ACCIDENT AND APPARENTLY INTERNAL INJURY.

Mr. Oliver Taylor, Cricket Place, an employee of the Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Co., met with an unfortunate accident on Monday while unloading a quantity of flour at the plant of the Mackey Bread Co. While a bag of flour was being taken off the load he slipped, wrenching his back, and the hundred pounds of flour fell on his stomach. He worked yesterday, but developed symptoms of some internal injury and was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital last evening. The extent of his injury is not known just yet.

GENERAL HUGHES IS MUCH IMPROVED

LINDSAY, July 16.—(Canadian Press). — Sir Sam. Hughes had a very restful night last night. Dr. McAlpine, his physician, left the house at midnight, and at 8.15 this morning had not returned, so confident was he that his patient was much improved and that he would live for many hours.

HOPES IDEA OF INLAND ROUTE MATERIALIZES

SO SENATOR RANSDELL OF LOUISIANA DECLARES AT QUEBEC—SEES GREAT BENEFITS TO BOTH COUNTRIES.

U.S. SHOULD PAY SHARE OF WELLAND CANAL COSTS

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

QUEBEC, July 16.—That it would like some little time before the suggested water facilities between the United States and Canada could materialize, was the opinion of George M. Bosworth, chairman of the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services, in extending a welcome at Quebec yesterday afternoon to the members of the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Tidewater Association, who reached here after a six-day trip down Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence.

The trip reached its climax at Quebec. The purpose of the association is to further the proposed deepening of the St. Lawrence River so as to afford access to ocean-going liners to the Great Lakes, and at Quebec contact was really made with deep-sea navigation when the delegation which comprises several Governors of States, Senators, Congressmen and prominent business men of the United States inspected the beautiful C.P.O.S. liner "Empress of France," which arrived here yesterday.

Mr. Bosworth said that the party had seen enough during their trip to impress them with the necessity for further water communication between the St. Lawrence and the United States. Should these suggested facilities materialize, it would certainly work a great change in the relations of the two countries, not only in the matter of transportation, but also in electrical development, which, in these days of the high price of coal, was of great importance as a supplementary source of power. He hoped that the delegation would make their next trip a longer one, across the ocean, when they would find that the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services was the best route.

Senator Ransdell, of Louisiana, after remarking incidentally that he personally had a great interest in the development of Canada, because he was a lineal descendent of the Acadians, who, after being dispossessed of their lands in Nova Scotia in 1755, had settled in Louisiana, expressed the thanks of the entire delegation for the courtesies that had been extended to them by the C.P.R. and the Canadian Government during their journey. He trusted that this was the beginning of a much closer relationship between Canada and the United States. As a citizen of the United States, even of far off Louisiana, away down south in Dixie, he said that none of the American members of the party had failed to be inspired by the magnitude of the Welland Canal, and by the fact that Canada had undertaken it single handed and carried it through. The first estimated cost had been fifty millions, but the actual cost was between eighty and ninety millions. Canada had not been staggered by the enormous cost, but he thought that the least their big brother in the south could do was to pay its share of the balance. It had been said that facilities made commerce rather than commerce made facilities. If that were so, this effort to bring ocean-going ships into the Great Lakes would provide one of the greatest facilities the world had ever seen.

He foresaw, perhaps, greater advantages to Canada than to the United States, because Canada afforded the greatest opportunities, and he trusted that the scheme would not linger on for ages as a dream, as the Panama Canal had, but would come about within the next ten years.

40,000 NEEDED TO HARVEST IN WEST

OTTAWA, July 16.— (Canadian Press.)—Within another three weeks a little army of some forty thousand men will be speeding out to the farms on the prairies to give a hand in garnering and threshing the western crops. The Employment Service of Canada regards this number as a reasonable estimate since the general expectations are for the best crop since 1915. Notwithstanding the local exciting conditions of unemployment in the prairie provinces, at least a thousand more men should be needed in the west than were called for last year.

BELFAST RIOTS DESPITE TRUCE

ONE KILLED AND FIVE WOUNDED THIS MORNING—INCENDIARIES AT WORK.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

BELFAST, July 16.—Warfare between Orangemen and Sinn Feiners continued in Ulster to-day, despite the truce.

One man was killed here and five seriously wounded before dawn in street fighting. Sharp shooters fired from windows and roofs. Military parols searched houses for these snipers.

Deaths since Sunday total twenty and there are scores of wounded in the hospitals. A number of groceries and saloons were in flames this morning, due to the work of incendiary gangs, and others were completely demolished by wrecking crews that broke into them.

FARM PRODUCE WAS DEARER ON MARKET

MARKET GARDENERS APPEARED AS GLOOMY AS THE FARMERS AND PRICES REFLECTED THEIR WORRIES.

The gloomy countenances of the farmers and vegetable growers on to-day's market did not match the golden July weather. "The crops are poor. You can make no mistake in reporting that," said one grower, who was frankly worried. "Everything is poor," said another, and so there is not much joy in the hearts of the growers. They looked morbidly upon the world at large.

There were quite a lot of raspberries on the market, but all were about 25 cents. There will not be many next week, the growers said, for they are cooking on the bushes. Some sold their berries at 24 cents; some at 25 cents. The blue variety were going at 20 to 23 cents. One car to-day contained huckleberries, the tail-end of the crop, and the picker sold these at 30 cents a quart, or $2.25 an eight-quart pail.

New potatoes were 60 cents a peck, or $3 a bag. Cabbage were 15 to 25 cents, cauliflowers the same, beets and carrots ten cents, or two for 15 cents. Onions, radishes and lettuce were five cents. A veteran market gardener had the first celery of the year at 20 cents a bunch.

Red currants sold at 25 cents a quart in the basket market. White currants were only 15 cents.

Eggs were high at 37 cents. Butter has risen to 38 cents. Old hens sold freely at 25 cents a pound; spring chickens at 50 cents.

KEENE WINS FIRST IN SECOND HALF

NORWOOD PITCHER HIT OUT HOME RUN AND THREE BASE HITS.

Keene got a good start in the second half of the East Peterborough Baseball League last evening, when they defeated Norwood in Norwood by the score of 12 to 5.

The visitors hit hard and profited greatly by Green's wobbly support. The Norwood pitcher, besides twirling a fine game, contributed a home run and a three-base hit.

Batteries — Keene, O'Dette and Hawkins; Norwood, Green and Andrews.

Umpires—Kay and Murray.

CONSTABLE BREAKS LAW.

COBOURG, July 16. — Charged with having liquor in an improper place, Constable Smith, of Durham, has been fined $350.00, and costs.

The liquor was alleged to have been a part of that stolen from the summer home of Mr. R. T. Grey, and the defence was that a Provincial officer had the right to commandeer a car, garage, or any such place in which to place it.

PEACE PARLEYS ARE SUSPENDED UNTIL MONDAY

IF NEGOTIATIONS FOR SETTLEMENT FAIL, IRELAND MUST RESORT TO ARMED RESISTANCE, SAYS "BULLETIN."

INFORMAL DISCUSSIONS TAKING PLACE TO-DAY

LONDON, July 16. — (Canadian Press).—The resumption of the conference between Lloyd George and Eamonn De Valera, Irish Republican leader, was not planned for to-day, it having been announced that their next meeting will occur on Monday. The discussions they would have with their advisors during the day, however, might, it was believed, have an important bearing on the future progress of the conversations begun on Thursday and continued yesterday.

Mr. De Valera remained at his hotel here, and was expected to meet prominent Irish leaders during the day. The Prime Minister went to his home at Chequers Court for the week-end, but did not look forward to any material relaxation of the strain of the past week. It was said he would confer in private with many prominent members of the British Cabinet, and men who had taken a leading part in the conduct of Irish affairs.

DUBLIN, July 16. — (Canadian Press).—Commenting upon the conference between Eamonn De Valera and Prime Minister Lloyd George, in London, the Irish Bulletin to-day declared, "If a peaceful settlement should be denied, the Irish people will resume armed resistance to foreign domination." They possess, and will, by endurance and power, bring their fight eventually to success."

KUTAIA FALLS TO GREEKS; TURKISH TROOPS RUSH IN

NATIONALISTS POUR REINFORCEMENTS INTO DISTRICT TO STEM GREEK OFFENSIVE.

ATHENS, July 16. — (Canadian Press).—Greek troops have occupied the city of Kutaia, an important point on the southern branch of the Bagdad Railway, about 75 miles south of Brussa, it was declared in a private despatch received here last night from Smyrna. Advices from Asia Minor, where the Greeks are conducting a general offensive against the Turkish Nationalists, indicated yesterday the Turks were pouring Tartar and Kurd reinforcements into the Kutaia area, and it was indicated a severe battle might take place there.

DEMAND FOR COOKED MEATS REACHES PEAK

OVENS AT CANADIAN PACKING CO. WORKING ALL AROUND THE CLOCK THESE DAYS.

The cooked meat trade has had a wonderful impetus during the past three weeks of hot weather, as the householders has realized the convenience of using cooked meats of all kinds during a period like the last three weeks. The Canadian Packing Co. plant has been operating at capacity day and night in order to keep up with the demand for these products. As a result of the concentration of meat cooking during the month, the July gas bills should show some shrinkage when they next appear.

LOUIS YEOTES HAS TWO BROTHERS IN GREEK ARMY

Mr. L. Yeotes received a letter from his brother George to the effect that he had been recalled to the army for service against the Turks. He had been discharged when the rout of the Turks seemed complete some months ago, but the change in the fortunes of this war in the Balkans demanded the strengthening of the army which is now 350,000 rank and file. A younger brother, nineteen years of age, is also in the army taking an officer's course.

JAPAN OPPOSED TO SPECIFIC PROBLEMS BEING DISCUSSED

(Special Despatch to The Examiner.)

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Japan opposes the discussion of specific Far Eastern questions in the forthcoming Washintgon disarmament conference, it became known to-day. She agrees to a discussion of Far Eastern question from the standpoint ow broad general principles, it was made clear to the United States.

This attitude of Japan's was reflected in her reply to the American invitation to the conference, which asked in effect whether the Far Eastern questions were to be taken up specifically or in a general way.

FISH HATCHERY FOR PETERBORO

DEPUTY MINISTER FAVOURABLY DISPOSED TO SITE HERE AFTER INVESTIGATING CONDITIONS.

After visiting Lindsay and Bobcaygean, D. McDonald, Deputy Minister of Game and Fisheries for the Province, and Mr. McLeod, of his Department, who were in the city yesterday, looked favourably upon Peterborough as a site for one of the fish hatcheries the Department is establishing in Eastern Ontario next spring.

The hatchery will be located somewhere in the Trent waterways, Mr. McDonald assured L. Frazer, secretary of the Trent Waterways Development Association, T. Tooms, M.L.A., and R. J. Soden, president of the Peterborough County Game and Fisheries Protective Association yesterday afternoon.

Mr. McDonald and Mr. McLeod have motored throughout this district seeking a site for the hatchery.

The Deputy Minister could give no definite assurance that Peterborough would get the hatchery. After he had been shown various sites around the city by Mr. Frazer, he looked favourably upon Peterborough.

The requirements are about two acres of ground, 20 gallons of running water per minute, and adequate transportation facilities.

Lindsay offered to supply free water and a site for the hatchery, and Mr. McDonald intimated that the same concessions would be expected here. Bass, trout, and pickerel would be propagated. 'Lunge have never been successfully propagated yet, but the Department are conducting experiments which may be successful.

The demand upon the Government fish hatcheries has increased greatly year by year. Last year 167,00,000 fish fry wer hatched, the year before 127,000,000, and in 1918 only 86,000,000.

R. J. Soden urged the establishment of a hatchery here, and further explained what had been done by the newly-formed Association towards better enforcement of the Game and Fisheries laws.

Mr. McDonald also met Captain F. G. Young, of the Stoney Lake Navigation Company, and Morris Ackerman, noted sport writer, and C. G. Graham, all of whom spoke of the importance of a fish hatchery in Peterborough.

Mr. McDonald mentioned that if a hatchery was established here, it would be of a park-like nature, and as the fish are located in ponds on terraces with miniature waterfalls, the hatchery would be beautiful and interesting spot. The parent fish would be so arranged as to be in aquariums at periods, and in instruction to the Normal students. Mr. McDonald said this feature would be valuable.

BABY-TALKERS

CHICAGO PROFESSOR OPENS CLINICS TO AID INFANT SPEECK.

CHICAGO, July 16. — The six-months-old offspring, playing dominoe on the pantry floor, sniffed a deep sniff and shouted:

"Hey, Pa, the home brew is boiling over!"

It may be a bit previous to put the baby on record for the above statement but speech by half-year-old children is bound to come, says Dr. W. B. Swift, of North-Western University.

Too much of the infant's time, it appears, is wasted in uttering meaningless goo-goos and da-das when the Einstein theory or disarmament could be discussed at an advantage.

Dr. Swift announced the opening of a clinics on the university campus to teach the child of tender months how to talk.

"A baby usually cries for the first 18 or 24 months," said Dr. Swift. "This is a big loss of time."

In his clinic, the doctor will demonstrate to parents how to get their children to talk co-herently first by imitation.

For some reason or other parents think all children can say is "da-da" and "goo-goo" and consequently that is all they do say, according to Dr. Swift. If sensible words were uttered by parents the child would talk sooner, he believes.

So some time, not far distant, when the fond parent is sliding the dimes out of the baby's bank he may be greeted with the following stern rebuke:

"I'm certainly proud of you, Pa."

MOTHER TOLD OFFICER CHILDREN WOULD NEVER LEAVE ALIVE, WHEN NOTIFIED OF DECREE OF COURT

GERMAN SUBMARINE OFFICERS GIVEN 4 YEARS IN PRISON

LEIPZIG, Germany, July 16. — (Canadian Press). — Lieut. Dittmar and Lieut. Boldt, charged with murder in the first degree for firing on life-boats after the Canadian hospital ship Llandovery Castle had been torpedoed in the summer of 1918, were each sentenced to-day to four years' imprisonment.

ONLY $50 NEEDED FOR BLIND FUND

LIST WILL BE KEPT OPEN UNTIL WEDNESDAY IN HOPE THAT TOTAL MAY BE REACHED $500

The Examiner is making an appeal to-day to the citizens of Peterborough for a few more donations for the fund for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. To bring the total of contributions for Peterborough up to $500.00, the fund needs less than $50.00 for this purpose, and it will remain open until Wednesday next to receive any amounts that citizens of the city, kindly disposed, who have not alrealy contributed, may be given an opportunity of sending in an amount, either small or large, for this very worthy cause.

The work the Institute is doing for the blind of this Province is exceptional. Those who enjoy any degree of eyesight can hardly appreciate the handicap of the blind, unless they are in close touch with them.

The campaign in Peterborough has made a revelation to those who have gone into the matter, as to the possibility of a blind person being taught many useful trades, and becoming a thoroughly active citizen. We owe it to the blind of our city to give them every assistance, and of preparing some manner of taking care of these people, and those of our citzens who, through accident or otherwise, in the future might be so unfortunate as to lose their sight.

Will you not hand in your subscription, if you intend to do so, to your bank or to The Examiner office, between now and Wednesday evening, when the campaign closes?

The following subscriptions, since those reported yesterday, have been received:

SAVED HOUSE ACROSS BOUNDARY IN SMITH

Fire Brigade's Work Appreciated by Isaac Hetherington.

The action of Chief Grange in allowing the Fire Brigade to go outside the city limits a couple of nights ago saved the home of Mr. I. Hetherington, Chemong road, from complete disaster. The house had caught fire, it is thought, from a coal oil stove, and before long the shed, back kitchen and roof of the main kitchen were in flames. An urgent appeal was sent to Chief Grange, in allowing the brigade to go outside the city limtis he was violating one of the by-laws relating to his department, nevertheless took the fire in hand and with the aid of chemicals and bucket brigade, soon had it under control.

Mr. Hetherington has no hesitancy in stating that the whole property would have been consumed but for the timely arrival and good work of Chief Grange and his men, and to them and his friends and neighbors who assisted he desires to give thanks for the work they did in his behalf when absent from home at the time.

MRS. BRIDGEN AND DAUGHTERS NOW IN SERIOUS CONDITION AFTER ADMINISTRATION OF POISON, THOUGHT TO BE STRYCHNINE.

ORDERED SURRENDERED TO FATHER'S CUSTODY

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

KINGSTON, July 16. — It was revealed here to-day that Mrs. Bridgen, who with her three daughters is now in the Hotel Dieu Hospital in a serious condition as a result of the administration of poison, thought to be strychnne, told an officer of the Children's Aid Society yesterday morning, when he notified her that her daughters must be delivered to the custody of the father, that the children would never leave the house alive.

Some time ago Justice Kelly gave an order at Toronto that the Bridgen children were to be under the care of their mother. Inspector Pollie, of the Children's Aid Society, and Mayor Nickle, who knew Mrs. Bridgen when he was in charge of the local Patriotic Fund, signed an affidavit that the mother was quite capable of looking after her children, and advising that they be left with her.

Since the father returned from overseas the couple have not lived together. The mother was eager to do her best for her offspring, and the two younger ones were sent to the Notre Dame Convent Boarding School.

Lately the father took action to have the younger children with him during the holidays, and was represented at Toronto by Ambrose Shew, who secured an order from Sir William Meredith that the father was to have the custody of them until the convent term opened in September.

The father claimed that the place kept by his wife was not fit for the children, but the Children's Aid inspector says that nothing whatever could be produced against the mother, who did well by her young daughters.

The latter apparently desired to remain with the mother, for they appeared to be much grieved when the hour for their departure with their father arrived.

At ten o'clock on Friday morning, two constables went with the inspector and the father to see that the two younger children were given up by the mother, as directed by the order of Sir William Meredith.

The mother was so distracted that she made an attack upon the constables, but was restrained. To Mr. Pollie she said: "The children will not leave this house alive. Just wait and see."

Mr. Pollie remarked that they were in a hurry, and that the order of the Judge had to be carried out.

He suspected that something was in the wind from the way the mother spoke, but after the party left he dismissed the idea that all was not well. But when the two children became violently ill, he knew at once that the mother had spoken truly, and that she had given the girls something to end their lives, but thought it would act on them sooner.

Whether the daughters were a party to the mother's deed he could not say, but from their actions he got the impression that they all wanted to die because of the separation from their mother and because of the disgrace brought upon them.

The father is a Canadian Pacific Railway conductor, now living at Trenton, and well capable of maintaining his family.

KINGSTON, July 16.—(Canadian Press).—Mrs. Mary Brigden and her three young daughters, who are at the Hotel Dieu suffering apparently from strychnine poisoning, spent a fairly comfortable night, and Dr. Huyck thinks the children are practically out of danger. The mother, though better than last night, is still in a doubtful condition.

ALD. CROWE'S REPLY

Ald. Crowe sends the following open letter to Mr. Trent, secretary of the Cake and Bread Manufacturers' Association of Canada:

Dear Sir,—You find fault with the committee's report on bread prices and accuse some members of playing politics, a remark which is generally used by the average kicker, but which lacks force in this case, as none of us are at all anxious for the game. However, if you can name the many places in Ontario that are selling bread at 12c for a pound and a half loaf you can do more than I can. You would enlighten many of us if you would explain why the said pound and a half loaf is sold in Toronto, Hamilton, Dundas, Oshawa, Kitchener, Kingston, Belleville, etc., from two to three cents lower than here. This would clear the air and settle the question. I suppose you will say that the bread sold in Peterborough is of a higher quality than in these other cities. That is the usual reply, but you surely do not expect us to believe that the Lawrence Company's bread in Toronto, selling (according to advertisements in the Toronto press) at 18c the three-pound large loaf, is of inferior quality. I mention it just as an example.

You refer to the fact that your letter was not published in its entirety. I might just say that the only part omitted was about the sacrifice the bakers made during the war. That passage was left out because no person would surely be inclined to accept it. You got justice in what was first published as you did not request that any of it be published. In regard to the great sacrifice made during the war, which you refer to no one takes that very seriously as the facts are such: bread before the war sold as low as 5c per 1½-pound loaf, and rose to 14c; flour was about $5 a barrel in 1914, to-day about $10.50. Other ingredients are less than 50 per cent. lower than the highest price attained, yet bread here is selling for 12c the 1½-pound loaf, a reduction of just two cents. As to that patriotic cry of yours, that sacrifice has been made by selling bread without a profit, it has become stale and does not appeal to me as justifying us in this city paying more for bread than other places in Ontario, even Toronto. In Winnipeg bread sells for 10c a loaf. The mere claim to superior quality is not a sufficient explanation, at least not until there is proof that the bread in Toronto and the many places I have mentioned is inferior to that made in Peterborough.

Joseph Crowe.

ULSTER CABINET HAS BEEN SUMMONED TO LONDON

MOTHER AND THREE DAUGHTERS ARE POISONED; CONDITION OF MOTHER SAID TO BE DANGEROUS

TWO CHILDREN TAKEN ILL WHILE BEING TAKEN BY FATHER AFTER COURT ORDER —OTHERS AFFECTED SIMULTANEOUSLY.

KINGSTON, Ont., July 16. Canadian Press. — Suffering from an administration of poison, believed to be strychnine, Mrs. Mary Bridgen, 290 Ontario street, is dangerously ill in the Hotel Dieu, while her three daughters, Doris, aged 16, Agnes age 14 years, and Mona, aged 12 years, are also critically ill.

It is not thought that Mrs. Bridgen will recover, but the condition of the children is such that they will likely recover, unless complications set in.

While the details of the case are meagre, it is alleged that the poison was administered by the mother to herself and children.

For some time Mr. and Mrs. Bridgen have not been living together, and on July 7th in Toronto a judge's order was handed out giving the custody of the two younger children to the father.

Mr. Bridgen was taking the two children by auto to his home in Trenton and some distance past Cataraqui they simultaneously became very ill. A doctor was called, and ordered the children to the Hotel Dieu.

In the meantime, Mrs. Bridgen and her eldest daughter also became ill at their home on Ontario street. Dr. Huyck was called, and in rendering first aid he discovered that the mother and the daughter were suffering from the administration of a poison which evidently was strychnine. Immediately they were rushed to the Hotel Dieu where Mrs. Bridgen's condition failed to improve and up to a late hour yesterday afternoon she was reported as being in a serious condition, with only small hopes being held out for her recovery.

The symptoms of the four being the same the physicians concluded that all had been poisoned.

The children responded somewhat to the treatment given but it was apparent that the mother had received such a quantity of the poison that her life is despaired of.

CHEMICALS DOUSED SMALL BLAZE IN SHOP

Chemicals extinguished a small fire which broke out in the roof of H. T. Millard's repair shop, Hunter street, at six o'clock last night. The wooden roof, which is covered with tin, became ablaze, possibly through combustion and sawdust in the roof roof made a smoke that looked as if the whole block was on fire. Some oiled rags and rubber in the shop added to the general appearance of a big fire. Crowds of people arrived, only to find the fire put out with chemicals and the nauseous fumes being rapidly disseminated.

The alarm was given at the fire station by Fred Preston, employed in the shop, and working there when the fire started.

PROBABILITIES.

INCUBATION RESULT OF THE HEAT WAVE?

BELLEVILLE, Ont., July 16. —(Canadian Press).—One of the business firms of Bancroft village had occasion to purchase a crate of eggs from a farmer one day this week. The following day the customer came in and asked for fresh eggs. On opening the crate the first section proved all right. A queer sound came from the second section, and the merchant investigated. To his surprise, he found nine young chickens hatched out in the crate.

Remembering he had a 'biddy' at home who would welcome the young, he at once took them to their foster home, where they are doing nicely. Just how many more will arrive on the scene, the merchant is not in a position to say. This is a new way of delivering chickens and a convenient way for merchants to increase their poultry flocks. The weather has been extremely hot in this district, but none suspected it was hot enough for open-air incubation.

There are dozens of preparations recommended to destroy bed bugs. But the preparation that gives the best results is Post's Bed Bug Poison and one or two applications will soon wipe out the pest. It is composed of Corrosive Sublimate, methyl-hydrate, and carbolic acid, and as it is very poisonous it should be kept out of the reach of children.

LARGEST HOARD OF GOLD EVER ASSEMBLED IS BEING COUNTED

NEW YORK, N. Y., July 16. —(Canadian Press).—The employees of the United States Assay Office in Wall Street yesterday finished weighing and testing the myriad grains of gold and counting the certificates that comprise the huge sum of fifteen hundred million dollars, about one-fifth of the world's supply. Besides this amount there is $372,000,000 worth of gold in a sealed vault, one in which the contents had previously been checked and certified as correct.

This enormous hoard, the largest ever assembled in one building in history, will continue to swell for some time, financiers said, as nearly every liner arriving here has a consignment for liquidation in the United States. The count was necessitated by a pending change in superintending. Representatives of Verne M. Bovie, who is relinquishing his position, and Isaac S. Smith, who succeeds him, were present as the work progressed. During the month and a half since the count was begun, a constant flow of yellow metal has poured into the office.

CANADA TO GET $300,000 FROM HUN INDEMNITY

IMPERIAL CONFERENCE DECIDES ON THIS AMOUNT AS OUR SHARE OF GERMAN REPARATIONS TOTAL.

BY GRATTAN O'LEARY.
(Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, July 16. — Canada's share of the reparations which Germany is to pay the British Empire has been fixed by the Prime Ministers' Conference at three hundred thousand dollars. Under the decision of the Supreme Allied Council, the total German reparations bill is placed at £6,500,000,000 or, roughly speaking, thirty billions.

Of this gigantic sum the British Empire is allotted 22 per cent., and under the decision reached to-day, Canada is to receive 4.5 per cent. of the British total.

This works out at about three hundred thousand, or in other words it represents about one-eighth of the Canadian national debt. Whether Germany will be able to pay the whole or any substantial part of this, if so when, is a different matter. Sir Robert Horn, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, who took part in the negotiations which resulted in Canada receiving a share as announced, is understood to be hopeful that the Germans are and will be in a positon to pay a considerable amount, but on the other hand a great many financila authorities hold the view that colelction of any substantial sum will be difficult if not impossible. The division of the British share is made on the basis of casualties, pensions, expenditure and loss of shipping by various portions of the Empire.

FIFTEEN GO TO PRISON, GUILTY INCENDIARISM

MANCHESTER, England, July 16.—(Canadian Press).—The trial of Sinn Fein prisoners charged with treason and felony in connection with the shooting and incendiarism which occurred in this vicinity during the early part of June was concluded yesterday. Of the 18 defendants two were discharged and 16 found guilty, fifteen getting prison sentences. Two of the latter were sentenced to 15 years' penal servitude, one to a ten-year term, four to seven years, seven to five years, while one was sentenced to three years. The announcement of the sentences brought a great demonstration from sympathizers with the prisoners.

CAMPBELLFORD TO VOTE ON MONEY BY-LAW FOR WALKS

CAMPBELLFORD, July 16. — Miss Blanche Gibson, of the Separate School staff, Toronto, is spending her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Gibson.

Miss Boyce, of Norham, is visiting her friend, Mrs. J. N. Stone.

Mrs. B. Fogg, of Chicago, accompanied by her daughter, is visiting at the home of her father, Mr. Thos. Dunk, Crow Bay.

Misses Lulu Blake and Jessie Haig nurses-in-training in Cleveland, are holidaying at their homes.

Mrs. Margaret Sykes, R.N., of New York City, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Helen Donald.

Civic Holiday.

Monday, 1st August, will be the CivicHoliday in town, and as usual there will be excursions up and down the Canal.

Vote on 8th August.

On 8th August the electors of the town of Campbellford will have an opportunity of voting upon the by-law to raise by debenture $20,000 for the building of cement sidewalks throughout the town. In other municipalities many cases of damages have had to be paid for neglecting to repair the walks. Campbellford, too, has had to pay two or three claims for damages in recent years for injuries sustained from falls on the board walks. If the by-law carries, all the board walks will be replaced by cement walks, extensions will be made, and Campbellford will have sidewalks of which she may be justly proud.

Those entitled to vote, but whose names are not on the list, should see that they are placed on the list at least before 28th July.

LLOYD GEORGE TELLS CRAIG ULSTER MUST MAKE CONCESSIONS AND CRAIG SUMMONS HIS CABINET TO LONDON TO CONSULT THEIR VIEWS IN MATTER

BRITISH OFFICIALS AND SINN FEIN DELEGATES DECLARE CONFERENCE MAKING SATISFACTORY PROGRESS, BUT ULSTER MAY PROVE STUMBLING BLOCK TO FURTHER NEGOTIATIONS FOR PEACE.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

LONDON, July 16.—Members of the Ulster Cabinet were en route here to-day to be informed by Premier Lloyd George that they must make concessions to the Sinn Feiners so peace may be permanently restored in Ireland.

Sir James Craig, head of the Ulster Government, summoned his Cabinet to London after Lloyd George had informed him yesterday that both sides must make concessions and had outlined to him the concessions Ulster was expected to agree to. Craig, it is understood, would not give a definite answer without first consulting his Cabinet Ministers. As soon as Lloyd George has obtained the agreement of both Eamonn De Valera and Craig to the proposed mutual concessions, so that a basis of permanent settlement has been established, a regular peace conference among the representatives of the British government, the Sinn Fein and the Ulster government will be started, probably early next week.

Ulster, it is understood, has proven more obstinate than the Sinn Fein section of Ireland thus far. Lloyd George has had no trouble getting together with De Valera, but the Ulstermen are determined not to be put in the attitude of surrendering to the Sinn Feiners. In this connection, it is pointed out that while Southern Ireland has been calm ever since the truce went into effect there has been several clashes in Ulster, where the population does not like the idea of a truce.

The British government and Sinn Fein delegates alike declared to-day that the peace negotiations were making satisfactory progress. They insisted, however, that the time was not ripe for disclosing details.

QUASH CONVICTION AFTER 18 MONTHS SPENT IN PRISON

NORTH BAY, Ont., July 16. — (Canadian Press). — After serving half of the sentence imposed upon him by Magistrate Cockburn at Sturgeon Falls, after he had been found guilty of theft from a store there, Hamilton McCara of this place has been declared not guilty after a new trial before the same magistrade. McCara's case was taken to the Court of Appeal by the Independent Labor Party here, and the conviction was quashed after McCara had served eighteen months of his three year sentence.

OUST BROTHERS FROM LA PRESSE

TWO YOUNGER BERTHIAUMES ARE OUT—ARTHUR TAKES ACTION TO SEIZE $120,000 FROM THEM.

MONTREAL, Que., July 16. — Eugene and Edouard Berthiaume have been ousted from any position on La Presse, according to an official anouncement made by that paper.

In it is stated that a meeting of all the shareholders of the company held yesterday the following board of directors was appointed:

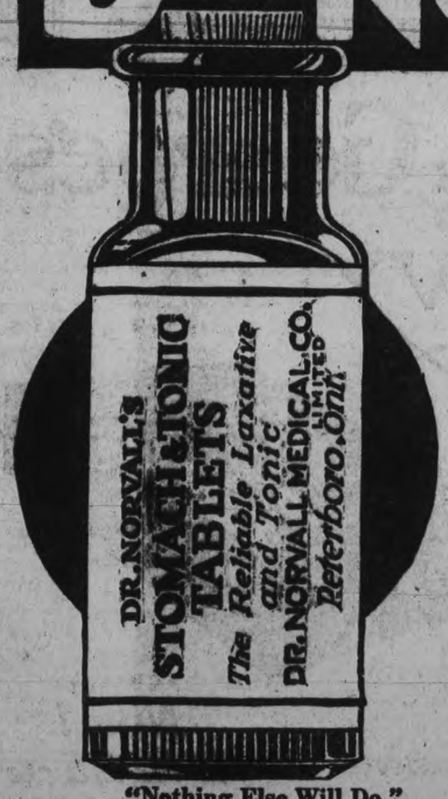
DR NORVALL'S



"Nothing Else Will Do," Says Famous Actress.

A famous Canadian actress whose professional headquarters is in New York, sending an order for Dr. Norvall's Tablets, writes: "I am leaving on my trip to the Pacific Coast. Wherever I go, I always carry with me Dr. Norvall's Tablets. They are wonderful! A tablet occasionally when I need it keeps me fit and alert, as nothing else will, for my long tiring journeys, and exacting work on the stage."

"—and six months ago I was tortured by blinding headaches—bilious, nervous, half alive."

This man's letter tells us the same story that hundreds of others tell. He is today in buoyant health and spirits; eats with relish; sleeps well and tackles his work with vim.

He really began to enjoy life when a friend said: "Your trouble begins in a disordered stomach and liver—you're poisoning yourself. Stop it today with Dr. Norvall's Stomach and Tonic Tablets!"

In the same way thousands of other Canadians have rescued themselves from the same tortures. Auto-intoxication (or self-poisoning) is a condition common in these days of nervous strain, rush, anxiety. Few escape it. A disordered digestive system is unable to perform its work healthily. Poisonous waste accumulating in the intestinal tract becomes a source of dangerous ailments. Such troubles may come in one or several of these forms: Indigestion, fermentation in the stomach, biliousness, headaches, dizziness, spotty or sallow complexion, sleeplessness, or general debility and lack of energy. In such cases the remedy is simple and easy:

The Mild Laxative and General Tonic, Dr. Norvall's Tablets

These tablets give gentle assistance to nature, in ridding the system of its poisonous waste. With ordinary care in diet, the stomach, liver and intestines are quickly cleansed, toned up and restored to a state of healthy functioning.

REDISTRIBUTION.

The hints from Ottawa that the Redistribution Bill following the census will provide for a large increase in the number of urban members with a corresponding falling off in the rural representation are undoubtedly well-founded. The increase in urban population will provide a sound reason for the change, for as a matter of fact, some members of the present House who sit for a city riding represent two or three times as many people as thre are in some of the rural constituencies.

Some of the Government members advocate the strict application of the rule of representation by population to the redistribution; but while the growth of the agrarian movement would naturally suggest this method of curbing the United Farmers, the Government is in a quandary. Its majority is too slim to take any chance with, and a proposal that would do away with some of the rural ridings would hardly commend itself to those members on the Government benches who represent rural constituencies.

AN EXPERT'S OPINION.

Mr. Morris Ackerman, of Cleveland, Ohio, editor of Ackerman's Guide, and one of th best-known authorities in America on the subject of fishing and hunting, has been visiting Stoney Lake for the first time, and he comes back from that beautiful resort, delighted with its scenic charm and the opportunities it offers the angler and nature lover.

Mr. Ackerman, who knows the hunting and fishing grounds of America as well as most Peterborough people know George Street, prophesies an ever-increasing popularity for the Kawartha Lakes, with an ever larger influx of tourists. But he points out that it would be idle to expect that with more visitors each year the fishing will remain good unless adequate means are employed to keep the lakes re-stocked.

A fish hatchery for the Kawarthas is, in his opinion, an absolute necessity, and it should be large enough to constantly replenish the supply of black bass and lunge. Otherwise, the popularity of Stoney Lake and other lakes in the Kawartha chain will result eventually in the waters being completely "fished out."

Mr. Ackerman believes that this district has a wonderful asset in the beautiful collection of lakes, and that this asset should be utilized to the fullest possible extent.

UNEMPLOYMENT.

The Drury Government is to be congratulated upon its action in calling a conference of representatives of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, Boards of Trade, Trades and Labour Councils, and other organisations for the purpose of studying the unemployment situation and to discuss plans for providing work for as many people as possible during the coming winter.

The system of doles inaugurated last winter was an expedient made necessary by the unusual circumstances, and only justified because of the undoubted emergency that existed. The Government is anxious to avoid a duplication of last winter's policy, if at all possible, believing that the majority of the unemployed would prefer work to the doles system; and in this desire the administration will have the support of the people generally.

It is to be hoped that some concrete results will follow the conference, but should the effort prove unsuccessful, the Government must at least be given credit for its endeavour to find a solution to this very important problem.

COMMUNITY TESTS.

Following tests for a community are suggested by L. N. Flint, in the current issue of the Municipal World. The writer describes them as questions "that people ask about your town before they decide to make it their town." Peterboro people should apply the tests to their home city:

1. Attractiveness—Shall I like the town—its "atmosphere"? Does it have the beauty of shaded streets and other beautiful features? Is it a quiet, roomy, well-lighted town? Does it have attractive public buildings and homes? Is it well paved? Is it clean in every sense?

2. Healthfulness—Will my family and I have a reasonable chance to keep well in that town? How about its water supply? Its sanitary system? Its methods of milk inspection? Its health department? Its hospitals? Is it without any congested district?

3. Education.—Can I educate my family and myself in that town? How about its public schools—present and future? Its institutions of higher education or of business training? Its librareis? Its lecture and concert courses? Its newspapers? Its postal facilities? Its schedule of salaries to teachers? Its investment in school property?

4. People—Shall I like the people of the town? Are they 'home folks' without false exclusiveness? Are they friendly and neighborly? Is the town free from factionalism? Does it have strong religious, fraternal and social organizations? Is it a law abiding community? Do the people use their pubilc libraries and support artistic undertakings? Do they keep their children in school and not in factories? Are they good citizens?

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Yesterday was the first day for weeks that a man could look the thermometer squarely in the face.

$9,713,710 was the total amount gambled on the three Toronto tracks this spring. The Province should raise the tax, for the Racing Association are making too much money.

Washington has lost the Versailles Peace Pact. It might have got filed by mistake among some of President Wilson's notes.

High temperature and humidity have been added to most people's list of things that we can do without.

Is Peterborough suffering from the high cost of bridges or from the cost of high bridges?

WISE AND OTHERWISE

Man (to angry spouse): Don't quarrel with me on the street. What have we got a home for?

In connection with the disappearance of the copy of the Treaty of Versailles from the White House in Washington, it is recalled that Josephus Daniels' naval plans once disappeard, and were found in a drawer of his desk. And Josephus a grape-juice advocate at that.

The New Excuse.

Old Lady (sympathising with the crippled beggar): Mercy sakes! How did you ever happen to become so disabled?

The Object of Her Inspection: I ran my legs off, mum, looking fer 'n apartment!

A number of movie actresses seem to be marrying their directors. That's what many men do.

Daisy: Why do you think that anonymous novel was written by a woman?

Dick: Because it says that the heroine got out of a taxi, handed the driver a ten-dollar bill, and would not wait for the change.

Editor: We can't accept this poem. It isn't verse at all; merely an escape of gas.

Aspiring Poet: Ah, I see; something wrong with the meter.

LOG CABIN CAMPS ALGONQUIN PARK, ONTARIO.

In Nominigan Camp and Camp Minessing, the Grand Trunk has created log cabin camps similar to those of Maine of world-wide fame. There is the large central lodge or meeting place, and in close proximity to it there is a series of log cabins, all built of cedar logs with the bark on, chinked with cement and moss and thoroughly in keeping with the natural beauty of their location. The central lodge and the cabins are simply comfortably furnished and have modern conveniences, with bathrooms and hot and cold water. In the Ojibway language Nominigan Camp means "the camp amid the balsams," and it is a very appropriate description, for the region is rich in this aromatic growth. Nominigan Camp is situated on the easterly shore of Smoke Lake, seven miles by stage from the Highland Inn, one of the largest and most attractive of the Park lakes. Camp Minessing in the Ojibway language means "Island Camp," and is situated on Island Lake, 10 miles north of the Highland Inn. Illustrated descriptive literature telling you all about these camps can be had on application to any Grand Trunk Agent, or C. E. Horning, District Passenger Agent, Toronto, Ont. 3d-16-23-28

HELD UP WRONG "BUDDIE."

Captain Ober, Used to Facing Guns, Keeps Nerve and Money.

BALTIMORE, July 16. — Footpads encountered the wrong person last night when they tried to hold up Beverly Ober of 1,101 St. Paul street. Mr. Ober was returning home when two men, apparently soldiers, stopped him on the street. One of them drew an automatic pistol and, pressing it against Mr. Ober's side, whispered: "Say, Buddie; hand it over."

"Although taken by surprise Mr. Ober suspected that the men were amateurs and held on to his pocketbook.

"Look, here, Buddie," he replied, "I used to be in the army myself, and if you want that money you'll have to shoot."

At this, he says, the highwaymen laughed and departed and he continued on his way home.

Mr. Ober was one of the original members of Battery A and during the war served as a Captain of artillery in the Twenty-ninth Division. His engagement to Miss Eleanor Kinsolving, daughter of Rev. Dr. Arthur B. Kinsolving, has recently been announced.

It Soaks the Dirt Out

Rinso—the new form of soap in granules—is so rich in cleansing power that it loosens the dirt as the clothes soak—dirt runs away in the rinsing. Start using Rinso the next time you do your washing.

See how just a little sousing up and down in the rich suds—and then thorough rinsing in either warm or cold water—will leave them sweet and clean, without the washboard or boiler.

For particularly dirty clothes, such as cuff edges, collar bands, it will be necessary to rub between the hands.

If you have a washing machine—

Soak the clothes overnight in the usual Rinso way. The cleansing suds loosen every bit of dirt. In the morning operate the machine for a few minutes and the clothes are perfectly clean, even the most soiled spots.

SOME MYSTERIOUS MONEY.

Chapter 12.

The next day when Kent had gone to the office I had time to sit down and think things over by myself. Everything was so vague and hazy. I felt that something was wrong, but I could not arrive at any definite conclusion. Each time I tried to argue with myself and dispel the ugly doubts, Tom Barney's insinuating, agate-blue eyes would come before me and make cold paroxysms of fear grip my heart.

Suddenly a stinging thought smote me. Where had the $500.00 that Kent had given me, come from? Whenever he made a real estate deal or a good turn in business he was eager to tell me. I felt faint and weak. Had Kent been gambling? I could not even bear the thoughts of it, and I hated myself for harbouring such an accusation against him. Something about gambling seemed so low and degrading to me.

As I sat and tried to reason with myself, Tom Barney's eyes goaded me again, and like a ash I jumped up and cried out to myself.

"He knows—Tom Barney knows about it whatever it is. That is why he came to the apartment yesterday. There is something — something is wrong."

I hated Tom, and yet I felt that irresistible desire to see him and find out what I could from him. I did not know what a snake he could be and that he might have it in his power to harm Kent more than any other person. How could I know that my over-anxiety to help Kent might bring us both near to a very great danger?

I felt responsible for the $500.00. After all, Kent had given it to me. It was for me that he had gotten it, no matter how. I wondered if it was my fault, if I had made him feel that I longed for new clothes and luxuries. I had never meant to do so, but Kent had always had a strange sense of mony values.

I dressed for the street. I carefully put my bankbook and the $500 in my handbag. I had decided to put it all in the bank. The money had become hideous to me and I could not bear the thought of buying anything with it—not now at least. I would keep it safely until I knew more about it, and had found out that everything was all right. My faith in Kent argued with me that it would turn out right in the end.

I walked up Fifth Avenue. At 15th Street I ran into Tom Barney. I felt something pernicious in our meeting, and premeditated on his part. The money burned accusingly into my conscience. I clutched my handbag nervously.

"Hello, going uptown? May I walk with you?" he asked, smiling that crafty little smile that I was beginning to hate.

I could not tell him that I was not going any farther than 60th Street and have him see me go into the bank, and yet I hated myself for being afraid of him. Why shouldn't I go into the bank if I wanted to? I became terribly conscious of my handbag.

"Oh, I suppose you can," I answered, not overly cordial.

"So the little lady is cross with me," he teased, stepping over to the edge of the sidewalk and trying to take my arm as we started on up the Avenue. I jerked away from him. "Don't you think you are rather foolish, Barbara" he went on. "We have always been good friends at least, even if you haven't found it possible to love me. But that does not alter my feelings any. I am still your devoted slave.

"It might be to your interest to accept my friendship. Had you ever thought of that?" he added.

I stole a side glance at his face, but his expression told me nothing. He seemed very serious, and I wondered if I was doing him an injustice. There was nothing really bad about Tom. I had known him for years.

I wanted to question him further, but I didn't know how to do it. I felt that he knew something about Kent, and yet love and loyalty to my husband made even the shadow of doubt on my part seem wrong.

When we reached 34th Street, I made the excuse of having shopping to do, in hopes that Tom would leave me.

He stood for a minute with his hat in his hand. As I turned to leave him, he held out his hand and detained me.

"Have you asked Kent where he was on Thursday night, Barbara?"

(To be continued.)

THE HEALTHY MAN HAS THE BEST CHANCE

IS ALWAYS FULL OF LIFE AND ENERGY—FAILURES ARE WEAK AND BLOODLESS.

Some men seem to have all the luck. If there are any good things going these men seem to get them. If they are business men they are successful; if they are workmen they get the foreman's job. They have the power of influencing people.

The same is true of women. Some have the charm that makes men seek them out; others are neglected. But this is not luck. It is due to a personal gift—vitality. Men and women of this sort are never weak, puny invalids. They may not be big, but they are full of life and energy. The whole thing is a matter of good blood, good nerves and good health. Everyone would wish to be like this and the qualities that make for vitality and energy are purely a matter of health. By building up the blood and nerves, sleeplessness, want of energy, weakness of the back, headaches and the ineffectual sort of presence which really comes from weakness can be got rid of. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have made many weak, tired men vigorous, and many pale, dejected girls and women rosy and attractive, by improving their blood and toning up their nerves. If you are weak, low-spirited or unhealthy, try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and note their beneficial effect.

You can get these Pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Said that great Movie Producer, Cesar B. DeMiller, to his hated rival, Movie Producer David Warkfield Griffin. "I have just engaged four of the greatest Moving Picture Stars in America for my next big Moving Picture Play."

Of course this made Griffin angry because he likes to be the greatest of all the great Movie Producers, and he tried his best to persuade DeMiller to tell him the names of the great Movie Stars.

"Alright," said DeMiller, as he scribbled something out on a piece of paper and handed it to Griffin. "Here are your four names, but if you are any the wiser you are a pretty wise man." When Griffin unfolded the paper he found the four names alright, but the letters in the names weren't in their right order.

It was too much of a puzzle for Griffin to unscramble the letters and find the names of the four movie stars. Cesar B. DeMiller had engaged so it is said he called in Scotland Yard Detectives and offered them a thousand dollars if they could discover the four names for him.

CORN IS ONLY CROP AROUND PETERBORO THAT LOOKS GOOD

FARMERS REPORT THE GRAINS AS VERY UNSATISFACTORY—FACE ONE OF THE POOREST HARVESTS IN YEARS.

"Only half a crop." This is the way farmers characterize the grain crop about Peterborough. The hot weather did its worst by the crops and the fall wheat and spring wheat now being garnered in is only half a crop, so the Examiner was told by farmers to-day. The barley, some of which has been cut, is said to be poor and the oats that are rapidly ripening, and in fact ready to cut in some localities, must also be included as a partial failure if Jup. Pluvious does not come across with some rain soon.

The hot weather induced fast but unhealthy growth and the heads did not fill out fully, so farmers say. The straw is short—shorter than in years in all the grain crops. Out in Douro most of the fall wheat is cut and the cutting of the spring wheat is well under way. In North Monaghan and Otonabee the situation is the same. The wheat is going into the barns but the farmers say there is nothing to do. The half-developed heads are a sorry sight. The rain arrived too late to save the wheat. Old Sol did his worts. After forcing the grain, ripening it up three weeks ahead of usual, the weather man cruelly held off the rain till it was too late to be useful.

Situation Serious.

'The situation is very serious, and unless rain comes shortly the crops will all be a failure. Things are very very serious." These words from a Cavan farmer, who would not speak so gravely if it were not necessary, presage no golden harvest. Out in Cavan the rain on Thursday was not felt appreciably and the fields are burnt and the crops ready for the reaper. The timothy has has not all been cut yet the Examiner was told. It was only a fair crop. Spring frosts killed the clover. Wheat, barley and oats look like a half crop and the peas, according to report, are a failure due to the dry wheather. Out in Cavan the crops are three or four weeks ahead of usual. "All the crops will likely be in the barns before the end of July" one farmer said. William Crowe, of Cavan has, so the Examiner was told, cut all his fall wheat and barley and is ready to put the reaper into the oats.

Pasturage Withered.

Three weeks of unremitting heat has left the pasturage stark and sere and one farmer told the Examiner he was feeding ensilage to his cattle now. Without camouflaging the facts, the farmers said that the present farming situation is one of the most serious they have ever been called upon to face. In all cases of farm land only one crop can be seen to thrive in Sahara-like conditions. Corn has stood the scorching sun and prospered apparently in proportion to the heat that played upon it. The heavy rain in some places about the city laid flat some of the corn but it was expected most of it would pick up.

10 Years of Eczema —A Sample Cured Her

Are you reading the weekly Canadian letters telling stories of suffering from skin disease and how cure was effected?

Here is part of a letter from Mrs. Henry Harvey, Black Lake, Que. Write her if you desire:

"Ten years of eczema on the face. Treated unavailingly by doctors. A sample alone of D. D. D. cured me, etc."

The proof of the pudding is in the eating. When a prescription for skin disease has letters of cure and endorsement from nearly every city and town in the Dominion, surely it is enough to convince the most skeptical.

Relief from itching torment is immediate. Just try one bottle of D. D. D. today on our positive guarantee. $1.25 a bottle. Try D.D.D. Soap, too.

Y.W.C.A. CAMP

Y.W.C.A. Camp, Burleigh Falls, July 14, 1921.

Dear Girls, — We just have to write and tell you about the taffy-pull we had last night. It was lovely on our verandah with a cool breeze blowing off the lake that almost made us forget the heat of the week before, and the magic light of Japanese lanterns that made it easy for us to pretend we were in fairy land. We were a pretty hale and hearty lot of fairies, however. There were tweney-nine of us altogether: Mr. and Mrs. Clifford, Mr. and Mrs. Foote, Mrs. Brownscombe Mrs. Salter Mrs. Gardiner Mrs. Morrison, Mr. McKenzie and Miss Thomson, the Misses Davis L. Brownscombe, O. Marshall E. Northey J. McGill, M. Rutherford, A. Kemp, D. McCarron, H. Bell Mary and Mabel Gardiner, and Messrs. Crawford Martin Ellison Penfound, M. Brownscombe T. D'Arcy, C. Watt and Master Maurice McKenzie.

After some pleasant conversation, charming music and delicious candy, a dainty buffet lunch was served—that's the way you say it, isn't it?—consisting of nut sandwiches, chocolate cake and lemonade.

This afternoon if all goes well, the Brownscombes and Footes are coming up with their launches to take us down to Juniper and for a trip around the lake. You may be sure we are looking forward to that.

Guess what we had for breakfast this morning. Fresh bass! Now don't you wish you were here? No, we didn't catch them ourselves. They were a gift and 'tis whispered there's a possibility of more so come along!

Yours for a good time,
The "Y" Campers.

NORTHCLIFFE LAUDS ACTION OF PRESIDENT

MUTUAL CONFIDENCE OF PARTICIPANTS IS URGED.

LONDON, July 16. — The most important thing to be observed in the disarmament conference is mutual confidence among the participating nations, Viscount Northcliffe, famous British publisher, declared in an interview with the United Press.

Without this, he said, the conference can be expected to accomplish nothing, and added:

"There must be straight, honest dealing, free from any kind of manoeuvring."

Northcliffe was asked for his opinion regarding the conference and reports that the American Government had intended to withhold the invitation for a short time but was forced to expedite it because of diplomatic manoeuvres in the London Foreign Office.

Termed Great Call.

"President Harding's invitation is a great call from a great man to the chief powers of the world to join America in finding means to safeguard the peace of the world," he said.

"It should be accepted everywhere in the most grateful and helpful spirit.

"As to the story of manoeuvres in the British Foreign Office, I am afraid it is substantially true. Politicians who now manage our foreign affairs seem to have thought the President's original suggestion a fine opening for bolstering up their shaky Coalition Cabinet. So, after the Prime Minister had said in his first speech to the Dominion Premiers now in London that Britain would gladly discuss any proposal for disarmament that America might make, somebody seems to have got busy and tried to 'jump the President's claim.'

Action Scored.

"I do not know who suggested to Lord Curzon last week that he should hold conversations with the American and Japanese Ambassadors and the Chinese Minister, nor who prompted Mr. Lloyd George to say last Thursday in the Commons that he must await 'replies' from America, Japan and China before saying anything on the Anglo-Japanese Alliance. But I do know that whoever was responsible for that action is not fit to handle a delicate and dangerous matter that may involve the peace of the Pacific.

"My information from the United States makes me think these manoeuvres caused some little astonishment at Washington. I am not surprised at it.

"To make things worse, somebody seems to have informed the British Government that Mr. Harding and Mr. Hughes would welcome British initiative in issuing invitations to a Pacific conference. Whoever did it cannot have had the faintest conception of the true position.

Britain Qualified.

"Britain to some extent is qualified for such an invitation, simply because she is an ally of Japan, and any independent action she might take would necessarily cause suspicion among the other powers.

"Now the one thing to be avoided in connection with these conferences is suspicion. There must be straight, honest dealing, free from any kind of manoeuvring.

"That is why I regret that Mr. Lloyd George's statement on President Harding's proposal in Commons Monday was not more generous. It seemed to me a little grudging and inspired by a wish to get some of the credit for the present conference of British Imperial statesmen, of which he is chairman.

Proud of Statesmen.

"We are very proud of our Dominions' statesmen, and they will get every kind of credit if they can help to turn the Pacific Ocean into a really peaceful highway for the nations. That is why I regret also attempts made in Government organs to put forward Mr. Lloyd George as a British delegate to the Washington conference. Mr. Lloyd George is admired in England for his magnetic qualities, but he is not admired as a peace negotiator.

"The books of Mr. Keynes and Mr. Lansing have thrown too much light upon the kind of agility he displays in that capacity. These books have been widely read in the United States, and I do not think that a man with such a reputation against whom everybody would be instinctively on their guard, is the right man to represent Britain on such a momentous occasion."

SMOKERS FOR WOMEN.

Too Long Have Men Had Monopoly of Comfort on Pullmans.

MONTREAL, July 14.—The Canadian Pacific Railway will soon be operating sleepers with smoking rooms for women and women's dressing rooms equipped with electric plants for heating curling irons. This company, it is said, will be the first in the world to provide smoking compartments for women on its sleepers and to recognize that in the matter of comfort and convenience the travelling female has equal rights with the travelling male.

SIDELIGHTS ON CADET TRAINING

Capt. J. B. Neale of Bowmanville, who was Divisional Musketry Officer at Shorncliffe during part of the war and served with distinction in France, being mentioned in despatches, is Musketry Officer over the cadets and has put the boys through some strenuous firing at the Rifle Ranges daily. Forty boys have been taken out morning and afternoon and every cadet has been given a good chance with a rifle. More attention is given to musketry instruction at the camps than to any other military practices. The younger boys have been using a .22 rifle, the older boys the regular Lee-Enfield service rifle. The young boys have had "grouping" at 25 yards and "application" at 25 yards. The older boys have been given full target practice at 200 yards. Lieut. Crawford of the local cadets made the best score to date yesterday when he got 32 points out of a possible 35. This is good shooting. Seven points are given for a "bull" so the highest possible score is 35. E. Elliott, also of Peterborough, made a fine score today when he got 31 points. The highest score made by any of the district boys was by Richardson of Norwood, who got 23. H. Winfield of Port Hope came close to him with 22.

What the Instructor calls "grouping" is a test of eye and nerve. At 25 yards the boy fires straight at the "bull's-eye," and everything else being favorable the rifle will shoot a trifle off the mark. If several shots are within an inch circle it follows that his hand has been steady and his eye true. Ansell Taylor, one of the Public School cadets from Peterborough, made an exceptional shot, according to Capt. Neale. He placed 5 shots within an inch circle this morning, and Donald Gillespie would have done the same, but one shot went an inch wide.

Yesterday afternoon there was a competition on at the ranges between all the different corps, four picked shots defending each one.

Good Meals.

The meals at the camp have been the best they have ever had, the cadets say. Reid Bros. of Kingston, who have catered for all the camps —Ottawa, Kingston, Belleville and Peterborough—have looked after feeding the growing boys, and, according to the officers, accomplished this difficult task well. No prison fare is given the boys. To show the high-class menus provided here is today's:

Breakfast — Cornflakes, one-half orange, sausages, bread and butter, milk, tea or coffee.

Dinner—Fish, potatoes, cabbage, bread pudding, soda biscuits, bread and butter and tea.

Supper—Macaroni and cheese, potatoes, ice cream, cake, bread and butter and tea.

For breakfast tomorrow the boys will get cornflakes, fried eggs, bread and butter and tea, coffee or milk. An especially fine dinner, which will be served early so the boys can get away on the noon trains, will be as follows: Macaroni and cheese, roast beef, potatoes, carrots, sago pudding, soda biscuits, bread and butter and tea. During the week such delicacies as ice cream, fruit, pie and jam have been placed generously in the menu list.

Col. G. H. Gillespie expressed his appreciation today of the clock donated by the Western Clock Co., the flag donated by J. J. Turner & Sons, the gold cuff links donated by Warne Bros., jewellers, the $10 donated by the Peter Robinson Chapter, I. O. D. E., towards prizes for shooting, and the grant from the Council, and his thanks to the Quaker Oats Co., the Canadian Woollen Co., G. A. Gillespie, Cressman's, Turnbull's and to C. G. Graham for trucks and cars which made shooting at the ranges possible.

ADDRESS ON JAPAN AT W.M.S. MEETING

Rev. Mr. Cuthbertson Spoke of the Progress in the Orient.

The Jul ymeeting of the Women's Missionary Society of George street Methodist church was held yesterda yafternoon at the home of Mrs. Jas. Kendry, with a large attendance. Rev. Mr. Cuthbertson, of the Christian Evangelistic Mission in Japan, gave a very interesting address on the work of the Mission there, and also made some enlightening references to the wonderful strides being made by still pagan Japan in civilization.

Several beautiful vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. J. H. Renwick and Mrs. Chas. Graham, and Miss Isabel Baird gave two fine instrumental selections. Refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the programme.

A PHANTASY OF VICTORIA PARK

Long lines of motors lined the curb on both sides of the street. People rested in the cars and watched the stream of pedestrians winding through the park, or deserted their machines altogether for the cool greenness of the soft velvet sward. The merry whistle of the peanut-roadster at the corner sang cheerfully of the delights of popcorn and nuts, and overhead, the stars shone clear in a deep blue sky. It was a perfect night, and everyone was in accord with the soft music that rose and swelled from the bandstand in the centre of the enclosure. Melodies old and new, grave and gay, mingled with the murmur of happy voices of old and young. They played "March Slave," the overture to "Martha," "Reminiscences of Scotland, Litsz Rhapsodie No. 2, the overture to "Lenore" and gay, light, popular things, so-called, while their audiences sat and stood and reclined on the benches and walks and terraces of the pretty park. An old couple sat on one of the seats and listened to the band, watching a baby in a carriage near by which clapped its little hands in time to the music, a group of young girls giggled and whispered over their popcorn and candy, and everywhere there were people who talked and laughed and enjoyed the concert. It was what might be termed an ideal community gathering of all sorts and conditoins of people, massed together for the purpose of enjoying a fine musical programme under the starlit sky of a summer night, innocent enjoyment for the people who possess motor cars and the ones who don't, principally the latter, or, as one might say, for the great majority of those who help to pay the shot for large undertakings which benefit most directly their more fortunate brethren.

The Celestial gentleman who enjoys the coolness of Victoria Park on these warm nights stirred and sat up. It was the chilly dawn of a Saturday morning, and newspapers are not really adequate comforters after all. A faint, far echo of "Go Feather Your Nest" sounded in the distance, just the last faint note of the old-time Friday evening band concert that had pleasantly invaded his dream.

JURY EXONERATES PORTER IN PROBE OF WIFE'S DEATH

ACCIDENTAL DEATH FOLLOWED IGNITING OF OIL-SOAKED CLOTHES WHEN LIGHTING CIGARETTE.

In the inquest into the death of Mrs. Isaac Porter of Toronto, who died from burns received in her own home, 20 Wellesley street, on Thursday morning July 7 her husband, upon whom there had been some suspicion, was exonerated by the jury and a verdict of accidental death returned.

Mrs. Porter was born in Peterborough 37 years ago, the youngest of a family of four. Her father, Samuel McKnight, died four years ago. Her mother lives with Mrs. T. W. Bell, 847 Water street. One brother, William, who lives on River Road, is recovering after an extended illness. One brother Frank resides in Peterborough, and one sister, Mrs. Robert Carter, lives at Harrisville, R.I.

Plainclothesman Brawn, in giving evidence at the inquest, gave the startling testimony that "Babe" Porter while dying in the Western Hospital, told him in the presence of several nurses that Ike (her husband) put coal oil on her clothes and that in lighting a cigarette she had ignited it.

Isaac Porter, her husband, gave some lucid details of his wife's actions. He said she had several drinks the day prior to the accident and that the quarrel began with her husband not allowing her to go out with two girls for an auto ride. He swore she threatened to burn her clothes and go home to her people and he said she smoked as much as two packages of cigarettes a day.

That night Porter swore he got her quieted down by was awakened in the night by her screaming: "Save me, Ike, dear, save me!" Witness told what he did to quench the flames.

Witness swore they had been married 15 months and had no children. They had separated he said, she leaving once to keep company with another man he testified.

The evidence of Detective Sergeant Ward was that Porter had admitted to him that his wife had bought the coal oil that night and was going to pour it on his clothes. He scuffed and the oil spilled on both of them. She went outside, he to bed. She walked into the kitchen, lit a cigarette, and her clothing ignited. Ward testified that he had found cigarette butts in the kitchen.

Ben Wolmen of 45 Wellesley sreet, stated that prior to the accident Mrs. Porter had paraded up and down the street with nothing on but a skirt. After walking up and down once she returned to the house and a while after Porter appeared with his shirt burning.

Coroner Dr. M. M. Crawford presided at the inquest and Assistant Crown Attorney McFadden acted for the Crown.

HAVELOCK WON AT HOME BY 5 TO 4 FROM CAMPBELLFORD

SPLENDID GAME YESTERDAY BEFORE BIG CROWD—CLEAN FAST LACROSSE, WITH CAPABLE OFFICIALS.

TEAMS ARE TIED

HAVELOCK, July 15.—Defeating Campbellford here this afternoon by the score of 5 to 4, Havelock Intermediates demonstrated that they have to be reckoned with before the local group of the O.A.L.A. is decided. These teams have finished the first half of their schedule on even terms. Both are in top form and have home and home games to play. Peterborough may remain in the group, but they are not regarded as contenders. The struggle lies between the two eastern towns. Campbellford won at home by 6 goals to 3, and today's win here evened matters as far as games on. On the total number of goals Campbellford had the edge in the two games with the aggregate of 10 goals to 8. However, games count, and if the second half of the schedule produces another even break, there will likely be a play-off on neutral grounds.

A Splendid Game.

This afternoon's game was as fine an exhibition of lacrosse as has been seen in this district in many a year. It was exceptionally clean. There wasn't one major penalty, in spite of the fact that both teams were keyed up to concert pitch and anxious to win. In fact, there were not a few evidences of over-eagerness, especially on the part of both home fields when chances to score were thrown away by hurried work when cooler and more deliberate methods would undoubtedly have yielded goals. The first period was lightning fast, but the pace slowed both teams up in the second. The score was two all at the first rest and 3 to 2 in favor of the home team half way. Havelock was leading 5 to 3 after a rattling third quarter. They made a dangerous decision to play a defense game in the last twenty minutes, trimmed their home field of all but one player and threw nearly the whole team in front of their own net. And the inevitable happened. They were on the defensive, exactly as they had chosen, and were forced to rag the ball, except for an occasional foray on Pat Kelly's citadel. Campbellford scored one goal in this session, and it is a wonder they didn't get more. Just before the final bell big Tom Thomas, who had moved up to the firing line, shot a fast grounder through the tangle of legs. It was tagged for the tieing goal the Campbellford crowd were shouting for, but Eddie Powers made a beautiful stop. A moment later, the gong brought relief and elation to Havelock, who apparently had never heard of Foch's military maxim that the offensive is the best form of defense, or something to that effect.

Big Crowd Delighted.

The members of the two teams and their clubs are to be congratulated upon the sportsmanship displayed this afternoon. The crowd was delighted with the clean, clever play and the good spirit that pervaded the field. There wasn't a single marring incident. And a full measure of praise is due to the officials. Len. Smith, President of the Ontario Lacrosse Association, was referee and J. Labbatt, Secretary, was judge of play. E. Pirie of Toronto was time-keeper. They made a splendid job of it. It was a great game, well worthy of the crowd, which, according to H. F. McNicholl, left nearly $400 at the gate. There were as many, if not more, women than men, and they were there from all over East Petrborough and the neighboring townships.

How Goals Were Scored.

Play moved up and down the field several times at the outset, and in one of Havelock's rushes Doug. Brennan faked a pass to Pete King, eluded his check at the same time, and shot from about 25 feet for the first goal. Campbellford came back promptly. Jack Nesbitt took a pass from the defense, shot to Johnston at inside, who was closely covered. Harte on the left side was running around without a check, took Johnston's pass and beat Powers easily.

Campbellford scored their second goal on a lightning fast play, one of the best of the afternoon. Their attack went in at top speed. Harte got inside his check, took a bullet pass from Johnston and scored from close in. That gave Campbellford's numerous supporters a chance to make their presence known. Montgomery broke up a Havelock rush, and when the play returned with Hooper carrying it from Havelock's defense he passed to King, who returned it sharply to Hooper, who equalized the score.

Both homes and centre fields were noticeably slower when the second period opened. They hadn't gained their so-called second wind. Holmes had a chance, but shot over the net. Thomas was benched for putting his foot on the ball after he dropped his stick. King took a pass from Don Wright, but was too eager and his shot bounced passed the goal. Jimmy Kerr made a nice try, but his shot was blocked by Powers. Brinkman missed when Havelock worked in on Kelly, and Powers was called on to stop a long one from Jacobs. McGee was right in on Kelly, but the Campbellford goaler was unbeatable at that stage. King dodged past the defense in great style, but couldn't score. Finally Haughton broke the tie. He took a pass over on the right side of the goal, eluded Big Tom and unloosed a fast shot that stuck up in the corner of the net. It was a beauty. Hill missed a chance for the visitors. Harte came right back at Havelock, went under Hooper, and started a nice combination to Johnston to Kerr, but Holmes relieved.

Second Half.

With the score 3 to 2 in Havelock's favor, the third quarter started with a display of sharp, heavy checking that was apparently an indication of the orders both teams got during the intermission. Copp went on for Havelock. The officials quickly squelched the tendency to mix things Jacobs was the first ruled off, for going after McGee too strenuously, and Don Wright followed him a moment later for the same thing. A Havelock combination from McGee to King trevelled in fast. King passed to Houghton, who twisted past Montgomery, and with no one in front of him lobbed the ball into the Campbellford net. Campbellford's attacks lacked the finish they had showed in former games. Powers stopped one from Kerr. Thomas started the play that got the next goal. He passed out to Nesbitt, who shot to Jacobs. Harte, uncovered on the opospite side, called for the ball and scored from close in. Kerr had another chance for Campbellford, but Powers turned it aside. Rollie O'Brien intercepted a Campbellford combination and started one on his own account to Doug. Brennan to Houghton to King, who flipped it past Kelly. Jacobs uncorked a fast play, taking a pass from Johnston, but his shot went wide. Powers stoppd one from Jack Nesbitt. Houghton was benched for checking Montgomery. Kerr and Thomas both had chances, but Powers wasn't missing any.

There is nothing much to tell about the last period. It was a mistake on Havelock's part to adopt the defensive game unless they were all in, and they didn't appear to be tagged. Play was continually around their goal, and the usually dilatory tactics familiar to this kind of play robbed the period of interest, except to the Campbellford fans, who were begging for "just another goal." Johnston got Campbellford's last on a pass from behind the net, and a net flip shot close inside. Thomas nearly turned the trick when he swept one along the grass, but Powers picked it out cleverly and turned it aside.

One noticeable feature of the game was the way McGee checked Abe Jacobs. The husky Campbellford centre is just about the pick of the Trent team, at least this has been a pretty general opinion, but he was watched too closely today to do much damage. Alexander turned in a nice game on the Campbellford defense, as did Thomas. Harte was good, Johnston and Kerr worked hard, but the Campbellford attack lacked the effectiveness that has characterized their previous games. Powers helped Havelock all afternoon, and his defense gave him fine support. McGee at mid-field was cool and fast, and King at inside was the flashiest player on the field. His stick-handling and footwork were a treat. Brinkman worked hard and Holmes had his usual share of the play, and little Haughton deserves special mention.

I was advised to take Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and I lost no time in doing so. I cannot hesitate in recommending it most highly, for when I had not yet taken half the bottle I was relieved. Heat Wave Brings Many Out To Bathing Beaches and Resorts

This year has brought out an enormous number of people who want to be in the water for some part of the day. The ones who swim and the ones who don't are all animated with the same desire for the soft coolness of the river, and it certainly is a relief to get something cool around one in sweltering weather. The accommodations at Inverlea Park aren't by any means of the best. The current runs swift and strong outside the wall, and, within it, there isn't much room to move about. But still thousands of people patronize Inverlea Park every week in the hot months, because it is the best the city affords for this purpose. But for a city of this size, why should the bathing accommodation be so entirely inadequate? The City Planning Commission have had a project in mind for some time, which, if carried out, would relieve this condition to a considerable extent, viz., the widening of the bathing beach at the Crescent Street curve to a depth of about forty feet, and the erection of extra bath houses at this point. An innovation of this sort would not be prohibitive in cost, and might be easily made a revenue producer, as in larger centres. The Little Lake is very easy of access from all parts of the town, and provides no dangerous hazards such as are found in the river. It would no doubt be a popular undertaking on the part of the City which might do somewhat to erase from the minds of citizens memories of larger and less enjoyable expenditures from which the general public does not benefit in any perceptible way.

Users Contribute to Repairs to A Choked Community Pump

What might be termed a manifestation of the true community spirit is evidenced in the action of owners of a pump on Downie street, whose product is sought by water users in these days of unfiltered water. The pump became so popular during the last month that it choked itself up, and required to be cleaned out. The proprietors, instead of banning its use, wrote out a notice in a spirit of fairness that appealed to all comers, explaining the situation, and asking for a small contribution from each habitual user of the pump. Matters progressed, and now the following notice, neatly typed, appears beside this popular convenience:

Community Pump Information.

We have received from over 50 contributors a total of $17.00.
Pump repairs and cover (in May) ..... $ 6.50
Cleaning (in July) 8.00
$14.50

Leaving a balance of $2.50 for future repairs.

We thank all who helped to make this a neighborhood convenience. Take all you need and for santiary reasons throw all waste water some distance from the well.

"Use we well and I'll do my best
To quench your thirst and give you zest.
Don't make a mess with muddy feet
And you will find me clear and cool and sweet,
In hottest days I will not fail
To give great draughts of Adam's ale."

Yours truly, The Old Town Pump.

And this nice old pump stands ready at all times with a mere light tug at the handle to give one a draught of clear, cold water which has been tested and pronounced absolutely pure. There is about it an air of satisfaction in doing good, as though the broad-minded community spirit which animates its owners had communicated itself to the old pump ,and all who come seem to take a sort of proprietory interest in it, because each has contributed something towards its present fine condition, and benefits thereby.

Jap Girl Guide Movement Makes More Progress

A National Guide Council for Girl Guides has been commenced in Japan, where the work was begun nearly two years ago by Capt. Greenstreet, a first-class English guide.

The original company kept on through some discouragement until the membership has grown to 70 keenly enthusiastic members. The first rally was held in Tokio last month, when a presentation was made to the Council of a photograph of H.R.H. Princess Mary.

The new guides wear the same navy costume as their English prototypes, and have taken as their daily motto: "Guido desurutu"—"Because We're Guides."

Canary Wanders Away Three Miles

The canary that came back in answer to an advertisement is the very latest example of the efficacy of The Examiner's powers. A lady on Edinburgh street owned a valuable singing canary which was a great pet. It was allowed to leave its cage and roam about the house at times, and thus became accustomed to flying, so, through some mischance, it got away altogether, and wasn't heard or seen of for several days. And the owners remembered the Examiner, and the powers of its advertising columns. A notice was inserted about the lost pet, and presently a telephone message was received from Emily, nearly three miles from the house of the wandering bird. A little yellow canary had been noticed by these people flying around their yard. It was impossible to capture it, but in the morning it would fly down and pick up the smaller grain when the chickens were feeding. And the owners decided that it was their canary. So, accompanied by two cages, in one of which a small bird was placed, and in the other a singing canary with whom the prodigal bird was acquainted, they went to Emily, where the two cages weer set down in the orchard. The errant pet was not in sight anywhere. Presently the singer started to go through the scale in its cage, and the lost bird appeared. It started to peck at its rival through the wirebars, and then, discovering its own old home, hopped in, to be borne home with much triumph and rejoicing.

This is the first case on record of a tame canary which has been recovered after such a length of time, as they usually fall an easy prey to bird-seeking felines, and it is certainly the only known instance of recovery through the use of the advertising columns.

CHOLERA INFANTUM

Cholera infantum is one of the fatal ailments of childhood. It is a trouble that comes on suddenly, especially during the summer months, and unless prompt action is taken the little one may soon be beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets are an ideal medicine in warding off this trouble. They regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach and thus prevent all the dreaded summer complaints. Concerning them Mrs. Fred. Rose of South Bay, Ont., says: "I feel Baby's Own Tablets saved the life of our baby when she had cholera infantum and I would not be without them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

W. M. S. Meeting

The July meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of George street Methodist church was held at the residence of Mrs. Jas. Kendry, on Tuesday afternoon last. There was a very good attendance and an enjoyable meeting was held. Rev. Mr. Cutherbertson of the Christian Missions in Japan, gave an interesting address on the work of the Missoins in Japan, and also spoke to some length on the strides which pagan civilization is making in that country.

A pleasing musical programme was rendered during the afternoon by Mrs. J. H. Renwick and Mrs. Chas. Graham in vocal solos, and instrumental numbers from Miss Isa- refreshments were served.

For Poison Ivy

A correspondent has handed in the following recipe for poisoning with ivy:

To the Editor of the Women's Page:

Dear Madam—For poison ivy, two or three applications of white wine vinegar acts like a charm, and permanently, on man and beast.

We are very grateful for anything of this sort which may be handed in for publication from time to time.

"A gentle sound, an awful light,
Three Angels bear the Holy Grail;
With folded feet, in stoles of white,
On sleeping wings they sail,
Ah, blessed vision! Blood of God!
My spirit beats her mortal bars
As down dark tides the glory glides
And, star-like, mingles with the stars."

BABY MOSS.

"Owes her robust health to Virol."

Cranfield,
50, St. Albans Road,
Moseley, Birmingham.
Gentlemen, Aug. 20, 1920.

Enclosed you will find photograph of my daughter at 17 months old. I think you will agree that she is a splendid testimony to the value of Virol as a body builder. From early days Virol has been added to her milk food, and I am quite sure that she owes her robust health to this addition.

I have many times recommended Virol and in every case there has been improvement in general health, rapid growth and easy assimilation of food.

Believe me to be,
Yours faithfully,
(Signed) Geo. Moss.

Virol is used in large quantities in more than 2,000 Hospitals and Infant Clinics. It is invaluable for the expectant and nursing mother herself, whilst for children it supplies those vital principles that are destroyed in the sterilising of milk; it is also a bone and tissue-building food of tremendous value. Virol babies have firm flesh, strong bones and good colour.

SAYS G.T.R. MANAGED LIKE OUIJA BOARD SEANCE

MONTREAL, July 13. — "The Grand Trunk management was asleep through the great period of develepoment of western Canada," announced Pierce Butler to-day, presenting the case of the dominion government in the investigation being conducted by the arbitration board into the value of the company's shares. Mr. Butler referred to the Grand Trunk system of being managed from London as "absent treatment apparently administered by a ouija board."

Going Generation, Not Coming One, Needs Watching, Says Educationalist

Rev. Richard Whiting, in a church address at Winnipeg recently, made the statement that the grandmothers of to-day are frivolous and flippant, and Mr. H. H. Wright, director of organization in New York High Schools, says it isn't the coming generation that needs watching, but the going one. When asked for his views concerning short skirts and rouge for students, he said: "Why, that's old stuff! New York schoolgirls arent's doing it any more. Girls here aren't tucking up their dresses, reddening their lips and touching up their eyebrows. It's only the old women trying to fool Father Time who are still doing that." Then Rev. D. J. Jaxsemer, of Hartford, Conn., orates as follows: "The shorter the hair and the shorter the skirt, the nearer to hell. The levity of American women regarding dress and appearance astonishes me. It is evidence of the moral laxity of the present age. Bare legs and blondes should be eliminated." Following up this rather unkindly slur on the blonde lady, Mr. F. K. Daniels, president of the Aetna Insurance Company, which employs 3,000 women, says: "Extemporaneous blondes and girls with bobbed hair have no place in business life."

Then you pick up a paper and you read that Mr. Basil King, the author of several highly-colored romances, declares that the present generation isn't a patch on the age of our grandmothers, when they wore bustles and "pull-backs," drank wine and did all manner of outrageous things. Delving back, away back into history, you find that the ladies who lived in 2000 B.C., and who still go dancing through history on the stone walls of Pompeii and, like vanished eras, wore form-revealing garments and danced in a manner calculated to alarm the consciences of the earnest reformers who doubtless dwelt in those far-off places.

And then you get a lady like Christabel Pankhurst, who doubtless knows a great deal about everything, who declares that women are like they are, and always will be so, because the majority of men demand them that way. She says that the sterner sex like the "jazzy" type and that they want fluffiness and empty-headed ladies to talk to.

And, to cap the whole climax, and put a strong, severe damper on the gentlemen who decry short skirts, comes the information from those who evidently know that fashions are set originally by men. The big houses of Paris and New York who decide the length of Miladi's skirt and the transparency of her blouse are guided and directed by manly hands. So, why should men rage and fume at the very fashions they set, want and admire? How many young men would want to take a girl to a dance who appeared in a trailing gown and long sleeves, while all the other young demoiselles wore knee-length skirts and no bodice at all to speak of?

Milk, A Hot Weather Bracer

It increases endurance and the ability to resist fatigue. The Pasteur Institute of Paris says that milk is "one of the most powerful stimulants known." Just think of it!—milk a powerful stimulant! It tones up the blood, connects the secretions, and in due time repairs waste.

Why are physicians now constantly prescribing milk, either as an exclusive diet or milk in the diet? Because it's good medicine for the sick or well.

Naturally, everybody wants milk that is perfectly clean. Therefore, the Peterborough Creamery Clarifies and Pasteurizes all its milk before bottling it, which renders it perfectly safe from sediment or harmful drugs.

Pasteurization is your safeguard against milk carrying any infection to your home.

Good clean milk is a powerful stimulant and bracer in hot weather.

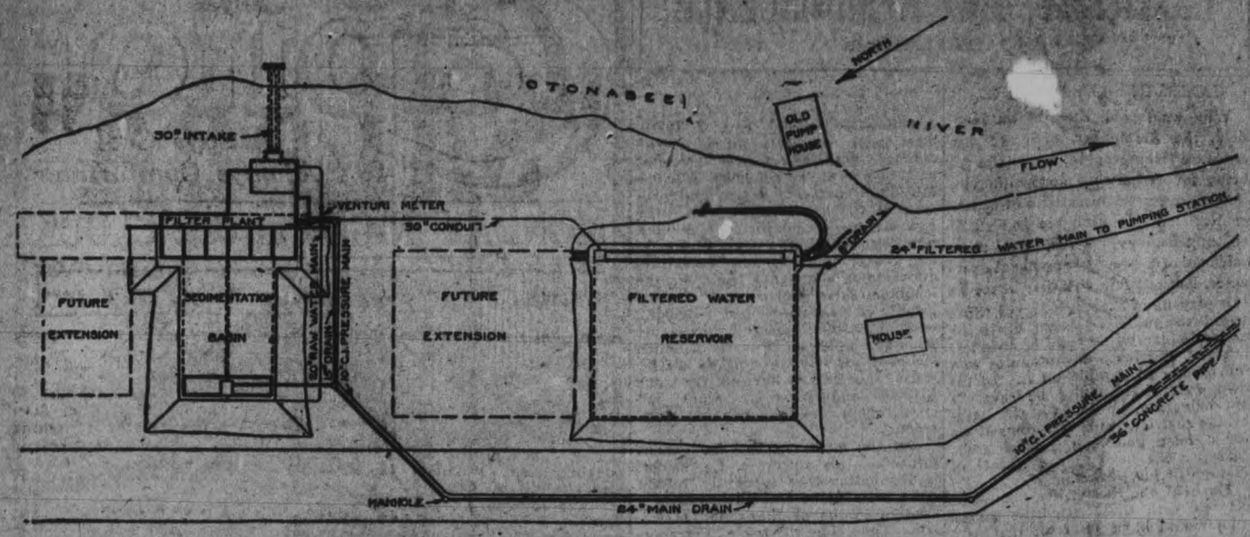
PLAN OF FILTRATION PLANT



PETERBORO'S NEW FILTRATION PLANT

(From The Canadian Engineer.)

Extensive improvements to the water supply system of Peterborough, Ont., are now under way, consisting of a 6-unit mechanical gravity filter with a capacity of 5,000,000 gal. in 24 hrs., a double section sedimentation basin and a filtered water reservoir with necessary intake piping, pumps and related equipment. Tenders were awarded early in April and the work is now in progress. It is hoped to have the plant ready for operation about December 1st. The improvements to the existing equipment will not alter the present water supply so far as quantity is concerned, as the potential capacity of the present system is approximately three times the average consumption.

At the present time water is taken from the Otonabee River at a point about 2½ mi. from the centre of the city where there is located a dam and pumping station. For some considerable distance above the dam the river is very swift and turbulent and the water is correspondingly turbid. This is particularly true during the break-up of the winter and after a heavy rainfall, on account of material that has washed into the river from the adjacent banks. As the water is pumped directly into the city mains, the turbidity is still present when it is drawn from the taps. This is naturally very objectionable and it is with a view to overcoming such an undesirable feature and to ensure a pure and safe supply that the proposed construction is being undertaken.

Some time ago, William Kennedy, Jr., consulting engineer, Montreal, was requested by the Peterborough Utilities Commission to collaborate with R. L. Dobbin, Waterworks Superintendent, in the prepartion of plans and specifications for the proposed work. The improvements contemplated were estimated as likely to cost somewhat less than $300,000.

Plant Location and Intake.

The present intake will be cut off but will not be removed, as it is thought wise to provide a reserve intake to take care of any possible emergency that may arise. It is proposed to construct an intake consisting of two 30-in. iron intake pipes with a suction and screen well approximately 1,200 ft. above, or to the north of, the present intake which is located at the pumping station. The cast iron pipes are to be standard class "A" pipes and the joints are to be made with lead and oakum properly calked. The outside ends of the pipes are to be protected by a concrete abutment as shown in the accompanying illustration. At the inside end of these pipes there is to be a wall casting with flange arranged to take a 30-in. vertical sluice gate, which will be operated by means of a geared floor stand. A 20-in. cast iron main will supply water to the inlet chamber from the pump pit, a total length of about 300 ft. being employed. Water for the filtration plant will be drawn through the new intake by means of a battery of low pressure pumps.

Sedimentation Basin.

The double section sedimentation basin will occupy a ground space approximately 74 by 113 ft. The total coagulation period provided in this basin is at least 3 hrs. In the discharge line of the low pressure pumps there will be installed a regulating valve whose function will be to maintain a constant level of water in the sedimentation basin and its operation will be controlled by a pilot valve operated by a float. The arrangement of the float and pilot valve will be such as to permit the level of water in the sedimentation basin to be changed at least 6 in. either way.

Filters and Filtration Equipment.

Six filter units will be constructed, but only five will be equipped for use at the present time. The space taken up by these six units will be 39 by 112 ft. The rear of the plant, that is a space 34 by 57 ft., will be occupied by the machinery, solution tanks, operating room, etc. Each filter will be provided with a strainer system and immediately above this system there will be a bed of fine gravel 14 in. thick, and above this a 22-in. layer of fine silica sand. The gravel bed is to consist of smooth, rounded, hard pebbles carefully graded and placed in layers about 4 in. thick. The gravel will be graded from ⅞ in. to 1-16 in., each grade to be carefully selected and placed with the coarse material at the bottom and the fine material at the top. The sand which overlies the gravel bed is to be carefully screened and graded to have an effective size of not less than .38 mm. or more than .48 mm. and a uniformity co-efficient of not more than 1.6. The aggregate depth of sand and gravel after settling with water and after scraping, if necessary, will not be less than 36 in.

Each filter is to be provided with a strainer system with headers and laterals of cast iron. The effluent from each filter will be controlled by means of an automatic effluent controller, having a normal capacity of 1,000,000 gal. every 24 hrs. and permitting a variation from 750,000 to 1,250,000 gal. The adjustment of these controllers will be such that they may be set within the limits of 3 per cent.

Each filter is to be supplied with a loss-of-head gauge for determining the actual loss of head in the filter, due to the frictional resistance of the filter bed, strainer system and piping out to the effluent controller and the water in the filter tank. A depth indicating gage and alarm is to be provided and installed at the entrance room.

Clear Water Reservoir.

A clear water reservoir with a capacity of 2,000,000 gal. and a ground area of 135 ft. by 165 ft. is to be provided. The location of this basin with reference to the remainder of the plant and the provision made for expansion of it are shown in the accompanying illustration.

Coagulant Device.

The two coagulant solution tanks for sulphate of alumina are to be provided with dissolving racks, acid bronze castings for chemical outlets and drain lines. Each solution tank is to be provided with an agitator operated by a water motor.

At the outlet of the coagulant solution tanks two solution filters are to be provided. Each filter will have an area of not less than 1½ sq. ft. The filtering material is to consist of carefully graded gravel, such as will be retained on a screen of 12 meshes to the inch, and will pass a ¼-in. screen. This material is to be at least 6 in. deep.

Chlorinator.

The plant will be provided with an automatic control chlorinator of the Wallace & Tierman type operated by the varying head over a weir plate. It will be a direct feed machine with the distributing device placed in the opening of the 30-in. delivery pipe to the filter water reservoir.

Wash Water Ejector.

There is to be provided at a convenient point in the pipe gallery, or adjacent thereto, an ejector with cast iron body and bronze throat tubes connected for suction to the clear water basin and discharge to the wash water line. The water supply for the ejector will be connected to the 10-in. pressure main in the valve chamber. The ejector will be operated hydraulically from the wash lever on the operating table. Its capacity will be not less than 3,000 gal. per minute against a 16-ft. head above the lip of the wash water gutters.

Venturi Meter.

In the 10-in. pressure main between the valve chamber and the ejector, a 10-in. Venturi meter tube will be installed with a minimum capacity of 200,000 gal. and a maximum capacity of 2,600,000 gal. per 24 hrs.

Air Blowers.

For furnishing air under pressure a rotary blower connected to an electric motor will be provided. The capacity of this device will be 1,800 cu. ft. of free air per minute against a pressure of 4 lbs. per sq. in.

Structural Materials.

Concrete for water-tight work will be of approximately 1: 2: 4 proportions, but where the work does not require to be water-tight it will have approximate proportions of 1: 3: 5. The volumetric system of proportioning will be followed and no water-proofing material will be used.

The aggregate will be either gravel of broken stone. That used in all concrete walls, floors or beams 6 in. thick or less will be screened to pass through a 1-in. ring and be retained on a ¼-in. ring. That used for concrete in walls, beams or floors over 6 in. thick and under 15 in. thick will be screened to pass a 1½-in. ring and be retained on a ¼-in. ring. That used for concrete in walls, floors and beams over 15 in. thick will be screened to pass a 1¾-in. ring and be retained on a ¼-in. ring.

Mixing will be done by machinery and placing will be done without the use of chutes, which are prohibited. The concrete must be deposited in such a manner as not to form layors.

Reinforcement steel will be corrugated bars or other satisfactory deformed bars throughout. Adjoining bars in tension will overlap 50 dia. and if in compression 25 dia. and will be placed so as to break joints on the splicing. Steel will be made either by the Bessemer or open-hearth process, but must be rolled from billet stock. The elastic limit must be from 50,000 to 60,000 lbs. per sq. in. and bars must be capable of bending cold 90 deg. to a radius four times the least diameter of the specimen without sign of fracture.

Joints.

Filter tanks, beams and floors, walls and decks and the entire floors of the clear water basin and of the sedimentation basin will be built monolithically. No joints in the outer walls of the sedimentation basin or the clear water basin will be nearer than 8 ft. from the corners, and walls are to be constructed with the least number of joints possible. Such joints will be securely bonded and made water-tight, either by the use of tongued and grooved joints or other approved means.

Piping.

A 30-in. conduit 240 ft. long will carry the water from the filtration plant to the reservoir and a 24-in. main 695 ft. long will connect the reservoir with the present pumping units. It is intended to supply the wash water ejector from a 10-in. main connected to one of the present city 16-in. mains. A Venturi meter will be installed in the 20-in. raw water main to measure the flow.

Pumps.

The pumps at the present time are operating on a suction. As there will be a head of about 22 ft. between the water level in the reservoir and the pumps, this will cause the pumps to operate with a pressure. The added head was not considered sufficient to warrant dispensing with the services of any of the pumps.

Quantities.

For the filtration plant there will be approximately 6,000 cu. yds. of excavation, 7,000 cu. yds. of concrete, and 225,000 brick, while for the reservoir there will be 9,000 cu. yds. of excavation, 2,000 cu. yds. of backfill and embankment, 2,000 cu. yds. of concrete and 100 tons of reinforcing steel.

Tests.

A 15-day continuous test will be made by the engineer under the supervision of the Provincial Board of Health of Ontario to determine the efficiency of the plant, any time before August, 1922. Guarantees are made subject to the condition that the plant must be operated in accordance with the contractor's instructions.

The work is being carried out under the direction of R. L. Dobbin, Superintendent of the Peterborough Waterworks Department, in accordance with the plans of William Kennedy, Jr., consulting engineer. Contractors for the reservoir are the Ramsey & Wilde Co., Sault Ste. Marie; for the filter equipment and its installation, W. H. Yates Construction Co., Hamilton, Ont., and for the pumping machinery, Escher Wyss & Co., Montreal.

Millions of People Are Suffering

Indigestion, Headaches, Constipation, Sallow Complexions, Kidney Pains, Rheumatism are all caused from a poisoned system, due to the Liver. Doctors recommend that you take one Tanated Calomel tablet before each meal, or two at bedtime, and in a few days your pains will disappears, your complexion will become clear and you will feel keen, bright, vigorous and life once more will be worth living. The wonderful success of this new drug (Tanated Calomel) is due to the fact that it is the only drug known that acts upon the Liver. No Salts or Seidlitz are necessary to remove it from the system, as it is self-illiminating. You, no doubt, have taken all sorts of medicine for your particular ailment, but you never get permanent relief, because the medicines you have been taking do not act upon the Liver. Doctors now say that 99 per cent. of all ailments are due to the inactivity of the Liver. A poisoned system soon decays, and that is why I would recommend that you go to F. C. Webber's, Charlotte street, and get a box.

They Didn't Put Their Camp Fire Out!

Each year the Forestry Branch gathers complete details of every forest fire.

Out of every 100 fires:

Railways cause	40 fires	Settlers cause	9 fires	Lightning causes	3 fires
Campers cause	11 "	Lumbermen cause	4 "	Miscellaneous	33 "

Out of every one hundred fires, ninety-seven are largely due to men's carelessness or bad judgment, and are, therefore, preventable.

Because of the carelessness of 5,000 people in Ontario's forests in the last four seasons, 1,000 fire rangers are employed each year at a daily cost of $8,500.00 to detect their fires and put them out.

Save Ontario's Forests
They're Yours

Forest fires are mainly the result of carelessness and indifference.

Railways start forty per cent. of Ontario's forest fires, but the number is only one-half of what it was four years ago. If the railway companies had kept the fire protective appliances on their locomotives in the safe condition required by law, Ontario would have been saved 2,000 forest fires and many, many acres of valuable timber since 1917.

Neglected camp fires are the cause of one out of every nine forest fires—tourists, hunters, fishermen, prospectors, picnickers, berry pickers, etc. Ordinary precaution would have saved 550 forest fires from this cause in the last four years and $50,000 each summer in expense.

Settlers clearing land cause forest fires by exercise of poor judgment in setting out fire to burn slash, brush and stumps, or by reason of indifference towards responsibility or else in straight defiance of the law. Permits to set out fires are required by settlers in the newer districts of Ontario, and where this rule is neglected prosecution follows. But every year large fires are caused by pure carelessness or indifference on the part of some settlers in older districts where permits are not required.

Careless loggers, river-drivers, dam-watchers, tie-makers, sawmill employees and others engaged in lumbering operations have caused 200 fires in Ontario's forests in the past four years. Fire rangers cannot prevent these fires; they can only to a small extent lessen their terrible consequences. Until lumbermen assume more responsibility and initiative to help prevent this class of fires, little improvement can be looked for.

Everybody Must Help

The duty of prevention of fire rests upon Everybody who steps inside our forests. Don't throw away matches, cigarettes, cigar butts or pipe ashes until you are sure they are out.

Build your camp fires small and on bare soil or rock near the water's edge—never against a tree, log or stump. Before leaving, put your camp fire out with water—or earth—and be sure. Forest fires start from a tiny spark and are soon beyond control. Take the same care of fire in the woods as in your own home. Millions of dollars, and human lives may be at stake.

SPORT COMMENT

Bob Martin, A. E. F. champion, now steps into the limelight after his decisive victory over Frank Moran, the redlheaded trial horse against whom many a hope has flung his fists in vain. This Martin is admitted to be a crude fightr yet, but with a great capacity for absorbing punishment. Many thought that his career would be blasted when he tried to impede the punching proclivities of Moran's Mary Ann. Martin is said to have landed tremendous punches. The American Legion have hopes that he will beat Dempsey. If they can keep Martin fresh and frisky for about twenty years, and catch Dempsey off his stride, Martin might might have a good chance.

Nemesis is parking on the preserves of John Dunn, of Baltimore. It looks as if the International is booked for the reefs unless the craft rule is adopted. Baltimore have an unbeatable team, and as a result the fans are watching the games with a cursory glance at the bulletin boards instead of from the stands. The other clubs dont' care for the draft, but it is the only way to save the game, so they are likely to ask for its retorn.

NO SPECIAL PRIVILEGES FOR OSHAWA IN MATTERS OF OUTSIDE UMPIRES

SANDY LOCKINGTON, HONORARY PRESIDENT OF LEAGUE, SAYS MOTOR TOWN TEAM SHOULD HAVE MADE PROPOSAL BEFORE THEY PLAYED THEIR HOME GAMES.

The Port Hope Guide says:

Oshawa has requested two outside officials for the game with Cobourg and Lindsay and the request has been referred to the Executive committee by President Kimmel. Oshawa's claim is that both of these games are very important and that home umpires should take no part. It's true that the game in Cobourg is important to Oshawa, but not very important to Cobourg. A lot of course depends upon the Lindsay-Oshawa game. The system ever since the league has been in existence has been to appoint an outside official to officiate at the plate while a home man took the job on the bases. The Oshawa management is so anxious now to have two outside men that they have agreed to pay all the expenses of the second official. Very good on Oshawa's part, but had they made this proposal previous to last Saturday's game in Oshawa it would have looked much better. They raised no objection at all to a home umpire until their home games were completed, then they wish to appear as the real champions of fairness and suggested two men from outside. All visiting teams had to take their chances on Oshawa's officials and from what we have seen the Oshawa Umps had rather defective eyesight at times. While we are anxious to see all the teams receive a square deal still we think these eleventh hour changes in the matter of appointing umpires will be a mistake. The other teams have taken a chance with home umpires and we cannot see why the Oshawa team should be given any special privileges.

BANISH HOME UMPIRES IN THE INTERESTS OF BASEBALL GAME

Oshawa will have to get along in Cobourg to-day and in Lindsay next Wednesday without the privilege of having a neutral umpire work on the bases. The Oshawa gang, after having their own base umpire in their home games with Lindsay and Cobourg and after, as rumour has it, receiving the benefit of some questionable decisions by the same officials, suddenly decided that neutral umpires were the thing. President Kimmel was inclined to agree with the request, but has finally decided the original arrangements are to go through, and Cobourg and Lindsay will appoint their own base umpires. But a change should be made in the next round. There should be no home umpires and there never will be satisfaction as long as they are allowed to act. A close decision from a neutral umpire generally goes unchallenged, but when a visiting team gets the worst of a close one from a home umpire there is an immeditae howl. The system, in the interests of the whole League, should be changed when the second part of the League race starts.

OLD TIMERS TO PIT THEMSELVES AGAINST THE RISING GENERATION

The old-timers around town believe that they can show as much pep as the youngsters when it comes to gallivantin' around the diamond. To prove it they are going to mobilize Moinday night and try their luck with the Lock Works nine. The gates will be wide open at the Riverside ball park for those who want to see the stars of the local diamond in bygone days pit themselves against the rising generation.

F. J. Davidson, of Calgary, an old Peterborough boy who used to play in the Midland League 25 years ago, is promoting the contest and requests the following to assemble at Riverside Park at 5.30 Monday evening:

Dan McCabe, Chsis Graham, Jack Sheridan, Jack Mulhall, Morley Lyle, Bill Grady, Jack Denneard, Bill Maher, Dan Simmons, Sam Houlihan.

Maher and Graham will be the battery for the old timers and Reg. Turner and Jake Solomon are down on the list as the umpires.

RICKARD TO CLINCH CARPENTIER-GIBBONS MATGH TO-DAY, IS THOUGHT

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

NEW YORK, N.Y., July 16.—Tex Rickard probably will clinch the Carpentier-Gibbons match to-day.

The champion promoter and Eddie Kane, manager of the St. Paul "Cruiser," were to meet this afternoon for a final conference. Rickard, it seems, is not just sure when he wants to stage the match and where, and this uncertainty is holding up the signing of the articles.

The original plan was to stage the contest on Labor Day, but the Frenchman's hand may not be well then. Columbus Day is the next best date, but Rickard is a little bit skeptical about early October weather.

Kane said to-day that he was not going to make any prohibitive demands for Gibbons, and that he was willing to make the match just as soon as Rickard decided what he wanted.

HONEST GIRL FOUND $10,000 GEMS IN WASH.

Returned Them to Owner and Reluctantly Accepted Reward and Vacation.

NEW YORK, July 16.—As a reward for her honesty in returning $10,000 worth of jewellery found by her among soiled linen, Miss Anna Hughes, 17 years old, an assorter in the Domestic Steam Laundry, Brooklyn, will start next month on a "special vacation," with double pay from her employers.

Anna also received a reward in money from the owner of the jewels, although she sought none, and was embarrassed when the notes were thrust upon her.

The girl found the jewellery in a chamois bag while she was sorting laundry and took the gems at once to James Powers, the superintendent of the laundry.

The jewellery consisted of a lavaliere, two rings and two brooches, all platinum set with diamonds. The chamois bag had been wrapped in a handkerchief which bore the laundry mark of Mrs. M. Markowitz, of Brooklyn. Mr. Powers went to the home of Mrs. Markowitz, who at first said she had lost no jewellery.

"You had better make sure," suggetsed Powers.

Mrs. Markowitz made a search, which resulted in the discovery of her loss. She described each piece of the jewellery. Mrs. Markowitz said the gems were worth $10,000. She invited Miss Hughes to her home, and rewarded her. When Anna returned to her work she was informed that she was to have two weeks' vacation, with double pay.

TOLERANCE AND GOOD HUMOUR FOR DE VALERA

PRESIDENT OF SO-CALLED IRISH REPUBLIC IS ACCLAIMED BY ENGLISH CROWD IN LONDON

MAY BE THE DAWN

(By Grattan O'Leary, Staff Correspondent of Canadian Press).

LONDON, July 15.—The Irish Peace Conference at the British Premier's official residence, 10 Downing Street, yesterday crowded out the Conference of Dominion Prime Ministers. As a consequence there were merely meetings of the committees dealing with reparations, shipping and Imperial communications, and which are to report to the main conference within the next few days. It is understood that a basis for the division of reparations among the various portions of the Empire has been agreed upon, and that it is likely to be satisfactory to Canada. There is not, however, a great deal of enthusiasm over the matter, British statesmen having apparently long since concluded that no substantial amount can be got out of Germany.

Canadian Team.

Premier Meighen of Canada did not attend yesterday's committee meetings. He spent the forenoon preparing the speech which he will deliver to-day when he receives the freedom of the City of London, and in the afternoon motored out for a visit to the Canadian team at Bisley Camp.

Meanwhile, scenes extraordinary to a Canadian had been enacted at Downing Street. Eamon De Valera's reception, as he drove through Whitehall, was that of a conquering hero. More than a thousand people swarmed around Premier Lloyd George's residence, most of them wearing rebel colors, and as the Sinn Fein leader, a tall, slender and almost ungainly figure, dressed in black, and wearing his famous spectacles, stepped from his motor car, he was almost borne down by the throngh which swarmed around him.

Pretty Colleens.

It was a typically Irish crowd, with pretty colleens predominating, but with a goodly sprinkling of unmistakable Saxons, and its enthusiasm knew no bounds. Beneath it all, however, there was a note of solemnity, and there was something stirring in the spectacle of hundreds of men standing bareheaded and singing Davis' half-martial, half-melancholy ballad, "A Nation Once Again," and then relapsing into silence as girls and women recited the Rosary for the success of the conference. De Valera seemed immensely pleased with the reception accorded him. He waved his hand again and again to the crowd, while his face beamed with smiles as he sprang lightly up the steps of No. 10 Downing Street to greet Premier Lloyd George, who was awaiting him within.

Good Humor Prevails.

As the afternoon wore away and the conference continued, the crowd grew to enormous proportions. It overflowed into Whitehall, practically blocking the traffic, and demanding the attention of scores of policemen. A noteworthy feature of it all, and certainly one most impressive to a Canadian, was the tolerance and good humor shown by everybody. English traffic was blocked, English pedestrians were compelled to make a tremendous detour to get to their destinations, and English officers saw the strange green Irish Republic flag floating in the breeze, while the crowd fairly roared out songs of the Sinn Fein, yet one looked in vain for any sign of resentment.

May be the Dawn.

What is to be the outcome of it all few here dare to predict. Those in a position to know what is transpiring behind the scenes are not overly confident. They know how great are the financial difficulties to be faced, and how great is the gulf of suspicion and fear to be bridged before settlement is possible, and always there is the position of Ulster. Nevertheless, the fact that yetserday's meeting apparently is to be followed by a fuller conference is regarded as a hopeful sign. Even the most confirmed of pessimists admitted yesterday that at last it might be the dawn.

DRYS SHOW CRIME DECREASE.

Say Cincinnati, Louisville, and Peoria Arrests Have Dropped.

CHICAGO, July 16.—Crime generally decreased in Cincinnati, Ohio, Louisville, Ky., and Peoria, Ill., under Prohibition, according to statistics published to-day by the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

In Cincinnati, however, assaults to murder increased from 18 in the last wet year to 26 in the first dry twelve months, and housebreaking from 21 to 31, but these were attributed to the crime wave, inasmuch as murders dropped from 38 to 7 and disorderly conduct cases from 3,320 to 656 for the same years.

For the last wet year, 30th June, 1918, to 30th June, 1919, the figures showed 3,624 arrests for drunkenness in Louisville, compared to 412 for the first dry year and in Peoria for the same periods a decrease from 1,780 arrests on the same charge to 295 was shown.

GAMBLING ON NATURE.

Why waste any thought on Hatfield, the Rainmaker, or place any credence whatever in his claim to being favored with a controlling influence over the operations of Mother Nature? He probably has studied meteorology, which, like most sciences of a super-phenomenal character, has but few votaries, hence he can play upon the credulity of those who are gullible. Most likely he understands weathe- and atmospheric signs, and takes advantage of that knowledge to gamble on it. In his own coarse vernacular he says, "I am delivering the goods in the Lethbridge district," and sets himself up for a false god among false gods, carrying the keys to the secrets of Nature in his pocket.

Hatfield, the Rainmaker, should be classed with those scientific fakers who would have us credit that in a generation or two to come science will compete with Nature in producing human beings—to order and of whichever sex desired. Nature has many secrets vested only in God Himself, who in six days made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that in them His, and the man who arrogates to himself the power of regulating Nature sets himself above her creator.

Hatfield reminds me of Captain Good in Rider Haggard's sensational story, "King Solomon's Mines," a book which brought a fortune to its author because of its originality. The three white principals—Good, Quartermaine and Curtis—had posed as gods among an extraordinary and exclusive tribe of Zulus, who, however, finally demanded a sign that they were gods in very deed, by a given date; otherwise, they were to be "scragged," which in plain English means killed. Good hecklessly promised to "put the sun out," at a certain hour on a day specified, when the people and the tribe's armed regiments gathered in serried ranks to see this startling phenomenon performed. Good'h companions naturally thought—him crazy until he whispered that on that date and hour agreed on an eclipse of the sun would be visible in that locality. The eclipse materialized according to schedule, Good heralded its approach with, to the natives, supernatural incantations, consisting of oath after oath and curse following curse, without break or repetition, for ten minutes in true sailorman style. And those three unblushing deceivers held their place as gods. But one old colored gentleman attached to these self-asserted celestial being had seen an eclipse of the sun before in his day, and had it not been that he entertained a sincere affection for those intrepid white imposters, or had the calendar been wrong, there would have been an eclipse of another kind, and one far from pleasant to the eclipsers.

Hatfield most likely relies on calculation from Nature's weather calendar to get away with his boasted talent for rainmaking; and, like Good in "King Solomon's Mines," stands in danger of ultimating suffering damage to his transitory prestige, to say nothing of a complete—shall we say "trade"?—eclipse.

THE BRIDGE.

This is somewhat a vexed question 'tis true, but why aggrevate the situation by "crying over spilt milk" and indulging in recriminations like some of our Aldermen did Wednesday night. Mistakes have been made and the costs have climbed away up to a level never dreamt of originally, and will continue to mount until all work is completed. Then, drop lamenting over blunders that cannot be remedied now, Messrs. Mayor and Aldermen, and save on the finishing touches to a structure that is already, perhaps, too ornate for requirements and too costly for the size of this community. Some people designate the bridge an official graveyard for the City Council; that is, of course, for the electorate to decide. But it need not be a white elephant in eating up more costs than can be avoided. Ald. Turner said on Thursday he thought the idea of chipped granite finishing the face of the arches—or sides of the bridge—would be abandoned, and the suggestion is one which would effect considerable saving, and, I think, meet with public approval. The chipped granite finished hand-rail will, of course, be observed at close range and presents a rich and substantial finish effect, in which the expense may be justified. The sides, however, will not, generally speaking, come under near-observation, and who at a distance could discern whether their finish was chipped granite or smooth-rubbed. Besides, every inch of chipped granite apart from the hand-rail is extra, of which there is already enough to satisfy those who already have to pay some $100,000 and more in work not specified in the construction contract.

But the most uncalled for expenditure on this structure, I consider, is that altogether unsightly ornate terra cotta name embellishment at a cost of in the neighborhood of $8,000. Then, why the name "Peterborough?" People generally understand that it is the Hunter Street Bridge. Surely, by no stretch of imagination can it be implied that any person will ever—well, hardly ever—need to be informed in glaring emblasoned letter design that he or she is in Peterborough when passing over our elevated bridge. This will be a "bone dry" town after Monday, and from thenceforth there should be no further opportunity for any member of this or any other community finding himself in that condition calling for a reminder of exactly where he is.

WET SAINTS.

It is an old superstition, dating back to the tenth century, that should it rain on July 15th rain will fall every day for 40 days thereafter. Old St. Swithin is held responsible for this law of Nature—therefore, a wet saint is he, as also are St. Godelieve of France and Seven Sleepers of Germany. History records that St. Swithin was an English ecclesiastic of the ninth century, chaplain to King Egbert and tutor to his son, Ethelwulf. When the latter became King Swithin was appointed Chancellor of England. In 852 he was consecrated Bishop of Winchester. A rich treasure of all the virtues, Swithin is reputed to have been, a churchman who gloried in humility and charity to the poor. He built several churches and travelled with his clergy on foot through his diocese. The origin of that church tribute called "Peter-pence" is attributed by some authorities to Swithin, who is said to have procured an act, enforcing, for the first time, the universal obligation in England of paying tithes. Dying on July 2, 862, he was interred in Winchester churchyard, like any other ordinary parishioner. A century later, this exemplory Bishop of Winchester was canonized by the church and he then, of course, became a Saint. The monks, therefore, were not satisfied with his humble resting-place and exhumed St. Swithin's body for the purpose of depositing it in Winchester Cathedral. The date of translation was fixed for July 15th, but on that day it rained, and still it rained and never left off raining for forty days, after which the delayd transference of St. Swithin's remains was accomplished. For a century or two superstitious people, in this connection, would declare that the heavens wept copiously at the pride and insubordination of those monks in removing to an exalted tomb all that was left of a humble and unostentatious servant of God, from his own chosen place of interment among the lowly and week.

From the foregoing circumstance arises the belief that should it rain on St. Swithin's Day, July 15th, rain it will continuously for forty days. And it's really too bad that this popular super stitution should be refuted by terrestrial laws, experience of which demonstrates that should a period of wet weather set in "about" mid-summer, not necessarily on St. Swithin's Day, the wet spell generally proves of considerable endurance—but, fortunately, not often, and perhaps never—of forty days.

We have no dry saints yet, but they are coming, and a-plenty, after Monday next, when the enforced "bone dry" spell will be of considerably more than forty days' duration.

MAE MURRAY HAS FINE PICTURE IN "THE GILDED LILY."

Story was Especially Written for the Famous Star, and It Fits Her Like a Glove.

Mae Murray, famous Paramount star and dancer, has been provided with a picture story of great dramatic power, which was especially written for her by Clara Beranger. It is "The Gilded Lily," and it will be the feature attraction at the Capitol Theatre for three days, beginning on Monday next. Robert Z. Leonard, husband of the star, made the production.

The story fits Miss Murray like a glove, and presents her in the role in which she first became famous—a dancer. All of the scenes are laid in New York.

Lily Drake, dancer of the Club Royale, is the type of girl that is all sham and rouge on the exterior, but real and true when the tarnish and tinsel are off. She is sought by many men, including a typical New York man-about-town and a youth from the country. In the contest between them to win her hand and in the final incidents, Miss Beranger has given an unusual twist that is declared to be entirely original and will place the picture in the front rank for its story value.

The two leading roles are played by Lowell Sherman, as the New York man-about-town, and Jason Robards as the country boy. Others in the cast include Thurlow Bergen, Leonora Ottinger, and Mrs. Pauline Dempsey.

Balance of this big programme will include the very newest and best Larry Semon comedy, "The Rent Collector." It's a howl from start to finish. The Capitol is always cool and clean as a new pin.

FAN-FAN.

GEORGE CAIRNS WON LOCAL END OF BOWLING.

In the Peterborough half of the semi-finals in the doubles competition, which the rain held up at the tournament on Thursday, George Cairns and Walter Oke played off last night. The game went an extra end to find a winner, Cairns winning 17 to 16, and securing the cut glass.

George and "Jack" Wyllie each got a handsome cut-glass vase.

"Andy" Ross led for Walter Oke.

LARAMIE HOLDS THE RANGE

By Frank H. SPEARMAN.

The Shot from the Roadside.

In getting home safely, Laramie had not flattered himself that he was not actually under what in mountain phrase is termed the death watch. In matter of fact, Van Horn and Doubleday had gone home to stay until the excitement should blow over. But they had left Stone and two men charged with intercepting Laramie on his return. The investing lines had not, however, been skillfully drawn and Laramie had slipped through.

He slept undisturbed until the sun was an hour high. Then, peering through a corner of the blanket that hung before the window, he saw Stone and two companions half a mile from the house, riding slowly as if looking for a trail; particularly, as he readily surmised, for his own trail. As to his horse betraying him, Laramie had no fear, knowing the beast would make straight for the blue stem north of the hills. It was no part of Laramie's plan of defense to begin fighting or to force any situation that favored him—as he believed the present one to do.

Few men that knew his enemies would have agreed with him in this way; they would, indeed, have thought it extremely precarious for Laramie to be caught in any place he could not escape from unseen. But Laramie was temperamentally a gambler with fortune, and he put aside the worries that occasionally weighed on his friends. Standing at his one small window—though this was by no means the only peephole in the cabin walls—he watched without undue concern the scouting of the trio, who beyond doubt had been hired to kill him and were only waiting their chance.

After a long inspection of the ground—much of it out of sight of the cabin—broken by frequent colloquies, the three rode from the creek bottom out on the upper field and, halting, surveyed the distant cabin with seeming doubt and suspicion. Two of them reined their horses toward the creek. The third man spurred up rhe long slope straight for the house.

This put a different aspect on things. Laramie tightened a little as he watched the oncoming rider. If it should prove to be Stone—he hesitated at the thought, deciding on nothing until sure who the man might be. But watching the approach of the unwelcome visitor coldly, Laramie put out his hand for his rifle. He thought of firing a warning shot; but to this he was much averse since it would mean a fight and a siege—neither of which he sought. As the man drew closer it was apparent that it was not Stone and Laramie decided that milder measures might answer. He held his rifle across his arm and waited. But the man, as if conscious of the peril to which he was so coolly exposing himself, galloped rapidly away, rejoined his companions, and the trio disappeared.

Laramie at the window watched the departing horsemen. It appeared, from what he had seen, as if the watch had really been set on him. He got out his little bottle of oil and a rag and ramrod to clean his rifle. He made the preparations and sat down to his task in a brown study.

The rifle had not been fired for some time, and it was a very long time since it was trained on a man. He took it apart slowly, thinking less of what would next appear through the range of the sights than of Kate, as she confronted him the night before in Carpy's office. He realized with a sort of shame that he was trying to forgive her for calling him a thief—which, in point of fact, he argued, she had not actually done. And though she had certainly spoken careless-like as Bill Bradley might say, she had only credited the tales of his enemies in her own household.

Laramie poked and squinted as he pondered his difficulties. He had refused to give up Hawk to be merely murdered; he could not do less and respect himself. It had made her father more than ever his enemy; still he wanted Kate. Stone would assassinate him at any time for a hundred dollars; Van Horn, now that he was aware Laramie loved Kate, would do it for nothing. Laramie, indeed, realized that if he stood in Van Horn's way with a woman he would not figure any more in Harry's calculations than a last year's bird's nest. And back of all loomed rancorous Barb Doubleday.

How, he asked himself, could a girl like Kate pick such a bear for a father? All of which troublesome thinking brought him no nearer a solution of his difficulties. He had his life to look out for, Hawk to take care of, and a strong willed girl to bring to his way of thinking.

He reached, at last, the conclusion that the sooner he knew whether he could leave his own place and ride to and from Sleepy Cat without being "potted" from ambush, the sooner he would know what to do next. Persuading himself that the watch would wait for him somewhere down the road, Laramie, making coffee and cooking bacon, breakfasted, made his final preparations for death by shaving himself with a venerable razor, and, rifle in hand, got down as directly and briskly as possible to the corral. He got up a horse, rode back into the hills, and, recovering his saddle, started for Simeral's. Having spoken with Ben, Laramie made a detour that brought him out on the creek a mile below his regular trail. Thence he rode as contentedly as possible on his way.

The country for a few miles ahead was adapted for ambuscades. The valley was comparatively narrow and afforded more than one vantage point for covering a traveler. It was wholly a matter, Laramie felt, of bluffing it through. And beyond keeping a brisk pace with his horse, he could do nothing to protect himself. "You're a fool for luck, Jim," he remembered Hawk's saying once to him, "but you'll get it some time on your fool's luck, just the same."

When old Blackbeard, as he sometimes called Hawk—though no one else ventured to call him that—uttered the warning, it made no impression on Laramie. Now it came back. Not unpleasantly, nor as a dread—only he did recall at this time the words—which was more than he had ever done before. And he reflected that it would be very awkward for Hawk, if their common enemies should get his nurse at this particular time.

While this was running through his mind, he was not sorry to notice ahead of him the dust of the down stage. At that particular stretch of the road it would be less nerve wearing to ride beside it a way. He overtook the wagon and to his surprise found McAlpin on the box. McAlpin, overjoyed to see him, explained with a grin he was filling in for a sick man. In reality, he had substituted for the northern trip in the hope of seeing some fighting while out and the sight of Laramie was the nearest he had got to it. Laramie, after a long talk, made an appointment to meet him in town in the evening and as they reached the foot of the hill where the road climbed to the Sleepy Cat divide, Laramie, feeling he had no further excuse for loitering, put spurs to his horse and took a bridle trail used as a cutoff to get into safer country.

He rode this trail unmolested, crossed the divide, and, coming out of the hills, could see, to the south, Sleepy Cat lying below. He made up his mind that his judgment was more nearly right than his apprehension, and rode down the slopes of the Crazy Woman, over the Double-drawbridge, and up the south hill in good spirits. He had, in fact, got half-way up the long grade when he heard a rifle shot.

Knocked forward the next instant in his saddle, Laramie drooped over his pommel. As his heels struck the horse's flanks, the beast sprang ahead. The rebound jerked back the rider's head and shoulders. While the horse dashed on, Laramie, with as little fuss as possible, pulled his rifle from its scabbard, trying all the time to get his balance. A careful observer could have noted that the rifle was drawn but held low in the right hand as if the rider could not bring it up. Yet even a close observer could hardly have detected in his convulsive swaying that the wounded man was closely scanning the sides of the narrow road along which his horse was now flying. At all events, he seemed with failing strength to be losing his seat as he lost control of his horse, and a hundred yards from where he had been struck he toppled helplessly from the saddle into the roadway. The speed at which the horse was going sent the fallen rider rolling along the grade, the sides of which had been torn in spots by summer torrents. Near one of these holes, Laramie had left the saddle, and into it he rolled headlong.

The hole, between four and five feet deep, looked like an irregular well with an overhang on one side, and to the bottom of this Laramie, covered with dust, tumbled. He righted himself and, turning under the overhang, took breath, put down his rifle, whipped out his revolver, looked toward the top of his well, and listened.

Not a sound broke the stillness of the sunny morning. With his right hand, but holding his eyes and ears much at attention, he drew a handkerchief, wiped the dust from his eyes and face, and twisted his head around to investigate the stinging sensation high on his left shoulder, almost at the neck. The rifle bullet had torn his coat collar and shirt and creased the skin. He could feel no blood and soon inventoried the shot as only close. But he was waiting for the man that fired it to appear at the hole to investigate, and with at least one of his enemies he was in a mood to finish then and there.

Taking off his coat, as his wits continued to work, he spread it over a little hump in front of him so it would catch the eye for an instant and, with patient rage, crouched back under the overhang. He so placed himself that one could hardly see him without peering into the hole and that might mean any one of several things for the man that ventured it—much depended, in Laramie's mind, on whose face he should see above the rim.

An interminable time passed. The first sound he heard was that of horses toiling up the long grade and the creaking of battered hubs; this he reckoned must be McAlpin with the stage. Where his hat had rolled to, when he tumbled out of the saddle to simulate death, he had no idea. If it lay in the road he might expect a visit from McAlpin. But, without stopping, the stage rolled slowly up the grade.

It seemed then as if the distant gunman, after waiting for the stage to pass, would not fail to reconnoiter the hole. Yet he did so fail. The high hours of midday passed with Laramie's patiently resting his Colt's up between his knees and studying the yellow rim of the hole and the heavenly blue of the sky. His neck ached from the cramped position, long held, in which he had placed himself; but he moved no more than if he had been set in stone. Neither hunger, which was slight, nor thirst, at times troublesome, disturbed his watch. But it was in vain.

He sat like a spider in its web through the whole day without an incident. A few horsemen passed, an occasional wagon rumbled up and down the hill; but none of the travelers looked in on Laramie. Toward dusk he heard a freighting outfit working laboriously up from the creek. Resolving to give up his watch and go into town with this, he felt his way cautiously out of his hiding place. Without really hoping to recover it, he began to search for his hat and, to his surprise, found it in another gully near where he had tumbled from his horse. The driver of the freighting outfit wondered at seeing Laramie on foot. He explained that he had been hunting and that his horse had taken a short-cut home.

Stone's companions, under instructions, had left him and returned to Doubleday's before the shot across the Crazy Woman. Stone himself got back to Doubleday's ranch at about the time that Laramie started for Sleepy Cat in the evening. But Barb Doubleday and Van Horn, he was told, were in town. He followed them and discovered Van Horn in the barroom at the hotel.

"I hear you got him," muttered Van Horn, bending his keen eyes on Stone.

"Who said so?" demanded Stone.

"His horse came into Kitchen's barn this afternoon, all saddled. McAlpin is telling he heard a rifle shot on the Crazy Woman. They're wild down at the barn over it. Did you get him?"

Stone paused over a glass of whisky; his face brightened. "I tumbled him off his horse, if you call that getting him."

Van Horn asked questions impatiently. Stone answered with the indifference of the man that had turned a big trick. But Van Horn insisted on knowing what had become of Laramie.

"He tumbled into a hole," said Stone. "I didn't cross the creek to look for him."

"Why didn't you?" asked Van Horn nervously.

Stone dallied with his glass: "I watched the hole all day. He didn't come out. That was enough, wasn't it?"

"No," snapped Van Horn.

"Well, I'll tell you, Harry, next time yo and the old man want a job done, do it yourself. I never liked Laramie. I didn't care for getting too close to the hole he tumbled into. After he was hit he stuck to his horse a little too long to suit me," said Stone shrewdly.

Van Horn's retort was contemptuous and pointed. He laughed: "Afraid of him, eh?"

Stone regarded him malevolently. "Look here," he exclaimed harshly, "I'll make you a little proposition! When I get shaved we'll ride over to the Crazy Woman and you can look in the hole for yourself."

The uncertainty irritated Van Horn. When Stone, newly plastered, emerged from the barber shop, Van Horn took him with his story to Doubleday, whom they found in his room, chewing the stub of a cold cigar and looking over a stock journal. He did not appear amiable, nor did his face change much as the news was cautiously conveyed to him. When Van Horn announced he would ride out with Stone to examine the road hole Doubleday, whose expression had grown colder, broke in:

"Needn't waste any time on that," he said with a snap of his jaw.

Stone snorted: "Maybe you think he wasn't hit."

"Hit!" exclaimed Barb. "Hit!" he repeated, raising a long forefinger with deep-drawn disgust. "He's sittin' in that room across the hall right now."

"What's he doin'?"

"Playin' poker," muttered the old cattleman grimly, "with Doc Carpy and Harry Tenison."

In trict point of fact, Laramie had left the room across the hall and at that particular moment was sitting down for a late supper at Belle Shockley's, whither Sawdy and Lefever ha dragged him from the hotel. Carpy had come with them.

At the table—after Laramie had told part of his story—the talk, genial to cheerfulness, was largely professional criticism of the shot across the Crazy Woman. The technical disadvantages of shooting uphill, the tendency to overelevate for such shots, the difficulty of catching the pace and speed of a horse—all supplied judicial observations for Lefever and Sawdy, while Laramie—so nearly the victim—leaving the topic to these Sleepy Cat gun bandits, conferred with Carpy about the care of gunshot wounds and protested against Flat Nose George and the Museum of Horrors in the Doctor's office.

"But I want to tell you, boys," remarked the doctor, when the talk turned on the discomfiture of the enemy group, "what Barb asked me tonight—this is on the dead." The doctor looked around to include Belle—who was standing with folded arms, her back against the sideboard and listening to the conversation—in his injunction of secrecy. "He came to me at the hotel. 'Doc,' says Barb, 'I want to ask you a question. There's stories circulating around about Laramie's getting shot this morning, on his way into town. Has Laramie been to you to get fixed up, at all?'

"'Well, Barb,' I says, 'that's not really a fair question for me to answer—you know that. But since you spoke about it, Jim was in a while ago——'

"'Was in, eh?'

"'For a few minutes——'

"'Hit?'

"'That I couldn't say. What he asked for, Barb, was a bottle of Perry Davis' pain killer—said the rheumatiz was getting him to beat the band.'"

Carpy paused: "'Rheumatiz!' says Barb. He didn't stop to swear—he just bit his old cigar right square in two in the middle, dropped one end on the floor, and stamped on it." The doctor leaned forward and spoke to Laramie: "How's longhorn, Jim?"

Laramie looked troubled. "If it wasn't for dragging you into it I'd ask you to go out and see him."

"Jim, a doctor's place is where he's needed."

"I left a twenty dollar gold piece in your medicine chest for the stuff I took."

"You go to hell!" The doctor pulled a handful of money from his pocket and threw a double eagle at Laramie. "There's your gold piece."

"Belle, look at them fellows," exclaimed Sawdy moodily; "pockets loaded. I never had more than twenty dollars at one time in my life. My mother told me to take care of the pennies and the dollars would take care of themselves. The blamed dollars wouldn't do it. I took care of the pennies. I've got 'em yet—that's all I've got. Jim, I'll match you for that gold piece."

"Gamblers never have a cent," commented Belle darkly.

"That gold piece," explained Laramie, "is not my money, Harry. 'Its Carpy's money and he'll keep it if I have to make him swallow it."

"That's not the question," declared Carpy. "Did you get what you wanted?" Laramie told him he did. "And by the great Jehosaphat," added the doctor, "you bumped into Kate Doubleday!"

"What else did you expect?" retorted Laramie, not pleased at the recollection.

Carpy, throwing back his head, laughed well: "After Kate Doubleday told me she was going for the dressings herself, I says to myself, 'There'll be two people in my house tonight—a man and a woman—I hope to God they don't meet.'"

"Jim," intervened Belle, "you ought to get Hawk to a hospital."

"He's got to get him to one," affirmed Lefever. "I've seen that man," he added emphatically; "I know."

"How's ge going to do it," inquired Carpy, "without starting the fight all over again?"

Lefever stuck to his ground. "Get him down to Sleepy Cat in the night," he insisted.

"Can he ride?" asked Sawdy.

"He may have to have help," said Laramie.

"There's a moon right now. They'd pick you off like rabbits," objected Sawdy, "and they've got the whole trail patrolled to the Crazy Woman. They're watching this town like cats. You'll have to waste a lot of ammunition to get Hawk to a hospital."

"From all I hear," observed Carpy, "if Abe gets any more lead into him you won't need to take him to the hospital. He'll be ready to head st aight for the undertaker's."

"We've got to wait either for a late moon or a rainy night; then we'll get busy," suggested Lefever.

"He might die while you're waiting," interposed Carpy.

Lefever could not be subdued. "Not as quick as he'd die if Van Horn's bunch aught sight of him on the road," he said sententiously. "We'll get him down and he won't die either."

"Well, pay for your supper, boys, and let's get away," said Carpy. "I want some sleep."

But for Lefever and Sawdy there was little sleep that night. The echoes of the "fatal" shot—almost fatal, as it proved, to the prestige of the enemy—were being discussed pretty much everywhere in Sleepy Cat, and where ever men that night assembled in public places Sawdy and Lefever swaggered in and out at least once. The pair looked wise, spoke obscurely, looked the crowd, large or small, over critically, played an occasional restrained and brief finger tattoo on the butts of their holstered guns, and listened condescendingly to every one that had a theory to advance, a reminiscence to offer, or a propitiating drink to suggest.

Wherever they could induce him to go they dragged Laramie—at once as an exhibit and a defi; but Laramie objected to the thoroughness with which his companions essayed to cover the territory, and unfeelingly withdrew from the party to bed. Sawdy and Company, undismayed by the defection, continued to hunt the high places until the last sympathizer with Van Horn and Company had been challenged and bullied or silenced.

But the differing sympathies on the situation in Sleepy Cat were not to be adjusted in a single night, either by force or persuasion. The whole town took sides and the cattlemen found the most defenders. What might be designated, but with modesty, as "big business" in Sleepy Cat stood stubbornly despite the violence of their methods, with Van Horn, Doubleday, and their friends; the interest of such business lay with the men that bought the most supplies. The banks and the merchants were thus pretty much aligned on one side. The surgeon of the town professed neutrality—at least as regarded operations—for he was needed to administer to both factions. Harry Tenson, as dealer of the big game in town and owner of the big hotel, was of necessity neutral; though men like himself and Carpy were rightly suspected of leaning toward Laramie, if not even as far as toward Abe Hawk. The open sympathizers of the Falling Wall men were among trainmen, liverymen, the clerks, the barbers and bartenders, and those who could be usually counted as "agin the government."

The attempt to assassinate Laramie had intensified every one's feelings, and for days only a spark on that subject was needed to fire more than one Sleepy Cat powder magazine. One afternoon rain caught Kate in at Belle's and kept her until almost dark from starting for home, and one magazine did explode.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF RHEUMATISM

Entirely Well After Six Weeks' Treatment With "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

MR. AMEDEE GARCEAU

22 Hickory St., Ottawa, Ont.

"I was for many years a victim of that terrible disease, Rheumatism. In 1913, I was laid up for four months with Rheumatism in the joints of the knees, hips and shoulders and was prevented from following my work, that of Electrician.

I tried many remedies and was under the care of a physician; but nothing did me any good. Then I began to take 'Fruit-a-tives' and in a week I was easier, and in six weeks I was so well I went to work again.

I look upon this fruit medicine, 'Fruit-a-tives', as simply marvellous in the cure of Rheumatism, and strongly advise everyone suffering with Rheumatism to give 'Fruit-a-tives' a trial."

Consider the number of local firms who advertise in it day after day, week after week, year after year.

Compare them with the number of local merchants who use billboards, street cars, electric signs or any other form of advertising.

Local merchants don't advertise for effect or for "general publicity"—THEY ADVERTISE FOR SALES.

Ask yourself, then, where you should spend the money for your advertising!

Chalmers Unequalled Motor Car Investment

The Chalmers is a motor car investment of unequalled value. Primarily, because it is a fine, rich car at a reasonable price. But also because upkeep charges are low.

The Chalmers needs little shop work and attention. That means that replacement and repair costs are held to a minimum.

This is of vast importance in determining motor car value and has cemented the loyalty of Chalmers owners.

Chalmers Motor Wonderful

It is largely due to the wonderful Chalmers motor that upkeep costs are held down. By heating the fuel with the hot-spot, Chalmers engineers have measurably improved motor performance.

More power is secured from less gasoline. The motor warms up more quickly, and accelerates faster, and runs more smoothly. But little carbon forms, as the combustion is very much better. Thus the Chalmers runs over longer periods without overhauling.

Chalmers Is Beautiful

But it is not its fine performance alone that makes Chalmers owners so enthusiastic. The Chalmers is also a beautiful car, with fine appointments; and a comfortable car.

We would appreciate an opportunity to demonstrate to you in actual performance the details of Chalmers superiority.

DOCTOR'S SKILL SAVES BABY GIRL FROM DISFIGUREMENT BY DOG'S BITE

LITTLE HAZEL CASEY'S NOSE WAS ALMOST BITTEN OFF TWO WEEKS AGO—ONLY A SCAR SHOWS NOW AND IT MAY FADE

With no visible sign of her recent mishap except a red scar which traverses the bridge of her nose in triangular fashion, little Hazel Casey, the two year old baby who had her nose badly bitten by a dog near Omemee about two weeks ago, spends her time in perusing picture books and laying in the sun-room at Nicholls Hospital. She is quite evidently the pet of the nurses, this tiny, little lady with bright yellow hair and blue eyes, in her suit of white rompers and tiny strap slippers. The scar, which just touches the eye corners and miraculously missed the eyes themselves, shows quite plainly the marks of the dog's teeth on either side, but the nurses think it will entirely disappear in time. The root of the nose appears to be somewhat broadened by the accident. This is the only perceptible sign of lasting defacement.

Trusts Her Kitten.

The baby is rather grave just now. Her litle hands have long splints attached, because she kept handling the scar, and something had to be done to prevent her, so long bandages keep the tiny fingers down. At first she used to cry when they asked her about the dog, but now she just nods her head gravely when one says, "Was it a bad doggie?" Her kitty, however, arouses no bad memories. It is a black pussy and she smiled delightedly when it was mentioned, along with the dolly and the new baby that wait at home for her. She doesn't seem to be lonesome, however. She gets too much attention from her admiring atendants at the hospital, and wants to be nursed all the time in one or other of the friendly laps. She went over her small vocabulary, "hello" and "goodbye" and "oh, shoot!" for the visitor, and nodded her head energetically when offered a drink of milk and an orange, just as if she hadn't missed by the narrowest margin one of the most horrible deaths possible to human beings on the one hand, or lifelong and permanent defacement on the other. Skilful surgery has in a short time accomplished a result here which is surprising to those who realized the child's condition when first brought to the hospital.

At that time, the nose appeared to be almost completely severed from the face, hanging by a small piece of cartilage, and extraordinarily careful manipulation was required to replace it with the minimum amount of mutilation which has been achieved, and which appears to the casual observer, considering the extreme youth of the child, to be in all likelihood only a matter of time before it disappears altogether. As far as one can see, the speech of the child seems to have suffered no damage from the accident.

The Examiner is informed by the physician in charge of the case, Dr. N. H. Sutton, that the dog's head was sent to Toronto for examination, but owing to the excesively hot weather, it was decomposed too greatly to allow of any decision being made, another argument in favor of the establishment of a laboratory in our own town. The child's parents were so positve that the dog was free from rabies that they would not allow the little girl to undergo the Pasteur test.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, July 16.—(Canadian Press).—Trading was almost at a standstill at the opening of today's Stock Market. The attendance of members on the floor of the Exchange was unusually small. Only the most popular issues were quoted within the first half-hour, and these showed slight changes, though mainly downward. Steels, Equipments and some of the foreign oils, also specialties such as Famous Players and International Paper, made fractional declines.

BAROMETER OF CREDIT IS POINTING TO FAIR

If a definite change for the better in trade is still in the future, a firm foundation for prosperity in Canada is now being laid in the improving trend of banking indices.

Greenshields & Company, Investment Bankers, publish in the July number of their Monthly Review of conditions in Canada a chart bearing the encouraging caption "Barometer of Credit is Pointing to Fair." In graphic form it is shown that while the depression in business has deepened since last Autumn, allowing for seasonal factors there has been definite improvement in financial conditions. This improvement should continue and will be a necessary prelude to more active trade in the Dominion.

The lending power of a bank depends on its resources in capital, reserve and deposits, and in the case of our Canadian banks approximately 90 p.c. of the resources consists of deposits. The greater the surpuls of deposits over loans the greater the ease of money. When this surplus is cut down or turned into a deficit money becomes tight.

The strain on credit, which became acute in 1920 was accompanied by, or rather resulted from, deposits in Canada falling below loans and investments, this condition of shortage contrasting with a long period of surplus lending power from 1915 on through the war.

The feature brought out by Greenshields & Company's chart is that the liquidation in business which set in during Autumn of 1920 has opened up a "white area"—a surplus of lending power against the "black area," or deficit of lending power, that characterized other periods of tight money such as 1913 and the early part of 1920. Under seasonal influences affecting the principal items of the bank figures, this white area should grow through the summer months and the "barometer of credit is therefore pointing to fair."

Deducting from financial and commercial conditions, which are summarized, the Review says of the outlook for high grade investments:

"Heavy sales of provincial government and municipal bonds, which for the first five months of the year amounted to $92,712,976 against $71,045,161 in the same period of 1920, reflect impressive absorptive power. Temporarily the market has been over-supplied and a slight recession in prices has followed. As the larger requirements of the Province of Ontario has eben the principal factor in the condition of over-supply, and within a short ime Ontario's further requirements will be satisfied, the pressure of new issues of this class should presently be lifted.

"The affect of the accumulation of liquid capital and a dwindling competition from new issues should, therefore, become more apparent in the next few months. We are probably over the peak of a long rise in interest rates. Before the downward tendency becomes more widely recognized and bond prices advance, that is the opportunity of a generation to accumulate fixed-income securities of the first grade."

POLITICS MAKE HER APPRECIATE HER HOME

SO LADY ASTOR TELLS DOMESTICS

LONDON, July 16.—Lady Astor has decided opinions on the servant vs. mistress question. At a recent meeting of the domestic service branch of the National Alliance of Employers and Employed she declared:

"We are all some one's servant; husband and wife, for instance, because one bosses the other.

'I would rather have a rattlesnake around than a disgruntled domestic servant."

Her butler helped more than anybody else in the Plymouth election of 1918, when Lady Astor became the first woman member of Parliament. He always seemed to put things right, however disagreeable every one else was. He was a gentleman, as kind to the smallest kitchen maid as he was to her, which was the true test.

'I don't believe in asking the maids into the drawing room," she continued. "I think the maids would be perfectly wretched if they were made to sit down and talk to me. Every one chooses her own friends.

"People say that when a woman goes into politics she gives up her home. . . . I find it just the reverse. You begin to think what a blessed thing a home is, and long to get back to it."

The audience consisted of many mistresses and domestics.

EXPERT FORMATION OF BALTIC TRIPLE ALLIANCE

RIGA, July 14.—(Associated Press).—Rapid steps toward the formation of a new Baltic triple alliance, embracing Latvia, Esthonia and Lithuania, which may later take in Finland, are expected by political leaders here to result from the formation of a new Lettish Coalition Cabinet, headed by Sigmund Meyerovitch as Premier and Minister for Foreign Affairs, which latter post he held under the old Government.

The new coalition includes almost all the numerous Lettish parties except the most radical left wings.

K. Ulmanis, formerly an instructor at the University of Nebraska, who headed the old regime, is left out, as is also A. Berg, whose prosecutions of the Communist and Socialist elements as Minister of the Interior led to the downfall of the old Cabinet. Berg has been succeeded by A. Quesis of the Farmers' Union, which forms part of the Meyerovitch party.

DRIVE AGAINST LIQUOR ON BIG SCALE STARTS

50,000 U.S. GOVERNMENT OFFICERS CO-OPERATE IN GREATEST ATTEMPT YET TO SUPPRESS LIQUOR TRAFFIC.

BORDERS AND PORTS UNDER HEAVY GUARD

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

WASHINGTON, July 18.— The greatest drive against liquor since the United States went on a dry basis is in full swing to-day. An army of approximately 50,000 law enforcement officials is co-operating with Federal Commissioner Haynes in administering the Volstead Law.

With a score of government agencies and departments assisting in the enforcement of the dry law, and Congress considering amendments to make the Volstead Law more nearly 100 per cent. tighter, the next six months will be the most arid the country has yet experienced, if Commissioner Haynes puts into effect all his plans.

Liquor, halted at the borders of the United States, now is piling up in stations of the United States' Customs Service, which seized it from the smugglers. Rum runners' stock is being seized faster than the government can legally dispose of it. Near the Canadian borders, opposite Montreal, officials of the Immigration Bureau and the Customs Service are patrolling roads, navigable streams and inspecting passenger trains to halt the traffic in liquor. Along the Florida coast, guardsmen are watching daily day and night to prevent landing of liquor by smugglers from Cuba and the Bahamas. Airplanes soon will be used in the hunt for sea smugglers, under plans of the Coast Guard Service.

C.P.R. WIRE CHIEF DIES IN TORONTO

CHARLES T. BARBER WAS FOR MANY YEARS NICHT CHIEF

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

TORONTO, July 18. — Charles T. Barber, night wire chief of the Canadian Pacific Telegraph, died this morning about 3 o'clock in the St. Michael's Hospital as a result of an attack of acute septicaemia.

Mr. Barber left work on Friday and went home feeling ill. Yesterday his condition was much worse, and specialists were called in.

He was removed to the Hospital last night, with little hope offered for his recovery as septic pneumonia had already set in.

Mr Barber has been for the past thirty years connected with the C. P. R., and for many years he was night chief. He was 42 years of age, and leaves his wife.

CABINET MEETING SUCCEDS RETURN OF MR. MEIGHEN

POLITICAL SITUATION AND PROBLEMS SHELVED TO BE CONSIDERED.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

OTTAWA, July 18.—Upon the return from England of Premier Meighen toward the end of next week the Cabinet will gather in council for a decision of the general political situation and for consideration of problems which have been shelved in the Premier's absence. Nothing that transpired in England at the Premier's conference calls for implication by order-in-councils, but there are many matters which demand urgent attention at home.

RAIN BENEFIT TO SCORCHED CROPS

Grain and hay harvesting operations were seriously interfered with in some districts.

CONVICTS HAVE REVOLTED; SET PRISON AFIRE

RIOT ALARMS TURNED IN FOR POLICE AND FIRFMEN WHEN INMATES OF PITTSBURG PENITENTIARY BREAK LOOSE.

POLICE RESERVES OUT AND 9 FIRE COMPANIES

PITTSBURG, July 18.—(Canadian Press.)—Five riot alarms were turned into the police and fire department from the western penitentiary this afternoon. The first reports were that the prisoners had revolted and fired the buildings, which are located on the Ohoi river in the lower part of the old city of Allegheny. Nine companies immediately responded to the alarms and police reserves were hurried to the penitentiary.

CHAIR SPILLS MAN DOWN RIVER BANK

"JOE" PARROTT SUSTAINS DISLOCATED ARM AS A RESULT.

While hurriedly turning his wheel chair at the rear of his rooming house, 596 Waterford Street, right along the bank of the river, at four p.m. on Friday, Joe Parrott, who for 14 years has sold chewing gum, pencils, laces, and small goods in the entranceway at the rear of the Bank of Toronto building, spilled his chair and was precipitated down the sharp bank. The wheel chair fell upon him. Stunned and bruised, he tried to lift himself up with his right arm, but found it useless, and when he tried to use it, was seized in a paroxysm of pain. He half-raised himself with his left arm, and called loudly for help. The attention of several youths, who were swimming at "the Jacks" was attracted, and they assisted the injured man into the house.

Dr. Eastwood was called, and Mr. Parrott was taken to the Standard Surgical and Medical Clinic, Charlotte Street, where X-ray photograph showed that the right arm was dislocated. At nine o'clock Mr. Parrott was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he was till yesterday, when he returned to his lodgings with Mr. N. Meeks, 596 Waterford Street.

Mr. Parrott, propped up in bed, to-day smiled at the unkind treatment of the fates. If he had had his left arm injured he could have run his chair, but his right crippled, he is in a bad way. Despite the fact that he has only the use of his left arm, his limbs being powerless, Joe can still smile. After having his little business 14 years in the one spot, he had to evacuate two weeks ago when the building operations swung too near his counter; and he is apprehensive that since the building above the entrance has been pulled down and it is now an open laneway that he may have to seek a new business site.

Mr. Parrott hoped to-day he could make arrangements to secure the same place again. Here his friends know they can find him; he meets his customers daily, makes a fair living, and it is the best position in town for him, he said.

Mr. Parrott's chair was uninjured in the fall, and stands ready to run its master around as soon as he is well. His many friends will wish him a speedy recovery.

V. C. AIRMAN KILLED IN PRACTICE FLIGHT

He was Conqueror Over 54 Foes During Great War.

LONDON, July 18.—Captain Andrew W. Beauchamp-Proctor, V.C., D.S.O., M.C., D.F.C., was killed near Enford, Wilts, during a practice flight in a Sopwith Snipe.

Captain Proctor was born during the siege of Mafeking and did gallant air work on the Western front in the late war.

His V.C. award is dated November 30, 1918, and stated "he has proved himself conqueror over 54 foes.

"His work during the withdrawal following the battle of St. Quentin and during the victorious advance of our armies was almost unsurpassed in its brilliancy and made an impression that will not be easily forgotten."

DRURY CHARGES FERGUSON WITH MORE SPENDING

SAYS HIS ADMINISTRATION OF KAPUSKASING MEANT TO "KEEP US GUESSING" BUT "KEPT US CUSSING."

ALSO SCORES HANDLING OF TIMBER RESOURES

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

NEW LISKEARD, Ont., July 18. —Not only Howard Ferguson's handling of the province's resources, but also his administration of the Kapuskasing soldiers were arraigned by Premier Drury in the last speech of his northern tour, delivered here to-day on the occasion of the annual picnic of the New Liskeard branch of the United Farmers of Ontario.

"The old government," he said, "appeared to consider that Kauskasing meant 'keep us guessing.' The result has been that for us it has been 'keep up cussing.' Our predecessors spent three-quarters of a million dollars on this scheme but owing to the changeableness, vacillation and lack of judgment displayed in the administration thereof, they only succeeded in discouraging and discontinuing the settlers. Our government has spent scarcely $100,000 to clear up this situation and now has assured a big development surrounded and supplied by good farms. In view of this, which of the two governments is it that has been guilty of extravagance?

The administration of the timber resources of the province had also been left at a loose end by the Conservatives, he stated, adding that there had been a good deal of stealing on the part of the lumbermen.

REDS PREFER U.S. RATHER THAN JAP TO EXPLOIT EAST

SO LEONID KRASSIN SAYS IN LONDON INTERVIEW.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner, by Mail.)

LONDON, July 10.—Hatred of Japan and a desire to give America first place in the rich concessions of the Far East were shown to-day by Leonid Krassin, the Soviet's foremost diplomat.

In an exclusive interview on the eve of his departure for Moscow, Krassin declared that Russia is as anxious to resume trade with the United States and to consider her the favourite Power in the development of Siberia and the Far East.

"The Russian people," declared the Trade Commissioner, "will not under any circumstances tolerate or make its peace with the annexationous ambitions of Japanese Imperialism.

"And even though Japanese jingoes are seizing Russian territory and Russian cities on the Pacific Coast, this does not mean that they will succeed in retaining these properties. Siberia and the Far East have been and will remain Russian.

"The Russian Government to-day would be ready to place at the disposal of the United States such privileges in Siberia and the Far East for the development of natural resources and transportation lines as it would not under any circumstances grant to other Governments."

10,000 STILLS OPERATE ON ISLAND OF PORTO RICO.

SAN JUAN, P. R., July 18.—There are 10,000 stills in operation in the island, in violation of the Volstead Act and local laws, in the opinion of the prohibition director's staff.

This opinion is substantiated by a recent statement of Antonio R. Barcelo, president of the Senate.

The prohibition director's office holds that so long as light fines and sentences are imposed, rum-making in the island cannot be suppressed.

CONFERENCE ON DISARMING HAS SAPPED LEAGUE

STRENGTH OF COMMISSION APPOINTED TO STUDY SUBJECT SAPPED BY HARDING'S PROPOSALS.

DOMINIONS EXCLUDED BECAUSE OF POLITICS?

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

PARIS, July 18.—President Harding's disarmament proposals have sapped the strength of the League of Nations Commission appointed to study the subject, according to indications here to-day.

Three sub-committees met to-day, but decided that the most helpful thing they can do is collect statistics on naval and land strength and other information bearing on the subject with the possibility that the data may be helpful to the conference in Washington.

LONDON, July 18. — (Canadian Press.) — The action of President Harding in refraining from extending the invitation to the British overseas dominions to the disarmament conference was a necessary deduction from the attitude of the Republican party to the action of the League of Nations in alloting the Dominions separate voting power, according to Professor Berriedale Keith of Edinburgh, wrting in the London Times to-day.

ATTACKS PART OF U.S. NAVY EARLY IN WAR

MAJORITY REPORT CONDEMNS ADMINISTRATION'S MISDIRECTION AND DELAY WHILE MINORITY SUPPORTS POLICY.

ENDS SIMS-DANIELS LONG CONTROVERSY

WASHINGTON, July 18 (Canadian Press).—Diametric conflict of views between the Republicans and the Democrats as to the justification of Rear-Admiral William Sims' charges of misdirection and delay on the part of the United States naval administration during the early six months of the war was shown in the majority and minority reports published to-day of the Senate Naval Committee's investigation of the controversy between Admiral Sims and former Secretary Daniels.

Assailed by the majority for having pursued what is declared was a "self-defensive, non-aggressive, and non-helpful policy during the early stages of the war," the naval administration was upheld in the minority report as amply vindicated by the uniform success of the operations, and deserving the "hearty commendation of the Committee and the people."

HOLD TWO MEN IN EXPLOSION CASE

ITALIANS DISCLAIM KNOWLEDGE OF BLOWING UP OF WAREHOUSE.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner.)

ST. CATHARINES, July 18.—The two Italians being held here by the police in connection with the attempt to blow up Titterington Brothers' fruit warehouse Sunday morning are being closely investigated though their names are withheld. It is suspected they are professional dynamiters brought in. They have been in Syracuse and other American cities as the papers show. The pair were caught running away from the building just after the explosion awoke the neighborhood. "No speak English" is all the police can get out of them, Chief Greene said today.

CAR BURSTS IN FLAMES AND IS DESTROYED ON ROAD

KINGSTON, July 18.— While a party of tourists from West Collingwood, N.J., were on the Kingston highway seven miles east of Napanee, the car suddenly burst into flames and was completely destroyed. Mr. and Mrs. Glaspell and family were in the car and they escaped. They were on their way from Toronto to Kingston to take a boat for Cape Vincent, on their way home.

Studying Under Gallows' Shadow

CONDEMNED TO DIE, LINGUIST MAKES RAPID STRIDES IN FRENCH LANGUAGE.

(Special Despatch to the Examiner.

QUEBEC, July 18. — The hope that springs eternal in the breast of man finds a striking illustration in the case of the famed "Big Mike", the erstwhile Russian University man who lies in the shadow of the gallows in the Quebec jail, following his conviction of complicity in the murder of one Kestinian at Kenogami last year.

"Big Mike" is claimed to be the most accomplished linguist who ever graced a prison cell in Canada and since his confinement here has made rapid strides in his study of the French language. Following his incarceration he is pleased that he is supplied with French books and, by a assiduous study, has progressed to a point where he is now a rapid reader. Prior to this he was reported able to write and speak some ten languages.

He is a towering man and a graduate of Czernowitz University. He was abount to be called to the bar when he became mixed up in a card scandal as a result of which he fled his country. Emigrating to America, he soon fell into evil ways and became a member of numerous bands of law breakers in the United States his activities leading up to the tragedy for which he is sentenced to pay the penalty of his life.

POLICE COURT DOCKET BROKE MOST RECORDS

ONE OF THE BUSIEST WEEK-ENDS POLICE EVER HAD ENDS IN LONG LIST OF COURT CASES TO-DAY.

LIQUOR CASES AS USUAL WERE IN THE MAJORITY

The so-called palmy days of the police court had nothing on the long list of cases Chief Newhall laid before Justices of the Peace Harry Rush and Vincent Eastwood this morning. It may be that the bone-dry law now coming into effect will mop up the sources that have been flowing freely in spite of the O.T.A. otherwise its advocates are due for disillusionment. You would never have guessed this morning that there was such a thing as prohibition in effect from the number of liquor cases that leered at the law from the Chief's docket, representing one of the busiest week-ends and Sundays, the police department has been through in years.

The feautre of this morning's bill was the hearing of a charge against Mrs. Allan Furber, 304 1-2 Water street, of obstructing the police, in the execution of their duty.

According to the report of the men engaged in this fracas, near the corner of Charlotte and Water street, opposite the market, it seems that Robert Clancy informed the police that he had missed his watch at the Furber House. About five o'clock P. C. Thomas set out to make inquiries, and walked into a little Sunday afternoon jollification. There were whiskey bottles, both empty and full about the place, and the empties were explained by the indications of intoxication.

One of these evidences was Enos Meyette, who was dosing in a garden back of the house. P. C. Bromley, who accompanied P. C. Thomas, volunteered to take Meyette in tow, and Thomas in the meantime seized three bottles of whiskey and tucked them under his arm with the intention of carrying them off as evidence.

Mrs. Furber and her husband, both of them drunk, according to the police, set upon Thomas, the woman grabbing him by the tunic and generally starting to mix things with him. In the melee Furber grabbed two of the bottles and threw them over a fence. He swung at the policeman's head, but Thomas dodged the blow, and Thomas with the bottles gone from his arm, used it with good effect on Furber's jaw. Mrs. Furber was giving the police the benefit of a tongue and a vocabulary which used to be attributed to the barrooms, only infinitely worse coming from a woman's lips.

An incidental episode was the despatching of P. C. Bromley to Magistrate's Rush's home for a search warrant. On the way the police car (hitting something around 40 miles) bumped a buggy driven by Gordon Fairbairn, at the corner of McDonnel and George street, breaking some of the harness. When Thomas returned and activities were renewed, it was found that Meyette had disapepared. He was rounded up in the public lavatory and was taken back to the Furber house. Arriving there the police discovered

DEVALERA CLAIMS TO REPRESENT ALL IRELAND AND THE POSITION OF ULSTER WILL BE AN OBSTACLE

CRAIG SPENDS MOST OF DAY CONFERRING WITH COLLEAGUES AND IT IS EXPECTED LLOYD GEORGE AND DEVALERA WILL THRESH OUT ULSTER QUESTION AT MEETING SCHEDULED FOR LATE THIS AFTERNOON—SMUTS AGAIN IN LIMELIGHT.

BY CHTRLES McCANN.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner.)

LONDON, July 18. — Negotiations for Irish peace were resumed here to-day with a conference bettween Premier Lloyd George and "President" DeValera, scheduled for the late afternoon.

The first obstacle to be overcome as to the various factions gathered their forces together to-day, proved to be the determining of Ulster's share in the negotiations. It became more apparent than ever that DeValera will insist on being treated as the representative of all Ireland, not the chief of the Southern counties.

Sir James Craig, Premier of Ulster, remained in London, but when the afternoon rolled around without word of a conference with Lloyd George, it was believed DeValera and Lloyd George, would thresh out the Ulster question at their 4:50 meeting.

Sir James spent most of the day in conference with the members of his Cabinet.

SMUTS AGAIN IN THE LIMELIGHT.

LONDON, July 18. Canadian Press —General Jan C. Smuts, the South African Premier, who had a prominent part in the early informal negotiations which brought about the truce in Ireland ,and the peace conference now in progress, reappeared to-day as a factor in the Irish negotiations.

Mr. Lloyd George had been at his official residence in Downing street only a short time this forenoon, after his return from the country, when Viscount Fitzalan, the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, called at Downing street, and had a long talk with the Prime Minister, during which they were joined by General Smuts, the conference continuing for more than a hour.

General Smuts has not figured previously in the conversations which have been going on at Downing street, since the truce went into effect. It was learned to-day that the Prime Minister and General Smuts had a long discussion of the stuation at Chequers Court yesterday. It was General Smuts' Dublin trip which is believed to have had much to do with bringing the Irish delegations to London for the peace conference

MAY POSTPONE PARLEYS.

LONDON, July 18. Canadian Press — A postponement of the Irish peace negotiations until to-morrow at least apepared likely this morning when it was learned that the conversations between Lloyd George and DeValera, the Irish Republican leader, might not be held until Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, had been given an opportunity for further consultation with his followers.

Lloyd George returned early this morning from Chequers Court, his country home, but late this afternoon no decision had been reached as to whether he would be able to meet DeValera to-day

In view of the secretiveness of all those principally concerned in the Irish negotiations, this morning's editorial comment generally is cautious in referring to the outlook, but some of the writers venture the belief that any definite outcome is not to be expected for some time and intimate that the Sinn Fein leaders are not inclined to hasten the deliberations.

The Daily Mail to substantiate its belief that the conference now going on between the Prime Minister and Eamonn DeValera will be a long drawn out affair, hints that Mr. DeValera will have to return to Dublin for consultation with the Dail Eireann leaders after Mr. Lloyd George has given final expression of the British Government's attitude concerning the entire Irish situation.

SAY PETERBOROUGH IS A PRETTY CITY.

Messrs. Frank and Fred. Gadd, of Detroit, have returned home after a brief visit to their brother, Mr. C. Gadd, 467 King Street. The brothers, who had not met for nearly twenty years, made the trip in a Templar touring car, and were delighted with their first glimpse of our pretty city. They thought the roads from Hamilton to Peterborough were very good, and were only sorry that they were unable to extend their trip up around London and Brantford, where the roads have been damaged considerably by the recent cloudbursts in that district.

DRY ONTARIO AT MIDNIGHT

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

OTTAWA, July 18. — After 12 midnight, standard time, the "bone dry" law is in effect in Ontario. Thereafter it's for the Ontario license authorities to enforce the law.

To-day afforded thirsty Peterborough citizens a last chance to stock up their cellars in preparation for an extended drought. This was the last day of grace to get in liquor by the system commonly known as "short-circuiting," and hundreds have availed themselves of it. The orders are sent to American agents of companies in the States and through them the sparkling liquid is delivered from Ontario and New Brunswick distilleries and breweries. During the latter part of last week the express companies had a busy time handling the local shipments from Toronto, Hamilton and down east. Saturday the flood reached its height. In all 65 cases of alcoholic beverages poured into the city on Saturday, License Inspector J. Stewart said to-day. The C.P.R. handled 49 of these and the G.T.R. 16 to-day Mr Stewart anticipated even heavier shipments received

After to-day, Mr. Stewart said, liquor could not lawfully be brought in from any point and he expected considerable smuggling as in 1919. The shipments have been light right along, he said, but last week the flow began to increase. Peterborough seemed to be taking most of the supply, he said. Havelock in one month, from June 6 to July 6, only got 14 cases, and Norwood, in about the same time got but 10 or 12. Several large individual shipments have been received, he said, and he mentioned one of 25 cases that came in on Friday. Of the Saturday rush there were six or seven large flour barrels of lager and a considerable quantity of light wines.

CHURCH SERVICES AT MARK STREET

SERMON ON THE "PRICE OF A SOUL," BY THE PASTOR.

Most gratifying were the congregations on Sabbath, both morning and evening. The services were deeply spiritual and the music was good.

The subject of the morning sermon was, "The Price of a Soul," and was a development of Isiah LIII., 2, 'He shall see of the travail of his soul and shall be satisfied." The following is a synopsis of the sermon.

Isiah's Vision of the Coming Messiah.

Through types and shadows, mists and vapours, clouds of burning incense, and the smoke of consuming sacrifice, the prophet sees, with the eye of faith, the coming conqueror, the Messiah. He is the wonderful counseller, the mighty God, the everlasting father, the prince of peace. He is to be the king of kings and lord of lords. He shall bear upon His shoulders the government of the spiritual universe. He shall come from Edom, with dyed garments from Bazrah. His apparel shall be glorious, He shall travel in the greatness of His own strength; speaking in righteousness and mighty to save. The travail of His own mighty soul He shall see and be satisfied.

The Travail of the Messiah's Soul.

Jesus has eaten that mysterious supper with His disciples; has girded Himself with a towel, and washed their feet; joined them in the singing of one last hymn, and given His final word to Judas; and now they leave that upper room, never more to return. Passing along the street of the city, they cross the brook Cedron and enter the garden hard by the city wall. Not only has He entered Gethsemane, but He has entered the valley of death—for it is here His travail begins, and here is the opening scene in the most sublime tragedy of all the ages.

It Is the Travail of the Soul, Not of the Body.

The awful hour has come, the hour for which all other hours were made, the fullness of time, the hour [illegible] the Councils of Eternity. [illegible] Son of God fall prostrate in prayer beneath these old fantastic trees. Listen to His call of agony. "Oh, my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me; nevertheless, not my will, but thine be done. Heaven beholds in awe and wonder. Hell itself stands appalled. Lifting in though His wondrous face, we behold it covered with a crimson perspiration: His sweat is as great drops of blood falling down to the ground. What is this mysterious cup? It is the red cup of divine wrath poured out against sin. The gall and bitterness of human sin and agony throughout the ages, is poured into that blood-red cup, and Jesus drinks it to the very dregs. No wonder that from every pore of His matchless body the red dew of death oozed forth, and dyed the grass at His weary feet. This was the travail of His soul.

His Was Not the Death of a Martyr.

No martyr ever died alone. When the Hebrew captives walked the firey vault the Son of God walked with them. Men have been known to declare, as they stood at the stake amid the flames, that they felt no pain at all. Why was this? It was because the Son of God stood by the martyr, whether he was of the Old Testament times or the New. He knew that Jesus was near him, and that a great cloud of invisible witnesses watched him die. But the Man of Nazareth dies alone. His was a double death. It was both physical and spiritual. It is a separation of His pure soul from God His Father. The crashing of the nails through His hands and feet produced no agony fit to be compared to the awful anguish of Gethsemane. Think of it—from Thursday night until Friday evening He was slowly dying. Thus He travails in anguish, and pays the price of your soul and mine. If this mighty sacrifice, expressive of eternal love for sinners, fails to reach us, nothing else ever will bring us back to God.

But He Shall Be Satisfied With the Issue.

Jesus shall not die in vain. Millions have appropriated the virtue of His death to their individual case; and having accepted the sacrifice by a loving, obedient faith of the heart, have passed in triumph on to the paradise of God. Countless hosts crossing the river of death from heathen darkness, who never heard of Christ or Calvary, but lived according to the "true light that lighteneth every man that cometh into the world"; they were bought with His blood, and having served Him as well as they knew, they shall be saved. Millions upon millions of little children who died before they reached the age of accountability, will be saved, for Jesus paid the price of their salvation. The will is the man, and these babes never willed to sin; so they are saved, whether they were baptised or not. Mighty multitudes, who have been mentally defective, shall join the triumphant host, and the powers of intellect shall be no longer impaired. Yes, Christ shall see of the travail of His soul and shall be satisfied with His blood-bought Church; and His triumphant Church shall be satisfied when she awakes in His glorious likeness.

But What of the Lost, Who Are Also His by Redemption?

Jesus shall be satisfied with the whole issue. His blood was shed for every soul of man. All who will come, may come. If a man refuses to be saved on this side of eternity, amid the hallowed influences of the Gospel, he could not be expected to accept Christ beyond the grave, where saving influences are for ever past. Jesus could do nothing more for a sinner than He has done—the unsaved must bear the responsibility. Jesus sees and is satisfied.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, July 18 (Canadian Press).—The weakness of Atlantic Gulf was featured at the dull and heavy opening of to-day's stock market. The first sale of 30 shares at 21 1-2 was followed by another transaction of 1,500 shares at 21, an extreme decline of 1 1-4 points.

Crucible and U. S. Steels and Baldwin Locomotive added fractionally to last week's reversals, with U. S Rubber and American Telephone. Steadiness was shown by Mexican Petroleum, General Asphalt and Union Pacific.

Increased pressure forced Atlantic Gulf down over two points, but other oils, especially Mexican Petroleum and General Asphalt, were decidedly strong. Steels and Equipments threw off their early heaviness. General Electric showing marked strength. Movements among the Rails and Shippings were irregular and a re-actionary tone marked the trading in American Car and American Smelting. Leathers, Textiles and Food issues rose and fell confusingly. Unsettlement in the Foreign Exchange Market with the British rate at the lowest level of the year, served to restrain buying for long account. Call money opened at 6 per cent.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, July 18 — (Canadian Press).—Big receipts gave a downward swing to wheat prices to-day. Arrivals here totalled 1,250 cars, the largest number in a long time. Bears derived advantage also from reports that although the black rust was general, the Manitoba crop was early and could be harvested in time to prevent serious loss. Opening quotations, which varied from 1 3-4 lower to ½ advance, with September 130½ to 131, and December 135 to 135¼, were followed by set-backs all around, and then something of a rally.

General realizing on the part of holders had a bearish effect on corn. After opening ½ lower to a 5-8 advance, including September at 63 7-8 to 64, the market underwent a general decline.

Oats held relatively steady as a result of bullish crop reports. The opening was unchanged to 3-8 higher; September, 42½ to 42 3-4. A moderate sag which ensued was soon overcome.

Provisions were firm owing to higher quotations on hogs.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, July 18 (Canadian Press).—Very little trading took place on the local stock exchange during the first half-hour this morning. Brazilian was stronger by half a point at 25 1-2. Brompton and National Breweries were both unchanged at 20 1-2 and 52 1-2 respectively.

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

TORONTO, July 18.—(Canadian Press).—Cattle market receipts 2504, trade slow. Quotations: Heavy beef steers, $7 to $7.75; butcher steers, choice, $7 to $7.75; butcher cows, medium, $3.25 to $4.75; calves, $8 to $10; lambs, $11 to $13; hogs, selects, $11.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, July 18.—(Canadian Press).—Sterling exchange easy; demand 3.60 5-8; Canadian dollars, 12 1-8 per cent.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, July 18.—(Canadian Press). — There was considerable trading in Government bonds on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day, mostly made up of broken lots at prices about on a par with those of last week's close. Toronto Railway at from 69 3-4 to 70, was fractionally higher than last week. Brazilian was bought at 25½ to 26, which was a little better than Friday's close. On the whole, the trend of this morning's market was steady to firmer.

War Is Threatened In Eastern Europe

IRISH PEACE PARLEYS RESUMED; DEVALERA REJECTS PROPOSITION MEET ULSTER REPRESENTATIVE

LLOYD GEORGE FIRST MEETS REPUBLICAN LEADER TO-DAY AND THEN CONFERS WITH PREMIER OF ULSTER.

(Special Despatch to the Examiner.)

LONDON, July 18. — Premier Lloyd George, continuing to-day his conferences on Irish peace, faced the problem of blending the Orange and the Green.

First he was to meet with "President" DeValera in a continuation of the conferences of last week. Later he expects to see Premier Sir James Craig of Ulster. From the two sessions Lloyd George expected to obtain assurances which would lead to a general peace conference.

DeValera offered little hope to the British officials when feelers were thrown out as to the possibility that he would meet with a representative of Ulster. The British were rebuffed with the statement from the "President's" followers that only DeValera can represent Ireland.

DeValera is not seeking a compromise solution for the Irish problem according to the last communique issued from Irish headquarters.

In Ireland the quietest week end in two years was reported. There was growing hope of peace in Belfast and there were no outbreak

The usual precaution troopers still patrolled the streets, but they were not called into action.

THE WEATHER

Another good shower on Sunday afternoon should have a tendency to restore the parched ground to renewed growth. The rainfall was considerably heavier than that of the previous week, and totalled .39 of an inch. Like most of the showers lately it was purely local, and did not extend more than ten miles to the south. The thermometer got up to 91 degrees before the rain came, but the shower soon cooled the heated atmosphere.—W. P.

GENERAL LEROND REPORTED SHOT

(Special Despatch to the Examiner.)

PARIS, July 18. — A wave of anti-German feeling passed over Paris to-day when it was reported that General Lerond had been assassinated in Upper Silesia. There was no official confirmation of the report. The War Department got in touch with the General's headquarters by wire to learn the origin of the rumour.

STEAMER ASHORE IN ST. LAWRENCE

RAPIS KING GROUNDS WEST OF CORNWALL WITH 329 ON BOARD

CORNWALL, July 18th. Canadian Press. — The palatial steamer, "Rapids King," of the Canada Steamship Lines, Limited, was beached on Saturday at the head of Barnhart's Island, in the St. Lawrence River, about ten miles west of Cornwall, as a result of an accident which befell her about 12.45 p.m., on Saturday. The vessel was however got off the rocks at 6:30 last evening and went down the river under her own steam.

All of her 329 tourist passengers were removed from the ship by the middle of the afternoon. They had been detained on the vessel from the time it ran aground.

When the passengers and baggage had been removed it was found that the boat could be worked off the rocks and she was safely turned around. The steering gear had been repaired during the day.

The damage sustained by the ship was not ascertainable yesterday but it is presumed it will not be great.

The boat had on board 329 passengers and a crew of 75, making a total of 404 souls, as well as three or four automobiles.

CAMPBELLFORD, July 18. — Many of the Knights of Columbus from Peterborough motored to Campbellford on Sunday morning to be present at Rev. Father Phelan's first mass in his new parish.

Among those present were: W. S. Merrill, Grand Knight; K. Sheehy, J. Lonergan, T. McCauley, Dr. O'Brien, A. MacPherson, T. Boyle, J. MacDonald, D. MacDonald, C. MacDonald, J. Grisdale, T. Fairen, E. Hickey, J. Kelly, J. O'Brien, J. Cairns, M. Neary, P. Milloy, M. Tooley, J. Begley, S. Anglesey, J. Condon, also Alderman N. E. Phelan and Mrs. Phelan, Miss M. Merrill, Mrs. K. Sheehy, and Mr. and Mrs. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Shannon, of Toronto.

Father Phelan preached a splendid sermon at both masses, his text being, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." He explained very beautifully how to love Almighty God. Who is the source of every good; we must love our neighbor even to our enemies, and thus throw away our petty pride which is such a hindrance to the great brotherhood of mankind.

His opening remarks dealt with the change in the administration of the parish, and his full appreciation of the responsibilities entailed, but if all worked together everything would turn out well. He was making unrestricted offerings of his energy and strength for the furtherance of the work here, and as the faith, loyalty and fidelity of the parishioners of Campbellford were known everywhere, there was no doubt of the continued progress of the parish.

He expressed himself as being well pleased with his recention in Campbellford, and he thanked the Knights for their kindness in coming to Campbellford for his first Sunday there. He assured them that they should always be heartily welcome at any time.

Mr. J. Cairns delighted all by singing a ebautiful solo during the mass.

Killed By Lightning.

A very distressing accident occurred five miles north of Marmora on Thursday of last week, when Stewart Ayhart, age 30 years, was instantly killed by lightning.

Deceased, who was a farmer, was unloading hay in the barn when he was struck by a bolt of lightning, which threw him about eight feet at the feet of his companion. His hat was torn to shreds, his hair singed, his face scorched, and the bolt passed down the left side, tearing the trousers and stripping the left boot completely off.

His house and barn were completely burned. He is survived by his widow and one child, sixteen months old. He was a brother of Mayor Ayhart, of Marmora, and a cousin to Mr. Wm. Ayhart, of Campbellford.

The funeral, which was on Saturday afternoon, was the largest ever witnessed in Marmora, and the Methodist Church could not accommodate all the people.

Motor Accident.

Mr. Wm. Fisher was the loser of a valuable horse on Saturday evening, when Mr. Rolfver's car collided with it in front of the Methodist Church sheds.

Mr. Fisher's son was driving out of the lane leading from the sheds at a fairly good pace, endeavoring to turn in ahead of another buggy which was coming from the direction of Sebastopol Street. Mr. Oliver, who was coming up behind the second buggy at a moderate speed, turned out to go by it, when he suddenly saw Mr. Fisher directly in front of him.

Mr. Fisher might have escaped if he had continued in the direction in which he was going, but he stopped and tried to back out of the way. As a result, the car struck the horse on the left front leg, breaking it in three places, which necessitated its being shot.

The radiator of the car was damaged, also the fenders and light.

Personals.

Miss A. Greer and Mr. Bailey, of Peterborough, spent the week-end in town.

Mr. Leon Wilkinson spent Sunday in town.

Mr. T. McManus was home over the week-end.

WINE EXPORT INCREASE IN SPITE OF PROHIBITION

PARIS, July 18. — (Associated Press).—An increase in the exportations of wines and liquors from France in the first quarter of this year as compared with the same period of 1913 is a surprising discovery.

In the meantime, France has lost two of her biggest customers for wines and brandies, Russia and the United States.

Of the brandies and liquors Germany took about half. Argentine, Turkey and England followed in that order.

RUSSO-POLISH ENMITY HOLDS THREAT OF WAR

BOTH COUNTRIES MOBILIZE BUT RUSSIAN TROOPS MAY BE SENT TO HELP KEMALISTS.

POLES REPLY TO THE SOVIET'S ULTIMATUM

(Special Despatch to the Examiner.)

COPENHAGEN, July 18. — Enmity between Poland and Russia threatened to-day to burst into open warfare. Both countries were reported to be mobilizing.

Poland called up the classes of 1885 to 1894. The Russians were said to have mobilized seven classes. The service to which the latter would be called is not known but there were reports that the soldiers might be sent into action along the western front.

Followers of Russian affairs also considered the possibility that the fighters might be sent to Asia Minor to assist the hard pressed Kemalists.

The Polish Government has made a formal answer to Russia's ultimatum calling for the suppression of anti-Bolshevik leaders in Warsaw, notably M. Savinkoff.

The Poles declare they did not countenance the Anti-Soviet activities of any man or any group, but that the country reserved the right to offer political asylum to refugees.

SERIOUS BUSH FIRE CHECKED

NECESSARY TO GET AID FROM KINGSTON TO FIGHT FIRE BURNING SINCE THURSDAY.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

KINGSTON, July 18.—One of the worst bush fires in the Kingston district in forty years raged around Glenburnie, about nine miles from the city, all day Sunday. The fire started on Thursday last, but at first it was not believed of a serious nature. On Sunday, however, the blaze was fanned by a strong southwest wind, and the situation became so serious that Kingston was asked for aid, and Mayor Nickle sent Chief Armstrong and four men with the Chatham fire engine and 1,500 feet of hose.

Water was pumped out of a creek, and the firemen stayed on the job all night, and this morning were relieved by other firemen. The fire was still burning at 10 o'clock this morning, but it was believed that the worst was over. The fire stretched over an area of fifty acres, and the farmers who suffered were Patrick Kelly, Robert Orr and Michael Burke.

It is believed that the fire was caused through the carelessness of some berry-pickers who were in Burke's bush on Thursday last, as the fire started in this bush.

Mayor Nickle was one of the first Kingston men to reach the scene of the first, and he turned in and worked like a Trojan with the firemen. The work of handling the hose through the bush was most difficult. Had the fire not been checked by the firemen it would have covered a much larger area, and many farmers would have suffered a heavy loss of farm property, hay and grain.

HE DOESN'T FEEL LIKE SAME MAN

DOESN'T HESITATE IN SAYING TANLAC IS THE BEST MEDICINE HE EVER SAW OR HEARD OF.

"Nothing ever helped me until I got Tanlac, and now I feel just like a brand new man," said William Clegg, 3 Bridge street Toronto, Ont.

"At the time I began taking Tanlac I had been gradually going down hill on account of a bad case of indigestion. My stomach got out of order and I could scarcely eat anything and finally had to limit myself to a diet of milk and other light foods. If I ventured to eat anything the least bit heavy my stomach hurt so bad I could hardly stand it. I had terrible pains in my right side and chest and up in my neck and shoulders at times.

"I was continually taking something for constipation and had such headaches I was nearly blind at times. Often I got so dizzy I could hardly stand up and as I had fallen off a great deal I was very weak.

"I saw a Tanlac testimonial that impressed me so that I decided to give it a trial. The first bottle helped me so much I got another, and kept on taking it until now I don't feel like the same man. My appetite is so fine I eat like a horse, and although I am eating anything I want nothing ever hurts me. I am free of constipation, all my aches and pains have left me and I just feel fine all the time. I don't hesitate in saying Tanlac is the best medicine I ever saw or heard of.'

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowler's Corners by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

Miss Z. Weir, of the millinery department of the Cressman Co., Ltd., leaves this week for a holiday in Toronto and Niagara Falls. She is accompanied by her sister, Mrs. H. F. Morphy, of Smith's Falls, who has been visiting here.

BARBARA BECOMES DOUBTFUL.

Chapter 13.

"Where was Kent on Thursday night?" I asked myself. The question was tormenting me dreadfully. Was it really a business trip that had taken him to Philadelphia, and why was Tom Barney so desirous of finding out about it? Perhaps there was nothing unusual about it at all. Kent had told me the truth, and I was just worrying foolishly. If only Tom had not been so strangely inquisitive I would not have thought anything of it. And yet Kent had not told Mr. Blake, and then there was the mysterious $500.

I wanted to come right out and ask Kent all about it, and tell him about Tom, but I hated to have him think I doubted him for an instant. He valued my faith in him so dearly.

That night after dinner I suddenly got to thinking of the diamond which Victor Lachman had lost, Kent was lying down on the couch reading the paper and I was sitting by the table sewing.

"Have you heard anything more about the lost diamond, dear?" I asked. "I don't like to bother Mrs. Walker by calling her on the 'phone too often. I only met her that once, you know."

Kent went right on reading his paper as though he had not heard me. I took up my sewing again.

"No, don't call her up—or, maybe it might be a good idea for you to do it," he said, abruptly. "Yes, telephone her to-morrow and inquire about it," he added, as though he suddenly had a reason for having me do it.

I went on sewing and nothing was said for some few minutes.

Kent got up from the couch, and dropped the newspaper to the floor.

"Think I'll go out and take a little walk, Babs."

He took a cigarette out of his case, and stood tapping it gently on the back of his hand. He walked around in back of my chair, and struck a match on the edge of the match holder.

"Did you deposit some of that money to-day?" he asked. I thought his voice sounded a little unsteady, but I could not see his face.

"No, Kent—I didn't. I waited a minute, but he did not say anything. Then before I knew it, the question rushed from me. "Where did you get that $500, Kent?" and then I heartily wished that I had not asked.

"If you are going to act like that I'll be sorry I gave it to you," he thrust at me irritably. It wasn't at all like Kent to speak so.

"Oh, Kent, you have never minded telling me before," I returned, my voice trembling.

"I got it in Philadelphia. Isn't that enough?" he said, striding back and forth with his hands jammed deeply into his trouser pockets.

"But, how could you make that much in one trip to Philadelphia?" I asked, sorely tempted to try and find out the truth of things.

"Don't pick at me, Barbara. I can't stand it," he said desperately.

I was fearfully disturbed. My doubts were growing bigger by the minute. A cold creepiness passed all over me. Yet it was too late to turn back—I intended to learn the truth from Kent if it were possible.

I put my sewing on the table.

Kent had dropped down on the couch and sat with his head buried in his hands.

I went over to him and, sitting down by his side, slipped my arm around his shoulders.

"We have always played fair with each other, boy. Can't you tell me all about it? I trust you so much, Kent, and I know if you will tell me about it I'll understand," I pleaded.

He drew his hands from his face and clenched them together in front of him as though he were in agony. I waited and tightened my grip on his shoulder.

"That's the part that's killing me, Babs—that—that you do trust me—and I'm afraid—afraid I'll loose your trust and faith."

My arm dropped down slowly from his shoulder, and I staggered to my feet, fear gripping my heart.

"Is it — it is another woman, Kent?" I asked, and I heard my voice as though it was someone's else, strange and distant.

The Most Honest Form of Sales Promotion

Daily Newspaper advertising is the most potent selling force of all time and by far the most honest form of sales promotion.

The goodness or badness of the article advertised is at once open to challenge and to proof.

That is why the public responds to daily newspaper advertising.

And that is why any manufacturer with "good" goods, right prices, proper distribution and well-directed daily newspaper advertising can hardly fail to achieve a success with his publicity.

GOOD ROADS NEEDED.

If the drawing power of the scenic beauty of the Kawartha Lakes is to be used to its full advantage, a very important step that must be taken is the provision of better roads throughout the lake district. Most of the present roads, it must be admitted, are in wretched condition, and until they are succeeded by more comfortable thoroughfares it is useless to expect that the Kawarthas will receive the attention from motorists that their charm merits. Many of the tourists who visit Canada each year prefer to motor rather than to travel by rail, and with an adequate system of good roads throughout the lake section this district could count upon entertaining thousands of motoring tourists each summer. In other respects the Kawartha Lakes can meet the competition of any other beauty spot in the province, but better facilities for the car owners are needed if the full tide of tourist traffic is to be diverted to this district.

THE LOGICAL SITE.

Peterborough seems to be the logical site for the fish hatchery which is to be located along the Trent Waterway by the Department of Game and Fisheries next year, and it is to be hoped that the authorities will co-operate with Mr. Tooms, M.P.P., the Game and Fisheries Association and other associations and individuals who have been endeavouring to have this city selected. A free site of about two acres and free water have been offered by Lidnsay as concessions for the securing of the hatchery, and there is no reason why this district should not be able to duplicate that offer, while the transportation facilities afforded here should be sufficient to land the prize for this city. A hatchery of this nature, in addition to the commercial value it possesses, is an asset in another sense inasmuch as it is laid out in ponds on terraced ground, provided with miniature water falls, and is a place of beauty and interest to citizens and visitors. Every effort should be made to see that this district is successful in securing this much to be prized plant.

THE WESTERN CROPS.

With the crop conditions in the East poorer than for some seasons, there is every reason to rejoice that the prairie provinces give promise of having the best crops since 1915. The result of an enormous crop in the West cannot fail to be reflected throughout the whole Dominion and have a stimulating effect upon the realm of business and industry. One beneficial result will be felt in the near future, for harvesting operations in the west this year will require an army of at least 40,000 workers, and many of the unemployed in the East will be able to secure steady work at good wages for at least two months. Special rates are being offered by the railways and every facility is being offered to those who realize the opportunity the western harvest offers of preparing a nest egg for the coming winter. Canadians have reason to rejoice that the prospects in the prairie provinces are so bright as to offset much of the depression that has prevailed since the beginning the present year. The western crop reports furnish most cheerful reading to be found in our newspapers at present.

SAVING OUR FORESTS.

A few days ago the Examiner called attention to the advertising campaign inaugurated by the Ontario Forestry branch in an effort to arouse the people of the province to the necessity of uniting to save Ontario's forests from the fire menace. Many of Peterborough's people go camping, hunting and fishing each year and to them the warning published in Saturday's edition should be of especial significance. It is rather startling information to find that neglected camp fires are the cause of one out of every nine forest fires and that ordinary precautions would have saved five hundred and fifty fires from this cause in the last few years. To campers and anglers and hunters this impressive advertisement should bring the resolve that they will exercise every possible precaution in the future and will guard against carelessness in the handling of matches, cigarettes, cigar butts and pipe ashes and in the building of camp fires. A forest fire, involving millions of dollars in property damage, and the possible sacrifice of human lives, requires only a tiny spark to start it, so that, as the Forestry branch puts it, 'the duty of prevention of fire rests upon every one who steps inside our forests." Never build a big camp fire and always remember to extinguish it when you leave.

ROAD LOCATION.

Early roads in Ontario were located mainly with the idea of securing a road with as little expenditure as possible. Consequently the dry land was followed as much as practicable. In the sub-division of the land, road allowances were provided in the survey along straight, fixed lines, with no regard to grades, alignment or distance.

To make a general revision of these roads in order to secure proper location is beyond contemplation, although in the end the abandoning of old routes and selecting new ones in many instances might be justifiable. However, there can be no doubt that the alteration of sections of many existing roads should be insisted upon before extensive improvement is made. These alterations would apply where the change could reasonably be made without affecting expensive property, and would be with a view to securing better grades, easier curves, firmer foundation, cheaper drainage, better and less costly crossings over streams, and safer crossings over railways. In many instances the old location may be fairly good with a few exceptions, and if short detours were made at these points the desired improvement could be accomplished with economical and satisfactory results. Grade crossings at railways are always a source of danger to the user of the highway, and although it may not be practical to eliminate all of them, it is surprising how many can be done away with by a simple and inexpensive change in the location, especially where the old road crosses and re-crosses the railway. In Ontario usually the highway was there, and the railway was built regardless of the number of crossings, but with the improvement of the road and the road vehicle comes increased travel and correspondingly increased danger and loss of life and property.

The cost of subways or overhead structures to do away with surface crossings is expensive, and, consequently, protection by this method will be necessarily slow. In the older settlements, as in most parts of the province, the roads are already located; therefore, in selecting the roads which are to be classified as Provincial roads, Provincial county roads, county roads, etc., selections for each class will be made from these. So that elimination of dangerous surface crossings by alteration of location or short detours, should be exhaustively studied in connection with any contemplated road improvement.

The increasing amount of traffic, and the change in the character of the traffic offer new features in determining location. The shortest distance between the points has influenced to some extent in the location, but with the motor cars, substantial bridges, safe railway crossings, easy grades and open curves should have a bearing; the slightly increased distance to secure these is not considered objectionable. Where it is clear that a change should be made, it should be the first work of improvement. Even after the wisdom of such change is evident, authorities hesitate to interfere with existing conditions, fearing criticism from porperty owners affected and the trouble and expense of the necessary bylaws, but any delay and cutlay upon old location only renders the alteration more difficult later on.

Men of to-day are making a special study of this problem, and astounding are their reports as to the simplicity with which so many of these death traps can be removed by simple alterations of short sections of the old location.—Municipal World.

Good Enough to Marry.

For reasons of economy, a certain dowager had to part with her butler. She gave him a cordial reference to a prospective employer. A few days later she was annoyed to get a catechism of questions from this lady: "Was he courteous, gentlemanly, honest and of distinguished appearance?"

To which she replied: "The Dowager Lady Blank wishes to say that if her butler owned half the virtues enumerated she would have married him herself years ago."

Mr. D. H. Charlton was in the village from Kawartha Park on Friday.

Rink Under Way.

The cement work on the new rink has begun, and in a short time the foundation will be complete. The rink will front Colborne Street just a block east of the G. T. R. Station. It will be a great addition to the public buildings of the village, and will amply provide the accommodation sorely needed for winter sports.

A well is being driven on the rink property to ensure a proper water supply.

Building Dance Pavilion.

Mr. A. G. Lawless is building a dancing pavilion on his property near the dock. The work is going on rapidly, and it will be used during this season. This will be a great attracton for the young people of the village are enthusiasts about dancing.

Rain Helps Later Crops.

Thursday's rain (which very cleverly dodged the unlucky St. Swithin's Day) did an immense amount of good to the gardens and crops, and as it was general, the country at large will share the benefit. While it was too late for some of the crops, it will save the majority, unless another period of drought sets in.

THREE DROWN NEAR OTTAWA

NO WITNESSES OF FATALITY NEAR CHATS RAPIDS.

OTTAWA, July 18. — (Canadian Press.)— Three Ottawa girls were drowned Saturday afternoon near Chats Rapids. No one saw the drowning and there is only conjecture as to how the fatality occurred.

The victims are: Miss Alice Roy, aged 24, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Roy, 126 Empress avenue, and her two cousins, Yvette Chatillon, aged eight, and Anette Chatillon, aged six, only daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Hector Chatillon, of 119 Rochester street.

For some years Mr. and Mrs. Roy have had a summer cottage on an island near Fitzroy Harbor, on the Ottawa River. On Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Chatillon and their family left Ottawa to spend the week end with them. Miss Roy took her two cousins out to pick flowers. They returned to the cottage about four in the afternoon and presented Mrs. Chatillon with a bouquet. They then left expressing the intention of picking another bouquet for Mrs. Roy.

Yesterday morning about five o'clock, M. Chatillon, who was still searching, espied the body of Miss Roy floating near the shore. A short time later the bodies of his own two daughters were found by a neighbor.

SALTS IS FINE FOR KIDNEYS, QUIT MEAT

Flush the Kidneys at Once When Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudly, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. The famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritatios, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

SOVIETS BEGIN TO BUY GOODS FOR OWN USE

MACHINERY, TEXTILES, LOCOMOTIVES SOUGHT ABROAD.

LONDON, July 18.—Bolshevism has gone into business.

For the time being at any rate, the world-wide political propaganda of the Soviets has been sidetracked.

To-day the Soviet communistic leaders are searching world markets for machinery, textiles, locomotives and repair parts for the crippled Russian factories. They want some food—canned goods mainly.

Russia Buys Goods.

To-day Soviet Russia is actually buying goods in every highly industrialized country, England, Germany and Italy.

Believes in Realties.

This is a rough summary of what I learn from the Russian trade delegation here in London, the chief of which is Leonid Krassin, one-time revolutionist, still a communist, but also a man "who believes in the realities," as Soviet attaches here say.

In other words, Krassin is classed by his own people as a "practical idealist" as contrasted with the purely theoretical communist, of which Russia has her full share these days.

One year ago Soviet Russia's reputation here in London (except in labor circles) was blacker probably than in any other country in Europe.

To-day a marvellous transformation has taken place. Soviet commissioners may be seen here any day hurrying to and fro in the business section of London, some of them riding in spanking brand new automobiles, hugging large portfolios of specifications, busily engaged in ordering goods for Russia.

No longer is the bar of silence maintained between the Soviet delegation and the newspapers. Soviet communiques are issued with as much freedom and more frequency than statements come from the old established embassies of France, Italy and other powers.

London Accepts Buyers.

Apparently, the majority of London has accepted the Soviet buyers as an immediate necessity.

The Liberal English press and the Labor party organs continually insist world reconstruction and British prosperity is impossible unless Russia is opened up and again resumes her place in the list of great buying and selling nations.

Backed by the prestige of the British Foreign Office, and by a decisian of the British courts, the Soviet delegation may acquire, in any way it pleases, property inside Russia and ship same to England.

Bluntly, the British have legalized confiscations in Russia; but certainly they do not encourage any such manoeuvre on the part of the Moscow Government.

Bulk of business opinion, and the verdict of the British diplomats, would seem to be: Let's straighten out the bygones of Russia somehow or other — but meanwhile we must not let past errors hinder the pressing business of rehabilitating commercial relations.

Wants to Sell.

England—in the midst of widespread trade depression—wants to sell goods and revive home prosperity. Russia, according to the Soviet representatives, is a great market and offers gold and other credits as guarantees for purchases. Briefly, the two nations are getting together commercially.

France may protest; America may stand amazed at the spectacle of England fraternizing with the Soviet Government—but the Soviet delegation here is not worrying much. They confidently believe they will be trading with the United States before long; and they don't care a rap about French protests.

"France has nothing to sell," the Soviet representatives say. "She has only her enormous debts for money loaned the corrupt Czarist Government, much of which was used to maintain the grand dukes in profligate luxury. We will talk of these French debts later — now we are preoccupied trying to re-establish Russia of to-day."

RULES A WIFE CANNOT STEAL FROM HUSBAND

Court Frees Bellport Woman Sentenced to Jail for Home Pocket Picking.

RIVERSIDE, N. Y., July 18. — An unusual decision was given by Judge George H. Furman at a special term of the County Court this week, when he reversed the conviction of a Justice of the Peace in the case of Mrs. Theresa Marabella, 40 years old, sentenced on June 8 to four months in the County Jail, on a charge of stealing $10 from a trousers pocket of her husband, Frank Marabella, a laborer of Bellport.

She spent the money on a trip to New York and was arrested a few days later in Brooklyn on a warrant sworn out by her husband. He appeared against her in the Justice's court and demanded that she be punished. She was brought to the County Jail here on June 9.

Mrs. Marrabella's case was brought to the attention of several women of the county who were instrumental in having Percy L. Housel, of Riverhead, take an appeal to the County Court. On June 21 Mrs. Marabella was released and placed in the custody of a probation officer. Lawyer Housel showed that under the common law, which obtained in such a case, it was impossible for a wife to steal from her husband or a husband from his wife. Judge Furman ordered Mrs. Marabella discharged.

Mrs. Marabella has become reconciled with her husband.

TRAP 3 AFTER BOAST FROM UNDERWORLD OF $20,000 ROBBERY.

Taunts Following Daring Jewel Theft Cause Police to Guard Building.

NEW YORK, July 18.— Burglars went through the loft building at 338 Canal street last January, gathered $20,000 worth of jewelry and precious stones from the manufacturers who occupy the place and got away. For weeks the underworld haunts rang with their boasts of the neat job they had done.

Then they made a mistake. Their boasts changed to taunts. They were experts. They could blow a safe under the very eyes of the police, get rid of the loot and snap their fingers at pursuit. They were coming back and do it all over again in the very same place.

Acting Captain John J. Stapleton, head of the loft and safe squad, heard of the taunts from a stool-pigeon. That made the Captain angry. For nearly three months after that an inconspicuous person in civilian clothes was lounging about the loft building. There never was an hour when some stranger was not near, though not often was it the same person.

Three days ago, just after the heavy outer dors of the building had been locked for the day, a furtive individual pushed against them, then stood in indecisive attitude, a suggestion of depresion at having arrived too late conveyed by his manner. Dozens of persons were passing and not one paid any attention to the man who presently decided, apparently, that there was no use arguing with a pair of locked doors and went away.

Impression of Lock Taken

But across the street an idler had stiffened to alertness, and knew as he wat ched the man slink away that things were getting warm. Just as well as if he had seen it, that watcher knew that when the man dropped a hand for just a second into a side coat pocket, he had deposited there a wax impression of the old fashioned lock that barred his entrance.

They closed the building early yesterday. With the Saturday afternoon half holiday the street soon became deserted, except for a few apparently purposeless men, who wandered about or sheltered themselves from the heat in doorways and who very obviously did not know each other.

It was after 3 o'clock when three men, one carrying a black bag, walked up to the entrance of 338. One of them was recognized as he who had been there three days earlier. It was he who thrust a key into the lock. The doors swung open. The three walked in and disappeared up the stairs.

The door of the loft of S. Steinberg manufacturing jeweler on the fourth floor, is fastened with a powerful patent lock that drops into place automaticgally when the door is closed. It is called burglar proof. The three men worked steadily, unhurriedly and without the least fear of failure. In fifteen minutes they had cut a big hole through the door. An arm was thrust in, the lock lifted and they walked inside. They saw a big safe which had yielded plunder worth $7,000 on the occasion of the first raid. Behind its steel doors yesterday was an augmented stock that inventoried $100,000 or more.

Intruders Became Suspicious

Steinburg conducts his business so that all the world—or at least that part of it on the other side of Canal street—may see. Big, shadeless windows are a great inconvenience to daylight burglars. It may be that the trio caught a glimpse of hidden figures in a loft across the way, figures of men who peered cautiously, but intently across. Or perhaps they merely decided that having made the way ready it would be the part of wisdom to retreat and come back in darkness.

They walked downstairs and thought they had stumbled into an armed regiment. Captain Stapleton and Detective Hofman, Morrissey Reilly, Foray, Lowe and others of his squad pointed pistols at them. It is the tradition of their kind that they must not surrender without a struggle. So they fought a little. A clout here and there with the butt of an automatic fulfilled the demands of their pride and they surrendered.

The black bag yielded a collection of most business-like paraphernalia. There were three sticks of dynamite a set of drills of finely tempered steel, a brace to hold them a sectional jimmy that was a work of art and three pairs of shabby gloves.

The captives were taken to Police Headquarters. The importance of their arrest grew in the eyes of the police when they looked over the rogue's gallery in the light of the physical charactertistics of the prisoners. Two of them, they said had records. The third was almost a stranger.

ADVENTISTS DENOUNCE U.S. SUNDAY BLUE LAWS

SIOUX FALLS, South Dakota, July 18.—The South Dakota conference of the Seventh Day Adventists adopted a resolution, wherein they "petition the United States Congress not to pass any of the compulsory Sunday observance bills. We are opposed to the Sunday 'blue laws' because they are religious in character and contrary to the genius of the American system of government, in violation of the American principles of the separation of church and State, destructive of the first amendment of the Federal constitution, opposed to the best interests of both church and State, and above all, they are manifestly un-American, un-Christian, unconstitutional, partial, and a piece of class legislation, favoring certain sects and discounting others under duress of civil law."

GREAT OBERAMMERGAU PASSION PLAY SOON.

Thirty Performances Scheduled, But More May Be Necessary.

OBERAMMERGAU, Bavaria, July 18.— Thirty performances in the Passion Play have been scheduled for 1922 by the committee of 21 which is directing the spectacle, but this number will be increased if the attendance demands, as was the case both in 1900 and 1910.

It will require an outlay of 1,500,000 marks to stage the Oberammergau play and the villagers are extremely anxious about the German political situation, lest conditions be such that foreigners will not attend.

The 360 burghers, who constitute the descendants of the original peasants who made the vow to produce the play decennially, personally assume the responsibility for this expenditure, and the failure to attract sufficient visitors to meet the cost would result in the bankruptcy of practically the entire village, as the Oberammergau folk have slight resources.

Most of the burghers are woodcarvers, potters, painters, sculptors, farmers, merchants and small shopkeepers. Only the descendants of the villagers who were saved from the plague in 1633 take part in the Passion Play and assume responsibility for its production.

Next October will be a fateful month, for then the names of the villagers who are to have the leading roles in the spectacle will be announced.

To be selected to enact the role of Jesus Christ or one of the apostles is a far greater honor to an Oberammergau man than election to the presidency of Germany or any other office within the gift of the entire German people.

And any woman of Oberammergau would far rather be chosen to play the role of Mary or Martha Magdalene than to be in the position of Frau Ebert as mistress of the President's palace in Berlin.

Many of the actors in the Passion Play next year will doubtless be the same as those in the cast when the play was last produced in 1910. Anton Lang, who enacted the role of Jesus Christ in 1900 and 1910, will probably be chosen for the part again, as he is still young enough to undertake the arduous task and looks the part so well that younger aspirants are not likely to displace him.

Ottilie Zwink, who played the role of Mary in 1910, has married since that time. No married woman can play a role. Consequently all the young women of Oberammergau with ability and experience as actors are eagerly trying to qualify for the highly important part. Paula Rendl, daughter of Peter Rendl, the sculptor, who was Joseph of Arimathea in the play of 1910 and enacted the role of St. John 21 years ago, is one of the most promising candidates for the role of Mary. Fraulein Rendl has shown great ability in minor religious plays which are produced constantly by the Oberammergau folk as a means of training actors for the Passion Play.

Marie Mayr, who played the role of Mary Magdalene in the 1910 production, has also married and is living in Chicago. Marie Schmid, who was the Veronica in the last production, has also married.

Eighty-two of the Oberammergau men died during the war and many of the older actors of the last production will be disqualified by age for important roles. Consequently there are scores of places in the cast to which young men with ability as actors may aspire. They have begun to let their hair grow. Wigs and make-ups are not permitted by the directors of the Passion Play.

Practically all the older men who had important parts in the last production have never cut their hair. Many of them have retained their long beards and pride themselves on their resemblance to the Biblical characters they have depicted.

The capacity of not less than one hundred railroad freight cars has been occupied in the operation of SALADA business during the first six months of this year.

HOPE TO SETTLE TEN-WEEKS' OTTAWA STRIKE.

OTTAWA, July 18.—At a special meeting of the Bricklayers' and Masons' Union here, it was announced that an international officer of that union was expected in Ottawa shortly.

It is understood that when he arrives another effort may be made to reach an agreement with the members of the Contractors' Association.

Those who have adhered to the union are still on strike, and have been for the past ten weeks. They have stated their willingness to accept a reduction of 10 cents an hour, but will not agree to the open shop.

Some time ago the contractors stated that they considered the open shop established, and that they would have no further dealings with the union.

MOVIE MAGNATES PAID GOOD CASH TO "SQUAWKERS."

Silence Was Costly to Lasky, Zudkor and Co.

BOSTON, July 18.—David Stoneham, attorney, described to the Supreme Court here a conference of Boston and New York movie magnates where it was decided the "cheapest and easiest way out" of the Mishawum manor midnight party was to pay over $100,000 to the "squawkers."

At a conference held in New London, Conn., June 2, 1917, Hiram Abrams gave him a cheque for $52,250, a note for $25,000 and 500 shares of the Famous Players' Lasky Company, together with another note for $7,750, Stoneham declared. He said he brought the money to Boston.

The day following, Stoneham said, he called on Daniel H. Coakley, a Boston attorney, and gave him a personal cheque for $32,750 and Hiram Abrams' note for $52,250.

This money, he said, was to be used to "settle any claims" growing out of the "Brownie" Kennedy Mishawum manor affair.

Stoneham told of various conferences in which Hiram Abrams, Adolph Zudkor, Jesse Lasky, Golden, Walter Greene and Harry Asher discussed the best method for avoiding publicity. He said it was unanimously agreed the matter should be adjusted speedily and it was decided to collect $100,000 as the amount of final settlement.

Assistant Attorney-General Henry F. Hurlburt produced a receipt alleged to have been signed by Coakley for the cheques in which Coakley agreed to obtain releases from all claims growing out of the party and to accept what was left for his fee.

The connection of Nathan A. Tufts, on trial for removal from office as district attorney of Middlesex county, was not directly shown by Stoneham's testimony. It has been charged he extorted money from guests at the notorious Mishawum manor dinner.

"NO PEACE, NO PAY," PLAN FOR WAHABI.

LONDON, July 18. — A novel working arrangement on the "no peace, no pay" principle has been entered into by the British government with the Wahabi, a powerful Arabian desert tribe. The Wahabi are nomads and belong to a sect which Colonial Secretary Winston Churchill described in the House of Commons as "bearing the same relation to orthodox Islam as the most militant forms of Calvinism would have born to Rome in the fiercest times of the religious wars."

They are, he said, austere, intolerant, well-armed and blood-thirsty and they regard it as an article of duty as well as of faith to kll all who do not share their opinions. Moreover, they are very dangerous to the holy cities of Mecca and Medina, and the whole institution of the pilgrimage.

The finances of the Shereef of Mecca, who enjoys British protection, have suffered grieviously by the interruptilon of the pilgrimages. Therefore, to assist him and King Hussein of the Hedjaz, who has been in constant warfare with the 'Arabian Calvinists," the later are to receive £60,000 cash annually, so long as they refrain from annoying their neighbors and do not interfere with the candidacy of Hussein's son, the Emir Feisul, for the rulership of the new Mesopotamian state.

Colonel Lawrence of the Colonial Office, who has lived among the Wahabi for years, told an interviewer that they were indeed a most violent people. They are, he said, fanatically Mohammedan and would kill their men and women, for smoking even a cigarette. They way they correct their women is to tie them up in bags and beat them unmercifully with palm canes.

Each man has three wives. Should any of them go out of doors, the code allows him to have her put to death. This is because they believe that if any other man looks at her she is contaminated and that if a woman goes outside her home she is certain to go wrong.

Wearing a silk dress of any costly finery, precious stones or metals, is also a penal offense.

"In no sense are they a decadent people," Colonel Lawrence concluded. "They are virile and as austere as they are blood-thirsty and brave. It should be cheap at £60,000 a year to buy their good will and to keep them quiet."

The latter view, however, does not meet with universal acceptation. Many taxpayers would prefer to see the end of all British commitments in Mesopotamia.

GIFTS OF MOTOR TRUCKS HIT U.S.

WAR DEPARTMENT BANKRUPT FROM FREE HAND OUTS TO PUBLIC.

WASHINGTON, July 18. —When the war was won, so many American cities and villages wanted captured German cannon and machine guns that it looked as though Uncle Sam would have to order a lot of them from the Krupps to give away.

It now develops that this demand for souvenirs was paralleled by a demand for more practical things, which has "bankrupted" the war department in one item, and has bitten deeply into its supplies in other ways.

Motor vehicles, trucks mostly, lead the list. The free distribution of these to the States is a "scandal," Senator Wadsworth, chairman of the Senate Military Affairs Committee, declares.

"I may be utterly alone in my opinion," Wadsworth said, "but this debauch of the free distribution of Government property has gone far enough. I can well understand the appetite that is aroused in a state highway commissioner when he understands that the war department owns a lot of trucks and that there is a law authorizing the Secretary of War to turn those trucks over to the agricultural department, free of charge, to be given to the States.

"The drive for these trucks has ramifications all over the country. All they have to do is 'press the button' and the people interested in the building of roads write and wire, asking that the war department be directed to turn over trucks."

As a result, Wadsworth said, the war department is short in motor trucks required for its own peace time uses, 1,505 trucks and 487 passenger cars, and has some 4,000 automobiles on hand that wouldn't run and can't be sold for anything but junk.

The motor truck "pork barrel" has yielded the States 26,423 trucks and spare parts valued at $7,271,735, Wadsworth says. The allocations by States range from 30 to Delaware up to 1,047 to Pennsylvania. New York State got 1,024; Ohio, 620, and other States from 100 to 800 trucks apiece. Only a few states have failed to get some trucks, Wadsworth's list shows.

Some of them not only got motor trucks, he says, but canned goods from army stores left after the war, and other supplies.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY FIGURES IN CHEW CASE.

Screen Actress Says She Has Been Annoyed Because of Wife's Stage Name.

NEW YORK, July 18.— The trial of Captain Beverly Grayson Chew, charged with forgery and other offences, before a court-martial on Governors Island, was given over to an attempt to prove who's who in the film firmament as between Jean Sothern, now appearing in vaudeville, and Jean H. Sothern, otherwise Mrs. Marjorie B. Chew, who was indicted with her husband, the army officer, in Washington last October, for the alleged theft of fur garments. Jean Sothern, first witness for the prosecution, called in an effort to show that Marjorie B. Chew's or Jean H. Sothern's career as an actress was predicated upon questionable grounds, described several occasions on which she had been annoyed by the confusion of identity of herself and Mrs. Chew. The first time was in Baltimore. A woman calling on the telephone apparently mistook her for Jean H. Sothern, because the vaudeville actress said the person at the other end of the wire wanted to know how the baby was. She had to explain that she had no baby and was not married.

Again, at Yonkers, in 1919, a man appeared at the stage door and insisted on seeing Jean Sothern. She could not recall the name of the man, but the doorman came back with the explanation that her visitor said he had met the vaudeville actress at the week-end in the Catskills. He was admitted, but departed hastily in great embarrassment when he discovered that he had made a mistake.

Miss Sothern produced several books of clippings and some photograps in which she was posed with Theda Bara, another screen actress. She further testified that on the day after publication of the two pictures Mrs. Chew, accompanied by William A. Leahy, counsel for Captain Chew, drove to her home in West 165th Street to express regrets that Miss Sothern's name had been drawn into the case.

One of the last witnesses was S. L. Thomas of Richmond, Va., who testified that Captain Chew had asked him to write letters that were uncomplimentary to Mrs. Chew, to whom the missives later were given.

Tramps passing through Devon casualwards, are three times as numerous as they were a year ago, and workhouse masters report that whole families are on the road.

STATEMENT FROM VICE-PRESIDENT OF WOOLENS' TEAM RE SATURDAY'S GAME

Peterborough, July 18, 1921.

The Editor, Examiner:

Sir,—In addressing to you this communication and requesting that the same be published at an early date, I am actuated, not with malicious intent or the desire that the football team of the local G.W.V.A. be deprived of the Clarke shield and medals which some of their players have meritiously earned, but with the hope that any comment or criticism which may arise will tend to improve local sport and elucidate, for the benefit of some of the members of the local Executive of the Peterborough Football Association and certain players too, the rules which govern association football.

Association football is not so keenly followed in this country as in Great Britain, and one may be quite in order in saying that its present popularity is largely due to the efforts of the "returned men" and those who have recently migrated to this country. Consequently, many irregularities occur, both on and off the field of play, apparently due to ignorance on the part of players and spectators. For this reason a lucid book of rules has been compiled from those rules which govern the game in Great Britain, and teams affiliated with the Dominion Football Association must abide by the same. In spite of these efforts on the part of the supreme executive it has been found necessary for certain teams affiliated with the Peterborough district to lodge protests regarding the conduct of certain games, and practically in each case these protests have been upheld, thus depriving the team guilty of misconduct of two valuable points. These protests have created a very bad feeling, and the attitude displayed by the spectators towards the teams winning these protests has been extremely odious.

From conversations one hears on the touchline one would imagine that most of the supporters of local teams have at some time or other been very closely connected with "some big club at home," but the attitude displayed by them quite frequently belies their claims.

On Saturday last the Canadian Woollens' team met the team of the G.W.V.A. in a game to decide the winner of the Clarke shield and medals. It is true that they were enabled to do this by the fact that they had won a protest against the team of the De Laval, but the fact that the latter team admitted their mistake and that the local executive had given this decision, seems to have been overlooked by many of the spectators, and some of the players of the G.W.V.A. also, at least, one may conclude this from the tenor of the remarks passed.

However, in spite of all this, there was a flagrant piece of misplay which was undoubtedly witnessed by all. The play commenced with the Veterans' team playing one regular player short — Wilfred Jones, goalkeeper—whose place was immediately filled by Mr. S. Whatley, secretary pro tem of the G.W.V.A. team and also vice-president of the Peterborough Football Association. That the ball had been "played" constituted the fact that Mr. Whatley was in play, and to all intents and purposes the team of the G.W.V.A. was then comprised of eleven players. A short time elapsed when Jones appeared, and Mr. Whatley divested himself of the "jersey," to be replaced by the former player, thus making it quite evident that the playing list of the G.W.V.A. was then increased to twelve, but nowhere can there be found a rule in association football which makes this permissable. Although this was noticed by many no attempt was made by those responsible to stop the game, and the result is known to us all. The Woollens were outplayed and the Veterans deserved the goals they scored, but this does not exclude the fact that there was palpable misplay on the field, and if protested by the Woollens their protest would undoubtedly be upheld by the D.F.A.

A formal protest will undoubtedly be lodged, accompanied by a notification from the Woollens' Executive advising the local Executive of their intention to withdraw from the league as a protest against improper conduct on the field of play and the apparent ignoring by local executives of the governing rules.

The Woollens are not playing this game for medals or cups, but for sport and fair play, and as evidence of this fact will, in future, until such time as the local administration is placed on a sounder basis and Bolshevik tactics are entirely eradicated, confine themselves solely to friendly games with city and outside teams.

British sport has justly earned for itself the title of "fairplay," and it is the duty of its advocates this side of the Atlantic to see that these traditions are upheld.

Let this be the motto of the soccer clubs of Peterborough: "Victoire toujours, mais avec honneur," and that branch of sport will then contribute the brand of play which the supporting public demand.—Yours very truly,

C. H. Melton, Vice-President
Canadian Woollens Athletic Ass'n.

FOOTBALL NOTES

Football players and fans will be glad to know that Herb Frost, who received a kick in the abdomen in Saturday's game between the Vets and the Woolens is much improved to-day and able to be out. Frost was injured near the end of the game. Dr. B. E. Marshall attended him, and examination failed to show any serious injury. Frost's removal was felt by the Woolens team.

Although there was much talk of a protest on Saturday's game, the Woolens made no protest to-day to Secretary Fred Sutcliffe. It was stated to-day that the Woolens had grounds for a successful protest in the War Vets changing players on the field, and the matter may be further discussed at to-night's meeting of the executive in the G.W.V.A. hall. Every member is asked to attend this meeting, as business left over from last week must be finished. The meeting is called for 8 p.m.

Henry Turner, captain of the C. G.E., was operated on at Nicholls Hospital last week, and his friends will be pleased to know he is improving.

Damage estimated at £100,000 was caused by fire at the jute factory and warehouse of Low Brothers and Co., Dundee.

MARRIED IN SOVIET PRISON CAMP, GUARD USED AS BEST MAN.

WARSAW, July 15—News of the mariage in Moscow of Count Szechenyi, a lieutenant in the Hungarian cavalry who is still being held a prisoner by the Bolsheviki to Princess Golioyn a member of one of the oldest Russian families, has just been received here. Count Szechnenyi is a cousin of Count Lazlo Szechenyi, who married Miss Gladys Vanderbilt of New York.

At the beginning of the war he was a lieutenant in the Hungarian cavalry and was taken prisoner by the Russians on the Galician front in 1915. He is about 27 years old.

Details of the wedding were brought to Warsaw by Doctor Sigmond Janczura formerly a dentist in Detrot, Mich. who served in the Polish army, was captured by the Bolsheviki and released from the Moscow prison early in June.

Count Szechnenyi was a prison companion of Colonel Merion C. Cooper of Jacksonville, Fla. of the Kosciuszko air squadron who escaped from Russia this spring.

The romance having had its inception prior to the world war while the young woman was visiting in Constantinople near where Count Szechnenyi's father has a palace and a vast estate. Princess Golioyn returned to Russia several years ago, upon learning that Count Szechnenyi was a prisoner and since has been endeavoring to aid in gaining his freedom and sending him food whenever possible.

It is no easy matter to arrange a marriage by a prisoner in a Bolshevik prison camp. Month after month the Soviet authorities refused to give their consent. When it was obtained the ceremony was first performed by a Soviet commissar and afterward a religious marriage was performed in a Greek orthodox church in Moscow. Although the Count has many friends among the prisoners none was allowed to attend the wedding.

Instead of a friend as best man there was a Bolshevik soldier guard The Count with four armed soldiers at his sides, marched through the walled prison gate to the commissar's office where he met his bride attended by several girl friends. The Count wore the same prison garb which he had worn for months.

Immediately after the church service the Count was marched back to prison his bride accompanying him to the prison gates. The next morning the bride was permitted to visit her husband and with the Count's prison friends, sat down to a wedding breakfast—a wedding breakfast of black bread and imitation coffee and hot water.

Twenty Hungarian officers, including Count Szechnenyi, are being held by the Bolsheviki as hostages to secure the safety of ten Soviet commissars imprisoned by the Hungarian authorities. The Hungarians were sent to Siberia in 1915 and where on their way out when rearrested by the Bolsheviki.

There are times when a very little is more than enough.

WATERLOO, Ont., July 18. — Special Government agents are guarding all the roads leading to the distillery so as to keep a watchful eye on any rum-runners who may be about.

Great activity prevails at the distillery, they being rushed with orders in the regular course of business.

EXONERATES SLEUTHS IN BIG SHORE SCANDAL

Atlantic City Mayor Says They Are Not to Blame For Not Trapping Confidence Men.

ATLANTIC CITY, July 18.—In a joint typewritten statement, Mayor Edward L. Bader and Director of Public Safety W. S. Cuthbert have exonerated the Detective Department of any blame for failure to trap confidence men in their attempt to fleece Irving P. Chapman of Oneida, N.Y., of $100,000.

"We confidently believe also," the statement said, "results will show that the Police Department will be exonerated in the case."

No mention was made of two other attempts by other bands of confidence men to swindle two visitors. Judge John J. White of the New Jersey Court of Errors and Appeals and President of the Marlborough-Blenheim Hotel Company, stirred the resort two nights ago, when he charged that a leak in the Public Safety Bureau had frustrated plans for the capture of three gangs of confidence men who had set traps to fleece three wealthy beach front hotel guests.

Samuel Weakley and Joseph Farley, tht men originally sent out on the case, offered the information on which the statement is based. Comment is general on the absurdity of supposing that these investiagtors would incriminate themselves.

The statement by the Mayor and the Public Safety Director leads to the belief that the confidence men wre "tipped off." They failed to make their appearance on the morning of June 25 after all arrangements had been made for the "deal" the day before. The statement sets forth that Chapman refused to enter into the plans of the detectives, saying that he first wished to consult an attorney.

Mayor Bader called to his office to-day Captains of Detectives James Malseed and John Barnshaw and grilled them.

From what was learned from officials in touch with the investigations under way, the Mayor is conducting his own.

It is evident that Judge White's charges have stirred the Mayor and Safety Director into energetic action. Every city commissioner is urging drastic action and a thorough investigation. Everybody seems to be investigating, but who is being investigated is not clear.

RED ENVOY ORDERS COSTLY DINNER SET FOR HIS USE

RIGA, Latvia, July 18.—The comic press of the Baltic states has recently indulged in much humorous sarcasm regarding the reported order by M. Ganetzky, the Soviet Russian minister to Latvia, of a hand-painted china set for his use on state occasions to cost 500,000 rubles. This is equivalent, at present rates of exchange in Riga, ti something more than $1,200.

The dinner service, according to reports widely circultaed in Riga, is to be painted by hand, with each piece representing "a scene from Bolshevik life."

One of the comic papers depicts, in a cartoon, Ganetsky seated at a table, surrounded by this spectacular china, but pushing away the plates and asking for something to eat.

In all of the Baltic states, where the Soviet government has legations, the Ministers and their aides live in luxurious contrast to conditons said to prevail in Moscow and Petrograd, say the Baltic newspapers. Each of the Ministers has a large automobile and summer villas at the seaside have been engaged for the Riga legatiou personnel. Some of the ministers have also bought elaborately-furnished town houses. Their legations are housed in large hotels in Helsingfors, Reval, Riga and Kovno, the entire buildings having been taken over for them.

Betwen Riga and Moscow, and Revaland Petrograd, luxurious saloon and sleeping cars are operated for the benefit of Bolshevik officials, while all other pasengers must crowd into unupholstered, packed, third-class cars. The newspapers here and in other Baltic states frequently point to these conditions and contrast them with Communistic ideals.

It isn't always the cheerful man who does the most cheering.

RUSSIAN TEMPERAMENT OBSTACLE TO RELIEF WORK IN NEAR EAST

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 18.—(Associated Press).—The Russian temperament is proving a serious obstacle to American and other relief and charitable organizations here. Individual Americans trying to help Russian refugees often give up in despair.

The Russian may be described as money blind. He is careless with his own money and with that of others. Thousands of Russian refugees arrived here with plenty of gold money, furs, jewels and portable valuables. Without a thought for the morrow, they lived for a time in the best hotels until the money was exhausted and the valuables pawned.

Then the hotel proprietors asked them to leave and they went cheerfully to live in a squalid by-street, not only expectant, but confident the Americans or some other good souls would care for them. And often it is done.

One of the tragedy-comedies of the foreign colony here is the story of the attempts of a Russian General to get his seven daughters to Paris. Dozens of persons have spent much time and money in his effort, and so far three of the daughters are here and starving. The father has himself spent 75,000 francs trying. The General, a good and capable father, got himself as far as Paris through the kind offices of United States Consul-General Moser, then in Tiflis.

In Paris the father mortgaged his estates for 100,000 francs and sent 25,000 francs to his wife and seven daughters to join him. They got as far as Constantinople, bought a lot of new dresses, attended the season's dances, loaned the rest of their money to needy friends and asked father for more.

The General sent another 25,000 francs, and after various difficulties about passports the mother and four of the daughters departed. New loans and expenditures made it impossible to take three of the daughters. Another 25,000 francs was sent to the three daughters by the father through a Russian General, who pocketed it, or thoughtlessly spent it, and the daughters are still here, their clothes held for board and lodgings and they and their family in Paris are cheerfully waiting until the American relief organizations do something about it.

A certain Baron, member of the Imperial Guard, 11 times wounded during the war, was all but adopted by a Chicago dentist who met him in Russia. The latter arranged for his passage to the United States, sent funds for travel expenses and waited. The handsome Baron pocketed the funds and turned up at the American Embassy within a few days describing how his pocket had been picked. A cable was sent the dentist and fresh funds arrived. These funds were dissipated and still the Baron did not sail. He is now waiting more funds from Chicago.

An American navy officer on station here was told by his Russian friends of their difficulties with the cruel landlord who was about to eject them. The officer gave them the needed money and was invited to dine with them. The dinner was splendidly served, including champagne. The landlord had to renew his threats, but in vain. The rent money had paid for the dinner.

All Americans here love the Russians and do much to help them, but those with experience have ceased making heavy sacrifices to do so. The incurable optimism of the Russian leads him to build air castles and into foolish acts that have to be paid for in cold cash. When his optimism is exhausted, the Russian is so pessimistic he takes to the river. Many young men have committed suicide here. Their families in France and England and Italy send them money to join them, they spend the money for champagne or silk socks, or what not, and when the money is exhausted they shoot or drown themselves.

The devotion and childlike cheerfulness of the Russian women here is a source of constant wonder to Americans. Many of them have forgotten they were countesses or princesses and gone to work. Their charity to one another surpasses belief. They will pawn their last jewel to help a friend. The correspondent found one woman selling her eyeglasses to help a friend, and doing it without thought of making a special sacrifice.

PLAN A GREAT EXODUS.

Mennonites 60,000 Strong Heading For Paraquay.

BUENOS AIRES, July 18.—The greatest religious exodus since the Children of Israel fled from Egypt is just getting away.

Sixty thousand Mennonites, members of a religious sect which does not believe in war, are fleeing to Paraguay from the United States and Canada. They propose to establish their own nation within Paraquay, and manufacture and sell goods.

Six representatives of the sect have just completed a tour of several weeks through the territory they propose to settle on. At present it is inhabited only by Indians, and some portions of it have not been visited by whites since 1535 when the Spaniards crossed from Buenos Aires.

FINANCES FORCE CHURCHES' FUSION.

HARTFORD, Conn., July 18. — Country churches of all denominations throughout the country have been forced to consolidate because of—

Shortage of ministers and students for the ministry.

Dwindling congregations.

Corresponding shrinkage in contributions.

Rev. Morris E. Alling, executive secretary of the Connecticut Federation of Churches, who is carrying on the work of consolidating the rural churches said this to-day. He declared religious opportunities for the smaller communities had so decreased that the consolidation plan had been found necessary.

"In Connecticut alone there have been more than twenty consolidations in the last few months," Dr. Alling said. "We are now planning scores of others.

"By these combinations, the congregations are able to employ better preachers at higher salaries. They are, of course, all of Protestant beliefs, and have the same general ideals of worship. They do not pool their money but each maintaining its own individual rights, contributes according to its ability to the general support of the one big church.

"The Inter-Church World Movement working in sympathy with our state bureaus have been most successful in forming these combinations in New England and the northern mid-west states. In small communities in Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Vermont the plan has been carried out most successfully.

"It is our hope to see, within a few years, all these struggling little country churches combined into the one strong church of the community.

"It has proved better for the congregation and better for the church."

TAR AND FEATHER OR WHIP FIVE IN SOUTHERN STATES

ONE WOMAN AND AN ARCHDEACON AMONG THE VICTIMS.

DALLIS, Texas, July 18.—(Canadian Press).—Five instances of individuals being tarred and feathered or whipped by masked men in widely separated sections of the south Saturday and Sunday night had been reported to-day. These included the first woman victim of a score or more similar attacks in recent months.

Besides Richard Johnson, 68 years old, farmer, who was whipped near Warrensburg, Mo., it was disclosed to-day, other victims were Mrs. Beulah Johnson at Liberty under bond on a bigamy charge, who was taken from the Hotel Proch in Tenaha, Texas, by masked men in automobiles, removed to the country, derived of clothing, and tarred and feathered; afterward her bondsmen withdrew and she was placed in jail: Rev. Phillip S. Irwin White, Archdeacon of the English Episcopal Church, was whipped and tarred and feathered near Miami, Fla., and warned, he alleged, that if he did not stop preaching social equality to negroes, among whom he has charge of mission work of his church in South Florida, he would be lynched: R. F. Scott, of Dewryville, Texas, who was tarred and feathered, and a man named McKnight, who was reported to have been whipped near Timpson, Texas.

FUND FOR BLIND

The following subscriptions have been received for the blind, since the last reported:

W. A. Payne, Smith	$5.00
T. E. G.	1.00
Mrs. Jno. McPherson	1.00
A Friend	1.00
A Friend	2.00
Dr. Wood	5.00
A Friend	1.00

Every effort is being made by those in charge of the fund here to have it exceed $500, which is only a small part of what we should do in this district for this purpose. There are numbers of people who are sympathetic with the object who have not as yet sent in their subscription. The money subscribed is spent for the best possible purpose. The blind, hitherto not very effective in business or commercial life, are being trained effectively so that they may readily earn their own living, to a great extent, and become active citizens of any community in which they live.

The money that is being subscribed now is not only to help take care of those who are blind in our own locality, but also for the purpose of organizing and putting into effect plans for the future, when others, who now enjoy perfect eyesight, may, through accident or otherwise, be compelled to take advantage of the organization that is now doing so much good.

Just sit down, when you read this article, and send in a contribution to the fund, which positively closes on Wednesday, July 20th. The money is for such a good purpose that you will never miss it.

The Examiner or any bank in the city will receive funds.

X-RAYS NOT MENACE TO THOSE LIVING NEARBY.

PARIS, July 18.—X-ray laboratories have been found to constitute but slight, if any, danger to persons in adjacent rooms. A report to the Academy of Medicine held that modern appliances and conditions generally existing in X-ray rooms sufficiently protect all but the operators.

The report was prepared by a commission after recent reports to the Academy that X-rays were a serious menace to people in buildings housing laboratories. It was contended the rays would penetrate walls with force enough left to cause serious injury. This contention was formed by the commission to be ill-founded.

AGREE NO A TEN CENTS WAGE CUT

TORONTO BUILDING TRADES COUNCIL RECOGNIZE THAT REDUCTION IS IMPERATIVE.

TORONTO, July 16. — An all-day conference between the members of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, the Toronto Building Trades Council, the Builders' Exchange, the Brick manufacturers, and the building contractors, held yesterday in the board room of the C.M. A., the representatives of the building trades went on record as favoring an all round cut of 10 cents an hour in wages with the view of stimulating the industry in the province. The brick manufacturers and others supplying the main material in building construction have also agreed to make every effort to reduce costs in their lines in order that the industry may be boosted and more men afforded employment.

Nineteen representatives of the building trades were in attendance, and after a spirited controversy regarding the cut in wages the resolution was passed unanimously.

Senator Gideon Robertson, Minister of Labor in the Federal Government, was the chairman.

The resolution endorsed by the representatives of Labor, and which they will now have to take back to the various unions for support was moved by Mr. J. B. Carswell, of the Carswell Construction Company, and was seconded by Mr .T. A. Woods, representing Labor. The proposed cut in wages, if accepted by the unions, will come into effect on July 25th. The resolution was as follows

Cost of Living Down.

":Moved that inasmuch as figures have been presented at this meeting to show that material costs are rapidly declining, that costs of living are also rapidly declining, and that a reduction in wage rates as suggested below can be put into effect without in any way lowering the present standard of living;

"Therefore, be it resolved that the 19 representatives from the Building Trades Unions take back to their respective unions the suggestion that a voluntary reduction of ten cents per hour be put into effect on July 25th;

"Further, that another meeting be held between these 19 representatives and the Builders' Exchange on Thursday morning ,the 25th inst. at 10.30 o'clock in the Builders' Exchange rooms to conclude the agreement.

"That the building material manufacturers be present at the same meeting to bring in all and every suggestion possible to further reduce material costs."

Lower Freight Rates.

In addition as a further move which it was felt might tend to bring down the cost of building material ,and therefore stimulate the industry, a second resolution was passed calling for reduced freight rates. This resolution took the practical form of appointing a committee to confer with the Canadian Freight Association, and, if necessary to make application to the Board of Railway Commissioners for a complete revision of freight rates on those commodities used in the building industry, in order to lessen the cost of delivery. This resolution was sponsored by Messrs F. B. McFarren, representative of the brick manufacturers, and R. J. Fuller, representing the contractors.

Similar action to the above will have to follow throughout Canada generally if the building trades are to be stimulated, and the housing situation relieved.

Haldimand says that a large acreage of summer fallowing is being prepared for fall wheat.

Lambton says that the immigrants who have come to that county during the year have given good satisfaction on the whole. About 125 have been placed, and not more than ten farmers have found fault with the help supplied them. The representative goes on to say:

"We have placed six men recently four of them being Danes. We were successful in placing them near two of their former countrymen, making a colony of six in the neighbourhood. One man and his wife and seven children were placed on a farm this week. They were very pleased with their surroundings and conditions, but preferred to work on a farm where more cows were kept."

FARM CONDITIONS

Following is a summary of reports made by agricultural representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

The intense heat and accompanying grought was broken on Friday when generous rains visited the greater part of the Province, being very heavy in some locaiities. A brief but very powerful wind storm accompanied the rain, and did some injury to orchards, and to corn and other field crops, although the total damage is not nearly so serious as was feared at the time.

Pastures, which were becoming browned, have been appreciably improved by the week-end showers. Much of the hay has been cut, and the yield is likely to vary all the way from a third of a crop to a full one.

The unusual heat has been hastening the growth of grain. The general impression is that too many fields will be prematurely ripened, and as a result some of the cereal crops are likely to be light in the head and short in the straw, although many excellent fields are promising. The harvest season is regarded as being from a week to ten days forward.

A good deal of fall wheat has been cut. Wentworth states that the Hessian fly has been so bad in places that some fields had to be ploughed up.

Kent reports the first cutting of barley.

Corn and sugar beets are doing well in the Lake Erie counties.

Lincoln reports that the thrip is reducing some fields of onions in that county to about half a crop.

Norfolk says, "Scab has appeared to an alarming extent even in best cared for orchards. Orchardists are becoming sceptical as to the value of dust to control scab. Would estimate 25 to 50 per cent. of apples scabby in well dusted orchards."

Live stock have been affected by the light pastures during the past week or two. In some instances the beef cattle have had to be fed to keep up weight, and dairy cows have fallen off more or less in milk. The heel fly and other insects have been greatly tormenting cattle during the past few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hendren of Lakefield are occupying their island

Mr. and Mrs. Loftus Amys are spending their honeymoon at the lake before leaving for their home in the west.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Palmer of Toronto spent Friday on Stoney Lake.

Miss Nellie Horerin of Peterboro is at the "Y" camp for a week.

Mrs. Chas. Grylls and Mr. Frank Grylls of Lakefield, were at "Sea breeze" this week.

Mrs. Arthur Burroughs was at Stoney Lake on Thursday.

The Adams' of Peterboro, are occupying their cottage at Kawartha Park.

Sunday Worship.

The gospel tent which proved such a success at Kawartha Park last season has been once more erected and is very popular with the cottagers and others. Rev. (Dr. J. H. Edmison, of Toronto, began this work last year and its popularity was so great that last seaon's experiment has become a fixture.

Picnic Parties.

Fishing parties with and without guides are to be seen all over the lake; at the noon hour little picnic parties are to be seen in inviting nooks enjoying one of the special delights of Stoney Lake, for no place is more highly favored than this region for ideal spots for camping and picnics.

Wise People?

Some one remarked the other day on the boat that one did not need to know the geography of the lake to travel on the steamers as the passengers give one all the information necessary. If one is not too particular about the accuracy of the said information its all right but to those who know the lake it is a source of more than a little amusement.

Will Next Week's Ironing be Done Electrically?

HEATING old-fashioned sad-irons, over a hot stove, is not an ideal occupation at the best of times. But, when the soft, gentle breezes beckon one out-of-doors, and housework seems tedious, our grandmother's way of ironing is one of the worst types of drudgery the modern housewife has to contend with. Your electrical dealer has a waiting for you. You will be agreeably surprised at the ease with which you can dispatch your week's ironing by the aid of a "Sovereign." Its tapering nose and cool handle, its perfect balance, and highly nickel-plated finish will make you wonder how you ever got along without it. Be sure and compare the price and quality with other irons.

SOVEREIGN ELECTRIC IRON

PETERBORO'S LAST CHANCE FOR THE FIRST HOLD WAS SHOT AT PORT HOPE

BAD BASEBALL AND WORSE UMPIRING BEATS SOLOMON CREW OUT OF THE RACE—GAME IS 6 RUNS TO 5.

A personage named Jack Lewis, selected by Port Hope as base umpire in Saturday's Central League fixture at Port Hope, took away from the Peterborough Club whatever chance they had of winning the first half of the League race. The tail-enders, with the enthusiastic and able assistance of Mr. Lewis, who, although he did not wear a uniform, turned in the best game of the day for the Ontarios, won the decision 6 to 5 and the Petes' hopes went aglimmering. The Port Hope players declared after Wednesday's game here that the Peterborough crew would not be given a chance to win in Port Hope and they are real prophets.

Yelping about bad umpiring is the usual alibi of a beaten ball club, but the Petes have every reason to complain about Saturday's game. Under the Central League system of home umpires working on the bases, visiting teams no longer look to get an even break on close decisions, but the field umpire in Port Hope got in his best work on plays that were not any closer than were the Peterborough Council's estimates of the cost of the Hunter street bridge. Three of his decisions were rank enough to warrant the Board of Health being called in, but the crowning one came in the seventh innings when, with Lornie Rose on second, Ray Rose poled a long fly to deep right field. Friar made a nice running catch and Lornie Rose after standing on second until the ball was caught, jogged over to third, only to be called out on the ground that he letf before the catch. The drive was so deep that he could have walked over after the ball fell into Friar's hands and he played it safe by waiting until Friar had run a step or two after gathering in the fly. But Lewis waved him out just the same.

The physicological effect of the rank work of the field umpire was reflected in the playingof the Petes who, realizing right off the reel that they were going to be robbed if there was a chance possible, got so hot under the collar that they were miles off their usual game. A prize fighter who loses his temper throws away a good part of his chances for victory, and so it is with ball clubs. The Solomon crew were too angry to be at their best Saturday and they were guilty of a lot of bad baseball, that proved costly, while Port Hope, after a momentary blow up in the second innings, played as they always do against Peterborough on their own grounds, doing some spectacular fielding and going better each innings. The outfield did some especially effective work, a running one handed catch by Fred Chalk robbing Jackson of a double, and Friar pulling down several drives in right after long runs.

It was the scrappiest game the Petes have been in in the Central League, and more hard feeling was engendered than in all the Belleville-Peterborough contests put together, although they have been productive of a lot of rivalry. It looked for a while at the end of the eighth innings when Manager Sheehan and Bob Chalk of the Port Hope team precipitated a mix-up by coming over to the Peterborough bench and claiming the Petes had stolen a ball as if the game would end in a riot. Blows were exchanged, and several of the crowd got mixed into the argument before peace was restored. It was a disgraceful episode, for which the Port Hope gang were entirely to blame.

McElroy started the game for the Petes and the little southpaw did not seem to have as much stuff as usual. In addition his support was wobbly, two runs coming home on successful double steals and another on a throw to third to catch a base runner. Finally, after Port Hope had scored the winning run in the sixth and had two runners on the sacks, with three balls and and no strikes on the batter, Manager Solomon sent Kirn to the mound. Umpire Wilson pulled a boner at this stage by ruling that McElory would have to continue pitching to Deer who was at the plate, until he was out or reached first, a rule that only applies to a relief pitcher who has been substited for the original twirler. McElroy completed the complimentary, filled the sacks and then gave way to Kirn, who retired the side without further scoring and held Port Hope to one hit, a safe bunt, for the balance of the game.

A feature of the battle was a speedy double play, engineered by Ray Rose in the third innings when he gathered in Moises's speedy roller, stepped on second and then shot the ball to Jackson in time to double the batter. The play saved trouble, for the first two men up had hit safely.

Deer pitched good ball for Port Hope after the first two innings, with the help of his team mates' good fielding and the very able assistance of the individual featured in the first paragraph of this somewhat gloomy story.

First Innings.

Peterborough— L. Rose fouled to Fair. Ray Rose singled through short and stole second, going to third while Deer was throwing out Lowe. Ross cut a single through second, scoring Rose. Ross pilfered second, but died there when Jackson fanned. One run, two hits.

Port Hope—Hills was hit and Guy sacrificed, McElroy to Jackson. Bob Chalk singled to left and Rose's quick return held Hills at third. On a double steal, Hills scored and Chalk was called safe at second, although he was out a yard. Moise flied to Lowe, Murray threw out Friar. One run, one hit.

Second Innings.

Peterborough—Pinnette fouled to Fair. Murray got a life when Hills dropped Fair's throw. Murray stole second and went to third when Ware dropped the third strike on Holyman and had to throw the batter out at first. McElroy doubled to left, scoring Murray. L. Rose was safe when Guy's throw pulled Hills off the bag. Rose stole second, and when Moise threw low to third in an attempt to catch McElory off the bag, "Lefty" scored. Ray Rose singled to left, scoring his brother, and stole second. Lowe singled to left, and on Fred Chalk's wide throw to the plate, Ray Rose trotted home and Lowe went to second. Ross flied to Fred Chalk. Four runs, three hits, four errors.

Port Hope—Fair was caled safe on his tap to Holyman, although the short-stop's throw had him by two feet. Fred Chalk tripled to right, scoring Fair. Roee and Murray got crossed up, and when the catcher threw to third in an attempt to get Chalk the throw went through to left field, Chalk scoring. Ware fanned. McElroy threw out Deer. Hills rolled to Murray. Two runs, two hits, one error.

Third Innings.

Peterborough—Jackson grounded to Guy. Pinnette was safe on Fair's boot, but died stealing, Ware to Guy. Murray fanned. No runs, one error.

Port Hope— Guy singled to right and Bob Chalk hit safely to centre. Moise hit a fast one to Ray Rose, who stepped on second, forcing Chalk, and then doubled the batter at first. Friar fouled to Ross. No runs, two hits.

Fourth Innings.

Peterborough—Holyman flied to Moise. Friar made a nice catch of McElroy's long fly to right. L. Rose hoisted to Moise.

Port Hope— Fair reached second when Jackson let Holyman's throw get away. F. Chalk was safe on Ray Rose's fumble, Fair going to third. On a double steal Fair scored and Chalk went to second. Ware singled through short, scoring Chalk. Ware died stealing, Ross to Rose. Deer fanned. Hills rolled to Murray. Two runs, one hit, two errors.

Fifth Innings.

Peterborough— Ray Rose fouled to Ware. Lowe died on a bunt, Deer to Hills. Moise tossed out Ross.

Potr Hope—Guy rolled to McElroy. Bob Chalk died, Murray to Jackson. Moise expired on a tap to Ray Rose.

Sixth Innings.

Peterborough—Jackson bounced a hit off Fair's shoulder and stole second. Pinnette hit to Guy, who threw to third to get Jackson, but Fair missed the toss and the runner was safe. Pinnette stole second. Deer got out of the hole nicely by fanning Murray and Holyman and getting McElroy on a pop fly to Moise.

Port Hope—Friar singled to centre and stole second. Fair fanned. Fred Chalk was safe on Murray's fumble, and the runners advanced on a passed ball. Then a wild pitch scored Friar, with what proved to be the winning run. Ware walked. After McElroy had thrown three wide ones to Deer, Kirn was sent to the rescue. Umpire Wilson claimed that McElroy must finish pitching to Deer, a totally wrong decision, so Lefty went back to the box and pitched another ball. It was wide and Deer trotted down to first, filling the bases. Then Kirn took up the task. Hills hammered one to Holyman, who nailed Chalk at the plate with a fast peg and Guy polled to Ray Rose, leaving the cushions still crowded. One run, one hit, one error.

Seventh Innings.

Peterborough—L. Rose singled to right and stole second. Ray Rose flied to Friar in right and Lornie ran over to third after the catch. Umpire Lewis called him out, claiming that he had left second before the ball was caught. The decision was nothing less than robbery. Lowe fouled to Fair. One hit.

Port Hope — Lowe dropped R. Chalk's fly to right. Moise beat out a bunt, but Murray bluffed a throw to first and shot the ball to Holyman, getting Chalk off second. Friar forced Moise at second, Holyman to R. Rose. Fair struckout. One hit, one error.

Eighth Innings.

Peterborough—Ross lined to Fred Chalk. The latter made a sensational one-handed catch of Jackson's drive to left. Pinnette flied to Bob Chalk.

Port Hope— Fred Chalk flied to Lornie Rose. Ware lifted to Holyman. Deer roleld to R. Rose.

Ninth Innings.

Peterborough—Murray beat out a bunt, but was caught off first. Holyman fouled to Fair. Kirn was called out on strikes. One hit.

BASEBALL COMMENT

So far as the Petes are concerned the first half of the Central Ontario League race is over. The Solomon crew got away to a flying start, winning the first three games, two of them away from home, faltered badly in the middle of the race, got back in the running by a fighting victory over Belleville, and then were thrown out again by rank umpiring and some bad baseball in the final game.

Last year's champions have had more than their share of bad luck. In the first place, Lornie Rose developed a sore arm, which has kept him off the rubber. Swanston was unable to take part in a number of games, and "Hap" Harrison, whose hard hitting, fast fielding, and the pep he puts in the team, has made him invaluable, has been an absentee on account of injuries from three or four important battles. And now Cherrett, the best shortstop in the League, is on the casualty list. However, the Petes are determined to win the second half of the Central League race.

By a ruling of President Kimnell, the Port Hope and Peterborough teams had to use the same players in Saturday's play-off game as figured in the protested game in June. That explains why Swanston and Harrison could not get into the battle. Permission had to be secured to play Holyman in place of Cherrett and Lowe instead of McCarney.

There wasn't a big crowd at Port Hope on Saturday, but they were the most rabid rooters the Petes have yet encountered. The whole outfit, players and fans alike, were out to get the Peterborough crew, and they didn't care much how it was done. They couldn't have been happier if they had won a championship.

Oshawa beat Cobourg on Saturday in the Lakeshore town, and the League standing with Oshawa and Lindsay having to play in Lindsay on Wednesday, is as follows:

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Oshawa	7	2	.778
Belleville	7	3	.700
Lindsay	6	3	.667
Peterborough	6	4	.600
Cobourg	2	8	.200
Port Hope	1	9	.100

Secretary Jack Nott, of Oshawa, was a spectator at Saturday's game in Port Hope. If he follows the practice he inaugurated at Lindsay when the Petes played there, he'll have a very interesting report for the League meeting on Thursday.

It was the second loss of the season for Lefty McElroy. But the Petes' southpaw needn't worry about that. He hadn't much chance on Saturday.

Going in with the bases full and retiring the side without allowing any runs is getting to be a regular stunt for Kirn. He pulled off the performance in Belleville, and repeated it again on Saturday.

As an example of what the Petes were up against on Saturday, Umpire Lewis was ordering Manager Solomon to go back to the bench in the ninth when Deer shot the ball over to Hills and caught Murray off first base. And Lewis called him out, explaining that he did so because the Peter manager was crabbing from the bench. Can you beat that one?

Teams visiting Port Hope will have to insist upon police protection. There was no officer in sight when the near-riot took place on Saturday, althought an individual who intimated he was a constable appeared after the trouble was over.

EITHER THE HOME UMPIRES OR THE LEAGUE MUST GO

PRESENT SYSTEM OF HANDLING GAMES IS DRIVING CENTRAL ORGANIZATION ON ROCKS—A FEW MORE GAMES LIKE SATURDAY'S AND GOOD NIGHT!

If the Central Ontario League is not to founder, games like Saturday's fixture at Port Hope will have to be made an impossibility, and umpiring of the brand handed out by Base Umpire Lewis of Port Hope will have to be banished. There is a meeting of the League Executive this week, and unless the system by which the home club has been allowed to select the base umpire is thrown into the discard, there are rocks ahead. There has been nothing but dissatisfaction. Lindsay claim to have been robbed at Oshawa. Peterborough did not have a chance on Saturday. Port Hope complains about the umpiring here; and so it goes all along the line, and so it will go until the umpire-in-chief is given the power to select his own field umpire or unless neutral umpires are appointed by the League to work on the bases.

As for the chief umpires, it is evident that some of them need a course of study on the rules of the game. When an umpire insists that the original pitcher must finish pitching to the batsman he is working on before being relieved, it is evdent that he does not know all the rules. That is the only conclusion, too, that can be drawn from the action of an umpire who, with first base occupied and no one out, fails to call the batter out on a third strike when the catcher misses the ball, or of the umpire who allows a pitcher to take his stand on the rubber facing the batter without the ball in his possession, and does not call a balk, or who permits pitchers to expectorate on the ball. These are some of the decisions the Petes have already run up against this season, and other clubs have undoubtedly had similar experiences. Rule books may be had for 25 cents, and the Central League would do well to provide some of its arbitrators with a copy in the interests of the game.

G.W.V.A. DEFEATED CANADIAN WOOLENS IN SOCCER FINAL

SCORE WAS 2-0 AFTER CLOSE, FAST GAME—INCIDENT DEVELOPING OUT OF VETERANS' GOALER BEING LATE CAUSED DISPUTE.

By defeating the Canadian Woollens 2-0 at the Nicholls Oval on Saturday evening, the G.W.V.A., already winners of the Phelan Charity Cup, finished the long race with the strong team from the West-end factory, and won the city soccer championship.

The Canadian Woollens and the Vets have been nek-and-neck for the city honours. Two weeks ago the Vets were two points up, but De Laval, by playing an ineligible player, lost their points, and the old rivals were tied again. Saturday night was the final play-off, and in a 70-minute battle both teams gave all they had, and the crowd of fans were treated to a fast game. There was not a large crowd—hardly more than on a Saturday afternoon, but feeling ran high, and both teams were supported vociferously.

Goalie Was Late.

There was a fair breeze blowing from the west, and the Vets winning the toss were supported by this and the sun. The game got away about 6.45. The Canadian Woollens came on the field with a full team; the Vets had only nine men. Wilfred Jones, their goalie, had not put in an appearance when the game was called by Referee Abbott, so Burrows went into the nets for a minute or so. Burrows evacuated for Sidney Whatley, and before Whatley had time to perform Jones came on. On Whatley's leaving and a change of players taking place on the field, the Woollens during the rest of the game threatened a protest, and in the first period argument waxed particularly strong.

The first play was desultory. Ted Jones got the ball. Haycock took it away from him. Dyer had the ball on goal kick, and the play was on the Vets' right wing for a couple of minutes. Monks first looked dangerous to the Woollens. In see-saw play there was a plenitude of long kicking. Harold Jones charged for the Woollens. Woollens got a corner. Beard kicked far, and Burrows saved. Beard again got the ball. Jones failed to head in.

Dyer forced a corner for the Vets, but nothing followed. Swan took a long kick for Jones. Bishop had two offsides in succession. The Woollens came back, but J. Shaw's grounder was an easy save. Jim's second shot was stiffer, and Bishop had to make a sharp save. Haycock returned Beard's kick. The Vets found the play hot around their nets, but they got away for Harry Gamble to send in a long, fast shot, followed up by Edwards nearly scoring from close in.

Burrows stopped H. Jones' fast charge, but gave the Woollens a corner. Beard placed the ball for Swan, but the Scotsman missed. Burrows had to save on Matt. Shaw a second after, and then the play swung away from the Vets' citadel, and recovering the ball right in front of Fenner Art. Edwards charged the goal. Fenner came out, but Edwards evaded him and planted the ball in the Woollens' nets amid cheers that rang up and down the field. A minute afterwards the half rest came.

Last Period.

In the interim between the periods there was some warm talking upon both sides, and returning to the fray the battle was continued with renewed zeal. Both sides struggled like Trojans to score in the last half. The Woollens needed the goal to tie, and the Vets wanted to clinch their win beyond dispute. The second period was therefore filled with harder work, but there was little of the spectaeular. The play swung from goal to goal, and in the first fifteen minutes nothing exciting occurred. Frank Dyer got the second counter for the Vets in a hard charge from an offside kick that upset McMillan when he tried to save, and sent the ball low into the nets. Frost received a kick in the abdomen from Peel when there was about fifteen minutes to go, and had to be carried off the field. The Woollens immediately felt his loss, and the Vets had the edge on the play for the last part. Cridland made a nice save from Willshaw's hot shot, and McMillan ended Willshaw's second hard atempt for a counter. Unable to stand the fast pace, the play had to ease up at last.

The line-ups were:

Can. Woollens.		G.W.V.A.
	Goal
Fenner		Jones
	Full Backs
Cridland		Gamble
Chambers		Bishop
	Half Backs
Frost		Burrows

AT THE THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

PRIZMA PROCESS IS EMPLOYED IN "THE GILDED LILY"

Several Scenes of Mae Murray's New Picture Photographed in Natural Colors.

For the first time in the history of Paramount picture-making in the East scenes made by the Prizma process in natural colors have been incorporated into a Paramount feature picture. This was for "The Gilded Lily," featuring Mae Murray which will be shown at the Capitol Theatre for three days, beginning to-night.

Director Robert Z. Leonard, in explaining the reason for combining Prizma shots with the regular motion picture photography said that "The Gilded Lily" lent itself especially to colored photography for the opening of the picture and that by use of it the main theme of the story could be more convincingly and effectively introduced. The colored shots were used only for the introduction to the picture itself.

"The Gilded Lily "is an original story by Clara Beranger, and was written especially for Miss Murray It tells the story of a dancer in a New York club, and gives Miss Murray unusual opportunities to display her histronic ability and her skill as a dancer. In a monster cabaret set of rare beauty, Miss Murray executed two difficult dances, one a variation of the Spanish variety, the other a bubble dance.

The cast surrounding Miss Murray is composed of Lowell Sherman ,Jason Robards, Charles Gerard, Leonora Ottinger and Mrs. Pauline Dempsey. Ernest Haller was the cameraman.

Larry Semon in his newest and best two reel comedy riot entitled "The Rent Collector", it is one of the very funniest comedies ever produced. The balance of this big show will please all who have the good fortune to see it. This popular resort is always cool comfortable and clean as a new pin. —Fan! Fan!

BALTIMORE LABORERS CUT.

City Reduces Municipal Employees' Wages to 37½ Cents an Hour.

BALTIMORE, July . — About 1,400 municipal laborers are affected by a wage reduction decided on by City Engineer and approved by Mayor Broening. The cut is from 44 cents an hour to 37½ cents an hour.

The purpose, as stated, is to bring the municipal wage rate down to a figure equal to the prevailing rate in outside employment. The City Charter requires that city laborers be paid a compensation that averages a rate equal to the current wage in private employment.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

CHICAGO, July 18. — Chicago's Sox came to bat to-day with a demand that their confessions be thrown out of court.

Repetition of the statements signed by three of the seven stars outlawed from baseball, came as soon as Umpire Hugo Freend, criminal judge, shouted "play ball."

The real fireworks of the trial of the former idols of the Chicago White Sox, charged with conspiracy to "throw" the 1919 world series with the Cincinnati Reds, started when Attorney James C. (Ropes) O'Brien and other pinch-hitters for the accused, moved the confessions be ruled out.

WESTCLOX WILL MEET CRESSMAN'S FOR CHAMPIONSHIP OF MERCANTI...

CLOCKMAKERS DEFEATED BARRIE'S BY 11 TO 5, AND BANKERS WON FROM ST. PETERS BY 7 TO 1.

By defeating Barrie's at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon, Westclox won the championship of the second half of the Mercantile League, their record being three wins and no losses. The Clockmakers will play Cressman's, first half winners on Thursday evening, for the championship of the League. The winner of this game will enter the race for the Ontario championship.

Westclox, with three regulars missing, used Theobald behind the batters, H. Wolff at first base and Baptie at second, and had Al. Doughty twirling effectively against his former team mates.

Galbraith started on the mound for Barrie's, but after pitching to three batters had to give it up on account of a sore arm. Heenan finished the game and did well.

Westclox had six runs at the end of the second. In the third Barrie's tallied three times, making it 6 to 4. Barrie's, however, failed to keep it, and Westclox gradually drew away. The big feature of the contest was a double play unassisted by H. Wolff.

BANKERS WIN 7 TO 1.

Bankers won handily from St. Peter's, in the second game, by the score of 7 to 1. It should have been close as Ferd. Sheehy pitched splendidly for St. Peter's. Infield errors gave Bankers most of their counters. Wilgar made the best showing against Sheehy with two singles to right and a double between middle and left.

St. Peter's had trouble hitting safely against "Lefty" Turner, three safe blows being their limit.

It was in the sixth that St. Peter's got their only run, after McDonought had fanned, Hardill allowed Wolff's bounder to go through and the runner stole second. He advanced on N. Collin's infield out and scored on McPherson's single.

Bankers counted in the first. Hensley started with a grounded to Sheehy who threw him out. J. Turner was safe on McPherson's fumble. He took second and went on to third when Collins' throw to second went wild. Parrington fanned. Wilgar singled to right, scoring the run. Hardill fanned but had to be thrown out.

St. Peter's managed to keep the Bankers from the plate until the fifth when three infield errors, Wilgar's double and D. Johnson's infield out, made four runs. They scored a brace of counters in the seve... without a hit. With one g... Sheehy passed Hardill and D. John... A wild pitch and McPherson's high throw to the plate let the runners in.

SCOTTISH TOUR FINE EDUCATION

But Canadian Players Not Taking Advantages of Lessons Taught.

HAMILTON, July 18.—The touring Scots have come and gone, leaving behind them a good name and a pleasant memory. They showed us a whole lot, but I'm afraid many of the lessons to be learned have not been taken to heart. In almost every game in Hamilton one sees the same hard and often aimless kicking, with little or no attempt to judge the flight of the ball. The trouble with local soccer is that there is too much kicking. The Scots seldom kicked the ball—it was more of a push then a kick, and usually with the side of the foot. A player—and especially a forward—has no control of the ball if he kicks it with the toe of his boot, and that is where local soccer compares poorly with that of the visitors. Then there is the back pass. The Scots specialized in that. It was one of their strong points, and one that is very easily learned. One or two of the local teams are getting quite expert at it, but this is about the only thing they have copied. The back pass is one of the safest ways of keeping the ball out of danger, and team managers would be making no mistake if they insisted on their players practising it more than they are at present doing. The lessons the Scots taught us were to keep the ball low, to kick mainly with the side of the foot, and to shoot as often as possible when there is a reasonable chance of success, as well as the back pass. Many a game has been lost, simply because the forwards were poor shots. One case I have in mind in particular. The occasion was a game between the Lancs and the Thistles. The Lancs would have won that game if the forwards could have shot straight. In my opinion there is no better training for a team than practising shooting for goal. A team may be ever so clever in the open, but if it cannot shoot, its case is a hopeless one. Nothing disgusts soccer fans like poor shooting.

FIVE TIMES AT BAT FOR FIVE HOME RUNS

EVELETH, Minn. July 18.—First-baseman Daubert of the local team of the Mesaba Iron Range League, hit five home runs in as many times at bat in a game with the Virginia Minn., team here yesterday.

His last home-run came in the tenth inning with two men on bases, and brought victory to Eveleth by 9 to 6. The five circuit drives were made off Pitcher Dumont, formerly of the Washington American League team.

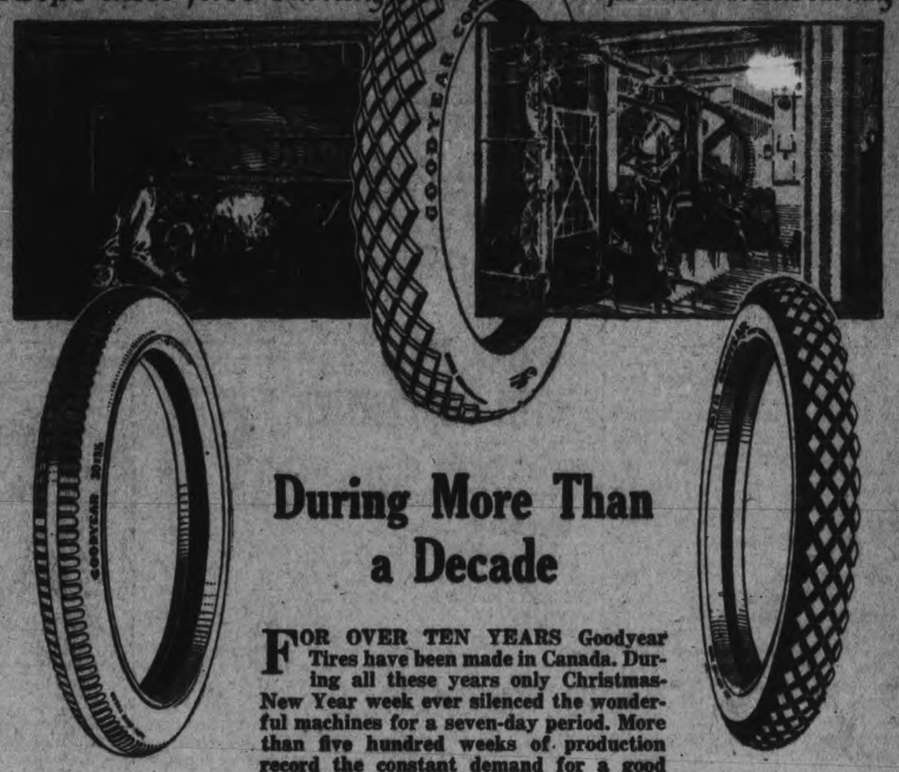
Goodyear Quality
Keeps these fires burning

Goodyear Quality
Keeps these wheels turning



During More Than a Decade

FOR OVER TEN YEARS Goodyear Tires have been made in Canada. During all these years only Christmas-New Year week ever silenced the wonderful machines for a seven-day period. More than five hundred weeks of production record the constant demand for a good product, growing better.

Goodyear quality never stands still. It is being improved constantly.

For instance, Goodyear is producing at New Toronto two new clincher tires—each better for its purpose than anything which has gone before.

The new Goodyear All-weather Tread Clincher (30 x 3½ and 31 x 4) is bigger, tougher, handsomer than even the famous All-weather Tread Tire which has been the most widely used tire in the world.

The new "Goodyear Non-Skid" clincher (30 x 3½) gives full Goodyear quality and mileage to the man who does not need the great gripping power of the All-weather Tread—and saves on the first cost.

These tires were developed by the same manufacturing spirit which produced the Goodyear Cord Tire—the highest development in tire construction—extremely long mileage with a bonus of comfort and fuel economy.

Over 4,000 Canadian dealers recommend Goodyear Tires for just the same reasons that a majority of Canadian motorists use them—long mileage and low cost-per-mile.

EXPEDITION WILL MAP BAFFIN LAND

TO EXPLORE 1500 MILES OF UNKNOWN COAST LINE.

NEW YORK July 18.—(Canadian Press).—An attempt to map Baffin Land, the vast Arctic Island southwest of Greenland, whose 1,500 miles of unexplored western coastline is as much a mystery to-day as when the English navigator, William Baffin, announced it discovery in 1616, is the main objective of the Donald B. MacMillan expedition which leaves soon.

The tiny 115-ton schooner Bowdoin, which carries the party north was built at East Boothbay, Me.

She was named for MacMillan's alma mater, has auxiliary power and embodies all the essentials for resisting terrific ice packs. The crew consists of six men. The vessel is of the Gloucester fisherman knockabout type, sheathed with ironwood, 87 feet long, with a draught of 9 1-2 feet. Crude oil engines capable of developing 60-horsepower are included in her equipment, as well as 2,000 gallons of fuel oil and 500 gallons of kerosene. The Bowdoin also carries stores and provisions sufficient to last her crew two years.

The head of the expedition was Peary's chief lituenant on the latter's succesful dash to the North Pole in 1909. He has made eight voyages into the Arctic regions. According to MacMillan's plans, he intends to reach Baffin Land about August 15 and establish a camp south of the entrance to the dangerous Fury and Hecla Strait, where the ships of Captains Parry and Lyon, seekers of the Northwest passage, were blocked a century ago. The location is 160 miles north of the Arctic Circle and 700 miles south of Etah, Greenland. It is not far from the point where MacMillan's Crocker Land expedition passed the four winters of 1913-14-15 and 16. On that occasion the expedition was once reported lost and two relief expeditions were sent out for it but MacMillan finally returned. He announced that Crocker Land was not "land", as believed possible by Peary, but an ice mirage.

During the winter of 1921-22, attempts will be made to explore the coast of Baffin Land and the following summer an effort wil be made to penetrate the interior where, according to Eskimo tales, there exists one of the richest and most alluring fields of research in the frozen north The island is said to have great mineral deposits and to possess high mountains and beautiful lakes which have never been seen by white men.

The region is believed to be an immense breeding ground for water fowl, whose nesting habits will be the subject of study, while the program of the scientists of the expedition also calls for field work in zoology, botany, geology, meteorology and terrestrial magnetism. Special observations will be taken of the magnetic pole which was located first by James Ross in 1830 on the further side of the Boothia peninsula, not far from MacMillan's proposed winter camp.

An attempt will also be made to circumnavigate Baffin Land. In the event of a serious mishap to the Bowdoin, the party plans to retreat by dog sledge to Fort Churchill, a trading post at the foot of Hudson Bay, and thence return to civilization by way of northwestern Canada.

MacMillan was born in Provincetown, Mass., Nov. 10, 1874, the son of a Cape Cod sea captain. He was graduated from Bowdoin College in 1898 and took up post graduate work at Harvard in 1910-12. Before becoming an explorer he was a teacher and public school principal. In addition to accompanying Peary on his last famous trip North, he was a member of the Cabot Labrador expedition in 1910 and as previously referred to, the leader of the Crocker Land Expedition three years later In 1911 and 1912 he made ethnological studies of the Eskimos of Labrador. He is unmarried.

TRADE AT FIUME STILL LINGERING IN DOLDRUMS.

FIUME, July 18.—Fiume lingers in the doldrums so far as resumption of the once world-renowned trade of this port is concerned, while the new state of Jugoslavia is pressing forward in an effort to take the trade with America that Fiume held before the war.

Political quarrels in this city and international disputes keep the wharves of Fiume idle, but in Jugoslavia a company has been formed to establish a line of steamers to operate from Spalato, Ragusa and Cattaro to New York.

Already small steamers are being operated along the whole Dalmatian coast under the Jugoslav flag, but they do not touch at Fiume, formerly the chief port for this trade.

The Italian suggestion of a consortium for the management and amalgamation of the port of Fiume and the port of Baross, has been rejected by the Jugoslavs, who claim complete sovereignty over the port of Baross, and with it the town of Sussak, all of which, they contend, is in keeping with the treaty of Rapallo.

An Italian naval commander, Captain Foschini, has been designated by the Italian Government to take charge of the city of Fiume in an effort to adjust the differences between the contending groups inside the town.

FARMERS ARE BUSY.

Crops Ripe... ... Rush, Piling Up Work.

There is no rest for the tiller of the soil these days. The grains, poor as they are said to be, are ripening up faster than the farmers can get them cut. Most of the wheat is cut. As a rule the crop is short, but an occasional good field is seen. The fall wheat which escaped the frost seems better than the spring wheat, farmers say.

Barley and oats in wide areas are ready for the binder, but farmers have to first cut the wheat. Driving through the country yesterday, unmistakable signs could be seen that the farmer did not know where to turn next to get his crops in. Here was hay cut, ready for the barn, but a start had to be made on the wheat; in the next field barley would be ready to cut before the wheat was finished and oats were ripe in many places. It seemed that much hay would be spoiled by the rain, but so light were many of the crops the farmers evidently would not worry much if it did.

All the crops except in low land, are short. The corn is the only lovely prospect for the farmer, and some very fine fields can be noticed about Peterborough.

In honor of his 74th birthday, Sir William Crundall, who has been mayor of Dover 13 times, entertained 8,000 schoolchildren.

One Lone Case Is Undelivered

REPOSES AT STATION UNDER THE EAGLE EYE OF LICENSE INSPECTOR—REAL "BAD MEN" MAY START SMUGGLING.

"There was not half as much came in yesterday as on Saturday," said Licence Inspector J. Stewart to-day, referring to the flow of alcoholic beverages into Peterborough on the last day of grace. Saturday was the high whiskey mark, Mr. Stewart said, and the rush noticeably slackened up on the last "wet" day.

Sahara conditions prevailed to-day. At the C.P.R. Station one lonely case of liquor reposed. It was not delivered yesterday, and it was watched with eagle eye by Mr. Stewart to-day. The License Inspector was communicating with the License Commissioners to determine his action with regard to this tardy case. Satisfactory arrangements would be made, he believed, so the case could be delivered to its anxious owners, as in all probability, he said, the people were not home when delivery was made yesterday, and the case was returned to the station.

Mr. Stewart from now on is engaged in the role of Revenue Officer, and will maintain an unremitting vigil against smuggling. This morning he told The Examiner that in his opinion the real "hard-boiled" bad men would engage in smuggling, and this gang would be more dangerous than the "garden" variety of was carrying, ... "bootlegger" ... a similar fate ended the run the bottle P. C. Thomas had loaded himself with in his effort to secure evidence of an infringement of the O.T.A.

In the police court this morning the rumpus was all gone over again for the benefit of Mr .Rush and Mr. Eastwood. Meyette was charged with having liquor in a place other than a private dwelling, to wit, as the lawyer's say, in the lot back of the house. He was remanded for a week. Mrs. Furber was let go on suspended sentence and severe warning from Magistrate Rush. She was assessed $9.10 and costs.

Robert Clancy, whose complaint started the row that disturbed the whole neighborhood, was fined $10 and $9.10 costs for being drunk. By the way his watch was found in one of the rooms at the Furber domicile.

According to the police Mrs. Furber gave them a real argument physical as well as vituperatively verbal.

Rode the Bumpers.

When the early train arrived from Montreal this morning the conductor informed P. C. Johnston, who was on duty at the station that four men had come up with him as front door Pullman" passengers. Matthews crossed through the train and saw the four men apparently under the freight cars nearby.

Johnston sent in a call for reinforcements, and at 4.50 a.m. they arrested Clarence Abernethy and Edward Neil in the vicinity of the station, and at 5:15 a.m. they ran across James O'Connor and Alfred Drew at the corner of Park and Albert streets. They were fined $6.10 each for their stolen ride.

Arrested on Weller Street

While patrolling the west end of the city early Sunday morning the police car stumbled upon an automobile that was drawn up by the side of the road on Weller street. According to the police its occupants Frederick Barlow and Leo Herlihey had liquor in their possession and were drinking. They were fined $109.10.

Broke up Crap Game.

Complaints to the police that a gang of youths have been resorting an old barn south of the Brock street rink and gambling whenever they had the money brought a raid on Sunday. Eight boys were grouped about a crap game in which three were rolling the "gallopers" for which they paid $10.10 each this morning. The other five were charged with vagrancy and fined $2 each and $3.10 costs each. Chief Newhall stated that some of these boys have been losing their entire week's wages with the bones. They were warned this morning that their next conviction will bring them a stiffer sentence than a nominal fine.

ONLY LOCAL SHOWER.

Sunday's Rain Centred Upon Peterborough in Small Radius.

Reports on the weather from this district show that yesterday afternoon's rainstorm must have centred about Peterborough. In the afternoon no rain fell along the lakeshore. Motorists returning from Port Hope found their fisrt evidence of a shower between Fraserville and Springville, and towards the city the rain seemed to be much heavier than further south.

The Examiner was informed to-day that the rain did not touch Lakefield in the afternoon, and at Burleigh not a drop fell.

Havelock has been blistering under a protracted hot and dry spell, a Havelock man said to-day. Only one shower has ... in about a month, and no rain ... yesterday to save the crops, which are seriously in need of it.

LONE 'ADAM' RANCHER MEETS 'EVES' OF OMAHA

Tracy Gillis, Taken by Father to Wilds as Actress Mother Left Them, Sees Life Anew.

OMAHA, July 16.—Tracy Gillis, 30 years old, has just let his eyes first fall on a woman. He has also had his first remembered view of a railroad train, a street car, a daily paper, and fiction magazine. Upon seeing a woman for the first time, Gillis visited a barber shop and had his long hair cut and his face shaved.

Gillis was born in Chicago. His mother was an actress and his father a disciple of Moody and Sankey. But for a third of a century, father and son have lived alone on a Western Nebraska ranch, forty miles from a railroad, with no stranger stepping within its fence posts.

George Gillis, the father, died recently, two years short of four score and ten. Tracy, the son, buried the body on the ranch and went on with his farm work. To-day he came to Omaha on his pioneer journey with a load of cattle.

According to his story the elder Gillis trafficked with his neighboring farmers only on their property and never on his own for fear his son's ears should pick up hints of worldly civilization. The father fled with his son to the West to save him from the dancing, singing actresses in Chicago's old Haymarket Theatre.

A few weeks earlier the boy's mother, whose name was Maggie Isles, had deserted her husband and gone with another man to the Twin Cities. Gillis himself at about the same time had proclaimed himself a convert in a Moody and Sankey prayer meeting.

"A devil lurks on every street corner, father taught me," Tracy Gillis said to-day. "He told me the sad story of my mother and warned me to avoid all sinful men."

WHAT TO WEAR ISN'T ONE OF EASTERN PROBLEMS

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 18. — What to wear isn't counted among Near East problems. Recently an American, newly arrived, made the round of the local stores for a bathing suit. Finally he found a pair of brief tights. When he complained that he wanted a two-piece suit, the merchant answered: "We can't afford to carry dead stock. Most people are satisfied without that much."

At the American Embassy there is one "high" or top silk hat which is at the common disposition of those civil officials who are obliged to have such an article on rare occasions, such as funerals of local dignitaries. The hat was discarded by a pre-war official.

FIGHT TEACHERS' UNION.

SIMCOE, July 18.—Simcoe Board of Education has originated a movement to fight the high school teachers' union, following the refusal of four teachers to accept the board's schedule of wages. The secretary was instructed to try and get other boards in line to fight the "wage" hold-up which teachers in the province are attempting." As a result, Simcoe high school had one teacher at the close of the term, he having declined to join the federation.

QUEBEC'S CROP LOSS REACHES $200,000,000

PARTIAL FAILURE OF CROPS SERIOUS AND MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE IS PESSIMISTIC AS TO OUTLOOK.

THIS YEAR'S VALUE IS ABOUT ONE-HALF 1920

(Specail Despatch to The Examiner)

QUEBEC, July 19.—The Province of Quebec will lose over $200,000,000 by the partial failure of the 1921 crop, was the announcement made by officials of the Department of Agriculture of the province. At least $150,000,000 of the loss can be accounted for by the immediate failure of the hay crop and the decrease in cereals, and a loss of $50,000,000 through the fact that in many sections of the province the farmers will be forced to sell their cattle at a very low price.

Hon. J. E. Caron, Minister of Agriculture, admitted this morning that he was very pessimstic in regard to the situation on the farms and said that whatever his department may do it will not meet the requirements.

No news has yet been received from Ottawa regarding a request for a reduction in the freight rates affecting the shipping of cereals which could be used as fodder to replace hay and a second attempt to improve the situation will be made by the local government. The only hope is the general good crop in the rest of the country, but the drought has affected conditions here for two years at least, due to the coming rise in the price of cattle next spring when the prohibs from the 1922 crop are given out if they prove to be good.

According to the forecasts the 1921 crop in the province of Quebec will be worth $180,000,000 as compared with 1920 when it reached $330,000,000 being a record one, not only in regard to the abudance of produce but also due to high prices being paid, having increased more than $40,000,000. The value of cattle in the province was estimated at 232,000,000 last year and this year will fall to about $180,000,000.

GEORGE STREET IS NO PARKING PLACE

POLICE ISSUE MILD WARNING AGAINST PRACTICE OF MOVIE PATRONS.

Eighteen automobiles were parked on George street between King and Charlotte street last night. One result of this congestion was the obstruction of Comstock's ambulance for ten minutes in responding to a call. The police take this means of reminding the public that the market square nearby has been set apart for parking, and that automobile owners must abide by the city's by-law. They hope that this warning will be sufficient. A cetrain tenderness on the part of the traffic officers for automobile owners may react against their leniency in such possible contingencies as a fire breaking out in a district where cars are parked contrary to the law and are grouped around a hydrant causing delay to the Fire Department in coupling their hose to it. However, there has been no complaint made on this score yet, but the circumstances are possible, an alibi might be sought, and the police would have to bear the blame for any delay.

CONVICT REVOLT QUELLED AFTER 12 INJURED, 3 OF WHOM MAY DIE; ESTIMATED FIRE LOSS $150,000

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 19. — A roll call at the Western Pennsylvania Penitentiary revealed that only two convicts were missing following the rioting of yesterday in which four buildings were destroyed by fire.

Three of the twelve injured had but a slight chance of recovery.

The fire loss was estimated at $150,000.

State troops guarded the prison throughout the night, assisted by armed citizens, after the outbreak of yesterday afternoon, when 200 convicts attacked their guards in the dining hall.

ALBEATA POLLS PLACE FARMERS IN THE SADDLE

ELECTION FOUGHT ON BROAD ISSUES OF INIQUITIES OF OLD PARTY SYSTEM RATHER THAN ON GOVERNMENT'S RECORD.

GREENFIELD OR HEADLEY LIKELY FOR PREMIERSHIP

CALGARY, July 19. (Canadian Press.) — The farmers are in the saddle in Alberta, the second province of Canada to send to its legislature a majority group representing the organized agricultural industry.

The United Farmers of Alberta fought a battle with the Liberal government of Hon. Charles Stewart, on the broad issues of the alleged iniquities of the old party system policy, rather than on the record or politics of the Stewart administration, and the polling yesterday recorded a sweeping victory.

The United Farmers are prepared to accept the responsibilities of success. The Stewart Government in due time will turn over to the farmers its administration tasks.

H. W. Wood is the elected head of the United Farmers of Alberta in its existence as a business organization. It does not follow, however, that he will become the Premier of the province. The name of Herbert Greenfield, the vice-president of the U.F.A., is promiently mentioned for the premiership, and that of George Headley, member-elect for Okotoks.

The latest election summary gives the standing of the parties in Alberta as follows

United Farmers, 38.
Liberals, 15.
Labour, 4.
Independents, 4.
Conservative, 1.

THIS YEAR'S FOREST FIRES CAUSED BY MEN'S CARELESSNESS

The forest fires in Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia this year have been in the Great majority of cases humanly set. Few were caused by malevolence, but the effect on the public purse is not made easier to bear because of that. Of the thousands of dollars of public money expended by these provinces for fire fighting, of the millions of dollars in timber and other property, not to speak of the sacrifice of several lives, the greater part would have been wholly unnecessary if fishermen, campers, and settlers, chose to observe common sense precautions with fire in wooded districts.

The Canadian Forestry Association points out that of the series of huge conflagrations in the forests of Eastern Canada this year, practically all commenced without legitimate excuse, in direct defiance of the fire laws and the interests of the public.

Lightning has caused a number of this year's forest fires, but 90 per cent of the loss is attributable to such classes as settlers, fishermen and campers. The camp fire which the user fails to extinguish is a formidable enemy and the cigarette and match thrown down on the inflammable 'floor' of the forest takes an enormous annual toll.

FARMER SWEEP IN WEST SEEN BY OBSERVERS

OTTAWA POLITICAL CIRCLES REGARD DEFEAT OF STEWART GOVERNMENT AS SYMPTOMATIC OF WHAT MAY BE EXPECTED

AGRARIANS IN CONTROL IN FOUR OF PROVINCES

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

OTTAWA, July 19.— The defeat of the Stewart government in Alberta at the hands of the U.F.A. is regarded in Federal political circles here as symtomatic of what will occur west of the Great Lakes and east of the Rockies in a general Federal election.

Provincially the agrarians practically control the situation in Ontario, Mantioba, Alberta and Saskatchewan.

If in the matter of actual control their influence does not extend beyond these provinces it would appear to be fairly evident that in the next Federal contest the Progressives will score a sufficient representation to be a formidable factor in whatever alignment may be necessary toward the formation of a government.

From the Federal government viewpoint the results in Saskatchewan, Alberta and in the Federal by-election in Medicine Hat are far from hopeful and indicate that while the Liberals have been dominated by the agrarian group that old Conservative part in the west has practically ceased to exist. The organization of the farmers in Alberta for the Provincial fight was a last hour affair, super-induced by the victory won in Medicine Hat. And impossible to stem.

Just what immeditae effect the Alberta results will have upon the Federal political situation will not be known until Premier Meighen returns. While it is for him to decide whether his party will take the plunge in the chilly waters of a general election there is growing feeling that the government's chances are not improving as the days go by and that there is nothing to be gained by waiting. In many quarters it is predicted that there will be a general election some time toward the end of October or early in November.

FRIENDS GIVE SEND-OFF FOR MR. G. BENTON

LEAVES CITY TO-MORROW TO ACCEPT POSITION IN LOS ANGELES

A very pleasant gathering was held last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Whitcroft, when about thirty of the friends of Mr. George Benton assembled for the purpose of giving him a send-off on the occasion of his departure from the city.

Mr. Benton, who has been on the staff of the Merchants Bank here, is leaving on Wednesday for Los Angeles ,to take a position in the office of his uncle there.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitcroft and their son Stanley proved delightful hosts, and two members of a well-known local orchestra rendered some delightful music during the evening, which was passed in the enjoyment of games and dancing.

Mr. Thomas Flinn made a short farewell address to Mr. Benton and presented him with small testimonial of the esteem of his assembled friends, to which a fitting reply was made. Refreshments were served by the hospitable hosts.

RIVAL FORCES FIGHT TO GET PAPER OFFICE

QUARREL OF BERTHIAUME BROTHERS LEADS TO HIRING SQUADS OF DETECTIVES WHO BATTLE FOR POSSESSION.

42 BESIEGED IN OFFICE BY DETECTIVES WITHOUT

MONTREAL, July 19.—New and sensational developments in a family quarrel between the heirs of the late Hon. Treffle Berthiaume for control of La Presse, the most important French-Canadian paper of the Dominion, took place yesterday.

Since the first developments on Thursday last, when a new Board of Directors of La Presse Publishing Company, Ltd., was elected, matters have moved rapidly. When this was done Arthur Berthiaume, President and General Manager of the company, summoned the heads of all departments of the paper and issued orders that henceforth they could receive instructions only from him or from Mr. Fontaine, a director, in his absence.

Following this, new locks were placed on the offices formerly occupied by Messrs. Eugene and Edouard Berthiaume, brothers of the President, now on bail under charges of $80,000 and $40,000 misappropriations, respectively.

Threatened by Detectives.

La Presse Building was guarded by a squad of police, and when Eugene Berthiaume called on Fridav he was denied entrance, and through his lawyers issued a protest that the city police were being used to prevent him from entering his own offices. Thereupon the police were withdrawn, and private detectives were employed, who, finding Eugene Berthiaume in occupation of an office in La Presse Building, threatened to remove him by force if he did not vacate the office. This he finally did under strong protest.

After 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon the building was locked up, and no one admitted unless bearing an authorization signed by either Arthur Berthiaume or Messrs. Fontaine and Du Tremblev. City police are also guarding the outside of the building.

Battle for the Building.

A battle is now in progress for the possession of the building. On Saturday, when Arthur Berthiaume, President of La Presse, engaged men from the Thiel Detective Agency to eject his brothers Eugene and Edouard from their offices, the dispossessed engaged 12 men from the Broderick Detective Agency, who forced their way into the building and camped in rooms on the second floor.

Arthur Berthiaume then engaged a larger force of Thiel detectives, who now hold all the ground floor and the sidewalks round about, and began a regular siege against the party entrenched on the second floor.

The elder brother's forces shut off the water from the second floor, and frustrated numerous attempts of the besieged to secure food and water by letting down ropes and hooks to friends outside.

Enlist Reinforcements.

Eugene and Edouard later enlisted a small army of men from the Dominion Detective Agency to assist in getting supplies to the Broderick men, besieged on the second floor.

At present there are 42 private detectives in the building, while the roof, sidewalks and lanes surrounding the building swarm with men of the rival agencies.

Arthur Berthiaume's army controls the composing and press rooms, and it is understood La Presse will appear as usual.

Yesterday afternoon it was announced that Edouard and Eugene had applied for an injunction restraining Arthur Berthiaume from acting as President of the company and had also instituted an action for $50,000 damages against the President, on the ground of illegal and forcible ejection from their offices.

Saturday was the high whiskey mark, Mr. Stewart said, and the rush noticeably slackened up on the last "wet" day.

Sahara conditions prevailed to-day. At the C.P.R. Station one lonely case of liquor reposed. It was not delivered yesterday, and it was watched with eagle eye by Mr. Stewart to-day. The License Inspector was communicating with the License Commissioners to determine his action with regard to this tardy case. Satisfactory arrangements would be made, he believed, so the case could be delivered to its anxious owners, as in all probability, he said, the people were not home when delivery was made yesterday, and the case was returned to the station.

Mr. Stewart from now on is engaged in the role of Revenue Officer, and will maintain an unremitting vigil against smuggling. This morning he told The Examiner that in his opinion the real "hard-boiled" bad men would engage in smuggling, and this gang would be more dangerous than the "garden" variety of bootlegger. The "bootlegger" will look to these men to run the liquor in, and they will resort to every method and measure to beat the inspectors and supply their agents with liquor to sell at a princely figure.

$3,000,000 LOSS IN ASPHALT FIRE

PLANT PRACTICALLY RUINED IN NEW JERSEY.

LINDEN, N. J., July 19.—(Canadian Press).—The loss from fire which destroyed 33 of the 34 tanks and 15 asphalt stills at the plant of the Warner Quinland Asphalt Co. near here was estimated at three million dollars to-day by officials of the company. In addition to the tanks and stills, the entire plant was ruined with the exception of several small structures. Explosions continued throughout the night.

JOLLY TRIP TO RICE LAKE AND BACK

THE STONEY LAKE GIVES A FINE DAY'S OUTING.

The fast excursion steamer 'Stoney Lake' ran a special trip to Rice Lake and Gore's Landing yesterday, and carried a party of delighted excursionists. A fine, bracing breeze prevailed all day, with a shaded sky overhead, the sun's rays being nicely tempered, resulting in a cool and invigorating atmosphere. The steamer left George street wharf at 8.45, reaching Rice Lake in a fresh, heavy rolling sea about noon, and tied up at Gore's Landing until 3.45, giving excursionists an enjoyable four hours for refreshments and visiting. The return trip was made in good time. About 7 o'clock the steamer was docked at her George street wharf, every atention and care having been shown by the captain and crew.

About half a hundred children under the care of capable guardians of the Peterborough Health Association proved an interesting feature of this trip. It was a practical demonstration of the value of this Association's good work. The ages of the children ranged form two up to twelve years. Their bright, care-free appearance spoke well for the special efforts being made in their behalf—every one bearing evidence of good health, personal cleanliness and attention. They enjoyed the freedom of the boat all day, and their happy little faces and gleeful hearts proved how much may be accomplished by a practical working out of the spirit of the universal law of love and the potent factor it is in doing good.

CONFIRM RUMORED FALL OF KUTAIA

ATHENS REJOICES OVER OFFICIAL COMMUNIQUE.

ATHENS, July 19. — (Canadian Press).—An official communique issued at the general headquarters of the Greek Army in Asia Minor, covering the events of July 16, tells of operations around Kutaia on the southern branch of the Bagdad Railway. Confirmation of the report that Kutaia had fallen Sunday afternoon was received here through official channels last night, and was followed by general rejoicing.

Swordfish of the Indian Ocean have been known to drive their snouts through three inches of teakwood covered with a copper sheath.

CRAIG'S RETURN DOES NOT MEAN RUPTURE OF NEGOTIATIONS, SAYS NORTH DELEGATION'S SECRETARY

LONDON POLITICAL CIRCLES ALSO ARE DISINCLINED TO VIEW LAST NIGHT'S STATEMENT AS FINAL.

DELEGATION MAY BE RECALLED NEXT WEEK

BELFAST, July 19.—(Canadian Press).—The return to Belfast of Sir James Craig, Ulster Premier, and members of the Cabinet who have been with him in London in connection with the Irish peace movement, must not be taken as a rupture of negotiations, it was declared to-day by Col. Spender, secretary of the delegation, on its arrival here. It is thought, indeed, that this delegation will be recalled to London next week.

LONDON, July 19. — (Canadian Press).—The Irish negotiations appear to have reached a deadlock in so far as they concern the tripartite conference between Mr. Lloyd George, the British Prime Minister; Eamonn De Valera, Irish Republican leader, and Sir James Craig, Premier of Ulster. This developed last night when Sir James, as he departed for Belfast, issued a statement on the subject of self-determination, which is interpreted to mean that he will not compromise on any matters pertaining to Ulster's political rights. While the statement has made a deep impression upon political circles, in many quarters it is not accepted as final, and the hope is expressed that the negotiations for such a conference are not ended.

Eamonn De Valera, Irish Republican leader, and his colleagues who accompanied him to London for the conference with Prime Minister Lloyd George, in an effort to lay the basis of a tri-partite conference for the solution of the Irish question, are now marking time in anticipation of the conversation of Mr. De Valera and the Prime Minister Thursday morning. It is reported that by that time Mr. Lloyd George will have certain propositions to present to the Irish leaders which will have received the approval of the British Cabinet. Spokesmen of the Irish delegates to-day characterized their attitude as "still not unhopeful."

COUNTY COUNCIL CHANGES MIND RE GRANTS TO FAIRS

Warden Griffith has ordered the suspensoin of the payment of the County Council's grants to the five agricultural societies in Peterborough county. They are the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, the Norwod, Lakefield, Keene and Galway fairs. At the June sessionof the County Council the Finance committee recommended that the usual grants be made, but after the Warden had gone to catch the noon C.P.R. train on the concluding morning the Council changed its mind and also the grants to the exhibitions. Notices are being sent out to the Reeves of Norwood, Lakefield, Galway, Otonabee and North Monghan informing them of the countermand of the Warden.

THIRSTY CREW DESPERATE ON THE LAST DAY

TORONTO REPORTS ONE OF THE BIGGEST LIQUOR THEFTS YET AND SUDBURY BREWERY WAS SWAMPED WITH ORDERS.

TILL OVERFLOWS AND BILLS PILED ON DESK

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

TORONTO, July 19. — One of the biggest thefts of alcohol was effected here early this morning from the warehouse of E. G. West and Company, the wholesale druggists, 80 George street, when a huge barrel containing 42 gallons, was removed.

Entrance to the warehouse was gained by forcing a window in an elevator shaft and the barrel was removed from the warehouse by a motor car. It weighed 440 pounds.

GREAT RUSH AT SUDBURY

SUDBURY, Ont., July 19. — The Sudbury brewery was swamped with last minute orders last night, hundreds being from out of town.

There was a big crowd of would-be buyers in front of the brewery in the afternoon and in the evening trying to have their orders filled.

A staff has been working day and night for the past month, being given their meals right on the job.

The till filled to overflowing yesterday afternoon. The banks were closed and the money was heaped on top of the desk, and even then the pile of bills grew higher.

There was a big stack of Toronto orders, many of which could not be filled.

THE WEATHER

We should not hear any complaints rearding dry weather for several weeks at least, after the heavy rains of last evening and during the night, as well as early this morning. The last rain totalled 1.55, of which over an inch and a quarter fell during the night. The little flurry between five and six o'clock gave us .26, while .04 fell this morning. Counting what fell on Sunday afternoon we have had just two inches as our portion—and a very generous portion it has been indeed.—W.P.

Voice of the People

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—Would you please say if you know where any National Liberal and Conservative Associations, or clubs, have been formed. I have not seen any but the old Liberal-Conservative Associations of either men or women, and I would like to know if you, Sir, know of any of the new party being formed.

INQUIRER.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—After reading in one of last week's papers, we are informed of the small costs of the famous bridge, and extras still mounting. Are the town people going to be blinded with these new water rates and filtration plant in the same way? Would it not be better for the public to have the water cut off and pay their frontage tax and go back to the well or force pump. It is said that it is not the water we are paying for but the number of taps. I would like to mention these taps are paid for out of the owner's pocket when they are put into the house. Would like also to know is it correct that when this new plant is finished, the top of it is so being planned as to provide a sporting ground for these well paid officials. If so, will it not be better for the people to know just what they are paying for, amusement or for the good of the town.

One Who Wants to See Fair Play.

BRIDGE WAGES.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—The Mayor and Ald. Gordon, M.P., were correct in demanding a detailed staement of extras for the bridge, and why has not the chairman of the Bridge committee got a detailed report of the committee's recommendation in a proper business-like manner.

How many times did the Bridge committee get officially called together by the chairman in order to present a majority or minority report to the City Council? Why is there not a proper account put before the ratepayers of wages in items of the non-productive staff and the actual producers, (overseers not to be listed with the mechanic and labirer), as it is a general opinion that too manyoverseers and non-producing officials were engaged, which made up the wage bill and not the laborer and skilled mechanic.

It also puzzles the people to understand the extra cost, as Mr. Townshend stated he had the cement purchased at a price as soon as he received the contract. Money was also supposed to have been saved on the gravel pit by having it next to the job. The Hamilton firm gave a guarantee that even on the cost plus basis the bridge should not cost more than $300,000. Mr. Conroy set a fixed sum of $251,000, with a bond of $50,000 guaranteed by Mr. Eastwood of the Royal Bank that he would finish the job.. The whole situation seems to have been somewhat slip-shod, and an audit account should be submitted to the people. Ald. Hamilton is, to the mind of many, called upon to supply the ratepayers with an itemized sheet of accounts to show the extra cost above the original estimate of expenditure, etc., in order that labor or material should not be wrongly accused any more than the Bridge committee's mismanagement.

The citzens do not require something for nothing, but they certainly have a right t othe cost of each item of expenditure. Ald. Hamilton, who voted for the cost plus basis, and Russell-Townsend should be the last to oppose the production of a proper balance sheet to the Council. The Labor group were never in the majority on the Council, therefore controlled nothing.

While Ald. Hamilton and Mr. Townsend accused the Mayor on raising the cost owing to wages, it is only right to say the Mayor did not vote for the Russell-Townsend. The fair wage to the laborer and mechanic advcoated by him was not for non-productive labor, which cost approximately the same amount as the productive labor.

A. O. F. ENJOYED THEIR EXCURSION TO RICE LAKE

The Steamer Stoney Lake has seldom carried a happier crowd than on Saturday afternoon, July 16th, when the Ancient Order of Foresters and their friends made their annual trip down the river to Rice Lake.

On the return trip a stop was made at Wallace's Point for supper. After the picnic baskets were disposed of. Young and old alike took part in an excellent programme of sports. All the races were well contested, and the tug of war, Visitors vs. Members, was won by the latter after a strenuous encounter. All reported a very enjoyable time on arrival at the George street wharf at 9 p.m., and hearty thanks are extended to all those whose help contributed to the success of the trip.

MILTON, July 19. — (Canadian Press).—The Milton Pressed Brick, the largest industry of its kind in Canada, has reduced the wages of its several hundred workmen by five cents per hour, beginning yesterday. There was very little grumbling at the cut. The men state that they are aware of the fact that work is to be scarce this fall, and they are not going to quit for the sake of a slight reduction in wages. They are hoping, however, that there will be no more for a while, as living is not coming down as fast as it should.

Quality maintains economy. No matter how much you pay "per gallon" for other lubricating oils, you get more lubrication "per dollar" when you buy Imperial Polarine Motor Oils.

Your Smallest Expense

THE cost of properly lubricating your car with Imperial Polarine Motor Oils is your smallest operating expense and, yet, the exclusive use of Imperial Polarine Motor Oils will just about cut in half your greatest expense, depreciation, as well as most of your other operating expenses.

Poor lubricants are not cheap at any price. The very best lubricant you can buy for your car is really the only one you can afford to use. Good lubricants give you the most lubrication for your dollar.

Imperial Polarine Motor Oils are recognized everywhere as standards of uniform high quality. There is a grade scientifically formulated to meet the lubrication needs of every moving part in every motor vehicle. For economy sake, standardize on Imperial Polarine Motor Oils.

IMPERIAL MEET CLEARING ODDS AND ENDS ONLY

NO ACTION ON NAVAL QUESTION EXCEPT SUGGESTING CONSERVATION OF OIL RESOURCES FOR NAVY FUEL.

BY M. GRATTAN O'LEARY
Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON, July 19.—With Premier Meighen of Canada in Edinburgh to receive the freedom of that city, and Premiers Lloyd George of Great Britain and Smuts of South Africa immersed in Irish negotiations, the conference of Empire Prime Ministers contented itself yesterday with clearing up the odds and ends on its agenda.

As on Saturday, there were meetings of sub-committees upon such matters as Imperial communications, shipping and the status of the Indians, but nothing definite will be done with respect to any of these questions until the Canadian Premier returns on Wednesday. In regard to the naval question, the only action to be taken will be in the form of a resolution expressing the opinion that the oil resources of the Empire should, if possible, be conserved for naval fuel.

The idea of having a preliminary conference to deal with Pacific problems in London appears to be losing ground. The proposal originated with the Antipodean Premiers, but it is beginning to be recognized that the holding of such a conference in London might conceivably create suspicion in the United States and work untold injury to the wider scheme. Premier Meighen, for his part, has always favored Washington, not alone because of its proximity to Ottawa, but because, in his opinion, the place to discuss and settle Pacific problems should be as near as possible to the Pacific.

VIENA HOMESEEKERS ORGANIZE TO GET THEM

VIENNA, July 19.—The many thousands of seekers for homes in Vienna have organized to get them. Complaining that the government bureau created for this purpose is impotent, the members of the society have appointed agents to find all vacant premises and all residential property not containing the maximum number of occupants and threaten to use force to secure lodgings. They have published a list of such places and demand they be handed over. Among them is the home of a baroness having ten rooms in which she lives alone. Many similar instances are cited.

There are dozens of preparations recommended to destroy bed bugs. But the preparation that gives the best results is Post's Bed Bug Poison and one or two applications will soon wipe out the pest. IRISH HELP TO REPAIR BROKEN BRIDGES, ROADS

SINN FEIN LIASON OFFICER ASKS ALL TO ASSIST IN WORK—CROWN REMOVES TRADE RESTRICTIONS.

DUBLIN, July 19. — (Canadian Press).—Commandant Barry, Chief Sinn Fein Liaison officer in the martial law area, announced last night that Sir General Nevill Macready, British Military Commander in Ireland, had agreed to remove all restrictions on fares and markets and permit the closed creameries to re-open. Commandant Barry said that therefore he desired all citizens to assist in the work of the removal of road obstructions, filling in trenches and the repairing of bridges to such an extent as is urgently required. In company with E. J. Duggan, Sinn Fein member of Parliament, Commandant Barry visited Sir Nevill Macready yesterday and complained of the non-observance of the truce in the martial law area. Restrictions, he said, were still being maintained on fares and markets, and the Crown forces and patrols were still carrying arms.

Foresters Attend Service.

The Ancient Order of Foresters attended divine service on Sunday morning in Christ church, when the rector, Rev. C. E. Clark, delivered a very able and parctical address from Galatians, 6:2, 'Bear ye one another's burdens and thus fulfill the law of Christ."

Paul was writing to the Galatians who, although converted, atempted to go back to the old ritual. St. Paul, wrting, said, do not bother about the burden of the law, but the sins of others. The law referred to in text. When Christ came into the world, the great proportion of the human race were treated as slaves, and Roman cruelty was known far and wide. The Saviour came into a world in which the Jews divided the world into Jews and Heathen. They despised the Gentiles. In Jewish races certain classes were despised. Christ taught the great power of love. Christ spoke of love in relation to God, then to man. Christ's teaching was in acocrdance with His living. How wonderful His teaching about 'Christ the Father, the Parables of the Lost Sheep" and the Lost Piece of Silver show love of God. In the Fatherhood of God we find the brotherhood of man. No brother need be outside Christianity.

The A.O.F. stands for the binding together of men for mutual helpfulness, by mutual insurance, sick benefits, etc., thus through these and other influences the order helps men to bear one another's burders, he said. Some men might go through theorder without realizing their duty to their fellow men. We ought to look at things as Christ looked at them. Christ warned the people not to be careful about little things and neglect eternal things. We should love one another. To preach that we must not dance, smoke, etc., is to preach about small things. If we preach and live the law of love, our world would be changed to a paradise, men would not take advantage of their fellow men in business. We must remember that when the world has passed away, each soul still lives and is going on in the eternal life of God. Brotherhood is the finest thing in life.

The members, who turned out in large numbers, looked very spic and span in their new regalia.

Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Fisher of Bellevile, accompanied by Miss Johnston, motored to town and spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Thos. McCook.

Miss Mary Brown of Toronto, formerly of town, is spending her vacation with friends in town.

Miss Beatrice Collard is visiting her friends, Lieut. Lyons and Capt.. Peddesdon, in Renfrew.

Mrs. Alley of Daulphin, Mantioba, is visting friends in town and in Hastings for a few weeks. Mrs. Alley, who was formerly Miss Mabel Johnston, is well konwn here, having atended High school here.

The first of the union services of Methodists and Presbyterians was held on Sunday morning in the Methodist church and in the evening at the Presbyterian. At both of these services, Rev. H. B. Kenney was the minister, and preached very forceful sermons to large audiences.

Miss Elsie Smith, who attended Peterborough Normal school during the past year, has been successful in securing her interim second class certificate.

ULSTER'S CLAIM TO RIGHT OF SELF-DETERMINATION IS BONE OF CONTENTION IN CONFERENCE

DEVALERA'S DEMAND FOR ONE UNITED IRELAND LEADS TO GRAVE CRISIS IN NEGOTIATIONS FOR SETTLEMENT OF IRISH PROBLEM—CRAIG LEAVES FOR BELFAST—HOPES FOR PROPOSED CONFERENCE OF THREE LEADERS THURSDAY ARE DIM.

(BY CHARLES M. McCANN.)
(Special Despatch to The Examiner.)

LONDON, July 19. — Irish peace negotiations appeared to be approaching a crisis at full tilt to-day.

The situation, so hopefully regarded last week, was so grave today that even the newspapers refused to offer any conjectures as to what may happen when the present fog of secrecy lifts.

The crisis in the negotiations apparently arose from the fact that Sir James Craig contends that Ulster is entitled to its own government and parliament, and Eamonn De Valera holds that there must be one united Ireland before peace can be concluded.

The Ulster delegation has left London. Sir James Craig, Premier for the northern Counties, was back in Belfast after a farewell statement in which he declared that Ulster is entitled to separate government.

Sinn Fein, he said, had recognized the right of self determination and had ratified Ulster's position at the last election.

The defeat of Sinn Fein's candidates for the Ulster Parliament, he said, clearly showed that President DeValera as follows had agreed to the issue of the partition of Ireland. Since the Sinn Fein was defeated, Ulster's right to stand alone is recognized, he contended.

Meanwhile it was not known whether Sir James would return to Belfast for further conferences with the Ulster leaders or whether he was withdrawing. The latter seemed improbable and the general belief was that most of his statement was for Ulster consumption.

It was especially significant that Sir James statement included the assertion that "he was well satisfied with the efforts being made towards peace." The future, he said, holds out a promise of friendship. Ulster, he said, does not desire to participate in a discussion of the terms of settlement between the British and the Sinn Fein section of Ireland, but promises "cordial cooperation on equal terms with southern Ireland in any matter affecting the common interests."

"Our services will be available at any moment," Sir James Craig declared.

It was understood to-day that the DeValera-Lloyd George conferences at first dealt with the exalted questions of principle.

Yesterday the leak between the two descended from the clouds into practical politics and interpretations of principle.

De Valera's statements regarding the conference were guarded but it was understood the Sinn Fein delegation is ready to concede Ulster its rights possessed under the semi-rule act, and is willing to extend her prerogatives, if Ulster will recognize Irish unity .

All Ireland continued peaceful, awaiting the resumption of negotiations next Thursday.

ALL ITALY WILL PAY HONOR TO NOTED POET

Will Hold Celebrations in Memory of Dante.

ROME, July 19. — For the next three months all Italy will particpate in various celebrations in honor of the six hundredth anniversary of the death of Dante, and which will culminate in especial celebrations during September.

Rome, Florence and Ravenna, especially, have just announced their programmes for September that are to mark the highest tribute which Italy can pay to the greatest poet.

Weeks and even months before then various other celebnations will have taken place.

Of the three cities that are to render especial homage to Dante in September, Ravenna will get her programme started first on September 11. On that day will occur the inauguration of the new national tomb to Dante, and the consignment and dedication of the bronze and silver wreaths offered by the Italian army; of the bells offered by the various Italain municipalties and finally of the bronze door of the tomb offered by the city of Rome.

On September 15 the celebrations will be resumed at Florence.

On September 19, the Rome City Council will rename one of its leading streets 'Via Dante Alighierri" and will make the formal presentation of the bronze door to the tomb of Dante at Ravenna which will be donated by the City of Rome. Remembrance will also be made of the fact that Rome participated with the other Italian communities in the casting of the chimes for the new Dante Tomb.

CHILDREN AND SHEEP.

A little girl in Lindsay last week had her nose bitten off by a dog, and the incident serves to draw attention to a strange anomaly in our law, points out the Brockville Recorder and Times.

If the dog had bitten off a sheep's nose or a pig's nose ,the owner of the dog would have to pay damages to the owner of the wounded animal.

Since, however, the dog did no more than bite off the nose of a little girl, and maim her for life, the owner lies under no penalty.

If a dog attacks an animal he has to take his chances in the law courts.

If a dog attacks a boy or girl he can chew them all up if he likes in the full assurance that nothing more will be heard of it except—

EXCEPT the claimant is able to prove that the dog was known to be vicious. That "except" lets ninety-nine out of a hundred owners of vicious dogs go scott free.

It is time the statutes put children somewhere near the level of sheep and pigs.

A PROFITLESS OUTBURST.

Mayor Church, of Toronto, has been waxing indignant over the continued high prices of some of the necessities of life. The trouble is, however, that he only succeeds in voicing the opinion of the public generally, without in any way arriving at a solution of the problem of bringing prices down to a more reasonable level. Nobody seems to have the necessary authority to limit the profits that may be made upon any particular product so that Mayor Church's outburst, while it sounds good to the long suffering consumer, and will not injure His Honour's chances in case he once more offers himself for the chief magistrate's chair, is not likely to accomplish anything to relieve the situation. There are times when the irrepressible Mr. Church has a tendency to play to the gallery, and his present tirade against high prices seems to be one of the occasions upon which he has decided to let the people know that he is not blind to their difficulties.

RETURNING TO NORMAL.

The action of representatives of the building trades in Toronto in deciding to accept a reduction of ten cents per hour commencing on Monday next, is one of the most encouraging indications of a return to normal conditions that has yet been given. The decision of the Building Trades Council followed a conference with manufacturers of building material and with the contractors, and the resolution endorsed by the representatives of labour present affirmed that the reduction could be effected without interfering with the present standard of living of the workers, inasmuch as the cost of material and the cost of living are rapidly declining. The result of the wage cut should be an immediate stimulus to building operations and the erection of more houses, relieving the present shortage and eventually bringing down the rentals, which are the biggest item at present in the cost of living. It is expected that the example of the Toronto building trades will be generally followed with results that cannot fail to be gratifying.

THE LAST CHANCE.

To-morrow will be your last opportunity to assist the Canadian Institute for the Blind, for the Examiner Fund for this purpose will be closed Wednesday. It is desired that Peterborough's share towards the great work should total $500, not a very large contribution from a city of this size, but nevertheless a sum that will be greatly appreciated by those who are in charge of the local campaign. The Institute has given many an unfortunate Canadian a fresh start in life, a renewed hope, and the confidence and ability to face the future with a new courage, relying upon the education received from the Institute to earn for him a livelihood. It is a noble work and the Examiner has been very glad to do what it could towards bringing it before the people of Peterborough and seeking their sympathy and active support. Doubtless many people who realize what the Institute for the Blind has done and is planning to do and who are anxious to contribute their quota have delayed subscribing, believing there would be plenty of time before the campaign closed. They are asked to note that the Examiner Fund will be wound up to-morrow.

HARD TIMES?

Just how hard are hard times? An American paper, the Columbia Record, tries to show that they are not as hard in the United States as people let on. And it proceeds to:

Pity the poverty-stricken American people these hard times!

So destitute have we become that for our small luxuries—candy, tobacco, soft drinks, jewelry and the like—we can afford to spend only about twenty million dollars a day.

It's a sad story that is told by reports of tax collections made to the treasury department.

The twenty million a day is only an estimate. In reality it might not be more than nineteen million, nine hundred and ninety-nine thousand. But the estimate is based on the fact that the goverment is receiving approximately $60,000,000 a month from luxury taxes, and these, we believe, are based on about one-tenth of the cash received by the dealers.

The tax collectors are getting nearly $10,000,000 every thirty days via the railroad ticket office. All of which goes to prove that we, the American people, are always going somewhere or coming back. Not all our travel is luxury travel, but since these taxes usually increase during the vacation months of June, July and August ,we can hardly deny that a great deal of it is.

Pennies that go into the little glass jars kept handy by soda dispensers for that purpose, now bring the government nearly $7,000,000 each month—about the same amount the sale of new automobiles nets your Uncle Sam in taxes.

We "chew the rag" about hard times, but we are also a gum-chewing people. The $100,000 the government collects each month by reason of our indulgence in this luxurious pastime indicates that we are chewing aproximately 28,000,000 packages, or 1,3000,000,000 sticks every 30 days. One would hardly believe that with no more lady stenographers than we have, we could possily accomplish the feat.

Yes, indeed, we are a poverty-stricken people!

Perhaps Canada is in a much similar position. Times are not so hard as to stop people spending money on luxuries. The trouble is that the luxuries are bought while houses and a few other essentials are pretty much off the market. But the people apparently know best what they want.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

The MacMillan expedition has sailed for Baffin Land. Another heat wave and we'll join them.

Man wants but little here below. Observations on bathing beaches lead one to believe that for once man is getting what he wants.

When the red-nosed group learned that a "movie" film was to be made from the old-timer, "Ten Nights in a Bar-room," Awfull Thurst remarked that he hoped the producers wouldn't be so cruel as to release the picture during a heat wave.

FEWER PEOPLE DYING.

Metropolitan Life Reports Cut in Rate of 23 per cent.

NEW YORK, July 18.—A marked decline in the death rate for the last six months was reported yesterday by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, after statisticians had had compiled tables covering the 13,193,629 policyholders. There were 52 drownings among policy holders, and the statement urged caution in swimming and bathing.

"The death rate for the year to date is more than 23 per cent. below that for the first half of 1920," said the statement. "The most marked declines are for influenza and pneumonia, tuberculosis and organic heart disease. The death rate for influenza during the first six months of this year was about one-ninth of that for the first half of 1920; likewise, the pneumonia mortality for the first half of 1921 was about one half that for the corresponding period of last year. These decreases, together with drops of 19 per cent in the tuberculosis rate and of 9 per cent. in that for cardiac diseases, are the chief elements responsible for this years remarkable health record.

"There are a few other items which should not be overlooked. Cerebral hemorrhage and bright's disease, two other important causes of death, have registered considerable declines. Measles and whooping cough are much lower than last year. The accident rate is slightly lower, and there has been a decrease of 21.2 per cent. in the mortality from conditions incidental to pregnancy and childbirth."

MUST TEAR DOWN THE FIGHT ARENA.

Boyle Wants His Ground Cleared—Next Bouts at Madison Square Gardens.

NEW YORK, July 19.—Through a misunderstanding over the lease of Boyle's thirty acres, on which Tex Rickard built the great arena for the Carpentier-Dempsey fight, the promoter may be compelled to change his plans for holding other championship bouts there.

Rickard, in his negotiations for the site, understood that the arena could stand for at least six months, and laid plans to use it for the proposed bout between Carpentier and Gibbons and another Dempsey affair. Now the owner wants the big pine saucer erased from his beloved thirty acres, and Rickard has virtually decided to hold the bouts in Madison Square Garden.

Tex Rickard was to confer again to-day with Eddie Kane, manager of Tommy Gibbons, on terms for a Gibbons-Carpentier contest. As Kane wants to sign up on a percentage basis, no hitch is expected.

Rickard is planning to stage the contest in Madison Square Garden in October.

ST. THOMAS, July 15.—Because Chief of Police Harry Phillips of Port Stanley, was not inclined to view favorably the ruling that he should devote a portion of his time to weed cutting and other labor of that kind, the Port Stanley Council voted in favor of dispensing with his services, and his resignation has been requested, to take effect July 15. Reeve Jackson also complained that the police chieftain had defied members of the Council when a matter developed that was displeasing to him. Chief Phillips claimed that the time and attention of an officer are required in maintaining order on the board walk during July and August.

MILITANTS AND MODERATES DIVIDED IN JAPANESE IMPERIAL CONFERENCE

SITUATION IN SIBERIA HAS CHANGED SINCE END OF MEETING BY CAPTURE OF VLADIVOSTOK BY KAPPELIST FORCES.

TOKYO, July 19. — Official silence envelopes the results of the great cabinet and foreign office conference which deliberated on Japan's policies in respect to various countries on the continent of Asia.

While the Foriegn Office had originally planned to give an outline of of the results in an official statement to the press, this idea was abandoned for some reason. It is, however, possible to form a very accurate opinion of most of the decisions which were made, from talks with well informed officials in a position to know.

The decision to withdraw the troops from Siberia, except the Amur region and Saghalien; and from the Kwantung Railway, was regarded as a victory for the Premier, and the Foreign Office, over the militarists, for while the civil officials have for some time past been anxious to take such action, they have been thwarted by the iron opposition of the War Department. I am informed however from a reliable source that this action was suggested by no less a person than Minister of War General Tanaka, even though opposition remains in the general staff, which continues to harbor may reactionary militarists of the pre-war school.

Whether General Tanaka's action indicates that the more enlightened soldiers were finally able to see that continued presence of Japanese troops in Siberia was bound to lead to war, cannot be stated. Such a war would involve enormous forces and expense, Furthermore, contrary to the former war with Russia the Russians would this time be fired with patriotism to drive out the invaders, while the Japanese would be lukewarm to say the least.

Since the conference broke up the situation in Siberia has been changed by the capture by the Kappelist forces of Vladivostok and neighboring territory. The withdrawal policy was made contingent on the Chita Government's accepting certain Japanese demands, chief among which was the undertaking of maintaining pea cein Siberia. It would seem as if now that Vladivostok had passed out of the control of the Chita Government this might make it difficult for Japan to accept any guarantee which it might be willing to make, but a high official informs me that this will make no difference and that Japan remains, in spite of the changed conditions, willing to withdraw her troops on Chita's assurances of maintenance of order, and that a high official will soon be sent to Siberia to conduct the necessary negotiations.

As might be expected, accusations have been made that the Japanese militarists engineered, or at least, were privy to ,the Kappelist coup, in order that the withdrawal of troops might be prevented. On the other hand ,if Japan sticks to her programme as outlined, it will show that she is making an honest attempt to get out of Siberia with fairly clean hands, and a tangled point in Asian politics will thus have been brought a great step nearer solution.

Author of "Love"

LOVE TO THE RESCUE.

Chapter 14.

Kent was by my side in a minute. He threw his arms around me and drew me tightly to him.

"No, no, Babs—not that. There never could be another woman. You claim every bit of my love, all of it. It's because, because it's so perfect that I am afraid—afraid, Babs, that I might hurt it—might lose your love and turn you from me. Don't you see?" he cried, desperately.

"I have done something — something which I am afraid you wouldn't understand. I can't tell you, not now. Sometime I'll have to tell you, for I realise now that I can't keep it from you always. I didn't intend to, but then I, hadn't bargained with my conscience."

"Tell me, dearest, I'll understand," I pleaded, grave apprehensions rising up again within me.

"I'm, I'm afraid to, Babs," he said, catching hold of my hand and hurting me with the strength of his grasp.

As I watched his face I realised that some huge, extraordinary thing had come into our lives, and an insidious dread stifled my heart. I suddenly felt afraid of my husband. I wanted to jump up and run away from him, leave him for ever, and yet those powerful, unfathomable bonds of love bound me to him. I knew then what a strong, wonderful thing love could be.

"There, dearest — sometime when you feel you can tell me I'll be ready, and — and waiting," I said softly.

And for many days I waited. I watched Kent grow thin and pale, and knew that something was tormenting him and making him ill. I wanted to force him to tell me, and yet fear was making a coward of me. I was afraid to face the truth — Idreaded it.

And our love seemed less spontaneous and natural.

One day Mrs. Leon Walker called for me in her landaulette and took me for a ride through Central Park. The early evidences of spring were showing themselves in the greenish-yellow buds and patches of bright green grass. There was every reason why I could have enjoyed myself, and yet I was miserable and ill at ease.

Mrs. Walker chatted on and seemed to be enjoying herself hugely. But her very presence terrified me. She wore a gorgeous diamond pendant at her throat, and I hated diamonds. They somehow seemed symbolic of all my unhappiness.

I hardly heard what she said. I got to thinking about the Lachman rose-diamond. I wanted to question her about it, and I was afraid to. Every time I had thought about it lately I had forced it from my mind as a thing to be avoided. Now I felt closed in with it — with Mrs. Walker by my side I could not chase away the thoughts of it . I longed to get out and walk, but I knew that was impossible.

Unconsciously I felt some strong connection with that lost diamond. I feared it, and yet I was fascinated by it. A queer, inexpliable something goaded me on to ask questions, and yet a feeling inside of me warned me to be careful.

"Has Mr. Lachman ever found the diamond?" I suddenly asked, and I realised that I was trying to appear casual, but I was sure my voice quivered just a little.

"Oh, no. Foolish boy, he is so careless. It's sort of a good joke on him, don't you think? He was so cocky about it—trying to make me jealous," she laughed merrily.

"You know, once before he lost a gorgeous string of pearls which he had bought in Italy. He was bringing them back to Mrs. Lachman, and he actually lost them on the way."

"Oh," I breathed, sinking back against the luxurious upholstery of the car. My feelings were a strange mixture of sudden relief and utter rebellion.

CONVICT ARMY ATTACKS GUARDS IN FIERCE FIGHT

RIOTS STARTED BY 200 PRISONERS TRANSFERRED TO THE PENNSYLVANIA PENITENTIARY.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 19. — While flames crackled in the prison buildings and dense clouds of smoke rolled over the scene, 1,000 convicts, including thirty women, fought desperately with guards in the western Pennsylvania penitentiary yesterday. Guards fired point blank into mobs of prisoners who came at them armed with pieces of furniture and other weapons. Scores were reported wounded. Six frame structures within the walls were destroyed by fire.

The riot was started in the prison dining room by 200 convicts just transferred here from the eastern penitentiary. It was reported they demanded rations of cigarettes for the men, and face powder for the women.

Several prisoners rushed at the guards. They ripped furniture to bits and used table legs and chairs as bludgeons. Others grabbed knives, forks and tin plates from the tables. The air was filled with flying missiles.

The fighting spread from the dining-room until the whole penitentiary was involved. Guards on the walls ran up and down, threatening with their rifles the convicts milling around in the yards.

Other guards, armed with rifles and revolvers, opened fire on the convicts as they rushed them again and again in an effort to capture the gates and effect a general jail delivery.

One Fire After Another.

The fires were started one after the other in rapid succession, and soon the air was heavy with smoke, in the midst of which the hand-to-hand fighting raged on.

Hundreds of prisoners, clad in their grey and black striped garments, pawed frantically like caged maniacs at the bars through broken windows and screamed and cursed like mad men at the thousands who had gathered around the prison.

Hundreds of shots were fired in an effort to quiet the convicts, but this only increased their fury.

Stray shots were heard here and there throughout the prison.

State troopers were en route from Greensburg barracks to patrol the prison at night to prevent any new outbreak.

Practically every available policeman in the city was on guard patrolling the outer walls and holding back the tens of thousands of curious that had gathered.

At frequent intervals blood curdling yells would arise from the prison as the inmates would let loose another vicious howl.

The latest report of the fire damage included the following buildings, most of which crumbled to ruins, at 1.30 p.m.: the weaving shop, shoe shop, tailor shop, main dining hall and inspection and grill rooms. A financial estimate was not given. The prison contains about one thousand inmates at present.

Doctors Rushed to Scene.

Five doctors were rushed to the prison by John J. McKelvey, city director of charities, at 1.30 p.m.

A hurry call to city detective headquarters and the sheriff's office brought a score of police.

Civilians of the Woodsrun district were impressed into service and patrolled the grounds with rifles.

The institution is bounded by Westphal, Monhagen, Getcham and Boer Streets and the Ohio River. Hundreds of persons crowded these streets, attracted by the noise.

SEA DOGS IN RIVER SPOILING THE FISHING

CHATHAM, N. B., July 19.—(Canadian Press).—Fishermen along the Mirimachi River are complaining bitterly this season of the presence of sea dogs in large numbers in the river waters. In the early part of the year the port and shores of St. John were infested with the animals —they established a maternity home in the St. John River above the falls and many pups were born—but the pest has declined recently. In the northern waters of the Province it has, on the other hand, increased to alarming proportions.

The "dogs" like salmon in preference to all other fish. Recently a fisherman visiting his weir in the morning secured only half a dozen good fish, while there were over twenty heads in the trap. As the fish are worth a couple of dollars each, the loss in this particular case was quite appreciable. Similar losses incurred by Mirimachi fishermen amount in the aggregate to a considerable sum, and it is likely that an appeal will be made to the Government to take some action to prevent the depredations of the seals. It has been suggested that they can best be got rid of by dynamiting the grounds where they are in the habit of sunning themselves. If they are shot in the water they sink at once and the whole carcass, which is poor in skin but rich in oils, is lost.

You Just Try NR For That Indigestion

Get your organs of digestion, assimilation and elimination working in harmony and watch your trouble disappear. NR does it or money back.

One Day's Test Proves NR Best

The stomach only partly digests the food we eat. The process is finished in the intestines where the food is mixed with bile from the liver.

It must be plain to any sensible person who realizes this, that the stomach, liver and bowels must work in harmony if digestive troubles are to be avoided or overcome.

This fact also explains why sufferers from indigestion, also suffer more or less from headaches, biliousness and constipation.

If you are one of the many unfortunate persons who cannot eat without suffering afterward, if you are constipated, have bilious spells, headaches, coated tongue, bad breath, variable appetite, are nervous, losing energy and feel your health slipping away, take this advice and get a box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) right today and start taking it.

Give it a trial for a week or two and just see how much better you feel. See how quickly your sluggish bowels will become as regular as clock work, how your coated tongue clears up and your good, old-time appetite returns. See how splendidly your food will digest and how your energy, "pep" and "ginger" revive.

Just try it.

You take no risk whatever for Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is only 25c a box, enough to last twenty-five days, and it must help and benefit you to your entire satisfaction, or money returned.

Five million boxes are used every year,—one million NR Tablets are taken by ailing people every day—that's the best proof of its merits. Nature's Remedy is the best and safest thing you can take for biliousness, constipation, indigestion and similar complaints. It is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHAED

Don't Stay Gray! Here's an Old-Time Recipe that Anybody can Apply.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears and after another application or two, it becomes beautifuly dark and glossy.

Three Women Had Corns and this is what they did

One simply pared them and kept them. She never knew an hour without corns.

One used a harsh, unscientific treatment. It was inefficient and it often caused soreness.

The third applied Blue-jay, liquid or plaster. It was done in a moment and it stopped the pain. In a little while the whole corn loosened and came out.

Millions of people now use Blue-jay. It is ending at least 20 million corns yearly. Those folks never keep corns—never suffer corn aches.

Why don't you join them? Learn the right way to treat corns—tonight!

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

CANADIANS IN BIG U.S. BANKS

HIGH APPOINTMENTS DUE TO VALUABLE EXPERIENCE UNDER CANADIAN BANKING PRACTICE.

With the synchromism of two announcements concerning the elevation of former Canadian bankers to positions of banking eminence in the United States the full extent of the "Americanization" of Canadian-trained bank men which seems to be in progress, becomes more than ever pertinent. Two former Canadians, John H. Fulton and Vere C. Brown, are now in second and third authority in guiding the destinies of the National City Bank of New York, the foremost banking institution of the North American Continent.

In deciding to do away with the English system of management through executive managers, the National City Bank directors have restored the American system of "straight control." The English system was inaugurated in the National City Bank in 1917 by Frank Vanderlip, then President. At first there were six executive managers, but later the number was reduced to four. As a result of the re-organization just announced one of the executive managers, J. H. Fulton, becomes one of the two senior vice-presidents and Vere C. Brown is made a vice-president. Mr. Brown left a western superintendency of the Canadian Bank of Commerce only last autumn to assume an executive role with the National City Bank. Mr. Brown until his departure from Winnipeg was one of the outstanding bankers of the Canadian West, a Canadian-trained banker of exceptionally wide experience, so that his progress with the National City Bank of New York comes as no surprise to his Canadian friends. It is currently reported that Mr. Brown's salary from the New York bank now approximates $75,000. Mr. Brown is reported to have earned the spurs with the National City Bank of New York on his "sugar mission" to Cuba. Mr. Brown was sent to Havana when the financial trouble first became acute there.

Mr. Fulton, who is Mr. Brown's immediate senor, has been identified with the National City Bank of New York for several years and has been making steady progress until attaining his present high position in the councils of this bank whose invested capital now reaches $100,000,000.

George F. Orde.

Simultaneously with the news of the advancement of these two one-time Canadians it becomes known that another banker originally trained in the Dominion, George F. Orde after a progressive career in the United States has been made president of the Lincoln National Bank of Minneapolis. Mr. Orde, like Vere C. Brown, is a graduate of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, which he entered when a lad as a "junior." He remained with the Canadian bank for some years and learned thoroughly the lessons of our well grounded system. Mr. Orde was with the Canadian Bank of Commerce in Chicago and there joined the Northern Trust Company. Later he went to the First National Bank in Minneapolis from which post he was called to become first vice-president of the Midland National Bank, Minneapolis, and latterly to his more important position.

Canadian Bankers in U.S.

The progress of Canadians in the American banking field is more and more regarded as significant of the broad training which young men receive under the system of branch banking in this country. Individual initiative and personality obviously are determining factors in the winning of positions such as have been secured by our bankers who have gone abroad to work, but, undeniably, the various appointments which have been given to Canadian bankers in the United States—more particularly in the last five years—in the final analysis may be accepted as a recognition of the valuable experience gained under Canadian banking practice.

Mr. Brown was followed to the National City Bank of New York by J. A. Woods, who for a number of years was Western Superintendent of the Bank of Toronto. Mr. Woods left Winnipeg during May last to assume his New York appointment and it is understood that he is now in Cuba watching the interests of the institution there in the present financial anxieties of the Island.

As International Bankers.

It is perhaps chiefly interesting to find Canadian bank graduates presently guiding many of those banking enterprises in the United States which have sprung up with America's fostering of international commerce. Archibald Kains is president of the recently formed $7,000,000 Federal International Banking Company, whose prime purpose is the financing of the products of the South in foreign trade. Mr. Kains received the ground work of his banking in the Canadian Bank of Commerce, both in Canada and in the United States. In November, 1917, he became identified with the first of the American banking corporations to become associated with the foreign trade programme of the republic. In association with R. F. Aspden, also schooled in a Canadian bank, Mr. Kains formed the American Foreign Banking Corporation, in which the Standard Bank of Canada is a shareholder. Mr. Kains became president and Mr. Aspden vice-president. Mr. Aspden has since become vice-president of the Park-Union Foreign Banking Corporation, with which the Union Bank of Canada is associated.

John McHugh, native of Belleville, Ont., and vice-president of the Mechanics and Metals National Bank of New York, chiefly conceived the company.

BIG RUSH OF BOOZE AT WINDSOR BORDER

Delivery Works Overtime; Breweries Runs 24 Hours a Day; Stocking Up Houses.

WINDSOR, July —With three days left before Ontario goes bone-dry, there is a flood of liquor pouring into this city.

Estimates of stocks on hand are necessarily inexact. Probably the only individual who knows just how much of the stuff has come in here within the past few weeks is License Inspector M. N. Mousseau, but he declines to give out even an approximate estimtae. A summary of the best opinions, however, places the value at close to two million dollars, and this estimate is a conservative one.

With prohibition less than a week off, the activity along the river front has increased greatly.

The closing days have brought a rush of orders, such a rush that in the last few days breweries and liquor houses have been refusing orders and returning cheques.

The breweries will keep on brewing after the province becomes dry, but not for Ontario. Likewise the Walker distillery will continue to convert grain into red liquor, but not for Ontario.

At present breweries are running 24 hours a day, with four shifts of perspiring men in delivery departments. Several months ago Windsor post office was forced to put on several extra men to take care of rapidly-increasing money order business.

Hundreds of cottages have sprung up and down the river on the Canadian shore. These all complicate things for the inspectors. Down the river hundreds of such cottages, built way out on spiles in the river, flourish merily, housing Americans seeking the cool of the Canadian shore —and incidentally Canadian beer.

SHOOT FARMHAND DEAD IN PRACTICAL JOKE

LILLE, July 19.—(Associated Press).—A party of young men returning from target practice at the rifle ranges of Oost-Capelle in Belgium met an old farmhand from a nearby dairy and decided to have a little fun with him. They installed a mock court martial in a field still riddled with shell holes and sentenced the old man to death for his failure to have a litre of wine in his possession.

Tying him to the post in the fence one of the youths commanded fire. The old man fell mortally wounded with a bullet through the head. One of the practical jokers had forgotten to remove the ball cartridge from his rifle.

SUMMER USE OF CAR CALLS FOR MORE CARE

ALL PARTS SHOULD BE OVERHAULED FREQUENTLY.

With the summer motoring season here and the call of the open road at hand, the time of year when owners use their cars more than at any other season, they are naturally more eager than usual to so operate their cars that they will get the maximum efficiency. As an aid in this direction, timely advice is given to owners by Arthur Thompson, a distributor of Studebaker cars. In an interview on service, he says:

"In general, motor car owners should bear in mind that the heat of summer, combined with the harder and more consistent use to which they put their cars at this season of the year, causes more evaporation than at other times. This applies not only to water in the radiator, but also to oil.

"During the hot weather months, attention should be frequently given to the radiator; the owner should see that it is kept filled, and at intervals it should be flushed out and filled with clean water. In connection with efficient operation of the cooling system, fan belt adjustment should be made, for the fan is needed in summer. The position of the spark lever should be watched to see that it is kept in an advanced position, thus assuring better cooling of the motor.

'Minor parts, such as spring shackles, wheel bearings, steering connections and universal joints, require oiling more often in summer. It is well that a heavier grade of lubricating oil be used in the motor than in colder weather, and oil should be drained from the motor at intervals not to exceed every 1,000 miles. Better performance will result when this is done.

"Careful attention should be directed to the brakes to see that they are kept in as nearly perfect condition as possible, for during the summer months they get greater usage, with more traffic to contend with and more cars on the road.

"The pressure should be watched more closely on tires that have been in use for a long period, because tires expand more in hot weather. The owner should have a tire gauge and use it in inflating. In taking long trips the owner should be provided with a good spare tire, and should go over all tires during the trip to see that they have no defects.

"Every owner wants to have his car in the best possible condition during the summer months, for it is then he uses his automobile most. To get this maximum efficiency, he must exercise greater care in going over the car."

Never judge what a man knows by his knowing look.

HALF OF TOTAL BUDGET FOR WAR DEPARTMENT

BELGRADE, July 19.—The War Department of the new kingdom of Jugoslavia will cost 2,000,000,000 dinars, one-half the government's total budget, in the next fiscal year, depite vigorous efforts by the Minister of Finance to reduce expenses. This is a reduction of 500,000,000 dinars from the estimates asked for by the War Ministry.

The total budget estimates were 6,000,00,000 dinars, but this has been reduced to 4,000,000,000. The nominal exchange value of a dinar is about 19 cents, but at the present rate it is worth about three cents.

THE SUN LIFE OF CANADA rejected 1,506 applicants for Assurance last year, who thought it over a little too long. Every man thinks it over on his deathbed—some with satisfaction and some with sorrow. UNCLE SAM PAYS HIGH FOR SPORT AND AMUSEMENT

APPROXIMATELY THIRTEEN BILLION SPENT ON LUXURY—TAX REPORTS PRODUCE INTERESTING STATISTICS.

WASHINGTON, July 19. — Approximately $13,000,000,000 a year is now being spent on luxuries, recreation, movies, and other amusements and personal finery, federal tax receipts show.

More than $1,000,000,000 a year in taxes now is being received by the Government as a result of purchases of foibles. This is nearly one-quarter of the total ordinary receipts of the Government.

Sporting goods, automobiles, and motor cycles, amusement parks, fancy bathing suits, summer hats for women, and Panamas for father are now netting the Government thousands daily. Cigarettes, cigars, and candy bring in millions each month. The pennies that are paid with the purchase of soft drinks and soda water are helping to pay the annual interest charge of $900,000,000 on the national debt.

Interesting Figures.

Battleships are being built with the tax on motion picture films, sporting goods, face powder, cosmetic, and other beautifiers.

Chewers of gum in the past twelve months have contributed more than $1,000,000 in taxes to the federal treasury. Tennis racquets and sporting goods paid nearly $4,000,000.

Summer furs alone cost approximately $5,000,000 and netted the Government the tidy little sum of $500,000 in tax money, the report shows.

Toilet soaps and powders brought more than $2,000,000 in taxes into the Government's coffers in the fiscal year just ended, indicating total purchases of these articles of about $20,000,000.

Smokers Contribute.

Smokers in the past year paid the Government in excess of $232,000,000 in taxes over and above the actual cost of tobacco and cigars to the dealers.

More than $23,000,000 poured into the Government's pocketbook from taxes on engagement diamonds and other jewellery, indicating total purchase of taxable jewellery of something like ten times the tax collected.

STOP FIRE BRIGADE FROM CROSSING BORDER

VIENNA, July 19.—(Associated Press).—Frontier restrictions were carried to an extreme when they prevented an Austrian fire brigade from crossing the Italian border to fight a blaze.

Some buildings on the Italian side of the Brenner Pass Railway station caught fire and the Austrian town's firemen turned out. Italian gendarmes demanded their vises, and having none they were forced to watch the warehouses burn.

BEAUTIFUL DRIVES NEAR ST. ANDREW'S-BY-THE-SEA.

ALGONQUIN HOTEL, N.B., July 18. — To-day the thermometer stands at 68, a delightful breeze blows from the south-west. It seems almost unbelievable that the cities are still suffering from the heat, showing temperatures at London 85, Ottawa 88, Montreal 88, Quebec 82, Toronto 89.

To-day has been especially good for motoring. The showers of yesterday have put the roads into excellent condition. There is practically no dust and foliage and fields look fresh and green. This week the tide serves, so that the tourist may drive across the bar to Minister's Island, and enjoy the beauties of Coven Haven, the estate of Miss Adelile Van Horne. The well-filled flower beds are a delight in their harmonious arrangement, while the view across Passamaquaddy Bay cannot be surpassed. Another charming drive is through the "Librum" estate of Mrs. Robert Loring. A long avenue winds through the heart of the woods, passes over a rustic bridge at the Duck Ponds, and sweeps to the summit of a hill, from which there is a superb view. Another favourite drive is around Edwards' Corner, with a pause on the St. Stephen Road to look over the St. Croix River, to Docket Island and Orvill's Head. For those who do not care for a long drive, there is always the race course around Indian Point. In even the hottest day in the season, it is cool.

ANOTHER WEEK SHOWS EMPLOYMENT DECREASE

SLIGHT DROP FROM PRECEDING WEEK AND CONSIDERABLE FROM LAST YEAR.

Employment reports for the week ended June 18 were received by Dominion Headquarters of the Employment Servic of Canada from 5190 firms employing 611,235 workers. For the previous week those identical firms had reported total payrolls of 600.001. the difference representing a slight increase in employment. Comparing the figures for the wek under review with the base week of January 17, 1920, the index number of employment was 88.3. For the previous wek it was 98.1 and for the corresponding week (June 9) of 1920 it was 106.0.

Fifteen industrial groups reported increases over the previous week aggregating somewhat less than 5,000 employees, while fourteen reported aggregate reductions of slightly over 2,500. The movement of primary importance during the week was an expansion in railway construction. Ontario and Alberta accounted for the bulk of this increase, Quebec and Manitoba showed gains on a considerably smaller scale, while there was practically no change in this industry in the Maritime district and Saskatchewan. Substantial expansions also were recorded in water transportation and lumber. The former was featured mainly at Upper St. Lawrence ports, although both Pacific coast and Great Lakes points also showed gains, while Maritime shipping registered a decrease. The latter occurred in all provinces but the increases in Nova Scotia, Quebec and Ontario were the largest. Moderate expansions were exhibited by a number of industries. Coal mining made gains in Nova Scotia, distributed fairly uniformly over all fields. Alberta reported only minor increases. Building construction continued the slow improvement of the previous week, principally in Ontario and the Prairie Provinces. The canning industry in Ontario continued its seasonal expansion. The leather industry showed gains in Ontario supplemented by minor increases in Quebec and British Columbia. Railway transportation exhibited small gains in nearly all provinces, those in Quebec being slightly the largest. The most important decrease in employment was experienced by the iron and steel industry largely in automobiles, steel shipyards and agricultural implements. Small hardware also sustained losses, but crude rolled, forged and wire products experienced gains. These contractions chiefly affected the province of Ontario. Declines on a smaller scale occurred in logging in Quebec, musical instruments, chemical products, and electric apparatus in Ontario and electric railway transportation in Manitoba.

Campared with the corresponding wek of last year the majority of industries showed contractions in payrolls, exceptons being in local and water transportation and hotel service. The most unfavourables comparisons in this respect were shown by iron and steel products and textiles. Compared with the preceding week, all districts without exception showed small favourable balances. In the Maritime district there were two outstanding favourable movements in coal mining and lumber manufacture. Small contractions about equal in amount occurred in water transportation and iron and steel products. The index number of employment for this district was 90.6 as compared with 113.1 for the same week in 1920. The Ontario Quebec district showed substantial upward movements in railway construction, water transportation and lumber, supplemented by minor gains in leather, retail trade, fruit and vegetable canning and building cinstruction. Declines of some importance occurred in iron and steel products and logging. Beyond lesser construction. Declines of some immusical instruments, chemicals and electric apparatus, there was little additional change. The index number for this district was 86.5 as against 107.6 for the same period last year. The outstanding event in the Prairie Provinces was an increase in railway construction and maintenance, chiefly in Alberta. Other increases less substantial in their nature occurred in lumber and lumber products, building construction and railway transportation. The only contraction of note was in electric railway transportation, confined to Manitoba. The index number of employment was 92.6, as compared with 107.4 for the corresponding wek last year. In British Columbia the index number stood at 93.6 as against 109.1 in 1920. In this province there was a fair increase in water transportation and a less important decrease in iron and steel (shipyards). Beyond a nominal expansion in building construction no other movements were observable.

IMPORT OF BIRD FEATHERS PROHIBITED IN BRITAIN.

LONDON, July 18.—Bird lovers have won a victory by the final passing of the Plumage Bill, which prohibits the importation into the United Kingdom of the feathers of any bird except those of the African ostrich and the eider duck.

The bill is mainly designed to prevent cruelty in securing the feathers of such ornamental birds as osprey and birds of paradise.

The prohibition regarding importation extends to dead bodies of birds with the plumage on them, but does not apply to feathers worn by travellers or introduced in travellers' baggage, provided it can be shown that they are for personal use only.

Strenuous opposition had been offered to the passage of the bill by the trade interested.

GERMANY THRIVING IS REPORT TO BANK

KRUPP WORKS TURNING OUT GREAT VARIETY OF PRODUCTS, EVEN ARTIFICIAL TEETH.

NEW YORK, July 19.—The London representative of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York has returned from a tour of observation in Germany, during which he visited Berlin, Essen, Dusseldorf and Dortmund and the agricultural districts between Berlin and the Dutch-German frontier. He reports that Germany, despite her handicaps, is thriving.

"All the way from the Dutch border to the German capital was an unending panorama of waving grain," he says. 'The German crops are unusually far advanced. While a large number of locomotives are in bad order, there is considerable railroad reconstruction under way, and new canal construction. Wherever there was a chimney stack it was belching smoke. Compared with Holland, there is marked absence of cattle and horses, and the labor in the fields is being performed almost entirely by women. In Berlin the hotels are crowded. The price of accommodation in Berlin is about the same as at hotels of a corresponding class in Paris and Brussels, prices having bee nraised to cover the depreciation in exchange. There is ample supply of food of all kinds, and even fresh milk is now available for families with children. Those without children use canned milk.

In the great locomotive shop of the Krupp works at Essen heavy locomotives are turned out complete at a rate of one a day. In another shop good wagons are manufactured at a rate of eight a day. In still another building nearby five-ton lorries were being manufactured alongside of small motor scooters.

'The articles manufactured at the Krupp works to-day cover a surprisingly wide range. They include railway supplies of all kinds, cash registers and adding machines, surgical instruments, doors for safes, Diesel engines, iron and steel products of all kinds, machines for textile and paper industries, apparatus for moving pictures, dredges, floating docks, pneumatic tools. The Krupp works are also manufacturing machinery for making artificial teeth. They are not only manufacturing the machines to make the teeth, but they are also manufacturing the teeth. The Krupp works are turning out this large variety of goods with exactly the same workmen who made war munitions. Every tool in the manufacture of war munitions is being used to manufacture the articles of peace. Even swords are being beaten into candle sticks.

"At the German Shipbuilding plant owned by the Krupps in Kiel-Gaarden, they are employing more men than before the war, about 100,000, compared with 86,000 in July, 1914."

MOST ITALIAN WOMEN SHOW PREFERENCE FOR EVE

ROME, July 19.—Most Italian women if they had their choice to be anything they wished in their sex, would rater be Eve, according to results of a vote recently taken by one of the Roman papers.

The argument advanced for being Eve was that she, of all women, had no competition. Her husband was never away from home and there was no other women on whom he might cast an alluring glance.

Those that did not chose to be Eve, chose for the most part to be Mary Magdalen, because, after being allowed to enjoy all sins of the world, she was forgiven and afterward became a saint thereby enjoying all the pleasures of heaven.

EXPERT SAYS BOYS ARE BEST SETTLERS

English Lads Are Placed on Many Farms.

WINNIPEG, Man., July 19.—Boys make the best immigrants, according to T. E. Sedgwick, of London, who is in Canada to find farm homes for boys from English cities.

Sedgwick has been engaged in finding farm homes for English city boys in the colonies of the British Empire since 1909. As the result of a personal visit to New Zealand 50 farmers have agreed to take English boys to bring up on their farms. The boys were apprenticed to the farmers for three years. Their pay for three years was deposited in a bank and at the end of their apprenticeship was turned over to them with the expense of their voyage deducted. The ages of the boys ranged from 16 to 20 years. The success of this experiment led to the establishment of several thousand English boys on farm homes in Australia. Three thousand boys were placed in Victoria, 1,500 in New South Wales, 300 in South Australia and several hundred in Queensland.

"Boys," said Sedgwick, "are splendid advertisements. Their letters home exploit the attractions of their adopted country in glowing terms. They are more adaptable than adults. They absorb the traditions and customs of a new country. They usually marry a woman of the country and often they bring out their parents and relatives to settle in the same neighborhood."

Sedgwick will endeavor to find homes for several hundred English boys among the farmers in the country of diversified agriculture in Canada.

BUSINESS FIRST SOVIET'S OBJECT

POLITICAL PROPAGANDA SIDE-TRACKED FOR PRESENT—WORLD MARKETS ARR BEING SEARCHED FOR GOODS.

LONDON, July 2.—(By Mail.)—Bolshevism has gone into business.

For the time being at any rate, the world-wide political propaganda of the soviets has been side-tracked To-day the soviet communistic leaders are searching world markets for machinery, textiles, locomotives and repair parts for the crippled Russian factories. They want some food—canned goods mainly.

To-day soviet Russia is actually buying goods in every highly industrialized country; England, Germany Italy and —from America, not IN America, as yet.

This is a rough summary of what I learn from the Russian trade delegation here in London, the chief of which is Leonid Krassin; one time revolutionist, still a communist, but also a man 'who believes in the realities," as soviet attaches here say.

In other words Krassin is classed by his own people as a "practical idealist" as contrasted with the purely theoretical communist of which Russia has her full share these days.

One year ago soviet Russia's reputation here in London (except in labor circles was blacker probably than in any other country in Europe

To-day a marvellous transformation has taken place. Soviet commissioners may be seen any day hurrying to and fro in the business section of London, some of them riding in spanking brand new automobiles, hugging large portfolios of specifications, busily engaged in ordering goods for Russia.

No longer is the bar of silence maintained between the soviet delegation and the newspapers. Soviet communiques are issued with as much freedom and more frequently than statements come from the old established embassies of France, Italy and other powers.

Apparently, the majority of London has accepted the soviet buyers as an immediate necessity.

The Liberal English press and the Labor party organs continually insist world reconstruction and British prosperity are impossible unless Russia is opened up and again resumes her place in the list of great buying and selling nations.

Backed by the prestige of the British foreign office and by a decision of the British courts, the soviet delegation may acquire, in any way it pleases, property, inside Russia and ship same to England.

Bluntly, the British have legalized confiscations in Russia; but certainly they do not encourage any such manoeuver on the part of the Moscow government.

Bulk of business opinion, and the verdict of the British diplomats would seem to be; Let's straighten out the bygones in Russia somehow or other—but meanwhile we must not let pass errors hinder the pressing business of rehabilitating commercial relations.

England —In the midst of wide spread trade depression —wants to sell goods and revive home prosperity. Russia, according to the soviet representatives, is a great market and offers gold and other credits as guarantees for purchases Briefly the two nations are getting together commercially.

France may protest; America may stand amazed at the spectacle of England fraternizing with the Soviet government—but the soviet delegaion here is not worrying much. They confidently believe they will be trading with the United States before long; and they don't care a rap about French protests.

"France has nothing to sell," the soviet representative says; "she has only her enormous debts for money loaned the corrupt czarist government; much of which was used to maintain the grand dukes in profligate luxury. We will talk of these French debts later—now we are preoccupied trying to re-establish Russia of to-day.

Buying Branch in London.

Soviet Russia has established a branch of the world's greatest buying corporation here in London. It is called the All-Russia Co-Operative society, but is generally known by the simpler title of Arcos and is buying goods for the $150,000,000 people of Russia.

Six months from date the soviet representatives in London believe Arcos, in addition to being the world's greatest buying concern, will also be the greatest selling corporation on the globe, because they say by that time Arcos will be disposing of the products of Russia's 150,000,000 workers.

Great headquarters of Arcos is in Moscow and goes by the Russian name of Narkomvniehtorg, which means, in plain United States, "people's commissariat for foreign trade," with Leonid Krassin as chief, dividing his time between London, Berlin and Moscow.

There are Arcos branches in Stockholm, Reval, Berlin and one or two other European cities, as well as in London.

To-day London branch of Arcos is housed in a four-storey building in the heart of the city and works in co-operation with the Russian trade delegation.

It has a staff of 200, including a board of directors and a number of experts in the various lines of trade: also engineering experts and so forth.

Six months hence the soviet representatives expect to be using a staff of between 500 and 600 to carry on rapidly growing trading operations and eventually a staff of 1,000 will be required.

In furtherance of these somewhat elaborate plans a big building has been bought and paid for in hard cash for consideration of £250,000 —nominally about $1,000,000.

This building will accommodate the 1,000 workers previously mentioned. It is located on Moorgate street ,close to the great Bank of England, in the midst of London's financial district. It will be a principal trading center for Russia.

A second set of offices will be maintained on New Bond street London's exclusive shopping street), where Leonid Krassin now has his headquarters.

SHORT CIRCUITS IN WIND STORM CUT OFF LIGHT

The fusillade of wind and rain yesterday afternoon and evening left behind it many disrupted electrical services, Mr. H. O. Fisk, manager of of the Utilities Commission told the Examiner to-day, and he laid the blame for most of the damage upon the spreading trees that line the streets and encompass the commission's lines in their interlaced branches and green verdure. Commecing about 5 o'clock there was a most violent windstorm. The treetops boiled and seethed in the furious tempest and Mr. Fisk stated that the lines became entangled in the branches, the insulation was rubbed off and a short circuit made that burnt out the line.

Immediately after five, service after service went out, and to repair the lines it was necessary to cut off 95 per cent. of the service from then until 8 o'clock. It was found, Mr. Fisk said, that most of the lines were down from the trees short-circuiting the wires, and it was more imperative than ever that trimming be done to some trees, despite the disapproval of the owners.

After 8 p.m., the service was practically intact, the street lighting system was uninterrupted, and today the repairs were almost complete. The greatest loss suffered by the commission was the burning out of a large 15 kilowatt transformer at the rear of the Allen Theatre. This was the only one reported to be burned out.

The office was almost smothered with calls for repair gangs last night the manager stated, and he said that from 5 to 8 he was at the phone continuously. The service had to be cut off till 8 to ensure the factories having power to-day, he stated, but this action aroused no little wrath amongst the bakers and the ice-cream manufacturers.

From the storm the Bell Telephone emerged very fortunately, it was stated. Only six cables went out in Peterboro and these were repaired to-day. The line to Toronto was down at Milliken from the storm but this seems to have been the extent of the damage. Connections to Port Hope were uninterrupted, the Examiner was informed ,and no trouble was reported from the East.

Satisfaction reigned in the country to-day. The refreshing rain was just what was needed two weeks ago the farmers said, but they accepted it philosophically, better late than never, they said. While too late to help the wheat and barley, it would prosper the late oats, the corn, the roots and potatoes, and all garden stuff, the farmers said. It would freshen up the pasturage, which was brown and dry, and will fill up the wells that threatened to go completely dry. No great damage would be caused the stooked grain and hay in the fields, as they had not been cut long enough to rot, one North Monaghan farmer said.

FARMERS OF ILLINOIS STICK TO WOOL POOL.

Prepare to Dispose of Product at Good Price.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 19. — Illinois farmers are preparing for a huge wool pool this year, according to officials of the State Agricultural Association, who had charge of the pool last year.

One million and a half pounds of wool were pooled in the State last year. H. W. Mumford, director of the Live Stock Marketin gBureau of the Illinois Agricultural Association, declares that future State-wide co-operation in the marketing of wool was assured by the way farmers held together last year despite one of the fastest falling markets in many years.

Growers who pooled their wool in 1920 received from two to fifteen cents more a pound than farmers who disposed individually of their wool, according to the reports of farm bureau advisors. While unorganised farmers were selling their wool for from ten to sixteen cents a pound, the state pool was holding two-thirds of its stock for prices of from twenty-five to thirty-two cents a pound.

Orders for sacks so far this year are already far ahead of the total orders of last year, and two cars of wool have been received in Chicago from Hancock and LaSalle counties.

Illinois, although standing tenth in wool prodution, is one of the ten states that are organising wool pools for 1921. These state pools are the forerunners of a national pool that will ensure a better price for all wool growers in the United States, according to farm bureau officials.

One hundred thousand pounds of the wool pooled in Illinois was sent to spinning mills last January for farmers who had ordered blankets, suits, overcoats, and auto robes to be made of a portion of their sheep's wool.

HOW TO TELL PURE FABRICS

Government Issues Instruction for Testing Linen, Cotton, and Silk.

When a salesman informs you that a table cloth is "pure line" or a suit of clothes contains no cotton, do you accept his statement as the truth or do you know how to test the materials? The Department of Agriculture has just issued instructions in procedure to find out what textiles really contain.

"Pure linen," says the announcement, "is so scarce and high in price nowadays that the housekeeper needs to be doubly sure that she is getting pure linen when she pays for it. Cotton, especially when mercerised, is often used to adulterate linen, and the high lustre makes it difficult to tell the difference. Cotton and linen mixtures and mercerised cotton alone, especially in table cloths and towels, are proving a satisfactory substitute for pure linen, and they should be sold for what they are, and priced accordingly.

"Whenever possible, lengthwise and crosswise threads of the material should be ravelled out and examined. Cotton fibres appear short, dull, and fuzzy; linen fibres are long, fine, stiff and lustrous.

"If cotton cloth is torn, the ends of the threads appear fuzzy, while those of linen are straight and smooth. Cotton feels soft and somewhat warm; linen feels wiry and cool. Linen looks transparent if glycerine is dropped on it, while cotton does not. Linen dries more rapidly than cotton. This quality, of course, makes it particularly desirable for towels and handkerchiefs.

"Silk, apparently of good quality, sometimes splits or falls apart after a little or no wear. Weighting the fibres with mineral salts just before dyeing to give the fabric body is generally the cause, and this kind of adulteration has been very common during the last few years, when raw silk has been exceptionally expensive. Weighted silks sometimes give good service, but in general pure-dye silks wear better.

"Burning a sample of silk is an easy way to test for weighting. Pure silk burns readily, gives off an odour like burning hair or feathers, and leaves a ball of ash. If weighted, only the silk fibres burn, and the mineral salts are left sometimes in the very shape of the sample. Whenever possible, silks for hard usage, as in coat linings or petticoats, should be tested in this way.

'Silks are also occasionally adulterated with cotton, and for some purposes such a mixture is excellent. Cotton, however, does not hold dyes so well as silk, and such fabrics sometimes soil and wrinkle more easily than pure silk .

"A mixture of cotton and silk can be detected by boiling a sample of of the material for fifteen minutes in a pint of water to which has been added one to two tablespoons of household lye or caustic potash. The lye or potash will destroy the silk fibres, leaving the cotton intact. Mixtures of wool and cotton may also be tested in this way, for lye has a similar effect on wool. Care should be taken not to get any of the lye solution on the hands in making this test."

KING BEATS BREACH OF PROMISE ACTION.

Ruler of Siam Takes Precautions Against Suit.

BANGKOK, Siam (by Mail). — Here's how to jilt a girl without risk of a suit for breach of promise. You have to be an Eastern potentate to get away with it, however.

When King Rama VI. of Siam met Princess Vallabha Devi on a shopping expedition, he announced by proclamation that he proposed marrying her, and the local press daily referred to the couple as the Sun and Moon, with true Eastern reverence.

When, however, he changed his mind recently, the King did it this way, also by royal proclamation, of which the following is a full translation:

"By command of the King's Most Excellent Majesty,

"Whereas, in proclaiming His Majesty's betrothal and for this purpose promoting Mom Chow (Her Serene Highness Princess) Vallabha Devi to the title of Para Varakanayiapadan (The King's betrothed), Phra Ong Chow (Her Royal Highness) Princess Vallabha Devi, His Majesty had no other desire than firmly and definitely to ensure the succession to the throne with a view to the good of the country, as well as the happiness of his own person;

"And whereas, to His Majesty's deepest regret, it has now become apparent, beyond all doubt, that His Majesty's noble desire, as above stated, cannot satisfactorily be met owing to the incompatibility of temperament between His Majesty and Her Royal Highness Princess Vallabha Devi, which may be accounted for by the chronic indisposition of the Princess, whose nervous system leaves much to be desired, so much so that His Majesty is under the apprehension lest in the event of the royal marriage being permitted to take place undsirable consequnces may follow in regard to the succession to the throne.

"Now, therefore, His Majesty has commanded that the proclamation relating to His Majesty's betrothal is hereby annulled."

"LADY LENA" LAYS AN EGG A DAY FOR 104 DAYS

HALIFAX, N. S. July 19.—(Canadian Press).—"Lady Lena," a barred Plymouth Rock hen, registered at the Dominion Experimental Farm at Kentville, N. S., as No. 63, laid one hundred and four eggs in one hundred and four days and is, The Halifax Morning Chronicle asserts, the champion of the world. "Lady Lena" was hatched in 1919 and began her egg-laying career in November of the same year. She did not begin her record non-stop lay until February 13, 1920, however. On that day she laid her habitual egg and on every day thereafter until May 23 she repeated. During 1920 she paid for her board with 246 eggs.

"Lady Lena's" record was made in the trap nest under Government supervision. Professor C. H. Blair, Superintendent of the farm where Lena makes her home, vouches for it.

NEW FACES FOR OLD PRODUCED IN PARIS

FRENCH SURGEON SHOWS ABILITY IN CHANGING FACIAL FEATURES.

PARIS, July 19.—At last, ladies, you can get a brand new face for 3,000 francs (about $300 at present rate of exchange) in Paris, made according to any of the most approved styles of beauty you may pick.

Nor will it be a makeshift or camouflage job. Your features can actually be refashioned, even if it be necessary to remould the bony framework of the face. This can be done by facial surgery and without pain—beyond that occasioned by the parting with the $300.

Doctor Jack Brettmon, one of the world's foremost experts in facial surgery, is authority for this statement.

Doctor Brettmon recently opened a hospital in Paris where he does nothing but "make over" old faces, re-endowing them with their lost youth, or remodel young faces, removing facial defects imposed by birth.

Many European women and a few Americans have already been operated upon successfully, according to Doctor Brettmon, and many more are planning to obtain new faces in this way during the summer.

In the beautiful reception room of his "Hospital of Aesthetics" on rue Rivol, Dr. Brettmon told a correspondent his experiences correcting the sculpture of Nature and combatting the imprints of years. He is also a sculpture of no mean ability. In his studio were three or four plaster casts done by him.

"Partly as a result of experiments with wounded men during the war, facial surgery has now reached a stage where the human face, deformed by malformation at birth or weathered by fatigue or time, can be recut or rejuvenated much as a serviceable but out-of-date garment can be remodeled and imbued with the season's latest curves," he declared.

"No longer does Antiinette need remain a back number because she happened to be born with a crooked nose. She can take a limousine to a beauty hospital, look through the nose catalogue, pick out a Roman, Greek, or best other nose, and in less than a week be back in the Opera box with as pretty a member as any girl in the house. Many, many girls miss being extraordinarily beautiful simply through malformation of one feature of the face."

New noses cost from 1,500 francs ($150) up, he said.

TACTICS OF DEFENSE OF THE SEVEN FORMER WHITE STARS INDICTED IN ALLEGED CONSPIRACY REVEALED

THEIR ATTORNEYS WILL ARGUE THAT THERE IS NO LAW TO COMPEL BASEBALL PLAYERS TO PLAY THEIR BEST AND THAT PLAYERS WERE NOT UNDER CONTRACT IN WORLD'S SERIES.

CHICAGO, July 19. — (United Press.)—Plans to free the Chicago 'Black Sox" were revealed to the United Press to-day.

Attorneys for the defense of the seven former White Sox stars on trial for alleged conspiracy to throw the 1919 world's series with the Cincinnati Reds, divulged their legal tactics. One of the biggest points to be made by the defense is that the players are not guilty of wrong-doing under the law. It will be emphasized that there is no law to compel a working man to work his best for nothing, or nothing on the statute books to force a ball player to play his best. The defense is also prepared to attempt to prove that the 'Black Sox" were not under contract during the world series, and therefore could do as they saw fit.

It is their contention that the contracts signed by the players were only good during the regular season and that the National Commission had the entire world's series in their control after the season ended.

The fact that the so-called master minds, who furnished the money supposed to have been used to buy out the Chicago players have not been haled into court is expected by the defence to save a reaction on the jury favorable to the "Black Sox."

The State, which started to present its case yesterday, will consume several days.

Bill Burns, former White Sox pitcher, will be given an immunity bath as son as he takes the stand against his old team mates, the State announced. Burns, together with Joe Gedeon, formerly with the St. Louis Browns, are to be the State's star witnesses.

The defense has already shown efforts will be made to prove the allegation that Charles A. Comiskey, old Roman of baseball, and owner of the White Sox, knew his players had sold out secretly after the 1919 series and permitted them to play last season until the expose that rocked the baseball world.

G.W.V.A. DECLARED WINNERS OF PETERBORO FOOTBALL LEAGUE

EXECUTIVE WILL ARRANGE TO GIVE WINNERS MEDALS—CANADIAN WOOLENS HANDED IN THEIR RESIGNATION.

Despite the poor representation at the meeting, the Peterborough and District Football Association Executive met in the adjourned session from last week in the G.W.V.A. Hall last night and transacted considerable business. The resignation of the Canadian Woollens team as a whole, resulting from the G.W.V.A. virtually using 12 players on the field in Saturday's game, was placed before the Executive. The Canadian Woollens said the resignation was to be in effect until such time as the governing rules of association football be understood and respected. The communication stated that they did not desire to deprive the G. W. V. A. of the Clarke Shield and medals, but desired only to have the recognized rules adhered to. J. W. Worth, the representative of the Canadian Woollens on the Executive, also resigned.

Secretary Fred. Sutcliffe was instructed to notify the G.W.V.A. that they are city champions, and the Executive are now considering suitable medals which will be presented to each player accompanying the Clarke shield for the whole team.

Annual Meeting Friday.

This year's Executive officers who are retiring are: President, W. Cooke; Vice-President, S. Whatley; Second Vice-President, J. L. Howarth; Secretary-Treasurer, Fred. Sutcliffe; League representatives—J. Cairns (C.G.E.), J. Haw (Comrades), George Coleman (Vets), H. G. McKenzie (Caledonians), J. Coombes (De Laval), J. W. Worth (Canadian Woollens).

Trial Game.

The Executive last night approved of Fred. Sutcliff's accepting July 30 as the date to play Brantford in the Alfred Plenty Cup competition, and the trial game from which the Peterborough eleven will be chosen will be played at Nicholls Oval Thursday at 6.30 p.m. sharp. J. Clarke will referee.

The following teams are asked to be in readiness for Thursday's game, each player with regular outfit, excepting jersey:

President's team — Goal, Griffin (C.G.E.); r. full back, McDonald (C.G.E.); l. full back, Ralston (Cal.); r. half back, Burrows (Vets); c. half back, Stewart McMillan (Can. LAKEVIEWS WIN WILL END SERIES

CLASS OF THE JUVENILE SERIES WILL PLAY AT RIVERSIDE PARK THIS EVENING.

MERCANTILERS' THURSDAY

This week will see the completion of schedules of the three local baseball leagues. The City League returned a winner in the C. G. E.; the Mercantile League championship will be settled on Thursday evening by a game between Westclox and Cressman's, and a win for Lakeviews this evening will end the scheduled games of the Juvenile series. Bankers will have "Lefty" Turner this time and are confident that they can set back the Lakeviews. A win by the Bankers will prolong the series as Lakeviews will then have to play St. Peter's and beat them in order to cop the second half. The championship play-off will follow—

Church League Winners

George street Church juniors won their division of the Church League and Park street Church team won the senior championship. This League did not affiiate with the O. B. A. A..

O. B. A. A. Draw Soon

The O. B. A. A. sub-committee will meet on Wednesday, and will probably arrange such draws for the Ontario championship, as the situation permits. The committee will deal with the two local leagues and the East Peterboro League, and possibly the Juvenile City League.

In these play offs, the fans will see the best teams in the city and county in action. It means some good baseball, with keen competition because of the honors at stake.

It has been hard plugging for the officers of the respective leagues, But there have been soms bright spots. During a season of difficulties and disappointments, there has been splendid co-operation on the part of those directing the several organizations. By working quietly together, these men have accomplished much in preparing a foundation for the Peterboro Amateur Athletic Association. They have gained the support and confidence of the competing clubs.

Young Players Developed

Of the results that appear on the surface, the more apparent are those seen in the Juvenile series of the City Lague. It is a matter for regret that supporters of amateur baseball have been slow to patronize the games. The youths of twenty years and under were brought together in teams, and they played the game under good organization and with competent officials in charge. A large number of the players have developed rapidly, and they will be available for higher company next season.

Keen Rivalry Here

Next Thursday evening's game to decide the championship of the Mercantile League will bring two evenly matched teams together. For two seasons there has been a keen, yet friendly rivalry between Cressman's and Westclox. They are undoubtedly the two choices of the Mercantile League and the public may look forward to a well-played, and interesting game of the summer pastime on Thursday evening. The teams have been ordered to be ready for the umpires at six o'clock sharp.

"U. F. O." Game Friday.

On Friday evening, Keene and Zion will play an East Peterboro League game at Riverside Park. Keene won the first half, and their opening game in the second half. The Zion team have done well in this their first year in the League and Manager Lancashire's stalwarts are loking forward to a win here on Friday.

BASEBALL.

The Peterborough Central League team will practice at Riverside Park at 6 o'clock on Wednesday evening.

BRITISH GOLFERS AFTER U.S. TITLE

INTERNATIONLL INTEREST IN TOURNAMENT WHICH OPENS TO-DAY.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—(Associated Press).—International interest in golf, which was at fever heat during the recent British championships on English and Scottish links, will be renewed to-day when several leading American "pros" as well as a few of our best amateur players begin the qualifying round in this year's open championship tournament on the links of the Columbia Country Club, Chevy Chase, Md. Last year this event was decided over the course of the Inverness Club, Toledo, O., and Edward Ray, representing the Oxhey Club of England, was the winner with a score of 295 for 72 holes. There were 265 entries last year, but this record mark will not be touched so far as entrants go in numbers for the 1921 title as the field may not exceed 220 players.

While Ray has not come to defend his title Gorge Duncan and Abe Mitchell, the British professionals, will endeavor to duplicate his victory, while Joe Kirkwood and his side partner, Victor J. East, the Australian professionals, also will try to annex the American championship, and possibly Thomas D. Armour, the Scottish amateur, will arrive in time to make a similar effort. Several Canadian players are on the list, and from every angle the United States Golf Association's "open" of 1921 gives promise of furnishing some of the best golf ever witnessed on an American link.

Sensational play is expected from such a representative gathering of experts, but it might be asking too much to even hope for a repetition of the thrills which attended the famous triple tie that occurred in 1913 at the Country Club's links, Brookline, Mass., when Francis Ouimet defeated Harry Vardon and Edward Ray in the play off.

Half of the big field will play in the qualifying round of 18 holes today and the other half will make a similar round tomorrow. The leading 64 and all ties will continue on Thursday and Friday, playing 38 holes each day to decide the winner.

Following is a list of the winners of the event since the initial contest in 1895:

PUBLIC KIDDED SELF, THINKING CARP HAD SHOW

PEOPLE TOOK IT FOR GRANTED THAT FRENGH FIGHTER WAS SUPERMAN.

(By Herbert Corey.)

NEW YORK, July 16.— This is cold, gray dawn stuff. It is written days after the fight between Dempsey and Carpentier. Or more accurately, day after Mr. Carpentier hit Mr. Dempsey once, ineffectively, and then pugilistically died with his boots on. It isn't a story of the fight or the fighters, though they appear in it. It is rather a few coupled-up reflections upon our national liking for temporary neurosis.

The truth, as the truth appears to me, is that almost 100,000 people at a total cost to themselves of more than a million and a half dollars, kidded themselves at Boyle's Thirty Acres int the belief that they had seen a great fight. Whereas, bless their hearts, in the conviction of the undersigned they had been the willing witnesses of a one-sided murder.

In my story immediately after the fight I said that Carpentier had never had a chance. That he had but one blow, and that had crumpled against Dempsey's steel defenses. That he knew nothing whatever about infighting, and that, while he was magnificently game, gameness is a thing expected of a pugilist.

Iron Joe Grim's Record.

Iron Joe Grim, by that standard, is more heroic than Carpentier, because it used to take the best of them ten or twelve rounds to put him out. Sometimes he never was put out, but, chopped, beaten, pulped, bleeding, swollen, hung on to the end of the route. Yet no one ever thought of Iron Joe as a hero. He was a bit of raw meat thrown to the carnivorous lions of fight fandom. Whenever he fought they knew they would see gore.

I have seen no occasion to change my opinion since then. But to it has been added a sort of a wonder at the extent to which the American people can succumb to hysterics. Every one who cared to know knew precisely what Carpentier is and might be. He had one good hand and great speed. By the combination he had been able to whip many men who lacked shock-absorbing qualities. He had become light heavyweight champion of the world by licking poor old Battled Levinsky (and that 'Battled," Mr. Proofreader, is intentional.) He wasn't "Battling" any more when Carpentier took his faded wreath away. Nothing that Carpentier had ever shown made him appear a fit antagonist for Dempsey, though technically he was about the only challenger in sight.

Was Sentimental Favorite.

What I mean is that no one who had watched the two men should have been able to persuade himself that Carpentier had a ghost of a chance to whip the solid steel and mahogany, rawhide and wire fighting man, though by virtue of victories over other men had become Dempsey's logical antagonist. I do not believe that Carpentier himself thought he could. The Carpentier money, I am told, was all placed on his ability to stay a definite number of rounds. He is a fit ring companion, I think, for Tommie Gibbons or Bill Brennan—to which I add my sincere belief that either of them can whip him. No one suspects that either Brennan or Gibbons is at this moment a fit match for Dempsey, but the American public went wild about Carpentier. There isn't a doubt that he was the sentimental favorite throughout the fight.

The truth is that we have been Greek-godded and beflowered to a point at which we—the public—were abotu ready to twine roses in our hair. Carpentier is a nice looking man. His nose is rather prominent, his eyes are good, his hair is blonde, his legs straight, and he has a pleasant expression. You can match him to the last item in any haberdashery, but, if you dropped into the necktie mart and hinted to the salesman that he was a Greek god he would either put you out, or else, rightfully deciding that you were coocoo, he would call for the wired wagon.

How the Lady Writers Raved.

Lady writers raved about Carpentier's legs, which seems to me, an old-fashioned person, as a severe thing for a lady writer to do. They were good legs. Dempsey has a better pair, more shapely, stronger and about as fast. Eminent authors told of Carpentier's luminous eyes. His bathrobe came in for kisses. He was called fragile and slender and wraithlike. Whereas I submit that 172 pounds of muscular flesh, trained to the last minute, cannot rightfully be termed a wraith. Some one draped the lilies of France about his brow. One cartoonist drew a picture in which Foch and Joan of Arc and every other great character of France was standing in Carpentier's corner.

Carpentier was d'Artagnan. Whereas Carpentier, in brutal fact, is a pugilist who has made his living out of pugilism for years. He is a cold, cruel, merciless pugilist. A young English amateur named Mitchell, desirous of testing his own quality, paid Carpentier one hundred pounds to meet him in private. Carpentier cut him to pieces as a boy might pull the wing off a fly, instead of outing him quicklyand ending his suffering.

Carpentier's War Record.

I do not know what Carpentier's war record was. I do know that he spent a great part of the war about the cafes of Paris. He was the national pugilistic hero of his country. The French not only felt that he should be saved from possible danger by a German bomb, but that he should be decorated on general principles.

All this is nothing against Carpentier. He merely runs true to pugilistic form. One does not expeect too much of a pugilist. But the American public, aided and abetted and driven thereto by American writers, forgot that the contest was essentially that of two bruisers in a squared ring, and began to yammer about the moral, intellectual and sentimental items involved. Because he threw himself away against Dempsey's iron arms, he was praised for gallantry. An American manager would have rated him for stupidity. Because he staggered Dempsey with one blow—into which he put all he had, even to the extent of breaking a bone in his hand—one would think that he almost won the championship.

Dempsey Took All He Had.

To take is as essential a part of fighting as to give. Dempsey took al lhe could give, and at the end of the round was outfighting him. Any one can hit Dempsey. But so completely twisted were our ideas that to hit the champion became a moral victory. Instead of a fight between two husky, well-conditioned, well-paid gladiators, it had become an Homeric contest between Brute Force and Soul. Which, I maintain, is pure drivel.

Nowadays they say that Carpentier may fight Gibbons or Brennan, I hope that if such a contest is arranged, the lady writers, male and female, will lay off. Let us assess Carpentier for precisely what he is —a mighty good fighting man—and forget about his Soul and his Beautiful Legs and his Luminous Eyes. In unskilled hands this tosh about Greek gods sounds as though the boy were a burlesque queen. Furthermore, it starts a lot of us listening to pretty birdies.

AT THE THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

Mae Murray in "The Guilded Lily" at the Capitol, has one of the very best pictures of her stellar career. From start to finish, this production holds the interest every minute. A typical presentation of the dazzling, glittering side of New York's night life, it presents Miss Murray as the dancer of the Club Royale, where the motto is B.Y.O.L., Bring Your Own Liquor, as the exotic beauty who charms many different types of men, and finally, through her feeling for the young small-town man who wishes to marry her, into a demure, household-science seeking young lady. The transformation does not appeal to her excitement-seeking swain, however, and her swift disillusionment follows. A peculiar but very pretty ending closes one of the most interesting pictures in the Capitol's popular offerings.

The Pathe Review is interesting as usual, and Topics of the Day, from The Literary Digest, set the audience into gale after gale of laughter. Larry Semon in "The Rent Collector" presents a side-splitting comedy, alive and breezy from beginning to end.

It is estimated that more than 70,000,000 working days have been lost this year as the result of strikes and lockouts, states Dr. Macnamara, the Minister of Labor.

LOST 29 POUNDS DYSENTRY WAS THE CAUSE

Dysentery is one of the worst forms of bowel complaint, and hardly any other disease so quickly undermines the strength and brings about a collapse that often terminates fatally.

To check the unnatural discharge without bringing on constipation you should use that grand old remedy with a reputation extending over 76 years,

DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT WILD STRAWBERRY

Mr. G. H. McVagh, Mawer, Sask writes:—"About eight years ago I had a severe attack of dysentery. I was sick for three weks. I weighed 154 lbs. when I took sick and 125 when I got it stopped. I think I tried every medicine on the market, but did not find relief until I used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and one bottle did it. I think there is nothing like it for diarrhoea or dysentery. I always keep some on hand as a person does not know when he will need it."

Price 50c. a bottle; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

KING'S EXTRAVAGANCE AROUSES NATIVES' IRE.

VIENNA, July 19.—The presumptive King of the Ukraine, Archduke William, son of Stephen Hapsburg, is said by the Abend to have aroused the ire of the natives by his extravagant mode of life at his castle of Rabenstein in Upper Austria.

Some months ago William was selected by the Ukrainians as their King when the time comes they may have one. With his aide, Count Larisch, he is residing on his estate, and according to reports living royally. He has selected his new name and will be King Wasyl Wyschywany, while Larisch merely adds the Polish "enko" to his name.

ALLIED DEBTS A MAJOR PROBLEM

TREASURY SECRETARY AGAIN CONSIDERS IT — UNLOADING OF REPARATIONS BONDS FEARED.

WASHINGTON, July 19.— The senate finance committee and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon this week again attacked the foreign debt problem. Mellon was further quizzed to-day by committee members on this question.

"When and how are you going to collect what foreign nations owe the Liberty bond holders of the United States?"

Mellon has not yet told the committee how or when he purposes to take up with the allies the repayment of the debt, if congress grants the atuhority he asks. This indefiniteness probably will intensify rather than diminish the tendency in both house and senate to limit his authority in dealing with the debt question within certain well prescribed lines, senators said.

Some Amendments.

Amendments will therefore be proposed to the bill Mellon submitted.

To:

Prohibit or at least limit the exchange securities of one nation for those of another, so as to prevent 'unloading" on the United States of German reparations bonds in payment of the French and British debts.

Prohibit the "funding" or deferment of payment of current interest on the obligations after the date when the general refunding plan as to the principal and accrued interest goes into effect.

No Further Loans.

Prohibit by express provision any further loans, under commitments already made, until the refunding of now outstanding debts has been taken care of. Mellon has already adopted this policy.

Easiest Way to Remove Ugly Hairy Growths

(Beauty Culture)

Here is a method for removing hair from arms, neck, or face that is unfailing and is quite inexpensive: Mix a thick paste with some powdered delatone and water and spread on hairy surface. After 2 or 3 minutes, rub it off, wash the skin, and every trace of hair has vanished. No harm or inconvenience results from this treatment, but be careful to get genuine delatone, and mix fresh.

AIN'T IT A CAUTION?

New York.—Philip McCarthy took no pleasure in the dismissal of the case against him. Officers had confiscated the bottle.

New York.—Captain Marcanteli, of the liner Providence, has proved the efficacy of fumigation. When a seaman went through the hold shouting that it would be fumigated, 35 stowaways popped out.

Chicago.—It's hot dancing in some resorts near Chicago. As a result, reformers claim, girls are removing their dresses and dancing in their pink unmentionables!

New York.—Fumes from a burning cheese factory here drove hundreds of people from the vicinity of Washington market, tied up the elevated road in that neighborhood and overcame scores of firemen. The burning cheese works gave off such intense heat that glass in firemen's gas masks was cracked.

CONFLICT ANENT COURSE JAPANESE SHOULD PURSUE

LIBERALS FAVOR PARTICIPATION IN PARLEYS-- OTHER ELEMENTS AFRAID OF LOSSES IN FAR EAST.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—The State Department yesterday was awaiting word from Tokio on its reply to the Japanese query concerning the scope of the joint disarmament Pacific Affairs Conference.

A prompt reply by Japan would bring the communication to Washington to-day, but there is no disposition here to hurry the Japanese.

Advices here show there is a conflict in Japan over the course the nation should pursue. The Liberal elements are contending for entrance into the parleys. Other elements fear that Japan by entering will lose what she has gained in the far east as a result of her participation in two wars.

Washington Anxious.

There were two schools of thought in Washington yesterday regarding Japan's final answer. One was that Japan would give her complete acceptance to President Harding's invitation by agreeing to a discussion of the far eastern situation in the forthcoming disarmament conference.

The other was that Japan will flatly refuse to agree to a discussion of specific questions of the far east in this conference, because the empire believes that these problems have no proper place in such an international conference.

Cannot Refuse.

The belief of high officials concerned in the coming conference, however, was still firm that Japan will fall in line with the invitation of the United States. On the highest authority the belief was stated that no nation can carry the burden of refusing to join in such a movement as the one started by Harding for a disarmament conference.

Before Japan's reply to Secretary Hughes' amplification of the invitation to discuss the Pacific question is decided on in Tokio and sent to Washington, there may be negotiations between Great Britain and Japan, in which the British Government would be expected to press Japan to give its complete acceptance to the idea for the conference.

AMUNDSEN'S SHIP UNDER OWN POWER

AFTER BEING RESCUED FROM ICE IN BEHRING SEA, PROCEEDS TO ALASKA PORT.

NOME, Alaska, July 19.—(Canadian Press).—Coastguard cutter Bear, which rescued Amundsen's exploration ship Maud from a precarious position in the ice near Cape Herdze, Siberia, arrived here Sunday with the news that the Maud had been towed to within one hundred miles south of St. Lawrence Island in the Behring Sea, and is proceeding under sail toward Dutch Harbor, Alaska.

While cruising in eastern Siberian waters, the Bear rescued the crew of the wrecked United States schooner Gertrude, a few miles east from East Cape, Siberia, where the Gertrude was beached in a sinking condition.

33 ESKIMO SKELETONS ARE SENT TO HALIFAX

HALIFAX, July 19.—(Canadian Press).—Thirty-three Eskimo skeletons arrived in Halifax from the Far North recently for examination and measurement on behalf of the Canadian Government by Dr. John Cameron, Professor of Anatomy at Dalhousie University. The skeletons have been brought from the land of snows by the Canadian Arctic exploration party, which has spent five years in Canada's frigid zone studying the customs, languages and characteristics of the Eskimo race. They were found in the region north of the MacKenzie River.

Dr. Cameron estimates that upwards of three years will be required to complete the study of the skeletons and make the thousands of measurements necessary. The greater part of the work will be devoted to the skulls and the peculiarities of their formation. When completed the information obtained from the examinations will be included in a book to be published by Dr. Cameron. The book will be a standard work of reference on the physical characteristics of the Eskimo race.

A special study of the teeth of the skeletons will be made by Dr. S. G. Rithie of Halifax.

The blue cartons against a background of white hand-lettered show cards with black lettering, have a pleasing appearance, being artistically arranged by the window dressers, and reflect credit on their ability in the line as well as upon the manner in which this firm put up their goods. The Gallagher Co. want their patrons to know that any of their remies may be had at the best city drug stores.

Almost every day someone is calling at the office of the Gallagher Co. and relating what these medicines have done for them in curing Stomach Trouble, Biliousness, Constipation, Gall Stones, Gravel and Nervous Prostration, and they claim that what they have done for others they will do for you. It frequently occurs that one person buys a half dozen bottles of the Blood Purifier and Kidney Remedy after trying one bottle. $5.00 worth of the Remedies are much cheaper than a $100.00 or $150.00 operation, and it is affirmed that they have saved different people in the city this sum. 2d-19-20

TIGHT SHOES FOILED ATTEMPT AT ROBBERY

SHOES PINCHED SO, BANDIT WAS OVERTAKEN.

CHICAGO, July 19.—"You wish a pair of shoes?" queried Fred Sanson of the Newark Shoe Co., as he rubebd his hands and pulled the customary shop smile on a man who had just arrived.

"Yes," replied the customer. "I wear a 6, Double A, and that's what I want."

"I knew he was married," Clerk Sanson told the Judge, "because his socks were full of holes. I also thought he was a genius or a liar, for the measuring rule showed he required a 9 shoe on a D last.

"After much manoeuvring, I managed to squeeze his feet into a pair of 7 D, and he walked up and down the green carpet, admitting with obvious agony, that the shoes would do.

"Then, your Honor, he drew a magazine pistol and demanded that we turn over the contents of the cash drawer. Another customer came in and I dropped behind a row of chairs, crawled to the street door, and ran, yelling, for the police."

The robber, who has been identified as Morris Biddle, of Indianapolis, attempted to get away, but the tight shoes were his undoing. They gave him such pain that he was easily overtaken.

ASPHALT DUTY FREE.

A small earthenware jar full of silver coins dating from 1560 to 1601, many of the m bearing the profile of Queen Elizabeth, has been unearthednear Navan, Co., Meath.

FORGED CHEQUES, MADE HOOTCH AND CARRIED A GUN

WILLIAM OLIVER, OF HAVELOCK, SENTENCED TO BURWASH PRISON FARM.

When William Oliver and Jacob Freeman of Belmont township were brought before Magistrate O. A. Langley in the County Court yesterday morning they found that they had many indictments to answer to. Offences were piled up against them. Both were charged with unlawfully having worms for the manufacture of spirituous liquors.

Oliver was acquited on this charge but Freeman could not explain to His Worship how the apparatus was found in a box in his own home, and did not belong to him. He was fined $20 0or six months.

When he heard the arm of the law was reaching out for him it is said he armed himself and when arrested by the police had a revolver in the rig with him. For stealing this pistol he was given two months to run concurrently with the other six which he took through force of circumstances.

The hearing of charges against Freeman of stealing a buggy from one person and a set of harness from another will take place on August 3rd. The Crown was not prepared to go ahead with this case yesterday, so adjournment was made till that date. This does not complete the indictments against Freeman, it is stated. The Ontario Rock Co. have information against the men of purloining some of their dynamite supply but it is understood that these charges will not be pressed.

As a result of proven cases of forgery in Havelock, William Oliver was sent to Burwash Prison yesterday for an indeterminate period, not less than three months and not to exceed two years less one day. The forgeries were of three cheques, totalling about $140 endorsed fictitiously and cashed by Charles Armstrong of Havelock. Nearly $100 of the money was recovered for the unsuspecting hotelkeeper, it was stated.

J. O'Brien was counsel for Oliver and Freeman.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK. July 19.—(Canadian Press).—Foreign Oils were active and strong at the opening of today's Stock Market. The rejection by the House of the proposed tax on oil in the Tariff Bill prompted heavy short covering. Mexican Petroleum recorded an initial advance of 4⅛ points, and gains of 1⅛ to 2½ were made by Pan-American, General Asphalt and Atlantic Gulf. Motors and their specialties also strengthened, but Steels and Equipments eased slightly. Further weakness was noted in foreign exchange, with the British demand rate at the year's new low quotation of $3.58 1-8.

Oils cancelled the greater part of their gains in the first hour, shorts again directing their attacks upon Mexican Petroleum and General Asphalt. General Electric continued to weaken, but the more popular Equipments, as well as Steels and Motors, resisted pressure. Rails were taken up before noon. Trans-Continentals and Grangers under the lead of Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Atchison, scoring gains ranging from fractions to one point with numerous junior issues. Call money was plentiful at six per cent. Continental exchanges eased with the London rate.

Mexican Petroleum and related shares fell back again later, but rallied before the end on short coverings. The closing was firm.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, July 19. — (Canadian Press). — Wheat prices developed strength to-day, after a weak start. Houses with eastern connections were active on the buying side and country offerings were reported light. It was said rains in Kansas and Newbraska had interfered with threshing. Initial quotations which varied from unchanged figures to 1¼ lower, with September 126½ to 127 and December 130 to 130½, were followed by upturns all around to well above yesterday's finish.

Corn rallied with wheat. After opening 1-8 to ¼ to 7-8 lower, including September at 61 1-8 to 61 5-8, the market scored slight general gains.

Oats took the same course as other grain, starting a shade to ⅛ to 5-8 lower, September 41 to 41¼, and then became firmer. Lower quotations on hogs had a depressing effect on provisions. Besides, there were heavy deliveries of lard.

Subsequently the weakness of sterling exchange counted as a bearish factor in wheat but not of a lasting sort. The close was unsettled, ⅛ to 1½c net higher, with September 128¼ to 128½, and December 132 to 132¾.

Indications that vessel loadings of corn here this week would be liberal tended to uphold the corn market later. The close was firm, 5-8 to 1 3-8c net higher, with September 62 5-8 to 62 3-4.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, July 19.— (Canadian Press.)—Trade during the first half hour this morning on the local stock exchange, experienced the dullest session of the month, only two of the principal issues putting in an appearance. Brazilian was weaker by half a point at 26 as was also Riordan at 8.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, July 19.— (Canadian Press.)— Trading was very light on the Toronto stock exchange this morning. Toronto Rails at 73 was a little cheaper than at yesterday's close. Brazilian preesnted a small list of sales at a fairly steady figure. Government securities were present in the sales list in small lots, mostly at prices a trifle firmer than those of yesterday.

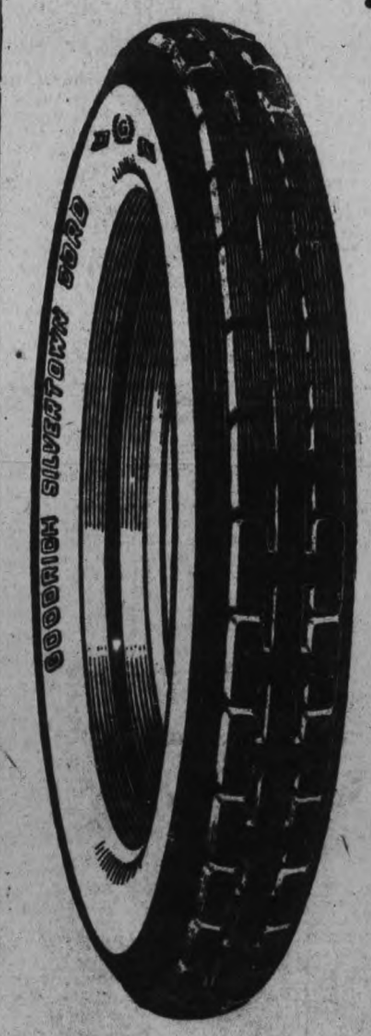
You will find this Goodrich Tire the Best we have Produced.



Goodrich has built in its time more automobile tires perhaps than any other single institution in the world, but never in its long history of tire making has it produced such sturdy, long-mileage tires as it is building these days.

You will find the tread stouter and tougher, giving thousands of miles in service before the black, clutching tread fingers wear smooth. The body is more powerful than is common in the general run of tires. Only the most flagrant misuse could ever cause a rim-cut.

TRY a Goodrich Tire. Compare its service with that of any make you are now using. Whether you drive over fields or stick to the roads, you'll find it the finest and most economical tire you can buy.

GOLD HUNTERS SWARM TO FIND LOST LODE

ST. JOHN, N. B., July 19.—(Canadian Press). — From Victoria County comes the story of gold-hunters swarming over the country drained by the Wapshe River and panning the sands of the stream in search of the yellow metal. Prospectors are there from all parts of Canada and the United States; the most experienced miners of the Continent are seeking to find gold that has been vainly sought for many years.

The Gibertson lode is what they are looking for. The story of that gold has been a favorite in New Brunswick for years and many a legend has centred about the lost lode.

As the tale goes, a timber cruiser took a canoe party up the Wapshe sixty years ago to look over the woods on the upper waters. They passed a landing, known as Gibertson's, now, and some distance further on Gibertson went ashore and ordered the men with him to return to the landing. When he turned up again within two hours he had in his hand a glittering rock, which he tossed into the canoe with the remark, "If that's gold I can load a tow-boat with it." The rock was brought to the settlement and for three years it served to keep a door open.

One day a stranger, a geologist, appeared on the scene and took notice of the door weight. He said it was filled with gold, and it is claimed that he dug enough nuggets out of the rock to make a ring for himself. The story spread through the district like wildfire, but Gibertson refused to tell where he had picked up the rock. Later he became insane and died without revealing the golden secret.

Since that time many expeditions have been formed to search for the vein, but no one has been able to locate it. This season a systematic search is being conducted and borings and pannings are being made extensively. The searchers claim to have made discoveries that indicate the presence in the district of large quantities of gold, but so far the location of the Gibertson lode remains a mystery.

TRIES TO CROSS TO NEWFOUNDLAND IN LAUNCH

HALIFAX, N. S. July 19.—(Canadian Press).—Having found passage to Newfoundland in a five-ton motor boat too hazardous, Earle Hopkins, with his wife and child, are making it in the orthodox manner by train and big boat.

When Hopkins decided to move to Newfoundland he sold some of his stock of dry goods and packed the rest of the things he had in his store on Cornwallis street into the motor boat. With his family and an engineer he sailed for Newfoundland from Halifax Harbor and got as far as Lawrencetown, some miles down the coast. Here the engine stalled and the whole expedition nearly came to wreck and ruin on the rocks. Unable to attract attention from the shore by ordinary means, Hopkins finally hit on the expedient of sending out S.O.S. messages in corked bottles, which floated to land. Somebody picked one of the wandering bottles up and assistance arrived in the nick of time as the motor boat was beginning to pound heavily.

DEMAND TROOPS IN U. SILESIA BE REINFORCED

ALLIED COMMISSIONERS' REPORT COMES SIMULTANEOUSLY WITH BRITISH NOTE OPPOSING SENDING OF REINFORCEMENTS.

SUPREME COUNCIL MAY MEET SOON TO CONSIDER

PARIS, July 20. — (Canadian Press). — The British, Italian and French Commissioners in Upper Silesia have sent in a report in which they jointly demand that reinforcements be sent to the Allied troops of occupation, it was announced here this afternoon.

This recommendation came almost simultaneously with the receipt of the note by the French Foreign Office from the British Government, in which Great Britain insisted there was no necessity for sending more troops into Upper Silesia. The note was in reply to the recent communication in which the French Government notified Great Britain that reinforcements were needed urgently in order to make sure that the troops were not disturbed and to insure respect for the decisions of the Allies under the Treaty of Versailles. The British note reiterated the demand of the early convening of the Allied Supreme Council. In view of the British Prime Minister's attitude, it is probable that Premier Briand will agree to a meeting of the Council in the neighborhood of July 27, probably in Boulogne.

Suggest U. S. Intervention.

LONDON, July 20. — (Canadian Press.)—It was stated in authoritative quarters to-day that informal suggestions have been made for United States' intervention in the Upper Silesian trouble, which it is feared will threaten open hostilities.

SITUATION IS MENACING.

LONDON, July 20. — There seems good reason to believe that the menace to the European peace which it is held the Silesian question presents, is the real cause for the postponement of further action on the Irish question and other matters of moment. The Silesian question, it is stated, is causing grave anxiety to all the governments in Europe.

Important developments in this connection are expected within the next 48 hours.

BLAMES CITY IN QUEBEC STRIKE

CATHOLIC ORGAN CHARGES DELAY IN ACCEPTING BOARD'S RECOMMENDATIONS.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

QUEBEC, July 20.—In a lengthy letter published in yesterday's "L'Action Catholic" of this city, the official organ of His Eminence Cardinal Begin, Rev. A. B. Be Fortine, general chaplain of the National Catholic Union, gives his version of the causes of the recent firemen and policemen's strikes in this city, blaming the civic authorties for their delay in accepting the arbitration board's recommendations and also contending that the Provincial government, at the last session, when the Galipeault law creating special arbitration for municipal services in the case of conflicts, should have provided that the decision arrived at should be binding.

GERMANY WANTS FRIENDSHIP OF FRENCH PEOPLE

CHANCELLOR AVERS THIS AND SAYS HIS COUNTRY IS READY TO REBUILD DEVASTATED FRENCH AREAS.

ATTITUDE ON SILESIA "SLAP IN FACE," SAYS

(By Carl D. Groat.)
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

BERLIN, July 20.—Chancellor Joseph Wirth, of Germany, in an interview with the United Press today, appealed for the friendship of France.

"We earnestly desire a friendly understanding with France," he said 'These are not mere words, but our real feelings."

"We are ready to rebuild France in any way she desires. She can write her own ticket.

"The friendly echoes this cabinet's policies awoke at first through the world including France, convinced us were on the right track. Now, however, France's attitude on the division of Silesia comes to me as a slap in the face. I ask myself whether France really wants to come to an understanding with us."

The Chancellor showed deep concern over the French attitude, declaring it has a great bearing on whether its government stands or falls.

SENT TO TRIAL FOR POISONING SELF, CHILDREN

EVIDENCE INTRODUCED TO SHOW THAT DAUGHTER BOUGHT POISON AFTER MOTHER SAID THEY WOULD NEVER LEAVE ALIVE.

STRYCHNINE ALLEGED TO HAVE BEEN USED

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

KINGSTON, Ont., July 20.—Mrs. Mary Bridgen, who figured in a sensational poisoning case here last Friday, when she and her three children were found to be suffering from a dose of strychnine, came before Magistrate Farrell to-day and was committed for trial on a charge of having caused to be taken poison that endangered their lives.

The poison was taken by Mrs. Bridgen and her three children a short time before Mr. Bridgen came to secure his two children under orders of Justice Meredith. Evidence was given to show that one of Mrs. Bridgen's daughters had secured the poison at a local drug store, and that Mrs. Bridgen had made the statement that the children would not leave the house alive.

Mr. Bridgen and his wife have been living apart for some time.

W. N. PONTON NEXT HEAD OF MASONS

HIS ELECTION REGARDED AS ALMOST A CERTAINTY.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

OTTAWA, July 20.— While the Masonic elections will not be held until to-morrow, W. N. Ponton, K. C., of Belleville, is almost certain to succeed F. W. Harcourt as Grand Master. Right Worshipful Brother Ponton moves up from the Deputy Grand Masership, and the filling of his shoes is giving Masons an interest in life, notwithstanding the heat wave.

Among those mentioned for the deputy's chair are George May, of Otawa, A. J. Young of Toronto and North Bay, and Dr. P. T. Coupland, of St. Marys. Western Ontario Masons feel that the west should wear the purple.

'West of Hamilton we have not had the Grand Mastership since the seventies," said a delegate. The brother had forgotten Judge MacWatt, of Sarnia, but he expressed the sentiment of his district. London waits what it wants when it wants it. But London is too persistent not to be defeated as the place of meeting, but, like Ottawa last year, it has a repeated invitation for the rand GLodge, showing an aminable and likewise determined spirit.

SAYS RANEY ONLY EXPLOITING SELF

JOCKEY CLUB PRESIDENT, HOWEVER, WON'T DISCUSS RANEY'S ATTACK.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

HAMILTON, Ont., July 20.—Col. Wm. Hendry, President of the Ontario Jockey Club, refused to discuss the statement of the Hon. Mr. Raney, Attorney General for the Province, regarding the profits of the Jockey Club, when interviewed this morning. Col. Hendry was quite cool about the matter, although he admitted having seen the statement of the Attorney-General in the Toronto morning papers.

"It is not my intention,' he said, "to reply to the Hon. Raney. My communication was addressed to the Premier, Hon. E. C. Drury, with the modest request that he give my letter to the press. The Attorney-General of this government handed out the statement of the Ontario Jockey Club for his own particular exploit purposes and I have nothing further to say regarding him."

Other than the above, Col. Hendry was as mum as the proverbial clam, and abruptly terminated the interview.

Hon. Mr. Raney charged the Club with making profits of 300 per cent. on their investment, and attacked them as running a "betting house."

QUEBEC HAS 25 PER CENT. POPULATION INCREASE.

QUEBEC, July 20. — The census enumerators in the City of Quebec have now completed their work, and reports have been forwarded to Ottawa. No official declaration will be made by the census organization, but it is understood that the increase in population since 1911 will be over 25 per cent. Enumerators also report they have had no trouble and that generally the people have shown themselves more inclined to give full information than in previous years.

The Men Who Write the News You Read

Newspaper readers have a natural curiosity about the men who write the news they read; what they have done, where they have been, and whether they look like the other human beings, for readers form a sort of long-distance friendship with the men whose names they see over the news despatches day by day.

In order to acquaint the people of Peterborough with some of the more famous of these men, The Examiner will introduce to its readers by means of a series of daily sketches, the chief staff correspondents of the United Press. These are the men whose analytical despatches from all corners of the world distinguish the service of that news gathering and distributing organization and who are on the top rung of the ladder of their profession, which Joe McCullagh of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat once described as "the art of guessing where hell will break loose next, so as to have a reporter on hand to tell the story."

The subject of the first of this series of sketches, which will be published on Thursday, is Ed. L. Keen, General European Manager for the United Press, whose despatches covering the British coal strike and the Irish situation have brought him into the limelight recently and who was the directing genius of the large United Press staff at the various fronts during the Great War, and at the Peace Conference, whose despatches were a feature of The Examiner's news service throughout that epochal period.

NONCOMMITTAL RE RETIREMENT OF MR. DUMBLE

ATTORNEY-GENERAL REFUSES TO CONFIRM OR DENY RUMOUR BUT SAYS NO SUCCESSOR APPOINTED.

The announcement of the superannuation of Magistrate Dumble will shortly be made by the Attorney-General, according to the information the Examiner has received from a local and reliable source.

It was further stated that Mr. O. Langley, of Lakefield, will be appointed to the new position, combining the offices and duties of county and city magistrate for Peterboro.

Hon. Mr. Raney Non-Committal.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

TORONTO, July 20. — Attorney-General Raney, when asked to confirm the rumour that Police Magistrate Dumble of Peterboro, was to be retired, declined to make any comment, stating that it was a departmental matter. When asked whether any successor had been appointed to fill Mr. Dumble's place, the Attorney-General replied "No."

Likewise Mr. Langley.

When seen by the Examiner in his office at the Court House this afternoon, Mr. Langley was as reticent as the Attorney-General. He said he understood that there had been some mention of his name to the Hon. Mr. Raney, but there had been no communication from the Attorney-General. "I really know nothing about what the Department intends to do," said Mr. Langley, "and for that reason I don't wish to discuss the matter. If I am appointed it will be a case of the office seeking the man, because I have not been in touch with the Minister."

Mr. Langley said he was leaving to-morrow for Collingwood on his holidays.

FARES SHOOT TAXI DRIVER.

Three Men Blackjack and Wound Him in Pay Dispute.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Henry J. Frank, 21 years old, of 502 East Eighty-third Street, a taxicab driver employed by Frank Trunk, of 1 601 Avenue A, is in St. John's Hospital, Brooklyn, suffering from a bullet wound in the left breast. His condition is critical. Frank was standing in front of Luna Park at Coney Island early yesterday morning, when he was engaged by three men to drive them to Brooklyn.

At Utica and East New York Avenues he demanded his fare. The men told him to drive to Church Avenue. He refused. His refusal, Frank told the police of the Atlantic Avenue Station, angered the men and one of them leaned over and struck him on the head with a blackjack, while a second one shot him. The three assailants escaped.

JAPAN BALKING AT DISCUSSING EAST PROBLEMS

TOKIO AWAITS DEFINITE OUTLINE OF SCOPE OF PROPOSED DISCUSSIONS, BUT U.S. WILL GIVE THIS ONLY IN GENERAL

NOT TO BE CONDITION TO ACCEPTANCE BY JAP

(By A. L. BRADFORD, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Another difficulty arose today in the question of Japan's participation in the pronosed armament and Pacific conference in Washington. The United Press learned from authoritative quarters that the Japanese Government apparently is waiting further word from the United States before consenting to discuss Pacific affairs.

According to the belief in these quarters, which are in close touch with Tokio, Japan has, it is said, not received a definite answer from Washington to its inquiry regarding the receipt of the Pacific discussions.

Along with this development came a further explanation of the American Government's attitude toward the Japanese inquiry. This attitude in brief is that if it will make it any easier for Japan to agree to the Pacific discussion the United States will not oppose giving an outline of the discussion before the actual meeting of the conference, but this must be in general terms and should not be made a condition of Japan's acceptance.

The misunderstanding concerning the reply to Japan's inquiry is due to the fact that it was not directed in a written communication to the Japanese Government through the American Embassy in Tokio, but only outlined to Japan informally and verbally by Secretary Hughes in a conference with Ambassador Shidehara.

BUENOS AIRES, July 20.—(Canadian Press). — The Argentine Republic has declined to mediate between Panama and Costa Rica in the territorial dispute which last March caused open hostilities between the two Central American nations and prompted the United States to send several sharp notes to the Isthmus before warfare ceased.

TWO HILLS ARE SENT TO TRIAL, TWO ARE FREED

WILLIAM AND DAVIS COMMITTED AND FATHER AND RUSSELL DISCHARGED FOR ALLEGED POISONING OF CATTLE.

AWAIT EXAMINATION OF COWS' STOMACH

On the evidence submitted one week ago, Magistrate Dumble, at 10.30 a.m. to-day, committed to trail Willaim and Davis Hill, of Dummer township, and discharged Robert, the father, and the third son, Russell, on the charge against the four of, on June 3, wounding, maiming or poisoning 11 head of cattle owned by William Davis of Dummer township.

Before Judge Huycke at 12.30 p.m. accused elected trial by judge, pleading not guilty to the charge against them. Mr. G. N. Gordon, M. P., their counsel, requested a speedy trial to enable them, if acquitted, to return to their farm as soon as possible.

The Crown is awaiting an analytical report on the cows' stomach from Toronto, and knowing the attendant delay to such a report in the holiday season the Crown Attorney did not think trial could proceed till Sept. 1. His Honour felt this was too long to delay trial and suggested Aug. 1. Finally Mr. Hatton promised to write Toronto today in an effort to get a speedy report, and His Honour adjourned the case until Saturday at 11 a.m., when, if a report has been received from Toronto, a date for trial will be fixed.

In committing the two brothers for trial, Magistrate Dumble said he had in mind that Canada was an agricultural country and live stock had to be protected. The evidence, he said, was that the cattle had been let out and poisoned. William Hill had been sent to the penitentiary on the evidence of people in that neighborhood and there was evidence that Willaim had said he'd get even with Davis. He had shown a vindictive mind. 'I have no doubt in my mind in sending William Hill up for trial. He's the one that freely said 'he's get even' with the informant. I don't think that the four men, because they live in one house, could be properly snt up for trial." The father was not directly concerned, the Magistrate believed, although he well knew what was going on. The Magistrate declared he did not feel justified from the evidence in sending Russell Hill up. There was some doubt in his mind as to Davis, but the fact of the strychnine being found at his place was against him. "I will send up William and Davis; the others are discharged," said His Worship. "If it costs a hundred thousand dollars to get to the bottom of this it is worth it. This country can't afford to have its cattle poisoned."

Willam and Davis accepted their committment for trial in an undemonstrative way. Both appeared sullen; William looked particularly surly, with his close-cropped hair. The father and Russell heaved sighs of relief when discharged.

William Hill served two years for stealing cattle from Wiliam Davis, whose cattle they are now accused of poisoning, and others three or four years ago and Davis and a brother-in-law served three years on a similar charge.

William Davis, lot 8, first concession of Dummer, in evidence a week ago, said while he lived on concession 1, he had a cattle ranch on concession 7, eight miles from his home. This year he had 14 cattle, he said, on the ranch.

The ranch was on the east half of lot 14, in the seventh, and Hills lived on the west half, he said. Robert Russell and Bill, he believed, lived together. Davis on Murphy's place on the 15th or 16th lot.

The last time he saw his cattle alive was about the last Sunday in May, the 29th. Mr. Davis said four of the cattle wre two year olds and ten were one year olds. On the 29th he saw them himself. On June 6 he got word six of his cattle were dead on the 8th line on the roadway, and he found six dead altogether, four on the 8th line, one on the side road and one on the 7th line. None were in his own field. Mr. Davis said he found four cattle on the 7th line, three living and one almost dead, which he killed. He took the three back to his pasture.

Later on, he said, three more were found dead on the 8th line near the other one, making a total of ten

CRAIG-VALERA MEETING SOON NOW FORECAST

RE-ENTRANCE OF SMUTS INTO NEGOTIATIONS BELIEVED TO HAVE MADE SUCH CONFERENCE POSSIBLE.

SINN FEIN DELEGATES CONSULT DAIL EIREANN

LONDON, July 20. — (Canadian Press.)— To-morrow's meeting between Eamonn De' Valera and Mr. Lloyd George will probably be their last before the return of the South of Ireland delegates to Dublin.

Following their return to Ireland a meeting of the Irish Republican Parliament will in all likelihood be convened to give the Republican leader an opportunity to report and take fresh counsel on the new complexion which the Downing street parleys may have placed upon the old questions, and to formulate a policy respecting such issues as may have originated during these talks.

It is problematic whether Mr. De Valera will then go to Belfast for the meeting with Sir James Craig, Ulster Premier, which was forecast this morning in some quarters as a probability.

The probability of a meeting in Belfast between Eamonn De Valera and Sir James Craig, Ulster Premier, was foreshadowed in some political quarters and several newspapers this morning.

General J. C. Smuts, Premier of South Africa, who re-entered the negotiations yesterday, doubtless is largely responsible for this and similar optimistic speculation, which has survived under great difficulties since Monday, when the Ulster Premier departed suddenly for Belfast after making a forceful statement on the subject of self-determination as it applied to Ulster. This seemed for a time to end all hope for an amiable meeting between the two Irish leaders, but the moderating influence of Gen. Smuts, coupled with Belfast despatches to the effect that Sir James does not regard the peace parties as interested, have gone a long way toward re-establishing confidence.

ONE HUNDRED AND EIGHTY BABIES EXAMINED DURING LAST QUARTER

POLICE COURT PROBE HALTED

FORCED TO ADJOURN UNTIL SOME TIME IN AUGUST.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

TORONTO, July 20. — The probe into the police court system and the conduct of the interpreters, came to another sudden halt to-day, when Judge Ward was forced to adjourn until some unfixed day in August.

The difficulty is that the illness of Grace Bagnato, the Italian interpreter, makes it impossible to proceed with evidence affecting her until she is able to attend the sessions. Corporation Counsel Geary said that as soon as she had recovered, a date would be agreed on by counsel and he would communicate with the judge.

Mr. Geary informed the Judge that a great mass of material bearing on the probe had come to his office, but a great deal of it was rumor, too indirect and unsubstantial to bring in as evidence. After this morning's session he took Judge Ward to his office and the two consulted in regard to some of this matter, the allegations of policemen's rows, that Markowitz, the interpreter, early in the policeman's career at No. 2, had offered him his card and a drink at the same time, telling him that any time he wanted a drink he might get it at the Markowitz house.

Counsel for Markowitz, Mr. J. E. Lawson, described this as a "piffling little thing," but Ald. Singer, who brought on the probe, thinks it is highly significant.

WORK OF THE PETERBORO WELL BABIES' CLINIC — QUARTERLY REPORT.

After a very well-attended session of the Well Babies' Clinic yesterday afternoon, at which 18 infants were examined, the Board of Management held a meeting for the hearing of the quarterly reports, which were most encouraging.

Dr Jessie Birnie's report recorded the excellent work of the different physicians who give so much time and attention gratis to the work of the clinic, paying as much care to the condition of the infants presented there as if they were brought to their own offices. The splendid services of the nurse, Mrs. McCartney, whose kindness and tact in dealing with mothers and children has much to do with the success of the clinic, was warmly eulogized, and grateful appreciation was expressed to the King's Daughters, who serve tea at the weekly meetings. The good that might be accomplished by a nurse enabled to devote all her time to visiting homes and helping mothers in the care of their infants was dwelt upon. Demonstrations in different parts of the city might be given in connection with, the work and the establishment of a milk depot was also recommended.

The Nurse's Report.

Mrs. McCartney's report for the months of April, May and June showed a total of babies examined at the Clinic of 180, an increase over the last quarter of 99. Number of calls made at home, 278. Number of births registered at the City Hall, 166. Of this number, 2 were stillborn and 4 died within two days after birth—one from whooping-cough, one from spinal meningitis, and two from pneumonia, making an exceedingly high percentage of deaths for the quarter.

Children treated by the nurse at home under doctors' orders were those suffering chiefly from indigestion and malnutrition, and in every case the baby improved or was cured.

In the quarter there were 6 operations performed, 3 minor, 1 abscess, 2 adenoids and tonsils. All are doing well.

In some parts of the city homes are crowded and unsanitary. Some of the mothers are very careless, and do not pay enough attention to the condition of the children, many of whom are suffering from swollen glands, skin eruptions, discharging ears, and sore eyes. In other homes, where the mothers appear quite capable, they do not seem to realise their duty towards the children in other ways, preparing the food carelessly and feeding them irregularly, so that many children suffer from indigestion and colds. A capable nurse visiting these homes regularly could do much good.

When destitute homes have been found, the cases have been reported to women's organisations in the city, or to the clergy, and these have responded promptly and generously.

There is almost an epidemic of whooping-cough in the city, and no precautions are being taken by the parents to prevent the infection from spreading.

Changes During Holidays.

During the absence of Dr. Birnie from the city for a month's holidays, her place as supervisor of the Clinic will be taken by Dr. Lillian Grady, while the Misses Margaret Turner and Marjorie Best will relieve Mrs. Galbraith in the filling out of cards and attention to various small detail of the work.

A letter was read from the local branch of the Social Service Council, but decision regarding this was left over until the first meeting of the Board of Management in the fall.

EXCURSION WAS A SPLENDID SUCCESS

The excursion of St. George's Sunday School by the steamer Geneva, which took place yesterday to South Beach, was a splendid success. The weather in the morning was very threatening, but when it changed shortly after, it was all that could be desired.

The boat left the wharf at eight o'clock with a large number of the children and adults on board, who, under the influence of ice-cream, candy, and soft drinks, grew very happy. South Beach was reached at noon, and preparations were at once made for lunch, some remaining on board and others going ashore. The proprietor of the hotel was most kind, and placed the pavilion at the disposal of the visitors. After lunch, sports of the usual kind afforded much amusement to both children and adults. After the prizes were awarded, all joined in singing "The Maple Leaf" and the National Anthem.

Mr. Alcock, the superintendent, deserves the greatest credit for the way in which the outing was arranged, his efforts being ably seconded by Mrs. Andrews and Mrs. Parks, the Misses Williams, Huxley, and Parks of the Sunday School staff, and also by Messrs. Wm. Anderson, and H. Wilson.

The pastor, Rev. W. R. Courage, and all members of the staff wish to express their hearty appreciation of the kindness of Mr. Brooks, the proprietor of the South Beach Hotel, to some of his guests, who treated all the children to ice-cream, and to the captain and crew of the Geneva, who did everything possible to make the outing pleasant.

THE COOL WAY — THE CLEAN WAY—THE SAVING WAY.

Those who know the charms of the Great Lakes have already made plans for their annual pilgrimage to America's Wonderland. Lake Erie, with its incomparable fleet of magnificent passenger vessels, is especially attractive to travellers, and plying its waters you will find some of the large and most palatial steamers.

Of these, the great ship "Seeandbee," operating daily between Cleveland and Buffalo, is undoubtedly the most popular. The "Seeandbee" is the largest and most costly steamer on inland waters of the world, and her immense proportions and luxurious appointments prompt passengers to call her "The Floating Hotel."

The traveller finds rest and comfort via this lake route. By boarding the steamer at Cleveland or Buffalo at 9.00 p.m. (Eastern Standard Time) he may break the monotony of the all-rail journey, enjoy a night of refreshing sleep and reach destination at 7.30 the following morning.

BURNS TELLS COURT HOW SEVEN FORMER WHITE SOX STARS SOLD THE WORLD SERIES OF 1919

WITNESS ADMITS HE WAS "GO-BETWEEN" IN DEAL WITH GAMBLERS AND TURNS STAT'ES EVIDENCE.

SAYS EDDIE CICOTTE "SOLD" FOR $100,000

(United Press.)

CHICAGO, July 20. — "Bill" Burns (confessed baseball renegade) told the jury to-day the tale of how the "Sure Thing" Gamblers are alleged to have bought and paid for the 1919 world series.

Burns, the former Big League pitcher resumed the stand against the seven former White Sox players with whom he said he plotted to deliver the 1919 classic to the gamblers.

The witness, admitting that he was the "go between," turned State's evidence and continued his story of the "Shame of baseball."

The State's star witness was led into court by the armed guard of deputy sheriffs which is constantly with him. The guard stays with Burns at night in his hiding place.

Burns chewed his gum fiercely as he further unfolded the tale that rocked the sport world. Fans leaned forward in their seats to catch every word that was being said about the men they once worshipped. They heard the allegation that Eddie Cicotte ran around New York with a "for sale" tag on the world series, and so gamblers made the purchase for $100,000.

He recounted how "Kid" Gleason, the White Sox manager, interfered with the "fixed" series, when little Dickie Kerr was put in the pitcher's box in the third world series game, instead of Eddie Cicotte.

Cicotte had agreed to lose the game Burns testified.

DROWNING NEAR CAMPBELLFORD

NEWS FROM THE TOWN AND DISTRICT—ESCAPED FROM JAIL.

CAMPBELLFORD, July 20. — A very sad accident occurred yesterday morning, when Clarence Chappell, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Chappell, of the 8th concesion of Seymour township, met his death in Crow Bay.

The deceased, who was 21 years of age, had gone in swimming when the fatal accident occurred. The body was soon recovered by Alfred Atkinson and Albert Pnillips. Medical aid was quickly summoned but all efforts at resuscitation failed.

The late Mr. Chappell was a regular attendant at church and Sunday school and was very popular with his young friends. The funeral will take place to-morrow (Thursday) afternoon) to Burnbrae church and cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. Chappell have the sincere sympathy of the whole community in the loss of their only son and child.

Automobile Accident.

Mr. Harry Roumain met with a serious accident on Monday evening, when riding home on his wheel.

Mr. Roumain, who is blind of one eye, met Mr. Davidson on the gravel road, who was driving a car, and leading a horse behind. Mr. Roumain turned out a little to meet Mr. Davidson and when opposite him he turned his head to speak. His wheel immediately took across the road in front of Mr. Gillespie's car, which was approaching.

Mr. Gillespie turned over to the left side in order to miss Mr. Roumain; he (Mr. Roumain) turned that way also. The result was they crashed, throwing Mr. Roumain through the wind shield, cutting his face, hands and legs seriously enough to require stitches.

Escaped from Jail.

Gordon Stuart, who was sentenced by Magistrate Payne to nine months in the Cobourg jail on July 9th, escaped from the jail at 6 a.m. on Tuesday morning. He made his way by walking and catching rides to Campbellford where he arrived at about four o'clock, but it was six o'clock before Chief Duncalf was notified that he was at large. The Chief immediately went out with Constable Crawford to search for him in the rain but it was not until about nine-thirty that he was located on the road just west of the town. He fled down through Beatty's Grove. After pursuing him for some 300 yards the Chief opened fire. He fired wide at first hoping that he would stop but when the fugitive kept on the Chief shot him through the calf of the leg. He was taken to a doctor who pronounced the wound a simple flesh wound and not serious.

It was just three hours and a half from the time Chief Duncalf was first notified of Stewart's freedom until he was captured. According to Stewart's own story he simply walked out of the Cobourg jail when the place was unlocked and no person was around. He asked, "Who would not walk away from nine months' imprisonment?" He said he walked part way and got a few rides the rest of the way. When asked why he chose Campbellford as a hiding place, he answered "A fellow naturally flees to the country he knows best." He seemed quite cheerful in spite of the pain in his leg, and remarked "I guess I'll have to be good for a while now, eh?"

The yacht "Eming" of Syracuse, owned by Mr. E. Stewart of Rochester, N.Y., laid up at Campbellford last night.

The party which consists of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, Miss Blazedale, William Bidlack, Miss Ada Schier, and A. C. Baldwin, all of Rochester, are out for a two weeks cruise.

They were up as far as Nassau, above Peterboro, and are now returning to Rochester. They were well pleased with the Trent Waterway and thought the scenery simply wonderful. They especially enjoyed the good fishing. Their only kick was the lack of markers for ten or twelve miles through Rice Lake. The yacht is a beautiful one and has complete accommodation for the party and is large enough for lake service.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Winns of Montreal, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Duncan eKr.

Misses Mazie and Margaret Parkin are visiting with friends in town.

Dr. and Mrs. Richmond and Dr. and Mrs. O'Connor of Syracuse, N. Y., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lowery. The party motored over and came by way of St. Vincent but as they are out for a trip they are to return by an easterly route, taking in Southern N. Y. State.

Mr. Doyle, income inspector of Belleville, was in town on Tuesday.

Messrs C. Harris, Jas. Casky, W. Stephens, Dr. Watson, J. N. Stone, and Mr. Hande, left on Tuesday to attend the Masonic Grand Lodge in Ottawa.

Miss Thrain of Ottawa, is visiting Miss S. Smith.

Miss Alma Upton is visiting in Peterboro.

Mrs. Thos. Arnold accompanied by daughter and son leave to-morrow for Tacoma, Wash., after a month's visit with relatives in town and vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Newson of Toronto are visiting at the home of the latter's mother, Mrs. Rendle.

INQUEST FAILED TO DETERMINE THE CAUSE OF ACCIDENT

ENGINEER O'BRIEN'S DEATH WAS INVESTIGATED BY CORONER'S JURY.

STIRLING, July 20.—The inquest into the death of Engineer David O'Brien, driver of Engine No. 1224, who was killed at Madoc Junction at five o'clock on the morning of July 13th, was held at Stirling on Tuesday morning, commencing at nine o'clock.

Coroner Dr. J. D. Bissonnette presided. The jurors were Nathan Eggleton, foreman, Robt Chambers, Herman Ashley, Geo. Gay, W. J. Fitchett, F. Sarles, F. Stapley, N. Stapley and O Stapley.

Mr. Wm. Carnew, County Crown Attorney, was examining attorney and Mr. J. F. Strickland, of Peterborough, appeared for the relatives of the deceased. W. C. Mills, of Montreal, represented the Grand Trunk Railway.

Dr. Alger testified that David O'Brien's death was caused by his neck being broken, the skull probably broken and his body being crushed.

Fireman Strickland stated that he, together with the conductor and head brakeman, were with O'Brien when the train was cut in two and the first half taken up the grade. The brakeman remained with the first half of the train, but the conductor returned with the engine and tender. He did not notice anything amiss until the tender was off the track and the engineer slammed on the emergency brake. The engine folowed the tender and toppled over on its side in the ditch. At the time of the accident the engine was travelling about twelve miles an hour.

Valves Burst.

When the engine went over the steam valves burst and the escaping steam filled the cap and prevented his getting to O'Brien, who was pinned down. He, with the conductor, attempted to get out on the left side but couldn't, whereupon they climbed up and out of the right window of the cab. The fireman was seriously scalded.

Train Conductor O'Connor repeated practically the same evidence, mentioning the trouble they had at Keene when the train had been cut in two and the engine was hauling the first half up the grade.

Here the first half was stalled by the air brakes on the tender or first car going into play, acting as an emergency and stopping the train. He testified that when returning down the grade at Madoc Junction the engine and tender were travelling about twelve miles an hour.

Brakesman Brennan was next called and upon being examined by Mr. Carnew he said the train had been examined by the yard men and by himself at Lindsay. Two cars had been dropped at Peterborough and there had been no trouble until they arrived at Lindsay, where the trouble had occurred with the emergency brake. He said that this action of the brake might be caused either by a reduction in pressure of steam or a weak spring within the valve.

When asked if he had examined the valve at Hastings, which was the next stop, he replied that he had not, as it wasn't his duty, and the engine was just out of the repair shop a short time ago. He said that he had gone up in the engine cab with the first half of the train at Madoc Junction, but he was not on when the accident occurred. He said he knew nothing of the accident until after the passenger going west arrived, which he warned of the first half of his train being on the track. The passengers passed around his train by means of a siding, after which he met his conductor, who said that O'Brien was dead.

When asked the length of the wrecked track he repleid that it was three rail lengths.

Mr. Carnew asked if he could see where the tender first left the rails.

He replied that he could and that it was the same place where the engine left. He could not say whether the brakes had locked at Keene on the tender or the first car, as Engineer O'Brien had released them.

The foreman of the jury asked if he were the brakeman of the front half of the train, to which he answered that he was.

Mr. Thos. Shuttleworth was next called. He said he had ridden at the rear of the train and had known nothing of the accident until 6.10 a. m. next morning when the train from Belleville arrived. He had heard the engine leave his half of the train and take up the other half and had heard it stall at Keene, but hadn't known the cause. He had had four and one half years' experience.

When asked if there was anything he could tell or any theory he could offer he said there was nothing.

Mr. H. M. Hobson, supervisor of tracks of Peterborough, whose section includes the lines from Belleville to Lindsay and Haliburton, Port Hope to Lakefield and the Madoc branch, asked to describe this curve, said it was what was known as a fie degree ascending to the east curve, on a fill. It is a half mile long and curves from the south-east to the north-west.

Mr. Carnew asked if he would consider it safe.

Mr. Hobson replied that it was especially safe and well built up.

When asked if any accident had ever occurred there before, he stated that none had ever occurred there to his knowledge. The drainage was especially good and on the thirteenth all conditions were especially good.

When asked about the rails he said they were 80 lb. 30 foot rails and he had examined all the rails and road bed very carefully.

Examined Rails.

When asked for his opinion as to the cause, he stated that in all his nineteen years' expperience he had never seen a similar case where the engine had derailed to the inside of the curve, as the general tendency is to the outside of the curve, which is the reason for the elevation on the outside. If there was anything to cause the engine or tender to sway on top it might jump up, but in that case a scratch would be left on the rail, but there was no scratch or groove and the tender went off, but he could see what might cause this. The rail was scrubbed, which might have been caused by a brake shoe from the first half of the train, but the chances of this were very small, and he could find no evidence of such an occurrence. He made a thorough search but could find no flange groove on the rail, but found it scratched and rubbed as if something had rubbed along it.

When asked if there should have been a line he replied that there was no question about it, and the absence of the definite groove and the presence of the scrubbing was his reason for adopting the brake-shoe theory.

When asked what further he learned he replied that the marks on the

FAILURE OF PEACE NEGOTIATIONS IS TO BE FOLLOWED BY AN UNPARALLELED CAMPAIGN OF MILITARY REPRESSION IN SINN FEIN IRELAND

YAP AND SHANTUNG SETTLED---HAYASHI

LONDON, July 20.— (United Press.)—The Yap and Shantung settlements are accomplished facts and there is no need for a conference of the Powers in connection with the proposed Washington disarmament party to revise them, Baron Hayashi, Japanese Minister to Great Britain declared to-day in an interview.

WITH PEACE PARLEYS QUIVERING IN BALANCE TO-DAY GOVERNMENT PREPARES PLANS TO UTTERLY CRUSH SINN FEIN AND TURN IRELAND INTO VAST MILITARY PRISON, PUTTING TAG ON EVERY IRISH CITIZEN.

(By Charles McCann, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, July 20. — With the Irish peace negotiations quivering in the balance to-day, it was learned authoritatively that the failure of the conference will be followed by an unparalleled campaign of military repression in Ireland.

If the present effort toward peace is unsuccessful, every power of the Government will be exerted to utterly crush the Sinn Fein.

High officials informed the United Press that plans have been prepared which will virtually turn Ireland into a vast military prison, crushing the country's economic life, and putting a tag on every Irish citizen.

The danger that the plans may become operative was shown in the attitude of the various conferees to-day.

Premier Craig of Ulster was back in Belfast, with General Smuts on his trail, apparently in an effort to arrange his participation in some way in further negotiations.

Sin Fein delegates here hesitated to comment on Craig's departure, after asserting that Ulster would demand recognition in the settlement.

The Sinn Feiners don't know whether Sir James was talking for the benefit of Ulsterites or whether he had the approval of Premier Lloyd-George of Great Britain. If the latter were the case, it was certain that the Sinn Feiners would withdraw immediately from the conferences.

Meanwhile Desmond Fitzgerald, chief propagandist for the Sinn Feiners, has asserted positively that Ulster will not be admitted to the main conference, but will have to treat with Southern Ireland after peace is arranged with Great Britain.

"The conference thus far," Fitzgerald said, "has been on the basis of Mr. Lloyd-George's presenting Great Britain's case and DeValera's giving the Sinn Fein's views.'

Separators or Insulators

Ordinary separators are a natural product and therefore, are never strictly uniform. They are made of thin sheets of chemically treated wood.

Threaded Rubber Insulators are a manufactured product and therefore, absolutely uniform. They allow uniform circulation of battery solution, give uniform protection to the battery plates and uniform satisfaction to the user.

Threaded Rubber Insulators do not warp, crack, check, carbonize or puncture. They put an end to loss of time, temper, battery rental and money that are inevitable when ordinary separators are used. Threaded Rubber Insulators are found only in the Willard Threaded Rubber Battery. You can recognize it easily by the Thread-Rubber Trade-Mark stamped in red on one side of the battery case.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 20TH, 1921.

CONGRATULATIONS.

The cogratulations of the Examiner as of the majority of other Canadian newspapers and of the putblic generally, are extended to Premier Geo. H. Murray, of Nova Scotia, who is to-day celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of his appointment as premier of the Maritime province. For twenty-five years, since July 20, 1896, Hon. Mr. Murray has been the head of the government of Nova Scotia. His long service in that capacity stands as a record in British parliamentary history and is a tribute to his honesty of purpose, to his ability and to the efficiency of his administration. Few men stay in public life for a quarter of a century; still fewer ever rise to the premiership. But to be premier for that time is a record that has never been equalled. Canadians will wish the Nova Scotia leader many more years of service and distinction. In these days of political upheaval and turmoil the record he has established is almost grotesquely unique.

THE PERMANENT FORCES.

The reduction of ten per cent. in the strength of the permanent forces of Canada as an economic measure will meet with much approval. The Dominion has little need of a standing army, a permanent force large enough to supply instructors for the militia and to be available in the event of internal disturbances being all that is required. Up to the present a force of 4,000 of all ranks has been maintained, and the new order, which is to take effect as soon as possible after July 31st, will reduce the total to 3,600, which should prove ample. Indeed, many Canadians would approve of a reduction of at least fifty per cent. in the permanent militia, believing that such a step is justified from economical as well as other reasons. However, any sign of a tendency in the militia department to reduce its expenditures should be gladly received, for the people have been given no reason to look for economy in that quarter. The reduction in the permanent forces should be accompanied by other indications of a desire to trim down Canada's military expenditures.

THE ALBERTA RESULTS.

Search as they may, the old political parties will have difficulty in finding the smallest grain of comfort in the results of the provincial elections in Alberta. The Conservative opposition has almost completely vanished, and the Stewart Liberal government has been successful in less than one-quarter of the constituencies. The only conclusion that can be safely based upon the success of the Farmer candidates is that the people of Alberta have, for the time being at least, determined to test the effiency of a new political organization and to stand aloof from the old parties. The Stewart government has been a good one; its administration of the affairs of the province was clean and for the most part business-like and progressive. Little was said during the campaign or before in criticism of the government, but a general election finds its shattered and broken and the United Farmers preparing to form a government and assume the responsibilities of office. What has happened in the arena of provincial politics would undoubtedly be duplicated in a Dominion election, and it is evident that the three prairie provinces will be poor hunting grounds for the old line parties in a Federal campaign. Even the cities are not to be counted upon, for independents and labour nominees will be assured of some measure of success, judging by Monday's results.

THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL.

Ie was characteristic of the Duke of Devonshire that his last public address in Canada should have been devoted largely to a tribute to his successor, Lord Byng, whom the retiring Governor-General described as a brilliant soldier, a great leader of men and a man of broad and sympathetic views, "who will discharge the duties of his distinguished office in full accordance with well-established practice and tradition." The appointment of Lord Byng has been warmly aproved by the Canadian people. The ex-service men who fought under him in France are sponsors for him, and all Canada has followed his military career with interest and has admired him as a man who has made good in a big task. He comes to us with a reputation already established and Canadians are ready to receive him with open arms. At the same time they realize that in taking the place of the Duke of Devonshire, the hero of Vimy has accepted a responsibility that is not a light one, for few Governor-Generals have taken so serious a view of their position as has the departing representative of the King. The Duke of Devonshire has grown to know Canada as few Canadians have had the opportunity of knowing their own country; he has not buried himself in Ottawa, but during his term of office has welcomed every opportunity of getting out among the people and interesting himself in their problems. His influence always has been for good, and no occupant of Rideau Hall has taken a keener interest in public affairs. Lord Byng cannot do better than follow the policy of the man he succeeds.

SANTAL CAPSULES MIDY — Easy to Take—Quick to Relieve CATARRH of the BLADDER — Each Capsule bears name MIDY — Beware of counterfeits

THE BEGINNING OF A NEW ERA.

A stupendous change has been made in the industrial life of Britain and it has passed practically unnoticed. A paralysing and most wasteful strike has ended after three months in a settlement that opens up a new chapter in the history of British industry.

This settlement provides for a division of the proceeds between miners and mineowners in the proportion of 83 to 17, after standard wages and other costs of production have been paid. The miner is also favored by a clause in the settlement which protects him from wage cuts being made too suddenly or on too slashing a scale, while low paid workers are specially guaranteed a subsistence wage to be determined by District Boards of Conciliation.

It is claimed that the ideal standard of wages should be fixed with due regard to three essential ingredients. There must be a minimum that wil provide a decent subsistence; an addition to serve as a stimulus to individual effort; and a further bonus acording to the success of the industry in which the employee is engaged. The settlement with the miners, which provides for the largest experiment in profit-sharing ever made in liritish industry, satisfies these three conditions.

The experiment will be watched with the keenest interest, not only by the great army of trade unionists in Britain, but by Labor and Capital all over the world. It is launched with encouraging prospects of ultimate success. The mining industry is guaranteed peace until December, 1922, which in the present state of industry is a long truce from the intermittent warfare of the last three years, and there is every prospect that at the end of this period the mining industry will settle down to a prolonged method of determining wages and profits .

The sudden announcement by the Government of the decontrol of the mines without provision for the wage decreases and unemployment that such control was bound to bring about, is generally admitted to have been a gross blunder by the Government. The withdrawal of the men at the pumps and the insistence on a National Wages Board Board and a "Pool" was also a grave mistake by the men. The Labor leaders who determined to strike in a falling market, and who persisted in keeping their men out when all hope of victory was gone, showed sheer obstinacy and foolish strategy.

A blow has been struck at British industry from which it will take years to recover. Yet the worst feature of the three months' stoppage appears to have been largely overlooked. The loss has been counted, tabulated and estimated by a score of experts in pounds and shillings, but the moral aspect of the case goes largely unheeded. There is no doubt that the unsettled conditions produced by the strike intensified the instability created by the war, and thousands of men have lost the will to work. The stimulus to individual effort has been removed all over the world due largely to the poisonous teachings of Sovietism or Communism, which has been put before the workers as a sort of Arcady, where a man would have to work very little and in return he would live in luxury.

Soviet Russia has afforded the world a shining example of what must follow if these doctrines are to fall on the fallow minds of ignorant men. The man who worked with his hands in Russia was told that he was the sole creator of wealth, and that the brain worker, the organizer o findustry, and the skilled, director, was called a parasite.

Heroic attempts were made to infiltrate industrial Britain with these pernicious doctrines .Trade Unionism has rejected them not only in set terms at the Congress at Brighton, in refusing to affillate with Communism under any guise however alluring its name, but also in a way that will be more far-reaching in its influence, the acceptance by the mines of a definite profit-sharing scheme which makes Capital and Labor joint partners in production.

The plan which the miners and owners have accepted brings back to the former that stimulus to individual exertion which revolutionary teachers had done their best to filch, and at the same time it offers to the owners a practical scheme that is a compromise between methods that brought strife and turmol n the past and the nationalization of industry, which has brought ruin and bankruptcy in the only country in which it has been tried in a large scale. — Montreal Star.

Among the Churches.

There was no service in the Anglican Church on Sunday on account of the absence of the pastor, Rev. M. Noble.

Union services will begin next Sunday with the Baptist and Presbyterian congregations. The first service will be held in the Presbyterian Church and will be in charge of Rev. T. M. Wesley, pastor of the Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Mr. Rogers conducted the services in the Methodist Church for the first time on Sunday last. Mr. Rogers preached two very impressive sermons, which received much favourable comment.

Death of Mr. John McMillan.

On Sunday morning the death occurred of Mr. John McMillan, of the 10th Line of Dummer. Mr. McMillan had not been in the best of health for some time. Nevertheless, his death came as a shock to his friends. He was a lifelong resident of Dummer and a faithful member of the Norwood Presbyterian Church. He is survived by two brothers and three sisters. The funeral will be held from the family residence on Tuesday afternoon. The bereaved relatives have the sympathy of a wide circle of friends.

Another Successful Music Pupil.

In sending the names of Miss Pearce's pupils who successfully passed their examinations, the name of Miss Ruth Harper was omitted. Ruth was successful in passing her primary examination.

Chalmers Unequalled Motor Car Investment

The Chalmers is a motor car investment of unequalled value. Primarily, because it is a fine, rich car at a reasonable price. But also because upkeep charges are low.

The Chalmers needs little shop work and attention. That means that replacement and repair costs are held to a minimum.

This is of vast importance in determining motor car value and has cemented the loyalty of Chalmers owners.

Chalmers Motor Wonderful

It is largely due to the wonderful Chalmers motor that upkeep costs are held down. By heating the fuel with the hot-spot, Chalmers engineers have measurably improved motor performance.

More power is secured from less gasoline. The motor warms up more quickly, and accelerates faster, and runs more smoothly. But little carbon forms, as the combustion is very much better. Thus the Chalmers runs over longer periods without overhauling.

Chalmers Is Beautiful

But it is not its fine performance alone that makes Chalmers owners so enthusiastic. The Chalmers is also a beautiful car, with fine appointments; and a comfortable car.

We would appreciate an opportunity to demonstrate to you in actual performance the details of Chalmers superiority.

SERBIA STILL STAYS UNFRIENDLY TO BULGARIA.

BELGRADE, July 19. — Serbia still maintains an unfriendly attitude toward Bulgaria, despite the efforts of some Bulgarian statesmen to compose the differences between the two countries.

M. Dimitroff, the Bulgarian Minister of the Interior, recently visited Serbia, but this does not appear to have effected the improvement in the relations between the two countries that he hoped for. The press was anything but cordial to his mission.

Serbian newspapers reproach the Bulgarians with trying to avoid the fulfillment of their obligations toward Serbia, and with persistently encouraging the hostile acts by Bulgarian armed bands on the Serbo-Bulgarian frontier.

The agitation fostered by the Macedonian committee on the Albanian frontier aggravates the tension.

Immense fields of hard coal will be opened in Alaska next spring with the completion of the Alaska Anthracite Railway this year.

BARBARA TRIES TO LEARN THE TRUTH.

Chapter 15.

When our ride was over Mrs. Walker said good-bye and I watched her glorious landaulet roll away from the door. Then I mounted the stairs to my apartment engrossed in thought.

"Why are people so casual about money values?" I said fiercely to myself. "It's not right. It isn't fair to the rest of us—diamonds and pearls, do they mean so little to them?" I ejaculated.

I went into my room and stood in front of the dressing table, mechanically removing my hat and veil. I was thinking of Kent. He seemed suddenly like such a boy, eager and ambitious, and so susceptible to the pitfalls of life.

I went over and sat down by the window. People were hurrying by on the other side of the street but I did not seem to see them. They just seemed part of the thoughts that were chasing back and forth through my brain.

"Woman's intuition, what a strange uncanny thing it is," I thought musingly. "I think I am go-going to be better able to hear Kent's secret," I said to myself, standing up and pressing my hands across my eyes.

I made up my mind that I wanted to hear that secret and soon. There was no use in running away from it any longer. To-night when Kent got home—yes, to-night I would make him tell me.

But what cowards we all are! And how easy it is to procrastinate when the issue is an unpleasant one.

Dinner that night was such a cozy, happy time. Kent seemed in fine spirits, and so much his own, dear self again, gay and tantative.

"I landed some good business today, Barbara. Sold some of those old ramshackle buildings just south of Washington Square. I met a mighty interesting fellow. He's go-going to turn those places into studios. We went all over the place, and he told me his idea. Perfectly good stunt, too. How about another cup of coffee, dear?" he asked, interrupting himself, and pushing his empty cup over toward me. As I poured he leaned over and caught my left hand in his, pressing it fondly.

"When he has gotten the work well started I want to take you over to see them. We might take one ourselves if you like it. Murray told me I could take my pick and he'll fix it up fine for me—that is, of course, if you wanted it, Babs?" he added quickly.

"Let's look at them first, dearie," I suggested, trying not to show too plainly my doubts on the subject. "Do you think those terrible old places could ever be made decent enough to live in," I asked a little skeptically.

Kent laughed and assured me I'd have the surprise of my life when they were finished.

"Murray is going to have open fireplaces in every studio, and back porches or balconies opening out on a sort of court or garden effect at the rear. You wait and see, Babs," he admonished, then pushed back his chair from the table and smiled happily.

"Say, Barbara, how about the movies? He jumped up and started to help me remove the dishes from the table. "Come on—we'll get this cleaned up in a jiffy."

I tied a big gingham apron around his waist and we laughed and chatted gayly. In a few minutes every dish was washed and put away.

"Untie this thing, will you?" he entreated, struggling with the strings on the apron. I unfastened it in a second, and as it dropped to the floor he turned and caught me in his arms .

I was happy, so happy! How could I ask questions and spoil the perfect time we were having.

So I pushed all my strong determinations to the wind and went gayly forth to the movies.

WARSAW NEWS HAPPENINGS

WARSAW, June 18.—Mrs. Thos. Miller is spending a few days with her son and his wife in Toronto.

Miss Edith Tucker returned to her duties at Nicholls Hospital on Wednesday.

Miss Gunn, Peterborough, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Albert Cooper.

Miss Lillian Buker, Toronto, is visiting Mrs. Archie Hawthorne.

Miss Clara Rivers, Malone, N.Y., is visiting her aunt, Mrs. James Selkirk.

E. N. MacDonald, M.P.P., was out on road inspection Wednesday and Thursday.

Mesdames McMann and Allingham went to Reaboro on Saturday.

Mrs. Crowe is visiting at the homes of her sons, Messrs. J. A. and T. H. Crowe.

Mrs. David Taylor had to return to the hospital and have her finger amputated.

Pastures Impoverished.

The light rains Thursday and Sunday did much good, though a little east and north in the township pastures are so much burned rain will not do much good. Grasshoppers seem to have eaten the very roots. One farmer, about 14 miles north who has a lot of well-bred dairy cattle, sees nothing to do but dry them and turn them into the woods. Already farmers who have turned cattle out on ranches, are having to bring them home.

Warsaw Has Road Hogs Too.

Some of the young men do a little too much speeding, take a little too much of the road, and neither turn out nor slow up when horses are frightened At the same time, a few people driving horse vehicles, keep straight in the middle of the road, so that a motor has to take to the ditch to pass.

Telephone Wires Down.

The Warsaw telephone line was put completely out of business by the wind on Thursday. On Friday the trouble was repaired, but by evening there could be no connection with central, though those on the line could use it.

The executive of Warsaw Woman's Institute will meet in the rest room on Thursday, July 21st, at 3 p.m.

Yesterday morning Rev. G. Graham took as his subject, "Whom do men say that I am? Whom do ye say that I am?"

Rev. Mr. Vose occupied his own pulpit Sunday morning.

There were no services in the Anglican church.

In the Methodist church last evening Rev. Mr. Weir preached on "The Waters of Meritah."

Attractive Window Display of Gallagher's Remedies

One of the most attractive window displays of patent medicines ever seen here are those of Gallagher's Herbal Remedies, as shown in some of our city drug store windows at the present time. The blue cartons against a background of white hand-lettered show cards with black lettering, have a pleasing appearance, being artistically arranged by the window dressers, and reflect credit on their ability in the line as well as upon the manner in which this firm put up their goods. The Gallagher Co. want their patrons to know that any of their remies may be had at the best city drug stores.

Almost every day someone is calling at the office of the Gallagher Co. and relating what these medicines have done for them in curing Stomach Trouble, Biliousness, Constipation, Gall Stones, Gravel and Nervous Prostration, and they claim that what they have done for others they will do for you. It frequently occurs that one person buys a half dozen bottles of the Blood Purifier and Kidney Remedy after trying one bottle. $5.00 worth of the Remedies are much cheaper than a $100.00 or $150.00 operation, and it is affirmed that they have saved different people in the city this sum. 2d-19-20

CARBON REMOVERS SERVE IN A PINCH.

Liquids Provide Temporary Relief—Permanent Treatment.

As a thorough going means of cleaning out engines not too much should be expected of decarbonizing liquids, but as a temporary means for "taking out the knocks" and permitting an engine to run acceptably until more laborious and permanent treatment can conveniently be applied, the best of the proprietary decarbonizing fluids prove effective.

When an engine is knocking and there is no time to take off the head and do a scraping job before starting upon a long trip, a "dose" of carbon remover will usually clean the engine sufficiently to make it run smoothly for a few hundred miles at least. The piston heads are usually the worst incrusted parts, and carbon remover can be made to reach them and loosen the worst of the deposit.

The slight expenditure of time and labor involved and its trivial cost are elements in favor of carbon remover applications. Experience has shown that the time required for the action of these fluids is fully as long as that stated in the directions; that care should be exercised to prevent the sticking of the pistons before the oil removed from them has been restored by the lubricating system; that usually several cleanings of the spark plugs is required to remove particles of loosened deposits from between their points before regular ignition can take place, and that, in order to obtain good results, the engine must be run, quite fast, immediately after the treatment. As the ingredients generally used in carbon removers are volatile, and but a small amount is put into each cylinder, there is less effect upon engine oil than when kerosene is used as a carbon preventive.

VILLAGES DESERTED FROM COPPER SLUMP

Australian Miners Returning From Strike Find Bottom Out of Market.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., July 20.—Inactivity in the copper mining industry has caused the practical desertion of the populations from the towns of Cobar and Broken Hills.

At one time Cobar boasted a population of several thousand people. Now it is but a collection of bare shacks, with its people gone.

Broken Hills, another mining town that in its heyday had a population of 50,000, is also desolate. Early in 1919, when the town's products were selling at high figures, the miners struck and remained out two years, during which time the bottom fell from the metal markets. When the miners were ready to return to work, the operators found they could work the mines only at a loss.

Owners of the mines told the men of their problem and offered to work the properties, without profit, for the sake of the miners, if the men would take wage reductions of about 20 per cent. The men, although depending upon the Government for food, voted down the proposals. It was charged that radicals led in the movement to defeat the return to work.

MORE FRIENDSHIP IS NEEDED AT PRESENT

'What is needed to-day is more friendship and more milk of human kindness," Rev. Norman H. McGillivray, of Orillia, relieving in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Ottawa, stated in the course of a sermon on "Friendship." He drew attention to the narrow friendship existing today. People were friendly with their immeditae relatives and acquaintances. They, however, did not show any friendliness to those who were most in need of their kindness.

CUSTOMS RED TAPE ENSNARES TOURISTS

U. S. Officials Held up Party of 75

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., July 19.—(Canadian Press).—A large party of tourists anathematized United States red tape yesterday. A car with 75 persons on board left this city for the Toronto boat at Queenston, arriving at the dock just in time to see the boat pull out. The motorman took the car over the Lewiston bridge, but United States customs officials refused to allow the party to go through to the boat at Lewiston. Twenty-one of the passengers were from Pennsylvania points, and were to catch the boat in Toronto for the Thousand Islands at 4 o'clock. They missed their connection, and some of the men in the party who talked to the Customs officials did not say it with flowers.

MONK ILLIODOR BACK TO INSTIGATE REVOLT IN ORTHODOX CHURCH

REAPPEARANCE SIMULTANEOUS WITH REVIVAL OF FERVOR IN CHURCH.

RIGA, LATVIA, July 20.—The monk Illiodor (Heliodorus), former preceptor and afterward antagonist of the notorious Rasputin, is again attracting attention in Russia by announcing his purpose to start a revolution in the Orthodox Russian church. Heliodorus fled from Russia after his break with Rasputin in the early part of the war but returned after the Bolsheviki gained control. He was unfrocked by the church.

His reappearance in public in Russia was almost simultaneous with a revival of ferver in the Orthodox church, which the Bolsheviki now are trying to combat. In an address at the Tsaritsin (of which he was formerly abbot) he recently declared:

"I consecrate myself to the fight for the people's cause and to start a campaign against the pope's (priests) which is to make a revolution within the church."

Every Sunday and on many religious feast days in Russia the churches now are crowded. Communists, themselves, are attending the services and this has brought down on their heads a warning from the government "not to set so bad an example for the peasants". On that subject, the Moscow Pravda says that some of the Communists even have used Soviet official automobiles to take their families to church services, weddings and christenings. The newspaper printed the following warning from the party heads:

"The Soviet power has no intention to compel anyone by forcible means to leave off the services of professional darkness, but the Communists party as a whole has a right and is bound to demand from its responsible members that they not only should not take part in religious ceremonies and services but should try by example and explanation to others to overcome all religious superstition. Every member of the party directly and openly should recognize and strengthen by the example of his own conduct the truth that religion and scientific Communism are absolutely incompatible."

BLOCK ROAD AND SLAY YOUNG MAN

FENCE STRETCHED ACROSS ROAD STOPS MOTORIST, WHO IS HIT OVER HEAD.

OTTAWA, July 19.—Thomas Eugene Farrell, aged 26, son of William Farrell, J. P., and Mrs. Farrell, of Farrellton, Quebec, was brutally murdered Sunday night at Wills Hill, three-quarters of a mile from his home. The murderer or murderers are still at large. The district is about 30 miles from Ottawa.

Coroner T. B. Davies, who was called to the scene yesterday, and who investigated the circumstances of Farrell's death, tells the following story:

'Farrell left home Sunday evening to take his fiancee, Miss M. Wills of Wils Hill, for a drive in his motor car. He arrived at her home shortly before 8 o'clock, and the two drove down the Gatineau Valley as far as Little Cove, where they turned for home. Farrell and Miss Wills reached the latter's home about 10.15 p.m., and he then started for his own home in Farrellton, some distance away. This was the last seen of him until early this morning when his brother, James, a member of the Civil Service in Ottawa started over the road between the Farrell home and that of Miss Wills to make inquiries regarding his brother's absence.

Body Found in Ditch

About one-quarter of a mile from the Wills home he found the body of his brother lying in a pool of blood in a ditch beside the road. He had been hit on the right side of the head, evidently with some heavy instrument, and death must have been practically instantaneous.

Across the road a seven-strand wire fence was stretched, completely blocking it.

Farrel's car was undamaged. He had evidently seen the obstruction across the road and applied his emergency brakes. The lights were also burning. Dr. Davies believes that Farrell, when he saw the obstruction on the road, stopped his car and got out to invesigate. At this momen someone crept up from behind and hit him a terrible blow on the right side of the head.

SINLESS SUNDAY TO SAVE WORLD

TENNESSEAN WOULD STOP SHIPPING OF FOOD, CLOSE RESTAURANTS AND NEWSPAPERS.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Noah Webster Cooper, who styles himself "Chairman of the Southern Methodist Conference Committee for the National Sunday Law," came here the other day from Nashville, Tenn., to launch a campaign for a sinless Sabbath. If Mr. Cooper could have his way not a railroad train or street car would move on Sunday, restaurants would be closed, Sunday papers would be prohibited and all activities calling for labor outside of the churches would be stopped.

As the first step in his campaign Mr. Cooper, who is a middle-aged lawyer, met newspaper reporters yesterday morning at the offices of The Christian Herald in Bible House. With him was the Rev. M. P. Woods of Tennessee, Vice-Chairman of the committee.

Mr. Cooper's opening shot was a declaration that the World War was not started by the Germans, but as a result of the wickedness of the world for half a century before. "Europe was for many years violating the Sunday laws," he said. 'They were running everything day and night and Sunday. I tell you that the result was as God had said: 'He who violates the Sabbath shall be destroyed.'

"I tell you that in twenty-five years we will be destroyed. I am here fighting to save our country. Every time I hear a train whistle or a train thundering across the country on Sunday it sounds worse to me than a German bomb exploding from overhead."

Mr. Cooper said that the committee needed the support of the newspapers. When one of his interviewers suggested that Monday morning newspapers were prepared largely on Sunday, he said that it would be a good idea to eliminate them, too. "I don't care if we have to cut out five papers a week—we can do without them."

When asked what the big cities would do without their Sunday supplies of milk and other necessities, he said that foodstuffs should be no exception and that the farmers should join in the movement by refusing to market their products on Saturday if they were to be shipped on Sunday.

Mr. Cooper is not against all amusements on Sunday(so long as there is no work performed. "We are not trying to keep a man from kissing his wife on Sunday or taking a ride in his Ford for a breath of air," he explained.

WIFE'S RECOVERY CONVINCED READER THAT TANLAC IS THE GRANDEST MEDICINE ON EARTH

'Surely Tanlac is the grandest medicine in the world, for my wife has gained twenty pounds in weight by takin git and is so well and strong she hardly seems like the same person," said Robert Reader ,of 19 North Cote Street, Hamilton, Ont., well-known employee of Cope & Son.

"My wife's health began to fail about four years ago, and at the time she began taking Tanlac she was so weak and run down she could hardly wal kacross the room. She had no appetite at all and would often go for days at a time without any food, only occasionally drinking a cup of tea. She went down in weight from one hundred and fifty to one hundred and thirty-eight, and her nerves became so badly unstrung she scarcely got any sleep. She complained of terrible pains in her head, and it seemed that she was so bad off she would never be well any more.

"But somebody down here at the store told me about Tanlac, so I took her some of the medicine and in just two weeks her appetite had come back so she could eat a pretty good meal. Well, she improved right along and now she seems to be in the best of health, never complains of any of her troubles any more and is so strong and well she is doing all her housework. In fact she says she hasn't an ache or pain of any kind, and we're both glad to say a good word for Tanlac any time we have the chance."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowler's Corners by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

INQUEST FAILED TO DETERMINE THE CAUSE

ties showed that the trucks further west, or the rear trucks of the tender took 14 feet 6 inches from the point of derailment till they left the ties. While the front trucks took 24 feet and then they ran nearly forty feet, hence a line from the first mark of the derailment to the extreme west of the tender would be 206 feet, hence the tender really travelled 200 feet.

When asked about the couplings, he couldn't say anything.

Mr. Carnew asked if there was any evidence of stalling, upon which he answered that it was not in his line.

Mr. Carnew then asked what would happen if they were going backwards at twelve miles per hour and gave her more steam ?

Mr. Hobson said that the engine would capsize to the outside of the curve if it derailed at all.

When asked if he had any theory he answered that it was a most extraordinary case, but he favored the brake-shoe theory.

Mr. Carnew asked if a sudden application of the emergency brake would cause a derailment.

Mr. Hobson replied that it would not.

Mr. Carnew asked why was all the hurry. The engineer had plenty of time and why should he go so fast as to require the emergency?

Mr. Hobson replied that an engine running down such a grade would quickly attain twelve miles an hour without steam, which was the greatest posible speed at which the greatest possible speed at which

He thought that O'Brien had probably seen the tender rocking off and had applied the emergency brakes after the tender had left the rails.

M. Carnew asked the effect of pushing a tender on which the brakes were locked but Mr. Hobson replied that there would be no serious effect.

Track Was Safe.

Mr. Hobson said he searched the track very diligently but couldn't find any cause for the accident. The track was an especially safe one as it had been re-tied last fall and smoothed up again June. There were especially good ties, a good gage and good rails.

Mr. Carnew asked if there were any chance of the rails spreading, but Mr. Hobson replied that the track was in too good a condition and rail buckling occurred in the heat of the day.

Mr. Mills counsel for Grand Trunk asked if his theory then was that of an obstruction on the rails which Mr. Hobson ratified.

W. H. Towner was next called. He stated that his home was in Belleville, where he was general foreman of the Motor Power Department, and in all he has had twenty years' experience and heard of the accident at 7.45 on that morning. He made a thorough examination of the engine and road bed but could find no cause for the derailment. He thought Mr. Hobson's theory of the brake shoe was quite impossible.

When asked for his theory, he said, he had none and that the roadbed was in excellent condition and that the curve was of the best and approved by the Board.

When asked what would happen if an engine, tender first, tried to make the curvce at a speed greater than twelve miles an hour, he replied, that it would depend upon the track.

Mr. R. E. Orr, train despatcher, of Lindsay, was next called. He said that although he had had about 24 years' experience, he knew nothing about this accident, except that No. 1224 was a special train which left Lindsay at 12.20 on the night of the 12th.

He said that there was a low joint left the curve 1-2 inch below the road level.

When asked what would be reresult of this joint on this curve with a light tender, he answered that it would perhaps rock, but this tender carried 6 1-2 tons of coal besides a half a tank of water, hence it wasn't light. He thought the obstruction theory was the only possible one. When it was pointed out that there was nothing over the line between the passing of the two halves of the train he said that the obstructio.. which might have been either a brake shoe, a bolt or a large nut, might have dropped from the first half of the train. He knew of a case in Peterboro a few days ago where a bolt derailed an engine.

The Conductor

Conductor O'Connor next called. He said that if any shoe had fallen it would most certainly have been seen and it wasn't. Water Foreman Fletcher said he had seen a shoe along the track but O'Connor could not find one.

Mr. Belshaw, section foreman, was next called. He stated that he and his three men were over the road every day and that he was over it alone on the twelfth (12th). Everything was in good order then and there were no loose shoes. He said the track had ben repaired in the early part of June.

Mr. Samuel Eggleton was next called. He said he had worked only one day on this section, the eleventh and that his work had taken him over the road twice, and it was in good order.

Albert Crest, who lives one mile from Madoc Junction, was next called. He has been employed on the section eight years and has been over this road every day. He knew of no other accident ever occurring here.

Mr. Bert Sterling G. T. R. track man was next called. He said that he went over the track at 4 p.m. on the eleventh and it was in good condition.

Peter Reid, who lives near the scene, was the next witness. He said he had no railroad experience and the accident had happened inside his farm but he hadn't heard of it until after the west bound train went up. He said he was milking in he barn when the engine hauled up the first half of the train and that he heard it go back. He noticed that te engine was working steam, when it generally went back idle, as the grade was quite steep. He said he heard the steam turned on and commented on the fact at the time.

Wm. Stapley was next called. He said that he was only 300 yards from engine when it went back and that he owned a horse which could do 12 miles an hour, but it couldn't commence to keep up to the engine at the rate at which it was going. He said he had lived there seven years and had never seen any go down grade so fast as that one did.

Mrs. Stapley, his wife, said that she noticed the engine going back very rapidly and noticed that it was going much faster than the engines generally go down tender first. She watched for its return and after milking went to the top of a knoll and saw the wreck.

Russel Stapley said that he learned of accident by phone and went to the scene. He examined everything and could find no cause for the accident. He fired for 22 months in 1911 and 12 and fired for Engineer O'Brien, whom he considered to be a very careful driver.

Michael O'Brien was the last witness, who is a brother of the deceased, who was 35 years of age. David O'Brien had been on the road 15 years, and is survived by his mother, two sisters and four brothers.

Coroner Bissonnette read the regulations of inquests to the jurors after which they went out to the consultation room. They remained out for about three quarters of an hour and brought in the following verdict.

"We, the jurors, find that the deceased came to his death by engine Number 1224, leaving the track and turning over, crushing him underneath. The cause of the accident being unknown.

APSLEY NEWS

APSLEY, July 18. — A meeting of the Municipal Council of Burleigh and Anstruther was held in the Town Hall, Apsley, on Saturday, 16th July, the Reeve and all members being present. After the minutes of the previous meeting had been read and signed, it was moved by Coun. Tucker and Earnshaw that the treasurer, upon receipt of by-law money pay-list for roads, pay Frank McFaden and Sam Wilson the sum of $250.00 each. Carried.

Moved by Coun. Tucker and Reid, that the following accounts be paid:

Wm. Staples, 4½ days' work on the Town Hall	$15.75
Hugh McColl, 4½ days' work on the Town Hall	15.75
A. M. Both, supplies and postage	10.00
Peter Johnston, building culvert	26.00
Duncan Brown, paint and supplies for Town Hall, also stone crusher	26.39
D. Brown, 'phone message	.59
William Jones, grant on road,	27.00
Robert Peters, repairing culvert	3.00
Sam. Wilson, scraper	20.00

The meeting then adjourned.

Had No Demonstration.

Contrary to expectations the local Orange Lodge held no demonstration on the Twelfth beyond the special meeting in the evening, when several members were advanced to higher degrees in the Order.

Good Road Work.

There has been a great improvement made in the Jack's Lake road. Frank McFadden, who had charge of the work, and was limited to an expenditure of $250.00, deserves great credit for the transformation he has effected at such a little cost. Cars can now run in comfort and safety right to the lake shore, where last year they could only go one-third the distance. Teh fishing, too, is exceedingly good, and bait plentiful.

Saved the Berry Crop.

Heavy rains on Thursday and again to-day (Monday) just saved the raspberry crop.

Appearance Improved.

The appearance of the village has been considerably improved by the painting of the Anglican Parsonage and Parish Room. The interior of the Town Hall has also been painted and redecorated.

Committee Should Act.

The committee appointed early in the spring to raise the war memorial on a larger base to accommodate the war trophies have taken no steps to accomplish this so far, and the trophies remain hidden from the public gaze; indeed, their existence is evidently forgotten. With so many visitors in the village, Apsley should make the most of her attractions, and the guns would be something to look at, at any rate.

Passing of an Old Pioneer.

An old pioneer of the North country, Mr. Philip Elmhirst, passed away at the family residence, Clanricarde, on Saturday, 16th July, in his 72nd year. He settled there forty-six years ago, and lived on the homestead continuously since that time. In his prime he was considered the strongest man in the back country. He was a general avourite country. He was a general favourite family he leaves one son Wallace of Carberry and four daughters, Mrs. Allison, Nanaimo, B.C., Mrs. Young, Carberry, Mrs. Kirkpatrick, Victoria, and Mrs. J. Roberts at home; also one brother Arthur of Otonabee, two sisters of Parry Sound and Calgary, and five half-brothers, Frank and William of Otonabee, Jack of Carberry, Alfred in Victoria, and Fred in Alberta. The funeral, which was largely attended, took place on Monday morning, the body being interred in the family graveyard at Clanin the community. Of his immediate ducted the service.

Personals.

Reeve and Mrs. Brown spent the week-end at their cottage, Bide-a-Wee, Long Lake.

Mrs. and Miss Both and Mr. Stanley Windsor visited friends at Clydesdale.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman James and family, of Dunsford, visited Apsley for the week-end.

Mrs. Gardner, wife of the Rev. E. W. Gardner, formerly incumbent of Apsley, with Master Paul and Miss Ruth, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. White.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Tanner returned to Kingston on Saturday.

Mr. E. L. Spence is visiting his brother, Rev. C. A. G. Spence.

At Whitechurch, four miles from Stratford-on-Avon, a workman digging gravel found two feet below the surface a skelton of an Anglo-Saxon warrior, with his spear buried with him.

KENTUCKY GIRL WRITES LETTER

How She Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sunnyside, Ky.—"I suffered for more than two years with my back and nervousness, and was not able to help my mother do the housework. I took treatment from two doctors and they did not do me any good. Mother saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the paper and I took about ten bottles. It has done me a great deal of good. I weigh 138 pounds and am in good health. I will gladly recommend Vegetable Compound to anyone who suffers with the troubles which I had, and you are welcome to publish my testimonial."—VELMER HENDRICK, Route 1, Sunnyside, Ky.

To many American girls life is often a heavy drag in consequence of illness, and every mother should heed the first manifestations, such as cramps, backaches, headaches and nervousness as Mrs. Hendrick did for her daughter, and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. For over forty years this old fashioned root and herb medicine has been relieving women of just such troubles.

DECLINE IN CHEESE PRODUCTION DIRECT RESULT OF DRY WEATHER

DIMINISHED OFFERING AT PETERBORO BOARD SALE TO-DAY—FRACTIONAL DROP IN PRICE—REQUEST GOVERNMENT TO DECENTRALIZE PROPOSED GRADING OF CHEESE.

The Peterboro Cheese Board registered a sharp decline in the production of cheese in this district as a result of the protracted drouth during the latter part of June and the first two weeks of July. Only 853 cheese were boarded as against 1093 at the previous sale two weeks ago, 1130 boxes a month ago, and 1137 boxes at the mid-July sale in 1920.

T. Thompson of Belleville, opened the bidding at 18 3-4 cents and with W. S. Cook of Belleville and G. A. Gillespie worked the price up to 21 cents. At the last sale the price was 21 1-16c, a month ago it was 15 13-16c and a year ago 25 1-4c.

Mr. Thompson secured first choice, taking Warsaw, Warminster Selwyn and North Dummer.

Mr. Gillespie took the balance of the Board at the same price 21c.

The factories showed the following production:

Warminster	75
Selwyn	90
Warsaw	150
Westwood	50
Ormonde	130
Young's Point	95
Lang	45
North Dummer	45

Insist on Babcock Test

A resolution from the Picton Cheese Board requesting the Ontario Government to amend the Dairy Standards Act, passed at the last session, so as to make the Babcock test optional, in cheese factories found no favour with the Peterboro cheese buyers and salesmen. The Act which is to come into effect on January 1st, 1922, prescribes that the Babcock Test shall be applied to all milk received at cheese factories throughout the province from patrons. The Picton Board are urging that an amendment be passed so as to provide for the optional application of the Babcock Test whenever it is deemed necessary or expedient.

Mr. Ed. Hawthorne moved seconded by Mr. Gillespie that no action be taken on this resolution from the Picton Board.

Want Grading in Factories.

The following resolution dissenting from the new Dominion legislation covering the grading of cheese was adopted on Mr. Hawthorne's motion seconded by W. D. Robson:

Moved by Ed. Hawthorne seconded by Mr. Robson that whereas an act has been passed by the Dominion Parliament called 'an act to regulate the grading of Dairy Butter" having in view the centralization of the grading of chese and to become law by proclamaion:

The Peterboro Cheese Board desires to place on record our protest against the Act for the following reasons, viz.—

While believing that the Government should use every means possible to improve and maintain the standard of our dairy products, we most emphatically affirm that the proposed grading and inspection be done on the factory shelves and in the presence of the maker.

That a large percentage of our cheese never reaches Montreal.

That often cheese is branded and shipped direct for export and are not warehoused in Montreal.

That according to our rules and regulations cheese is paid for F. O. B. at the shipping point;

That the Government should be cautious in placing restrictions and making conditions that would impose worry on the cheese makers and managers of factories;

That a copy of this resolution be sent to J. A. Ruddick, Dairy Commissioner, and that we co-operate with other boards in order to defeat the act.

The Board adjourned for two weeks.

GARDEN PARTY IS FACTOR IN GOV'T DEFEAT IN HOUSE

OPPOSITION OUTNUMBERED COALITION, MANY OF WHOSE MEMBERS WERE AT PARTY.

LONDON, July 20.—(Canadian Press).—Prime Minister and Mrs. Lloyd George gave their first garden party at their Downing street residence yesterday, to which the whole House of Commons and the wives of members were invited.

Partly as consequence of this hospitality, the Government suffered defeat in the House of Commons last night on a proposal to exempt co-operative societies from paying the corporation tax, which was carried against the Government 137 to 135. Many of the Government supporters had not returned from the garden party, while the opposition mustered a strong force and raised jubulant cries of "resign" when the figures were announced.

REINFORCEMENTS IN SILESIA NOT NEEDED---BRITAIN

BRITISH NOTE TO FRENCH ASKS SUPREME COUNCIL MEETING SOON,

PARIS, July 20. — (Canadian Press).—The strengthening of the allied military forces in Upper Silesia is not considered necessary by the British Government, according to a note received at the British Embassy for delivery to the French Foreign Office today. This note is in reply to the recent French communication to the British Government in which it was pointed out that allied reinforcements were needed in Upper Silesia immediately. The British reply, excerpts of which appear in this morning's newspaper, is understood to insist upon a meeting of the Supreme Council as soon as possible for the purpose of discussing the entire situation.

Chalmers, North Ops, was struck and damaged. The bolt passed through the kitchen, but no person was hurt. Curtains on windows were set on fire. The roof of Andrew McNabb's barn at Grass Hill was blown off and the barn otherwise damaged. The house of J. Smith, Grass Hill, was struck by lightning, but very little damage done. Crops ready for the binder were laid low and corn was levelled in the fields.

HEAT AND ILLNESS LEAD TO SUICIDE

Farmer McQuay Overcome, and Had Acted Strangely For Week or So.

BELLEVILLE, July 19.—A victim of the recent unprecedented hot spell, the body of Frank McQuay, a farmer residing at Allisonville, was cut down yesterday after he had hanged himself.

Coroner Dr. Whiteman of Picton, who visited the farm and investigated the circumstances, decided an inquest was not necessary, stating that it was obviously a case of suicide super-induced by illness caused by being overcome with the heat.

The dead man, who was 41 years of age, leaves a wife and one son, Rob, a boy of twelve.

Mr. McQuay had been unwell for a week or so. He had been acting at times somewhat strangely, and Mrs. McQuay had been watching him closely, not knowing what to do, as he was still working about as usual.

Voice of the People

CONCERNING PETERBOROUGH.

The Director of Industrial and Technical Education has made a very full and complete report of the City of Peterborough, with charts of industry and employees, also the number of adolescents employed, and unemployed, in so far as it applies to vocational training. This is issued in a blue book which may be obtained from the Education Department, Toronto. In this report it states information was secured from 47 industrial establishments, 5 departmental stores; the 5,420 employees engaged have been classified representing 84 different kinds of work, metal workers, clerical and draughting; also textile workers being in the majority.

The Question Answered.

Is the need for vocational education in Peterborough sufficient to justify the establishment of a Day Vocational School under the Industrial Education Act?

Answer—In the light of the facts revealed in the report, it is clear that the answer to this question must be in the affirmative. Such provision is a real necessity if the educational needs are to be met.

1. Mathematics as applied to the trades and industries.
2. Blue print reading as needed by many trades and industries.
3. Mechanical drawing, machine design and draughting.

In fact eighteen subjects are listed.

Peterborough city has been made the basis of enquiry into the needs for technical education on account of its diversified number of industries, and anyone interested for a more thorough system of educational training in industry and citizenship should read this report, which may be secured free on application.

This report was made by Dr. Miller, Assistant Director of Technical Education, Toronto.

Wisconsin Court Says They Will Be Prosecuted If It Does Not Stop.

MADISON, Wis., July. 20.—Representatives of thirty University of Wisconsin fraternities were called before Judge A. O. Hoppmann, in Superior Court, here and advised that unless carousing among students was stopped guilty parties would be vigorously prosecuted.

The conference came after citizens of the university section had complained that there was a wave of drunkenness among students.

Marie, dear,
I just hate the world, and everything in it, to-day. I could fairly weep barrels of tears, and say all sorts of awful things. But Jack is a dear, I'll have to admit. He's post-lasting over now to take me out for a paddle.

I'll surely know enough this time to take a parcel with me though, for I certainly made a wreck of my complexion that last canoe trip. However, it only took Campana's Italian Balm a couple of days to bring it back to normal. I don't see how anyone exists without Campana's!

Au revoir, ma petite,

EXPEDITION PENETRATES 2,700 MILES OF UNMAPPED DESERT; UNPARELLED

FRENCH MILITARY FORCE BRAVES DEATH IN SAHARA—PATROL SENT OUT IN PURSUIT OF BANDITS NEVER RETURNS FROM SAND SEA—SOLDIERS JOURNEY 27 DAYS WITHOUT WATER.

PARIS, July 5.—(By Mail).—A body of men lost and undoubtedly perished in the great wastes of the Western Sahara Desert, camels traveling almost 400 miles without water over blistering sunscorched plains of sand and the unparalleled feat of traversing over 2,700 miles from Algiers, capital of Algeria, on the Mediterranean, to Dakar, Senegal, in 159 days across an unmapped desert—these are some of the details of a French military expedition into the heart of the Great Sahara of Northwestern Africa.

While Amundsen was starting north, attended by considerable publicity, and weekly bulletins told of the British Royal Geographical Society's preparations to scale Mount Everest, a small contingent of French military men in Africa were starting secretly on an expedition in which failure meant more terrible death than the peril of the frozen north or the heart straining climb up the world's highest mountain.

Details of the French exploration of the Western Sahara—that previously unknown territory lying in the centre of Africa's western hump—have just been given in Paris before the Geographical Society by Captain Augieras, a leading member of the exploration party.

A glance at the ordinary map of Africa shows the region south of the French colonial states of Algeria and Morocco, which is as devoid of life and civilization as the bare unmarked portion of the map indicates. It is the very unexplored centre of the Great Sahara Desert, marked by little more than oceans of sand and burned by the hottest of tropic suns.

Columns Sent From Both Ends of Route

The French Colonial Office required more detailed maps of this part of the Sahara many months ago and opened preparations for an expedition, which, though highly perilous, was not announced to the world until its successful termination. In order to minimize the chances of the expedition's failure it was planned to start two columns of colonial troops, each commanded by French officers, from either end of the route established. A detachment of native troops from Mauritania, the French civil territory touching the Atlantic Coast north of Senekal, was ordered to proceed in a northeasterly direction some 600 miles to El Mzerreb, the watering place of El Hank, a native settlement on the northern edge of the unexplained part of the desert. This expedition was under the command of a Major Lauzanne, a Frenchman, who has spent most of his military life in the colonies.

Mission Lost in Ghastly Sea of Sand.

Another expedition, composed of Algerian troops under the command of Captain Augieras, was ordered to proceed southwestward from Algiers and arrive at El Mzerreb as near as possible on December 25, to make the rendezvous with the Mauritanian column under Major Lauzanne. Three platoons of native troops and a commissary contingent made up the command of Augieras. This officer left Algiers on October 20 and reached the town of Tabelbala, the last French station in the desert. On December 1 the entire military party left this post and crossed a portion of the small Iguidi Desert, to the small oasis well of Boubout, which was planned for the final jumping off place. Here water and provisions were loaded on a large number of camels and the commissariat convoy was sent back to Tabelbala, much after the fashion of the balloonist who gives word to the men on the ground to let go of the ropes. It was make or break for the Augieras command from December 13 onward, when it shoved off into the desert with only the vague hope that it would encounter the Mauritanian contingent at El Mzerreb, as planned.

The distance from Boubout to El Mzerreb was about 250 miles. The trail led over another smaller desert known as El Eglab, and the course taken was southeast, in order to pass the oasis of Chenachen, known to the natives but never before visited by a white man. The Chenachen well, surrounded by a few straggling palms, was reached without incident, and here the expedition refilled its skin water sacks and started southwest into the comparative unknown. On December 21 the mission was lost in the sea of sand, which lent visions to every member of bleaching bones of camels and men after horrible deaths from thirst. A study of stars told the party that there was hope of reaching an oasis reported to the northwest, and it was a patrol bearing off in this direction that encountered a detachment of Moors who actually formed the advance guard to the Mauritanian mission. Bearings were again found, and the two missions met at El Mzerreb, where the Mauritanians under Major Lauzanne had been waiting two days.

The two leaders, after a conference, decided to start from El Mzerreb to the northwest, where an important well, named Abd-el-Malek, had been reported as the central meeting place of roaming bands of desert bandits. This well had never before been visited by white men nor military forces, and it was necessary to break the southward course of the expedition to explore the region. Native guides accompanied the advance guards, who reached Abd-el-Malek on December 28. This little island in a sea of sand proved actually to be the rendezvous of bandits, and the advance guard captured a herd of sixty camels, which it was later discovered had been stolen in the Soudan. The bandits fled into the open desert, with the patrols in pursuit. But the bandits rode the fleeter camels and escaped. In the enthusiasm and excitement of the chase one patrol, composed of several Mauritanians, went a little too far into the desert and was never seen again. These men were figuratively swallowed.

The joint exploration party remained at the well until December 20, when a split was made, allowing the Algerian column to retrace its journey back to Tabelbala and Algiers. The Mauritanian column, now under command of Captain Angieras, started southward, with an immense stretch of desert between it and safety. To traverse this successfully—day after day over, burnsky and an occasional mirage to look at—meant the success of the exploration. The route lay toward the Province of Senegal, the capital of which is St. Louis, on the Atlantic Coast. The terminus of the exploration, however, was Dakar, the French cable station, which lies on a small peninsula more than a hundred miles south of St. Louis. From the well of Abd-el-Maleb to the nearest reported water, at Aguelt, was a distance of nearly five hundred miles, and to Dakar was another six hundred as the crow flies.

Party Facing Death Finds Slimy Water.

A dozen days of travel across the sands brought the party to Aguelt, with waterskins almost empty. The wells here were found to be entirely dry, and the oasis had been deserted even by the hardy desert nomads. The situation was desperate. Calculations told the French officer that he might find wells to the west. The party headed across the Maktier dunes to the west and found wells, but still no water. Eventually, on the seventeenth day of wandering, and now without a drop of water, the mission reached a well which had been reported to them on a small oasis called Aouchiche, and there found a quantity of very bad water. With parched throats and swollen lips Captain Augieras and his followers literally fell into the slimy pools and drank their fill. The old wheeze, "How many days can a camel go without water?" was almost answered, according to members of the expedition.

Possibly two or three more days would have finished the animals, which had traveled steadily for seventeen days, covering nearly four hundred miles without a drop of water. The human members of the expedition likewise narrowly escaped with their lives. If, by some miscalculation, the well at Aouchiche had been missed or had been found dry upon the mission's arrival, it is regarded as doubtful if either men or animals could have covered a much greater distance in search of problematical water holes. It is highly probable that the filthy water of Aouchiche was the providential find that allowed the entire party to survive.

First Time White Man Crossed Great Desert.

By January 19 the expedition had reached Atar, the small desert town in Mauritania where the French Government maintains a wireless station. After a few days' rest here the indomitable Captain Augieras started off with a small detachment of Senegalese riflemen on a further expedition eastward into the little known region between the Mauritanian settlements of Chingueti and Tedjikja. From the sandy plateau of Tagant he descended in to the plain of Brakna, where the Moore breed zebus, the ox-like African beast of burden, and sheep and goats. On March 20 the Captain had reached Senegal at Boghe, on the Senegal River, where he was able to acquire native canoes and make the journey down the stream to Podor. From Podor the regular river steamers carried him to St. Louis, the Senegalese capital, which he reached on April 3, and two days later he was at Dakar.

The perilous trip from Algiers to Dakar was made by Captain Augieras in 159 days, a distance as traveled of a little more than 4,500 kilometers, or about 2,700 miles. This is the first time that a white man has ever attempted to cross the Great Desert or to make the trans-desert trip from Algeria to Senegal. The expedition has not only emphasized the vastness of African desert reaches, but has given the French Government valuable topographical data never before known. One immediate result of the expedition may be to shorten the airplane route between France, Spain, Northern Africa and Senegal, whose main port, Dakar, is already the terminus of one French airline company. Airplanes on this route are now forced to follow a more circuitous coast itinerary. From France they skirt the eastern coast of Spain, then jump across to Morocco and again skirt the African coast south to Senegal. A straight cut across the Great Desert with stops at watering places now explored by Captain Augieras may result in shortening air travel between France and her important West Africa colony from the three days now required to less than two. From Dakar steamers run to South America on the shortest trans-Atlantic route between the two Continents. The voyage from Dakar to Pernambuco is possible in less than four days.

If Captain Augieras' explorations will have made it eventually possible for air voyages between France and Senegal in two days the light baggage traveler may be able to reach South America from France in a minimum of six days, the fastest route yet speculated upon.

COTTAGE CRAFT IN CHARLOTTE COUNTY

TOURISTS ENJOY LIFE IN NEW BRUNSWICK.

ALGONQUIN PARK HOTEL, July 20.—Today has been a day for homespun suits and sweaters. The thermometer has stood at 64 at noon and 52 at half-past two. Nearly every one who indulges in golf has been on the links. Towards evening a breeze has sprung up. A great many people have been visiting the Charlotte County cottage craft today. Aside from the idea of possessing a homespun bag or pair of slippers, visitors are interested in examining the excellent work produced by the women of Charlotte County. With their only outlook that of their farms, these farmers' wives and daughters have woven into their bags and rugs the homely scenes of everyday life with the beautiful colorings of fields, sky and the distant hills.

It is interesting to note that the dyes used for the wools are made in Charlotte County. The wool comes from Charlotte County sheep, the rugs are braided by Charlotte County women, and even men. The homespun is woven on Charlotte County looms this year. There are even blankets woven in St. Andrews. It shows what the proper incentatives are able to accomplish.

RUNS TO COOL FEET, FLUSHER KILLS HIM

HAMILTON, July 20.—The eight-year-old son of Constable George Flemming, 16 Primrose street, was fatally crushed Monday afternoon by the city flusher at the corner of Cannon street and Gage avenue. As the water was gushing out of the flusher, the little fellow ran along to get his feet wet in it. He slipped and fell under the big machine, which passed over him. He was picked up and rushed to the General Hospital, but died soon after being admitted to that institution.

SPURT OF BOSTON BRAVES UNEXPECTED TURN IN THE MAJOR LEAGUES' LAST LAP

NEW YORK, July 19. — A stranger is sniffing around baseball's front door.

Like an outfit that has been doing a Rip Van Winkle since 1914, the Boston Braves are horning into select society.

With the exception of the rather sensational spurt of the Beantown tribe, the major league races are progrssing according to expectations.

Pittsburg, with a lead of two games over the Giants, is maintaining a margin they have found sufficient all season, and it will be enough to give them a berth over the New Yorkers as long as McGraw's men slump when the Buccaneers are slumping .

Last week the Braves won six out of seven games. They are hitting and getting great pitching. The Pirates should have the hardest battle of their eastern invasion against Fred Mitchell's men. Only 14 runs were scored against them in seven games last week. Rather low averages.

The Giants won five out of six games, but the Pirates did not do so good, as they dropped three out of five games.

Cleveland is beginning to feel that the New Yorks are on their heels.

Th Indians had a good week, winning six out of eight games, but the Yanks won five out of six, and kept tagging right along.

It looks as if Miller Huggins might be the jinx of the New Yorkers. After that terrible showing against the White Sox in Chicago, Huggins met with an accident, and has been in the hospital. The Yanks haven't lost a game since he left the club.

It now looks as if ten clubs can start now to rebuild for next season. No team but the Pirates, Giants, and Braves warrant the belief that they have a chance for the National League pennant, and in the American League they all appear to be out of it but Clevland, New York, and Washington.

It now has the appearance of a real three-club race in the National League, but Washington is just clinging on in the American League, and the Indians and Yanks will have it out.

Decrease in the excessive hitting was observed during the week. Perhaps the lively ball has been ordered on the shelf, or maybe the pitchers are getting in shape.

PORT HOPE CLUB OWE AN APOLOGY TO PETE'S PILOT

SANDY LOCKINGTON SAYS ATTACK ON HIM SATURDAY WAS UNWARRANTED.

Port Hope Guide: Notwithstanding the fact that Port Hope was hopelessly out of the running, they fought every inch of the way for victory and we admire them for it. This handing of championships over on silver trays is no good and the local team showed themselves good sports to fight it through to a finish. We do, however, regret the attack upon Manager Solomon. Just about the close of the game some fertile brain figured out that Jake Solomon had stolen a ball belonging to Port Hope, a very serious offence in baseball. When Jake informed them that he was not in possession of any of their property they proceeded to back him up against the grandstand and soon a crowd of one hundred spectators had surrounded him ... looked for a time as if things were going to be real unpleasant for the Peterborough manager. But the bark was worse than the bite and no casualties were recorded. The facts are these. Bob Chalk's catch of a fly in centre field made the third man out and when he returned the ball to the diamond the Port Hope players were on their way to the bench and the ball rolled over directly in front of the Peterborough bench. The Peterborough mascot picked the ball up and handed it to Umpire Wilson. It had never been in Solomon's possession and we doubt if he had seen it at all. Jake is a confirmed kicker at a ball game and his continual crabbing is often tiresome to the spectators. However, he has always proved himself a gentleman both on and off the field, and the unwarranted attack made upon him on Saturday is to be regretted. The Port Hope Club certainly owe him an apology, and if they are good sports they will tender him the same at once.

ANOTHER JOLT FOR BALL CLUB

CENTRE FIELDER PINNETTE HAS BEEN TRANSFERRED OUT OF PETERBORO BY HIS FIRM.

The Peterborough Central League Club received another jolt yesterday when they learned that Armand Pinnette, who has been doing such great fiielding in centre for the Petes, is being moved out of town by his firm, the Nashua Gum and Coated Paper Company. Pinnette has to report to the head office in Nashua, New Hampstead, on Monday, and does not know to what branch of the company he will be sent. Since coming to Peterborough last year with the local branch of the Nashua Company, he has made a host of friends here, who will be sorry to hear of his going, while his services will be greatly missed by the Central League Club.

CZECH RABBI RAPS DRY LAW.

America is "Bondage," He Says, but Won't Give Up Smoking.

BALTIMORE, July 20.—"America is a land of bondage," said Rabbi A. Spitzer of Czechoslovakia, one of the five rabbies visiting this city in the interest of the Agudas Israel movement. "The only thing that prohibition has done is to make the price of liquor prohibitive and the quality horrible."

The rabbi admires America, with the exception of prohibition. The people are a fine, high-minded class, the rabbi believes, and soon will revolt against the efforts of the moralists.

When asked his opinion of the proposed anti-tobacco legislation, Rabbi Spitzer was equally emphatic.

"The American people will refuse to be led by a string any longer," he said.

BANKERS AND LAKEVIEWS ARE NOW ON EQUAL TERMS

WINNERS OF FIRST HALF WALLOP LAKEVIEWS 8 TO 0, AND THE TWO TEAMS ARE TIED FOR LEADERSHIP OF LEAGUE SECTION OF JUVENILE RACE.

The Bankers tied up the race for the second half of the City Juvenile League series last evening, when they swamped the Lakeviews 8 to 0 at Riverside Park. The winners of the first section had a wide margin on the night's play, doing some sparkling fielding and timely hitting where Lefty Turner gave his best performance of the season allowing only two singles and whiffing nine of the losers. Only five of the Lakeviews reached first base and only one got as far as third in safety. There were two out in each case before they succeeded in getting a runner on and on all five occasions Turner disposed of the next hitter so that the losers were never in the hunt.

Shaughnessy pitched better ball for the Lakeviews than the box score shows. He fanned ten of the Bankers and three of the hits registered against him were misjudged flies by the outfield. This sloppy work of the Lakeview gardiners played a big part in the run getting of the winners.

The Lakeviews on the other hand performed in classy style. Jack Turner had three nice catches in left field and McLean had several snappy plays on bunts.

The Bankers got two in the first With two out Geoff. Hardill doubled to centre Lebarr misjudging the drive. Wilgar singled past first sending Hardill in. Jack Hardill lined to centre, Lebarr dropping the ball and Wilgar went to third. Hall hit to Whitlow and J. Hardill was caught between second and third Wilgar scoring, however, before he was retired.

In the third the Bankers added a quartette of counters. Jack Turner first up was safe when Moore momentarily fumbled his tap. He went to second on a passed ball and rode home when Geoff. Hardill doubled over Hunter's head, a case of bad judgment on the part of the right fielder. Wilgar lifted one to centre which went for a single when Lebarr misjudged the fly. Jack Hardill cut a drive past Whitlow for two bases scoring his brother and sending Wilgar to third. On Hall's bunt to Shaughnessy Wilgar was out at the plate. McLean ... out. Fitzgerald to Lebarr, Hardill scoring. Fitzgerald's error on D. Johnston's roller sent Hall in Shaughnessy tossed out C. Turner for the third out.

In the fifth for the Bankers with two gone McLean singled to centre stole second and went on to third on Rogers low throw and registered on a wild pitch.

The last run of the game was an easy one. In the seventh with two out McLean was safe on Fitzgerald's error and stole second. D. Johnston struck out but Rogers dropped the ball and neglected to touch the batter who reached first in while McLean strolled home.

The Lakeviews had few chances to score. Rody walked in the first with two out but Moore rolled to the pitcher. The next Lakeview to get on the runways was Moore who singled with two out in the fourth but who was out at third when he tried to advance on Geoff Hardill's low throw to second. Lebarr got on with two out in the fifth on a wild pitch on his third strike but he was stranded on third when Fitzgerald fanned. Sharp hit safely in the sixth but again there were two out and Rody missed three. With two down in the seventh Whitlow reached first on Jonnston's miss but was caught sound asleep off first.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, July 20.—(Canadian Press.)— The stock market moved within narrow limits at the dull opening of to-day's session. Changes among the leaders were limited to fractions. Mexican Petroleum was the only exception, reacting a point and then rallying moderately. Other Mexican oils were irregular on the publication of figures which indicated that the export tax imposed by the Mexican government in some instances equalled or exceeded the sales price. Steels, Equipments and Rails were firm. Exchange on London reacted slightly from yesterday's rally.

Mexican Petroleum rallied two points from its first reversal, but gave way to further pressure. European and low priced domestic oils were firm. Moderate buying of General Electric, American Car and Baldwin Locomotive strengthened Equipments. Steels were listless within fractional limits. Northern Pacific and Great Northern were the strongest of the rails, New York Central and some of the coalers also improving. American Sugar was the only heavy specialty, Chemicals, Textiles, Tobaccos and Leathers showing firmness. Call money opened at six per cent.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, July 20. — (Canadian Press).—Possibilities of a railroad embargo against grain shipments to Chicago had a bearish influence on the wheat market to-day. It was estimated that two thousand carloads of wheat was on the tracks here. Cooler weather in the spring crop belt tended also to ease prices. Opening quotations, which ranged from a ¼ cent decline to a 3-4 cent advance, with September 128 to 129¼, and December 132 to 132 3-4, were followed by material set-backs all round.

Corn was easier with wheat. After opening 1-8 to 3-4 cents lower, including September at 62 3-8 to 62½, the market rallied a little, but then sagged lower than before.

Oats were relatively firm owing to large export sales at the seaboard. Prices started at 1-8 to 3-8 cents higher, September 42 3-8 to 42½, but later showed slight losses. Lower quotations on hogs acted as a weight on provisions.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, July 20. — Canadian Press).—Trading was quiet again to-day on the Toronto Stock Exchange. C.P.R. opened stronger at 126, weakened to 125 and closed back at 126. General Electric was slightly higher. Trading in war bonds was mostly in broken lots, with prices about the same as yesterday.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, July 20.—(Canadian Press).—Sterling exchange steady; demand, 3.59½; Canadian dollars, 11.12 per cent. discount.

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

TORONTO, July 20.—(Canadian Press).—Receipts 1331; trade steady. Quotations: Heavy beef steers $7 to $7.75; butcher steers, choice, $7 to $7.75; butcher cows, medium, $4.75; calves, $8 to $10; lambs, $10 to $11.50; hogs, selects, $12.00.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, July 20.— (Canadian Press.)—Quiet again prevailed on the local stock exchange during the first half hour this morning. Laurtentide was weaker by half a point at 70 1-2 and also National Breweries at 52 3-4 and Riordan at 71 1-2.

PARK STREET BAPTIST BASEBALL TEAM WINS CHURCH LEAGUE FOR 1921.

Friday evening last the final game of the Peterboro church league was played at the Riverside Park, when Trinity Methodist and the Park St. Baptist, played to decide the winners for 1921.

Each team put up a hard struggle and a splendid type of clean ball was played. Although there were not many spectators, those who were present were keenly interested and delighted at the improvement of the teams since the first of the season.

The enthusiasm was strong at the end of the third innings when the score was tied. As the game advanced Park street increased their score steadily and at the end of the 7th innings were still going strong.

The final score was Park street 7, Trinity 2, leaving Park street the champions for 1921.

"813" APPEARS WITH WEDGWOOD NOWELL.

Mysterious Arsene Lupin Story by Maurice Leblanc Creates Deep Interest.

One of the greatest mystery pictures ever produced on the screen is "813," a combination detective-love love story in which Wedgwood Nowell, one of America's premier character actors appears in the stellar role. This new photo play, a Robertson-Cole super-special release, will be seen at the Capitol Theatre to-morrow night. The film is a screen adaptation of one of the famous Arsne Lupin novels by the French author Maurice Leblanc. It carries with it all of the intrique for which M. Leblanc's writings are famous, and according to critics, embodies the necessary suspense for a great moving picture .

Wedgwood Nowell, who is featured, is well known to the American theatregoers. Previous to his advent into the realm of the silver sheet he apepared on the legitimate stage in support of many male and female stars.

With Mr. Nowell in the picture is an excellent cast. Kathryn Adams, who has appeared in a number of Robertson-Cole releases, plays a prominent part; Wallace Beery, whose work on both the dramatic and the musical comedy stage, made him a broadway favorite, has the role of a "heavy." Others in the cast are Ralph Lewis, J. P. Lockney, William V. Mong, Colin Kenny, H. Milton Ross, Thornton Edwards, Frederick Vroom, Mark Fenton, Laura LaPlant and Vera Steadman.

The story of the picture is long and interesting. Robert Castleback returns from Africa where he has 'cornered' the diamond industry. All the wealth of the world is his, but he is not satisfied. He craves power and has a scheme whereby he intends to place a "long lost" prince on the throne and become the real ruler of Europe.

Arsene Lupin, working for his beloved France, wishes to thwart Castleback's plans. Two other conspirators, working for Germany, are on the same mission. There is a triple murder mystery, Castleback being one of the victims. Just who commits the murders and how the murderer is tracked, is the punch of the picture.

A Mack Sennett comedy and the balance of a splendid short reel programme will give the Capitol patrons a very excellent week end show

INCREASE OF LABORERS' WAGES ON BRIDGE SMALL FRACTION OF TOTAL

MAYOR M'INTYRE EMPHASIZES DISCREPANCY IN COSTS THAT HAVE BEEN RECENTLY MENTIONED IN COUNCIL—REPLIES TO ALD. HAMILTON'S STATEMENT.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—At the last meeting of the Committee of the Whole Council a statement was made by Ald. Hamilton, chairman of the Bridge committee, that I was responsible for the increased cost of the Ashburnham bridge on account of the increased cost of labour.

In the first place, the increased wages paid last year to the labourers and carpenters was caused by the general conditions, and not by any particular condition on the work on the bridge, and was endorsed by the City Council. I favoured the increased wages as one member of the Council, because they were necessary and fair, and do not desire to be relieved of my share of the responsibility for this action, for which the Council was responsible.

What was the extra amount caused by the increase in wages? One would think by Ald. Hamilton's statement that the whole extra cost of the bridge was caused by this item, but the increase in the wages of the labourers and carpenters amounted to $14,555.53. When this item is contrasted with Mr. Townsend's original estimate of $228,600.00 of the cost of the bridge, and the amount of $523,866.58 which has been paid, the amount of the increase in wages of the carpenters and labourers is seen to be an insignificant part of the increased cost and goes only a very small distance in bridging the wide gap between Mr. Townsend's estimate and the amount paid.

A Considerable Item.

The amount of the pay rolls is given as $245,000.00. The difference between that amount and the total of $166,214.59 paid to carpenters and labourers leaves a balance of $78,785.41 for inspectors, overseers, etc., an item that looms large in the expenditures.

Voted Against Cost Plus.

While I do not wish to be relieved of the responsibility for any action I did take or my share of any action that I supported, I wish to point out that I opposed, as strongly as I could and to the last, the letting of the contract for the construction of the bridge on the cost plus a fixed sum basis and opposed the letting of the contract to the Russell-Townsend Co. I felt at the time that it would be a serious mistake to let the contract in that form and opposed it, and for that action I am in no way responsible.

I may add that Ald. Hamilton supported the cost plus system and voted for the resolution awarding the contract for the bridge to the Russell-Townsend Company.

Yours truly,
A. A. McINTYRE,
Mayor.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—I notice in a recent issue of your paper a question by someone signing himself, or herself, "Inquirer," asking if the new party at Ottawa established by Mr. Meighen, now Prime Minister, and called by him, "The National Liberal and Conservative Party," has any associations or clubs named after it. I suppose "Inquirer" means to ask if the new party has really any people who call themselves members of the new party. It surely is a serious question asked by "Inquirer." I have followed the matter he refers to in the press carefully, and I have not seen one association or club or organization named with the name of the new party. Wherever an organization does say that it supports Mr. Meighen it refuses to call itself by his party name and calls itself as it always has done, "Liberal-Conservative." If the new party and new Government ever gets as far as the next general election, what organization is it going to have when all the associations are ashamed of it, and stick to the old name as they sure will continue to do? A nice mix up like this is a pretty bad look out for the future and will result in a smash-up for sure, and then a return to the grand old Conservative party and policy, but when it is too late and the damage has been done. Things cannot be handled this way, Mr. Editor. I know for a fact the old party is as firm as a rock, and that Conservatives have no intention of leaving the grand old party, and why should they? Again, I ask, why should they. Who authorized Mr. Meighen to form a new party, and if there are any who did, why don't they form an association with his new party name and get back of him and let us see what they look like? Such baby-work is hard to understand. There's a Conservative party here, and there will be a Conservative candidate here, whether the new party has any friends that are not ashamed to own it or not. Who is behind the attempted murder of the old party? It looks ilke a deep-laid scheme to me somewhere. Gouin played with Meighen till he got him on the string, and then gave him the "ha, ha." And there is not as much as a rag of a party supporting Meighen in power in any province in the whole Dominion. In Peterborough I do not blame some of the boys as much as some do, because they do not profess that they are capable of handling the situation here. A little spite of some against the party for being turned down in West Peterborough, and a mix up at Ottawa, and there you are. But when it is straightened out at Ottawa it will straighten itself out here, don't you worry.

BRITISH BUSINESS UNDAUNTED DESPITE STRESS AND WORRY.

Americans, Guests of English, Report Problems There Graver Than Here —Good Feeling for U.S.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Apparently indomitable courage on the part of British business men in attacking industrial problems that far overshadow those in this country was the impression brought back from England by Lew Hahn, Secretary of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, who was a member of the party of American and Canadian department store merchants who made a tour of England and Scotland in May and June as guests of the British Drapers Board of Trade.

"Our hosts were perfect hosts," he said, "and did not allow their private troubles to intrude upon their guests, but at the same time a deep substratum of unhappiness, discontent and worriment could be discerned. The British merchants and other business men with whom we came in contact looked worried and tired. They seemed to want nothing more than to get away from their business and forget it all, but, true to British tradition, they stick nobly to their tasks and are fighting it through.

"Conditions in England in an industrial sense are much worse than here. The upheaval in manufacturing circles there has been great. British manufacturers are up against tremendous problems. As I see it, the era of cheap labor in Britain has passed. It will be necessary for the English producers of merchandise to scrap many of their old machines, which seem extremely aged and out of date to Americans.

"Until the war, cheap labor in England made modern machinery unnecessary.

"The price situation in England seemed to be more unsettled than in America. When we were there the coal strike was still in progress and there seemed to be a spirit among other industries that the settlement of the coal strike would form a basis for revisions in all other trades. Manufacturers were loath to quote prices to the merchants in our party and many of them frankly said that they expected a new price basis before long. Altogether there seemed little opportunity for American retailers to buy any large quantities of merchandise in England.

"Probably the most impressive feature of our entire trip was the sincere, friendly attitude of the English people toward America. In the business and social world the British are looking with more friendliness than ever before upon this country. Sincere, deep affection between the two peoples seems to be growing stronger."

Tour of Detroit Board of Commerce Will Have Good Results.

DETROIT, July 20.—Five hundred and forty members of the Detroit Board of Commerce have just concluded a tour of the Great Lakes on board the s.s. "Horonic," the flagship of the Northern Navigation Company's fleet, calling at various Canadian lake ports.

The reception accorded to the Detroit business men by the Canadian authorities is the subject of most favorable comment here. President J. A. Russell, of the Board of Commerce, states that the good feeling developed between Canadian and United States business men as a result of the tour will be lasting and valuable. Representatives of many American cities, he said, could well afford to go to Owen Sound and other Canadian points to learn the art of entertaining. The Detroit men reciprocated the good-will shown them by Canadians, and he felt certain that suct a trip would have the most beneficial effects on Canada's trade relations with the United States.

TWO HILLS ARE SENT TO TRIAL

dead and three returned to pasture.

In his evidence, William Davis said he had often had his fences tampered with by the Hills. The fence separating them was of wood bound with wire and he found, he said, that the last Sunday before he saw the cattle dead, the wire had been taken away and the rails loose.

Mr. Davis told Hr. Gordon he had never lost cattle before. Dr. Kennedy, who examined the cattle, believed they died of black quarter said witness. Later he sent tests to Toronto and Ottawa and found there was the presence of strychnine. Whatever killed one cow killed them all, witness maintained, and he believed they all died on the same day.

Mrs. Mae Little, housekeeper for the Hills, was an important witness against them. She testified on June 3 she saw William Davis' cattle behind the house on the hill. It was on a Friday. William Hill was with them. She swore she saw Will take up some salt and a little parcel and she concluded something was up. Later she said she accused Will of poisoning the cattle and he went to get the rifle to shoot her, but Russell stopped him. Mrs. Little testified to several quarrels between the brothers over the alleged poisoning.

Mrs. Litle swore there had been strychnine in Robert Hill's house some time back but none lately. Robert Hill used to keep it. It was a bottle three or four inches high, she said and about as thick as her thumb.

Mrs. Little said she thought she remembered Will saying after he got out of the penitentiary "that he would get back at Bill Davis."

Witness testified she had heard Will say he had laid down the fences. After he came home he said he let the cattle out.

Joslyn Rogers, Professor of Chemistry at Toronto Universtiy, and an analysist of the Ottawa government, said he had made an analysis of a bottle and some salt. When he got the salt there was 100 grains, about 3 1-2 ounces, and in the bottle 63 grains of strychnine. In the salt 8 grains of strychniue were found.

On June 22, Chief of Police Newhall was first notified of this case by Mr. Davis. On Friday night, June 24th, or early Saturday morning, June 25, he went out to the Hills farm. Robert, William and Russell were arrested at the homestead, Davis at the other place one or two hundred acres away. On Saturday afternoon, after court was over, P. C. Bromley went with the Chief to search the stable on the barn lot where Davis lived. While Chief Newhall was upstairs in the granary, P. C. Bromley found the, vial of strychnine concealed in a hole in a cedar beam of the barn. Later, in searching Davis Hill's house, in a smock pocket was found a bag of salt, about a teacup and a half full. This, with the strychnine, was sent to Toronto. The stomachs of two of the cattle have since been sent, and a report is now being waited. This is the last important evidence the Crown is awaiting to complete its case.

HIGHER YIELD LIKELY THAN PAST TWO YEARS

With Favorable Weather West Should Report Crop Above Average.

WINNIPEG, July 20.—What the crop yield will be in the three Western Provinces depends on the weather in the next two weeks. With favorable weather the returns from the three Provinces should be above the average. If conditions are not right, it might go lower. All in all, however, prospects are for a higher yield than in 1920 or 1919.

One might call it a patchy crop Districts all over the West report the best outlook in years. This is true of the country north of Edmonton, of parts of Saskatchewan, and of a good many districts in Manitoba. Southern Manitoba needs more rain, but the bulk of the central and north country is good. Cool weather and rain will help in many localities. There were scattered showers throughout Manitoba today, and the weather is a good deal cooler tonight. Saskatoon reports the best crop in years.

The Free Press crop report to be issued tomorrow will show that the outlook is not so good as two weeks ago, but that the average is still good. Rust has done no serious damage yet.

INTRENCHED NEGROES GIVE BATTLE TO POSSE

Four of Them Killed and One White Man Wounded in Louisiana Conflict.

MONROE, La., July 20.—Four negroes were killed and one white man was injured in a battle at Rayville, near Monroe, last night when a Sheriff's posse, seeking to arrest two negro women, met resistance from armed negro men.

Trouble started at a plantation in the vicinity of Rayville Friday, when a number of small boys using a swimming hole got into an altercation with the negresses, who complained at the youngsters' lack of clothing, and were alleged to have beaten and choked several of them. Parents obtained warrants for the arrest of the women. Deputy Sheriffs sent to serve them were forced to return and secure aid.

The blacks were alleged to have intrenched themselves, and to have stood off the attacking party with rifle fire for some time. Monroe Ferguson, a member of the posse, was hit in the thigh, but the posse marksmen killed Cleo Collins, Chas. Kelly, Scott Sheffield and William Gibbs.

BRITAIN PLANS TO GRADUALLY ABSORB EX-GERMAN COLONY

Investigating Board Favors Steps Toward Admission to South African Union as Fifth Provincial Member.

LONDON, July 20.—The commission appointed to study the future government of the mandated former German Southwest Africa recommends a gradual absorption into the South African Union, according to The London Times' corresuondent at Cape Town.

This proposal is that at first an administrator, assisted by a nominated advisory council, should be appointed, and eventually this form of government should be succeeded without any intermediate stage by the form of government now prevailing in the four Provinces of the Union—that is, the population should have full representation in the Provincial Council and in Parliament. When the stage is reached the mandated area will be administered as a fifth Province of the Union, with a similar system of government, subject to the conditions of the mandate.

The commission considers that an intermediate stage would tend to foster the aspiration entertained by a considerable section within the territory to develop into a state entirely independent of the Union. This aspiration appears to be based on a misconception of the Germans as to their position. They contend that the mandatory is placed in the position of guardian only until such time as they are able to stand alone. This contention the commission examines and rejects as clearly erroneous. The commission considers that the final form of government outlined above should not be instituted until the population includes at least 10,000 white male British subjects, but as soon as possible thereafter.

After pointing out the impossibility of permitting persons who owe no allegiance to the Union to participate in shaping political affairs of the territory to be administered as an integral part of the Union, the commission recommends special legislation which will place the least practical difficulty in the way of late enemy subjects who have made the country their home and wish to participate in its political government. It advises the enactment of a statute whereby every adult German domiciled in Southwest Africa shall be declared a British subject unless he or she sign a declaration of unwillingness to become one.

General Byron dissents from his colleagues on this point, holding that British citizenship should be granted only upon application by domiciled Germans.

SAYS NO POOR IN BELGIUM TO-DAY

GEN. H. T. HUGHES TALKS ON PREPARATORY WORK OVERSEAS FOR CANADIAN MEMORIALS.

OTTAWA, July 20.— According to Brig.-General H. T. Hughes, C. M.G., D.S.O., Canadian Engineers, recently arrived here after continuous overseas service since 1914, the Belgians are recovering from the war and growing prosperous at an astonishing rate. They have shown a marvellous power of organizing," said General Hughes, "and the reconstructnon work already accomplished would astonish those who have not seen the country since the war times. It may truthfully be said that there are no poor people in Belgium to-day."

General Hughes, who recently has been in connection with road construction and the preparation of sites for permanent memorials, which Canada will erect on the scenes of her greatest victories, was camp engineer at Valcartier in 1914, being one of the first officers to report there for duty. He is at present chief engineer to the Canadian Battle Exploits committee, which is responsible for erecting memorials at the following sites: Villers-Cagnicourt, Bourlon Wood, Courcelette (100 yards from the much remembered sugar factory), and Hospital Wood, St. Quesnel, in France; and St. Julien, Passchendale, and Sanctuary Wood, Hill 62, in Belgium, which have all been secured in perpetuity for Canada.

Much Work Done Already.

Much of the preparatory work has been completed, shell holes filled in and dugouts blown so that the foundation work may be commenced as soon as the designs of the memorials have been decided on. About 15,000 young trees have been purchased which are now in the Canadain nurseries at Poperinghe, Hooge, and Courcelette, awaiting transplanting. It has been found that while the sugar maple will not grow on Belgian soil other varieties flourish in all their native glory, and adds to the beauty of those sacred places where Canada's sons lie in Flanders' fields.

Indicative of the activities of General Hughes and his staff is the construction of a new road from Hell Corner, Ypres, through Sanctuary Wood to Hill 62, and shorter stretches at Vimy and Passchendaele, which now contains some 500 inhabitants and presents a flourishingappearance despite the fact that the church is still as it was when last seen by the Canadians.

Under Cultivation.

Most of the battlefield of Ypres is now under cultivation; the Chateau of Hooge has been rebuilt by the Baron de Vinck, and in Ypres itself some 500 good stone or brick houses have been erected. The Cloth Hall has been completely torn down and is being rebuilt, the old material being used. the plans following the lines of the historic masterpiece that was so ruthlessly destroyed.

During excavation operations many hitherto unsuspected German dugouts were discovered, often in such a condition that work had to be suspended for a considerable length of time. These were most numerous at Vimy, Hill 62, and Bourlon Wood. Some of remarkable size were unearthed when making a foundation for a cemetery wall at Hooge.

The Canadian graves are now in the care of the Imperial authorties and are well looked after, and permanent headstones are being placed with all possible speed.

General Hughes, who is proceeding to Victoria, B.C., on leave, expects to return to France in October, when his headquarters will be moved from Poperinghe to Lille. Should the final selection of the memorials be made this year, it is hoped that they will be erected in time for dedication on November 11, 1922, the anniversary of Armistice Day and of the entry of the Canadians into Mons.

20,000,000 STARVE IN RUSSIAN DROUGHT

BERLIN, July 20. — Twenty million persons are on the verge of starvation in drought-stricken sections of Russia, subsisting mainly on moss, grass and the bark of trees, according to the Vossische Zeitung, which quotes information from "reliable Russian sources."

Refugees are reported to be pouring into Moscow and Petrograd by thousands and to be fleeing hopelessly in every direction.

The parched earth, it is asserted, is opening up great crevices, and the wells and rivers are drying up. The foliage is asserted to have withered on the trees and a number of the villages are reported on fire.

All cattle in the stricken districts have been slaughtered to provide food, but it is believed impossible to avert a catastrophe unless food is received from outside sources.

RIGA, July 20. — A plague of locusts is adding to the famine in Russia, according to a despatch received here from Moscow. A swarm of the insects has greatly damaged the crops in the Kuban and Black Sea Governments, where special staffs have been organized and part of the army mobilized to destroy the pests.

In Turkestan heavy rains have destroyed the irrigation works, interrupting rail communication. The government has appealed to Moscow for aid.

NEITH AGAIN IS TRYING TO CROSS OCEAN TO EUROPE

13-TON YACHT HAS SET OUT FROM HALIFAX, UNDAUNTED BY LAST YEAR'S FAILURE.

HALIFAX, July 20.—(By Canadian Press).—Fog shrouding the head lands, the roar of the Atlantic on the ledges of Sambro, two thousand miles of ocean ahead, and the Neith, thirteen ton yacht, a white dot on the blue of Halifax Harbor, was away for England. On July 13 a fair breeze chopping up the approach to the ocean with whose powers she is now wrestling, the little cutter sailed out of Halifax for the River Crouch with Sydney C. Houghton O. B. E. R. N. V. R. commander and owner, Howard M. Bell and Clifford Willard, New York; Dwight DeWolf, Halifax; and last but certainly not least, Mortimer Jordan, Barbadian cook. Twenty-four days these sanguine five expect to be on the ocean, but many a wind struck veteran of the Nova Scotia coast shakes his head and says with ominous meaning 'Mebbe so.". At any rate Commander Houghton is commodore of the Crouch Yacht Club and he intends to enter his boat in the cruiser yacht races there this summer.

The course the Neith is taking will lead her in a north easterly direction towards Newfoundland, sighting Cape Race; thence to the South coast of Ireland, to the Scilly Island, up the English channel, through the straits of Dover, across the mouth of the Thames estuary and to the River Crouch. Unless it is absolutely necessary the Neith will make no port until she arrives at her destination.

The Neith was designed and built by Hereshof, Rhode Island, in 1907 as a fast cruiser rigged yacht. She is 39 feet long, has a beam of 10 feet seven inches and draws seven feet eight inches with her keel. Under ordinary cruising rig her sail area is eighteen hundred square feet, The cruising and racing equipment includes two square sails, large and small, intended to take the place of a spinnaker in running before the wind. She is fitted with hollow spars.

On the yacht's deck is a dory fitted with water tight bulkheads at each end. It has a centre board, keel and sail. Provision to last four teen days are kept in this boat. The body of the dory is fitted with a strong canvass cover so arranged that it can be spread and secured with all hands inside.

The Neith carries about two tons of provisions, sufficient for two months. This includes one hundred and fifty gallons of water, one half gallon to be allowed per man per day.

This is not the Neith's first attempt to cross the Atlantic. On August 31 last year Commander Houghton sailed from New York for England. Nineteen days out, however, he found that he had made only about 1100 miles of easting with fall storms approaching and his business calling him home. He accordingly made for Halifax arriving here September 28 last and laying the Neith up for the winter. He learned much on that first trip, he says, and has put his knowledge to good use. For one thing, he stepped an additional mast, abandoned the cutter rig and changed to the yawl.

SHELL SHOCK RECURS IN THUNDERSTORM.

Nephew of Late Jake L. Hamon Found Speechless in Weehawken.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Lieutenant George Hamon, of Ardmore, Okla., nephew of the late Jake L. Hamon, Republican leader, who was killed by a woman in Oklahoma, is in the North Hudson Hospital, suffering from aphasia and unable to tell how he came to be found wandering about near the West Shore Railroad ferry house, Weehawken, on Saturday night. The police were able to establish his identity from letters in his possession, and last night wired his aunt at Ardmore.

Lieutenant Hamon, who was shell shocked overseas, had been in a base hospital at Paris. Physicians at the hospital said that they believed his mental faculties had been affected by the thunderstorm of Friday afternoon. He was picked up at the ferry Saturday night by Policeman Hesser.

When questioned at the station house Hamon was unable to tell his name or give any account of himself. One of the letters found in his pockets was addressed to J. Hamon, Ardmore, Okla., who is believed to be his father. In the letter Hamon says that physicians told him that any loud noises might bring about a recurrence of his ailment.

The police found a tag of the American Hospital at Neuilly, France, pinned to his undershirt, and a card marked "Medical Department, U. S. A. G. H., No. 988,602."

KING ALPHONSE LOSES 3,000,000 FRANC SUIT

MADRID, July 20.—King Alphonso of Spain, has lost his case in the claim for a fortune of 3,000,000 francs willed to him in 1911 by Albert Sapene, who died in an insane asylum near Toulouse. Mme. Sacaze sister of the millionaire, contested the right of the King of Spain to accept a bequest made by a man of unsound mind. After a fight in the courts for ten years, during which King Alphonso has been represented by Marquis de Bova, Comptroller of the Royal Household, the Toulouse Court of Appeals reversed all previous decisions and decreed that the fortune should go to relatives of Sapene. Counted in dollars, the fortune has dwindled by virtue of the litigation from $600,000 to $250,000.

WRITER ON MARRIAGE IS SUED FOR DIVORCE

Ontario Farmer Named By Two Witnesses in Suit.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y., July 20. —An action for divorce was begun Saturday before Supreme Court Justice Joseph Morschauser by Mrs. Aimee Morris against Dr. Robert T. Morris, of New York. A young woman, not named, is cited as corespondent and the offences charged are alleged to have been committed in Canada and near Stamford, Conn.

Chester Stiles, of the law firm of Macklin, Brown, Purdy & Van Wyck, appeared for Mrs. Morris, who was reported as too ill to appear. She is said to be living in a small town in Connecticut. Dr. Morris was represented in court by John W. Rueff, a New York attorney.

Two witnesses testified, William Yates, a Canadian farmer and guide, living in the Algoina district of Ontario, and Peter Veloniyzy, who said he had been employed by the Morrises as a gardener on the Morris country place near Stamford. Justice Morschauser directed that another hearing be held here, instructing Mr. Rueff to produce the defendant in open court on that day.

Yates testified that in July, 1920, Dr. Morris engaged him as guide for a trip up through the White River district, starting from Basswood Lake, Loferly, Ont. There were three persons in the party, the guide said, including himself, the defendant and a young woman companion.

"The defendant did not introduce his woman companion to me," Yates said, "but called her his secretary. They were alone a considerable part of the time while we were on the trip."

The guide then told of various incidents on the trip, which lasted seven days. He identified a picture as that of the young woman.

Dr. Robert T. Morris, of 616 Madison Avenue, confirmed the report that his wife was suing for a divorce. He refused to go into details, referring his questioner to John W. Rueff, his attorney.

"It is one of those things that cannot be discussed, even though there are two sides to it," Dr. Morris said. "There is nothing that I desire to say for publication."

Dr. Morris was born in 1857 and was married on June 5, 1898. He is a professor of surgery at the New York Post Graduate Medical School and Hospital. Dr. Morris is the author of several widely read books on medical and philosophical subjects, among them "Doctors vs. Men" and "Microbes and Men." In the last named book Dr. Morris gives this view of marriage:

"There is no particular reason for believing that marriage is a static social problem and that it is to enure for a million years or more as a fixed custom. Marriage is simply the best method which has been devised up to the present time for ensuring the State the best development of children. Marriage will occur less frequently as cultural limitations are approached in any one nation.

FORT NORMAN IS UNUSUAL.

Big Boom Camp Without Any of the Usual Vices.

MONTREAL, July 19. — Fred Kenny, a pioneer settler of the Peace River country, who is here to-day, thinks Fort Norman will set a record for rapid growth even for western towns. It is also setting a record in respectability. The Royal Canadian Mounted Police have kept out the hundreds of undesirables who uould otherwise have crowded into Fort Norman, and it has been practically impossible to smuggle any spirits in there. The place presents the unusual spectacle of a big boom camp running without any of the usual "joints."

WHAT TO DO AND NOT TO DURING THUNDERSTORMS

Here are some instructions as to what to do and what not to do in a thunderstorm. They are issued by the state fire marshal of Louisiana and quoted with approval by Safety Engineering (New York).

If you find yourself indoors during a thunderstorm, don't go near the stove; keep away from the chimney, and avoid using the telephone; also, don't touch a screen door.

Out of doors during a thunderstorm the safest place is in the woods. Lighting may strike a tree, but it is not likely to be the one under which you have taken shelter. On the other hand the most foolish thing you can do is to stand beneath an isolated tree. An open shed, especially if it is some distance from larger buildings, is nearly if not quite as dangerous.

Never go near a wire fence during a thunderstorm.

Nine-tenths of the annual mortality from lightning occurs in the rural districts, including under this head towns and villages of 2,600 inhabitants or less.

SMOKE FROM DEER BAY BUSH FIRES

BURLEIGH FALLS HOTEL REPORTED DENSE SMOKE OVER LOVE SICK LAKERESORT.

Bush fires in the northern part of Peterboro county, presumably in the district around Deer Bay, cast a thick veil of smoke before the sun day, sending its slightly acrid smell, as of late September, through all the city's streets.

The Examiner searched for information across Smith township, to Bridgenorth, where, it was stated, the smoke was so dense on Chemong Lake that it obscured the Ennismore shore. Traversing Ennismore, by telephone, brought no more definite information. The farmers in that section said that the smoke was like a cloud in their neighborhood, and that it cut off their vision. Darcy's hotel at Burleigh Falls reported the smoke to be very dense, but they were not sure of the exact location of the fire, but they believed it to be in the vicinity of Deer Bay.

The effect of the heavy cloud of smoke passing before the sun was to cast an amber light over the city and to leave a redolence of autumn with its characteristic haze and frequently of fires with their fumes of swamps and woods

LEGAL COMMITTEE WILL ASK FATHER PHELAN TO SUGGEST DISPOSAL OF IT.

Council's Legal and Reception committee met last night. The challenge of the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition Board to a tug-of-war, a feature of the programme on Civic Holiday at the Exhibition grounds did not go a-begging. The Committee on behalf of the Council snatched up the glove thrown down by the directors, and Ald. Turner moved seconded by the Mayor that the challenge be accepted and the Council go into training at once for this premier event.

A. H. Webb, W. J. Byers, and G. W. Spring were heard and asked for assistance in entertaining the several hundred delegates expected to attend the High Court I. O. F. that meets here on Aug. 11 to the extent of supplying automobiles to drive the delegates on a sight seeing tour in and about the city.

They were asked to draft a programme and ascertain how many cars would be needed and let the Committee know. A statement brought in to the Committee by the City Clerk showed that after meeting all expenses there was a surplus of $42.63 from the farewell banquet to Rev. Father Phelan. It was decided to communicate with Father Phelan and ask him to offer some suggestion for the use of this surplus. The entire cost of the banquet was borne by the citizens who attended it.

RESIDENTS COMPLAIN OF BETHUNE ST. NUISANCE

It is stated that frequent complaints have been made by residents residing in the block bounded by Bethune, Stewart, Hunter and Brock streets, regarding the existence of a nuisance in rear of several unimproved dwellings facing Bethune street. The conditoin complained of is said to be caused by unsanitary outdoor open closets, which poison the atmosphere in this neighborhood. Recently the offensiveness has become unbearable, so that residents have been compelled to close their windows at night and take other precautions. This matter has been referred to the Sanitary Inspector, who claims he cannot act without an order from the M.O.H., and this has not been forthcoming.

FRENCH TROOPS ARE READY FOR SILESIA MARCH

FRANCO-BRITISH ENTENTE APPROACHES CRISIS OVER SILESIA AND DISAGREEMENT ON EVERY POINT DEVELOPS.

FRENCH PRESS BITTER AGAINST LLOYD GEORGE

PARIS, July 21. — (Canadian Press).—France, it was declared in official circles this morning, will send reinforcements to Upper Silesia whether Great Britain joins or not in the reinforcement movement suggested by France.

The French move will be made, it was declared, to ensure the safety of the ten thousand French soldiers on the ground there. France, it is declared, recognizes that danger threatens from the side of the Poles as well as from the German side, and makes it doubly necessary in the French view to reinforce the Allied troops.

RELATIONS STRAINED.

French official circles received a distinct shok from the British reply

French official circles received a reinforcements be sent to Upper Silesia and in some quarters to-day, Anglo-French relations are described as critical as a result. Editorial comment suggesed that the British Premier acted entirely too hastily in refusing to agree with the French view that additional troops were necessary in Upper Silesia.

BY WEBB MILLER.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

PARIS, July 21.— French troops were ready to march into Silesia to-day.

The Franco-British Entente appeared to be approacring a crisis over the Silesian situation. There was strong disagreement on virtually every point.

The situation was: Britain requested that the Supreme Council meet July 27 to fix the Polish-German boundary in Upper Silesia on the basis of the plebiscite, thus ending the dispute over it. France, it was semi-officially stated, refused to agree to the proposed meeting, but said one could be held early in August after the Plebiscite committee's agents have reported on the boundaries. Meanwhile France insists reinforcements should be sent into Silesia.

There is belief here that Britain will refuse to send more troops, and that in that case France probably will act independently.

The French press to-day was bitter at the British attitude. Premier Lloyd George was attacked, being accused of wilfulness, blindness and a desire to dominate continental policies.

EXAMINATION OF BURNS CONTINUES

STATE ENDEAVORS TO CLEAR UP DETAILS CLOUDED BY DEFENCE.

CHICAGO, July 21. — (Canadian Press).—Cross-examination of Bill Burns, former White Sox pitcher, and admitted accomplice of the seven former White Sox players and four alleged gamblers on trial, charged with conspiring to throw the 1919 world series to Cincinnati, was resumed to-day by attorneys for the defence. Indications were that Burns would be on the stand throughout the morning. The State may put him back on the stand for re-direct examination to clear up details in which the defence has tried to make it appear that Burns has contradicted himself.

VEGETABLE PRODIGIES IN HOMEWOOD GARDEN

Homewood Avenue lays claim not only to being one of the best residential streets in the city, but also to certain fertility in backyard gardens, which is annually chronicled by John Riddell.

This year Mr. Riddell has a cornucopia of mammoth vegetables, including the following: Yellow bantam corn, 8 feet 11 inches and 9 feet tall; Irish Cobbler potatoes dug yesterday, 9¼ inches in circumference measured one way and 8 inches another; a pumpkin leaf 25 inches across; squash leaf, 23 inches broad and bloom of 11 inches; and rhubarb stalks 27 inches.

These are not all grown in Mr. Riddell's garden, to be correct. Some of them have been produced by his neighbour, Mr. Barcely, 556 Homewood Avenue.

MULOCK TAKES OVER ONTARIO GOVERNORSHIP

SWORN IN AS ADMINISTRATOR IM THREE MONTHS' ABSENCE, THROUGH ILLNESS, OF LIEUT-ENANT-GOVERNOR CLARKE.

MEREDITH EXPECTED TO ACT IN THIS CAPACITY

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

TORONTO, July 21.— Sir Wm. Mulock, K.C., M.G.P.C., was sworn in the Legislature to act as administrator for the government of the Provinceof Ontario during the three months' leave of absence granted to Lionel Clarke, the Governor, whose ill health enforced a holiday. The oath was administered to Sir William by George Kezar, Assistant Clerk of the Executive Council of Canada, in the prsence of Hon. E. C. Drury, Prime Minister, Hon. W. E. Raney, Attorney-General, Hon. Peter Smith, Provincial Treasurer, Hon. H. C. Nixon, Provincial Secretary, Col. Alex. Frazer and Horace Wallis, Deputy Prime Minister.

Sir William's duties will be confined entirely to official business and will consist chiefly of signing the documents of the Executive Council and the various government departments. He netiher takes up residence at Government House, nor assumes any of the social obligations which fall upon the Lieut.-Governor. It had at first been expected that Sir William Meredith, being the senior Chief Justice, would act as administrator, but he was prevented from doing so by absence from the city, and the duty devolved upon Sir William Mullock, who has acted in this capacity upon numerous occasions during the summer vacation of the Lieutenant Governors from the time of Mortimer Clark.

BANDITS HOLD UP BANK; SHOOT MAN; STEAL $10,000

WINDSOR, July 21.—(Canadian Press.)—Six bank robbers, armed, looted the Merchants' Bank at Petite Cote of cash which police estimate will reach between $10,000 and $12,000 yesterday, and shot a depositor, Vital Benoit, owner of the Wellington Hotel, Petite Cote, in the leg when he attempted to disobey their orders by leaving the bank. Their get-away was made in a green Cadillac motor car bearing Ontario license 168-731. The car, the property of Henry Drouillard, 245 Windemere road, was stolen from Walkerville Tuesday night. Police of the Border Cities, were trailing at a late hour this afternoon, but the robbers escaped the net.

RAIL WORKERS ALL MAY TAKE CUT IN WAGES

70,000 HAVE NOW ACCEPTED SLASH, EQUIVALENT ON AN AVERAGE TO 12 PER CENT., AND OTHERS EXPECTED TO FOLLOW SUIT.

LITTLE RELIANCE PUT ON CONTRARY REPORTS

MONTREAL, July 21.—(Special despatch to the Examiner).—Seventy thousand Canadian railway employees have accepted the reduction in wages, equivalent in the average to twelve per cent, which has been announced by the railways. Maintenance of way men, numbering close to 40,000 employees, have signed their agreement. While no official acceptance has yet been voiced by the running trades it is a practical certainty that they will meet the views of the other major units of railway employees.

Agreemenuts issued to-day are purely tentative and provide for further negotiations as respects both wages and labor. Reports from outside and local sources relative to the refusal of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway employees to accpt a reduction in wages are not considered seriously as the trades involved are of an non-technical character and any action which they may take will not involve the continuity of service.

FOUR DIE IN FIRE IN BOARDING HOUSE

CHILDREN CLASPED IN WOMEN'S ARMS.

CLEVELAND, O., July 21. Canadian Press.) Two women and two children were burned and suffocated to death in a boarding house fire shortly before noon to-day.

The women were Mrs. Eliza Moseman, aged 70, and her daughter, Miss Tillie Moseman, 37, proprietors of the boarding house.

The children were Helen Stankovitch, 3, and Felix Stankovitch, said to have been left at the boarding house recently by their father.

All four were found dead in bed. The children were in the arms of the women.

CENTRAL ONTARIO OIL FIELD NEWS

LETTER ON THE SUBJECT OF OIL WITHIN SHORT DISTANCE OF PETERBORO.

Does the following letter convince you that the Central Ontario Oil Fields, Ltd., has not overstated the prospects for oil?:

Dear Sirs,—Perhaps you would like to know something more convincing about the oil fields which are right on our own doorstep from one who has been there and seen the testing of them.

Just a little over a week ago I made it my business to investigate the truth of all this talk, and found it was all true.

First I got the gentleman who is said to have discovered the oil, and we walked over the entire field, using the test by which he discovered the position of the bed or lake of oil.

It worked exactly as he told me it would before we started. As I was curious, I watched him very closely.

He took me to a well which is only thirty-eight feet deep. The pump was put over it for the purpose of drawing water but instead it brought up oil.

Now this was tested by myself just to prove that the oil had not been put there before. After pumping about a pail of water, I found oil mixed in good quantity, so seeing is believing, and I am convinced that there is oil, and why buy stock in oil fields said to be in Mexico or elsewhere when you have it at your own door. I believe you are making no mistake in trying to develop our own resources.

Yours truly.

This is one very great advantage that it is not too far away to investigate; we court it, and are glad to show intending investors.

W. R. Cowain, Secretary.

REDS WILL GET NO INVITATION TO WASHINGTON

MUST BRING ABOUT RADICAL CHANGE IN METHODS BEFORE THEY CAN EVEN HOPE TO BE ASKED TO CONFERENCE.

HAD EXPBESSED WISH TO TALK DISARMING

(By A. L. Bradford)
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Russia will have to bring about a radical change in her methods before she could even hope to be welcomed at the Washington disarmament conference, it was said authoritatively to-day. The present Soviet regime is at present the only one which could be called to the conference, officials admitted but they pointed out they had banned any dealings with that regime, until Americans held prisoners had been the released and the regime consented to live up to its promises.

PAPER SAYS JAPAN TO PARTICIPATE IN DISCUSSION.

TOKIO, July 21. — (Canadian Press).—The Japanese Cabinet, the Nichi Nichi Shibun says to-day, has decided to participate in the proposed Washington conference with the general programme of the note discussing questions offering sovereign rights of the participants, and also not to discuss the Shantung and Yap questions which, it is held, were discussed by the Paris Peace Conference.

BOBCAYGEON LOCK OPEN TO NAVIGATION

The Bobcaygeon Canal, which has been closed since 1st October last for the construction of a new lock, was re-opened for navigation at noon on Wednesday, when three boats were passed through.

The new dam is complete, except for a short stretch of platform. The dry dock is partly completed, and will be finished this summer. The upper entrance piers to the lock have been entirely constructed, but the lower piers and also other piers for a new swing bridge have yet to be built.

The lock is the standard size of those on the lower sections of the canal, 33 feet wide by 175 feet between gates, and with a minimum depth of 9 feet 4 inches of water on the sill.

KEEN

Ed. L. Keen, European General Manager for the United Press, is a veteran of that organization's foreign staff. His service as a foreign correspondent dates back to 1898 when he covered the Phillippines uprising following the Spanish-American war for the Scripps-McRae syndicate.

In 1900 Keen went to China with the Allied troops sent to suppress the Boxer uprising, and was with them until the capture of Pekin. For nine years thereafter he served as manager of the United Press Bureau in Washington. After a year as news manager in New York, Keen was transferred to London in 1911 as European general manager, where h has remained since.

Keen's part in covering the World War of 1914-1918 is a part of the history of that war. He was directing genius of the large United Press staff at the various fronts and at the Pace Conference at Vrsailles in 1919.

During his service as a United Press staff correspondent he has been in nearly every country in the world. There is probably no living newspaperman with a wider acquaintance among the public men of the greater Powers of the world than Keen.

MASONS ELECT NEW OFFICERS

SIR G. M. BROWN PAST GRAND REGISTRAR — ADDRESS TO RETIRING GRAND MASTER ELOQUENT TRIBUTE.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

OTTAWA, July 21.—When Grand Lodge A. F. and A. M. resumed to-day, Sir George McLaren Brown, son of Adam Brown, of Hamilton, and Past Master of the Canada Lodge in England, was made Past Grand Registrar in recognition of his war and Masonic work.

The address on the work of the retiring Grand Master, Most Worshipful Brother F. W. Harcourt, of Toronto, was a fine tribute to that eminent craftsman.

The nominations resulted in two acclamations. E. T. Malone, K.C., Toronto, was re-elected Grand Treasurer, and W. M. Logan, of Hamilton, Grand Secretary, in a field of four. A. J. Young, of Toronto, contested the Deputy Grand Mastership, and Toronto men were on the list of candidates for the Board of General Purposes. The next place of meeting will be either Hamilton or the Twin Cities, Port Arthur and Fort William.

SWISS COMPANY IN GERMAN SYNDICATE

Following the receipt of information regarding the personnel of the foreign company from whom the Utilities Commission bought the pumps for the filtration plant, the Trades Council last night decided to pass on their intelligence to Mr. R. Hicks as a correction of the Commission's impression that English capital was the dominant influence in this Swiss company. According to the statement read to the delegates, Escher Wyss & Co. was founded in 1805, and for a century was one of the best known concerns of Swiss origin. Early in this century they formed a syndicate with powerful German companies, including the Krupps of Essen. This syndicate ended in 1906, when Escher Wyss & Co. joined with the Felten-Guilleaume Labmeyer Works S. A. at Frankfort, which last had taken up almost all of the capital stock of Escher Wyss & Co., which amounted at the time to five million francs. The board of directors, according to the last official documents received, includes Dr. Ing. H. C. H. Zoelly, president; J. Muller-Staub, vice-president; D. Gauchat, C. Von der Herberg, Th. Rach, A. Morell-Vischer, H. Von Schulthess-Bodmer, and others.

LLOYD GEORGE AND LEADER OF SINN FEIN FAIL TO FIND ANY BASIS FOR FORMAL CONFERENCE

OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT FOLLOWS CONFERENCE AT WHICH BRITISH PROPOSALS, INCLUDING HOME RULE SYSTEM SIMILAR TO SOUTH AFRICA'S, WERE UNDERSTOOD TO HAVE BEEN PRESENTED—VALERA GOES TO DUBLIN TO CONFER WITH COLLEAGUES

(By Charles McCann, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, July 21. — "The basis for a formal conference has not been found," declared the official Government communique issued to-day after "President" DeValera and Premier Lloyd-George had conferred on the Irish question.

The two were closeted for an hour.

DeValera will go to Dublin to-morrow morning, it was stated, to confer with his colleagues. He will communicate with Lloyd-George later.

The communique was issued from the Sinn Fein headquarters.

Another communique was issued from the Premier's residence in Downing Street. It differed slightly in wording, indicating that no serious difficulty had arisen. It read:

"The basis for further conferences has not yet been found."

The Sinn Fein will insist that it outranks Ulster, according to a statement by Art. O'Brien after DeValera had left Premier Lloyd-George.

O'Brien, president of the Irish Self-Determination League, said DeValera will be ready at any time to meet Sir James Craig, but that the meeting must take place in Dublin.

The statement was in line with DeValera's assertion that he represents all Ireland in the peace negotiations, and that Ulster must treat with Southern Ireland when peace has been arranged.

"We hardly expected that these conversations would result in a basis for a formal conference," O'Brien told the United Press. "but we are most anxious for peace. We will continue to hold the threads to prevent a breach."

LONDON, July 21 (Canadian Press). — When Eamonn DeValera returns to Dublin after to-day's conference with Prime Minister Lloyd-George, the prevailing opinion is that he will carry a bulky document in which Ireland will be offered Dominion Home Rule within the British Empire, similar to the Government of South Africa.

While failure has marked all the efforts to penetrate the official secrecy, Home Rule is the most favoured prediction of those best qualified to see beyond the veil that has obscured the details of the negotiations since Mr. DeValera came to London.

It is understood that the proposals, which are said to have been supplemented in many respects by suggestions from Premier J. C. Smuts, of South Africa, afford a considerable measure of fiscal freedom to Ireland, but avoid extending rights of taxation against Great Britain which the latter might not be able to exercise in return against Ireland.

DE VALERA RECEIVES OVATION.

De Valera arrived at Number 10 Downing street, the official residence of Mr. Llyod George, at 11.30 this morning. A large crowd of Sinn Fein sympathizers was on hand to cheer their leader. While a large number recited the rosary, others waved Sinn Fein flags and sang Irish songs. It was expected that Mr. Lloyd George would, at this conference with the Republican leader, present the Government's proposals for a settlement of the Irish question. These proposals, it was unofficially stated, are of such a nature as to permit no alternative offer. The United Kingdom was watching the outcome of to-day's conference with tense interest, as it considered the crucial point of the negotiations has been reahed.

WAS THIS THE PROPOSAL ?

At midnight Premier Lloyd George rushed to the King's palace, where he submitted to King George a document which was to be given to De Valera this morning. The Premier reached the palace just as His Majesty was retiring, but was given an audience.

CONFERENCE LASTS AN HOUR.

BY CHARLES McCANN.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, July 21.—President De Valera arrived at Premier Lloyd George's residence at 11.30 this morning to receive Great Britain's proposals for an Irish peace.

It was reported that the British offer, approved by the cabinet and the King, was reduced to writing as a formal document.

De Valera's visit to Lloyd George was in accordance with previous arrangements. It was pointed out that the submission of the British proposal did not necessarily indicate a settlement. The conference, however, caused a great deal of satisfaction because there appeared to have been presented some fundamental proposal on which future discussions will centre.

De Valera left Downing street after remaining there an hour and five minutes. He was smiling and looked well pleased.

'No, I will not return here again to-day," he said to interviewers. 'An official statement will be issued later."

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, July 21.—(Canadian Press).—The Stock Market made only a casual desponse at the opening of to-day's trading to easier credit conditions. The lower discount rates announced yesterday by the Federal Reserve Banks and to-day's reduction of the Bank of England rate seemed to impel little short covering. Mexican Petroleum lost 1¼ points at the outset, and heaviness was shown by other Oils as well as Independent Steels and Food issues. Firmness marked the trading in Reading, U. S. Rubber and American Tobacco. Foreign exchange was more unsettled with British demand bills at $3.57½.

Trading lapsed into extreme dullness during the morning. In the first hour sales fell considerably below a hundred thousand shares. Foreign oils sustained further losses, Mexican and Pan-American Petroleums, General Asphalt and Royal Dutch declining one to two points. Call money reflected lower discount rates at an opening quotation of 5 1-2 per cent. as against the recent six per cent. rate.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, July 21.—(Canadian Press.)—Sterling exchange easy, Demand 3.57 7-8; Canadian Dollars 11 3-16 per cent. discount.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, July 21.— (Canadian Press.)—Prediction of continued liberal receipts had a bearish influence on the wheat market to-day. Initial quotations which varied from unchanged figures to 1-4c. lower, with September 125 3-4 to 1.26 and December 129 to 129 1-2, were followed by a slight rally, but then a moderate set-back all around.

Liberal shipments of Corn from here gave firmness to Corn. After opening 5-8 off to 1-2c. advance, including September at 61 5-8 to 61 3-4, the market scored gains all around.

Oats hardened with Corn, starting 1-8 off to a shade up, September 41 1-4, and then making a slight general advance.

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

TORONTO, July 21. —(Canadian Press.)—Receipts 82, trade slow. Quotations: Heavy beef steers, $7 to $7.75; butcher steers, choice, $7 to $7.75; butcher cows, medium, $3.25 to $4.75; calves, $8 to $10; lambs, $11 to $12; hogs, selects, $12 to $12.75.

BANK OF ENGLAND RATE DOWN.

LONDON, July 21. — (Canadian Press).—The Bank of England today reduced its rate of discount from 6 per cent. to 5½ per cent.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, July 21.— (Canadian Press.)—Interest in the Toronto exchange this morning centred on Brizilian, following yesterday's meeting, in which the announcement was made that there would be no dividend declared on common. There was a rush to sell this morning and nearly a thousand shares, the majority of which was in 25 share lots, were sold, the price weakening from 25 at the opening to 23 1-2 and closed at this low. Victory Bonds were stronger, particularly 33's which, in the face of an active demand, moved up to as high as 97.85. The 34's were also active, moving to as high as 94.40.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, July 21. — (Canadian Press.)—Considerable weakness developed during this morning's session of the local stock exchange. Abitibi closed 1-4 of a point down at 25, while Brazilian weakened one and a half points to 23 3-4. Brompton was also weaker by 1-4 of a point at 20, and Laurentide by an eighth at 69 7-8. National Breweries sagged 1-8 to 72, and Riordan closed a point lower at 72.

ANGRY AT TROLLEY
HE SMASHES CAR DOOR

Boston Man, When Third Passes, Makes an Attack, Only to Lacerate Arms and go to Hospital.

BOSTON, July 20.—Hot weather, a hot temper and poor transit service are responsible for the condition of James Stone, aged 47, of 567 Tremont Street, who is at the City Hospital suffering from weakness due to loss of blood.

Stone stood on Tremont street waiting for a car. One approached. Stone signalled for the car to stop. The motorman failed to heed the signal. Another car arrived. The second motorman refused to stop when Stone raised his hand.

The third car stopped, but before Stone could step on the car, it started on its way.

Stone was mad. He took two lusty swings at the car door. Glass crashed and Stone bled freely from long, deep gashes in his arms. A policeman applied a temporary tourniquet but Stone didn't reach the destination for which he started. He was taken to a hospital instead.

Spain is to have one of the finest dry-docks in Europe, capable of admitting vessels up to 30,000 tons.

LONDON DAILY EXPRESS QUOTES GOVERNMENT OFFICIAL AS SAYING NUMEROUS GRAVES CONTAIN NO REMAINS.

LONDON, July 21. — (Canadian Press.)—The Daily Express makes a sensational statement respecting Canadain bodies on the battlefields of France and Belgium. According to this paper, one of the startling allegations made by a responsible Canadain Government official working on the War Graves Commission in re-interring the dead, is that "many graves in the Great War cemeteries of Flanders and France marked with the names of fallen soldiers are in fact empty of remains."

The Canadian officer declared to the Daily Express representative that "there is a cemetery at Hooge which had a whole line of empty graves, although each is marked with a cross and relatives and friends of the fallen have actually been in the cemetery when the graves have been opened and nothing found. Their distress has been beyond imagination."

MONSTER STILL IS FOUND BY POLICE

CHATHAM, Ont., July 21 (Canadian Press).—A monster still equipment was seized on St. Anne's Island in Lake St. Clair, early yesterday by Chief Peters of the County Police, assisted by Lieut. W. Peters and a detail of patrolmen.

Large quantities of grain and mash, together with large boilers, tubing, etc., were found, but none of the finished article could be located.

A large number of jugs, Imperial gallon measures, etc., were found hidden in hollow tree trunks and underneath bushes.

Chief Peters expressed the opinion that the still was operated by a syndicate of bootleggers, and he believes that he can trace their operations to other stills which were captured about six weeks ago.

LIQUOR SMUGGLED INTO THE U.S. ON GIGANTIC SCALE

DULL, GREY SHIPS LAND BOOZE ON CONNECTICUT COAST.

FAIRFIELD, Conn., July 21.—Mysterious ships, their hulls painted a dull grey, have been seen manoeuvring off the Connecticut coast, it was reported here today.

Under cover of darkness the vessels discharge cargo after cargo of cases of bottled goods and have succeeded in making this section the centre of a gigantic booze traffic with operations extending throughout the east, according to these reports. The vessels which are of low cutter design, not more than 45 feet in length in traveling at high speed, were reported to operate on moonless lights with the aid of a few lanterns.

Scores of mysterious figures clad in shining oilskins, paddling row boats, unload cargoes from the vessels and pass it along to the waiting automobile trucks.

The transfers are said to be so speedily accomplished without mishap that scarcely ten minutes elapses from the time the operatipns begin until men, ships, rowboats and trucks disappear like magic.

HARVARD OVERSEERS UPHOLD PROF. CHAFEE

Graduate Attorneys Asked His Disciplining for Writing Alleged Radical Book.

BOSTON, July 20. — Professor Zachariah Chaffee, Jr., of the Harvard Law School, will not be disciplined for writing "Freedom of the Press," published recently.

The President and Fellows of the Board of Overseers have dismissed a petition, filed by Austen G. Fox of New York City and other prominent attorneys, all Harvard graduates, urging disciplinary measures. The petitioners asserted the author in the bok had made false statements concerning the conviction of "Jack" Abrams and other Russians for conspiracy to obstruct war activities.

In the petition several prominent Harvard men are called parlor Bolsheviki, among them being Roscoe Pound, Felix Frankfurter, Francis B. Sayre (ex-President Wilson's son-in-law) and Edward B. Adams, librarian of the Law School.

It is expected that the refusal to take action against Professor Chaffee will cause a split between one faction of Harvard graduates, who maintain that radicalism is rampant in the Harvard Law School and another whose members contradict this contention.

Among the many leading jurists who rallied to the support of Professor Chaffee and his book was Judge G. W. Anderson of the United States District Court. Judge Anderson condemned the action of the Brookline Public Library trustees for barring "Freedom of the Press" and termed their action 'censorship.'

Following the vindication of Professor Chaffee, a tempest is brewing in the town of Brookline, where the trustees of the Public Library have barred Professor Chaffee's book. Residents are reported to have begun an action to recall the trustees.

TO PROSECUTE RE INCOME TAX

GOVERNMENT TO TAKE ACTION AGAINST DELINQUENTS IN MAKING RETURNS IN NEAR FUTURE.

OTTAWA, July 21. — (Canadian Press.)—Many persons who waited to make returns to local collectors of Dominion taxes on incomes earned in 1920 are to be prosecuted in the near future, it is stated here. Last year quite a number of persons were prosecuted for making false returns. Their punishment tended to discourage untrue statements of income this spring. A considerable number of persons, however, failed to make any report whatever. Negligence is also revealed in a number of instances by employers reports and by local collectors' knowledge of local conditions. Delinquents are liable to a fine of $25 a day.

How You Can Make Hairs Q ickly Disappear

Helps to Beauty.

Even a stubborn growth of hair will quickly vanish from the face, nack or arms after a single treatment with delatone. To remove hair from arms, neck or face, make a stiff paste with a little powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface and after about two minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be left free from hair or blemish. To avoid disapointment, be quite certain you get real delatone and mix fresh.

SENATORS SEEK LIGHT ON DEBTS

INFORMATION WANTED ON PARLEYS TO REFUND LOANS

WASHINGTON, July 21. — A powerful combination of Senators has set out to tear away the veil of secrecy from negotiations for refunding the $10,000,000,000 debt Europe owes the United States.

They want the people to know from day to day as the negotiations go on just what terms are being agreed to for the repayment of each loan.

This reversal of the usual precedent of close secrecy in such matters may in the end have complete co-operation of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon. Mellon has promised to tell the Senate Finance Committee, at his appearance before it, whether he will oppose or aid in the movement.

No matter what Mellon's decision, Senators LaFollette, Reed, Borah, Walsh, Massachusetts, and others, will fight to include in the pending authorizing refunding negotiations, one or both of the following provisions:

1.—That as soon as an agreement has been made with one nation for repayment of that nation's debt and interest, a complete official copy of the agreement shall be sent the Senate for its information.

2.—That each agreement, as it is made, shall be submitted to the Senate for ratification before becoming effective.

To the second provision Mellon objects with all the emphasis he commands, on the ground that it would delay probably for years, perhaps forever, some of the settlements. As to the first, he has informed the committee he fears that if France or Great Britain, or Serbia, for instance, should in advance of negotiations learn the exact terms of the settlement with some other nation, it would embarrass the Treasury in dealing with each case on its merits.

REDS WANT TO JOIN TALK ON DISARMAMENT

FEAR OF JAPANESE AGGRESSION IN EAST MOVES SOVIET TO DESIRE INVITATION TO WASHINGTON CONFERENCE.

(Special Despatch to the Examiner)

LONDON, July 21. — Soviet Russia is hopeful that she will be invited to attend the Washington disarament conference, it was learned here to-day. Preparations already have been made for dispatching Foreign Minister Tchitcherin and Under Secretary Sinovieff to Washington, if the invitation is forthcoming.

Russia's hopes are based on two matters:

The first is the belief that President Harding's proposal really is an attempt at securing world peace. Russian leaders contend that this is the Russian goal also. The other is that the Far East problem is one of the most urgent confronting Russia. Soviet officials hope that such a conference will frustrate Japanese encroachments in the Far East Republic, which they declare has created a state of war between Russia and Japan.

Russians here, both sympathetic to and opopsed to the Soviet Regime, declared that the exclusion of their home country from the Washington conference would have a bad effect.

Leaving the Russian question unsettled, they said, leaves the world confronted with the possibility of warlike outbreaks. Also it will permit Russia to maintain her present standing army of 2 million men, the greatest armed force in Europe today.

BURGLAR'S FIFTH SUIT FAILS.

"O. K. Bill's" Latest Habeas Corpus Plea Turned Down.

OSSINGTON, N. Y., July 20. — Word was received at Sing Sing today that John Meyers, an accomplished burglar, known as 'O.K. Bill' has just lost the sixth habeas corpus suit he instituted to try to obtain his freedom. Meyers will be obliged to stay with Warden Lewis E. Lawes several months longer. Justice Arthur S. Tompkins of Nyack, dismissed the writ.

Eevery now and then Meyers, who has been in prison for fourteen consecutive years, tries to convince some judge that he is entitled to go free. He claims that it was unlawful for the state to add five years to his term for attempted jail-breakbreaking at Clinton prison and then to put on several months more for violation of the prison rules, which he describes as double punishment for the same offense.

PREMIER MEIGHEN HAS BEEN DELAYED

BY GRATTAN O'LEARY.
(Staff Correspondent of Canadian Press.)

LONDON, July 21. — Premier Meighen of Canada, who had made all preparations for sailing from Liverpool to-morrow, has been obliged at the last minute to cancel his passage. There was every reason to believe that arrangements for a conference on disarmament and the Pacific problems would by this time have been completed. It is understood, however, that communications are still passing on the subject and the Canadian Prime Minister decided that with matters in this state he would not be justified in leaving.

BELFAST, July 20.— (Canadian Press.)—The Sinn Fein chief liason officer yesterday intervened on behalf of eleven men who are under sentence of death in Belfast jail for high treason in connection with an encounter with the police in County Cavan. The death sentences are subject to ratification by General Sir Neville Macready, military commander in Ireland, which has not yet been received.

Four more men were sentenced to death yesterday for the murder of a policeman at Ballybay, Monaghan. Confirmation of their sentences also is being awaited. The total of 15 men under sentence of death has never been equalled in Belfast.

IS IMPROVING.

Thomas McFarland Had Both Feet Severely Burned.

Thomas McFarland, who resides with Arthur Reid on the bank of the river at the foot of Lansdowne street, is showing some improvement from the serious burns received early Tuesday morning when the summer kitchen of Mr. Reid was damaged by fire to the extent of several hundred dollars, but his condition was still critical today. The fire occurred between 12 and 1 a.m. Tuesday and Mr. McFarland rushed into the fire with his feet uncovered. Both feet were severely burned and lacerated, and he will be confined to his bed for some time.

PROBABILITIES.

SOME CANADIAN RAIL WORKERS TAKE WAGE CUT

MAINTENANCE AND SHOP LABORERS UNIONS ACCEPT REDUCTION OF 71-2 AND 10 CENTS AN HOUR.

MONTREAL, July 21. — (Canadian Press.)—A tenative agreement as to a reduction in wages of maintenance railway employees and railway shop laborers was reached yesterday as a result of negotiations which have been proceeding in a friendly way for the past ten days between officials of the leading railways and officials of the unions concerned.

It is understood that forty thousand employes on the Canadian Pacific Railway, Grand Trunk Railway and Canadian National Railway and smaller railroads will be affected by this cut in wages, which will run from 7 1-2 cents per hour for helpers to signal and interlocking maintainers, to ten cents per hour for carpenters, painters, plumbers, masons and similar workers. The new scale will be effective as from July 16. An agreement was signed to-day on behalf of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Railway Empioyees and Railway Shop Laborers by its president, William Dorey, and by Grant Hall, Vice-President of the C. P. Railway and chairman of the Operating committee of the Railway Association of Canada.

ONE KILLED, ONE HURT IN AIRPLANE'S CRASH

DETROIT, July 19.— One man was killed and another suffered hurts which may cause his death in the crashing to earth of an aeroplane near Schaefer road and Pere Marquette Railway yesterday afternoon.

Ira Shubel, 30 years old, an auto worker, died as he was being taken through the doors at Harper Hospital. His skull was fractured.

Lieut. Cyril Reginald Hoare, 31 years old, late of the Canadian Air Service, was internally injured. He was acting as pilot.

Persons who examined the craft and others who saw it flying in the vicinity of the scene of the crash believed engine trouble to be responsible.

At 3.50 o'clock yesterday afternoon Chief Burgenson, of Springwells Police Department, was notified that an aeroplane had just fallen half a mile from his headquarters. He found the ship had dropped to the ground in a nose dive. Shubel was buried under the motor, and Hoare was nearby, a part of the fuselage lying upon him.

The United States had 533,880 acres in sugar can this year, about 12 per cent. more than ten years ago.

What You Get in McClary's Electric Range

TWO exclusive features vital to the efficiency, durability and comfort of an electric range—

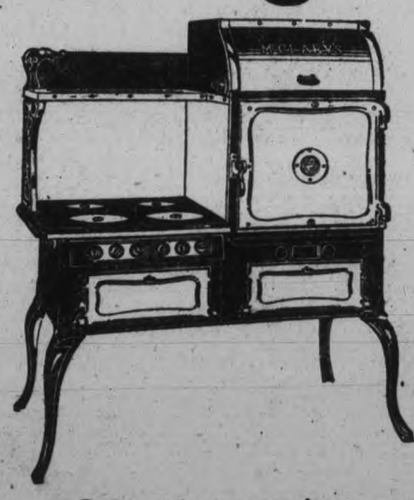
1. McClary's Protected Element,
2. McClary's Seamless, Jointless Oven.

McClary's Protected Element —made of tough, wear-resisting porcelain, completely and absolutely protects the delicate, high resistance wire coils from dirt, grease or water—prolongs the life of the Element—found in no other electric range.

McClary's Seamless, Jointless Oven — cooks like a fireless cooker.

The vapors cannot escape into the lining to decay and then to taint food. The heat is securely held inside the oven, under complete control of plainly marked switch buttons.

Interior of oven coated with nickel, — round corners, removable racks and hinged elements for easy cleaning.



Independent warming oven, with its own heating Element, because not enough heat escapes from the main oven to warm it.

Signal lights to show when the current is on.

Extra plug for small appliances.

Fuses easily accessible in the cupboard under the main cooking top.

Electric cooking is the latest contribution of science to the housewife's comfort, and McClary's Electric Range is the highest development of that contribution.

THURSDAY, JULY 21ST, 1921.

NO DEMAND FOR THIS.

Once again an attempt is being made to bring police commissions into the realm of municipal politics. Now it is the city council of Windsor which is endeavouring to have a change made in the legislation so that the commission shall either be an elective body or that its membership shall be increased by the addition of two appointees of the council. The Legislature will be very wise if it pigeon holes the resolution when it is presented. The police department should be kept out of politics and it can't be if it is to be operated by an elected commission, or if it is under the control of the aldermen. There is not a police chief in Canada who would not be opposed to any attempt to have the direction of the affairs of his department entrusted to a body of men who are dependent upon the votes and good will of the people for their election. The present system may not be ideal, but at least it is much safer and saner than either of the alternatives suggested by the Windsor aldermen.

A SPLENDID SHOWING.

The Board of Management of the Peterborough Well Babies' Clinic are to be congratulated upon the splendid work accomplished during the last three months, as indicated by the quarterly reports presented at the last meeting. The figures quoted show that the mothers of Peterborough are more and more realizing the service rendered by the clinic and the opportunities it offers them of learning how to take proper care of their children. In the preceding quarter there were eighty-one youngsters examined, while for the months of April, May and June no fewer than one hundred and eighty children were presented for examination, showing a remarkable increase in interest on the part of the parents. The progress that is being made must be gratifying to those public-spirited citizens who are responsible for the establishment of the clinic in Peterborough, and for the successful manner in which it is being conducted and developed.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION.

The report made by Dr. Miller, Assistant Diretor of Technical Education for Ontario, following an exhaustive survey of conditions in Peterborough, is an emphatic endorsation of the need of a technical school in this city. Dr. Miller selected Peterborough for survey purposes becauseof the varied nature of the local industries, and he has taken the pains to secure most important information from 47 different industrial establishments as well as from 5 departmental stores, estimating the total employees of these concerns at 5,420, and the number of different kinds of work at 84. Dr. Miller has no hesitation whatever, after studying the situation, in declaring that Peterborough's need of vocational education is sufficient to warrant the establishment of a day vocational school under the Industrial Education Act and the establishment he recommends is one capable of supplying the training that he believes to be a real necesstiy if the educational needs of Peterborough are to be effectively met.

QUALIFIED RAILWAY BETTERMENTS.

Although there were slight improvements in net railway earnings for the month of March, they were the result of economies rather than betterments in traffic. There was an actual decline in tons of freight moved, which goes to the core of the situation. Operating expenses were reduced, laregly through the cutting down of the working staff wherever that was possible. There was, however, a gain in passenger movement, which yielded $687,048 more than in the corresponding month of 1920, and mail and express earnings jointly increased by $414,755. These improvements in passenger, mail, and express receipts offset a loss of $757,929 on account of freight, and caused a net increase in gross of $268,236.

The losses in traffic were fairly distributed among all the roads. The average numbr of miles operated was 38,076 in March of this year, as compared with 37,456 in March of last year; so that on the mileage basis operating revenues fell off from $940.87 to $933.08. The reductions in operating expenses were wholly in maintenance of way and structures and equipment, which is not a healthy sign. The cost of operating trains, on the other hand, increased by over a million dollars. There is where higher wages intruded. The last award of the National Railway Labour Board—best known as "the Chicago award," as distinct from the McAdo award of 1918 — was not effective in March of 1920. The cost of labour this year was sufficient to countervail average receipts per ton per mile of 1.212 cents, as against 1.045 a year ago, and average receipts per passenger per mile of 3.248 as compared with 2.758 in March, 1920.

The net result for the month was a gain of 2.83 per cent. in net operating revenue, as against the corresponding period of last year, which was accompanied by an increase of 16 per cent. in freight charges and of 18 per cent. in passenger rates. It is in this latter aspect that public interest will centre. Despite these higher tolls, the railways were only able to make a slight betterment in operating results by a drastic cutting down of the number of employees. It may be observed that since March, traffic has continued to shrink. The paring of maintenance charges is a temporary expedient, always a desperate resort in times of stringency, and there can be no real ground for rejoicing until the railways are again operating on a buoyant basis as to traffic. That can only occur as the trade of the country takes on new life. While business is dull the railways must merely mark time; for traffic is at all times and under all circumstances the product of trade.

Public sentiment toward the railways has undergone a great change during the past two years both in Canada and the United States, which may be taken as representing some measure of compensation for adversity. Quite recently the Secretary of the Treasury at Washington anounced an advance of $500,000,000 to help American roads in their financing pending the improvement of conditions. Such an action would have aroused great indignation three years ago. To-day, thinking men everywhere realise that the railways have been brought to the verge of bankruptcy because of high operating expenses, following extraordinary awards made to employees. They recognise that this is not a domestic matter with the agencies of transportation, but concerns very vitally the whole people. Unless retrenchment in operating cost can be brought about, largely along the road which carried that cost upward, it is now generally understood that all interests will suffer. Happily, the outlook is favourable, although resistance to wage reductions has not ceased.—Ottawa Journal.

MAKES APPLES BEAR EVERY YEAR

For two or three years past Prof. Crow of the O.A.C. has been carrying on an investigation the purpose of which is to change the bearing habits of such varieties of apples as Duchess and Wealthies. These trees over-bear in one season and are barren in alternate years. Prof. Crow has, by removing a large proportion of the bloom in the bearing years, succeeded in getting a crop in what has been the off-year.

A particulagly striking demonstration has been given in one Duchess tree. On part of this tree the luxurious bloom of last year was thinner; on part the bloom was left as nature provided it. On the part thinned there is a good crop again this year; on the part not thinner there is no crop.

Light Pruning Would Serve.

Of course, it is impracticable in a commercial orchard to carry out bloom-thinning. But even in commercial orchards this object can be attained by pruning at the proper season. In the off-season light terminal pruning has had the effect of reducing the bloom in the bearing year, and consequently the crop, and thus left energy enough in the tree to develop fruit spurs for the production of fruit in the succeeding off-year.

An experiment in fertilization has also been carried out. Five pounds of nitrate of soda, scattered on the ground near the outer edge of the branches, and harrowed in, the application being made just as buds are abount to burst into bloom, has been found to have a most beneficial effect in stimulating the vigor of the trees.

A woman of Penrhosgarnedd, a village near Bangor, has just given birth to her fifteenth baby. Fourteen children—10 being boys—are alive. The eldest is 22 years.

SILAGE CROP.

Sunflowers Are Proving Very Reliable Substitute.

Much interest is being taken both in Canada and the United States in the value of sunflowers as a silage crop, particularly in districts where corn is not a reliable crop. The claim is made that sunflowers are a hardier crop than corn, withstanding both drought and frost to a greater degree. In so far as the claims put forth for sunflowers as a food for cattle are virtually of recent origin, experiments and investigation regarding them are practically in an introductory stage. It is interesting to note, however, that an analysis of sunflower silage fed at an Idaho agricultural experimental station indicated that it compared favorably with corn silage. In Canada also studies of the relative value of sunflowers and corn for silage purposes suggest that in nutrition there is not any great difference, although corn is to be preferred where it can be plentifully and easily grown. Where this is not the case, sunflowers are an excellent substitute.

Queen Alexandra School Is Latest Addition To The Playgrounds Lists

The Queen Alexandra School has the smallest play equipment of the four grounds, because it was the latest addition to the list, but the children here are just as enthusiastic as at any of the other points. Sandboxes and swings are the main items in the amusement programme, with a teeter-totter, which bore a heavy load on a recent late afternoon visit. With three children at one end and four small tots at the other, it maintained a perfect balance in mid-air and could only by great effort be persuaded to move up or down. A number of boys were playing ball with a bran new bat and immense, beautiful "decker" glove and others were exercising a football. The gully that runs directly to the north of the grounds here with plenty of long grass provides a hazard for balls, two of which are lost forever, evidently, in its cool depths, but there is a magnificent view on all sides and a cool breeze which sweeps refreshingly over the hill-top.

The little boys here are animated by a strong desire to join in the needlework classes. They have a passion for the ornamental woolwork which runs in weird designs over the porous-plaster cards handed out to the little girls. Boys' names were signed to several effects in criss-cross and "house" designs in wool, and one chubby male demonstrated his ability with knitting-needles and pink yarn, out of which he is supposed to be manufacturing a doll's sweater. A little girl, who is composing a card symphony in pale green and yellow silkolene, was besieged by masculine offers of help, the little boys surrounding in a semi-circle several of the small girls engaged in needlework.

The point cards, by which the children are awarded points for attendance at the grounds and on swimming afternoons and for finishing their sewing cards, etc., are very popular and give evidence of much careful examination by their young owners.

The young lady who forms the sole supervisor at these grounds for both boys and girls seems to have her young charges well in hand. They are an obedient lot of youngsters, who comply readily with her mildly-expressed wishes, and there seems to be an absence of contention amongst the children which is very pleasant. When an older girl demonstrated to the aforesaid chubby knitter just how she would do it, he merely grinned; when one child lost a needle and couldn't find another, her companion presented her with a needle and turned her own attention to raffia work, and the little boy who was asked to relinquish the football so as to give another group their "turn," did so without a murmur.

Summer Camp At Jackson Park

The Nurses' Supervision Committee of the Peterborough Health Association is asking for toys and playthings for the children at the summer camp in Jackson Park. Old or new, it doesn't matter, as long as the children have something to play with. Most households where children have dwelt possess goods of this sort—dolls and tops, and little dishes, picture books and washboards—hoarded away in some attic room in a big box. It isn't such a hard matter to repair the headless ladies of the doll kingdom, if a good strong body remains for a foundation. A young lady who has a great deal to do with fish-pond work is very clever at this sort of rejuvenating. She buys separate China heads and glues them on, makes arms and legs that are almost as good as new, and her yarn heads for nigger babies, with bright blue wool eyes and scarlet mouths, are more enticing than the original topknots. Anything amuses the little ones—a box of beads, a few little dishes, a picture book about the wonderful adventures of the Whirling Date or the Cross-Eyed Cat, and discarded playthings—will be doing a great deal of good and take on a new lease of life if sent on to the collectors for the camp, instead of allowed to lurk unseen in some dusty corner.

Two Hallways

An oak door, all in one piece, with brass door-knob. White lace with blue velour over-drapes at the sides. Beautifully-laid floor and long Persian runner. A tall grandfather's clock and hall chair of carved walnut. A pedestal with huge bronze jardiniere and wide-spreading fern. The stairs go up at the back of the hall to a landing, where many-paned windows with blue and red borders let the light in, strong and clear. A young woman, in voile dress, sits on the verandah and reads.

The other: A knocker, with a potato-bug on it. A locked door, which opens to admit one into a dark space. Over the glass at the side of the entrance is draped cheap and dirty white and turkey red cotton over-drapes. Old papers are stuffed into the cracks. The brown paper drops from the walls in large patches. A peacock rug, dingy and worn, almost covers a hole in the ragged linoleum, and a great old-fashioned heater blocks the passage, with an immense amount of useless nickel trimmings. Old pictures line the walls, with an ancient umbrella and a man's old hat on the door peg. A small table is loaded with old papers and magazines and at the rear of the hallway is a conglomeration of articles on the floor, an old clock, more umbrellas, some dish towels and a China pitcher. An odor of burned coffee floats up the dark stairway that leads down into the basement. A woman in green silk striped skirt and green smock, with sallow skin and dead-black hair, washes off the front steps with an old brush and a pail of dirty water. She chews gum, her jaws moving rapidly as she works.

1921 Fashions

She was the Mother of a Family and a very Conscientious Woman. She was Worried. For it had come to pass that there was much Agitation in the Land regarding the Dress of the Women of our Times. So, putting on her Spectacles, she surveyed her Young Daughters, and her Heart sank. For, lo, they wore very Little and that Little was Mightily Transparent. And, sitting down, she considered the matter, being a very Conscientious Woman.

Now, it so happened that in that House a Revolution was effected. They who had hitherto appeared in Unseemly Garments now were clothed in Righteous Apparel. Ankles were no longer Visible, nay, nor Knees. Arms and Busts were covered with many Swathings, and Ears were once more Apparent.

And the Master of the House, coming in, surveyed his Family. With long skirts and sleeves, with high collars and opaque materials, with tight coiffures and noses innocent of powder, they presented themselves for his Approval, and, behold, he snorted! "What folly is this," he cried, "think you to make me a laughing stock amongst men? Take off those old duds and get into some decent clothes!"

"Buy In Canada"

In connection with the "Buy-in-Canada" slogan, it has been suggested that a special tent be set aside at the forthcoming Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto, where women may rest and be entertained by speakers qualified to give information on Canadian-made products. It has been asked: "How many women know that wool jersey cloth is made in Canada? How many know that chamoisette, originally made in England, from where the secret was stolen by an astute German manufacturer, who captured the trade by underselling, is now made in Canada—in fact, is one of the most flourishing of the Canadian war babies, big enough and strong enough to exclude foreign competitors almost entirely?"

Infant Mortality

At a public meeting of the Canadian Medical Association held early in July at Halifax a paper prepared by Dr. H. W. Hill of London, Ontario and read in his absence by Dr. A. Craig, Red Cross, Commissioner for Nova Scotia, made the statement that, from observations and studies of vital statistics in London, about seven per cent. of infant mortality cases took place after one year of age. The causes were mostly due to hereditary disease and malnutrition. Attention should be directed towards the physical condition of the parents, the child should feed on human milk and be kept away from the danger of infectious disease. The old tradition that these last diseases were not particularly harmful to the young was all wrong, as contact with infectious diseases caused the bulk of deaths between the ages of one and seven years.

Dr. Fenton B. Turk of New York, following up this address, made the startling statement that the average human being of less than one year of age has less chance to live another year than one who has been on earth for four-score years, and that the baby under one year has less chance for another week than a man of 90 years of age.

The report of the Well Babies' Clinic for the months of April, May and June shows a percentage of deaths of infants under one year of over 6 per cent. for the quarter, one from whooping cough, two from pneumonia and one from spinal meningitis. The report goes on to say that there is almost an epidemic of whooping cough in the city and that no precautions are being taken by the parents to prevent the infection spreading. Children suffering from this malady mingle freely with other children, stopping every now and then to cough, and then go on playing as if nothing were the matter with them. Mothers wipe off the saliva with their aprons, which act as very satisfactory spreaders thereafter.

Then the nurse reports treating children who are suffering chiefly from indigestion and malnutrition, that some homes are crowded and onsanitary, where children are suffering from swollen glands, from skin eruptions, from discharging ears and sore eyes, and in other homes indigestion and colds are the chief ailments from careless and irregular feeding. Later on these same children will go to school, be examined, and pronounced undernourished by the physician. It looks as though the suggestion of the clinic that a nurse be employed to make regular visits to homes where children are being brought up might be of assistance in the way of better hygienic and general health conditions. Demonstrations might be given in different parts of the city, and another of the recommendations is the establishment of a milk depot. To those who are so enthusiastic about the possibilities of immigration into Canada from the old lands it might be well to point out that there are vast fields of endeavor in our own country still untouched. Premier Drury, in his recent visit to the city at the time of the social service convention here, made the statement that one Canadian-born child was worth five children of foreign-born immigrants into our land. Therefore, the most patriotic service that a Canadian can render to Canada is to improve the health and general well-being of the rising generation, for, as the social service worner puts it, "You can test a civilization by its treatment of its children."

If all the seas were bread and cheese,
If all the rivers were ink,
If all the lakes were currant cakes

Straight Lines

Straight lines are going to be the thing for fall wear. No more fluffy ruffles and bouffante draperies. The plain silhouette which imparts a suggestion of youthfulness to one and all is coming back again. Fringe will be much in evidence as trimming on crepe de chine, silk and serge costumes, and military braid will be used to some extent.

Coats are lengthening out and must be at least 36 inches long to be truly smart, and suits are to be fur-trimmed for fall and winter wear. In sleeves something of the old bell type is hinted at, the new styles widening at the bottom and flaring over the hand, while collars are to be high in the back and cut away in the front.

BED BUG POISON

There are dozens of preparations recommended to destroy bed bugs. But the preparation that gives the best results is Post's Bed Bug Poison and one or two applications will soon wipe out the pest. It is composed of Corrosive Sublimate, methyl-hydrate, and carbolic acid, and as it is very poisonous it should be kept out of the reach of children.

Women Are Active

Although the ladies of the city may not be as vociferous in good works during the warm summer weather as they are in the colder months, they are by no means idle just now. Picnics and moonlights are the order of the day, and there is lots to be done in the successful carrying-out of excursions of this sort. Dozens Supervision Committee to help ery day, quantities of fillings for sandwiches are being made, salads and dressing concocted, cakes baked lemonade made ready. Games and races are arranged and prizes purchased for them. Lawn socials and garden parties are carried out, with their attendant programmes of music and amusements. And most of these things are done for a good purpose, for some church or charitable society.

The Well Babies' Clinic continues to thrive and flourish, with women in charge; the Peterborough Health Association's nurse makes her rounds in the usual way, with the Ladies' Supervision Committee to help things along, the summer camp at Jackson Park is looked after by the same energetic ladies, where ailing children are given a good time in the hot months, and the playgrounds of the city take care of many restless youngsters from day to day, providing occupation and wholesome amusement for the kiddies and rest for harassed mothers.

Dressing Rooms On The Railways

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company recently announced an innovation in its services, in the shape of smoking rooms for women on its sleepers, with women's dressing rooms equipped with electric plants for heating curling irons. This thoughtfulness on the part of the officials does not meet with the approval of the W.C.T.U., which expresses itself very strongly on the subject, and intimates its intention of recording its displeasure therewith at the annual convention to be held in October. The President of the Ontario branch, Mrs. E. A. Stevens, of Ontario, regards the dispatch as poking fun at the women. In connection with the question, a correspondent has handed in the following letter:

The Very Idea!

To the Editor of the Woman's Page

Madam,—The W.C.T.U. is rightfully and righteously indignant that the C.P.R. should set aside smoking rooms for women. Some of the W. C. T. U.'s own grandmothers smoked, but what of that? In a free democracy such as ours one part of the democracy should be put in full charge of all the rest with powers of punishment attached. The idea of allowing other people to think and do as they like! The very idea!

A SPRING HAT AND THE MONTHLY BILL.

Chapter 16.

Days and days passed, and no opportunity presented itself for asking questions. I hated to jump right into the middle of our happiness and ask Kent about that $500.00.

I had deposited the money in the bank, every cent of it. I simply couldn't bring myself to spend it I didn't know exactly why—I just felt I couldn't.

I needed a new suit and I would not ask for more money. I wondered when he would notice that I had not bought anything, as he had told me to. I hoped he would soon, and speak about it, and yet I dreaded to have him. This running away from fear was nerve-racking business.

One day I was up town and I felt the lure of spring hats in the shop windows. I did so want a straw hat. It was really disgraceful to be wearing my old black velvet thing. It as the second of April. I might buy one and charge it. The bill would not come in now until the first of May. Perhaps by that time I could explain all about it to Kent. By that time everything might be straightened out. Maybe everything was all right, after all. What was it, anyway, that I was being so foolish about?

And so, in one of the stores, I was tempted.

"This is a stunning little hat. Let me try it on for you," the salesgirl smiled enticingly. "There, I'll get you a hand mirror."

I tilted the mirror, and inspected the hat, first one side and then the other.

"And that little bunch of purple grapes are so effective and bring out the blue in madam's eyes," she suggested artfully.

"Well," I said hesitatingly, turning the hat around in my hand, and then quickly slapping it on my head for another inspection. "—Yes, you can send it to me. It's a charge. Mrs.—Mrs. Kent Armour," I told her giving the address.

"Let's see, you said it was $16.00?" I asked a little fearfully. "Very well," and I turned and walked out of the store, the thrill of a new hat speedly putting to rout all doubts and depression.

I walked down Fifth Avenue. On the way home I kept up a sort of dialogue with myself.

"The bill won't be sent in until the first of the month. By that time Kent will have told me about the $500.00. I can draw some out of the bank and pay for the hat myself," I mused. "I wonder if he'll notice I have a new hat? I do want to wear it. Well, if he should—perhaps it will remind him of the money. Then I won't have to ask him about it. I'd rather it would be that way. I hate having to question him. He might think I doubted him. Dear old Kent!"

The breath of spring made the air soft and exhilarating. It was wonderful to be alive. Love, and happiness, and the touch of spring in the air made gloomy thoughts and morbid fears impossible. And Kent and I had been so happy of late. I did not feel like going around hunting for tragedies, and in my present state of elation it was not difficult to throw off the weight of suspicion.

After dinner that night I asked Kent if he didn't think we ought to invite the Walkers down some evening.

"We don't need to ask them for dinner, but I do think we should return their favour in some way, don't you, dear?" I said. "I'll fix up some light refreshments before they come, and it will be lots easier than trying to give a dinner party without a maid."

Kent scowled a little. I wished I had not spoken that way about not having a maid. I had not meant to hurt his feelings.

"This is not much of a place to entertain in, Barbara," he said, taking in the living-room with a gesture of his hand.

"Why, you foolish, proud boy," I scolded a little. "This place is the best we have, and surely if it's good enough for us it is good enough for our friends. Besides, I think it's really very artistic and attractive. Why, I was even going to suggest inviting Mr. and Mrs. Lachman. Come, please, don't be foolish," I pleaded.

But at the mention of Victor Lachman, Kent's whole manner suddenly changed.

To-morrow—Kent's Actions Arouse My Suspicions.

Champion Typist

Miss Rose L. Fritz, America's champion woman typist, prepares for her speed contests just as thoroughly as a musician before a concert or an athlete before a trial of physical skill. For two months before the event she is in training, takes physical exercises, walks a great deal, eats only the simplest food, and sleeps regularly. She began her high-speed career when only fifteen. A manufacturer of typewriting machines, who was struck with her powers of speed work, offered her a three-year contract to operate and demonstrate his machines. Since then she has won forty championship trophies. Her speed record is 265 words a minute; but that was done on short words and material with which she was familiar. In transcribing new material she has written 155 words a minute.

COAT OF PAINT FOR MARKET CLOCK

Big Ben Has Received a Lot of Attention Lately—Painting Market Building.

Profuse attentions beget vanity and it has been noticed that Peterborough's Big Ben has been shown such regard during the last year that it will soon deign to notice the crowds of people who still hold warm affection for it. So resplendent is it now so secure in the public favor that it will be almost a wonder if in its own giddiness it does not fail to note the passing hours. Everyone should think the best of the old chronometer and trust in its own inward regard for its important place in the community life.

This week the market building is being re-painted, and the clock has been refreshed with several coats of drab that have completely hid its former shabbiness. High up in the air it has graciously accepted its own coating, although it felt its brick supporting needed some renovating as well. Doupe and Grose are the painters, and have re-painted the exterior of the whole building, excepting, of course, the brickwork, in the same shade as the tower, and the effect has been refreshing.

10,000 ISLANDERS MAKE RUM.

Porto Rico Laughs at Light Fines in Enforcing Prohibition.

SAN JUAN, P. R., July 21. — There are 10,000 stills in operation in the island, in violation of the Volstead Act and local laws, according to the Prohibition Director's staff for Porto Rico. This opinion is substantiated by a recent statement of Antonio R. Barcelo, President of the Senate.

The Prohibition Director's office holds that so long as light fines and sentences are imposed, rum making in the island cannot be suppressed.

CAPACITY OF SANITARY ICE PLANT BEING INCREASED TO FIFTY TONS

NEW PLANT WILL BE COMPLETED EARLY NEXT MONTH.

From a demand for artificial ice unexpected in its proportions, the Santiary Ice Supply has been forced to add to its present capacity, a plant with three and one-half times the output. The present plant, which has been found too small, is a ten-ton plant. the one under construction will have a capacity of thirty-five tons, so that after Aug. 12, when the large plant starts manufacturing ice, forty-five to fifty tons of ice will be taken out of the forms every 24 hours. This will not all be sold immediately. Part of the day's otuput will be stored for future requirements. A 600-ton storage house will be built at the rear of the ice plant as soon as the present construction is finished.

There has been a steady and increasing demand for artificial ice. The limited capacity of the plant forced Mr. Herb. Kendry to refuse wholesale orders or large orders and with but one exception all of the supply went to refrigerators in homes, he said. With the greater capacity, business which they have been forced to "turn down" can be acepted. Yesterday one of the butchers of Lakefield wanted to get ten tons of ice from the Sanitary Supply, but he had to be refused.

Machinery Here.

Although the work on the additions was only begun a week ago Saturday, it will be operating by Aug. 12. Mr. Kendrey stated that C. Rutherford is constructing the building, Howard Shurter doing the concrete work and rapid strides have been made. The foundation work is finished and the erection of the walls will be proceeded with immediately. Yesterday the cork insulating floor under the tank was being laid, and the tank will be placed in position without delay. The Canadian Ice Machine Co. of Toronto are supplying the machine, which completely dwarfs the first one they put in. Charles Sills, of Toronto, is installing the machine. Three cars of machinery have already arrived, and the other equipment is expected shortly.

The ice from the larger plant will be made in 300 lb. blocks and will largely be sold to butchers and those with large requirements. The increased capacity has necessitated placing three more trucks on the delivery system, making a total of five one and one-quarter ton trucks, and sevreal trucks with three or four ton capacity will be used for carrying the larger loads, Mr. Kendrey stated.

Pure spring water, drawn from 76 feet under ground will be used in the new plant as it is now in the present. This water, to elminate any chance of pollution, is sand-filtered in a special plant, which forms part of the ice-machine.

Generally, the appearance of the Sanitary Ice Supply has been much improved. The front has been bricked with Milton pressed brick ,the walls clap-boarded with British Columbia cedar and the lawn in front rolled, graded and sodded down and two pretty flower beds added to give a touch of colour. Awnings on the windows have enhanced the appearance of the building and give it a summery appearance.

TRIBUTES TO THE HEINTZMAN & CO. PIANO

The accompanying letter from Heintzman & Co., Toronto, has been received by Mr. W. Lawson, manager of Heintzman Hall, this City, which is a strong endorsement for the merits of Heintzman & Co. pianos:

Toronto, July 20, 1921.

Dear Sir,—We have just received the following telegram from Walter F. Evans Company, Limited, Heintzman & Company representatives at Vancouver:

"I have just sold Madame Nellie Melba Style E Grand to be shipped to her private home Australia, and will be placed in her own special boudoir studio. This we think is a very gratifying tribute to the Heintzman & Company piano, more particularly as she has purchased it for her own personal use and will be constantly used by her."

Madame Melba, as you are aware, is the premier prima donna, and with her wonderful voice has charmed the musical people and crowned heads of the whole world, and this purchase of a Heintzman & Company Grand for her own music room in her Australian home is a tribute of which we are very proud.

We might state that we have also received an order from Madame Louisa Tetrazzini for a Style G Semi Grand, to be made specially for her and shipped this fall for her music room in her castle in Rome, Italy. This piano will be made in Queen Anne style, and the finish will be white enamel, with the carvings picked out in gold. We have the privilege of displaying this piano at the Toronto Exhibition, after which it will be shipped to Rome.

Madame Tetrazzini also sent a signed photograph of herself to our president, Mr. Geo. C. Heintzman.

The selection of the Heintzman & Company Grand piano by two such world-wide artistes as Madame Tetrazzini and Madame Melba is a wonderful endorsation of the quality and tone in the Heintzman & Co. Grand.

Yours truly,

Heintzman & Co., Limited,

MILITARY MUST LEND A HAND

Two Marines Held Guilty in Refusing to Help Bay State Police.

QUINCY, Mass., July 21.—It is just as much the duty of the military to assist the civil authorities as it was for civilians to answer their country's call to arms during the war, Judge Avery ruled in the District Court here. He found two United States marines guilty of refusing to help a policeman in holding prisoners.

The policeman testified that he called upon the marines in the name of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, when two drunken men started to resist arrest. The marines refused, he said.

A LIGHT CROP IN THIS DISTRICT

Farmers Say Rain Came Too Late to Save the Grain Crop.

"The grain crop is only half a crop. The rain came too late to save the grain, but it did a lot of good to the corn, potatoes, roots and fruit trees," a leading agricultural agent in the city, who is much in touch with the farmers, told The Examiner to-day. Throughout the entire district farmers all tell of one of the poorest grain crops in years. The intensely hot weather ripened the crops prematurely, they say, and the result has been half-developed heads and short straw. Generally a good ensilage crop is expected, unless something unforeseen happens. The rain has helped the pasturage, farmers say. In most sections the alsace is good, and many farmers are expecting to make on it the loss threatened on their grains.

STILL NECESSARY TO BOIL WATER

TEMPERATURE OF WATER HAS DROPPED COUPLE OF DEGREES

Although the temperature of the river water has fallen one or two degrees from the high mark in the hot weather, no improvement can be seen in the water, and it is still necessary to boil the water, stated R. L. Dobbin, Waterworks superintendent, this morning. The bacilli coli still are highly visible in the tests, and 12 pounds of chlorine per million gallons is being steadily administered, and there seems no hope of a reduction in the dosage, according to Mr. Dobbin. To-day the water registered 75 degrees in the taps, as compared with 77 when the city was sweltering in the torrid spell a week ago.

IMPROVEMENTS TO MARKET SQUARE

Citizens who walked around the Market Square this morning must have noticed the improvement being made to the Market Clerk's headquarters. Under the supervision of Street Commissioner Evans, the old wooden platform which has served so faithfully has been removed and a concrete platform put in. A concrete driveway to the scales is part of the plan of improvement, and the concrete work on this has been completed. To the rattle of a big cement mixer the city laborers were filling in the concrete to-day, and it is expected that the platforms will be ready to use by Saturday.

THIS WILL INTEREST STOMACH SUFFERERS

Says Indigestion comes from an Excess of Hydrochloric acid.

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatulence, waterbrash, or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast while it is effervescing, and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important it neutralize he acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with Lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thouand of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

The ant, in proportion to its size, has the largest brain of any living creature.

BOY LIVES WITH 4 STITCHES IN HEART

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL IN A DYING CONDITION, HE RECUPERATES AFTER DELICATE OPERATION.

NEW YORK, July 21.—Frank Farino, of 553 Union Street, Brooklyn, a 16-year-old paper sorter employed at the garbage disposal dump at the foot of Sixth Street, Brooklyn, is in the Holy Family Hospital, Brooklyn, recovering after what physicians assert is a remarkable operation.

Farino in his work used a knife seventeen inches long. In cutting some rope the knife slipped and entered his chest. It pierced the covering of the heart and severed several heart muscles. An ambulance brought Dr. Nicholas Carrabo to his aid.

The patient was taken to the hospital, and Dr. James M. Downey, of 381 Clinton Street, the visiting surgeon, was called. He advised an immediate operation. Dr. George J. Doyle, of 287 Clermont Avenue, and Dr. Frank Leder, the house surgeon, assisted. The chest wall was opened and the heart exposed. It was found that the patient was suffering from a severe hemorrhage.

The flow of blood was stopped and four stitches were placed in the heart. The work had to be done slowly and carefully at the end of each heart beat, when the organ was contracted. The operation required fifteen minutes, although the boy was under the anaesthetic for thirty-five minutes. After the operation the four physicians grouped themselves about the patient's bedside and awaited results.

A few minutes after he recovered consciousness Farino asked for some water and ice. Late in the afternoon he was permitted to take some orange juice and ice. His pulse was 110 and his temperature 99½. He was getting along so well that the physicians believed that he would recover.

Dr. Downey said such an operation had been undertaken only twice before, as far as he could find out. Once, several years ago, the physician said, it was used in New England, and again in France during the recent war.

When Farino was brought to the hospital, according to Dr. Downey, he was in a desperate condition. He had no pulse and was gasping for air. But for the operation, the physician asserted, he could not have lived for more than fifteen or twenty minutes.

PAINFUL DIARRHOEA

CRAMPS IN STOMACH

Mr. Fred Funston, Craig, Sask., writes "A year ago last harvest I was taken with a sudden attack of diarrhoea which completely laid me out and in a few hours I had to quit work. The cramps in my stomach were dreadful, the beads of perspiration would stand out on my face at times I was in such great distress. At last I got a chance to send to town for a couple of bottles of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I used it according to the way I felt and soon obtained a great change for the better, for which I was very grateful. I don't know what the cause of my sickness was, except the extremely hot weather and the active work of stooking the wheat.

Several of my neighbors were taken the same as myself and had the doctor attend to them, but they did not get any great relief until I advised them to use "Dr. Fowler's" when they soon experienced a great change."

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has been on the market for the past 76 years and many cheap imitations are being offered to the public.

GOVERNMENT SHOULD HAVE MORE CONTROL OF HYDRO, T. TOOMS, M.L.A., TELLS LABOR

EXPENDITURES FOR HYDRO-ELECTRIC DEVELOPMENT COMPRISE LARGE FRACTION OF ONTARIO'S DEBT—M. M. McBRIDE NOT A SINCERE LABOR REPRESENTATIVE.

For his concise report of the efforts and the accomplishments of the Farmer-Labour Government of Ontario in its two sessions, Mr. Thomas Tooms, M.L.A., was accorded a hearty resolution of thanks and confidence by the Trades Council last night. In moving the resolution, which was seconded by Mr. Thomas Darrah, Mr. J. Arthur Sharpe, said that Mr. Tooms' address was one of the most instructive and informative he had heard in a long time, and one of the best he had heard on the floor of the Trades Council.

Mr. Tooms discussed the timber limits investigation, the Backus purchase of timber rights near Kenora, the controversy over the water rights in the Kenora district, the Government's attitude towards the extensive development schemes projected by the Hydro-Electric Commissoin, and similar questions, in all of which he indicated his approval of the Government's policies. He sharply censured M. M. McBride, the member from Brantford, whom Mr. Tooms accused of insincerity in his seeming espousal of the cause of Labour.

Reference to McBride.

Mr .Tooms in his reference to Mr. McBride acknowledged his ability as a speaker and a doughty fighter. "If he could control his craze for the limelight," continued Mr. Tooms, "and forget self he would be a great power for good in any group to which he might be attached; but so far he has not been able to do that, and he, therefore, has lost the confidence of those who would like to be his friends, and who are now afraid he lacks insincerity. Mr. Swazie, of Niagara Falls, charged Mr. McBride with insincerity in the House. I believe he voiced the opinion of the majority in the House. Here are three causes why I think there is ground for Mr. Swazie's accusation. When asked by Mr. Halcrow, of Hamilton, what he had done through the Legislature to help the Labour movement, Mr. McBride could show nothing except destructive criticism. Next day he rushed through three bills. They were very good bills if they had not contained a joker at the end of each bill."

Mr. Tooms designated the bills, one of which had to do with the regulation of the employment of women at night; another with night work by young persons in factories, and the other to fix the minimum age of children in employment.

"I shall give you the exact words of Mr. McBride's joker in each bill," Mr. Tooms proceeded: 'This Act shall come into operation on a day to be fixed by the Lieutenant-Governor by his proclamation concurrently with or after the coming into operation in the other provinces of the Dominion of laws enacted by the respective legislatures of those provinces containing similar provisions to those contained in this Act.' It would be a reflection upon Mr. McBride's intelligence to say he did not know what he was doing for he is wide enough awake in most things. So I can conclude only that he was not sincere."

Fair Rent Bill.

Mr. Tooms told of the fate that met two Fair Rent bills. One was introduced by a member of the government, and the other by Mr.Ramsden, a Liberal. "They were defeated each time," said Mr. Tooms. "The landlords and the real estate men were too strong."

Members' Furniture.

In passing Mr. Tooms said there had been a lot of unfair criticism of the purchase of furniture for the new ministers when they took office. The members of the out-going Govcrnment had taken with them the furniture they had used. They may have taken them as souvenirs, or have paid a small fee, but in any event new furniture had to be bought and this was done by an official known as the housekeeper, and not by the Ministers of the incoming government.

Hydro Development.

In dealing with the Hydro-Electric Commission's development schemes, Mr. Tooms remarked that every one in Ontario desired to give full support to the Commission, but the question of finances had to be faced. Can the Province raise funds for its own requirement under present conditions and at the same time assume responsibility for the Hydro-Electric's Commission's projects?

According to the Clarkson report, Mr. Tooms continued, the debt of Ontario is approximately one hundred million dollars. Of that sum forty millions have been advanced to the Hydro-Electric Commission in cash and securities, ten millions were paid for the purchase of the Central Ontario Power System and $8,300,000 for the purchase of the Ontario Power Company.

What Municipalities Paid.

Referring to the Clarkson report, Mr. Tooms submitted the following:

"Sinking funds payable by the municipalities having been deferred under the terms of the Power Commission Act for a period of five years after the date when each municipal commission first commences operating, the province has to this point received about $535,000 in reduction of these advances. Based upon the estimates of the Commission and its engineers upwards of $29,000,000 will now be required from the Province in cash within the next two years to complete the works in course of construction and meet maturing liabilities, while a further twenty-five or twenty-six millions may require to be provided by the sale or issue of bonds by the Commission—guaranteed by the province—for the purpose of Hydro-Electric Railway lines. In any event, the total amount now in contemplation to be provided on the credit of the Province (subject to the guarantee of the municipalities) is upwards of $55,000,000, or an amount in excess of one-half of the present debt of the province. With such expenditures made, upwards of $105,000,000 will stand invested in Hydro-Electric enterprises and the Central Ontario system, and of this amount approximately $65,000000 will be represented by undertakings, the exact costs of construction and operation of which are still matters for the future to determine."

Other Work to be Done.

"With the present abnormal costs I believe it to be against the interests of the municipalities and of the province also to proceed too rapidly," said Mr. Tooms. "We should be getting along with other public works and developments in Ontario. The rate of interest paid by the government used to be 4 per cent, but it is now 6 per cent. Personally, I think the Hydro's plans and the whole question should receive very careful consideration. We have nothing definite about Hydro Radials yet, but the report of the investigating commission should be completed soon. The Government has very little control over the Hydro. I am inclined to believe that certain manufacturing interests have control or an influence over the municipalities."

In this connection Mr. Tooms stated that whenever the Government proposed anything in connection with Hydro-Electric matters there was usually a hurry up call for the municipalities, who promptly met and turned in a resolution opposing the Government's ideas. It was beginning to look doubtful, he continued, whether there would be a market for all the power generated at Chippewa. Sir Adam Beck was talking of selling some of it in the United States, but Mr. Tooms contended that it should be used for industries and other requirements in Ontario. He was inclined to the view that the Government might be better off to return the moneys paid by the municipalities in order that the Hydro-Electric systems might be directly controlled by the Province. This would probably be unpopular with the municipalities "but it is about time the Government had more to say in the handling of the Hydro," Mr. Tooms remarked.

Water Power Control

The Lake of the Woods question affects every other province in the Dominion as well as Ontario. The Dominion Government controls provincial waters for navigation and the province has charge of power rights. The Lake of the Woods is controlled now by the Province of Ontario, but the Dominion Government wants Ontario to hold back water for the benefit of Winnipeg. Kenora in Ontario claims first call on that water for their own development. If the Federal authorities can establish their claim to the control of these waters then all the power dams on all the rivers and lakes draining into the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence river can be wrested from Provincial control which means that when a party hostile to public ownership is in control at Ottawa inculculable harm may be done to the people's Hydro enterprise. It requires some stretch of the imagination to designate the English river and the upper Winnipeg river with their numerous water falls as navigable streams. The water powers of Ontario are producing a revenue of $20,000,000 a year and are capable of producing $100,000,000. If we let Dominion Government get away with this they will rob of us of one hundred millions of the revenue from our national resources.

The Government's Deficit.

The Government showed a deficit of $800,000, but this financial position was largely a matter of manipulation of bookkeeping, Mr. Tooms said. The Government had adopted a new system of bookkeeping that would prevent such manipulation in the future. Of the sums the Government had to meet was an item of $608,000 for election expenses, an inheritance from the late government that almost equalled the current deficit. For a teachers' superannuation fund $460,000 had been set aside, and another sum om $460,500 for Civil Servants' superannuation, a step which Mr. Tooms said, would make for greater efficiency in the Civil Service of the province. Other sums had been expended for the general good and in spite of all these the deficit was only $800,000.

Under the present Government the T. and N. O. Railway had yielded a profit for the first time, and had the most successful year in its history.

Mr.Tooms enumerated the Labour legislation that had been put in the Statutes, and also mentioned some of the bills he had introduced. He pointed out that the Government must obviously be giving good service in the Province otherwise it could not have survived two sessions. It had not a working majority and its measures had to win the approval of other groups. The Liberals had co-operated. They had made some trouble over the Ontario Temperance Act, but in that connection Mr. Tooms believed they had sympathizers on the Government side as well. The investigating commissions which had been appointed he continued, had saved the province large sums of money, as instanced by the Timber Limits enquiry. Mr. Tooms mentioned the Shevlin-Clarke Company, and said that it was plain the province had been defrauded of large sums of money under the patronage given by the late government. In 1914 the Shevlin-Clarke Company had made a report of 5,500,000 ft. production whereas it was shown that they had actually produced 80,000,000 feet of timber.

The Backus Sale.

There was much criticism in hostile newspapers of the sale of timber limits near Kenora, to Mr. Backus. He was an American, Mr. Tooms said, but he had to pay full value for every dollar's worth of timber taken out and would have to manufacture pulpwood in Ontario. This block was sold to the higest bidder and would lead to the development of the country around Kenora.

Will Erect a Cenotaph.

In concluding, Mr. Tooms outlined the social legislation the Drury Government had passed and also mentioned the bills for free text books, two platoons for firemen and the establishment of the principle of the minimum wage, by the appointment of a minimum wage board for women.

The Government proposed to erect a cenotaph at the head of University avenue in Toronto, and another at the Royal Military College, Kingston, as a memorial to the men of Ontario who died in the war. It was also sugested that a memorial hall be built in Toronto.

Mr. Tooms urged the co-operation of everyone in the Government's initiative to prepare for unemployment contingencies next winter. The Premier has called a conference in order that plans may be discussed and arranged to provide work instead of charity during the coming season.

TROUBLE GALORE REIGNS IN CENTRAL LEAGUE CIRCLES

The recent developments in the Central Ontario League have everything in a turmoil around the circuit. Last night, after Lindsay and Oshawa failed to declare a winner in their game at Lindsay, the League executive met and ordered the game replayed at Lindsay on Saturday, with Umpires Kay, of Peterborough, and Rosevear, of Port Hope, in charge.

That was last night. To-day Oshawa, whose sportsmanship seems to be of a questionable brand, claim that last night's drawn game should stand as a tie in the League standing and that therefore they should win the first half on percentage. If they ever get away with that ridiculous claim the Central League might as well close up shop. Oshawa knows, as well as everybody else, that the schedule called for home and home games for all clubs and that games must be played to a finish. They must get a decision in the game at Lindsay, and any other ruling would be a farce.

Meanwhile, Lindsay object to a neutral umpire being appointed to work on the bases, on the ground that the first half is not over, the system that has been followed all season should apply. They threaten to dorp out of the League if the arrangements for Saturday's game are not altered.

President Kimmel has called a specail meeting of the League for to-morrow afternoon at Cobourg, and it promises to be a red hot session.

The umpiring problem has still to be settled. Last night it was decided that a visiting club could ask the League for a neutral umpire on the bases and he would be appointed, provided the visitors would pay the expenses. Cobourg and Belleville were exempted from this ruling on the ground that the home umpires in those towns have given satisfaction.

Umpire Alex. Kay notified the League president that he would not continue to act if the home clubs have anything to do with the selection of base umpires. He thinks that the chief umpire should have the power of selecting his assistant and firing him, too, if he is not satisfactory.

KLOOR DENIES ENGAGEMENT

Naval Lieutenant Says He is Not to Marry Ex-Fiancee's Sister.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Lieutenant Louis F. Kloor Jr., one of the three naval aeronauts who were lost in the wilds of Canada last Winter, denied last night that he is to marry Consuelo Flowerton, who has recently been appearing in moving pictures. Kloor had been engaged to her sister, Alexandra Flowerton, until it was announced a few days ago that the engagement had been broken by mutual consent because of the insufficient pay of a naval lieutenant.

A few days ago Consuelo Flowerton was reported as having said that she was willing to marry a naval officer and to help maintain a home with her earnings. Mrs. Flowerton, Consuelo's mother, denied from her home at Rockaway that her daughter was engaged to marry Kloor.

MILLION FARMS FOR AUSTRALIA

New Colonization Scheme to be Backed by Commonwealth and Britain.

LONDON, July 20.— (Canadian Associated Press.) — Ex-Premier Carruthers of New South Wales, Australia, announces that a new colonization scheme is being worked out by important Australian and British interests. The plans of the promoters would involve an investment of £30,000,000. It is expected that the Governments of Britain and Australia will back the new campaign, the slogan of which will be a million farmers and a million new farms for Australia.

The above despatch shows evidently the manner in which the Commonwealth of Australia is arranging to add to its population.

If they or any other country can put into effect a policy that will get one million new farms opened up within a reasonable period, that country is going to have a decided advantage.

Our western provinces could, with advantage, contain any number more of first-class settlers, and Canada's continued prosperity to a great extent will depend on the number of first-class emigrants who will go on the farms and produce.

SASKATCHEWAN LEADS IN GRAIN PRODUCTION

REGINA, July 20. — Saskatchewan's lead over the other provinces of the dominion in the production of oats and hard spring wheat is clearly shown in a summar that has been compiled by the provincial department of agriculture. The bulletin covers the growing season of 1920 and it shows that out of a total of 530,709,700 bushels of oats grown in the whole of Canada, Saskatchewan produced 141,549,000 bushels. In this department Ontario farmers were the closest rivals. In growing spring wheat this province had a great lead. While the dominion produced 243,720,900 bushels, Saskatchewan contributed 113,135,300 bushels or over 46 per cent. Alberta was second with 82,748,000 bushels.

DARKNESS STOPPED SENSATIONAL CENTRAL ONTARIO LEAGUE GAME

OSHAWA AND LINDSAY BATTLED THIRTEEN INNINGS WITH HONOURS EVEN—GREAT PITCHING OF OULETTE, DAINTY AND PATTEN—FINAL SCORE WAS 6-6

In one of the most sensational games in the history of the Central Ontario League, Oshawa and Lindsay battled for thirteen hectic innings at Lindsay last evening to a 6-6 draw, Umpire Alex. Kay then calling the game on account of darkness. The fixture did not start until 5 o'clock, and it was 8 p.m. when the long drawn out struggle was brought to an inconclusive finish. The game was a crucial fight, for an Oshawa victory would have given the motor town crew the championship of the first half, while a win for Lindsay would have tied Oshawa, Belleville and Lindsay. The two teams will have to play again at Lindsay to settle the argument.

As far as the fielding of the teams was concerned, yesterday's game was not good baseball, for both teams fell down in that department of their defence work, but the battle was full of thrills and featured by a magnificent exhibition of pitching by all three twirlers engaged in the fight. Jack Oulette went the whole route for Lindsay and was as steady as a clock, going as strong in the extra innings as he did in the early stages. His control was perfect and he did not issue a single complimentary in the thirteen innings. Only in one innings, the third, when Oshawa bunched four hits, was Oulette hit hard, and had it not been for mistakes of his team mates the Lakeshore crew would have been held to two runs.

Dainty started for Oshawa, and after a bad start, in which two hits, as many wild pitches and a passed ball gave Lindsay two counters in the first, he settled down and twirled magnificently for the next six innings, twice retiring the side by the strike-out route. In the eighth he got into trouble again when Lindsay came through with four hits, and with the help of a passed ball, scored two runs. A hit and two errors sent the tieing run in in the ninth and then Dainty kicked himself out of the game by crabbing at a balk called on him by Umpire Kay, and was finally given the gate.

Patten took up the pitching, and the right hander delivered an even more effective brand of pitching than the southpaw. He started out by fanning Logan and Oulette, leaving the winning run on third, and in the next four innings Lindsay got but one hit off him, while he fanned no fewer than nine men in the 4 3-4 frames he worked. It was great twirling in a critical stage.

Lindsay opened with two runs in the first and Oshawa came back with three in the third. It went along until the eighth that way, when Oshawa scored twice. Lindsay came right back with a pair and were only a run down when they went into the ninth. They blanked the visitors and tied up the game in their half. Both scored a marker in the tenth and then ran through three scoreless frames before darkness stopped the struggle.

Oshawa were handicapped by an accident to Belding, their regular catcher, who split a finger in the preliminary warm-up and had to be replaced by Hall. The latter had three passed balls, on each of which Lindsay scored a run. On the other hand, the three errors made by Coombs at first base for Lindsay were responsible for three runs for the visitors.

Two thousand fans from all over the district were there for the battle. Among the Central League officials on hand were Past President Lockington, Port Hope, President A. C. Kimmel, Cobourg, Vice-President Parsons and Secretary John G. Nott, Oshawa, Messrs. Tyson, Cobourg, Moynes, Lindsay, Solomon, Peterborough, and Mark, Port Hope, members of the executive. Oshawa had over a hundred rooters on hand, and there were a score or two from Peterborough. Among the celebrities was Eddie Scott, the Hillcrest pitcher, who rooted vigorously for his old Lindsay team mates.

Lindsay got away to a good start. After blanking Oshawa in their half, Bates led off with a single over second, Rowden nearly making a jumping catch of the drive. McMahon singled cleanly to right. Then Dainty slipped in a wild pitch that moved the runners up and followed with another that sent Bates in. Carew lined to Dainty, and then Hall let one of the southpaw's shoots get away and McMahon reported at the plate. Dainty put on the brakes by fanning Coombs and causing Workman to lift an easy fly.

There was nothing more doing until Oshawa's half of the third, when the League leaders staged a rally. With two out, Rowden started things with a single to centre and stole second. Gifford singled to centre, scoring Rowden, and taking second on the throw to the plate. Dainty boosted his own game by crashing a clean single to right, Gifford riding home on the blow. Jacobi rolled one down to Stark, but Coombs missed the throw, and Dainty went to third on the play. Fair dribbled a grass cutter past Workman for a single, scoring Dainty. Dobson ended the innings by being thrown out by Stark, the decision at first being a big break for Lindsay.

For the next four innings, Oulette and Dainty had a big edge on the batters and neither side threatened seriously to score. It was not until the eighth that the fun started. In Oshawa's half, after Gifford had rolled to Coombs, Dainty polled a double to left and advanced to third while Workman was throwing out Jacobi. Fair tapped one to McDonald and the side should have been retired, but Coombs muffed the shortstop's toss, Dainty of course scoring on the play. Fair stole second, and when Bates uncorked a wild heave to stop him stealing third, the Oshawa captain galloped home. Dobson got a life on McDonald's high throw to first, but Legge fanned.

With a three run lead at that stage of the game, and Dainty going along like a well-oiled machine, it looked like Oshawa's game and the first half honours for the motor town. But you never can tell about a ball game. After Oulette had fanned in Lindsay's half, Bates kicked in with his third hit of the day, a solid tap to right, and went to second on a passed ball. McMahon rolled one to short and the ball hit Bates, retiring him, while McMahon of course was safe at first. Carew tore a single past Rowden, sending McMahon to third and taking second on the throw to the difficult corner. Coombs scratched a hit on a bad bounce to Fair, and McMahon registered. With two strikes on Workman, Art Carew electrified the crowd by a daring attempt to steal home. Hall obligingly let the ball get away from him and Carew scored. Coombs tried to carry home the tieing run from second on the play, but Hall made a quick recovery, tossing the ball to Dainty, who had covered the plate and got Coombs by an eye-lash. That left the score 5-4 in favour of Oshawa.

There were more fireworks in the ninth. Oshawa went out in order, but Lindsay had better luck. After Workman had fanned, Stark beat out a tap to third and stole second. Dainty caught him off second, but he broke for third and made the bag safely when Fair dropped the ball. Starr pushed a slow grounder at Gifford, who threw high to the plate, Stark crossing the counting station, with the the tieing run, while Starr went to second. A moment later Umpire Kay called a balk on Dainty, sending Starr to third. The Oshawa pitcher threw down the ball in disgust and then raced in to tell His Umps what he thought of the decision. And right there he made his big mistake, for in a few brief seconds his remarks to the chief arbitrator resulted in his being chased out of the game and Patten had to go to the rubber. It was not exactly a bed of roses for the veteran right hander with the winning run on third and only one out, but Patten went right to work as if tight holes like that were fresh huckleberry pie with whipped cream for him. Lindsay sent Logan in to bat for McDonald and Patten whiffed the pinch hitter with ease and dispatch and repeated the performance on Oulette.

Both teams scored in the tenth. Gifford opened for Oshawa by slashing one to left on which he reached second, only to be called out by Base Umpire Carew for not touching first base. Patten singled through short, the ball bouncing over Carew's head. Jacobi hit to Oulette, but Coombs dropped the throw and the runner was safe. Fair fanned, but Dobson came through in the pinch with a clean single to left, scoring Patten and putting Oshawa again in the lead. Workman saved further trouble by a running catch of Legge's near bid for a hit.

Lindsay were lucky to tie it up in their half. Bates started things when a hit to left, his fourth safe blow. When he tried to steal second, Hall's throw had him by a yard but Gifford muffed the toss. A passed ball sent him to third. Then Hall missed the third strike on McMahon, letting the batter go to first while Bates came home with the tieing run. The next three were easy.

Neither team got a man on the runways in the eleventh or twelfth. With one out in the thirteenth, Dobson, for Oshawa, reached first on Starr's muff, and on Legge's sacrifice Coombs to Oulette, the Oshawa centre fielder romped around to third. Oulette fanned Legge and the base runner was stranded.

Lindsay went out in order, Patten fanning Coombs and Workman to wind up with, and then Umpire Kay caled the game on account of darkness. It was a great struggle.

RING COLLAPSES, SPOILING FIGHT

CAVE WAS JUST BEGINNING TO TROUNCE NEWTON.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

MIDLAND, Ont., July 21.—One grand battle was brought to a sudden termination at the rink here when the ring collapsed during a ten-round struggle between Chris. Newton and Norman Cave, of Toronto. Both are lightweights. The surprise of the wise birds, Cave, was on top and beginning to give Newton a sound trouncing when the ring went down during a melee on the ropes in the fifth round. The ring was repaired, but the sixth round had scarcely started when Cave and Newton both somersaulted out of the ring, and Cave sprained a muscle in his side. Referee Marsh called the bout off.

COMMENT ON PORT HOPE GAME

(Port Hope Guide).

Teams visiting Port Hope will have to insist upon police protection. There was no officer in sight when the near-riot took place on Saturday, although an individual who intimated he was a constable appeared after the trouble was over.—Peterborough Examiner. We may be bad actors here in Port Hope, but as yet we have never attempted to drown the umpire.

The Peterborough Examiner advocates the presentation of a book of rules to all the umpires of the Central League. We second the motion, and respectfully suggest that a strong pair of glasses accompany the one to be sent to Mr. Phelan, of Peterborough.

The Examiner has its usual wail over the defeat of the Peterborough Baseball Club here on Saturday. Whenever Peterborough, or last year's champions, as the Examiner delights to refer to the team, meets defeat some person outside of the team is to blame. It is generally the umpire who has to shoulder all the responsibility. The Examiner is always ready to criticize the work of the umpire except in the case of the base umpire who officiates at Peterborough. Never once has the Examiner missed a protest about the Peterborough base umpire; barefaced robbery of the visiting team at Peterborough is always overlooked, but don't dare to give a wrong decision against the Peterborough players. That system was all right when as kids we played two old cat in the backyard, but at this date we should be a little broader in our views. All the blame for Saturday's loss is placed on Umpire Jack Lewis, but the only wrong decision referred to by the Examiner was in calling Rose out at third after Friar's catch of a fly in right field. We did not see this play, but, as stated, both Secretary Nott, of Oshawa, and Mr. Dedman, of Lindsay, claimed that the decision of Umpire Lewis was right. Rose was not on second base when the fly was caught, neither did he return to it. The writer witnessed the last five innings of Saturday's game, and during that time the decisions of Umpire Lewis were fair and square. The fact is that the loss of the game, thus eliminating them from the championship, made Peterborough so sore that they had to find some person to blame for it.

ZION CONFIDENT OF WINNING HERE

The game here to-morrow between Keene and Zion will give local fandom a chance to inspect the wares of the East Peterborough Baseball League. The Keene lads believe they can win the second half and capture the championship. Zion are confident of beating Keene here and winning their remaining games.

The Keene team will bring a big contingent of rooters, and many Zion supporters will also be on hand. The game will start at 6 o'clock.

BASEBALL

THREE MONTHS IN COUNTY GAOL.

For an indecent assault on a 12-years-old girl in Victoria Park on Tuesday afternoon, Joseph B. Gray, 78 years of age, went to the County Gaol yesterday for three months.

The old man pleaded guilty to the charge.

Magistrate Dumble gave him the choice of paying $110.10, or spending three months on the hill. He accepted the latter.

Chief Newhall stated in Court that this was only one of many informations given the police against Gray, and N. Watson was thanked for his prompt work in bringing the old man and the child to the Police Station. It was stated that Victoria Park was the man's favourite resort, and he had shown attention to this child's little sister as well.

"813" A PHOTOPLAY OF DEEP MYSTERY

Wedgwood Nowell Featured in Screen Version of Arsene Lupin Drama.

While successful photo-plays are always endowed with a proportion of spice of some nature, the element of mystery, when carefully sustained throughout, is really the best sort of spice to insure success. It is mystery and plenty of it, that makes "13," the Robertson-Cole super-special featuring Wedgwood Nowell, which opens at the Capitol Theatre for a run of 3 days, beginning to-night, one of the best films ever seen on the silver sheet.

To begin with, "813" is an Arsene Lupin sory by the famous French author Maurice Leblanc, and has the "pep" and punch which has distinguished M. Leblanc as one of the best novelists of the day. The story was adapted to the screen by W. Scott Darling and directed by Scott Sidney under the direct supervision of Charles Christie. The picture is placed in France and carries many beautiful settings of Paris and cities in the southern portion of the Republic.

As Arsene Lupin, Wedgwood Nowell has the greatest vehicle of his career for character depiction, and he takes advantage of every opportunity.

Robert Castleback, the "Diamond King" returns from Africa with all the wealth his heart desires and with a lust for power. He has a scheme which will return a certain prince to power and make him virtually the controlling force of all Europe. The plans are drawn up on paper and concealed in a spot only known to Casteback. In the interest of France, Arsene Lupin seeks the plans, while two other arch-conspirators are looking for the same papers for the German Empire.

Castleback is murdered in his apartment and Arsene Lupin's calling card is found pinned upon his breast. Immediately after a porter of the hotel is found dead and then Castleback's secretary. If the mystery of who killed Castleback can be solved the other two murders will be cleared up. The Coroner says Arsene Lupin killed Castleback. The Chief of Police decided otherwise. Who was the Chief of Police?

The balance of the big programme will be up to the high class Capitol Theatre standard of quality, with lots of good comedies, serials, etc. A splendid week-end show.

JUST A THOUGHT

Boost and the world boosts with you,
Knock and you're on the shelf;
The world gets sick of the one who kicks
And wishes he'd kick himself.

He boosts them when it starts to rain,

MOSCOW THINKS FOOD CRISIS SHOULD BE OVER

RIGA, July 21.—Moscow papers say that the local food crisis there should now be over, as food shipments have come in both from abroad and from provinces, and that regular distribution should now proceed. The basis of current distribution of bread is, however, only three pounds for five days to workmen of the "preferred" classes, and only one pound for five days to the non-preferred" classes. The former are also to get four pounds of herrings.

Reports from Petrograd state that 41,000 tons of foodstuffs, mostly flour, herrings, beans, rice, etc., have either arrived or are en route for the capital. More than 1,000,000 scythes and thousands of other agricultural implements have already arriver there.

During the week of July 18th to 23rd our Mr. Fred L. Roy will be in Buffalo with a note Book in his hand, in search of new ideas.

The 39th Annual Convention of the Photographers' Association of America is to be his "hunting ground." We believe we can make "The Roy Studio Service" better than ever, and that our patrons will appreciate the newest ideas in the profession.

The regular work of the Studio will go on as usual in charge of Mr. A. C. Darling.

NEXT WEEK IS FUN WEEK

THE WORLD OF MIRTH SHOWS AT EXHIBITION PARK FOR ONE SOLID WEEK.

It will not be necessary to go out of the city all next week, for a lively time. The "World of Mirth Exhibition Shows" will appear at the Exhibition Park during the week, commencing Monday, July 25th. They are coming here with numerous strong attractions, requiring a special train of 20 cars.

There will be a barrel of fun and lots of interesting features. Among them especially may be mentioned LaRose's Electric Fountain, which is the only one of its kind in existence. Hager's Autodrome, Harry Wilson's trained horse back riding lions. There is a Ferris wheel, carry-us-all, whip and aeroplane swings that will be very welcome these hot nights.

There are numerous other features, combining Circus Wild West and Hippodrome events. These exhibition shows are well conducted, and should be the centre of attraction all next week.

TRANSPORT BILL OF $32,688,352 PAID BRITAIN

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Despite Great Britain's debt of $4,500,000,000 to this country, payment of $32,688,352 has been made by the American Government to the British Ministry of Shipping in settlement of a claim against the War Department, Treasury officials said today. The payment was made, officials added, pursuant to an opinion by Attorney-General Daugherty.

The British claim was for transportation services, arising out of the war with Germany and the payment, it was explained, constitutes a final settlement between the War Department and the British Ministry of Shipping of all claims of either party against the other for transportation services.

JAPAN'S TERMS TO CHITA.

Renunciation of Communism is Said to be One.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—What purports to be a summary of the Japanese note to the Far Eastern republic outlining the conditions upon which Japan would recognize the Chita Government is contained in advices received here from Tokio. The Far Eastern representative, which is understood to enjoy more or less amicable relations with the Moscow Government and is itself admittedly Bolshevistic, has recently made advances to all the great powers, including the United States, for recognition. An American mission is now in Chita investigationg conditions.

The summary of the condition laid down by Japan, as contained in the report, follows:

"(1) The Far Eastern representative must assume a truly democratic character and discard the present communist system of government.

"(2) Vladivostok must be made a free commercial port, and all the fortifications dismantled.

"(3) Kabarovsk, Blagovestchensk and Chita, the principal cities of the republic, must be open for the free inhabitation of foreigners.

"(4) Foreigners must have free access to coal and forest concessions.

"(5) The free use of the Amur must be guaranteed.

"(6) Security of life and property of foreigners must be guaranteed.

"(7) All former rights enjoyed by foreigners must be held inviolable.

"(8) The losse of Japanese citizens caused through disturbances in Siberia must be indemnified.
